

ADMIRAL SEMMES BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY LOCAL CHAPTER

Mr. Geo. Tyler the Orator of the Occasion

On Saturday afternoon last before an audience of loyal Southerners Geo. G. Tyler, clerk of the Court, lauded Admiral Semmes of the Confederate Navy and bestowed a cross for military service to Dr. W. A. Newman and a Cross of Honor to Col. Bailey Ashford for the services of his distinguished father, Dr. Francis A. Ashford, C. S. A. Mr. Tyler spoke eloquently and feelingly of the Southern cause and paid a tribute to the Daughters whom, he stated, it gave him greatest pleasure to serve.

Following are a few paragraphs from Mr. Tyler's speech which we wish could have been copied in full. Mr. Tyler spoke extemporaneously and had a copy of his address.

"Raphael Semmes was born in Charles County, Maryland in 1809 and entered the U. S. Naval service as midshipman in 1832. He studied law and was admitted to bar in 184. He served in the Mexican war and commanded a shore Battery at Vera Cruz, and resigned from the U. S. Navy in 1861, and very soon after commissioned as Commander of the Confederate Navy. He went to New Orleans to fit out the "Sumpter," which escaped from the port, which was closely blockaded, and during its short career captured eighteen prizes. It was blockaded by two American vessels in the port of Tangier in 1862, whereupon Semmes sold the Sumpter and took command of the Alabama, which was built in a British Shipyard and which became the most noted of the Confederate destroyers and which spread terror among the United States commerce on the high seas. While Admiral Semmes was a highly educated and cultured man and a trained diplomat who observed all the rules of warfare scrupulously, he was hated and maligned by many in the North, and called a pirate because he was in most cases obliged to destroy his prizes because it was impossible to bring them into any port. On June 9, 1864, the Alabama, which was in neutral waters of the coast of France, voluntarily met the Kearsarge, an Iron clad, on the high seas and was sunk. Semmes was picked up by a British vessel and returned to the Confederate States, after which he was appointed Rear Admiral.

When Richmond was evacuated, the Admiral had the Conference shops blown up. He was then commissioned a Brigadier General in the Army, and when Lee surrendered he joined Gen. Jos. E. Johnston. After the war he was arrested and tried for treason, but, like his superior, President Davis he was allowed to go free because no fault could be found in him, he having fought for human rights and states rights as laid down in the constitution. This, to my mind, has always been one of the many evidences of the moral weakness of the Union cause."

"Dr. W. A. Newman is a son of Geo. Strother Newman, who was a surgeon, with the rank of Major in the Confederate army. He served at the first Battle of Manassas where his skill and devotion were a benediction to the sick and wounded.

Later in the war he was detailed by the Confederate Government to look after the sick and needy in Orange and surrounding counties which he did in a most courageous, faithful and efficient manner during the rest of the war and later until his death.

In his own mind a humble man, he was really great according to the standard of the great Physician who said, "He that will be great among you, let him be the servant of all."

Dr. Newman's father was never captured, never surrendered and refused to take the oath of allegiance to the United States, he having fought and served in support of the constitution as given to us by our fathers in the beginning.

Dr. W. A. Newman to whom we are about to present this cross in his young manhood, like his distinguished father, dedicated himself to a life of service as a physician, most of which service has been in peace, but which called for as much of the spirit of sacrifice and bravery as any war service.

In 1878 he held a hospital position in New York and volunteered to go to Memphis, Tenn., where a most

WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club will be held on Wednesday, October 8, 1930, at the High School at 2:30 p. m. An interesting program is anticipated.

IMPROVEMENTS AT DIXIE THEATRE

Talkies at Manassas May Now Be Heard Satisfactorily

With the presentation this week at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas of "The Two Black Crowns" the management is able to assure the public that the problem of satisfactory reproduction of the vocal and musical accompaniment has been solved. A scientific study of the acoustical conditions has made it possible to correct and control the sound vibrations in such a way as to make the "talkies" understandable. Now it will be possible both to hear and see these masterpieces of the movie world in a manner comparable to enjoyment of the metropolitan theaters.

SWAVELY NOTES

Mrs. Swavely entertained all the members of the faculty and their wives at a delightful buffet tea on Sunday after Vespers.

Among the week end visitors to the school were Captain and Mrs. Stanley of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Schallberger, of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, of Chevy Chase, Md., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Swavely.

The football team is busy practicing for its first game which will be played here tomorrow afternoon against the Business High School team of Washington.

Of the eight games scheduled for the season five are to be played on the home grounds, and we expect to see some good football.

The junior team is also getting into shape, and arrangements are being made for a junior schedule also.

horrible scourge of yellow fever was devastating the population, he served there until the scourge declined. Surely this took as much courage as was needed to go over the top in the great war.

The doctor then continued to practice his profession in a most successful and efficient manner. His understanding and sympathy has put courage into the heart of many a discouraged patient, who needed his charming personal touch to revive hope necessary to bring him back to health. It has been said of him as it was of the great Physician that "he was touched with the feeling of their infirmities."

The doctor was commissioned as a medical officer with the rank of Major in the great war where his accumulated skill and experience was a benediction to all who were fortunate enough to come under his care.

Since the war he has, as we all know, been answering the calls of those whom he could serve."

"Col. Bailey Ashford was the son of Dr. Francis A. Ashford, Dr. Ashford was a Confederate soldier of prominent and continuous service from Ball's Bluff to Petersburg where he was wounded and sent to Johnson's Island. He was one of the founders of the Children Hospital in Washington and identified with numerous charitable enterprises. His funeral took place May 21, 1883 and it was said that the floral tributes were more beautiful and numerous than those of President Garfield whose funeral was held in Washington not two years previous."

Miss Clara Rexrode, after having spent about nine months at Saranac Lake, N. Y., is now at "Roxmont," the home of her father, Mr. J. H. Rexrode very much improved in health.

MANASSAS HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At the September meeting of the Manassas High School Community League the following officers were elected: Mrs. William Lloyd president; Mrs. Thomas Broadus, vice-president; Miss Nancy Waters, secretary; and Mrs. Cyril Dalton, treasurer. Short addresses on the plans and work of the League were made by Mrs. Lloyd, Miss Obourn and Mr. O. Waters, Miss Osbourn stressed the need of assistance and co-operation on the part of all the parents in the constant effort to meet the requirements for the standardization of the School, especially now she said help from the League was needed in meeting the increasing library requirements. Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson's usual excellent report on the condition of the Library was next given in which she also urged the need of the help and of the co-operation of the League. Miss Virginia Speiden next gave an outline of the plans for the music work to be given this year in the Manassas schools as a result of the generous efforts of the Manassas Woman's Club, and at her request of $10 was voted for the purchase of victrola records of the music of the great composers. In addition to the various reports and addresses several beautiful songs were also given during the evening by Miss Kitty Smith of the Bennett School and by Miss Eloise Compton, a Manassas High School graduate of last year.

The first of a series of appreciative talks on the great musical composers and their works was made at Assembly last Friday by Miss Virginia Speiden as a part of the new music program for the year. The theme was Mendelssohn. A brief discussion of the life and genius of the composer, was illustrated by means of victrola records of his works, the speaker showing how the happy character of Mendelssohn's life breathed itself thro the joyous and melodious quality of his work. Among the records used were the Overture to Midsummer's Night Dream, the "O Rest in the Lord" from the Oratio of "Elijah" and the lovely "On the Wings of Song" from the "Songs without Words."

The theme for this week will be the works of Schubert. These weekly appreciation talks will be given at noon every Friday from 12 to 12:30 at the High School Assembly. Parents of the students and all others interested are cordially invited to be present.

An art exhibit will be given at the High School next week from Wednesday to Friday, October 8-10, under the auspices of the Senior English Class. A number of beautiful reproductions in color of the works of great artists have been loaned for the exhibit by Brown-Robinson and Company, art dealers in New York. A small admittance fee for the purchase of pictures for the school will be charged to the students and to the public. This is an excellent opportunity to help to obtain some artistic pictures for the school as well as to enjoy a beautiful exhibit.

BETTY CROCKER TO CELEBRATE

Betty Crocker, oracle to hundreds of thousands of housewives in all matters of homemaking, is going to celebrate the sixth anniversary of her Radio Cooking School by giving a special lesson on cake icings. She claims this is an appropriate way to observe the sixth anniversary which is known as the "sugar anniversary."

Six years ago, on October 1, 1924, Betty Crocker was heard for the first time over the air, and then only by the listeners of one midwestern station. This was the first attempt to give cooking information and recipes by radio, and the experiment was watched with interest and not a little skepticism in those days when the radio was still new and chain programs were yet to come.

The letters that came pouring in to Betty Crocker in response to that first home service talk and that continued to come during the entire season she was broadcasting were ample proof that this service filled a long felt need in many homes and that it was deeply appreciated. Other stations became interested, and other women's service programs were instituted in other parts of the country.

In 1925, Betty Crocker's cooking advice and tested recipes were made available to the listeners of twelve of the larger radio stations including some in the east, middle west and one Pacific Coast station. Each year more stations have been added to the chain until now there are 43 making this cooking school of the air available to the women in every state.

While Betty Crocker's Cooking School lessons will continue to give fundamental information and the basic principles of cooking and baking, she is planning during this fall course to devote her Friday lessons to the uses and preparation of various natural foods. The first lesson on October 10 will be "Carrots for Con-vengeance," and in it Betty Crocker will show how the humble carrot can be used in making a new and particularly tasty dessert. There will be other lessons on the uses of honey, canned milk, peanuts, oranges, bananas and macaroni. Betty Crocker's Wednesday morning lessons will include a number of menu suggestions as well as suggestions for Halloween for Thanksgiving, and for Christmas.

REPORT OF STATE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Miss Maggie Smith Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The special feature of the meeting was the reports of the four delegates who attended the State Convention at Danville. There were about 200 delegates at this convention from all over the State.

The papers given by the leaders of the different departments of Work Show that the W. C. T. U. is doing splendid work along many lines, such as the work done for the Soldiers and Sailors, the international relations work, the flower mission and relief work done for the unfortunate in our prisons and elsewhere, and many other departments of work too numerous to mention.

Our State President's address was wonderful and we hope every member will read it in her Virginia Call. In her address Mrs. Hoge said the liquor traffic whether legal or illegal, and not prohibition, as claimed by its goes, is responsible for the intolerable conditions we hear about. She gave much testimony proving the improved condition under prohibition.

Mrs. Lem Gilreath, the National Evangelist of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in commenting on the use of liquor by the present generation laid the blame at the door of their forefathers who made and consumed whiskey. The seed was sown by the grandfathers and we are reaping a crop of drunkards. She also said the crime wave we hear so much about is the aftermath of the late war. That a crime wave always follows every war. Our boys were taught to fight and kill. Our children hear it on every side and see it in the moving pictures so are just trying it out. The way to overcome all these evils is to educate our children and young people to be loyal to the Constitution of our Nation, and to keep all laws. That we are not true Americans unless we do.

At the close of the Thursday afternoon session the delegates attended the unveiling of the monument erected in honor of the late Rev. John R. Moffet by the W. C. T. U. of Danville and the County.

The closing and crowning feature of the convention was the banquet Thursday night at the Hotel Danville. During the evening there several addresses, also solos and readings and rewards to unions doing best work.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad remembrance of Clay Arnold who departed this life sixteen years ago, September 24.

I never can forget you, dear Clay My heart has never been the same. For September is the saddest month of the year to me.

It took from us our darling Clay. But no power on earth could save

Happy angels came and bore him from this world of toil and pain To the home of fadeless beauty.

Far away with his Savior and loved ones. May he rest in Jesus' keeping

O blame me not for weeping For I have no Clay now.

But long as life lasts I will remember you. For we hope to meet you again

On the golden shore where there is no more parting. By his Loving Mother.

Favorite Recipes of a Famous Chef

As Told to Anne Baker By FREDERIC FRANCOIS GUILLOT
Chef, Hotel Astor, New York City

As a means of adding a bit of variety to the menu, Mr. Guillot suggests these two new ways of preparing carrots and beets.

Golden Mountain—Scrape and boil until tender enough young carrots to make two cups when mashed. Mash thoroughly and add two well-beaten eggs, one-fourth cup cream, one teaspoon sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Place in well-buttered mold. Stand in pan of hot water and bake until firm in a moderate oven. Turn out on platter and surround with cooked peas.

Savory Beets—Boil one-half dozen medium size beets until tender. In the meanwhile, mix together two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon grated onion, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of nutmeg. Cook for five minutes. Peel and slice the beets. Arrange in serving dish and pour the sauce over them.

- SIX people can dine charmingly with an outlay of less than two dollars when the money is judiciously spent. Here is the way it can be done:
- For pear cocktail: cube and divide into six cocktail glasses the canned pears from a number 2 can and pour the pear syrup over them. Add one tablespoon grenadine syrup to each glass and chill well. The pears cost 25 cents and the grenadine 12 cents.
- To prepare the liver, wash a pound and a half (42 cents), cover with boiling water and parboil gently for fifteen minutes. Drain, remove membranes and skin and cut into serving portions. Slice a pound of onions (10 cents) and fry in four tablespoons drippings; remove onions and keep in a hot place. Brown the liver in the pan, reduce heat and cook until tender. Season well and remove to a hot platter, piling onions on top. Heat contents of a number 2 1/2 can of spinach (17 cents) in the pan and

MAN CAN'T SLEEP, GETS NERVOUS, HATES PEOPLE

"I could not sleep and got so nervous I hated everybody. Since taking Vinol, I can sleep 10 hours and feel full of pep all day."—Julius Bender.

For 30 years doctors have prescribed Vinol because it contains important mineral elements of iron, calcium and cod liver peptone. The very FIRST bottle brings sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Nervous, worn-out people are surprised how QUICK Vinol gives new life and pep! Tastes delicious.

She spends his earnings wisely

MAN earns and woman spends. For many years this has been the popular plan in the American home. And in most cases it is a very good arrangement.

Too seldom, however, does the wife-and-mother receive due credit for her part in the enterprise. Earning a comfortable income today is a mighty fine accomplishment—"a man's job," sure enough. But the wise investment of the family funds is also far from child's play. This most often is Mother's task, and she deserves a medal for her able handling of it.

Women as a rule are good buyers, because they study their problems. They budget their resources, adjust their purchasing schedule to the budget, and buy carefully.

The best help they get in marketing comes from the ads in their home newspaper. They find that intelligent study of ads means economy of money and time.

The woman in your home knows how true this is!

"Cuss-the-Editor" Week

Down at Kerville, Texas, the editor of the local paper advertised a "Cuss-the-Editor week," whereby everybody who wanted to "cuss" the editor could do so a certain week, and all the "Cuss the-Editor" articles would be published, provided the party doing the cussing would sign his name. He failed to get any letters to publish "cussing" him. Then the editor extended the "Cuss-the-Editor" week indefinitely, and as a result he received the following and only letter.

Daer Sir:
You aint so gol darn smart that you can ketch me with your tricks, I may be a dam fool but I know better than get in jail for ritin a cussing letter thew hte males.

"In the first place a week ain't enuf to cuss a editor. And in the 2nd place I can't rite like I can cuss.

"I get mad every time I see yur dam paper and would quit you but the old woman would want a tellafonte put in and it costs to dam much.

"What for you put it in the paper about my boy getting throd in jail? He didn't do nothing and you know it. He was Kew Klucked. I say to hell with you and all the Kew Klucks.

"And that time I had a fite with my nabor he didn't lick me like you said he did. You are a lying? (;!) You know what I mean. That's the way you editurs cuss.

"You dam editurs is all alike. You print the bad news and leave out the rest. You sure didnt say anything when my dotter ran off and got married ner when I bott my new car. No, I gess not.

"You are a hell of a feller you are.

To the Editor of Manassas Journal:
An article appeared in last week's Journal from Twin Cities Gossip stating that the Manassas Milling Corporation has bought rye from the farmers at $1.00 per bushel and sold it back to them at 100 per cent profit. Will you please correct this statement as we have no knowledge whatever of having sold any rye for more than $1.25 per bushel. Please publish this correction.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement, without forming a habit of ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. DOWELL'S PHARMACY MANASSAS, VA.

Owing to our high tax rate, our overlapping Jekyll and Hyde red tape in State Government, we have lost sight of the individual. "Government of the people, by the people, for the people," seems to have disappeared down the complicated red tape route. Our form of State Government has not improved to any great extent during the past fifty years. Statesmanship seem to keep its secrets locked tightly within its breasts. Politicians of the Peanut Variety, (and their numbers are legion) seems to think that Government for the Politician, by the Politician is the important thing. Our wise government fathers, who, make office holding a profession cannot afford for the sake of their jobs to advocate efficiency in State Government.

A Thomas Jefferson, in Virginia today, would term our present State Government obsolete. It was Jefferson, who said, "I think myself." He was writing to Wm. Ludlow in 1824, "That we have more machinery of government than is necessary, too many parasites living on the labor of the industrious. I believe it might be much simplified to the relief of those who maintain it."

The views that Jefferson expressed in 1824, are applicable today to a far greater degree than ever before. It was this same statesman who expressed himself in favor of simplified government in these words: "I am for a government rigorously frugal and simple."

Now let us see if our State Government is keeping up with the general trend of progress. The area of Virginia is 42,627 square miles; population about 63 to the square mile at present. The above area is cut into one hundred counties. These one hundred counties have one hundred set of county officials, drawing salaries and certain fees, or uncertain fees. One can readily see that this takes an enormous tax bill to cover.

When our roads were bad, and a day's travel by ox or horse was five to fifteen miles, there existed not only an excuse, but an iron clad reason for small counties. A farmer, merchant or other citizen could take a day off, drive over to the county seat and transact business and return in most cases the same day. The day of bad roads have passed. The ox, or horse is seldom used as a mode of transportation in this day of rapid travel by auto and flying machine. We do not speak of a mile as 1760 yards, we say, "Well, about five minutes." Five minutes means four or five miles. A drive of one hundred miles is frequently made in two hours.

Our roads are fine, we are spending millions of dollars building new roads and millions for maintaining roads; this coupled with our auto age makes the excuse for small counties absolutely unnecessary, infact asinine.

The State of Virginia should be divided into not more than ten counties, or districts, and a simplified form of government worked out for each county or district. There would be ten counties or circuit clerks, ten treasurers, ten sheriffs supplemented by deputies, or state police; judges, Commonwealth attorneys, and assistants on duty at all times. Three members of the Legislature from each county or district, making a total of thirty members; two state senators from each county or district making a total of ten members.

In fact, without going into details, State Government could be put strictly on a business basis, "Rigorously frugal and simple." Taxes could be easily reduced sixty per cent.

If you are interested in State Government, the reduction of taxes, old age pensions, start thinking. The very elements of nature are prodding you for progressive thought and action.

If the writer signing article, "Dirty Corner Gossalpers" appearing in the Journal 25th, instant, will sign name we will be glad to reason with the writer. We aim to make people think therefore, we do not always give agreeable advice. The great French preacher Massillon said, "Agreeable advice is seldom useful advice."

If you read the article carefully that appeared in the Journal on the 1th, we are quite sure that you will get a better understanding of it, and even wonder why the convolutions of your grey matter concealed at the wrong time and caused you to make such a grave error, and write the article you did.

When Walter Foss wrote that beautiful poem, "The House by the Side of the Road" We are sure that he never intended it to be used in such a manner.

The Stamp of Good Food

A symbol that signifies quality and price

What's in a name? Nothing but the action and conduct that lie behind it and give it special significance. So the simple characters, "A&P," have come to have a place in the speech of most Americans as a symbol for high quality food at low prices.

There is a sound reason for this. Sticking to its policy for nearly three-quarters of a century, A&P has sold the best foods it could buy at prices made possible only by serving many customers with the kind of food they want.

Thus "A&P" has become a hall mark for sterling grades of food at a cost which used to be associated only with poorer grades. A&P customers depend on its trade mark as buyers of silver depend on the stamp, "Sterling," for solid metal.

MAI E. FOUNTAIN

CONFEDERATE VETERAN WRITES OF REUNION

Dear Sir:

As a delegate from Marr Camp, No. 73, Confederate Veterans of Fairfax County, and in company with J. N. Pollin, of the Camp, we motored to Alexandria where we entrained for Orange where we found Col. Edgar Warfield, Commander of the Grand Camp, Virginia Division, leaving Alexandria at 11:17 a. m.

Our ride began, passing rapidly through Fairfax County, seeing fields, pastures and streams along the way almost dry. It was a sad sight to meet the eye. We soon stopped at Manassas and before reaching Culpeper, we passed the battlefield of Brandy Station where the greatest cavalry engagement took place on June 9, 1863, under our gallant and splendid Stuart. How it called back to my memory that fateful day! So vivid now in my memory of the greatest cavalry fight that was ever fought in Virginia! On the hills of Culpeper from sunrise to sunset the battle raged, and when the sun dipped over the crest of the Blue Ridge the last Union trooper was over the Rapidan, and victory was ours! But what a sacrifice of gallant men! It was a day that any man who was on that field will not soon forget.

On we sped to Orange and upon arrival at 1:30 p. m., we were met by the Boy Scouts of Orange who conducted us to headquarters at the James Madison Hotel where we registered. When we were assigned to our homes, it was my good fortune to be located with the Misses Moore of Morland, whose hospitality was splendid.

On the 16th, the veterans were called to order by Commander Warfield in the Parish Hall of St. Thomas' Church where the business of the division went on. After the noon session was over, the veterans were taken on a sightseeing trip to the Wilderness, Chancellorsville and Cedar Mountain. On the evening of the 17th, the veterans went out to the old home of General James Lawson Kemper, Walnut Hills where a marker was unveiled over his grave by the Daughters of the Confederacy. General Kemper was severely wounded at the battle of Gettysburg and the only general who came out of the line of Pickett's Division, and afterwards became Governor of Virginia.

The 18th being the last day of the Convention and for election of officers and selection of a place for the next convention when Charlottesville was selected. Then came a parade of the Veterans, with Sons of Veterans, American Legion, Boy and Girl Scouts. With the girls from the silk mill, it sure was a splendid sight. Uncle Sam sent a section of mounted artillery who added much to the Veterans' pleasure, firing a good number of salutes. It was like old times, indeed! At night out on the Fair grounds in a fine building came off the Ball to the Veterans. It was some gala night to see the old Boys parading around as if they were sixteen with Orange's fair members (and there were a lot of them!) One of the features was the Monticello Guards dressed in the parade uniform of the old Continental Army.

The meeting of the Camp will be long remembered by each old Veteran whose pleasure it was to be there for the glorious hospitality of the good people of Orange and by the courteous attention of the Boy and Girl Scouts, and last but not least, the Daughters of the Confederacy, that splendid body of women of our Southland who so graciously look after our comfort and welfare—so good and generous. And upon our passing, we will give into their keeping, our deeds and history of the Men who wore the Gray, who fought for a cause that was just, nor was it lost, and as we, one by one, pass over the river to meet our great commander, we will not be forgotten.
