LOCAL TALENT FOR KIWANIAN

Youngsters Put on Impromptu Program

The Leachman troupe, Mollie and Nancy, brought smiles and cheers from the Kiwanians who gathered chilly and damp, at the regular meeting last week.

Their little song-fest, together with several songs by Miss Eleanor Kline who accompanied herself on the guitar, was well received and brought a rising vote of thanks to the performers, and their parents who were present.

The subject of the Dairy Festival was brought up, and on suggestion of Mr. Cocke, it was decided to devote five minutes of each period for the next few weeks to a progress report and suggestions for helping the affair.

FORMER TEACHER RECALLS NAMES OF PUPILS

Editor Journal,

Recently I passed my 84th birthday. These oft recurring milestones bring many memories, and I marvel why so many of my former pupils in the early Manassas should have been called to the other side and I, their teacher, yet here. I am asking you to publish this list and if anyone recalls any other's who have left us I would be glad to have their names.

Althea Bennett, Augie Phillips, Theta Phillips, Augustus Brenton, Addie Woodyard, Will Woodyard, Anna McCann, Albert Davis, Alfred Davis, Hattie Wilcoxson, Mrs. Lewis, Ben Lewis, Raymond Free, Lamartine Free, Gertie Free, David Price, Fowell Merchant, Edson Phillips, Althea Newman, E. Newman, Will Andrews, John Weiler, Wood Weir, Charles Fitzgerald, Ellis Ketcham, Ella Howard, Lucy Hixon. A list of whom we may well be proud. The space they occupied may be well filled but the world has lost good men and women.

ILLNESS OF MR. KEITH

As we go to press we are advised that Hon. Thomas R. Keith, of Fairfax, is so ill that his recovery is a matter of considerable doubt.

BACK TO NORMALCY

August will go down into history as one of the dampest months of August in recent years. In the past two weeks there has been as much rain and more than during the growing season of 1930.

Most of the rain has been of the type which sank into the very dry soil and wells are coming back to normal more rapidly than at any time in the past six months.

The storm of Tuesday of last week carried with it an unusual amount of lightning and several reports came in of buildings burned.

Yesterday hail of a rather severe nature was reported in the Haymarket area, and at least one fine barn in the county went up in flames after being struck by lightning.

MANY THANKS

The Journal thanks Mrs. C. E. Nash for some delicious cake and Mrs. Sprinkle for two jars of most appetizing preserves.

HOUSE PARTY AT WIDEWATER

Jack Ratcliffe was host to a very pleasant house party at Widewater bungalow last week. His guests included Misses Virginia Conner, Lucy Arrington, Madeline McCoy and Messrs. Jack Holt Merchant, Robert Weir, jr., James Jenkyns Davies and Preston Lyon of Manassas; Mr. LeRoy Bowers of Pennsylvania; Misses Gazelle Farmer, Blanche Leavell, Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Nalle and Mr. Leon R. Waters of Culpeper; Misses Frances Hurst and Lucy Wills of Warrenton, Miss Elizabeth Griffin of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Raymond Ratcliffe and Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant of Manassas.

JUDGES ARE INVITED TO FOX HOUND TRIALS

Bench and Field Events Will Be Held at Leesburg October 12.

D. C. Sands, master of fox hounds, the Middleburg Hunt, will be one of the judges for the bench show, listed as one of the features on the program for the tenth annual fox hound trials of the Virginia Fox Hunters' Association, to be held in Leesburg the week of October 12, according to an announcement made by J. M. B. Lewis of Lynchburg, president of the organization. Mr. Lewis also added that William du Pont, jr., master of fox hounds of the Foxcatcher Hounds, Wilmington, Del., had been invited to serve with Mr. Sands, but so far had not been heard from. Both Mr. Sands and Mr. du Pont are widely known in hunting circles, and both have frequently judged at the leading bench shows in the East.

The field judges are: Dr. F. A. Sinclair of Newport News, Va.; Jefferson C. Phillips, Hampton, Va.; Samuel P. Goodloe, Afton, Va.; Clagett C. Dorsey, Glenarm, Md.; R. V. Martindale, Amherst, Va., and J. E. Keyser, Flint Hill, Va., all of whom are well known horsemen and fox hunters of wide experience. William Skinner of The Plains will serve as master of fox hounds.

BI-CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE AT HAYMARKET

The final meeting of the special subcommittee handling the Woodbridge celebration on September 25 will take place at the Parish Hall at Haymarket on Wednesday evening, Sept. 2, at 8 o'clock.

While no formal action has been taken, it is generally expected that the school system will declare a county-wide holiday, and that the school children of the country will be drilled by Miss Clark and the county faculty to take part in the exercises.

Hon. Wade Ellis, general chairman of the county, is expected to return on September 15 from England where he has been spending the summer while acting as associate counsel to the Overseas Exposition.

JOHN WILLIAM HALL

John William Hall, of Bristow, Va., was born in Prince William County May 9, 1840 and passed his life's reward August 10, 1931 at the age of 91 years, 2 months and 1 day. He was the son of William T. and Mary Ellis Hall.

Entering the Confederate Service at an early age he fought gallantly with Company A, 39th Virginia Cavalry, serving as bodyguard and courier for General Robert E. Lee. At Gettysburg, while on a special mission he was captured and imprisoned, suffering many hardships during his confinement. He was finally exchanged and at the close of the War between the States was honorably discharged at Winchester.

Mr. Hall was a staunch Southerner and related many interesting experiences of stirring drama in which he participated, among these being the fact that he was carrying a dispatch to Stonewall Jackson the night that intrepid General fell mortally wounded.

In January, 1872 Mr. Hall was united in marriage to Miss Sophia Virginia Haislip.

JOSEPH L. FINCHAM

Funeral rites were conducted this afternoon for Joseph L. Fincham, who was found dead in Washington on Monday morning, in Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with Rev. George Hasel, officiating assisted by Rev. W. A. Hall, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Interment was in the Manassas cemetery.

Beautiful floral pieces and the large number of citizens of Prince William, nearby counties and from Washington who attended the funeral attested to the popularity of the deceased and evidenced the respect in which he was held by his fellow citizens.

Mr. Fincham was born on April 9, 1891, in Rappahannock County, this State, but had been a resident of Manassas for many years. He had been in the railway mail service of the Post Office Department since 1917, and in recent years had been making the run from Washington to Charlotte, N. C.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Meda M. Fincham, two children, Helen, aged 12, and Catherine, aged 8, of Manassas; his mother, Mrs. L. A. Fincham, of Washington and Woodville, Va.; a brother, G. L. Fincham, of Monterey, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. Frances B. Henry, of Washington.

Honorary pallbearers were Tellos Priest, chief clerk, Railway Mail Service, C. J. Ross, E. H. Chandler, Q. O. Holler, B. E. Thompson, Raymond Davis, and Guy B. Allen while the active pallbearers were Dr. George Berger Cocke, Roy Bauserman, R. C. Bowers, L. L. Lomas, Major F. W. Patterson and H. C. Blakemore.

MANY CONVENTIONS FOR ALEXANDRIA

The number of nationally prominent organizations that will meet in Alexandria during the Bi-Centennial Celebration is constantly increasing. Twelve conventions are already stated there for 1932, the latest being the American Legion.

HEAVY APPLE CROP

Federal statistics indicate that the commercial apple crop in Virginia will be the largest on record. The August forecast is 4,264,000 barrels. The largest previous crop (1928) was 3,700,000 barrels. The crop last year was only 1,300,000 barrels on account of the drought.

Surviving him are two sisters, Mrs. Susan Taylor and Mrs. Jennie Maybough, of Greenwich, Va., and two daughters, Mrs. Mitchell Cook, of Bristow, Va., and Mrs. Ernest Hoffman, of Washington, D. C.; three grandchildren, Mrs. C. H. Thornton and John Hoffman, of Washington, D. C., and Charles Edward Hall, of Catharpin, Va., and one great grandchild, Samuel Thornton, jr., of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hall was a faithful member of the Methodist Church. At his funeral, Rev. J. Royal Cooke officiated, and a large gathering of sorrowing relatives and friends were in attendance. There were an unusual number of beautiful floral tributes, and both the Sons of Veterans, and Daughters of the Confederacy were present.

Favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by the choir, with Mrs. Mary E. Sprinkle at the piano. Through courtesy of the Daughters, the Stars and Bars, for which he had fought so bravely, and had cherished so dearly throughout his long life, were lovingly enfolded about his earthly remains and laid to rest with him.

AUTO ACCIDENTS ARE INCREASING

Virginia Facilities for First Six Months Increase 22.42 Per Cent over '30.

Statistics compiled from insurance records and released Wednesday showed that automobile accident deaths in Virginia during the six months of 1931 increased 22.42 per cent over the number for 1930.

The records showed a total of 273 automobiles accident fatalities in the State in the first six months this year and 223 last year.

With 58 deaths recorded as the result of automobile accidents in June this year the peak of the year had been reached. There were 55 in May, 45 in April, 50 in January, 34 in February and 31 in March.

Automobile accident deaths in the United States during the period this year numbered approximately 17,800 on the basis of the insurance records. Compared with 16,800 in the corresponding period of 1930, the number this year was 5.7 per cent greater.

On the basis of figures reported deaths this year averaged 84 per day for the period, against 79 during the corresponding months of last year.

Figures for the country as a whole showed an increase in street and highway facilities over the corresponding period of last year.

None of the months, according to the figures for the Nation, however, showed as large a gain as occurred in January. The indicated loss of life for the period averaged more than 2,500 a month, as against 2,400 during the same time last year.

Of all the States from which reports were received 18 showed a reduction in the loss of life on the basis of available figures.

FRED M. LYNN APPOINTED SCHOOL TRUSTEE

The Trustee Electoral Board of Prince William County met on Monday to consider filling the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Mr. E. S. Brockett as school trustee for Occoquan District.

After a careful canvass of the situation and consideration of several names, the Board decided to appoint Mr. Fred M. Lynn. Mr. Lynn has been prominently identified with educational and community progress in Occoquan District and the selection seems to meet with approval throughout the County. As Trustee for Occoquan District, Mr. Lynn becomes a member of the Prince William County School Board.

'SPORTING BLOOD' DEPICTS CAREER OF RACEHORSE

Thrills of Turf Serve as Background for Unusual Screen Drama.

The aristocracy of the American turf lined up as a company of screen actors at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, when "Sporting Blood," adapted from Frederick Hazlitt Brennan's Saturday Evening Post story, "Horseflesh," was filmed. This picture will open Monday at the Dixie Theatre.

Among the racers engaged to act in the picture were "El Elegante," former record holder at Caliente, "Duck Pond," "Blue Lane," "Blue Cedar" and other horses equally well-known to the track.

Racing Panorama.

The story deals with the career of a racehorse, but the human beings who affect his fate are really the characters of the play, though the entire panorama of racing, with thrills of the Kentucky Derby, exposures of crooked racing and gambling, and other details form a background. Charles Brabin, noted for "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" and other screen hits, directed.

Clark Gable and Madge Evans play the lovers, as a gambling dealer and a gambler's "moll" who find regeneration in bringing back to form a racehorse that has been mistreated.

Ernest Torrence, Lew Cody, Marie Prevost, Harry Holman, Hallam Cooley, J. Farrell McDonald and others are in the cast. The actual Derby, and several other races furnish thrills and suspense, and intimate scenes in Kentucky paddocks, racing stables and horse farms are among the interesting touches in the production.

One race is filmed in "close-up," camera and microphone following the careening horses around the track.

EVEN HORSES WEAR MAKE-UP

Make-up for horses is one of the odd tricks that the ever resourceful moving picture technician had to devise for photographic purposes.

"Tommy Boy," famous racehorse who plays the central equine role in "Sporting Blood," was as carefully made up for his role as any star.

"Tommy" is jet black. And hence, when his face was photographed in close-ups, there was no detail. The make-up department carefully lined his eyes with white, just as actors are lined with black against a white face. The high-lights in his nose were painted in and other deft touches used so that his face was "photographic." It took an hour each morning to apply the make-up—on mornings when "Tommy" was willing to stand still.

HERNDON MILL IS DESTROYED

A large quantity of flour, feed and machinery were destroyed or ruined by a fire in the D. M. McCarty Milling Co. early today.

The fire is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion in the wheat bins. The exact amount of the damage has not been determined, but will probably amount to several thousand dollars, it was estimated.

Firemen from Herndon succeeded in confining the blaze within the metal building.

GAS TAX GOES TO COLES DISTRICT

Carolina Road to Receive Treatment in Gainesville.

The Board met in regular session on Tuesday, with all members present. A large volume of routine business was attended to.

The sum of $7.45 was transferred to the Manassas District school fund to be matched by School Board and a flag purchased for the Manassas High School.

$6143.58 was transferred from the one-half cent gas tax fund to the Coles District Road Fund.

Edmond C. Fletcher, of Washington, was employed on a contingent basis to recover from the U. S. Government money lost in taxes for lands possessed by the Federal Government in Dumfries District on Nov. 4, 1918, and amounting to some 5,000 acres.

A warrant was ordered drawn to the Carolina Road from Haymarket toward the Loudoun Line and on the Gainesville Road from Mrs. Camill Hall's toward Catharpin.

Gainesville District repaid the county fund for $500 borrowed during 1931.

SANITATION IS DISCUSSED BY LOUDOUN DAIRYMEN

John Magill, jr., secretary-treasurer of the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers' Association, addressed Loudoun County dairymen at Purcellville last night. The object of the meeting was to inform Loudoun producers more specifically of the general rules of the association.

The meeting was informal and much interest was manifested by the number of questions relating to the sanitary conditions of dairy barns which were asked by those present. A number of points hazy to dairymen were cleared, many complaints being heard of grades given by the inspectors.

C. F. Betch, field manager of the association, followed with a talk stressing the sanitary conditions necessary today and those which the dairymen will have to meet in the future. Regulations and proposed regulations brought out by Mr. Betch were the monthly clipping of cows, washing basin, sanitary strainer cloth, covered drains, metal milking stools, metal sterilizer, metal stanchions, sealed barns, cement floors and seamless pails.

J. V. Nichols, local dairyman, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Benson is a commercial traveler, living all of his life in Baltimore and is a World War veteran.

The couple will reside at Cathedral Apartments, Baltimore, Md., after spending a quiet honeymoon at Manassas and Ventnor, N. J., after Sept. 1.

IN MEMORY OF DR. D. C. CLINE

AUGUST 19, 1931
 We laid dear Doc, at rest midst a multitude of friends, who, his sterling worth, attest
 The multiflora offerings
 Played a conspicuous part
 Mute sweet testimonials,
 Of many a loving heart.
 As long as we remember,
 The ravages of flu,
 We can but remember
 One, who fought, so true.
 No General in battle,
 Ever fought a harder fight,
 Than he to quell the death rate
 As he labored, day and night.
 The rich and poor were one to him,
 He labored, for the cause;
 A large and generous heart was his,
 Fulfilling God's just laws.
 To his dear wife and children,
 Our sympathies, we extend;
 You have lost a loved one,
 We have lost a friend.
 In ancient Damfries cemetery,
 He was laid, with love, at rest,
 While the heavens gently wept,
 With the friends of the deceased,
 Lay the grand old trees about him
 Sigh gently o'er his bier,
 May the songsters ever carol
 Their sweetest music there.
 While his many friends will linger,
 As they are passing near,
 To read this epitaph
 'Our Dr. Dear Lies Here.'
 E. M. Briggs.

SAVING THE POOR PEDESTRIAN

Nearly a third of the million people injured in automobile accidents last year were walkers struck by cars, while the number of walkers killed is nearly as great as the number of drivers and passengers killed in motor car collisions. So city planners are now trying to find methods to keep separate all vehicular and foot traffic. The story of how the streets in certain cities are being rebuilt to solve this drastic problem is told in an article in the Magazine Section of The Washington Star next Sunday.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

PERFECT SAFETY — Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee, yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness—Isa. 41:10.

PRAYER — Father, in life's darkest moments may we realize that Thou art the Eternal God, and underneath are the everlasting arms.

EVERYBODY OUT

At a meeting of committees held at the Town Hall Tuesday night, the matter of the ultimate fate of the proposed Dairy Festival in October left to the action of a mass meeting to be held at the High School auditorium on Wednesday evening, September 2, at 8 o'clock.

The real purpose of this meeting is to determine just how much local enthusiasm has been worked up. Reports from other sections indicate that county agents in at least three of the neighboring counties have found abundance of co-operative spirit among their farmers. It is now to find what is here in Prince William.

Fred R. Hynson, local business man, has been faithfully laboring in this matter as well as Town Manager Cocke, County Agent Cox and several of the progressive dairy farmers. Their patriotic interest deserves the whole-hearted support of everyone.

Boiled down to the gist of things, money will be made for this area in advertising and some money must be spent to put the machinery in proper motion. No accurate estimates have been made of these needs but it is sufficient to say that very little will remain of $2,000 if the plans function properly.

The burden should not entirely fall on the business men of the county as their immediate returns from this will be slight. It is an investment which the landowners and milk producers are more interested, and in this way they should accept the greater part of the self-imposed tax.

It is not proposed to solicit anyone at this meeting next week. The plan will be explained and ways and means will be come evident if the ultimate outcome is to be successful.

Let us hope that whatever the scope is reached this year that the treatment will be appropriate. We believe that those who have the project under way realize this and will govern themselves accordingly.

HAPPY ESCAPE

In pigeon-holding the application for a pardon in behalf of Albert B. Fall, the Department of Justice furnishes one more example of the way in which a tactful and discreet subordinate agency may protect the higher-ups of the Government from embarrassment.

Had the application for Fall's pardon ever come up for Presidential consideration, Mr. Hoover would have been in a position of unprecedented difficulty. As a great humanitarian he would no doubt have been under pressure to release from prison a poor and broken old man who has already been punished heavily by seven years of disgrace. But, having sat with Fall in Harding's Cabinet without ever opening his mouth about the disposition of the naval oil lands, Mr. Hoover would have been under equal pressure to demonstrate his own devotion to honesty in the government by keeping Fall in prison.

Mr. Hoover, who has worries enough on his hands as it is, will no doubt bless the Department of Justice for saving him from entanglement with the seven-year-old mess which Fall created. And, perhaps, since Fall seems to be getting along very well in his new prison home, it is just as well.

WILL VIRGINIA DEPART FROM "BYRD" PROGRAM?

With more than a $50,000,000 deficit confronting eight states of the South and with Virginia the only state in this section with balanced books, will the next General Assembly attempt to alter what has come to be known as the "Byrd Plan"? A large majority of leading men in the public life of the state do not think so.

Through adoption of the wise policies inaugurated under the leadership of former governor Harry F. Byrd Virginia has so greatly prospered that today she enjoys a substantial surplus in her treasury and her securities have a market value second only to that of the state of Massachusetts.

Among the most beneficial changes brought about by the Byrd Administration was that improving the tax laws of the Commonwealth. The abolition of all state tax on land and on tangible personal property, with other tax adjustments and regulations, is thought to be directly responsible for the recent great influx of big business and foreign capital into Virginia, which has so materially added to her revenues.

It is now no longer questioned that the Pay-as-you-go plan for road building was the outcome of wisdom and of far-seeing vision. It is well remembered that former Governor Byrd was the leader in the state-wide fight for this policy, which was at the time opposed by many patriotic citizens and by many and financial institutions of the first importance.

But time, which proves all things, has more than vindicated the pay-as-you-go plan, as opposed to that of large bonded indebtedness, so that while today Virginia is practically debt free, her sister state of North Carolina has a total bonded debt in excess of $500,000,000 with Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, Tennessee and other Commonwealths are distressed through bonded debt.

Of all the states in the Old South Virginia alone has no deficit. She is at the same time expending more today than ever before on education and on roads. The reorganization of the Virginia state government, together with the other wise policies inaugurated under the leadership of former Governor Byrd, is not only approved but being wisely carried on by the present Virginia executive, John Garland Pollard. And it seems the consensus of opinion among the leading men of the state that this program has been adopted permanently, having been found to be good.

MORE ACTIVITY FOR THE JOBLESS

The more closely one follows the plight of the unemployed and the plans which range all the way from the White House to the poor house for their alleviation, the more befuddled he is likely to become. Thousands of the finest economic diagnosticians and practitioners have come forward at one time or another with every sort of vaccination and nostrum, but apparently the epidemic is sweeping along unstemmed. If that were not the case, some new cure or panacea would not be seen in the headlines every day. Neither would we still have these unending investigations made for the purpose of determining exactly what the situation is, presumably with the idea of uprooting underlying causes.

Now we have it from Senator Fess that the President is busily engaged in some sort of data-gathering activity and that Mr. Hoover intends to have a "concrete program ready for presentation to the next Congress on the economic lay-out."

"It is my hope," says Senator Fess, "that federal relief in the unemployment situation will not be necessary. Of course, it goes without saying that we are not going to let our people suffer if their own communities are unable to aid them. You may be sure that President Hoover is alive to the situation."

Here's hoping for the best when the President faces Congress with another economic proposal. As to the statement of Senator Fess himself, we find comfort in it—the same sort of comfort we got last year. What would have become of "our people" who needed, if their own communities had not been able to look after them during the dark days of last winter? Federal help, wrapped and knotted with red tape, would have been too late to interest an enterprising undertaker.

Mr. Hoover is alive to the situation and his promises also are on the job.—Charlottesville Progress.

FARM POULTRY

LATE DUCKLINGS ARE PROFITABLE

Highest Prices Can Then Be Realized.

In answer to the question, "Are summer and early fall duckings profitable?" it can truthfully be said that late hatched ducklings have a number of advantages over their earlier hatched brothers and sisters.

In the first place, the summer and early fall hatched ducklings, if pushed for rapid and cheap gains, will go on the late fall and early winter markets in time for the Jewish and Christian holidays. They are naturally very profitable for at this time the highest prices can be realized and in addition, the weather during the growing season of late hatched ducks is more favorable for rapid growth.

Another advantage of the late hatched duckling is found in the matter of shipping the ducks to market. In the cool weather of fall the shrinkage and mortality losses in shipping are greatly reduced and the cost of shipping is materially lowered by placing more birds to a coop than could be done during hot weather.

Of course, not all of the advantages are in favor of the late hatched duckling. In the first place, ducklings or duck eggs usually can be secured at less cost earlier in the season. Then for breeding purposes, the earlier hatched ducks have some advantage in that matings can be made earlier and laying will start sooner, thus giving a longer period of production. For one who wishes to raise and feed ducks for market purposes, however, the possibilities in late hatched ducklings should not be overlooked.

Care of Young Turkeys to Prevent Big Losses

It will pay owners of young turkeys that are developing sorehead or sores on the wattles, to vaccinate them with chicken pox vaccine. If the young turkeys are also showing signs of bad colds and roup, it is advisable to give them an injection of mixed bacterin. It may be purchased from most druggists. Farmers whose druggist does not carry it may learn where to obtain it by writing to their state agricultural college. There are also treatments that will relieve acute cases of colds and roup. One is to dip the head in a solution of potassium permanganate solution. A drop of tincture of iodine in each nostril is a material help. Several farmers have had good results from the application of a few drops of coal oil to the inside of the beak and nostrils. These are only helps, but they may materially decrease turkey losses.

Profit on Green Ducks Depends on Marketing

The profit in selling green ducks depends on getting them to market before they begin to moult. In quick grown ducks this will be about the twelfth week. Ducks can be fed to weigh six pounds in twelve weeks at a feed consumption of 23.848 pounds. For their growing and fattening mash they use but the one formula from the third week until marketing. This formula calls for 100 pounds corn meal, 40 pounds wheat bran, 10 pounds Red Dog flour, 20 pounds meat scrap (50 per cent protein), 10 pounds alfalfa leaf meal, 10 pounds ground oats.

Seed the Yards

When a comparatively large number of chickens are kept in small quarters it is important that some provisions be made to permit the changing of the yards every year. This will do a great deal to eliminate trouble from disease and will furnish green feed which is essential for a healthy flock. A green crop will utilize the droppings of the chicks and produce a good growth which in turn will hasten the eradication of any contamination. Where yard space is limited it will be necessary to divide the yards if successful crops are to be grown.

Forced Molt Is Bad

Putting the poultry flock through a forced molt is easily accomplished, through radical changes in the feed, even to the extent of taking both scratch grain and mash away for a period of two days and then feeding them what grain they will clean up, and in a week's time feeding mash again. The forced molt is a questionable practice, however, particularly late in the summer, as it is difficult to keep the birds laying through the fall.

Chicks Need Heat

Remember that hot days are not sufficient reason for closing down the brooder stoves to save fuel. Chicks that are nearly feathered may not need much heat, but if they huddle on cool nights and many prospective pullets are trampled and smothered they are just as dead as if the fire went out the first week. The heat from the stove prevents huddling and trampling and is always needed until the chicks are found to be fully prepared to roost.

GETTING BUSINESS GLOOM BEHIND US

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

THERE is such a thing as over-staying a depression just as there is of over-staying a boom. Over-confidence makes the turn in a boom, and under-confidence makes them miss it in a depression. A leading New York banker was asked recently when he could tell that a turn for the better had come. "About three months after it has happened," he candidly replied.

There is more significance in that remark than appears on the surface. As more and more manufacturers and business men realize that the turn has already come and that they are over-staying the time to adopt constructive policies, they begin cautiously to press their selling campaigns, to speed up their production, to enlarge their working forces and increase their commitments for supplies. It is the gathering weight of their influences that finally raises the pressure of confidence to the dynamic power of recovery.

The surest way to bring the nation out of the business depression is to raise the pressure of public confidence to the point of becoming such a dynamic force. It has invariably been the push of that force which has started recovery in the past, and it is the gathering power of this force which will start recovery from this present depression.

It is a favorable sign of the times that there seems to be general agreement that the bottom of the depression has been reached and all eyes are peered and looking ahead for the first indications that the turn for the better is in sight. Who knows what the first thing we know we will find ourselves looking backward instead of forward as we realize that the turn has already come. It is a rough and rocky road that runs across the bottom of the valley of business depression, and most of us are too busy steering the old Ford from bump to bump to be able to take in all the scenery. So who knows but what some important changes in the landscape are already taking place.

BANKERS FAVOR GRADUAL CHANGE

National Commission Believes Local Sentiment Should Govern Evolution in Methods of Conducting Banking.

IF substantial changes are to be brought about in branch banking in the United States they should originate within the states rather than from Washington on inter-state lines as proposed in "trade area" branch banking plans, a recent report of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association declares. Such changes, it adds, "should develop by evolutionary rather than revolutionary stages."

"The extension of branch banking through state action would mean that states not now permitting state banks to have branches or else closely restricting them, would individually liberalize their laws as an expression of changing local desires and conditions, and this doubtless would insure a deliberate, evolutionary process," the report says. "The other method, that is, through Federal action, would mean a sweeping change for the country as a whole, for legislation granting branch banking powers to national banks in all states, regardless of local sentiment, would, of course, induce equivalent branch banking enactments in every state in the Union not now permitting or really wanting state banks to have branches, in order to keep them on a competitive equality."

Upholds State Privileges
"We find some bankers who feel that a proper stimulus to the development of branch banking would be given by the Federal Government taking the initiative through granting broader privileges within state lines to national banks than they now enjoy. It is argued that state governments could then follow suit as to state banks and that in this way a more progressive branch banking attitude might be promoted by the national banks taking the lead. While we do not deny that there may be some merit in this view as to some specific localities, we stand firm nevertheless on the principle that no such grant of powers to national banks should cross state lines, or exceed the privileges that state legislatures could and would grant to their state banks."

"Moreover, we believe that if the choice between these two possible courses of extending branch banking were put up to bankers, they would be generally opposed to any forcible imposition of branch banking on the states through the medium of the national bank system. We believe it would be preferable for any change to come about through the more gradual and democratic method of the states granting their banks branch banking powers state by state where, if, and as local conditions and sentiment might be ready for a change."

FALL GARDEN

Hundreds of farmers do not have a fall garden consequently little or nothing to store away for the winter. Every garden should have a good patch of Late Flat Dutch cabbage set out. Cabbage can be easily stored.

There is time if done at once to plant stringless green pod beans, Crosby Egyptian beets, Curled Scotch kale, Purple Top rutabaga, Virginia Savoy spinach, Purple Top turnips, Seven Top turnip salad.

Potatoes should be thoroughly dried before storing, but do not scald them in the hot sun in drying them. Thousands of bushels of potatoes are lost every year by digging potatoes and sacking them while hot and letting them stand in the hot sun in sacks. A scald rot plays havoc. Dig your potatoes and dry them in a shady place rather than in the sun. That there will be a heavy loss from blight this winter is a surety, as in many cases the plants were killed early and the potatoes can not escape being affected by the several diseases that are nearly always present if the crop is not sprayed with Bordeaux mixture several times during the growing season. At least 85 per cent of the potato crop was planted this year without treating the seed. A few cents spent for Bi-chloride of mercury or Formaldehyde would have safeguarded the crop. A false economy as will be found this winter. The same thing applies to the wheat crop. In order to save a few cents wheat seed was not treated, and losses as high as 10 per cent of the crop from smut are noted. Plant your fall garden now and have some food stuff to store for the winter. Let us profit by our past failures and not make the mistake again.

A want ad will help you sell anything you do not need.

Step out of any other low-priced car, step into a Chevrolet, and learn what a difference six cylinders make.

When you start the engine, and let it idle—the car remains steady, as well as everything in it. When you drop into low gear, and let the engine take hold—the power flows evenly. There's no semblance of strain.

This smoothness stays with you whatever you do. Accelerate—throttle down—go fifteen or fifty. Consistently, you get the same fine, smooth response. For six-cylinder smoothness is built in the motor—and objectionable vibration never gets a chance to start!

Yet smoothness is only part of your six-cylinder experience. There's greater quietness, because noisy vibration is gone, and with it a big source of squeaks and rattles. There's greater comfort, especially at low and high speeds. A six doesn't tire the driver or the passengers. There's greater flexibility, because the power-impulses of a six overlap. And response is more positive; performance more elastic. A six is much easier to handle!

And if you raise the hood and watch the engine running—you'll know what a difference six cylinders make to your pocketbook. Without vibration to cause friction and wear, the whole car must last longer, require less repair. Thousands of owners have found that this engine uses less gas and oil than any other.

You owe it to yourself to see and drive a Chevrolet Six now. Learn what a difference six cylinders make.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Margaret Hore Bowen passed to her final abode on Tuesday, August 18. Mrs. Bowen, the daughter of Dr. Walter Hore, at one time surgeon in the United States Navy, and Virginia E. Hore, was born at "Marlow," Stafford County, Va. She was the grandniece of William A. Wickliffe, twice governor of Kentucky and Postmaster General under President Buchanan. She was married in extreme youth to Dr. Peter B. Bowen and they lived in Stafford County for some years where he practiced his profession. From there they moved to Brentsville, Prince William County, where they lived until his death in 1902. After this she spent part of her time in Brentsville and part in Washington, D. C., until the death of her only son, Walter F. Bowen, in 1918. After the death of her son Mrs. Bowen received an executive appointment from President Wilson in the Post Office in Washington, D. C., which position she faithfully filled until a short time before her death. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. D. H. Oertly, Washington, D. C., one granddaughter, Mrs. Dr. Thomas A. Egan of New York, two grandsons, David Walter Oertly of Hyattsville, Md., Allan Wickliffe Oertly of Washington, D. C., and one little great grandson.

Mrs. Bowen was a woman of unusual personality and possessed a most brilliant mind. She was noted as a fine conversationalist and a gifted writer, especially of poems of a religious nature. She was a person of the deepest faith, having an unbounded belief in the teachings of Christianity, and most of her poems breathed love, faith and an unflinching trust in the Heavenly Mansions which her Master had gone to prepare, and to which she longed to go. She believed implicitly in prayer and never ventured upon the smallest undertaking without invoking her Master's blessing, with whom we can truly say she often walked and talked. Two verses from a poem dedicated to her son seem a fitting ending to this humble tribute:

"In Mansions of light, in this city of gold,
 My loved ones are waiting for me,
 And o't in my dreams, through the wide-open gates,
 They lovingly beckon on me.

"And when through the valley of shadows I pass—
 To him who now watches and waits,
 I'll shout the glad song of redemption and love,
 And sweep through the wide-open gates."

Summer Menus Should Include Meat

By Jane Rogers

THIS is the time of the year when the little red line on the thermometer climbs close to ninety—and the kitchen seems even warmer—and the side porch looks so cool and inviting—and no housewife wants to spend any more time than necessary over a stove. Certainly she is not wholly to blame. It is so easy to assemble a few left-over vegetables or fruits and heap them artistically on cool, crisp lettuce leaves, especially when everyone seems entirely satisfied with the result.

Yet the need for more substantial foods is just as great in summer as in the cold winter months. Meats, potatoes and the heavier offerings which form the bulk of the winter diet should not be omitted from the summer menu, just because to prepare them means a little more time in the kitchen.

Even if the housewife is using summer as an excuse to cut down on the family meat bill, it is possible through the medium of the cheaper cuts to keep this important item on the menu and still pare the food budget.

Cheaper cuts can be made just as tasty as the more expensive ones if properly seasoned. Salt, vinegar, sugar, parsley and the other accepted seasonings will work wonders in creating a really substantial dish with appetite appeal. The sugar is important because it helps to blend the other seasonings and point up the flavor of the dish, as a whole.

Here is a recipe for a meat dish that can be made easily and economically from veal and a cup of left-over boiled ham. It is excellent when served cold.

Veal and Ham Pie
2 pounds lean veal 1 tsp. salt
1 cup lean boiled ham 1 tsp. vinegar
2 hard cooked eggs 1 tsp. dried parsley
1/2 onion

Simmer veal in water to which seasonings and onion have been added. When tender, cut the meat in inch cubes. Put in deep baking dish together with the ham cut in small slices or cubes; the eggs, sliced; and the liquid in which the veal was cooked, reduced to one cup. Cover with pie crust. Bake in moderate oven and serve hot or cold.

"THAT CERTAIN PARTY"

The Latest Summer Fashions for Musicians as Conceived by Armando, Internationally Famous Cartoonist.

ARMANDO explains the whimsical attire which he has used in his pen portraits of some of the many stars now shining so brightly in the new Lucky Strike Summer Party Orchestra, as the only appropriate "dress" for musicians during the hot months, and insists that any way you look at "it" summer parties would be dull affairs without little girls (the continental viewpoint). Reading, or looking, from left to right, we behold, B. A.

Rolle, dainty leader of the orchestra; Andy Sahella, guitarist extraordinaire; and orchestra leader in his own right; Rose Gorman, who plays twenty-seven instruments (one at a time); Phil Napoleon (the little girl with the big mustache), who yields to no one when it comes to breaking your heart with a trumpet, and last, but by no means least, Nana Bryant, famous stage actress, who is one of the program's distinguished announcers.

There is no other advertising medium that compares with this newspaper for satisfactory results.
