ADMIRAL BYRD AT WINCHESTER

Many Going from Prince William to Hear Distinguished Explorer.

Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, Winchester, Va., native and citizen, will appear in person at the Handley high school auditorium, Wednesday, February 24, in Winchester, Va., to tell his own story of Little America and the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. Admiral Byrd will give his own account of the Flight to the South Pole and show illustrated moving pictures heretofore unexhibited telling the Epic Story of Little America. The motion pictures which will be shown in connection with Admiral Byrd's lecture were selected and assembled under his personal direction.

Admiral Byrd will appear at the Handley high school for two lectures on February 24. His lecture at 3:30 in the afternoon is for school children exclusively. At this lecture a very nominal charge of 25c will be made. Appearing again at 8:15 p.m. the motion pictures and lecture will be repeated for the general public. Admission will be $1.00 with no reserved seats. Amplifiers have been installed in the Handley high school auditorium which assures that everyone attending will be able to hear every word of Admiral Byrd's thrilling description.

Hero of the North and South Poles and Conqueror of the Atlantic, Admiral Byrd possesses great popularity and appeals strongly to the minds of many, especially to the youth of America.

Byrd ranks with the late Admiral Peary as an Arctic Explorer, is one of the most noted of Navigators, is an International Authority on Aviation and is an inventor of Navigational Equipment.

While Admiral Byrd has lectured to packed houses in practically every part of the United States, this is the first time that he has been back home (Please turn to page 8)

ADEN IS HOST TO KIWANIS

Last Friday evening the Kiwanis Club departed from its wonted paths and strayed down into the pretty little community generally known as Aden and long famed for its hospitality. The club was not disappointed and the ladies were very prompt to observe the usual hour at which the club meets.

More than thirty business and professional men and their friends were present at the session.

After the dinner hour, Bob Weir introduced Mayor Davis of Manassas, who gave the assembly a financial feast, containing many interesting figures and common-sense facts and suggestions concerning the economics of government, a matter under widespread discussion at this time.

Fred Hynson announced that he had not been able to work up a program for ladies night, and the same was postponed to March 4.

EASTERN STAR ENTERTAINMENT

Local Talent Revealed in Delightful Program.

Wimodausis Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, met on Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple with a good attendance. After the business was over and the meeting was closed the members were entertained on the second floor by the social committee. This committee certainly knows how to entertain. They kept the crowd roaring with laughter the entire time. They also proved that this chapter has in its membership quite a bit of unusual dramatic ability and talent. Cake walks were staged, shadow pictures enjoyed, and some of the great artists' compositions were skillfully rendered. Altogether it was quite an enjoyable evening, and one that will not be forgotten soon. The social committee deserves a great deal of credit for their evening's fun.

WASHINGTON PROGRAM AT MANASSAS HIGH

A Washington Bi-centennial program will be held at Manassas high school Saturday afternoon, February 20, beginning at 2:15 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

School is held on Saturday in order that a holiday may be given on Monday, the 22nd.

THANKS, RED CROSS

The Civilian Home Service Committee acknowledges with thanks the allotment of $191.00 turned over to it by the Prince William County Chapter of the American Red Cross. This amount represents the sum given to the chapter for its charities by the government workers in the county, who were asked to contribute to employment relief.

Funds for the use of this committee were running low as the Roll Call this year was turned over to the support of the county nurse and there are many calls for clothing and shoes for school children.

These amendments were adopted by the club.

Invitations will be sent out to all councils in the Prince William District to attend this meeting.

SERIES OF SOIL IMPROVEMENT MEETINGS HELD IN COUNTY

"Soil Improvement" meetings were held at Manassas, Independent Hill, Haymarket and Nokesville on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, with W. H. Daugherty of the Extension Division, U. S. P. I., leading the discussions. There was an average attendance of about twenty-five farmers at the four meetings. Announcement was made that the price of State ground limestone in bulk had been reduced to sixty cents per ton, F. O. B. Staunton, until May 1.

FRANCES WILLARD MEMORIAL SERVICE

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet at the home of Mrs. E. E. Blough Wednesday, Feb. 24, at 3 p.m.

Roll call will be answered with quotations of Frances Willard. All members who have not paid their dues this year please bring or send them to this meeting as you know we cannot make our standard of excellence unless all dues are in by first of March.

Everyone be at Mrs. Bywaters' ready to start at 2:45.

TWO PHOTOPLAY IDOLS UNITE TALENTS

Two popular photoplay "raves" are united for the first time in a talking picture at the Dixie Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, when the Paramount love drama, "His Woman," brings Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper onto the co-starring horizon.

The story based on a novel, "The Sentimentalist," by Dale Collins, offers Cooper exactly the type of role in which he excels that of a lanky young leader considerably at sea on how to handle women, but lacking not a second of action when a rough-and-tumble tussle will save any girl from attentions she considers unflattering at the hands of the other fellow.

Miss Colbert's work will be watched closely, her part as an abandoned girl of the waterfront being a direct antithesis of the smartly gowned portrayals in which she has scored her greatest successes.

MANASSAS 4-H CLUB

The Manassas 4-H Club met Tuesday, the 16th. The following officers were elected: president, Billy Jamison; vice-president, Samuel Moss, and secretary-treasurer, Nelson Lynn.

GRANDSTAND SEATS AT ALEXANDRIA

The Committee in charge has advised us that grandstand tickets are on sale at Warfield's Pharmacy, Alexandria, Va., and that requests will be handled by mail. The seats are one dollar each and the money is used for the expenses of the Celebration.

NATION LOOKS TO ALEXANDRIA

Washington Celebration Will Be Gigantic.

Alexandria is in festive array for the coming 22nd parade. Flags and decorations have bedecked King street, Alexandria's principal thoroughfare, and preparations are being made to provide for the host of visitors who will make Alexandria their focal point on February 22.

The committee has announced that grandstand seat tickets will be on sale for $1.00 at Warfield's Pharmacy, Alexandria, and that out-of-town requests by mail will be carefully handled.

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commanding officer of the 3rd Corps Area will be the Grand Marshall of the parade. The Secretary of the Navy, Hon. C. F. Adams, will attend. The head of the United States Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. B. H. Fuller, and the head of the United States Coast Guard, Adm. F. C. Billard, and many other distinguished Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard officials will review the parade. The giant airship Los Angeles will fly from Lakehurst and sail over Alexandria during the progress of the parade. More than 40 military organizations, 30 bands and scores of floats will be features of the parade. American Legion members from Posts all over the 3rd Corps Area will participate in the parade, and the leading fraternal organizations of the country will be found in the line of march.

Students from Virginia and neighboring states will make Alexandria their headquarters during this festive occasion. Grandstand seats are available and will afford the public a splendid opportunity to review the parade at a point close to the presidential stand. The Mayor of Alexandria and the president of the George Washington Birthday Association extend to all the people throughout the United States and Virginia, a cordial invitation to journey to Alexandria and take part in the opening Bicentennial tribute to the immortal Washington.

The parade starts promptly at 2:30 and will be reviewed by the President of the United States and the Governor of Virginia, and the scores of other high ranking leaders of the American Nation.

SOIL TESTING SERVICE

Available at County Agent's Office on February 24, 25 and 26.

Soil testing equipment will be set up at the County Agent's office in the Peoples Bank Building on February 24, 25 and 26 and soil samples sent in by farmers tested for phosphate and lime requirements by W. H. Byrne of V. P. I. and T. S. Buie of the Superphosphate Institute of Washington. Those wishing to have these tests made may do so by taking samples from their fields, labeling them so that they may keep in mind the places from which they were obtained and taking them to the office of the County Agent preferably not later than Thursday, February 25. If it is not convenient to take the soil samples to Manassas, they may be left at one of the following places up through Monday, February 22: Herring and Woodyard Stores, Independent Hill.

Trenis Store, Nokesville.
Bank of Haymarket, Haymarket.
G. C. Russell's Store, Agnewville.

To properly take the samples of soil, dig a hole to about the depth the land is usually plowed. Then take a uniform slice about two inches thick from top to bottom, and carefully number or name container so that report of test when returned may be understood. If the soil in a field varies it may be well to take two or three samples from the same field.

LEGISLATION AT RICHMOND

Redistricting Action Clears Path for Many Bills.

With the redistricting squabble over, the Assembly is settling down to real business and may catch up lost time by a night session or so next month.

On Monday, the Governor and the whole outfit comes to Alexandria to join hands in celebrating the birthday of the gentleman from the Northern Neck who afterwards moved over into Northern Virginia. The parade promises to be the biggest thing that the staid old town of Belle Haven has ever put on.

Most of the large bills and many of the small bills have already been the subject of much local discussion. Some affecting this area as follows: the special act which took the Towns of Herndon and Colonial Beach out of the restricted class and gave it the same privileges as Towns of over a thousand with regard to Literary Fund Loans. This legislation was caused primarily by the fact that Herndon had proceeded in good faith and put up a fine modern high school with the expectation of receiving aid from the Literary Fund. The results of the 1930 census showed that it had dropped out of the 1000 class and could not get that aid without special legislation which was brought about by Delegate Allen.

One of the small bills which failed at the source was a proposal to create an island in the Bay just above Dawson Beach. Another was to allow counties to sell surplus crushed rock. This bill may be replaced by another slightly more indirect which will not affect private contractors as seriously as the other bill might have ultimately.

A slight tax was put on oleomargarine but not as much as local buttermakers and farmers would have preferred. The fight on the chain stores is being continued with a stiff resistance.

A bill to widen the relief offered to county police in certain counties went through this week. Also another bill to allow Boards of Supervisors to formulate ordinances and submit them to the Court for approval. This is effective only in certain counties, such as Arlington and Fairfax.

The barber bill stiffening inspection bids fair to pass as most of the barbers are behind it and an active lobby has been carried on.

As a result of the cry for relief of taxation and as an intermediate measure to satisfy the school people of the State, a bill which has the apparent approval of the Highway Commission will go to the Assembly this week but will not be voted on before the middle of next week. This will take from all counties their cent and a half gas tax now being returned to the counties and instead of direct taxation for roads, the entire road system will pass into central supervision of the State Department.

This is optional and on application to the court any county may hold a plebiscite on the subject of whether it wishes to go in the State system or remain "on its own." The Act as proposed will not be effective until July 1. By remaining silent, a county automatically goes into the State system on July 1.

Well-informed legislators expect the measure to pass with very little, if any, opposition. All county equipment would be purchased by the State Department under the same procedure as any other condemnation.

The bill is being termed the Byrd Bill because it is said to have the former Governor's personal approval, and that means a lot with the legislature.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Senior Class of the Manassas high school will present "Out of Court" on Monday night, February 29, at the high school auditorium.

This is a four-act play and the cast is made up entirely of home talent.

The funds from this will be used to help lay a cement walk from the street to the school building.

Come and enjoy the play and help a good cause.

LUXURIOUS WEDDING
PICTURED IN FILM

Exceeding in lavishness even the wildest dreams of a prodigal bride, are the wedding scenes for "Bad Company," the RKO Pathe picture starring Helen Twelvemass, at the Dixie Theatre on Friday.

These scenes depict the wedding of a young girl who is married to a man who is leading a double life, with the entire proceedings stage-managed by a millionaire. Where the dreaming bride would see flower girls strewing blossoms along her path, is found a giant blimp which soars above the church and drops rose blossoms over the bride, the crowd and even the church.

As the bride enters the church small balloons are released and silken banners unfurled with silk embroidered letters reading "Good Luck." She treads a carpet of roses between a row of little girls dressed in the gayest manner who toss more roses across her path as she passes under a large canopy built of apple blossoms at the entrance to the church.
Inside the church the bride is preceded by twenty bridesmaids under arbors built of roses and apple blossoms up to the altar. At the conclusion of the ceremony a score or more of white doves are released from a huge rose covered bell and many different kinds of blossoms fall from the top of the church to mingle with the orchids and gardenias carried by her entourage.

Helen Twelvemass as the bride is dressed in a beautiful egg-shell satin gown with a tight fitting bodice, long sleeves and a long train. She wears a veil made of fine lace. The groom, played by John Garrick, is about the only principal in the proceedings who has not felt the urge to be glorified—he wears the proverbial black.

"Bad Company" has a large cast which includes Ricardo Cortez, Kenneth Thomson, Wade Boteler, Frank McHugh, Frank Conroy, Arthur Stone, James Eagles and Al Herman.

Fisher Bodies are exclusive to Chevrolet in the lowest price field

ALL THAT is new, smart and desirable in a fine modern coachwork—is represented by the phrase Body by Fisher. And today, the only car of lowest price to offer Fisher coachwork is the new six-cylinder Chevrolet.

Examine this car carefully—front, side, rear, inside—and you'll discover one evidence after another of Fisher's master craftsmanship! Notice the lines—the same long, clean, ultra-modern streamlines you've admired so much on custom cars. Observe the details of styling—the graceful sloping of the front pillars; and the way the cowl and windshield frame are constructed in one smooth piece, without seams or joints. Step inside and you'll get many pleasant surprises—for Chevrolet interiors are complete with modern comfort-features and conveniences:
a finger-touch adjustable driver's seat; an interior sun visor; broad "lounge-type" seats; and a wide expanse of vision for all occupants. Notice how easily Chevrolet doors are opened by the new automatic door ejector. See how obviously solid and substantial is the Fisher composite wood-and-steel construction. Mark, also, how massive and well-fitted are Chevrolet doors. Slam them hard, and, instead of a metallic noise, you get that welcome solid sound which tells you "This is the finest of coachwork."

The truth is—Chevrolet and Fisher have achieved in these bodies the best-looking, best-built, most completely equipped line ever to appear in the lowest price field.
Along with Synchro-Mesh shift, Free Wheeling, and other remarkable features, these new Fisher bodies are again making Chevrolet America's most popular motor car.

The Cannon Branch male chorister will give a program at the Valley View Church Sunday, Feb. 21, at 11 a.m. You are most cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Stultz had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Duffey and little daughter, Marian June of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry May and family of Catlett.

Mrs. I. B. Fitzwater and daughter, Della, was the guests of Mrs. S. G. Whetzel one day the past week.

Mrs. Luther Miller spent last week in the Valley of Virginia with her sister who has been ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Evelyn Swank spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian character, and look forward to the time when we can have a church in which to worship. These days are not really days of hardship but days which will prove what manner of people we are.

A large crowd was present the past Sunday at the U. B. service. Rev. Maiden delivered a very able sermon, after which communion was administered. It was the largest communion held in years. Rev. J. M. Frame assisted with the communion. It is true our church has suffered a financial loss but we hope we can still build

The banquet given the Kiwanians on Friday night proved quite a success. They are a lively group and the work they sponsor is of a great help to any community.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

GREAT THINGS:—Fear the Lord, and serve him in truth; for consider how great things he hath done for you.—1 Samuel 12: 24.

MONTHLY REVIEW OF BUSINESS

The monthly bank letter for February issued by the National City Bank of New York is indicative of no vigorous business recovery, though some seasonal upturn in business has been apparent since the beginning of the year. It notes progress in carrying out the administration's program for the support of credit and is inclined to regard as a hopeful sign the reductions in both prices and costs which have already been put into effect in most lines of business. Preliminary tabulations of industrial earnings in 1931 indicate a decline of 53 per cent as compared with 1930, and 70 per cent below the 1929 peak.

Acceptance by European countries of the attitude of the United States in refusing to admit a relation between war debts and reparations is advocated. "Although the European debtors do not like the attitude of the United States government," it states, "it would be better for the interests involved if they would accept the situation as it is and endeavor to arrive at a new agreement with Germany upon the basis of Germany's capacity to pay rather than upon the basis of what they fear they may have to pay to the United States. They will gain nothing by making impossible demands upon Germany, whatever may be the outcome of their claims on the United States. President Hoover, by his message to Congress recommending the re-establishment of the Foreign Debt Commission, has shown that he is favorable to a re-examination of the debts and undoubtedly he has much public sentiment to support him. The attitude of Congress may change, and anyway the reparations question is the immediate issue and should be settled on its own state of facts."

Fears that have been expressed that the establishment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will lead to inflation, the letter observes, fail to take into consideration the real definition of inflation, since it depends not alone upon the amount of credit outstanding but as well upon the use to which the credit is put. No one could claim today, it is argued, that credit is in excess of trade needs, is circulating too rapidly; or is being used for inflationary purposes, such as the bidding up prices to fictitious levels. It is plain that under the driving force of fear contraction of credit has gone beyond the point where it is a corrective for old difficulties, and has become the cause of fresh and greater ones which only a check to it can cure.

In the opinion of the bank, neither the manner in which the funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have been obtained, nor the use to which funds are to be put can be classed as inflationary. The steps undertaken by the government, the bank's letter points out, are designed only to replace by a public source of credit the normal private sources that are dried up by the effects of fear. They are to free credit, not to create it.—Roanoke Times.

WITH VISION AND COURAGE

Like even-handed justice, the record of a local executive or administrator commends or condemns him to the larger public which he may be called to serve. It is significant and important that former Governor Byrd, just at the moment when he is being considered beyond the borders of his home Commonwealth for the greatest executive position in the world, should have offered to the people of Virginia a new state policy on public highways that is among his most important acts as a servant of Virginia.

Mr. Byrd will, of course, be presented for national consideration with the unanimous endorsement of his state; this is a judgment that may be influenced by local pride, but his accomplishments in the Old Dominion will permit of a judgment that is without prejudice, that is based solely on the record. Many a man who has been well-deserving in small things has been called to be master of greater tasks.

There is, accordingly, a national aspect of the proposal of Mr. Byrd that Virginia takes over all the roads in the state for merging into a unified highway system, to be owned, controlled, built and repaired by the commonwealth. This is a far-reaching fulfillment of the ambitious highway construction program under which Virginia has been operating throughout several administrations, including the Byrd regime.

Gradually our Commonwealth has built an exceptional network of roads, embracing the main highways, and has added to these numerous supplemental routes. Virginia has felt, with some pride, that we actually were developing an admirable road system. As that system neared completion, the eventual, natural extension would have been inclusion of the county and city roads in a complete state network. To the idea of the eventual consummation in road construction, Mr. Byrd has added, and not tritely: "Why not now?"

His cogent reason is the relief of counties from the burden of taxation which appals them. There has been a determined effort to divert $5,000,000 of road revenue to relieve the counties of that much expenditure for schools but Mr. Byrd has opposed this on the ground that it would cause the highway system to become dilapidated. The purpose of the diversion plan was to supply emergency relief from local taxation, and it has decided merit. The new proposal by Mr. Byrd is not an emergency, but a permanent arrangement for reduction of county taxes. The former governor does not invalidate the diversion contentions, in fact, some of his arguments unconsciously sustain them, nor does he envision the aid to schools included in the former plan. His offering is a distinct measure, permanent instead of temporary standing on its own feet and on its own merits.

The former governor knows whereof he speaks. Beginning July 1, 1932, the Byrd plan—and it will be known as that—forbids the counties to levy approximately $3,400,000 in local road levies, which means their taxes automatically will be cut that much. This is substantial relief, but it develops a large burden of road work onto the State. It will be met, in part, by the state using on its general road program that $3,500,000 now sent to the counties to abet their road funds. All well and good, but what is to make up the $3,400,000 which the counties had been levying?

Mr. Byrd is a canny, wise executive. He knows quite well that much of the accomplishment out of such a fund can be made up by the economy of state administration. He doesn't say so, but such an expression is needless. The state, like most major operations, builds highways more economically than the counties. It has the advantage of trained engineers and experts who build better roads. The average motorist knows that he can generally count a stretch of somewhat inferior road to lie beyond that signboard marked, "End of State Maintenance." There is, of course, a tremendous economy, in the avoidance of duplicated machinery necessitated by separate county construction. And there is, lastly, the glaring fact that county road funds are not generally administered so efficiently or economically as the state expenditures. It is, quite apparently, in the transfer of these county functions to state administration that the former governor counts on taking up the slack. And he is right; it can be done.

And if there still is a deficiency after the economies mentioned have been effected, we may depend on this being countered by a slight tightening of the Highway Department's belt, just as we suggested doing to permit a diversion of part of the highway funds for school purposes.

The Byrd proposal, viewed objectively, is a vast, constructive stride toward the ultimate aim of our highway system. If carried out, it will be a bold, decisive stroke that will take courage, faith and a wise, thoughtful application of the principles embodied therein.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

JAPANESE SITUATION

Whatever further insanity the Japanese Militarists may be guilty of, the United States should not go to war against them. We have no mandate to police the world. We cannot protect vast China by force of American arms, nor can we preserve American interests by killing Japanese. Even if we were victors in a war we would lose more than we could gain. Patience is required of us now, more than anything else and as the world's most powerful nation and as the world's credit control, the United States can wait. Soon or late Japan must come to us. When she does come to us, there is bound to be an accounting under the American treaties which the Japanese Militarists mistakenly think they have destroyed.—Washington Daily News.

PRESIDENT WILL REVIEW PARADE

Hoover Will Attend Historic Ceremonies.

With a definite assurance having been given by President Hoover to attend the George Washington Birthday Parade in Alexandria on February 22, the President of the George Washington Birthday Association and the Mayor of Alexandria have extended an invitation to the residents of the State of Virginia, and the residents of nearby states to come to Alexandria on the day of the celebration, at which time it is expected that the greatest military, civic and fraternal parade in the history of the city will be held.

The President's acceptance of the invitation to attend assures the attendance of the Governor of Virginia, John Garland Pollard, and his staff. The Governor will be accompanied by the Richmond Blues as his escort. Many members of both houses of Congress will also come to view the parade, as well as members of the Diplomatic Corps and other notables. The General Assembly of Virginia will also attend. The student body of the State of Virginia, and nearby states, are also expected to make Alexandria their objective on this day, particularly since February 22 falls on a Monday which would permit thousands of students to journey to Alexandria for the celebration, without interfering with their studies.

Already throughout the states, there is considerable interest in the coming parade, and Alexandria is expected to be host to the largest number of visitors in its history.

Every effort is being made to provide for the comfort and entertainment of out-of-town guests, for Southern hospitality will be the keynote of the day.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear son, H. L. Cornwell, who passed away six months ago, Aug. 15, 1931.

Six short months have passed away, dear Harvey, But oh, how long they've been to me Since nothing but bad days of sorrow Does my poor heart ever see.

Surrounded by friends I am lonely In the midst of pleasure I'm blue With a smile on my face but a heart-ache.

I am grieving, my dearling, for you.

What would I give to hold your hand Your sweet little face to see To hear your footsteps coming in Oh how happy I would be!

No one knows, but God, my sorrow Few have seen me weep. I shed my tears from a broken heart While others are asleep.

Dearest Harvey, you are not forgotten

Though on this sad earth you are no more

But in memory you are with me As you always were before.

Your Mother.

THE JOY OF BEING AN EDITOR

Getting out this paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write it down ourselves.

If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff.

If we stick close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting up news.

If we do get out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate true genius.

If we do, the paper is filled with junk.

If we make a change in a fellow's write-up,

We are too critical; If we don't we are asleep.

Now, like as not someone will say We swiped this one from some other paper.

We did!—Preston (Minn.) Republican plus Scripps-Canfield Bulletin.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

(OCCOQUAN AND WOODBRIDGE)

Hello, Folks! I am just taking a minute or two off to get before the MIKE and give you dear Manassas Journal fans of Twin City a running word picture of an Old Ladies Circle. Come with me just for a moment and we will walk hand in hand all the way down to Mrs. Hawkins' (Rippon Lodge). Here we are! Yes, this is Rippon Lodge. Filled to the brim with historical lore. The old spinning wheel, ladies and gentlemen, a complete SHALLEY-GONAHAY. And now for the benefit of the young folks—tu, tutt, some of you old ladies tell me quick what a shalley-gonahay is. Thank you, Mrs. Burdette—Listen folks Mrs. Burdette will do her own talking. "That outfit, my dear young folks, is a 'smock frock' and was worn as late as—yes, probably by some of the dear old souls present." And now we will leave the innards of the dwelling—we will ramble on the outside just for a moment. Over there we see a SHANDRYDON. Yes, it is very old and seldom used in this day of the auto age. Mrs. Hall, you tell the young folks what a shandrydon is. Don't let the mike excite you, Mrs. Hall. Talk to the mike just as you would talk to Mr. Hall. "A SHANDRYDON is a rickety conveyance of the SHAY family, and used for conveying the whole family to church, or taking the grain to the mill." Thank you, Mrs. Hall. Very interesting indeed. I understand Mrs. Hall is an authority on these different modes of travel or rather conveyances. The lady comes from the mountainous sections of Prince William, and says she can well remember her great grandfather using a shandrydon in the early '60's to take the family to BUSH MEETINGS. It is refreshing indeed to be surrounded by a bunch of old time ladies—right in the middle of a sewing ring—I mean a sewing society. And here are, Mike and all ready to throw on the air a few dainty bits of gossip, sizzling hot as it rolls from the lips, and in some cases toothless mouths of the dear old wrinkled faces and forms of Twin City's Sewing Circle. All the ladies are seated, but who is listening! . . . ? ? ? HA, HAA, HAAA! I fooled you folks listening to this broadcast. That fuss that you just heard was not static. It was the cackling of the old hens. I mean Old ladies of the sewing circle. I turned the mike in their direction so you folks could catch an earful of sewing gossip. The hostess sitting at the far end of the table is Mrs. Hawkin. Mrs. Hawkin remembers well the seige of Vicksburg. And says if it were not for the loss of two of her front teeth she would be glad to say something in this funny looking thing that we call a MIKE. Thank you, Mrs. Hawkin. For in spite of the years time has dealt kindly with you and thoughtfully preserved your slim girlish figure. Why, my good friends, the needles are flying just as swiftly as gossip and to save me I am unable to keep up. The table has been cleared—cloth spread—dishes come clattering in, and in the dishes—yum, yummm, food, food and more food. Two turkeys grace the festive board, with just oodles of other things. Hush! what is happening? ? ? Now we will have some fun. Mrs. T. P. Davis announces that each lady present will put in the collection plate one cent for each year of her age. Mrs. Petlette presents the plate before Mrs. Rose Hammill. Mrs. Hammill seems somewhat excited—she is winking—blinking—her adam's apple moves up and down. Someone is trying to play a trick on Mrs. Hammill. Will someone save the day? Mrs. Hammill's age is a twentieth century secret, and to preserve that secret she slowly waves the plate away. Seventy-three cents means seventy-three years. The plate is thrust under the nose of Mrs. Hoyt. Mrs. Hoyt fumbled and jabbered as her dear old face turned slightly red, and out of somewhere (My eyes are turned strictly on the mike) produced an old tobacco pouch and empties its contents into the plate—amil much laughter. Some kindly old soul wanted to count—one—two—three—four. Dear me! Mrs. Walter Smith upset the apple cart by giving a loud and lusty sneeze. This aforesaid sneeze tips over the plate and pennies roll hither and thither. No—no—no—that is not static. That screeching sound you hear? ? ? Why that come from the knee joints of some of the dear old ladies. Age has dried up the synovial oil in the hinge joints. Heh, Heh! Rheumatic backs and screeching knee caps will never find all of the pennies. The ladies are strictly honest to a penny, but their age or ages is still one big secret. The plate has made its round and cents are being counted. Listen folks! I am going to turn the mike towards the side table where they are counting the ages. (That's Mrs. Walter Smith) "Durn if I am that old." "Don't let Powell know." (That's the voice of Mrs. Powell Davis) "Warren knows I don't act that old." (Tee, hee, that's the voice of Mrs. Warren Clark) "That's about my age." (The voice of Mrs. Willie Burdette) And someone said that they had counted thirty-six pennies. And now while the count of the ages continues—let me see—there are twenty-eight ladies present. I hear someone announcing a total of $14.00. Whoop! Let me think—that's 'zackly 50 years average. Well, 'tis is a fact—Listen, I am going to whisper this—Age has made platinum blondes out of a few. Just a minute—Mrs. T. P. Davis wants to say a word or two. "Powell is very anxious to find out how old I am. Well, 12 years ago I closed my birthday and declared a holiday. I was then as young as I am now. During this dispensation of my birthday I notice Powell has taken up an old man's habit—( sleeping with his mouth open and snoring. (Laughter) — Thank you, Mrs. Davis. And now Mrs. Petlette, won't you tell the folks listening just why you handed the collection plate to Mrs. Hammill first? ? ? Just step right up here before the mike—a little closer please—No, noo, don't stand on the cigar box. That's fine, all right. "For the past six months we have all been dying to know perzackly how old sister Hammill is or are, and I thot this would be a good chance to find out, so that is the only reason I wanted her to drop in first. Very rich indeed—Thank you, Mrs. Petlette. Sorry, but we will be unable to hear from any more of the ladies. The table demands attention. There in the center of the goodies is a large birthday cake with a single candle. This denotes that the Ladies Sewing Society of the Methodist church is one year old. Invocation by Rev. H. H. Hoyt and we all eat and eat and have just the bestest time you folks out on the air can imagine. Mrs. Hawkin, the hostess, seems to be a busy little woman—and now she is seated—but, the platters are licked clean—a single turkey bill consists of her share of the two golden brown turks that graced the festive board at the beginning. The bill was $12.00. And now the birthday dinner of the Ladies Sewing Society of the Methodist church is about to become past history and I want Mrs. Clark to tell all the folks the wonderful success that has been made by the Sewing Society during its infancy. Mrs. Warren P. Clark. "I don't mind standing up and talking to Warren one single bit, in fact, it helps a whole lot, and I believe in one's old age that a husband is a handy thing to have around when you feel like you have just got to talk. Talking to this mike is different." Our Sewing Society is one year old, and we have made wonderful progress. With our birthday collection today and the proceeds from our fancy work we have taken in a total of a little over two hundred dollars. This money helps to keep up our church—a part of it goes to our community to meet charitable demands—and upon one occasion when we were unable to pay our pastor's salary we were glad to be able to say 'here is a few dollars to help out.' Thank you, Mrs. Clarke—and good by, friends of Twin City. . . .

NORMA SHEARER AND
ROBERT MONTGOMERY
AT DIXIE THEATRE

"Private Lives," which will open Monday at the Dixie Theatre, is one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most ambitious productions and marks the advent of the new policy of that company to double the star value of its most important pictures.

Instead of a single star, the hilarious farce boasts two stellar names—Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery—perhaps the screen's two most popular young players.

"Private Lives," adapted from the Broadway hit by Noel Coward, is a hilarious farce romance. It concerns a young couple who are divorced. They are re-wed to different mates and by strange chance occupy adjoining suites in a French hotel on the bridal night. After quarreling with their new spouses, they discover each other's presence and, in a mad moment of resolve, elope to a chalet in Switzerland. There the story takes a novel turn and develops into a whirl of mirthful hysteria.

The play, transferred almost intact to the screen, was noted for its brilliant dialogue. It is this swift and smart exchange of repartee that makes it an unusually outstanding piece of playwriting. The screen version was directed by Sidney Franklin who recently scored with his production of the Lunt-Fountaine hit, "The Guardsman." Prominent supporting roles are played by Reginald Denny, Una Merkel, Jean Hersholt and George Davis.

In this picture Miss Shearer's singing voice is recorded for the first time. She sings "Some Day I'll Find you," written by Noel Coward—in a novel duet scene with Montgomery whistling an accompaniment.

Rev. E. E. Blough delivered a missionary address at the Brethren church Sunday morning, worthy of special attention.

The Home Demonstration Club met last week in the club room of the Seminary. Mrs. John Harpine and Mrs. Ernest Hale, who acted as hostess, demonstrated the proper packing of a lunch box.

The basketball menu for the past week was not so appetizing. On Friday night our boy basketball team took a terrific lacing at the hands of the town-and-high school combination from Clifton. Mohler of the invaders couldn't be stopped. He rang up about 22 points to take the place of high point man. The final score was 43-17.

On the same night our galloping girls evened things up by registering a win over Calverton. It was a very close and hard-fought contest from the first whistle. At the half the Brentsvillettes were trailing by two points, the score being at 9-11. They came back in the last period with a bang, however, and found the hoop for two counters, and at the same time prevented Calverton from tallying again. Thus the score stood 13-11.

There is a treat in store for basketball bugs Saturday in the Brentsville District gym, when our boys and girls tie up with Oakton's state championship teams in a doubleheader. The alumni team will also engage the Lee-Jackson quint in battle. If you like to see basketball as "she ought to be played," you won't miss these games Saturday night.

Folks of this section were entertained in a dramatic way Friday night, when the Methodist Church presented their play, "The Wild Oats." This rampant boy finally succeeded in convincing everybody of his real worth, and of course was rewarded by the hand of his lady-love. Not only did these turtle doves embark on the sea of matrimony, but nearly everybody else except the villain and the janitor. And so, all had a "merry" time.

Miss Berg of Woodlawn delighted the audience with several selections on the piano.

The Happy Hayseeds were also on hand and after "Boiling the Cabbage Down," went "Down the Road Feelin' Bad" (as usual).

ADMIRAL BYRD TO SPEAK

since his famous trip to personally tell his experiences and show the pictures which vividly illustrate this unparalleled exploit.

Admiral Byrd is appearing in Winchester under the auspices of the Robert Y. Conrad Post of the American Legion of which he is a member. Due to the fact that he is "back home" Admiral Byrd will personally donate a substantial portion of the receipts to charity relief in Winchester and Frederick county. Anticipating a large audience who will take the opportunity to hear and see the details of this famous exploit and who at the same time will pay tribute to a distinguished citizen and fellow Virginian, tickets for these lectures have now been placed on sale.

Tickets can be secured for the 3:30 Afternoon Lecture which is exclusively for school children and teachers accompanying them thru the Superintendent of Schools for Frederick county, Leslie D. Kline or Garland R. Quarles, Superintendent of Handley high school, both of Winchester, Va. The tickets for the 8:15 p.m. lecture which is for the general public are on sale at the store of Brown and Fisher, 27 N. Main St., Winchester, Va.

Admiral Byrd in addition to a distinguished record of achievements possesses rare charm as a speaker. A story of this great expedition from the lips of its leaders will be a never-to-be-forgotten experience.
