MANASSAS, VIRGINIA THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1932

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR

STATEMENT

BY H. F. BYRD

An analysis of the accomplishments of the General Assembly of 1932 will show that Virginia has met the challenge of our greatest national problem as no other state has done. Today the greatest obstacle to business recovery is taxation and the fear of higher taxes. One dollar cut of every five we earn as a nation now goes to 250,000 tax-gathering and tax-spending agencies, and at least 18,000,000 of our citizens are dependent upon tax payrolls for their support.

In 1913 our governmental expenses—local, state, and national—were $3,000,000,000. This has been increased to $15,000,000,000 in 1931, an increase of a 500 per cent. It must be obvious to every one that when the price of our basic commodities, which is the only way the wealth of a nation is replenished, is much below the 1913 level, we cannot continue to expend $12,000,000,000 a year more than we spent in 1913 and still survive.

The only way to reduce governmental costs is to stop spending. The shifting of taxes is not true tax relief unless gross inequalities exist. No one can observe what is going on at Washington today when Congress is struggling to make up a deficit of over $2,000,000,000,000 in our revenue to preserve our national credit, without being impressed with the fact that one of the main solutions is not increased taxation, but lower governmental expenditures. That the power to tax is the power to destroy is truer today than ever.

Under the able and wise leadership of Governor Pollard, the General Assembly of 1932 made a noticeable contribution to a reduction of the burdens of taxation upon the Virginia people. Governor Pollard's slogan "no tax increase, and live within the State's income," was followed by the General Assembly. The fact that the tax rates were not increased means substantially less tax collections from the people, as revenue derived from income, and many other forms of taxation are less today at the same rates. The State revenue as appropriated for the two years beginning July 1, 1932, exclusive of the road funds, is $3,000,000 less than for the last two years.

Governor Pollard, as a further safeguard, inserted a provision in the ap-

EASTER DANCE A BIG SUCCESS

The annual Easter dance sponsored by the Woman's Club was unusually brilliant and well attended. The hall was artistically decorated with evergreens and cut flowers, with streamers of red and green hanging from the ceiling. Supper was served at midnight and dancing continued until 1:30 a. m. A large number of out-of-town guests were present. Committees were announced last week. The amount realized was close to two hundred dollars.

INSPECT NEW POST OFFICE

On Tuesday night the new post office on Church street was thrown open to the public. The people of the town turned out en masse to view Uncle Sam's latest present to the county which is quite elaborate in its fittings.

The building is modern in every respect and is as well equipped as any first-class post office. The upper floors are devoted to federal offices and extension workers paid partly through governmental agencies. The furnishings are about all in place and ready for the move which will take place right after the office closes this evening.

Keys are being distributed for boxes as combinations will not be used. The post office was originally proposed by former Congressman C. C. Carlin through whose activities the initial steps were taken. Later Mr. Moore introduced measures which materially furthered the project. As soon as Judge Smith took office he put his strength behind the matter and construction work was then an actuality.

GAME DEPARTMENT TO SHOW PICTURES

County Warden C. L. Reading announces that Clarence Williams of the State Department will give three illustrated lectures in the county next week at the following points: Nokesville, Wednesday; Haymarket, Thursday; Occoquan, Friday. The hour in each instance is 7:45 p. m.

LIFE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON TO SHOW AT LOCAL THEATRE

By a special request of the Junior League of the Manassas high school, the life and times of Washington, a film in four reels, will show at Pitts' Dixie Theatre on April 4 and 5. This film shows Washington's life from his boyhood until his later days spent at Mount Vernon. There will be a matinee each afternoon for school children, and will be shown as an added attraction for the regular night shows on these dates.

HILL ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

Interesting Facts About Telephone.

Greater advances have been made in communication in the 56 years since the invention of the telephone, than in the 5,600 years previously, Edwin F. Hill, information director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, told the Manassas Kiwanis Club last Friday evening.

EDWIN F. HILL,
Director of Publicity, Washington
Division, C. & P. Telephone Co.

Prior to March 10, 1876, when Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, talked to Thomas A. Watson, his assistant, over thirty feet of wire, there had been no method for transmitting speech further than the unaided human voice could carry, Mr. Hill said, in speaking on the subject of "Ancient and Modern Methods of Communication."

Lawrence E. Roland, manager of the telephone company at Alexandria, was a guest at the meeting.

"People have always found some way of communicating with each other even under the most unfavorable circumstances," Mr. Hill said.

L. E. ROLAND,
Manager, Alexandria Division C. & P. Telephone Co., who was a guest of the Manassas Kiwanis Club.

"In showing the progress that has been made in the art of communication, it is necessary to go back to the very beginning of human affairs of which there is record and come down through the ages by periods and centuries.

"In the days of the Pharaohs a delegation went along with presents to put the recipient in a good frame of mind. The message was inscribed on a roll of papyrus, which was delivered in due time after the person for whom it was meant had been properly mellowed to receive it. Later messages were inscribed on bricks and stones. Then came the use of signals on brightly polished objects, such as was used at the battle of the Marathon. Fire signals, trained runners, mounted couriers and birds were message carriers in bygone days.

LION FIGHTS FOR DRASTIC TAX CUT

CONTEST FOR FUTURE FARMERS

Plans Announced for Annual Chapter Contests for Cash Prizes.

Widespread interest in the annual chapter contest of the Future Farmers of America, national organization of boys studying vocational agriculture in the United States, is reported by W. A. Ross of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, and secretary of the "F. F. A.," as the organization is commonly known.

According to an announcement sent out a short time ago by the executive secretary, prizes totaling $1,000—$400, $300, $200 and $100 are offered for the chapter's winning first, second, third and fourth places, respectively, in this contest.

State supervisors of vocational education in agriculture have been requested to announce the contest to the schools under their direction so that the chapters may make arrangements at once to enter the competition. While the contest is open until October 1, 1932, chapters desiring to compete in it must have their outline of objectives for the year in hands of executive secretary not later than April 1.

The report of accomplishments of local chapters upon which their standing in the contest will be judged must be sent to the State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture who, with a judging committee, will select the three highest ranking chapters from this number and forward their record to the executive secretary of the F. F. A. for consideration in the national contest. From the records of the chapters receiving highest award in the four regions into which the country is divided for the purpose of the contest, those winning first, second, third and fourth places in the national contest will be selected.

Community service, co-operative activities, achievements of members in supervised farm practice, accomplishments of members in saving and investment, scholarship achievement and leadership records are among the factors of which local chapters of the F. F. A. will be judged in the contest.

AUTO IS GAUGE OF PROSPERITY

Chevrolet Executive Discusses Prosperity.

America will enjoy normal conditions only when the automobile industry is brought back to normalcy again, H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, declared in an interview here today.

Citing the ramifications of the industry into every part of our economic structure, Mr. Klingler said that there is nothing anyone can buy which directly supplies work and wages for so many people in so many places and so many different industries and professions as buying an automobile.

The effect of a new car purchase on unemployment relief was illustrated by Mr. Klingler in the statement that a new Chevrolet six represents 71 days of gainful employment to workmen throughout the United States. That means the equivalent of three months of working time for one man on the basis of a five-day week.

"It has been estimated that half of the 44,000,000 people now employed are in a position to buy a new automobile right now," Mr. Klingler said. "Why they have been putting it off isn't important. The fact remains that they can afford to buy, but haven't. Yet if only one out of seven of those able to buy would buy, the automobile industry would immediately be restored to a healthy state of activity—providing three millions of cars a year and employing in direct manufacture more than one million men, and furnishing steady work to an additional three million men in allied industries and trades."

Mr. Klingler commended the various federal and local movements launched to put idle money and idle men to work. He then went on to stress the direct relation of the automobile industry to the economic welfare of the country.

"The business of building and selling automobiles is America's biggest industry," he pointed out. "It is so big that few people even dream of the extent to which it affects every other basic industry in America."

"The automobile industry consumes over fifteen per cent of all steel produced—53 per cent of all malleable iron—over 68 per cent of all plate glass—over eighteen per cent of all hardwood lumber—over fourteen per cent of all cotton—26 per cent of all lead—thirty per cent of all nickel and almost 83 per cent of all the rubber—to say nothing of paying the railroads hundreds of millions of dollars a year for carrying thousands of carloads of freight."

NAMED ELECTOR

W. E. Trusler was named as the Republican elector for the Eighth District at the convention which took place at Purcellville on Tuesday. The same convention named Joseph Crupper of Rosslyn to succeed Mr. Slemm as national committeeman for Virginia.

MANASSAS YOUNG PEOPLE WHO WERE HOME FOR EASTER

Several of the young people of Manassas were home for the Easter holidays and many of them brought guests with them for the brief but very enjoyable vacation festivities.

Miss Rose and Mr. Jack Ratcliffe did not entertain owing to their father's recent illness. Mr. Hodge Bulwar was the guest of Mrs. Bob Smith; Miss Anna Bruce Whitmore entertained Misses Regina and Muriel Faherty of Akron, Ohio; Mr. Bob Fox visited the Gibsons; Lieut. Robert Hackett was a guest of the Arringtons; Mr. James Radcliffe of Massachusetts visited Mr. J. Preston Lyon; Messrs. William and Robert Lloyd from the University of Virginia; Miss Helen Lloyd from Penn Hall; Mr. Wallace Tiffany, Washington and Lee; Miss Esther Warren Pattie from Stuart Hall; Miss Rena Bevans from Goucher College; Mr. Arthur Sinclair from Augusta Military Academy and Mr. Jenkyns Davies from the University of Virginia were also home for Easter, as were Mr. Claude Smith, University of Maryland, and Mr. Orville Holler, Bridgewater College.

MRS. LYON ENTERTAINS AT TEA

Mrs. J. P. Lyon entertained at tea Sunday afternoon for her son, J. Preston, and his friend, Mr. James Radcliffe, who were at her home for the Easter holidays from William and Mary College. The house was tastefully decorated in Easter colors, yellow and white prevailing. In the dining room the cheerful log fire and soft candlelight gave a cozy and cheerful welcome from the wet and gloom without. The table was decorated with jonquils and candles. All of the boys and girls in J. Preston's set were present and a delightful evening was spent.

EASTER SERVICES AT ALL SAINTS

The following mass of the angels was sung by the choir of All Saints Catholic Church at Easter services: "Vide Aquiam, by Wilt; Kyrie; Gloria; Credo; offertory, "Haec Dies"; Sanctus, "Benedictus"; "Agnus Dei"; soloist, Miss Eloise Compton, and organist, Mrs. W. L. Compton.

The church was beautifully decorated with lilies and jonquils and was packed to its capacity.

"Thus, when you buy an automobile, you're not only giving employment to men in automobile plants and garages, but you're putting men to work in every state in the union. You're sending the miner down under ground to dig copper, or iron, or nickel, or lead, and he begins earning wages again.

"You're keeping people busy on the cotton plantations down South and in the mills where the cotton is spun and woven. You're calling the steel worker back to his job—and doing the same for the men who work in forests and lumber mills, glass factories and tanneries, foundries and chemical works.

"You're making the wheels of the railroads turn and—well, it's just like the house that Jack built. I could mention hundreds of other kinds of workers whose hands would be busy again. But it can be summed up in a single sentence: There's nothing you can buy which directly supplies work and wages for so many people in so many places as buying an automobile."

APPEALS TO CIRCUIT COURT

The budget hearing held on Tuesday was attended by the usually large crowd from all sections of the county.

Chairman D. E. Earhart called the meeting to order, explaining the purpose of the meeting. It was agreed that each side should have an hour and a quarter to present its case.

Dr. E. H. Marsteller, speaking in favor of the higher budget, directly accused Chairman Earhart of having made no study of the budget and of playing politics generally. In response to this onslaught Mr. Earhart stated that since the issuance of the budget which he presented to the board at its last meeting, that he had made a more complete study to produce a balanced budget, but that he did not care to make this budget public at this time. This caused a small uproar, and Mrs. W. L. Lloyd and Mrs. Wheatley Johnson were on their feet in an instant, demanding a detailed discussion. Supervisor Roland moved for an executive session just prior to the regular meeting the next day but the resolution found no second.

H. O. Russell of Cherry Hill gave an excellent resume of the needs of the county, urging retention of all the county officials. He advocated generally Mr. Lynn's budget, suggesting that the money saved by the Byrd Road Law be used to balance the school budget and help out on the other official salaries.

Judge W. M. Johnson presented a "budget" worked out on his own ideas of the situation. He argued for a democratic application of the tax cut but did not advocate severe decreases. "It is no method to cut in such a manner and still expect service," he said.

Judge Johnson gave Mr. Cox's services during the drought period as a leading reason for his retention in office, stating figures to show exactly what Mr. Cox saved the county. The rest of his remarks were devoted to a splendid defense of the county home demonstrator and the school system. In closing he asked for a small appropriation for a probation officer.

Dr. Marsteller gave a complete history of the county nurse work. A considerable portion of his talk was given to citing numerous instances of the county nurse's work.

Rev. J. M. Kline gave a drastic example of the nurse's value during the past few months.

Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson spoke briefly in favor of the county nurse.

Rolf Robertson, former supervisor from Gainesville district, presented a resolution from the Bull Run Grange, protesting against elimination of any of the county officials. Mr. Robertson spoke very feelingly in defense of these officials.

Mrs. Adeline Penn, representing the school league of Brown's School, spoke briefly and effectively in favor of the county nurse.

Mr. Ben Johnson, a World War veteran, spoke in favor of the higher budget.

Just prior to luncheon period, Sheriff Kerlin appeared before the Board and explained the references to handling the prohibition work at the time his salary was increased a few years ago.

It was now noon and only after some discussion that the meeting was continued.

Mr. H. W. Herring was the first speaker in favor of a material cut in taxes.

TEA-DANCE

A prettily arranged tea-dance and egg hunt was given Saturday afternoon to about thirty of the young people of Manassas and their guests by Miss Madeline McCoy. The exciting egg hunt was brought to an end about 5 o'clock when each guest had found a huge Easter egg containing sandwiches, cakes and candy.

The young people then repaired to the home of Miss McCoy. The house was prettily decorated with Easter colors and cheerful with candle light. After tea dancing was enjoyed till dinner.

LION FIGHTS FOR TAX CUT

"If your income is not equal to your expense," he declared, "you've got to cut. Taxes are too high now. People have to live, and we'll take those other things when we get to them. I've had to cut my budget more than fifty per cent. I know all about the government loans. They were the worst things that could have happened."

Referring to the acrimoniousness of some of the prior remarks, he said, "It's no use to be personal. I'm not scrapping with anybody."

Mr. Smith, another farmer, asserted, "Our income has been cut more than half. I cannot see why our taxes should not be cut in half. I say cut them! You cannot pay help if you haven't the money. Unload your taxpayers and let them get out of the rut. If you gentlemen cannot cut the taxes I advise you to resign."

Commonwealth's Attorney Thomas H. Lion created a stir when he presented a budget which he claimed would allow the retention of the county nurse and not interfere with the new home economics teacher at Nokesville.

Mr. Lion claimed that he could effect a cut of nearly $16,000 in the school budget alone.

"Friends," said Mr. Lion, "we're almost on the verge of a revolution. You must meet conditions now or meet them later. We shall get temporary relief through the road legislation enacted since you last met. I urge you to give the same sort of temporary relief to those distressed farmers who are about to lose their farms. Give the people a chance to say, 'We have friends on that board.'"

Mr. Lion's apparent attack on the school budget drew fire from Prof. Haydon, who indignantly defended every item of the same. He briefly reviewed conditions in the school system since he took charge in 1925.

"Every year we've given you better schools and better teachers. From a condition of haphazard indebtedness we have for the first time established a working capital during the summer months. With regard to improvement and repairs we have a five year plan on which we operate. If you can find anything wrong with my work I'm right here to answer it."

In closing his remarks, Mr. Lion said, "Gentlemen of the Board, we must go back to old times. Tear down the country and grass will grow in the streets of your towns."

V. W. Zirkle, cashier of the State Bank of Nokesville, interested his hearers by talking about taxes in terms of agricultural products, and how the farmer had to pay. "Gentlemen," he said, "you all look like honest men and we have confidence in what you will do, but bear this in mind. The farmers cannot pay their taxes now. Everything else has been cut ten per cent and you just can't keep piling taxes on them."

Rev. G. W. Beahm of Nokesville based his plea on justice and democracy. "I plead for justice that justice may reign. This country was founded on the sacred principles of democracy in which the rights of everyone are considered, and when old Prince William swerves from this principle she is gone."

Mr. E. R. Conner of Manassas made a general statement advocating a tax cut and also spoke very highly of the services rendered by some of the officials. He also read a letter from a prominent citizen of the county who was a proponent of the tax cut.

It was now well into the afternoon, and after a brief interval the meeting convened to allow everyone a chance to speak.

Those arguing in favor of the higher budget were Mrs. Annie Cline and Rev. A. H. Shumate of Dumfries, Walter Ellicott of Coles district, Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson of Manassas and Col. R. A. Hutchison of Manassas.

Those speaking against the higher budget at this time were W. H. Maphis and Judge William Crow of Joplin.

On Tuesday morning when the Board went into session, another series of stormy scenes ensued, with the Commonwealth's Attorney at the center of each.

Although Mr. Lion made a center rush on the budget as a whole, the Board, with C. R. Earhart alone dissenting, voted to accept Mr. Lynn's budget substantially in its original form. Mr. Lion at once noted an appeal to the Circuit Court which meets on Monday. It is not known just what action Judge McCarthy will take on this appeal but public opinion seems to credit little possibility of Judge McCarthy giving any ruling which will upset what the Board has already done.

In effect, it would appear that the general tax levy will be reduced about eight cents on the hundred dollars. The actual levies will not be made until the regular meeting on April 26.

HUSHED HEAT is the result of years of combustion research in Williams laboratories, by the very engineers who pioneered oil heat for the home. It brings almost soundless operation to the acknowledged greater efficiency of the projected-flame type of oil burner.

Retaining all the time-proved Oil-O-Matic features, Williams engineers have created a new burner, embodying HUSHED HEAT. It burns low cost fuel oil—a richer fuel than the costlier light distillates commonly used. This saves you hundreds of dollars on future fuel bills.

Let us examine your heating plant, quote you exact cost figures, and explain the easy Williams Budget Payment Plan.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

THE TAX SITUATION

In reference to the budget meeting on Monday, The Journal has little to say. We have had to cut our income severely in proportion to the way in which other things have decreased.

We sincerely believe, just as one gentleman expressed himself, that these gentlemen are all honest and not political shy-sters. We believe that if there is any way of keeping taxes down that they will do so, almost to the point of leaning backwards.

We note in passing a request for a new official—a probation officer. This work can be most effectively done through the sheriff's office, and we say that instead of cutting Mr. Kerlin as severely as has been proposed that his salary be kept intact and that he be asked to take over this additional duty, which is most important.

MR. LION'S APPEAL

So many questions have been directed to us since Tuesday regarding the appeal that Mr. Lion has taken from the action of the Board of Supervisors that we can only say that we do not believe that Mr. Lion himself knows just when the matter will come before Judge McCarthy, except that it must be handled prior to the beginning of the next fiscal year.

The basis for the appeal, as reported, is that a good part of the road levy taken off by the Byrd plan has been reimposed by the Board against the wishes of the taxpayers who are also said to be circulating a petition to file before the Court in support of what Mr. Lion has done.

SOMEBODY'S GOAT

Police got somebody's goat, but that's only half of the story.

Two policemen captured the animal after it tried to eat the doorknob of an ice cream parlor, and then wrote up their report as follows:

"Placed Nanny in squad car, taken to station and incarcerated in cell awaiting a claim of ownership."

Shortly thereafter they added: "Born to Nanny at 4 a.m., March 29, one black kid, with big feet and a lousy ba-a-aaa."

WHAT IS KOREAN LESPEDEZA'S PLACE?

Korean lespedeza should not be considered as a substitute for clover. It is a plant which is adapted to acid and poor lands, and its place is to build up these lands rather than to take the place of clover in rotations on fertile soils which have been limed. There are many acres of idle land that could be seeded to lespedeza at a very small cost, and be much improved when brought back into cultivation. It is a wonderful soil builder.

It also offers an excellent means of tiding over the slack grazing period during the summer. At this period it gives its best grazing and will reseed even though grazed hard.

Lespedeza's place is to build thin, worn-out soils and furnish summer grazing. The seed, if covered, should in no case go over a quarter of an inch deep and one-eighth of an inch is better. For a full stand the first year, twenty to twenty-five pounds is used. In mixtures, five to ten pounds is enough.

REV. JOHNSON WINS AGAIN

Colored Pastor Scores as an Orator.

Good Friday night saw a large crowd assembled to hear Rev. A. S. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist church, argue the side previously agreed as being the side of his opponent, Rev. L. C. Garland, who was unable to come, sending in his stead Rev. J. F. Fortune, who chose to argue the affirmative of "Resolved, That a Christian can be finally lost." Although taken by surprise, Dr. Johnson showed his versatility and debated with such vim that the judges lost little time in awarding the decision unanimously to the local pastor, much to the vociferous delight of the audience.

The judges were Professor R. C. Haydon, Professor Swavely, Hon. H. P. Davis, Rev. W. A. Hall and Rev. O. L. Gochenour.

SHOULD WOMAN TELL HER PAST BEFORE MARRIAGE?

To tell or not to tell—that's the question!
Should a woman with a "past" tell her prospective husband the events of her unconventional life and risk her future happiness? Should the man be equally candid with the woman he loves?

This agonizing question—this conflict between truth and fear has wrung the hearts of many women. Today, as in the past, it is a vital, terrorizing question, boring into the consciousness of thousands of women. "MY SIN" which opens at the Dixie Theatre Friday has this burning question as its theme. Tallulah Bankhead, vivid, vital and palpatingly emotional, depicts the woman's side, and Fredric March, one of Broadway's greatest artists, the human side of this highly dramatic human dilemma. With them, in their character parts, this burning question is finally settled.

These two superb artists, aided by a talented supporting cast, throw into the story of "MY SIN" their masterful dramatic talents.

EAT GREENS FOR THEIR MINERAL SALTS AND VITAMINS

Dandelion greens—and other spring greens for that matter—come at the time of the year that grandmother used to dose the family with sulphur and molasses. So it was, according to a distinguished authority on foods, that sulphur and molasses got the credit, while dandelions did the work.

In other words, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the appetizing dish of spring greens which grandmother served, cooked no doubt with salt pork or bacon fat, was what the family needed in the spring and not the dose of medicine. For winter food they have depended largely on the vegetables stored in the cellar, and these for the most part were roots, which grow underground and away from the sun. By springtime the family felt the need of something to "thin the blood"; whereupon the sulphur and molasses came down off the shelf.

In reality, food scientists explain, the family needed certain food substances which are not abundant in most of the root vegetables. Those substances are not present in sulphur at all, and are present only in small quantities in molasses. But they are abundant in dandelion greens, turnip greens, mustard, beet tops, poke salad, collards, chard, watercress, broccoli, spinach, cabbage—all the greens, in fact.

Nowadays the housewife does not have grandmother's winter food problem, so sulphur and molasses are out of date. Green foods are shipped at all seasons to the parts of the country where they do not grow, and fewer families need to be without "greens" in winter. For that matter, turnip greens, spinach, kale, and some of the other more hardy kinds, can be had from the family garden in many parts of the country most of the year.

Properly speaking, "greens" is the term for all the green leafy vegetables, lettuce and other salad greens as well as the leaves that are cooked. To grandmother, however, and to many people nowadays, "greens" are the green leaves of plants such as dandelion, mustard, or spinach, and the green tops of beets and turnips; in other words, the greens which were usually cooked.

Then along came salad. Cold slaw had always been popular, but a salad course at dinner was a new idea some thirty years ago. Presumably it was no accident that salads came in about the time that food specialists learned the relation of green foods to health.

At first it was for their mineral content—calcium and iron especially—that greens were considered most valuable. Now it is for their minerals together with their vitamins. In a balanced diet, green leafy vegetables supply most of the vitamin A and vitamin C. They also furnish vitamin B and vitamin G. Two of the vitamins, however, B and C, are easily destroyed in cooking. Therefore some of the foods that contain these vitamins should often be served raw, according to nutritionists. Raw cabbage, either shredded for salad, or dressed as cole slaw, is especially rich in vitamin C. All the salad greens—lettuce, romaine, endive, escarole, watercress, celery, parsley—are good. The green leaves, however, are much richer in vitamins than are the bleached leaves and stems. A salad with green leaves of lettuce, raw carrots sliced or grated, or with tomatoes, is rich in at least four of the essential vitamins—A, B, C, and G.

Cooked greens, especially spinach, turnip tops, and collards are rich in vitamins A and G, but precautions must be taken to retain their vitamins B and C.

The wounded Mallard fell quite near me, on the grass. With mounting fear.

I stooped and watched the ooze of red That wet its bosom, as it spread.

My heart beat missed—the dying thing Had bravely tried to lift a wing:

It seemed so bitterly unfair That pain should keep it tethered there.

When it had known the rain and sun, Had challenged life and almost won.

I listened for the earth to cry "This flame of beauty shall not die."

FORMER STAGE HIT BECOMES AMUSING PICTURE DRAMA

"This Reckless Age," the feature picture at the Dixie theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, is Paramount's flimzation of Lewis Beach's stage success, "The Goose Hangs High." It is a sentimental comedy drama of parents who have dedicated their lives to supplying every want of their children, who in turn, following the "jazz" trend of this reckless age, give slight consideration to the gruelling self-denial of their parents.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Peggy Shannon, Richard Bennett, Charlie Ruggles, Frances Dee and Frances Starr play the featured roles, supported by a cast of exceptional talent. The screen play of "This Reckless Age" was prepared by Henry Myers. Frank Tuttle, director of "Dude Ranch," "It Pays to Advertise," "Sweetie" and others, directed production.

CATHARPIN

Easter paid her annual visit but many were disappointed on account of the weather. Sudley however is getting used to disappointments of the weather type since services have been very irregular for several weeks due to rains and bad roads, but it was hoped that Easter would be fair since people were anxious to get out again. It seems that Easter, generally speaking, has become somewhat of a hat, bonnet, coat and gown display but charges of that nature could never be charged to Catharpin since no one out here has money enough to buy even an 85-cent Empress Eugenia hat marked down to 19 cents; so the disappointment was of a religious and social nature and not from a millinery standpoint.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lawler of Maryland were guests of Mrs. Lawler's mother, Mrs. Powhatan Buckley, over the Easter holiday.

Mr. R. Lee Lynn of Roanoke was calling on friends in the Catharpin neighborhood last week. Mr. Lynn is always a welcome guest among his many friends in this section who are always delighted to honor a former resident who has gone out into the world and made good.

Mr. Chas. F. Brower, jr., of Purcellville, Va., was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie on Sunday; later taking his father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Brower, to Washington.

Malvin Schaeffer and family spent Sunday with his father, H. J. Schaeffer.

Mrs. Marjorie Brower Willis is the happy mother of a young son born on Friday, the 25th, at Columbia Hospital, Washington. Both mother and babe doing well.

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club met with Mrs. T. Otis Latham of Snow Hill for their regular monthly meeting. A number of invited guests were present to enjoy the program and especially that which always follows, the refreshments which are always most tempting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Caldwell were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie on Sunday.

Mrs. W. S. McCarty of Delaplane, Va., was a guest at Lawn Vale last week.

Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson, who had been confined to her room for several days, is able to be about again. A number of people throughout the neighborhood have been complaining and will be glad when March gets through with his capers and spring settles down once more.

Mr. William L. Lynn, a native and former resident of Catharpin neighborhood, was buried at Sudley on Friday, March 25. The deceased had been an invalid for many years and spent much of his later life at Mineral Wells, Tex., a health resort where he died on Tuesday, March 22, in his early sixties. He was a son of Robert Lynn, a well-known resident of this section, and leaves two sisters, Miss May Lynn of Sudlersville, Md., and Miss Sadie of Washington; also one brother, Mr. R. Lee Lynn of Roanoke, Va. "Willie" Lynn, as he was familiarly known, is remembered as he wheeled himself around in his chair being unable to walk for many years.

Miss May Lynn of Sudlersville, Md., is spending the Easter holiday with her aunt, Mrs. Nannie Wheeler of Wellington.

OLAND CALLS "CHAN"
BEST SCREEN ROLE

Famed for his menacing roles on the stage and screen, Warner Oland insists the best role he ever enjoyed on the stage was Baron Andrey in "The Yellow Ticket," in which he made his final stage appearance in 1914-15 before going into pictures.

His best screen role, he declares, is that of Charlie Chan in "Charlie Chan Carries On." He again appears in "Charlie Chan's Chance," the Fox mystery thriller depicting the newest adventures of the famed Chinese detective from Honolulu, coming to the Dixie Theatre Monday.

On this occasion Chan is dispatched to New York to learn something of the police methods in vogue there. While he is in the metropolis he unravels a murder mystery that has the New York and London police puzzled. Incidentally, he clears a beautiful young girl of suspicion of the crime and restores her to the arms of her lover.

Alexander Kirkland and Marian Nixon enact the romantic roles and other notables in the cast are H. B. Warner, Ralph Morgan, Linda Watkins and James Todd.

John G. Blystone directed the picture which was prepared for the screen by Barry Connors and Philip Klein.

BRISTOW

Well! Bristow is still on the map. Things cheer up every once and a while, around here.

Miss Elizabeth Hovey gave an Easter hunt Thursday afternoon. The prize for finding the most Easter eggs went to Clyde Patton. It was much enjoyed by the children.

On account of the rainy Sunday there were not many visitors.

A rock quarry has opened up at Wellington. It will be a great benefit to the unemployed people.

An Easter dance was given at the home of Mr. Ed Robertson of near Manassas. Those who attended from here were Mr. W. M. Walls and Mr. Robert Randall.

Quite a few of the people from around here have been fishing at Milford dam. They reported they caught right many good-sized fish.

There has been right much sickness in the community.

NOKESVILLE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ewing McMichael was the scene of a very pretty, but simple, wedding ceremony last Friday night at 8:30, when Dorothy McMichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McMichael and a graduate of the local high school, embarked on the sea of matrimony with Howard Payne, son of J. I. Payne, as helmsman. Only a very few of the close friends and near relatives of the family were present to witness Rev. J. Royal Cook perform the ceremony.

Miss Marguerite McMichael, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Stuart McMichael, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Little Miss Betty Payne, sister of the groom and wee Miss Elizabeth McMichael, cousin of the bride, completed the picture as flower girls.

The bride looked charming indeed, wearing white satin and carrying bride's flowers. The maid of honor was attired in pink silk and carried cream colored roses, and the little flower girls wore white silk and carried baskets of pink and lavender sweet peas.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served buffet style. A little later the young couple slipped away, thus avoiding a shower of rice, for a brief honeymoon in Washington before young Payne must return to his work in Riverdale, Md., where he has a good position.

It is understood that they will reside in Riverdale. We shall miss Dorothy's smile and Howard's pleasant face around Nokesville. Bon voyage Dorothy and Howard! May your journey be long, happy and prosperous!

We expected the Civic Committee of the Standard Community Organization to give us a splendid program at our regular meeting Tuesday night, April 5, but as usual they have exceeded all expectations.

For a speaker they have fortunately secured the services of Senator John W. Rust. Not satisfied with this notable achievement, they are sponsoring a community spelling match, open to all members of Brentsville district. The golden apple to be sought after in this contest will be a five-dollar gold piece and the second prize will be a two-and-a-half gold piece. And folks, five dollars in gold is five dollars in gold in these hard times!

Hon. Rust will undoubtedly give some splendid thoughts and the contest will furnish excellent entertainment. Furthermore, business vital to the community will be discussed. You can't afford to miss the biggest night of the month which will be next Tuesday night.

A telegram was received here Monday informing us that little Evelyn Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Allen of Washington, was seriously ill. Tuesday a phone call announced her death. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved parents and Mrs. W. T. Allen of this town who was the little child's grandmother.

Rev. J. M. Frame, who has been a patient at the Warrenton Hospital for the past two weeks, was brought home yesterday by Mr. A. Armstrong. He is at Mr. Armstrong's where he is seeing his friends.

Mrs. B. L. Hume, who has been in Charlotte, N. C., with her sick mother for the past two months, had the sad misfortune to lose her on March 13. Mrs. Hume's sister, Mrs. Baskerville of Corbin, Ky., died suddenly on March 18. Both were buried in Petersmother on Wednesday, March 16, and the sister on the following Sunday, March 20.

Dr. Hume attended both funerals. Mrs. Hume returned to Nokesville with the doctor on March 20.

Miss Ruth Garner Wean, daughter of Mrs. Seymour Wean, and popular student of the local high school, has critically ill with influenza complicated with pneumonia and pleurisy. She is winning the battle for health and will be back in school shortly.

There was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elsiha B. Wright of Nokesville on March 14, a son, Howard Bankie Wright. Both mother and son are doing nicely.

Mrs. N. N. Free spent the week end in Washington with her sister, Mrs. Ray Whetzel.

Mrs. Emmitt Crumpacker came from Florida to be with her father, Rev. M. G. Early, who has been very ill. Mr. and Mrs. Crumpacker and family have been in Florida this winter for Mr. Crumpacker's health.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Britton and baby daughter of Pennsylvania spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Britton.

Mr. Early Beahm was here for the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Beahm.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Shepherd spent the Easter holidays at Salem, Va., with her father and brother, Mr. James E. True, who will be remembered as the magician who gave several excellent performances here. They were accompanied by Mr. and

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Inquiry for Holstein Calves and Heifers.

The Bureau of Dairy Industry is interested in obtaining thirty or forty high grade Holstein heifer calves and heifers from one to eighteen months old, for experimental purposes. These calves must be sired by registered bulls and the exact birth date is absolutely necessary. The agent has been asked to advise the bureau as to the possibility of securing such heifers in the county. Breeders having heifers of this kind that they wish to dispose of should list them with the county agent at once.

Soil Tests.

W. H. Byrne, Extension Agronomist, will come to the county on Thursday, April 7, for the purpose of making tests of soils for their phosphate and lime requirements. Bring soil samples to the office before that time.

Barn Building or Remodeling.

H. H. Gordon, Extension Agricultural Engineer, will come to the county on Monday, April 4. Men wishing assistance in planning new or remodeling old barns at this time are asked to notify the agent not later than Saturday. Dairy building plans distributed by the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association are drawn up by Mr. Gordon.

Much Korean Lespedeza Being Sown.

With certified dodder free Korean lespedeza seed selling for as low as 7 cents per pound, many are seeding this soil improver this spring. There are only a few days left in which it may safely be seeded.

Lamb Docking and Castrating Demonstrations Given upon Request.

It is expected that the demand for docked and castrated lambs will be greater than in past years, especially for those that reach the market after the middle of June. The reason for the difference in price on many markets is that they usually dress out higher, produce a better balanced and better finished carcass, and present a much better appearance than untrimmed lambs.

Mrs. Owens of Washington, D. C. is also a sister of Mr. True.

STATEMENT

propriation law that if Virginia fails to receive the income as estimated, all appropriations as made are correspondingly reduced. Virginia, therefore, stands nearly alone as not having a deficit today and is protected from a deficit in the future.

Relief in local taxation was even greater. Under the Harman-Ferguson road bill the State assumed the responsibility for the maintenance, construction, and reconstruction of every public road and public bridge, and by law prohibited the assessment and collection of any county road tax hereafter.

My name has been associated with this legislation because I suggested this plan, following the experience of North Carolina, at the public request of Governor West. Credit, however, is not due to me for its enactment and many provisions, but to the members of the General Assembly and to the Governor and the most efficient co-operation of Chairman Shirley. It means the lifting from the rural taxpayers of Virginia of a tax burden of $3,250,000 annually. It means that as the primary system of roads is completed the State will turn to the construction of a great system of secondary, or farm-to-market roads, bringing to every corner of the State the great benefits of road improvement financed completely by the gasoline and license taxes. It means that for the first time in our history Virginia will now depend entirely for road funds upon the collection of revenue from those who use and destroy the roads. It means that for the first time the gasoline tax will be equitably distributed throughout every section of the State. But even more important, it means that for the next two years, in this time of great economic crisis, the farmers of Virginia will pay $6,500,000 less in taxes. And this was undertaken by the State without increasing either the gasoline or license taxes.

My purpose in making this statement is because I have been informed that in certain counties in Virginia the board of supervisors do not contemplate passing directly to the taxpayers the full benefits of this reduction. Other counties, however, are not only preparing to give the road tax repeal to the taxpayers but have instituted additional reductions. Albemarle county has reduced its taxes $100,000 in one year. Rockingham county has established the low tax rate of $1.20. Chesterfield has instituted economies which will perhaps give to that county the lowest tax rate in the State. I am informed, however, that in certain other counties conditions exist so that the full tax relief from the repeal of the road tax averaging 40c to 76c per hundred may not be passed on to the taxpayers. If deficits exist then it is the duty of the board of supervisors to institute other economies to take care of such deficits.

In the passage of the Harman-Ferguson road bill the criticism was made that local self-government is being impaired. Let the local authorities now show in this crisis that they are competent to meet the crisis by a still further reduction in taxation. After eliminating the road tax the counties of Virginia will still spend over $20,000,000 annually and the cities over $40,000,000. The recognition of the maintenance and construction of city streets by the State should enable a tax reduction in the cities of Virginia. In the next two years the State has increased the public school appropriation $900,000. This and economies should enable an additional local tax reduction.

My purpose in this statement is to urge every taxpayer to take an active interest in local government and to ascertain for himself or herself, by attending the meetings of the boards of supervisors, that every possible reduction is being made in local taxes to reduce his tax bill payable this fall. The law requires that the boards of supervisors shall publish their budgets. It requires that before any tax can be increased, thirty days' notice by publication in a local newspaper shall be given, and the reason therefor. The law requires that the amount of county and district levies shall be fixed during the month of April. No time is to be lost.

It should be clearly understood that the amount of the road tax above referred to has nothing to do with the tax levied for debt service contracted for roads. This levy has been made under the head of separate tax.

I make no reflection upon the members of the boards of supervisors, many of whom are serving with credit to themselves and at a sacrifice to their own business. They want the advice and suggestions of the taxpayers.

The time has come for every taxpayer to know all the details of his local government. Certainly the full benefits of the tax relief made possible by the General Assembly of 1932 should be passed on and can be passed on if the people who elect the board of supervisors will take sufficient interest in their own affairs to attend the meetings and to require that the law compelling thirty days' notice before any tax can be increased shall be fully observed, and that meetings be held. The road tax itself is by law repealed. The only way to avoid passing this on completely to the taxpayer is to impose a new tax for general county purposes.

Governor Pollard and the General Assembly have acted so that in the next two years $10,000,000 less taxes will be collected from the Virginia taxpayers. This is 3 per cent on more than $150,000,000 annually. Let the counties and the cities make contribution of additional tax reductions made possible by increased economy and efficiency of local government.

HILL ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

"These and kindred plans were in use until 1844, when Samuel F. B. Morse invented the telegraph and sent the first message, 'What hath God wrought,' between Washington and Baltimore, May 24, of that year. The telegraph speeded up the sending of written communications, but it was not until the invention of the telephone several decades later, that the human voice could be transmitted across space electrically.

"The telephone in the first days of its use was considered more or less of a toy. In fact, business men, whom Dr. Bell tried to interest in his invention, told him that the telephone would never have any commercial use, and that while it might be of some value for demonstration purposes, it would never be more than a play thing."

As evidence that this prediction was untrue, Mr. Hill said that there are now 35,400,000 telephones in the world and that 92 per cent of them could be interconnected. People served by 19,600,000 telephones operated by or connected with the Bell System may now converse with telephone users in forty countries on six continents. In 1902 when there were about 1,750 telephones connected with the Bell System, the plant investment was about $200,000,000. Today the telephone system investment is in excess of $4,200,000,000. The telephone, once said to be a toy, is now used about 80,000,000 times daily in the United States, according to Mr. Hill.

World telephone service, the speaker stated, is the result of a prophecy made by Dr. Bell in 1878, just two years after the invention of this instrument. Dr. Bell said in effect, Mr. Hill stated, that the time would come when cities, towns and rural communities in the same country and in different countries could be connected by a system of wires or cables.

Development of the telephone was at first a slow process, Mr. Hill stated. People generally referred to the instrument as a toy and even went so far as to predict that it would never be anything else.

Dr. Bell and Mr. Watson gave demonstrations of the telephone at various places in and around Boston, according to the speaker. The first "long distance" conversation was carried on between Boston and Cambridge, a distance of two miles, October 9, 1876, he said. Subsequently a demonstration was given between Boston and Lawrence, twenty-seven miles away. In 1880 when there were only 30,872 Bell telephones in the United States, conversations could be held for a distance of 45 miles. The first calls for this distance were made between Boston and Providence.

New Haven, Conn., has the distinction of having the first commercial telephone exchange. It was placed in operation January 28, 1878.

By 1881, it was stated, there were only 9 cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants and only one of more than 15,000 people in the United States, not served by a telephone exchange, records of the company show. But subscribers could only talk among themselves. There were few, if any, lines connecting cities, towns and communities.

The first telephone exchanges operated in the territory served by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, according to Mr. Hill, included Washington, D. C., December 1, 1878; Baltimore, Md., January 1, and Richmond, Va., April 1, 1879, and Wheeling, W. Va., May 15, 1880. Telephone service today, he said, now reaches 70,000 cities, towns and rural communities in this country.

Long distance service as the term is now used was inaugurated between New York and Boston, 235 miles, March 27, 1884, Mr. Hill said. Telephone communication was made possible between Washington, New York, and Boston, December 31, 1885; Chicago was connected with the system October 18, 1892; Detroit, February 18, 1893; St. Louis, June 15, 1896; Richmond and Norfolk, Va., October 4, 1897; Atlanta, Ga., was reached early in March, 1899, and New Orleans in February 1900. "Within a few years," the speaker said, "the principal cities of the country were connected by a network of long distance lines."

"In 1910 there were 5,882,719 telephones owned by the Bell System or connected with it. These telephones were operated from central offices in every state of the Union and there was a strong demand for telephone communication between the east and the west. Consequently plans were laid for the construction of a transcontinental telephone line. New York and Denver were connected by telephone in 1911, and with Salt Lake City in 1913. The Atlantic and Pacific coasts, 3,650 miles apart, were connected by telephone January 25, 1915, when users of the service in Boston and San Francisco talked with each other. Subsequently two additional transcontinental lines were built on which circuits have been added from time to time.

"Transatlantic radio telephone service, which brought the Old World and the New closer together, was inaugurated January 7, 1927. Subsequently telephones in the leading countries in Europe and Australia and the Islands of Java and Sumatra were brought within reach of those of the Bell System. Also connections were established with four South American countries and more recently with Bermuda, and the Hawaiian Islands. The connection to Honolulu was the first bridging of the Pacific Ocean by telephone. Seven transatlantic steamers are also equipped for ship-to-shore telephone service."
