MAYOR DAVIS WILL PRESIDE

Hon. Harry P. Davis Will Lead
Group Discussion.

Mayor Davis, Town Manager Cooke and several members of the Council have indicated their intention to attend the Municipal Administration Round Table on Town Problems sponsored by the League of Virginia Municipalities in conjunction with the Institute of Public Affairs, to be held at the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity House, University of Virginia, July 12 to 15 inclusive. The conference will start with a dinner at the Monticello Hotel, Tuesday evening, July 12, when Mr. Spaulding Frazer of the New Jersey State League of Municipalities will discuss the subject of "The Town and the State."

Prominent Virginia town officials will be present at the conference and they will exchange views on vital current problems with such national figures as Louis Brownlow, secretary of the Public Administration Clearing House, and Clarence Ridley, secretary of the International City Managers' Association.

The round table this year is limited to twenty-five officials and already reservations have been made for a conference which according to present indications will be the most instructive and enjoyable of any conference on town government ever held in connection with the Institute of Public Affairs. Those in attendance will live at the Fraternity house where it is expected that the informal contacts between practical administrators and theorists will result in a highly profitable discussion of present-day town problems.

Preceding this conference for town officials, there will be a round table on city problems to be conducted for a limited number of city officials.

The program for the round table on town problems follows:

Tuesday evening, July 12—dinner at 6:30 p.m. The Town and the State. Mr. Spaulding Frazer, New Jersey League of Municipalities, Trenton, N. J.

Wednesday morning, July 13. The Town's Financial Problem. Mr. Harold Smith, secretary, Michigan Municipal League, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Wednesday afternoon, July 13. The Town and the County. Prof. John F. Sly, University of West Virginia, Morgantown, W. Va.; Prof. Martin L. Faust, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.

Wednesday evening, July 13. Open meeting, McIntire Amphitheater. Good Government and the Depression. Dr. Thos. H. Reed, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Thursday morning, July 14. The Town and the Surrounding Rural Area. Mr. T. B. Manny, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Thursday evening, July 14. Town Welfare Problems. Mr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., Westchester County Health Commissioner, White Plains, N. Y.

Friday morning, July 15. Town Planning and Zoning. Mr. Russell V. Black, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mayor Davis will preside at the session to be held in the Amphitheater on the evening of the 13th. This is a signal honor to our Town.

U. D. C. MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will be held in the home of Mrs. Mitchell Cook with Mrs. Sam Thornton assistant hostess, on Wednesday, July 6, at 3 o'clock. MEN'S CLUB HOST TO THE LADIES

Second Annual Ladies' Night Celebrated.

Some thirty members of the Men's Club and their ladies assembled last Thursday for the annual Ladies' Night. It developed that the fractional relationships were badly scrambled but this did not discourage the members who ate just as heartily.

About the time for ice cream, Professor Sigman, president of the club, waited around some mysterious slips of paper which developed into an educational test bearing on modern dress (some of which was ancient also). The club showed great familiarity with the said articles of clothing, despite the unusual historical, geographical and regional complexity of the same.

The players for a political play either got sick or developed stage fright, for President Frank had to read the dialogue.

The musical exponents of the House of Kluge then took the stage, and sang and yodeled to the delight of their audience which was loath to allow them to stop.

After many felicitations of the progress of the club, the company disbanded to look forward with expectation to a recurrence of such a pleasant occasion.

NEW COCA COLA PLANT OPENED

Novel Entertainment at Alexandria.

The formal opening of the thirtieth Crass Coca Cola Bottling Company in Virginia was observed Wednesday at the plant on King street in Alexandria where about two hundred members of civic clubs met with the local, state and national officers of the Crass Coca Cola Company at a delightfully appointed luncheon which was prepared and served by the staff of the George Mason Hotel, under the personal supervision of the manager, Doll Zirkle.

The officers who spoke were J. G. Goode, president of the Washington plant, who acted as toastmaster, W. J. Sands, president of the Virginia branch of the corporation, and Harrison Jones, executive vice-president, stationed at Atlanta.

Each of the clubs in the Alexandria trading area had a representative present who spoke briefly, congratulating the new company and its local manager, Mr. Charles V. Newman. The "prize package" on the tables elicited much mirth and formed the basis for several "cracks."

The talk of Mr. Jones was inspirational, having "Business Faith" as its theme. For some twenty minutes, Mr. Jones gave his audience a talk that was worth going twenty miles to hear and a better treat than the really excellent luncheon. It was the last talk, and it was also the best.

After the meeting, the plant was operated a short time to demonstrate the general expediency, economy and cleanliness with which the juice went forth to build up the "Five-Cent Roof" of which Mr. Jones drew such an entertaining picture.

REVIVAL SERVICES

WELL ATTENDED

The revival services at Grace M. E. church, Manassas, which closed Saturday night, were well attended, there being around 500 the last evening. Forty professions and eighty consecrations were recorded. Rev. W. O. Luttrell proved to be a gifted and forceful speaker and his labor here was much appreciated.

SCHEDULE FOR COUNTY 4-H CLUB CONTESTS

The boys will leave the county agent's office at the Manassas post office promptly at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and go to dairy farms in the vicinity of Manassas where Jerseys, Guernseys and Holsteins will be judged. They will return for a picnic lunch at the high school gymnasium at noon, immediately after which the feed identification and other contests will be held.

The athletic events under the direction of Wiley Garman, All-Star club member, will consist of broad jump, high jump, fifty and one-hundred yard dash, baseball throw, and a baseball game.

An engraved silver pitcher will be given to the winner of the feed identification contest, dairy supplies and further training for the State Fair to the winners of the dairy judging, and ribbons in the athletic contests.

Contests for girls will be held at the Manassas high school gymnasium beginning at 9:45 o'clock. Representatives in the demonstration contests have been selected from community groups. Dress contests and clothing contests will be open to girls between ages of 10 and 20; contestants between ages of 10 and 14 being judged in class I; those from 14 to 20 in class II. The health contest is open to 5-point girls between ages of 14 and 20.

STATE FARMERS' INSTITUTE JULY 26 TO 28

The program for the fourth session of the Institute of Rural Affairs which will take place at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute from July 26 to 28 is built around important farm and home management problems. On the program of the economics section will be such outstanding leaders as Dr. V. B. Hart of Cornell University, and Professor C. R. Arnold of Ohio State University. These two men see agriculture from the practical viewpoint of the farmer and are recognized nationally as authorities on farm management. The standards of living section will have as its leaders Dr. Carl C. Taylor of the American Country Life Association, and Miss Hildegard Kneeland of the Bureau of Home Economics.

On the afternoons of July 27 and 28 the Virginia State Farmers' Institute and the Virginia Homemakers' Association will put on special programs of interest. Such well known local leaders as Prof. C. W. Holdaway, Prof. R. E. Hunt, Prof. H. L. Moore, Dean H. L. Price, Prof. T. B. Hutchison, Miss Maude E. Wallace and other members of the V. P. I. faculty will appear on the programs of these two meetings and will have charge of special tours, visits and demonstrations which will be of interest to every farmer attending the Institute.

On the evenings of July 26, 27 and 28 the Institute of Rural Affairs and the other groups meeting at the agricultural college will put on joint programs of entertainment and inspiration. Among the well-known speakers who are expected to take part in the evening programs are John Temple Graves II of Birmingham, Ala., and Congressman Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida.

A special feature of the Institute this year will be recreation and entertainment features put on by the farm people themselves. Trained recreational specialists will be in charge of this program and groups from various counties will put on musical and entertainment contests. Those wishing to enter these contests should get in touch with their county farm and home demonstration agents at once and begin making preparations for the same.

These days at V. P. I. offer a real vacation, and a great deal of practical usable information. If you have not attended the Farmers Institute, start this year. The latching string will be out.

Mrs. J. B. T. Thornton, chairman of Bi-centennial of Prince William and George Washington committee from the leagues, was called on for report on the marker erected on site of second court house of Prince William county (Cedar Run Courthouse). She thanked all for their splendid co-operation, especially those who gave their time and service.

The three prizes given by the Federation for best essay on the history of Prince William county were won by Doris Bubb, Occoquan high school; Madeline Dawson, Occoquan school, and Mary F. Shelton, Occoquan school.

BANKERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Mr. Ratcliffe Attends Sessions.

Raymond Ratcliffe, vice-president and cashier of the Peoples National Bank, returned Monday after attending the sessions of the Virginia Bankers Association and later spending the week end at Widewater.

Mr. Ratcliffe is a member of the agriculture committee which filed a conservative report.

The meeting was not as well attended as usual but those who came were quite enthusiastic and many good speeches were made and good points developed. A feeling of optimism was present throughout the entire sessions.

Others attending from this area were Ewing Wall and C. C. Cloe, of Quantico, and C. E. Tiffany and S. C. Brittle, of Warrenton.

KIWANIS NIGHT IS OBSERVED

Club President Entertains for Occasion.

Edward Miller, runner-up in the State Oratorical Contest for students in agriculture, was the ace-in-the-hole for the Kiwanis program last week. Professor Pullen exhibited his charge with justifiable pride, and Edward gave his oration in approved style. John Pattie, an honor student, was also scheduled to appear, and the club was much disappointed when he failed to come.

After Edward had finished, Mrs. Rose Rice Gray gave several readings which were received with vigorous applause.

On Monday night of this week, the club celebrated All-Kiwanis Night by assembling at President A's for a pleasant evening. Fred Hynson had a long-distance connection and after Frank Sigman had memorialized Kiwanis, the stirring tones of the national speaker Detroit boomed forth.

When the singing came later, several asserted that they were quite sure that Bob Hutchinson's dulcet tones swerved above the rest.

Coming after a hot day and a fine shower, the club enjoyed the cool evening breezes on A's lawn, and regaled themselves on the hostesses' tasty offerings for which they voted a lusty vote of thanks before disbanding. Mrs. Stewart Pattie, club sponsor, and Mrs. Bob Smith led in singing, which is always a Kiwanis feature.

BIG CROWD AT BATTLE PARK

dence.

Last Saturday, instead of the fifty guests which the local U. D. C. Chapter was asked to entertain, over 500 visitors from all parts of the United States showed up with the Veterans. An unusually large number of the gray-clad heroes visited the scenes of their great victory. It was a very enthusiastic crowd and the day was a gala day for all fortunate enough to be present.

Speaking, Southern songs and a luncheon to the Veterans were all greatly enjoyed by the eager, delighted old soldiers whom all delighted to honor.

USEFUL LIGHTNING RODS

Many country homes and farms throughout the land are still studded with lightning rods, which came into disrepute years ago, probably because of the high-pressure salesmanship connected with them, but they have virtually been vindicated by recent experiments. How science has greatly reduced your chances of being struck in a storm is explained in an article in the Magazine of The Washington Star, Sunday, July 3.

"THE WET PARADE" STRONG OFFERING AT DIXIE THEATRE

The chaos, fervid excitement and intense drama of modern times provides a sensational background for "The Wet Parade," opening next Monday at the Dixie Theatre.

The picture covers three national periods, the pre-war era, the war years during which the prohibition enactment was passed and the modern period in which flagrant disregard of the law has given rise to innumerable dramatic conflicts and has resulted in such typically modern phenomena as racketeers, crime waves, political corruption, kidnapping rings, speakeasies and graft in hundreds of forms.

The picture strikes the pulse of life as it is lived in the United States today. Its episodes are such as may be read about in the daily news columns and editorial pages, but as was the case of such M-G-M hits as "The Big Parade" and "The Big House," its great theme merely serves as a background to the intimate and stirring love story of the plot.

This story concerns the daughter of a Southern aristocrat whose attempt to live up to the reputation of Southern gentlemen as great drinkers results in the impoverishment of his family and eventually causes him to commit suicide. As a consequence, the daughter has a horror of seeing her brother fall into the same error and makes every effort to keep him in the straight and narrow path.

She runs into difficulties when they both come to New York and the brother gets in with a fast, drinking crowd of modern sophisticates. But here she meets the son of a ward politician who shares her hatred for drinking because of the tragedy in which his own family is involved through the father's intemperate habits. The two join forces and their fight to win happiness for themselves and others is won only after participation in a series of amazing and thrilling circumstances.

Kill the depression by making all of your purchases with your home merchant.

SHALL WANT NO GOOD THING:—For the Lord God is a sun and a shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.—Psalm 84:11.

THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER

The private soldier received little from his government. In 1864, he had only a pair of faded trousers, a jacket in tatters, his canteen, his haversack. He was fortunate if he got one pair of shoes a year. If he had a blanket, it usually was one he had taken from the enemy. For nearly a year his daily ration consisted of four ounces of bacon or salt pork and a pint of corn meal. Yet he could keep himself from freezing in winter, he could endure the hot-test of Southern suns, he could march twenty-five miles a day and then go into action without a halt. And through it all, to the last dreadful days before the end, jest and laughter rose with every hurried step of his advance. English observers were shocked at the tattered demoralized they saw pass in review, but they found Lee was not boasting when he said, "You see the rear of my men, but the enemy never does"; and again, "There is one time when I will not be ashamed for you to see these boys—that is when they are in battle."

The youngest of the men is now nearing 85. Their eyes are dim, but the shadows are lighted with luminous memories. Fading ears no longer could distinguish the distant growl of the artillery from the rattle of the skirmishes' rifle but they hear in the silence the clear voice of approving conscience. They endure the poverty of old age, but they are forever rich in incorruptible ideals. — Richmond News Leader.

A TACTLESS MOVE BY HOOVER

Unless Mr. Hoover changes his mind, he will not be in Washington tomorrow to greet the survivors of Lee's army.

This gallant little band of men will call to pay their respects to the President of the United States, but in all likelihood the President will have hied himself away to the cooling banks of the Rapidan.

The veterans, all of whom are past 80, will brave the heat of these latter June days to pay homage to the man who now is the chief magistrate of a reunited country, but he, who is in the prime of life, will be too weary to review them.

Word came to Richmond yesterday that, in the absence of the President, official welcome will be extended by Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy. This Mr. Adams will do gracefully and wholeheartedly. His background is one of sympathy for the Confederate cause. He saw them who followed Lee as true Americans, fighting not only for home and fireside, but for what they, in their hearts, thought was right. This understanding on the part of the Adams family, than which there is no more distinguished in American history, is deeply appreciated by the veterans themselves and cherished by all who admire them as men of valor and noble impulses.

We recognize the fact that the President of the United States is constantly under tremendous strain. Mr. Hoover, in particular, has been bowed under heavy responsibility. The wear and tear of his man-killing office is terrific.

But the visit to Washington of Confederate veterans is a unique occasion. As a body, they have ventured to Washington just once before—during the time that Woodrow Wilson was presiding over the destinies of the American people. In the circumstances, the President might forego an hour or so of rest and devote that time to the pleasure of men he is not likely to see again.

Would Mr. Hoover pursue this course if he had a chance this year, as he had in 1928, of getting the electoral vote of Virginia? — Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Regardless of the final fate of the Eighteenth Amendment, there are some liquor laws which can never be repealed.

The essential element in all liquor is ethyl alcohol, a chemical poison which is never absorbed, never assimilated, never broken up, but goes on its way through the human body, searing, burning, destroying. That law can never be repealed.

Alcohol is always alcohol, whether in light wines and beers or in expensive champagnes and hard liquors. It always performs in the same way. Whether in dress suit or overalls, its character remains the same. No legislature can ever change its nature. That law can never be repealed.

The use of alcohol has always resulted in the increase of imbecility, idiocy, insanity, and mental disintegration. Asylums, jails, and poor houses have been filled with its fruitage. That law can never be repealed.

The effects of alcohol upon the home life is always the same. Children are robbed of their opportunity, motherhood is debased, and the health hazard of all within the home is multiplied. That cannot be repealed.

Those who make a business of selling a poison that destroys life and personality are indifferent to the best ideals of citizenship and therefore, easily revolt against any effort to curb their traffic. The organized liquor trade has always been lawless. That law cannot be repealed.

NOKESVILLE

A very disastrous fire occurred in this neighborhood last Saturday about noon, when the home and several buildings of Mr. N. W. Hopkins were burned. The fire was thought to have originated in the wash-house near the main building. Upon being called, the fire engines of both Warrenton and Manassas quickly appeared on the scene, but the fire had gained such rapid headway that they were unable to check it.

In trying to save some of his valuable papers, which were in the second story of the building, Mr. Hopkins was trapped by the fire and forced to jump from an upstairs window. He received severe injuries and burns, which, together with the mental shock of seeing his home and belongings swept away, placed him in a serious condition. Mr. Hopkins is doing as well as can be expected, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Muddiman, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. Hopkins, who had recently moved in to assist in running the farm and dairy, lost every piece of their valuable furniture, which had just arrived. It is reported that there was no insurance to cover this unfortunate loss. Although Mr. Hopkins had his home and furniture insured, it is known that the amount of insurance is insignificant compared to the amount loss.

Newman and John, the two younger sons, who live with their father and who are well-known devotees of the old-time string music, were able to save their stringed instruments. These and several chairs were the only things that were saved.

Incidentally, the equipment of the Greenwich baseball club, including bats, baseballs, mitts, several gloves, catcher's outfit, official records and several uniforms, that was in the keeping of Newman, secretary of the club, was destroyed.

We extend our sympathy to the Hopkins family in their misfortune.

Monday is the fourth and Tuesday is the fifth, and that's not all that Tuesday is either. It's the time for the regular monthly meeting of the Community Organization in the B. D. H. S. auditorium. The local 4-H club is sponsoring the program and they will undoubtedly have a good one for us. Don't celebrate the fourth so strenuously but that you can be with us Tuesday night to join in the work and fun. Be seen! You!

A Greenwich baseball club, with no equipment and only half their players, pretty well shot to pieces by the Hopkins' fire, which happened just at the same time, journeyed to Tri-angle Saturday and, of course, took a lacing. Errors on the part of R. Foster in the pivot territory and Clark Foster, covering the initial sack, enabled the three-corner men to run up a lead early in the game. Although the Rebels played air-tight ball in the last four innings and went on an offensive spree long enough to garner two runs, the spurt was entirely too short (if sweet.) The final score was 10-3.

Gum, pitching for the locals, hurled a good game, but didn't receive proper support. Wallace Wood tried to make the spectators believe he was Heinie Manush by slapping out three hard, clean drives.

July 4 is a big day, but July 2 will be a bigger one in Nokesville. On Saturday the U. B. Church of Aden is sponsoring a field day to raise funds for the building of a new (continued on next page)

What Are You Doing to Boost MANASSAS?

CATHARPIN

Dinah's quilting party is again scheduled for this week in the dining room of Sudley church, the missionary ladies having received some "work" which they wish to do as soon as possible. These parties are always very enjoyable affairs and good dinners the order of the day.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Moir of Roanoke, Va., a son. This young man came to visit his parents some two weeks ago. Mrs. Moir, nee Miss Elizabeth Lynn, is the daughter of Mr. R. Lee Lynn of Roanoke who has many relatives and friends in this community.

Harvesting is now the order of the day. Lawn Vale as usual has harvested many acres of orchard grass. The seed from these fields has been shipped as far away as San Francisco, Calif., via the Panama Canal. Wheat will all be cut this week and fair average crop expected. A new sight met the gaze of onlookers on Saturday last when Mr. Laws passed by with his threshing machine. We have become very much acclimated to the sight and sound of trucks, tractors, road scrapers and the like but this was the first thresher to remind us that the "golden grain" is soon to pour into our granaries and to trouble our much-maligned Farm Board which is now so non-plussed to know what to do with the surplus of last year.

Parking space was at a premium at Sudley last Sunday morning due to the large attendance at the Sunday school day exercises and program at that time. During the past decade this annual event has resolved itself practically into a "Home-coming Day" since many absent and former members and friends make it a point to visit Sudley at that particular time when they can enjoy the program, see old friends and make a personal investigation as to what people keep in their pantries or on the roasting poles this time of year. The program this year as usual was exceptionally fine and appropriate. In addition to the recitations and songs by the young children the pageant, "On the Road to Happiness," was rendered by a number of the older students of the school, and the pantomime, "O Holy Bible," was very beautiful. The pageants and pantomimes are rendered fully robed with color scheme always appropriate and beautiful. As usual we are indebted to Mrs. L. L. Lynn, director, and Mrs. J. W. Alvey at the piano for these fine programs which we all enjoy so much.

Among the many friends and visitors attending Sudley last Sunday morning the following "prodigals" were noted and welcomed: Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Lynn of Manassas, Mr. L. K. Lynn, Jr., of Takoma Park, Md., Mr. and Mrs. N. Currell Pattie of Falls Church, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Merchant of Ivakota, Mrs. Mildred Collins Shelton of Allentown, Pa., Mrs. Mary Pattie Briggs and daughter of Clarendon, and Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of Manassas. Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Merchant, nee the Collins girls, assisted very materially in the program.

Home Owners Benefit

All Lines of Business

According to James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building association league, earnings of building and loan companies in Ohio for the first quarter were highest in history. The steady progress of home financing institutions is due, according to building and loan leaders, principally to the fact most prospective home owners take the job of paying for a home seriously.

Ohio building, loan and savings companies during the first quarter of 1931 paid 2,000,000 depositors, and stock holders in excess of $10,250,000 in interest and dividends. These figures are of wide interest because in practically every community in Ohio, one out of every two families is a building, loan and savings company customer.

Because of volume, total resources of Ohio financing institutions now standing at $1,300,000,000, the savings and loan business in Ohio can, if necessary, show material progress merely through gains within itself. In other words, if depositors and stockholders leave interest and dividends for compound interest accumulation, assets of Ohio loan companies would annually increase in the neighborhood of $65,000,000 without the addition of a dollar of new deposits.

On the other hand, these institutions are kept liquid and in funds not alone through new deposits, but because home borrowers annually repay in excess of $100,000,000.

No Justification Now for Unsightly Antenna

How those who are building beautiful homes may avoid marring them with an unsightly antenna was explained to the Washington chapter of the American Institute of Architects by E. J. Quinby.

Instead of stringing wires on the roof the antenna is erected 100 yards or so from the house, out of sight, and connected with the radio set in the house by means of running a wire underground through a conduit.

"AMATEUR DADDY" ROLE WAS HAZARDOUS ONE FOR BAXTER

Thrills, action, excitement and romance are part of the daily existence of film stars; but now and again a story comes along that intermingles these qualities so closely and so rapidly that even a veteran player must call upon very faculty at his command to handle the role.

Such a story is, "Amateur Daddy," Warner Baxter's latest Fox picture opening next Wednesday at the Dixie Theatre. During its filming, Baxter was called upon to perform no less than eight dramatic episodes, each of which was attended with extreme personal danger.

First, as a construction engineer, Baxter is seen in an accident which sweeps him from a steel girder high above the floor of a mountain canyon.

Following the accident, in which his best friend is killed, Baxter goes to the little town of Scotch Valley, in California, to care for the orphaned children of his friend. There he finds their little ranch the object of a despicable neighbor's avarice, and his arrival leads inevitably to a fight in which he demonstrates his static ability.

As a reprisal for his physical defeat, David Landau, who portrays the neighbor, next resorts to a bomb to blow up the ranch's irrigation canal. The filming of this scene called for Baxter to be within range of the falling debris, a ticklish enough spot for anyone despite the extreme care which studio technicians employ in the use of explosives.

Landau then stirs up mob hatred against Baxter that ends with a masked group of infuriated neighbors taking Baxter to a near-by field where they tie him to a tree and proceed to horsewhip him.

This brings on the tense dramatic climax of the picture, which includes a stirring court battle and a shooting affray in which Baxter is involved.

Community Building

Plan Roadside Gardens for American Highways

An ambitious plan to plant roadside flower gardens along the entire length of all the main American highways is being sponsored by women's organizations in several eastern states. A considerable extension of the movement is expected to develop during the coming year, with the enrollment of sponsoring organizations in all the remaining states of the Union.

Backers of the movement urge that the common roadways are telltale revelations of the civic spirit dominating a community. Four states—Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Virginia—have already officially recognized this fact in their highway departments by making substantial appropriations and attaching a competent landscape architect to the staffs in charge of road maintenance and upkeep.

Many other states are moving to join this progressive group, the Woman's Home Companion reports, and organized committees are concentrating in many localities on roadside work which will eventually bring the more backward commonwealths into line.

Chance for Home Owner to Improve Property

A few hundred dollars spent for alterations or remodeling will do more today for the home owner than a similar purpose any time since the beginning of the World War in 1914.

Scores upon scores of home owners are taking advantage of this opportunity and a number of far-seeing business men, sensing the demand for modernization, have equipped special departments to furnish the supplies and oftentimes the workmen.

Homes that were thought to have passed their day of usefulness, although situated in a good residential section, have blossomed forth with new exteriors, adding not only to their own appearance, but to the appearance and desirability of their neighborhood.

The home owner of today, like the automobile owner, wants to be modern. He wants the latest in design, appearance and operation. While the automobile, due to its construction, is limited in life, the residential dwelling, if properly cared for, will last a century.—Cleveland News.

Concrete Tree Abomination

With "modern" art and "modern" architecture occupying more and more space in our magazines, one naturally expects to find the "modern" in garden design. Gardening seems to respond more slowly to modernism, however. The tree, the shrub, or herbaceous plants, is old-fashioned and will not change its manner of growth. Concrete trees, which we understand have been introduced in Europe, inevitably lack the appeal of seasonal changes.

While their introduction would naturally be opposed by both nursery men and tree doctors, they would require treatment, perhaps, by the sand blaster, which might, after all, be economy. Actually, it is possible that with their use one could illustrate the fact that design is of the greatest importance in the garden, and that a landscape composition can be achieved without the use of plants, but it is hard to be serious about a concrete tree.—Washington Star.

City-Planning Idea Grows

More than 800 American cities now have city-planning commissions and zoning regulations. The rapid growth of the city-planning movement, which got its real start at the beginning of the present century, is due to the business man and property owner's realization of the fact that money put into well-kept parks, pleasant streets and beautiful buildings is not an extravagance but an investment, the Architectural Magazine observes. Even the intelligent remodeling of a single house may raise the standard of an entire neighborhood. The difference between profitable and unprofitable rental of either home or business property is often dependent upon the attractiveness of its surroundings as well as the features of the building itself.

Poultry Increases

Between 1919 and 1929, average production of eggs on farms in the United States increased 63 per cent, according to a report made by Wallace's Farmer. The north-central states, including Iowa, gained at the rate of 65 per cent. Washington led with a gain of 234 per cent, followed by Utah with 225 per cent and California with 149 per cent. Next in rate of increase were Massachusetts, New Jersey and Delaware.

Poultry Hints

Crippled chicks, malformations and dwarfs have no place under any brooder.

Chicks hatched from hens laying small eggs will not produce eggs that top the market.

Symptoms of bronchitis are coughing, sneezing, and rattling sounds in the throat. This disease runs its course very rapidly, deaths being sudden.

DAIRY
FACTSPROFIT MADE FROM
GOOD DAIRY COWSDay of "Boarder" in Herd
Is Rapidly Passing.

Reports from 93 dairymen belonging to the eight active herd improvement associations now active in North Carolina indicate that the dairy cows of today are more efficient producers than they were even one year ago.

John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist, North Carolina State college, says that the dairymen found by their record keeping that 352 cows were boarders and therefore unprofitable. These were culled and sold to the butchers.

Another good indication of the gradual improvement being made in dairy herds was that in 1931 there were 88 herds which averaged 800 pounds or more of butterfat per cow. The actual production of these 88 herds was 7,466 pounds of milk and 890 pounds of fat per cow. In the previous year of 1930 only 22 herds produced as much as 800 pounds of fat per cow. Then, last year, Mr. Arey found two herds where the fat production averaged 600 pounds or over of fat. One of these was a Guernsey herd which produced 8,998 pounds of milk and 446 pounds of fat a cow last year, and the other was a Jersey herd which produced 8,300 pounds of milk and 405 pounds of fat a cow last year. These are the first two herds in the state to go above the 400-pound mark.

Condition of Pasture

Affects Water Supply

The cheapest milk is made from good pasture. If we could have an abundance of good pasture from late spring to early fall it would make a lot of difference in our feed costs. We can have better pasture than we have put up with in the past but we will have to do something about getting it.

Many of our so-called pastures are starved almost to death. Then, too, they are grazed without rhyme or reason concerning the needs of growing plants. It has been repeatedly demonstrated in many sections of the country that pastures will respond profitably to fertilization and controlled grazing. We have many favorable reports on the quality and carrying capacity of sudan grass pasture. It may be used to very good advantage in relieving native pastures of excessive grazing. —Hoard's Dairymen.

Dairying as Business

Dairying is a long-time proposition and should be figured on that basis. Here is something to start with. There is little difference in appearance between a herd averaging 220 pounds of butterfat yearly and a herd averaging 200 pounds of fat. Neither figure is high. But even at the present ridiculously low price of fat that means a difference of $6 per cow per year and $160 per year on a herd of 20 cows. When the writer was a bit younger it was figured that a man should pay for his farm in 20 years. What would this difference in production amount to in 20 years? The gross difference would be $3,200. The difference in feeding costs between the two herds would not be over $1,000 for the 20-year period. The $2,200 would make a pretty substantial payment on a farm. —Exchange.

Skimmilk for Cows

Often times cows which have had some difficulty in calving and heifers which have freshened very young are very weak physically for the first month or two, or longer. This gives them an increased susceptibility to disease as well as limiting the milk flow. John Arnolt, Harry Herrick, J. F. Kammerer, and other members of the Chickasaw (Iowa) Herd Improvement Association have found that feeding such individuals skimmilk often makes their recovery more rapid and restores them to a healthy condition very quickly. Also, fresh heifers grow more while they are milking if fed skimmilk. This is a remedy which every dairyman has on hand and is usually relished by the cows. —Successful Farming.

DAIRY FACTS

Milking a cow three times a day increases her milk flow, according to the results of experiments.

One inquiring farmer recently put a water meter on his drinking cups and found that the cows used about a gallon of water in producing three pints of milk and the heaviest producers consumed as much as 15 gallons of water a day.

Don't put cows on freshly irrigated pastures, and on pastures that are wet from natural precipitation or heavy dew.

Informal Garden Best

The average home owner who must attend to most of his garden work himself will find it advantageous to plan his outdoor living room his garden along informal lines. Such informality will give his garden a delightful air of freedom and grace, and inasmuch as the plants are permitted to develop naturally they do not require the constant care to keep them looking well that the formal planting demands.

Hints for Homemakers
By Jane Rogers

FROSTING will adhere much more quickly to a cake if the top is dusted lightly with flour.

Science has found that sweet foods offset the harmful effects of noise. A good tip for office and factory workers. Buy a bar of candy or some cookies at lunch-time to nibble in midafternoon.

The next time the house is papered, save the odds and ends of wallpaper, especially those with floral designs. They make a most attractive lining for the bureau drawers in the bedroom.

OCCOQUAN

Rev. H. H. Hoyt and Miss Dorothy Hoyt have returned from a week's stay at Front Royal where they attended the Pastors' and Young Men's Conference of the M. E. Church.

Miss Malissa Lacey spent the week and with her parents, returning to Washington Sunday afternoon to resume her studies.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brunt were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Corbin Thompson in Washington last Saturday.

Mr. Perry Emmert of Hawarden, Iowa, was a visitor in Occoquan over Sunday.

Miss Frances Brunt returned home Sunday after an extended visit in Toronto and Buffalo.

Mr. R. E. Gosson and Master Philip Thornhill of Waterfall were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wayland.

Mr. Jack Alexander of New Jersey is visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Garing.

BEST DRESSED WOMAN AT DIXIE THEATRE

The reputed audacious and highly-organized underworld is given a dainty swift kick on the shins in "The Wiser Sex," new Paramount feature headlining at the Dixie Theatre next Friday, July 8.

It is the alluring and well-dressed toe of Claudette Colbert which delivers the kick, just in the nick of time to keep a self-styled tough egg from railroading her fiancé on a murder charge. Miss Colbert, whose emotional register has grown by leaps and bounds with "Secrets of a Secretary" and "His Woman," portrays the role of a darling of class, who leaves a vacation in Europe, no telling how many yachts, to set herself up as a kept woman to meet those people who have just the right kind of evidence to exonerate her fiancé.

Douglas, whom you'll recall if you saw Gloria Swanson's "Tonight or Never," is a crusading attorney, who gets himself put on a torrid spot for being enthusiastic about a city clean-up and rather neglectful of his romance with Miss Colbert, if that could happen.

Lilyan Tashman and William Boyd, a wily pair, if ever teamed one, camouflage their underslung lip business for this story in an atmosphere of sophistication and ritzy clothes.

The climax is quite suspenseful, for just when you think that Boyd and his "imported" chauffeur have gotten everything under control and the ravishing Miss Colbert's blonde disguise under surveillance for what is to be her "last ride," action reveals just how nicely a female Sherlock can time things when there is vital business, like restoring a lagging romance, at hand.

FOR THE CHILD BEGINNING SCHOOL IN SEPTEMBER

Letters are being sent out over the signature of the Division Superintendent of Schools to the parents of all children who are to begin school next September whose names have been turned in to the Public Health Nurse. These letters urge the parents to have the child examined by the Family Physician to make sure that he is in good physical condition. It is important that these examinations be made early in the summer so that any physical defects may be corrected and the child adjusted to the correction before the opening of school. A small slip will be given to the child by the physician which should be kept and handed to the teacher when the child enters school in the fall. If the family physician is not in Prince William county he may not have the slips as they are supplied by the County Public Health Nurse, but the doctor will be glad to give a written statement of the child's condition and that he has been vaccinated to be given the teacher. Extra supplies are furnished the doctors in the county to take care of these children whose names were not listed for the nurse. If parents need help in securing correction of defects for the children the nurse will be able to help with arrangements after July 25. It will be better for the children, however, if these corrections can be made during July so that the child may have time to recover from a tonal operation if necessary or to become accustomed to wearing glasses before starting in school. It should be remembered that the law requires all children to be vaccinated before entering school.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

Mrs. Stanley Holmes, formerly Miss Nelle Hyde, is in Chicago this week, having made the hop there via New York by plane. While there she has been attending sessions of Democratic convention.
