KIWANIS ADD NEW MEMBER

Walter Sadd Joins at Woodbridge.

Sand and chiggers held no terrors for the Kiwanis boys who journeyed to Woodbridge last Friday to enjoy a supper prepared by the 4-H girls and served on tables near the water's edge.

The crowd did not all get there at one time but the young hostesses waited patiently. In fact, one of the staid members of the club later intimated that they all were so attracted by the sandwiches in the water that they almost forgot the eats.

Ed Conner and Prof. Pullen closed a highly successful month with their program. In fact it's going to be hard to equal it soon. Ed fell flat on the poem, however, greatly to the disappointment of everyone. Several pairs of glasses were offered but his excuse seemed bona fide.

Dr. Mabry, of the Federal Extension Bureau, gave a live talk on keeping the boys on the farm, and told of seeing one striking example that day in his tour with Professor Pullen.

Mrs. Ayleene Guthrie, superintendent of the District Home, read a paper on the work of the institution and told a number of interesting stories about the inmates and how their lives were made comfortable and happy.

An unusual feature of the evening was the induction of Walter Sadd, local merchant, into the club. This is the first time that a new member has been initiated outside the regular place of meeting.

Walter stood the test very nicely and made a little speech in which he said that he felt that this club was one that did things and made itself felt in the county. (A compliment like that is appreciated because Walter is a young fellow who does things himself.—Ed. note).

Mesdames May Leachman and Stewart Pattie have something in store for the boys this Friday. Nothing has been intimated but everyone knows that it will be something nice.

COUNTIES TO VOTE ON BYRD ROAD LAW

Next Tuesday fifteen counties of Virginia will vote on accepting or rejecting the Byrd Road Law. The remainder of our hundred counties, including Prince William, decided to accept the law without contest.

Counties voting next Tuesday are: Arlington, Chesterfield, Fairfax, Henrico, James City, Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Nelson, New Kent, Northampton, Nottoway, Orange, Stafford, Warwick and York.

The purpose of the Byrd law is primarily the reduction of local road taxation, constituting a saving of around 18 per cent. Opponents claim the new law places too much power in Richmond, and desire to retain their local authority and patronage. From these two angles many arguments have been made at the various public meetings which have been held in the counties which will vote on Tuesday.

It is widely believed that only about half of the fifteen voting counties will actually reject the law and these, whenever they find themselves at a disadvantage in their isolation, will seek means eventually of coming into the State System.

Counties with a well-developed local road building program fear that they will have to stand still under the more backward areas catch up and the backward counties, with meager resources, have pretty generally accepted the proposition as a chance to get something, whereas they now have very little.

Raymond Ratcliffe and Mr. Jack Ratcliffe.

BOARD RE-ELECTS ARRINGTON HEAD

Annual Organization Meeting of School Body.

The County School Board met yesterday with all members present. The first order of business was the organization of the official personnel.

D. J. Arrington, who has been chairman for many years, was unanimously chosen to serve another term. W. L. Lloyd was slated as vice-chairman and Professor R. C. Haydon will continue his efficient services as clerk.

The transportation route from Cat-harpin to Haymarket was decided upon and Morris Polen selected as driver for the term.

Improvements at Cherry Hill, Dumfries and Joplin were authorized and W. F. Keys awarded the contract for all three.

The annual audit was laid before the board by the auditing committee and ordered filed.

The calendar for 1932-33 was approved.

Other matters of routine nature were transacted.

CLARENDON REBEKAH LODGE NO. 28 INSTALL VIR- GINIA DARE'S OFFICERS

The officers of Virginia Dare Rebekah Lodge No. 66 of Dumfries, Va., were installed into their respective chairs by Mrs. Lila Spillman, district deputy president, of Clarendon Rebekah Lodge No. 82, and her staff, of Clarendon, Va., Monday night, August 1.

The work was beautifully done and the visiting lodge should be well commended for their splendid work.

There were visitors from Victory Rebekah Lodge No. 12 of Fredericksburg, Samarian Rebekah Lodge No. 27 of Alexandria and Clarendon Rebekah Lodge No. 28 of Clarendon, Va.

The following officers were installed: noble grand, Mrs. Rowena Brawner; vice-grand, Mrs. Mamie Clark; recording secretary, Mrs. Katie Keys; financial secretary, Mrs. Ella Waters; treasurer, Mrs. Mamie Sisson; warden, Mrs. Mary Williams; conductor, Mrs. Bell Rison; chaplain, Mrs. Mollie Garrison; right supporter to noble grand, Mrs. Janie Abel; left supporter to noble grand, Mrs. Myrtle Keys; right supporter to vice-grand, Mrs. Bertha Garrison; left supporter to vice-grand, Mrs. Lena Leiberman; musician, Mr. Carlton Garrison; inside guardian, Miss Isabell Rison, and outside guardian, Mrs. Lottie Young. The lodge room was beautifully decorated by a florist from Fredericksburg.

After a late hour delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of Virginia Dare, consisting of sandwiches, iced tea, ice cream and cake.

THE MAIL ORDER VICTIM

Our cartoon depicts the sad plight of a farmer driving away from home with a few possessions exempted from a foreclosure sale, taking property which represents his life work. At an age when he is no longer able to compete with younger men, he must begin life anew.

He lived in a community where mail-order houses did a thriving business. When he wanted auto tires he purchased them from Rears and Sawbuck. When he acted as chairman for the local fair he had his printing done up north. He taught his children to buy their school supplies away from home. He never cultivated the valuable habit of depositing regularly with his local bank, and finally, when he needed help, he and his kind had sent so much of the community's wealth to distant places that there was no local money to loan him, and foreclosure followed.

We are better off in Prince William county than this scene depicts. Our folks have plenty to eat and we help one another. Most of us buy at home and build up substantial little balances in our local bank accounts. We have everything done at home that we can. We haven't starved our local merchants by mail-order patronage and now, while many less fortunate communities where mail-order practices prevail are pretty flat, we are making the grade. Frequently we have to "shift gears," but we are going over the top because of the fine community spirit and loyalty to local institutions which has always been characteristic of Prince William county.

Gasoline tax collections for June totaled $1,088,376.04 as compared with $1,114,096.08 for the corresponding month last year, the State Division of Motor Vehicles revealed.

Similar declines were noted for April and May.

Division officials said the comparative decreases were the first since the gasoline tax levy was inaugurated.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Prince William Association Holds Session in Manassas.

Prince William County Sunday School Association held their annual convention at the Presbyterian church, Manassas, Friday, July 27. Dr. Henry E. Tralle of New York was the main speaker at both the day and night sessions. Dr. Tralle proved that he is one of the most dynamic leaders in religious education in North America. One of his chief objects is to lift convention goes out of the ruts of former inefficiency and lead them in the paths of approved procedure.

The Rev. Minor C. Miller, state secretary, gave a masterly address on "Organizing the County for Effective Work." Each school that took part and helped to make the convention a success deserves special mention and also the hospitality of the good people of the Presbyterian church who so graciously acted as hosts to this convention.

It was indeed a day of great spiritual value.

WOODWARD DESCENDANTS ORGANIZE SOCIETY

The first joint reunion of the Bagby, Pollard and Woodward families, whose progenitors settled in Virginia during the early colonial days, came to a close Sunday evening after a three days' session at Wharton Grove in Lancaster county, Va. The reunion was largely attended by members of these families from many sections of the country. Mrs. Mary Bagby Rudd of Richmond gave an interesting historical sketch of the Bagby family, Governor John Pollard spoke in his usual inimitable manner as historian of the Pollard family, while Rev. Dr. Edmund L. Woodward of Shrine Mont, Orkney Springs, Va., who has been specializing in Woodward genealogy, was the speaker for the Woodward family. On Sunday morning a special service was held in the old Baptist church, Lancaster, generally known as the "King Carter church," and so named from Robert Carter of "Corotoman," who owned vast landed possessions in Tidewater Virginia, was Speaker of the House of Burgesses, and later became Governor of the Colony.

An interesting development of the reunion was the organization of the Woodward Society of Virginia, one of the principal objects of which it was announced would be the continuation of the Woodward genealogical research work by Dr. Woodward and others on which considerable progress has already been made. It was decided to establish two classes of membership in the Society, active members to be those who can show direct descent from a Woodward ancestor who was a resident of Virginia in the 17th or 18th centuries, and associate members to include those whose Woodward ancestors were either from other states or, if from Virginia, have not been traced back as yet prior to the 19th century. The Society will have its headquarters in Richmond, and it was stated that information would be welcomed from any section of the country as to descendants of Woodward ancestors who formerly lived in Virginia, and that all such information would be carefully preserved in the archives of the Society. Since the colonies gained their independence at the close of the Revolution war, few families have become more widely scattered than the Virginia Woodwards, and it is said that there is today scarcely a community of any size between the Canadian and Mexican borders in which descendants of this family are not to be found.

A large crowd is expected and many invitations have been sent to those away from the county.

TRUCK DRIVER GIVEN FINE

Sidney A. Marian, truck driver, of Arlington county has been fined $50 and costs by Judge Paul Brown of Fairfax county on a charge of reckless driving. This is the outgrowth of the accident on the Telegraph road June 27 when Nelson Kincheloe of Dumfries, a passenger in the car of Thomas Arrington, was killed. A charge of manslaughter was later entered by Capt. Heywood Durrer against Marian. An appeal has been noted from Judge Brown's sentence to the Circuit Court.

"LETTY LYNTON" DRAMA OF MODERN SOCIETY AT DIXIE

Modern society, the younger generation and a terrific harvest from past indiscretions figure in a kaleidoscopic romance in "Letty Lynton," in which Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery will be seen, starting next Monday at the Dixie Theatre.

The story is a filmization of the Marie Belloc Lowndes novel, based on the problems faced by an heiress who played with men's loves until she found herself in a trap of her own making. Miss Crawford plays the dramatic heroine amid tropical South American resorts, the whirl of New York life and aboard a great liner in mid-ocean. Montgomery is the "right man" who comes along just in time to save her from her own folly.

The plot deals with an heiress who makes a romantic trip through South America, charming men and then leaving them. After a hectic affair with a romantic Argentinian, she departs for home, meeting on the ship the first man whom she really can love. It is a case of "love at first sight" on both sides, but the South American follows and in her struggles to extricate herself from the dangerous situations which ensue, she finds herself faced with the choice of prison or a blasted reputation. By a clever twist, her lover and mother solve the problem.

Montgomery, as the debonair American who can fight in an emergency, has an engaging and at times extremely dramatic characterization. Nils Asther plays the South American, making a new type of romantic "heavy" out of the role. Lewis Stone appears as the incisive district attorney and the stern mother is enacted by the well-known stage star, May Robson. Louise Closser Hale contributes a comedy characterization as the maid and other roles are filled by Emma Dunn, Walter Walker and William Pawley.

CATHARPIN
 Dr. Jos. Sanford and nephew of Clifton were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Brower at Long Oak several days last week.
 The Rev. C. L. Potter, a super-annuate of the M. E. church, South, filled the pulpit at Sudley last Sunday morning and delivered a fine discourse from the text "What Think Ye of Christ?" Mr. Potter is living in Mt. Crawford, Va., where he was a member of Mr. Swecker's church at that point and now spending a short vacation at the parsonage with his old time friends, the Rev. and Mrs. K. D. Swecker.
 Little Miss Hallie Dorsey of Berryville is visiting her cousins at Lawn Vale this week.
 Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Cook of Greenwich and Mrs. Samuel Thornton of Washington were guests of the Lynn home in Catharpin last Sunday evening.
 The Catharpin school building is now being treated to a new coat of paint preparatory to the opening of school in September. The school this year is reduced to one room, the primary grades. All others will be sent to the Haymarket high school.
 Miss Mary Currel Pattie is now the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Brower, jr., of Purcellville, Va.
 Mrs. W. S. Brower and children spent Sunday last with her mother, Mrs. Larkin, at Larkinton.
 During the past week or ten days we have been experiencing dry weather; so much so that corn fields and late crops were beginning to suffer to some extent. One bad feature of a continued dry spell is dusty roads which sometimes make travel quite dangerous. It is reported that several cars on their way from the Catharpin ball game on Saturday evening met a car coming in the opposite direction which the first car passed safely but dust prevented vision and a head-on collision resulted with the second car. Fortunately no one was hurt but considerable damage was done to the cars. This again leads to the fact that all motorists should be very careful with dust. We often wonder sometimes just what road etiquette is. One will be driving along at a fair speed when someone coming up behind not wishing to take the dust, will whirl past at high speed and leave you enveloped in a dense cloud such as you will have to really, at times, stop because vision is entirely cut off. Conditions like this are a source of danger to say nothing of being impolite and compelling someone else to do what the passer refuses to do—take the dust. There is a common decency in all things and motor traffic is a good field in which to exercise it.

WHEELER PLAYS BLONDE
 "VAMP" IN COMEDY HIT
 Bert Wheeler, for the first and the last time in his life, plays the role of a gay young woman, in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Peach-O'-Reno," which shows at the Dixie Theatre with his starring partner in comedy, Robert Woolsey, next Wednesday and Thursday.
 The comedian, who takes his business seriously, dutifully crowded himself into a tight fitting evening gown, cramped his feet in French slippers, put on sheer stockings and a blond wig and affected a high soprano voice—all this for art's sake.
 Wheeler, who is a good soldier in things cinematic, found his nerves frayed at the end of three days of impersonating a woman. The hardest task of all, he complains, was remembering to raise his baritone voice to the higher scale befitting a woman.
 "Peach-O'-Reno" is a unique burlesque satirizing the Reno divorce colony and demonstrates how lucrative can be the business of two enterprising young lawyers who advertise per-

 Farmers are thru their busy work. Corn is looking fine, but rain is badly needed.
 There will be services at the Primitive Baptist church here on Tuesday, Aug. 16, 2:30 p.m. Elder A. A. Garrett of Arlington, Ga., and Elder T. E. McGowan of Dothan, Ala., will be with Elder Miller, pastor of the church.
 Mr. D. J. Martin of Manassas was in Minnieville recently on business.
 Mrs. B. S. Kidwell and little son have returned to her home after spending a week with her parents.

 Mr. B. S. Kidwell came for her and spent the week end with Mr. Kidwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kidwell, of Agnewville.
 Mrs. Eva Garner of Agnewville and Miss Myrtle Hall of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Kidwell called at the Clarke home on Saturday evening.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hinton have purchased a new automobile.
 Mr. Raymond Fairfax of Dahlgren visited Miss Janie Dane and family recently.

A PYRRHEAN VICTORY

Once upon a time Pyrrhus, King of Epirus, won a great victory against the Romans by means of war elephants, but lost so many men that he is said to have exclaimed, "Another such victory and I must return to Epirus alone."

Such a victory has been won by President Hoover in his attack against defenseless men, women and children last week. He has secured the eviction of the bonus marchers, but the method used has aroused such a world-wide wave of disapproval that he may have to pay dearly for his unwise procedure when the ballot is spread next November for the election of our next President.

There is much honest difference of opinion as to the wisdom of paying the bonus now, and the best minds of the country seem to be in agreement that the concentration of destitute men and their families into large camps is unwise, both from the standpoint of their own welfare and that of the resident citizens, but no difference of opinion in such matters justifies the turning of the armed forces of the United States against war veterans.

Major Glassford, in Washington, and Governor Ritchie of Maryland have earned the gratitude both of the public and of the veterans in their handling of this delicate and unprecedented situation, and it is a great pity that the "humanitarian" in the White House should have either lost his nerve or his patience. The cleverly circulated story that the bonus marchers are "reds" is certainly not evidenced in their honorable discharges from the United States Army and their records in France.

CLOTHING THE FAMILY

CLOTHING, properly selected, protects the body from heat and cold, rain and other disagreeable outside annoyances. The climate, of course, determines to a great extent the type of clothing to be worn. Woolen garments are best suited to cold weather and cotton and linen to warm weather. Clothing may become wet from rain or perspiration. In drying on the body it draws heat from the body itself. Cotton, linen and silk dry more rapidly than wool and take more heat from the body. Woolen garments take longer to dry and the removal of body heat is, therefore, more gradual.

It follows from this that people who take cold easily should wear flannel next to the skin, especially in changeable climates; or where this is not desirable, they should always change their underclothes promptly if they get wet.

Clothing should fit the body loosely and not be tight anywhere, especially around the neck and waist. Men would do well to wear suspenders which carry the weight of the trousers from the shoulders and not rely on tight belts around the abdomen. Women should also carry the weight of their clothes from the shoulders by the attachment of suspenders to garments hung over the shoulders.

As a matter of fact, the average women of today dresses more sensibly than men in this respect. She is not so likely to have tight collars or bands around the abdomen. Of course, the old type of tight corset should be relegated to the scrap heap.

STOCKINGS AND SHOES
The same general advice holds good in respect to stockings. Woolen stockings are advisable in very cold weather. Otherwise, there is no objection to the prevailing silk or silk and wool. One point should be noted: tight garters which cause a ring around the leg just above the knee tend to produce varicose veins.

No such impediment to the upward flow of blood through the veins should be allowed. The blood returning to the heart from the feet and legs has to run up-hill, as it were, and is not helped by having this upward flow blocked by tight garters. Naturally, the veins become dilated and later enlarged and unsightly.

Shoes should not pinch the foot anywhere. Heels should be broad and not too high. High heels throw the weight of the body forward on the toes. This throws the body off proper balance and may cause symptoms remote from the feet, e. g., back ache, the cause of which is often unsuspected.

QUESTIONS:
All wives and mothers should be able to answer these questions:—
1. What clothing is best for warm weather? 2. Should clothes fit snugly? 3. Why are tight garters harmful?

Physicians tell us that one condition is nearly always present when a child has a digestive upset, a starting cold or other little ailment. Constipation. The first step towards relief is to rid the body of impure wastes. And for this nothing is better than genuine Castoria. Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made especially for babies and children. This means it is mild and gentle; that it contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. Yet it always gets results! You never have to coax children to take Castoria. Real Castoria always bears the name:

CULPEPER REPUBLICANS CALL FOR GREEN

On Thursday last, in convention assembled at Culpeper court house, with Mr. Otis Marshall in the chair, the Republican electors of that county instructed their delegates to the district convention to vote for John Locke Green of Arlington, as Republican nominee for Congress from this district.

Mr. Green is a very successful young attorney at Arlington Court house, and is a nephew of Raleigh T. Green, editor of the Culpeper Exponent. He is a native of that county.

Why Milk Tests Vary

Milk tests vary from day to day due to perfectly normal factors, state specialists at New York State college, who have tested samples of Holstein and Jersey milk to determine effects of sampling on fat tests. Some of the factors are: Advancement of the lactation period of the cows, which means more fat in the milk; the amount of exercise the herd receives; completeness of milking; feeding practices; age of the cows; the breed; individual difference of the cows; the seasonal changes with higher tests when the temperatures are low and lower tests when temperatures are high during the heat of summer. In New York state two testers working independently will check within 0.1 per cent in 60 per cent of the samples they test. The Babcock test is not expected to give greater accuracy than this.

Methods of sampling have been held responsible for daily variations, and the recent investigation indicates the reasons why tests may vary even though all sampling is done uniformly. —Prairie Farmer.

Keeping Calves Healthy

Dirty feeding pails are often the contributing cause of an outbreak of common scours in calves. Avoid this by scalding the pails after each feeding. Allow the sun to shine on them during the day. Some dairymen keep a separate pail for each calf. Over-feeding is another frequent cause of scours. Feed around one pound of milk for each ten pounds of live weight, and during the first few days give the calf several feeds per day. The milk fed can be gradually increased with growth until the animal is getting around two to two and one-half gallons of skim milk per day. Begin giving the calf some ground grain or other concentrate as soon as it will eat. —Wallace's Farmer.

Tests for Mastitis

Tests for the presence of mastitis in dairy cows was one of a number of features of an exhibit at a group of dairy meetings held in Syracuse, N. Y. This exhibit was prepared by the experiment station and the college of agriculture, and was of much interest to the various cattle breed associations, as well as to the State Dairyman's association. Mastitis has long been a baffling malady in dairy herds and much attention is being given to its detection and treatment. —Exchange.

CENTERBURY

Mrs. J. T. Bean was taken seriously ill Saturday night and was removed to Sibley Hospital in Washington Sunday evening and was operated on and the latest report she was getting along nicely.

Mr. J. T. Bean has been spending a few days in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bean and family of Bradley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Counts.

Mr. Rome Counts was a visitor in this community Monday.

Mr. Bill Counts of Baltimore spent the week end with relatives and friends here.

Mr. T. B. Shoemaker of Madison, Va., who is attending the American Legion convention at Alexandria, spent Monday night with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fletcher.

DAIRY NOTES

A grating on the floor of the milk cooler is of no aid in cooling the milk.

A cow producing 8,000 pounds of milk a year manufactures nearly 1,100 pounds of dry matter in her milk.

In New York state's first co-operative bull association, 17 dairymen have the use of one of three bulls, each animal worth $320, for an investment of $50.

In a Pennsylvania test where a large number of dairy herds were used, it was found that a cow receiving silage would produce 150 gallons of milk more than when not receiving silage.

In a preliminary study of the effect of culling in 20-cow herds, it was found that on an average, the best cow in the herd produced more milk and butterfat than the two poorest cows.

Special pastures are needed to furnish food for the droughty period. Modern cow men are providing them.

The cow's udder must be free from mud or other filth, the milker's hands must be clean, the bucket must be so clean that a drink of water tastes good out of it.

MAKING OF HOLLAND

Dutch Damsels Talking Shop.

(Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)—WNU Service.

VEGETABLES, not fish, will be the products of the broad expanse of the Zuiderzee, which now is having a complete change of face. Drainage and filling the Zuiderzee will add more than 1,000 square miles of farm land to the Netherlands area. The work when completed, will cost the Dutch government some $850,000,000.

Long ago the ocean said to the Hollander, "You shall have no land here." The Hollander said to the ocean, "We will have a country here"; and they have one, in spite of water, winds, and waves.

In Holland all is new—the gulfs, lakes, and islands have come into existence under man's observation. He has seen within historic times sand close a river's mouth, land converted into water, and lakes dry up and disappear.

The ordinary agencies of change—wind and wave, rain and flood, and the rise and fall of land—have here found a favoring field for their activities.

Long after the greater part of the continent of Europe had become fixed and stable, Holland began its geographic formation and is still pursuing processes intended to hold or enlarge its boundaries.

By the aid of old maps and documents we can learn what Holland was at the time it first found a place and designation on the world's charts, and following them in sequence one can note the changes that have been wrought by the action of the waters of the rivers, the waves of the sea, and the hands of man—in short, how Holland was made.

The power of the rivers one can see in the inundations; the action of the sea in the sand dunes along the coast; and the transformation by man everywhere.

Before the birth of the Rhine a great part of the Netherlands, as we now see it, was a sea, limited on the German side by a rocky coast which now shows itself in the Tustoburger Wald hills. The uplifting of the Alps in Germany which, shielded by the Alps on its southern coast and protected from the cold winds of the north, became full to overflowing from the melting ice. Finally the pent-up waters broke through, and in the bed thus formed the Rhine has since been flowing.

How the Land Was Formed. With the rush of the waters masses of rocks were hurled along until the moving force exhausted itself; smaller particles were carried farther, and when the sea was reached its resistance robbed the river of its final burden, and sand dunes formed the northern boundaries of Holland. The pebbles and grains of sand on which rests the soil of Gelderland and Overijssel and the island of Texel show that their primeval home was the basalt regions of the Rhine.

The result of the conflict between the waters of the rivers and the sea into which they seek to find an outlet is seen in the deltas of our largest streams.

Before reaching the Dutch frontier the Rhine has lost all the beauty of its banks, and flows in great, lazy curves suggestive of approaching old age. The indecision of senility is now seen in the separation of the Rhine into two parts. The main branch shamefully disavows its name and throws itself into the Meuse, a river of French origin; the other branch, insulted by the name of Dannebroeg canal, after going nearly to Arnheim, separates into two parts, one emptying into the Zuiderzee; the other, regaining its early name, though qualified as the Lower Rhine, goes as far as Duerstede, where it divides for the third time.

During the reign of Louis Bonaparte a canal was opened through the dunes and the Rhine again conducted to the sea. The mouth of this canal is protected by enormous dikes and breakwaters and the sea itself is held in check by locks, or sluice-gates.

When the tide is high these locks are closed, to prevent the waters of the sea from invading the land; when the tide falls they are opened, to give passage to the waters of the Rhine which have accumulated behind them, and then 3,000 cubic feet of water a minute pass out.

Continual Battle With the Sea. The rivers of Holland, like all rivers whose lower reaches have but little fall, drop sediment along these lower levels, especially at their mouths. The sea has resisted this encroachment, and in retreating has continually fought to regain lost territory. It has thrown barriers across the river channel to make the rivers themselves destroy the land of their creation; it has buried the rich alluvial soil fathoms deep under unproductive sands, and where it does not throw up sand dunes as a fortress against itself, the state must accept the challenge and wage a royal battle.

The other rivers that have contributed to the weal and woe of Holland have been less vacillating in approaching their outlets, but equal vigilance has been needed to keep their waters from inundating the land. Dikes must be built on both banks as high and as far upstream as experience demands.

Along the North sea there are places where, owing to changing winds, the sand cannot accumulate in quantities sufficient to form protecting dunes. Here sea-dikes must be built—veritable fortifications.

They are made of earth, firmly packed on the sea-face, and partly paved with dressed Norway granite or Rhine basalt blocks.

Beginning at the top, the dimensions are as follows:

Thirty feet across the top, on which there is a double-track railroad for the transportation of materials with which to make repairs.

On the sea-face it inclines at an angle of 30 degrees for a distance of about 40 feet; then the slope is one in three. Here the stone paving begins and extends about 50 feet.

From this point for 100 feet a sod surface is maintained, but beyond that for 110 feet, where the forces of the storm-lashed waves beat hardest, the surface is faced with stone. This carries the face to a point about three feet below high tide; then a flat pavement is laid out to and beyond the low-water line.

As a precaution, three rows of piles are driven in to hold the facing in place, and two other rows of larger piles, with their tops protruding, extend along the line where the waves are most aggressive.

Costly But Necessary. The amount of labor required to construct such fortifications can hardly be imagined and the cost is well-nigh beyond conjecture. The piles, all of which came from other lands, cost, in place, $4 each.

This defense is not an idle precaution. When the west winds drive the waters from the English channel to meet those deflected by Norway's unyielding shores, they fill up the North sea and seek their old course across the Netherlands.

The sluggish current of the Zuiderzee is a weak contestant with the remorseless tide of the North sea. Consequently its shifting sands threatened to close up the harbor of Amsterdam and also rendered precarious the navigation out to and around the Heider. It was therefore decided some years ago to construct a ship canal directly to the North sea.

This great work was completed in 1870, with the sea terminus at IJmuiden. The sea being higher at high tide than the water in the harbor at Amsterdam, it was necessary to have big locks at that end.

The traffic through this canal is so great that the water let through in the locking would soon become a source of danger. The harbor of Amsterdam is, therefore, shut off from the Zuiderzee by means of dikes, with a series of locks to permit ingress and egress.

Protecting Dikes Everywhere.

It is not the sea alone that calls for the defending dikes. Every outlet into the sea must have embankments high enough to overtop the highest incoming tide, for twice every day these outlets become estuaries of the sea, and the land would be covered by the invading brackish water if it were not for the dike-like banks.

The farmers frequently build their dwelling houses under the lee of these banks, and from the deck of a passing steamboat one can literally look down the chimney, though he may hardly, as same have claimed, see what the farmer's wife is cooking for his dinner.

The Dutch word polder is a term applied to any area of land protected by an encircling dike and drained by its own system of pumps. Some of these are barely below the general level and need only a slight embankment; such are usually of firm soil, and after the removal of the water become arable fields. Others were originally ponds or lakes, or deposits of muck which have to be inclosed by more substantial embankments, and the removal of the water in the first instance as well as subsequently is a serious matter.

MAYNARD AN AUTHORITY ON WESTERN AMERICANA

Ken Maynard, star of the Tiffany Productions, Inc., western drama, "Alias, The Bad Man," which will be at the Dixie Theatre next Saturday, August 6, is one of the best authorities in Hollywood of the days of the early west.

Among his possessions he lists saddles, bridles, spurs and chaps with historical interest. He has an array of six-shooters, many of which have authenticated killings to their credit. He is a living encyclopedia of information regarding habits, customs, costumes and mannerisms of the days when cattle ranged from the Rio Grande to the Dakotas and there wasn't a wire fence in the entire territory.

Preserve Now to Aid Neady During Winter

By Jane Rogers

An excellent way for you to do your bit in helping the unemployed is to suggest to your bridge club, or your community or church organization, that the members work together one day a week this summer, putting up fruits and vegetables for distribution to needy families next winter.

Preserves possess a number of outstanding advantages for this purpose. They are high in food and health value, the fruits and the vegetables furnishing vitamins and minerals, while the sugar content is an unequalled source of energy. The expense involved is small. The products of orchard and garden promise to be unusually cheap, and sugar is at its lowest price in history.

Most women have their own favorite fruit preserve recipes, but are not so familiar with the recipes for preserving vegetables. Below is a vegetable preserving recipe that will give your group a start in a worthy undertaking.

String or Butter Beans

Discard any imperfect beans, wash thoroughly and rinse in several waters. Cut in desired size, cover with boiling water and cook for five to ten minutes, uncovered. Then fill into sterilized pint jars, adding one teaspoonful of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt to each jar. Cover with the water in which they were cooked, adjust sterilized rubbers and covers loosely. Place in wash boiler, filled to within an inch of the tops of jars with hot water, bring to boiling point and process (boil) for three hours. Lift from water, tighten covers securely, turn jars upside down to cool.

NOKEVILLE

Dr. Henry of Bridgewater is conducting a series of meetings at the seminary. The meetings will continue through next week. Rev. Henry has been driving home some wonderful moral and scriptural lessons. The young people of the community, as well as the old, will do well to hear his discourses on the evils which beckon to the present and coming generation.

The District Community Association held its regular meeting Tuesday night. Unfortunately, the conflict with the revival resulted in a very poor crowd. However, the kind and quality of the program made up for the paucity of people. Our good friends, L. J. Bowman and Charlie Fitzwater, chairman and worker, respectively, of the agricultural committee had provided a bountiful watermelon feast for all. That's my idea of real entertainment!

Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford gave a surprise party last Thursday in honor of their daughter, Reba Crawford, who has returned from her vacation in Algona, Iowa.

Since her return, Miss Crawford has had, as her guest, Miss Betty "Jo" Kapany of Chatteroy, W. Va.

Miss Cora Beahm, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beahm, and friends during the week.

DAIRY FACTS

YOUNG COW MAKES SPLENDID RECORD

Yield Equals That of Five Ordinary Animals.

College of Agriculture.)

With cows like Lauderdale Lilly Posch, the old-fashioned family cow would become a neighborhood cow, for this four-year-old Holstein gave as much milk as five typical dairy cows, or enough for 65 people for a year when she recently made the record of 24,000 pounds of milk and 822.9 pounds of fat.

Lilly was bred by H. V. Bump of Cambridge but is now owned by Harry Yates of Orchard Park. Her mother is the daughter of North Star General Champion, who has fourteen daughters in the advanced registry of the breed, and made a record of 23,424 pounds of milk and 840 pounds of fat as a five-year-old.

Lilly Posch gave from 91 pounds of milk on her best day to 41 pounds on the last day of the test. She was fed an average of 16 pounds of grain a day composed of: 300 pounds of oats, 200 hominy, 300 distiller's grains, 200 bran, 100 gluten, 100 cotton seed meal, 100 oil meal, 20 minerals, 25 charcoal, and 10 salt. Her roughage was 20 pounds silage, 10 alfalfa hay, and 10 beet pulp daily. She was fed about forty pounds of red beets a day for about four months and during this period the beet pulp was cut to five pounds daily.

Growing Sentiment for Fewer and Better Cows

Three per cent of all dairymen in Illinois are members of dairy herd improvement associations and more of them will join the movement as fast as they realize that it often is possible to make more money from fewer and better cows, state dairy authorities claim. Also fewer and better cows not only will make more money but they will put less milk and butterfat on the market.

For instance, 10 cows like those that averaged between 450 and 500 pounds of butterfat in 1931 made as much return above cost of feed as 27 cows that averaged 200 to 250 pounds each. Returns above feed cost do not tell the whole story. In one case there are 10 cows to house and care for and in the other case 27 cows. Labor and equipment are important items of expense in producing milk and butterfat. Furthermore, the 10 cows made as much above cost of feed as the 27 cows and they produced 50,958 pounds less milk and 1,458 pounds less butterfat for market consumption.

Check the Separator

In a study of 1,027 separators in use by members of cow testing associations it was found that 12 per cent of all separators in use for less than one year did not skim clean. Of the separators that had been in use for five years, 35 per cent left .08 of one per cent of fat in the skim milk and of those that had been in use for 15 years 50 per cent did not do a good job of skimming.

This does not mean that there was anything radically wrong with these separators. It just meant that they were somewhat out of adjustment. The figures presented are given merely as reminders that it pays to check up on the cream separator once in a while to see whether it is doing as good work as it is capable of doing. When a separator leaves .05 of one per cent more of fat in the skim milk than it should, the loss in a herd of ten cows may run from four to six pounds of fat a month.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

DAIRY FACTS

Nearly 700 New York dairymen in 51 counties tested 8,569 cows by mail in April.

A reliable dairy thermometer is cheap insurance against losing a premium or having milk rejected.

For the third successive year, a cow owned by Hugh Andrew of Haddington, England, has given 2,000 gallons of milk.

Teaching the calf to drink takes time, milk and other feeds for the young calf are costly, and in most parts of the country the calf requires stable room.

High yield per cow is the basis for profitable milk production. Cows producing less than 200 pounds of butterfat fail to pay for the cost of feed and labor.

Keep the calf pens and bull pens darkened and apply fly spray twice a day.

Prompt handling of milk and proper facilities for maintaining a favorable temperature during the summer are necessary to marketing first-grade cream.

The average 16-cow herd keeping records in Minnesota returned this past year about $230 more over feed cost than the average of all herds. Culling out the poor cows helps.
