KIWANIS HEAR CAPITAL MAN

Secretary of Commerce Chamber Tells of His City.

Members of the Manassas Kiwanis Club know more about the Nation's Capital after having heard Dorsey W. Hyde, Jr., secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, who was the speaker Friday evening, August 12, on the subject of "Washington, Your Neighbor City."

Edwin F. Hill, president, and Risley G. Hunt, of the Washington Kiwanis Club, were visitors at the meeting, which was presided over by Richard S. Hynson, vice-president.

Mr. Hyde's talk follows:

Washington, the city envisioned by Washington and Jefferson, and planned by the genius of L'Enfant, today, on the 200th anniversary of the birth of its founder, is blossoming into a magnificent capital city which rivals in beauty and charm the great capitals of Europe and antiquity.

In a time of business distress the white pillars of Washington's public buildings symbolize the faith of the founding fathers in those principles of democracy and freedom which have led us through the tangled maze of economic re-adjustment in the past, and which, just as surely, will lead us once again to the firm grounds of business stability and thrifty progress.

Much good would accrue from a broader knowledge by Americans generally of their National Capital and the aims and objects which it typifies. Unlike the capitals of ancient and modern foreign countries it is not endowed with exclusive religious or sovereign power. It derives its leadership by delegation of the citizens of the 48 sovereign states. Its powers are their powers; its virtues are their virtues, and its defects equally are their defects.

It is not possible to separate people from the monuments they leave behind them. Our National Capital includes also, as well as the present city and its inhabitants, those moving spirits and personalities of yesterday who have left their imprint in stone and marble; in towering structures of classic beauty, and in well-planned streets, stately boulevards, and majestically conceived waterfronts and parkway developments.

The spirit of freedom is reflected in these open, unwall spaces; the urge of untrammelled self-expression is represented in the wealth of architectural design, and the temper of social justice and courtesy is exemplified by the readiness with which all doors open hospitably in response to the knock of the visiting citizen from other states who, along with all others, has contributed in some degree to the building of this capital city.

Such visitor sees the Washington Monument piercing the skyline as our national ideals strive ever upward and is flooded with a sense of peace and human sympathy when he gazes upon the massive Lincoln—in his beautiful marble mausoleum—with kindly eyes expressing his love of justice and humanity.

Few people realize the extent to which the Washington of today contributes to the shaping of our national growth and progress. In addition to being the governmental center of our country, it has attained a dominating position in scientific research and discovery in the fields of economics, sociology, agriculture, engineering, and dozens of other highly specialized spheres. It has the second largest library in the world; more than 250 private educational institutions, and 60 agencies collecting technology statistics of over 600 types, varieties and kinds.

Washington is the headquarters city for more than 200 national associations which furnish leadership to business, labor, agriculture, public utility, trade, professional and other special vocations and groups. It has national bodies also which lead and stimulate activities in the fields of science, education, religion, social service, international relations, patriotism, and the arts and the humanities.

Thus is our national capital finding its true place in a new age which has grown out of the old; which supplements and extends the early principles of democracy to serve still further and more efficiently the needs and requirements of our country. Washington today is the shrine of American idealism. It stands for the fullest expression of all that is highest and best in the American genius. It aims as former president Coolidge said, "to express the soul of our past few years. Mr. Larkin is a former resident of Manassas."

STARS ARE WARY OF 'MIKE' IN NEW FILM

"Mike fright," the strange malady that descended upon Hollywood with the advent of talking pictures, took on greater proportions and new terrors for Elissa Landi and the other principals in Henry King's Fox production, "The Woman in Room 13," which opens at the Dixie Theatre next Wednesday.

In addition to care exercised before the regular "mikes" used to record the dialog, the players had also to be particularly conscious of the concealed microphones which play an important part in the dramatic plot.

The story deals with the desire of an ex-husband to get revenge on his former wife, now happily married to another man. To achieve his end, he cunningly plants dictaphones in the room of her supposed lover and then invites the new husband to be present to listen in on what he promises will be an interesting revelation.

In "The Woman in Room 13," Miss Landi is surrounded with a cast of capable screen celebrities, including Ralph Bellamy, Neil Hamilton, Myrna Loy and Gilbert Roland in the featured roles. The film was adapted by Guy Bolton from the well-known stage play of Samuel Shipman, Max Marcin and Percival Wilde.

DANCE PARTY

A delightful dance was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Robertson Saturday night, August 13.

COUNTY MANAGER RESIGNS

FIREMEN MARCH AT ALEXANDRIA

In last week's issue The Journal inadvertently stated that the team winning the four-man hook-up at Alexandria made second place. Needless to say that the mention of a silver-cup anticipated first place and the error was palpable.

Charlottesville was awarded the cup in the ladder contest in a tie, because one of the Manassas team slipped, and was penalized. Thus our boys almost grappled three cups instead of two.

Considerable credit is due Captain Bruce Hynson who trained the squad. With their natty new uniforms, the Manassas squad made one of the best showings in the Bi-centennial parade, and was given quite a hand.

It is really remarkable that a team from a town of the size of Manassas should make such a splendid showing in the face of such wide competition.

Tomorrow night the entire fire squad will be entertained at the hotel by the Kiwanis Club.

PRIMITIVE BAPTISTS MEET AT FRONT ROYAL

About seventeen ministers from various states will be present, and delegates will be entertained by the local church members.

GAS COMPANY TO PROTECT PATRONS

New Utility in Manassas Makes Interesting Statement.

Evidence of the unusual precautions which are necessary for the Gas Company to take in keeping its distribution lines free of foreign elements came to the attention of local gas users recently when the company took prompt action in eliminating air which had gotten into the distribution lines and had caused users some inconvenience for a few hours.

The inconvenience was occasioned by a situation brought about during repair work on a main line. When the repairs were completed, it developed that the line had not been completely purged of air and this condition affected the distribution system for a brief period.

Immediately upon learning of the situation, the Gas Company took steps to remedy it and soon had satisfactory, efficient service restored to local users. It was pointed out by Gas Company officials that, due to special precautions that are taken constantly to maintain a supply of pure gas, such inconvenience to users is very infrequent.

From the time gas is taken from the wells until it reaches the user, after traveling many miles through transmission and distribution lines, it is protected in many different ways against mixture with foreign elements which would in any degree affect its efficiency as a fuel. Gas Company representative explained. They emphasized that only at the point of combustion—where the gas flame actually is used in cooking, heating, etc.—can there be any mixture with air, and this mixture is taken care of properly by the mixing arrangement on the stove or other appliance being used.

STARS TEAMED WITH FAMOUS STUNT FLIERS

Dipping and side-slipping through the air in daring wing-to-wing formations and crashing their planes head on into the earth for the mere sake of thrills, Hollywood's intrepid stunt fliers may be seen in action at the Dixie Theatre next Monday and Tuesday when RKO Radio Pictures' "The Lost Squadron" opens with Richard Dix starred.

The film is a distinct novelty in that it is a spectacularly dramatic and intimate inside story of the perils and difficulties met with in screening epics of the air.

Besides the thrilling air sequences, in which a group of aviators deliberately set about wrecking their ships the picture tells a fascinating story of Hollywood.

The camera takes its audience into the mysterious confines of the sound stages, behind batteries of giant sun-lights and into the star's dressing rooms.

The story of "The Lost Squadron," which incidentally presents Dix with one of the most powerful roles of his active career, concerns the actions of a director who sends his stunt pilots into danger in faulty planes so that his camera may record the thrills of their falls.

Erich von Stroheim plays the role of the director. Supporting Dix in the film are Mary Astor, Joel McCrea, Dorothy Jordan, Robert Armstrong and Hugh Herbert.

The quartet of flying daredevils who make the air thrills so spectacular in the film are Dick Grace, novelist, ace of stunt fliers and author of the screen story; Art Goebel, and others.

NO FAIR IN FAIRFAX

REFORESTATION TO BE STUDIED

Governor Will Appoint Committee to Determine Facts.

Acting upon the Federal ruling that re-forestation is a self-liquidating project which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized to aid Governor Pollard has been holding conferences this week to determine the practicability of converting thousands of acres of waste timberland in Virginia into productive areas.

Until the Reconstruction Finance Corporation issues rules on what it would expect of a re-forestation corporation, the whole project remains indefinite but involves consideration of a plan whereby waste forest lands would be leased under a contract which would provide re-imbursement to the Finance Construction Corporation when the timber was sold and in the meantime, relief of taxation and employment of farmers on re-forestation work.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN BALTIMORE

Harry N. Merchant Buried in Manassas Monday. Was Much Beloved.

Mr. Harry N. Merchant, a former resident of Manassas, passed away, after a lingering illness, in a Baltimore sanatorium last Friday afternoon, Aug. 12. He was a son of the late Benjamin D. and Betty Fewell Merchant, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Richard L. Morris of Baltimore and two brothers, Benjamin M. of The Plains, Va., and Richard of Chester, Pa.

The remains were interred in the family burying ground here on Monday afternoon and attended by a large circle of friends and relatives from Chester, Pa., Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., Richmond, Va., Weldon, N. C., and Manassas.

For the past twenty years the deceased was connected with the Southern Railway Office in Baltimore. Harry was a popular young man of this community and his death comes as a great shock to his many friends.

ROAD WORK HERE IS EXPEDITED

Engineer Mahaffey Completes Organization.

On Saturday afternoon, Engineer Mahaffey, acting in charge for the new secondary road system, interviewed a large number of men, out of work, and many of whom had formerly been employed by the county.

Well over a hundred men registered. These men will be alternated with the regular force so that every one will be working about four weeks out of five. The basic wage will be $1.50, later increased to $2.00.

Shortly after July 1, Mr. Charles Vetter was assigned to the central construction district which takes in Brentsville and parts of other districts. Beginning this week, Mr. Mahaffey assigned J. M. Keys to the southern district, which comprises all of Occoquan and Dumfries and part of Coles district. He also placed C. F. Caton of Gainesville over the northern district which takes in all of Gainesville district and part of Manassas district.

There is nothing definite yet as to who will finally have charge of Prince William, Mr. Mahaffey's appointment being of a temporary nature in association with his work in Fauquier. Last spring, the appointment of this county and Fairfax was offered to F. Norvell Larkin, county manager of Fairfax. It is understood that this appointment has again been endorsed by the Fairfax Board of Supervisors, and awaits acceptance by Mr. Larkin.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear loved one, Harvey L. Cornwell, who departed this life one year ago today, August 15.

Twelve short months, how long they seem
Since our loved one went away.
Oh, how happy we would be
If he were here today!

Oh, how happy we were once
When we were all together!
Now what a sad old world this is
Since you have gone forever.

How sad today our troubled hearts,
How dimmed our eyes with tears
Thinking of the one that's gone,
We thought was here for years.

What a heart-breaking thing death is.
It leaves us here in pain.
What a joyful meeting in heaven it will be

When we all meet together again.

We will surely meet again.
God's promises are true.
Dearest, you cannot come to us,
But we can go to you.

—Mother, Little Son,
Sister and Brothers.

CATHARPIN

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie and Mrs. Mary Pattie Briggs dined at the festive board of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Caldwell of Six Acres on Friday of last week.

Late corn is being very seriously injured by the present dry spell, many streams have ceased to flow and wells are being called into service to supply stock needs.

Mrs. Fannie Forsythe of Cairo, Ga., visited her sister, Mrs. Jennie McIntosh several days last week.

On Sunday last the Cather sisters held a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wheeler of Wellington, Va., at which the four sisters, Mrs. J. D. Wheeler and Mrs. Cordelia Swart of Sudley and Mrs. Sue C. Swart and Miss Nan Cather of Washington were the interested guests. After enjoying the services at Sudley in the morning they assembled around the groaning table laden with good things prepared by sister May and all enjoyed the occasion as only four sisters can.

Mr. Roy Sowers of Stone House has returned home from the hospital after an operation for appendicitis and is in excellent condition. His recovery was remarkable; being absent from home but 8 days, his return surprised his friends who were just beginning to realize that he was away.

The fourth and last quarterly meeting of the year will be held at Sudley on Saturday, August 27, at 10:30 a.m. to which all members are invited. The presiding elder, Dr. Balthis, will preach at usual Sunday morning services on the 28th. It is hoped that all members can be present upon both occasions and be prepared to meet the obligations of the church at this closing season.

Mr. Meredith Polen of Washington spent the week end among friends in the Catharpin neighborhood last week.

Miss M. Elma Latham of Charlotte, N. C., is spending a three weeks' vacation among friends and relatives in the old home neighborhood, at the present time being a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson of Lawn Vale.

Mr. H. J. Schaeffer and wife visited the latter's mother in Maryland on Sunday last. He reports the drought as being much worse in that locality than here.

The Catharpin school building has just been treated to a new coat of paint which adds very much to the appearance of both the building and the "village." Lester Anderson, the contractor, did a good job of it.

ROMANCE OF RUSSIA
AT DIXIE NEXT FRIDAY

A swarthy, hot-blooded revolutionist—and a beautiful woman of the world. Swept together in a tempestuous romance, while civilization crumbles about them.

He a reckless, dominating leader of men, glorying in conflict, scorning danger.

She a girl of warm, ravishing beauty—frail of flesh, yet courageous, proud, appealing.

Both of them constantly menaced by the red typhoon of revolution—yet loving deeply, fiercely, bravely!

"The World and the Flesh" is romance in a world gone mad. A mighty love story of the carnage days of 1917 when Russia's servants became the masters, drunk with power!

Here is a tense, vigorous background, that is perfect for George Bancroft's dynamic personality and Miriam Hopkins' pulse-quickenning beauty. It adds color and excitement to a story that is packed from the start!

"The World and the Flesh" is excitingly sensational material. The type of authentic adventure-romance that made "Shanghai Express" the record-smasher that it is. The type of story that audiences go for in a big way from New York's Broadway to Main Street's midway!

GEORGE BANCROFT—personifies power. His mighty body, and his forceful, vigorous personality hold a strong fascination for the theatre-going public. Never has he had a more effective background than the colorful chaos of the Russian revolution.

MIRIAM HOPKINS—stepping toward stardom in one splendid characterization after another. "The Smiling Lieutenant," "24 Hours," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Dancers in the Dark," and "The World and the Flesh." A brilliant young actress, with feminine charm in every curve—who can also act.

WOODLAWN

The ladies of the M. E. church are giving a lawn festival and picnic social on the evening of August 25 on the church grounds.

SUN'S ECLIPSE

Science is preparing for the year's greatest show, the sun's eclipse, and astronomers are flocking to Eastern Canada to be on hand August 31 when the totally obscured orb provides one of their rarest opportunities for solar study. The story of this year's eclipse, its path and progress in time, and the plans of scientists is told in the magazine of The Washington Sunday Star next Sunday, August 21.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a precious heritage to them in after years.

PERFECT SAFETY:—Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed: for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee: yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness.—Isa. 41:10.

HOOVER AND PROHIBITION

In his acceptance speech last week President Hoover came out flat-footed for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. He studiously avoided the verbiage of the Democratic plank but he advocated return of control of the liquor traffic to the States.

The announcement came as a great surprise and shock to the more militant of the prohibitionists, who have conscientiously felt that their cause would suffer by repeal. To that increasing group of "dry" advocates who favor repeal, his announcement was no less of a surprise. In the first place it was a novel experience to see President Hoover take any kind of a positive stand, for the only thing that he has consistently proclaimed for the past two years was that the depression had ended.

The President stands before the American people as the champion straddler of his age. It was thought that the Republican platform recently adopted at Chicago was the crowning achievement in that ungraceful gesture we style straddling, but here comes a sidewise phenomenon which reaches right over into the center of the Democratic platform.

No candidate in the history of American politics has ever been able to maintain his equilibrium with his feet so far apart. Disaster is bound to follow such acrobatics. He leaves his followers in a quandary. Why vote the Republican ticket? On prohibition Hoover himself has admitted the Democratic viewpoint offers the only solution. The other outstanding issues are the economic ones and the American people have had about all the Republican "prosperity" they can stand.

So while his friends will continue to consider Hoover's acceptance speech as a very astute pronouncement, an ever-increasing number of voters in both parties will reach the conclusion that he has overplayed his hand and given Democracy a tremendous advantage in the coming Presidential campaign.

Poultry Facts

Stale, inferior eggs probably kill the demand for eggs far more than do prices.

Overheated incubators represent a real fire hazard. Lamps should be carefully inspected and watched.

If your poultry flock has experienced an outbreak of fowl pox within the past year, vaccinate all chickens between the ages of three and one half and four months.

Poultry production and poultry population has decreased, according to the federal authorities.

Questionnaires sent to Iowa farmers from Iowa State college reveal that 82 per cent gather eggs only once a day, and 72 per cent market eggs only once a week.

It is a safe rule to allow one square foot of floor space for every three chicks. For best results not more than 350 chicks should be brooded together in one pen or brooder house.

HAYMARKET

Rev. W. F. Carpenter spent the week end in Washington and Alexandria, preaching at St. Paul's church,
Alexandria, on Sunday morning.

Miss Elizabeth Boxley of Richmond, spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Wade C. Payne.

Mrs. Cordelia Bragg of Strasburg and Mrs. Mollie Garnett of Washington are visiting their sister, Mrs. J.
E. Jordan.

Judge Henry T. Tyler and Mrs. Tyler, with their daughter and son, Miss Eleanor Tyler and Mr. George Grayson Tyler of Belair, Ohio, are here for a visit to their relatives at "Highland."

At a meeting of St. Paul's Church
Guild held last week, plans and arrangements for an exhibit of antiques to be held early in September were discussed, and decided upon.

Traffic through Haymarket is noticeably on the increase, as many motorists take advantage of the good road from Gainesville through Thoroughfare Gap, as a shorter route to Fauquier and on to the Valley. It was through this gap that Johnson and Jackson marched with their troops on July 19, 1861, for the First Battle of Bull Run, and Longstreet with his troops was sent by Lee through the gap, August, 1862, for the Second Battle of Bull Run. So says a marker on the Lee Highway at Gainesville.

SHORT COURSE GREATLY ENJOYED

4-H County Secretary Gives Interesting Report.

We started early Monday morning, July 18, for Blacksburg to the 14th annual short course and arrived there to help make a larger crowd and enjoy a week of instruction and enjoyment. There were 800 boys and girls at the short course this year.

Upon our arrival we found that the able leaders, state officials, Extension workers and all stars had provided for our comfort and good time, as usual.

Because we were tired from our long journey, we went at once to our rooms and to bed. Well rested and in somewhat better spirits we got up the next morning at 6:30 to start on our journey for the week. The program each day consisted of breakfast, classes, demonstrations, dinner, rest, assembly, rest, supper, vespers, play hour and night program. Whew! Don't you think we had a full day?

Our classes for the girls were most interesting and we had some very able speakers who told us many facts and truths of life. The general subject for the week was "Being Alive." The following lectures were given: "Being Alive to People," "Being Alive to Life's Laws," "Being Alive to Your Community," "Being Alive to Poetry," "Seeing a Picture with Open Eyes" (or Being Alive to Art), "The Greatest Profession" (which is home making) and "Seeing Ourselves as Men See Us."

The lecturers were able and far-seeing Virginians and thus were able to help, by pointing out important fields of activity, us younger boys and girls. The lecturers for the week were Dr. McLedge Moffett, dean of women, East Radford; Dr. Rolvix Harlan of the University of Virginia, Miss Adele Clark, Virginia Artist and President of Virginia Legion of Women Voters, Mrs. Geo. T. Winn, a Virginia homemaker, and Miss Lula Andrews, Virginia poet.

When the girls were through the classes they went to the demonstrations which were interesting and helpful.

While the girls were in these classes the boys had classes in all phases of farm and dairy work, live stock, poultry and plant life.

After classes, dinner and rest hour, we went to the Lyric theater for assembly. The first afternoon we received our welcome to V. P. I. from Dr. Julian A. Burruss, president of V. P. I., and the Division Extension workers.

The other afternoons were taken up by state dress reviews, correct dress revue, health contest and business meetings.

After supper vespers services were conducted on the lawn. The subject for the week was "Building My World." The boys and girls and visiting ministers helped to make the programs interesting and inspirational.

After vespers, games were played on the drill field, directed by able leaders, chosen from the recreational group. The games lasted until dark. We then went to the War Memorial building for the night programs.

The programs of the week consisted of plays, music, stunts, movies and a Bi-centennial pageant staged by various groups and counties.

On Friday night the all-star consecration service took place and forty-three new all-stars were taken into this high order.

After this we had the camp fire and candle-lighting service which brought a most successful short course to a close.

Prince William Wins Honors.
The group from Prince William were Elizabeth Allen, Mahala Sines and Geraldine Shepherd of Nokesville Club, Wilda Bourne, Doris Bubb and Eddie Russell of Occoquan Club, Mrs. W. R. Free, Nokesville, leader, and Mr. Eastman Keys, Dumfries, bus driver.

Prince William has to have a few Raahs, Raahs for her good 4-H club work.

Elizabeth Allen and Mahala Sines of Nokesville who represented the county in the demonstrations won first in the health demonstrations and second in the state. Just see! Now with some more of your help maybe we can win first next year. Come on, give us a hand and we will try. Elizabeth Allen represented the county in the health contest and won the honor of having the best teeth.

Doris Bubb of Occoquan Club represented the county in the state style revue and although she did not win she deserves much credit.

Wilda Bourne of Occoquan Club won first in the party dress class of the correct dress display and also—three cheers for Wilda! She was taken into the all-star chapter—and how did she get there? you asked.—By her hard work and good leadership and through her loyalty and service to her home and community.

Eddie Russell, our only Prince William boy at V. P. I., seemed to be rather popular with the girls. And does he have a wicked wink? ! ! Ouch! !

All the rest of us enjoyed ourselves a lot and hope that by another year we can make old Prince William more proud of us.

Reporter.

IF IT HINT
A KELVINATOR
—IT ISN'T FULLY AUTOMATIC

THAT'S literally true—a Kelvinator never forgets.

Fully automatic operation is an exclusive Kelvinator principle—one of many reasons why you will prefer Kelvinator to all other electric refrigerators.

You just put things in their proper places in the Kelvinator and that's all you have to think about.

Perishable foods—milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, etc.—you put in the big food compartment, where the temperature is always below 50°, never below freezing.

Quick frozen foods, game, fish, meats, extra ice cubes—you put in the Frost Chest. There they will keep indefinitely, because the temperature is always below freezing. For making a big supply of ice cubes, use the generous freezing trays.

World's Record Fast Freezing

And for freezing desserts or ice cubes in a hurry, use the Iso-Thermic Tube compartment, which provides World's Record Fast Freezing, nearly two hours faster than ordinary freezing speed.

Come in and let us explain why you'll get better results—more efficiency and economy—from the fully automatic Kelvinator. It has many valuable and exclusive features—in a wide range of types and sizes—at the lowest prices in Kelvinator history, on long ReDisCo terms.

FAMOUS WAR PROCESS SOLVES MODERN AUTO- MOBILE PROBLEM

Hydrogenation, the famous process which nearly won the war for Germany, has finally furnished the answer to the lubrication problem of the modern high compression motor after twenty years of unending research.

In the last ten years the automobile has increased 22 per cent in speed and 50 per cent in power. High-test fuels have been developed to meet the demands of the high compression motor. Yet, surprising though it may seem, the petroleum industry has never been able to make an oil which would really stand up to the job of lubricating the modern automobile power plant. Through hydrogenation, which won for its German discoverers, Doctors Bosch and Bergius, the 1931 Nobel Prize for Chemistry, really satisfactory motor lubrication for the car of today is available for the first time.

The ideal motor oil, it is generally agreed, should have five characteristics. Paraffine-base oils are said to satisfy three—they retain their consistency at extreme temperatures, they do not form sludge, and do not use up rapidly. Oils refined from so-called naphthenic crudes pass the other two requirements—low carbon content and winter fluidity. Until the advent of hydrogenation, however, no refining process or method of blending ever discovered was able to produce a motor oil which would check on all five points.

Today the same process which helped Germany to send off the world by enabling her to manufacture explosives out of nitrogen from the air when her supply from the outside was shut off, has accomplished what the oil industry was never able to achieve before. Scientists of the Standard Oil Development Company, which perfected the process in this country, explains that molecules of the oil are literally torn apart in the hydrogenation towers under terrific pressure and blistering heat and reformed according to the exact desired specifications. The oil is really "tailor-made"; therefore, to operate the high compression engine of today, it goes under the brand name of ESSOLUBE and is distributed in this state through the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Everything else being equal, "Standard" engineers say, the discovery of perfect lubrication for the modern automobile should introduce a new era in trouble-free motoring.

JUST BEFORE DAWN

"More fortunes are lost," said the old gentleman who had been through many depressions, "by the middle parts of hard times, relaxing vigilance 10 minutes before dawn than in any other way."

This may not be strictly true, but certainly many people lost out in this way. They keep their courage through the early and the middle parts of hard times, whether general or individual, and then, at the very end, when by holding out a little longer and final success come to the fellow who, when his vigor ebbs and his courage flows out of him, and his only desire is to drop everything and cease effort, takes one more good grip and decides not to let go until he has to.—Exchange.

An Important Announcement by the STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is proud to announce the introduction of a new motor oil—Essolube. ★ This oil has been named Essolube because all tests prove it to be superior to any oil ever before produced, making it a fit companion in quality to Esso—"more powerful than any gasoline." ★ Essolube has been made commercially possible by hydrofining, Standard Oil's perfected method of producing motor oil by means of the famous hydrogenation process—which won the Nobel Prize for its creators. ★ Because Essolube is so superior to all other motor oils on the market, this company has decided to replace the widely known "Standard" Motor Oil with this new product. ★ We are also pleased to announce that Essolube will be sold at no extra cost to the motorist. ★ Essolube is now available at all stations and dealers of the following companies:
