

"GOLDEN GLOW" CONVENTION

W.C.T.U. Holds Enthusiastic Meeting at Alexandria.

The fiftieth annual state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Methodist church south, Alexandria, Va., Sept. 26-29. It was known as the "Golden Glow" convention.

213 delegates and officers were present, and the large auditorium was filled each day with interested members and visitors.

The convention was welcomed on behalf of the city by Hon. E. F. Ticer, mayor, the county by Mr. Roy Braden, manager, the churches by Rev. E. V. Register, and the W.C.T.U. by Mrs. Amy C. Weech.

These were responded to by Mrs. Clarence Hawkins and Mrs. B. T. Taylor. The different choirs of the city rendered the music each evening.

The state president, Mrs. Hoge, gave her address to a house filled to capacity. There was no note of discouragement. It was realized that this is a crucial time—a time for careful, thorough earnest prayer for guidance and much work, but no time for doubt nor retrenchment!

The slogan is "Observance and Enforcement, Not Repeal." The battle may be long, but right will prevail.

Mrs. Hoge spoke of the great concern the wets had for the farmers claiming to want to help his market for grain. A senatorial hearing in Washington brought out the brewer's statement that the actual amount of grain used in brewing represents less than three-fourths of one per cent of all the grain produced in the United States. In the manufacture and consumption of whiskey Mrs. Hoge gave the information that "the farmer got 25 cents, the U. S. Government got $4.40, the railroads got $1.60, the manufacturer got $4.00, the drayman got 15 cents, the retailer got $7.00, the consumer got drunk, his wife got hungry, his children got rags!"

Opponents of Prohibition, the speaker said, are proclaiming that the deaths from alcoholism are four times greater than in 1920, but the federal census reports show the alcohol death rate to be only one-half what it was before Prohibition. In December a roll call containing signatures of more than 1,000,000 names of young people between fourteen and thirty years of age was carried to the White House which the President of the United States accepted with assurances of aid, and expressed gratification at the educational work done in this line. Many other important facts were brought out. Mrs. Hoge said in concluding, "God grant the flag of our beloved country may never again fly over any place used for the sale of alcoholic liquor, and that our nation could not be called a Christian nation if Prohibition was not upheld."

One of the distinguished guests present at this convention was Dr. Izora Scott, director legislation national W.C.T.U. Her subject was "Present Status of Legislation in Congress." She said the numerous bills coming before Congress for repeal were many times duplicated and that the actual number of original bills were small in comparison.

A large number of ministers were present, and gave messages of hope and encouragement. They emphasized the importance of early training in the home, and told of the influence for temperance of a godly mother in their own lives. Rev. E. W. Aaron refuted the statement that there was more drinking among students, and said when he was chaplain at Blacksburg, out of a student body of 1500 only seven were sent home on account of drinking. Rev. E. J. Richardson, Virginia Superintendent Anti-Saloon League, was also present and set straight much of the wet propaganda we hear so much of.

Tuesday evening was given over to the diamond medal contest and the light line demonstration. Four girls and one boy, all under 20 years of age, were the contestants. They were from Arlington, Loudoun and Southampton counties. The boy, John Darden, 17 years old, was the proud winner of the diamond medal. His subject was "The Constitution." He reminded his hearers that everyone from the President to the lowest officer is required to take oath to preserve the Constitution of the United States. The light line was composed of the presidents of the local unions, dressed in white and carrying a torch representing the sending of the light to all the world.

Time was given for a beautiful memorial service for our translated members, who have gone from works

REVIVAL SERVICES BEGIN

A series of meetings will begin at the Baptist church on next Sunday morning to continue through the fourth Sunday in this month. The pastor extends a hearty welcome to all. All are invited. Come and work with us. Gosper preaching and gospel singing. Come and help.

VISITORS AT STATE FAIR

Prince William visitors at State Fair: County Agent Frank Cox, H. W. Herring, J. Carl Kincheloe, E. W. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hale, Mrs. M. H. Kincheloe and Miss Minnie Conner.

To reward. Many loving tributes were paid to them. Hymn, "The Eternal God Is Thy Refuge and Underneath Are the Everlasting Arms," was sung at this service.

The noon-tide devotional service, the quiet hour, each day lifts us out of the sordid into the spiritual realm. We felt that God was indeed keeping watch over His own.

Wednesday evening was in charge of the young people and there were not enough seats to accommodate the audience who came out to enjoy their splendid program of music, readings and plays. It is cause for rejoicing to see so many interested young people and the great increase in membership, both in the adult and young people's divisions. 1200 women members have been added this year.

Thursday afternoon a sight-seeing trip to Mt. Vernon had been arranged for the delegates and a vast crowd availed themselves of this opportunity to visit the shrine of the Father of our Country.

At night the banquet was held at the George Mason Hotel. Several hundred filled the beautiful dining room and enjoyed the after-dinner speeches. A fine program was carried out. Mr. Hoge's address, "From a Man's Viewpoint," was full of wit and humor. He was followed by Mrs. Amy Weech, subject "The Entering Wedge" and then Mrs. Howland, "We Remember." Thank offering and pledges for state work were given, life patrons received, and honor pennants presented, and adjournment of the fiftieth convention of the state W.C.T.U. to meet in Richmond in 1933.

Delegates from our Manassas union were Mrs. Embrey, Mrs. Round, Miss Kincheloe and Mrs. Gorrell.

KIWANIS MEET AT HIGH SCHOOL

The Kiwanis Club managed to hold most of its members together after the Festival last Friday. This date was also their annual visitation to the high school.

Staid citizens like Dan Chichester, former delegate, of Falmouth, and Lawrence Roland, district manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, were slightly startled at the hilarity of the boys.

Ray Ratcliffe swore they were all drunk, and Sigman clinched the idea when he got up and preached a sermon on the Old Lady Who Lived in a Shoe. The rest tried to remember their nursery rhymes but it was so many years ago that they stumbled badly.

The dinner was served by six of the girls under the direction of Miss Draper, head of the economics department.

Brilliant Social Gathering at the Old Thornton Home.

The dinner given by Mrs. J. B. T. Thornton and her nieces, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs, Mrs. J. J. Davies, Mrs. H. T. Davies and Mrs. J. Jenkyn Davies, to Regina II, Queen of the Dairy Festival and her court, was the most elaborate social function of the event.

The large rooms of the Thornton home were exquisitely adorned with massed ferns and huge vases of cut flowers. The table, spread with a rare lace cover, was ornamented with a gorgeous centerpiece of cut flowers in a silver bowl. Silver candlesticks nestled in the green and holding green candles, completed the artistic table decoration.

The same decorative scheme was carried out on the buffet, mantel and side tables, producing a glittering and pleasing effect.

Mrs. Thornton, in black silk, received her guests in the reception hall.

Pageant and Parade Better Than Last Year.

When the sun dipped at the end of a perfect day last Friday, thousands of delighted spectators still in town and others speeding homeward voted aloud and in their minds that Piedmont Virginia had really entered into a new era.

The steps of those who had planned and put across last year's celebration were retraced with multiple success, and at the last the weather came as pleasant as possible.

It is not necessary to state over the large numbers of "units" which appeared in last week's paper. They were all there, with bands, pretty girls and dazzling colors. Cadets, militia, school children, everyone vied for their limit to make the parade something to remember.

The parade itself consumed about an hour and a half to pass any given point. The last unit did not pass into Annaburg until shortly before 5. Prize winners are announced herewith:

The Warrenton Fire Department was awarded the trophy in the fire company division. This division was scored on the basis of best equipment and company showing. The comical floats which some of the companies entered were not considered in the judging. Second place in this division went to Herndon, and Manassas was awarded third. Herndon received second place largely on the fact that they had two engines in the parade.

In the school division, the cup was won by Washington and Lee High School of Ballston, Va. Manassas High School was awarded second place and Hume of Fauquier county was adjudged third place winner.

The participants in this division were judged on distance traveled, percentage of school enrollment present, and general appearance and conduct in the parade. Washington and Lee had one hundred and twenty-seven in the parade, including a band, and girl and boy cadet units. They also received a perfect score on general appearance and conduct. Manassas was a close second to the Ballston school. Hume school made a very good showing chiefly on the fact that twenty of the twenty-two scholars in the school marched in the parade. Honorable mention should go in this division to Haymarket, who made a very good showing and would have stood higher if they had had a better percentage attendance.

Award for the best artistic or non-commercial float was awarded to Culpeper county, which had a most attractive float drawn by four horses and very elaborately decorated. The Fairfax Chamber of Commerce received the consolation place in this division and the Manassas Kiwanis float was given third place.

In the commercial float division, the Farmers Creamery float from Fredericksburg was given the silver loving cup. Their float was generally considered to be the most beautiful float in the entire parade. Manassas Ice and Fuel Company was second and the Fussell-Young Ice Cream Company of Washington was third.

Special mention must also be made of the Linton Hall school participation, which, though not entered in any particular division of the parade, made a very nice showing.

The judges for the parade were Andrew S. Bell, secretary of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce; R. J. Posson, secretary of the Washington Dairy Council, and Roy A. Blunt, Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Augusta Lynn Webb of Washington was a week-end visitor at Lynnhaven recently.

Dry as it is some of our progressive farmers are seeding their wheat; the passing of the drill across fields leaves a cloud of dust almost equal to a Ford car on the road. "Sow in dust reap you must" is an old slogan. We'll see how it turns out.

Many people from this neighborhood attended the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival in Manassas last Friday and were amazed and delighted with what they saw and heard. It is needless to try to describe it since so many saw it themselves and therefore know better than we can tell; yet to pass it up without a word of commendation would be traitorous to the cause. The pageant was beautiful, so much so that one is lost in his own reverie when he tries to comprehend it all. One question seemed uppermost in the minds of many when they asked: Who did this? Who planned it all out? Who arranged all the details? Whose was the master mind? Who did all that work and made things so beautiful for us to behold? Surely the "Master of his art" was present in all departments. If it were possible that great crowd of people would like to stand and render plaudits and gaze in the faces of those who were responsible for its management and arrangement for the making of the costumes and equipment; for the training of the participants and for the performers themselves. Certainly nothing was missing or neglected and it would be a pleasure to know the personnel who so successfully planned and carried it out. As for the parade all we can say is that it was beautiful; floats excellent, representative and instructive. What more could be said? May we repeat again our observation of last week that the people of Prince William county have great reason to be proud that we have within our borders men and women capable and willing to put on and successfully carry thru events of such vast importance as was witnessed last week. We honor them.

The publication of the official minutes of the Board of Supervisors in last week's issue of The Journal was a matter of much interest to many taxpayers, it being the first itemized account to appear for some time. It seems to take a lot of news paper space to publish yet it is public information that the public is interested in and entitled to. Many are the complainants of the taxpayer wondering where all the money goes and this seems a good way to tell him. Several times during the past 20 years charges have been made and sustained in regard to irregularities in the payment of funds to unworthy recipients, and just lately rumors are circulating, resignations offered and seeming unrest among certain officials which tend to create dissatisfaction among the people and a desire to know that if irregularities have been committed how a resignation can cover it all up; "Is it not a matter for the court to settle" is the observation many times heard from interested taxpayers. Last week's publication was full and complete; giving each creditor's name, the amount received and for what. Had this been the practice heretofore names could hardly have passed thru without someone discovering the error.

Mr. and Mrs. Brook lose touch. The former soon to bear Brook's child is nurse for Charles Boyer, noted French surgeon. She learns at a field hospital that Brook is dead and swoons, yet recovers and goes on. Boyer admires her courage and takes charge of her case when her child is born. His admiration blossoms into love, but Claudette, still hoping that Brook lives, declines his offer of marriage. Later she accompanies him to Switzerland and at the hotel they register as man and wife.

Brook had fallen, crossing no-man's land, and half suffocated by gas, was taken prisoner by the enemy. Later, with Andy Devine, an amusing and devoted American doughboy, he escapes from a prison camp.

At the resort Brook sees Claudette and learns from the hotel that she is married. Unwilling to disturb her happiness he prepares to leave, but Claudette hears of his presence in the village and seeks him out. Touched by his condition and still remembering her old love for him, she tells Boyer she must leave him and return to her husband.

Brook and Claudette arrive in Paris, but in a few days Brook realizes Claudette's gallant pretense. With a sinking heart he finally hears Claudette admit her love for Boyer. He is the man from yesterday—one returned from the dead. Only by his return to death can the tangled threads of love be severed and happiness be restored to the woman who once loved him—the woman he still loves devotedly.

Deliberately Brook leaves Claudette and his little son. He plans one last fling at life. By one last grand gesture, the man from yesterday, who loved a woman better than life, clears the way for the honest, though tragic love of Claudette for Boyer.

NO SOFT SOAP

Laundry soap and paraffine have been talking back to George Bancroft. The star found this out while working on the set in "Lady and Gent," his newest Paramount picture, coming to the Dixie Theatre on Monday next. Technicians explained it to him. After a scene is completed, the voices are checked by means of recording disc, somewhat like a phonograph record, and known as a "play back." The disc is made mostly of laundry soap and paraffine.

In reply to the "explanatory note" it is the desire of many large taxpayers in the Catharpin neighborhood that the minutes of the Board of Supervisors be published in full each month.

F. H. SANDERS

Mr. F. H. Sanders, a life-long resident of Catharpin, died Tuesday evening at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Jack Alvey of Catharpin. Mr. Sanders was 77 years old and born on the old Sanders farm near the place where he died. He has been postmaster at Catharpin 52 years and the second oldest postmaster in the state.

He has two brothers and one sister, Mrs. Dr. Brower of Catharpin, Mr. Walter Sanders and Mr. Bob Sanders, two daughters, Mrs. Jack Alvey of Catharpin and Mrs. Everett Clary of Lawrenceville, Va., and four grandchildren.

Mr. Sanders was a merchant of Catharpin for 50 years. He had a wonderful personality and disposition and was beloved by everyone who knew him. He will be buried today at 2 p.m. at Sudley.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT AT DIXIE NEXT WEDNESDAY

It's a gay night in wartime Paris. Word has spread throughout the city that the "big push" is on. Every man must report back to his regiment in the morning.

Claudette Colbert, a nurse, and Captain Clive Brook are deeply in love. On this last night, they want each other desperately for the few remaining hours before dawn. So, to the accompaniment of wild revelry and the crash of bombs, they get married, loving desperately, completely—and then heartbroken, separate.

The clash of arms moves on. Claudette and Brook lose touch. The former soon to bear Brook's child is nurse for Charles Boyer, noted French surgeon. She learns at a field hospital that Brook is dead and swoons, yet recovers and goes on. Boyer admires her courage and takes charge of her case when her child is born. His admiration blossoms into love, but Claudette, still hoping that Brook lives, declines his offer of marriage. Later she accompanies him to Switzerland and at the hotel they register as man and wife.

Brook had fallen, crossing no-man's land, and half suffocated by gas, was taken prisoner by the enemy. Later, with Andy Devine, an amusing and devoted American doughboy, he escapes from a prison camp.

At the resort Brook sees Claudette and learns from the hotel that she is married. Unwilling to disturb her happiness he prepares to leave, but Claudette hears of his presence in the village and seeks him out. Touched by his condition and still remembering her old love for him, she tells Boyer she must leave him and return to her husband.

Brook and Claudette arrive in Paris, but in a few days Brook realizes Claudette's gallant pretense. With a sinking heart he finally hears Claudette admit her love for Boyer. He is the man from yesterday—one returned from the dead. Only by his return to death can the tangled threads of love be severed and happiness be restored to the woman who once loved him—the woman he still loves devotedly.

Deliberately Brook leaves Claudette and his little son. He plans one last fling at life. By one last grand gesture, the man from yesterday, who loved a woman better than life, clears the way for the honest, though tragic love of Claudette for Boyer.

MIRTH, MELODY, ACTION, MAKE COMEDY A HIT

If variety is the spice of life, RKO-Radio Pictures' all-star rollicking comedy "Girl Crazy" which comes to the Dixie theatre next Friday, Oct. 14, is a snappily seasoned entertainment dish. It offers mirth and melody, romance and action, beauty and atmosphere.

In the cast are comedy stars, a child prodigy, Broadway beauties, Hollywood cowboys, Mexican senoritas, two gun men, and polished villains. The action shifts from city tenement, to western dude ranch and Mexican resort and ranges from rip-roaring chases to rhythmic dances and tender love scenes.

Heading the imposing array of talent are the inimitable Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, who start the film as city slickers and wind up as rough and ready westerners. Eddie Quillan carries the romantic lead of a girl crazy youth who transforms a respectable cattle ranch into a whoopee dude resort. Mitzel Green, Hollywood's child mimic wonder, plays a pestiferous little sister and the romance and beauty brigade is headed by Dorothy Lee, Arline Judge, Kitty Kelly and Lita Chevret. Stanley Fields and Chris Pin Martin play the shoot and run villains.

The story deals with a girl crazy youth who is sent to the quiet of a western ranch to cure him of his weakness for beautiful women. He imports a snappy jazz band, a bevy of Broadway beauties, dresses the cowpunchers in dinner jackets, and turns the ranch into a playboy's paradise.

Melodies which are liberally sprinkled through the fast and furious action and laughs are original compositions by George Gershwin, modern music's master hit creator.

William Seiter directed the film, which is based upon the Broadway stage success.

JUST A WORD OF CREDIT

So much has been said about the great beauty of last Friday's pageant that The Journal feels that due credit for this unusual display should be placed where it belongs.

The inspiration was none other than our rural supervisor, Miss Beatrix Clark, who seems peculiarly gifted in this direction. The Journal remembers with pleasure how excellently she came to the aid of the Bicentennial and put over a pageant written and prepared for in two weeks, using the pupils of half the schools in the county.

Miss Clark wrote and directed the pageant last year and Mrs. Arrington, then Miss Kitty Smith, was also the narrator. The latter possesses a clear, well-modulated voice, and her announcement last Friday was so good that the broadcast was almost unnecessary.

Another bit of credit is due the Fredericksburg College girls who filled in the gap while the broadcast experts were tinkering with their equipment. These girls put some real college pep into things, and the Marine Band entered thoroughly into the spirit of the occasion.

We could go on and on giving due credit, such as Ernest Trusler for getting the military bands, co-operation from the local automobile companies, etc. All Manassas and a large slice of Piedmont Virginia took a hand in matters and that is why it went over big.

A BIG CHECK

On another page we are publishing an interesting picture showing the payment of the largest single tax item collected by Virginia during the year, an amount in excess of a million dollars.

This huge contribution to our tax budget comes from the Norfolk and Western Railroad, and serves as a vigorous reminder that the railroads do a great deal for our Commonwealth and ought to have due consideration in the regulation of public carriers.

A STATESMAN OF THE OLD SOUTH GOES

Without fear of contradiction or of giving offense, it may be said that John Sharp Williams, whose death occurred this week at his plantation in Mississippi, was the last genuine statesman of the Old South. His peaceful passing—the end he had had most desired and had deliberately planned when he retired from public life—was in striking contrast to a career whose activities covered the years which stretched from the period immediately following the War Between the States through those which came after the World War. For twenty-eight years he served in the Congress of the United States—sixteen in the House of Representatives and twelve in the Senate.

His political career was signalized by intense adherence to the things he advocated and believed right, and a disposition to fight for them to the last ditch, but in spite of his partisanship he was a most kindly, fair and courteous opponent, warmly loved alike by members of both political parties. During the days of the World War he held a commanding position. An ardent admirer of President Wilson, he was an outstanding leader in the long and bitter controversy over the Treaty of Versailles. He was an active opponent of the Berlin Treaty negotiated by the Harding administration and also the Knox-Porter peace resolution by which Congress formally declared the state of war between the United States and Germany at an end.

Although he specialized in political issues of national moment, Mr. Williams was exceptionally finely equipped both naturally and from an educational standpoint. Carefully tutored in private schools, he attended the Kentucky Military Institute and the University of Heidelberg. He graduated in law at the University of Virginia and is yet remembered as one of the most brilliant students that this institution has turned out.

Although his father was killed in the War Between the States, John Sharp Williams abhorred sectionalism and embraced every opportunity to denounce it. His plea was for a united America. The South has produced few more brilliant and useful citizens and none who gave so much of their careers more generously and freely.—Charlottesville Progress.

SAVING THE PENNIES

These are the days when you ought to be considering the pennies. Take the candy trade, for instance. Grown-ups have retrenched on expensive sweets, but the children still spend their pennies. The commerce department points out that the sale of penny candies in this country last year amounted to 195,000,000 pounds, at a price exceeding $26,000,000. Though dollars are still tight, more pennies are in circulation than ever before. Consequently the kiddies have more of them to spend, and business is doing its level best to separate them from these pennies.

It's a wise man who clings to the old maxim that if you save the pennies the dollars will save themselves, and one of the best ways to profit by that wisdom is to welcome, instead of spurning, every one of the little copper discs that come your way.—Exchange.

MR. COOLIDGE'S ALARM

Ex-President Coolidge, looking backward, now declares that in the winter of 1928-29 it was "apparent" that speculation was reaching dangerous heights. He states: "I was alarmed at it." If so, he kept the alarm very much to himself. One of the danger signals at the time was the dizzy increase in brokers' loans, January 4, 1928, it was announced that they had reached a total of $4,432,970,321. The following day there was a "violent break in prices" on the Stock Exchange which was "attributed to the large volume of loans." But January 6, 1928, the Associated Press dispatches from Washington reported: "President Coolidge is of the opinion that the record-breaking increase in brokers' loans is not large enough to cause unfavorable comment." So the alarm was private and personal not official.—New York Times.

Unusual Dishes Help to Cut Food Budget for the Family

J. S. GIBSON, Director, Heinz Food Institute

OBTAINING variety in luncheon and supper dishes is often a real problem. It is much easier to serve chops or steak than it is to plan menus including more unusual dishes. The out-of-the-ordinary dish for luncheon or supper is likely to be less expensive and is certain to be greeted enthusiastically by a hungry family but it sometimes is difficult to plan. The following practical, savory dishes will be real treats. They also will help cut the food budget and will bring new flavor and new interest to your meals.

Indian Corn—Cook 2 medium onion, chopped fine, and 1/2 green pepper, chopped fine, in frying pan with 2 tablespoons butter for five minutes. Add 1 pound ground beef, and allow to brown well, stirring frequently. Add 1 No. 2 can whole kernel corn (2 cups), 1 medium can Cream of Tomato Soup (2 cups), 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. Simmer for about twenty minutes, stir in 2 tablespoons flour blended with 2 tablespoons cold water, cook for a few minutes and serve. Toast points or triangles are an attractive garnish.

Hot Devilled Eggs—Put together in a pan and heat, 3 level tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 teaspoons Prepared Mustard, 3 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup, 1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce, dash of pepper or paprika and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Bring to the boiling point and add 6 hard cooked eggs cut in slices. Heat, and serve on hot, buttered toast.

Spaghetti Loaf—Four 1 1/2 cups scalding milk over 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Add 1/4 cup melted butter, 1 chopped pimiento, 1 tablespoon onion, 1 1/2 cups grated American cheese, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon salt and dash of paprika. Then add 3 well beaten eggs. Put 2 cups cooked spaghetti in a greased casserole and pour milk and cheese mixture over it. Bake about 50 minutes in a moderate oven of 350° F. until firm.

Hot Open Bean Sandwich with Sliced Beef—Break contents of 1 small jar dried beef into small pieces and brown in frying pan with 1 tablespoon butter. After a few minutes, add 1 medium can Oven-Baked Beans, 2 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup, and 1 teaspoon sugar and allow to heat thoroughly. Serve on slices of golden brown toast. A slice of Genuine Dill Pickle is a suitable accompaniment to this sandwich. Serves 6.

A Check for $1,143,595.65!

The Norfolk and Western Railway Company Pays It's 1932 State Tax

The picture shows W. S. Hurt (left), treasurer of the Norfolk and Western Railway, handing over to J. M. Purcell, treasurer of the Commonwealth of Virginia, a check for $1,143,595.65 (shown above), which represents the railroad's 1932 state taxes. The check was presented to Mr. Purcell at his office in Richmond on September 29. It is the largest single tax payment collected by the state during the year and represents 30 per cent of the state taxes paid by all public service corporations for 1932. In addition to its state tax, the railway will pay approximately $1,000,000 in taxes this year to 43 counties and 64 cities and towns of the Old Dominion—or a grand total of more than $2,100,000 toward the maintenance and operation of Virginia's government, its schools and other institutions.

speaks thus to the People:

Sirs, I here present unto you Queen Regina II, the Undoubted Queen of this Realm. Wherefore all you who are come this Day to do your Hom-

Then the Trumpets Sound.

SECTION III

The Oath

The Rector goeth to the Queen, and, standing before Her, says to the Queen:

Is your Majesty willing to take

And the Queen answering says:

The Rector ministereth these Quesfollows:

(Adapted from the Oath of King Ethelred)

Bishop. Will you solemnly promise

Queen. I solemnly promise so to do.

Bishop. Will you to your Power interdict rapacity and all iniquities

Queen. All this I promise to do.

and the Delivery of the Golden Symbol

Then the Queen having thus taken Her Oath, the IMPERIAL MANTLE of cloth of Gold is by an Officer of

The Queen having received it sits down and then the GOLDEN SYM-

Marjory Weaver, and delivered into the Queen's Right Hand as the Rector pronounces this blessing:

Receive this Imperial Robe and Golden Symbol and the Lord your God
endue you with Knowledge and Wis-

Robe of Righteousness, and with the Garments of Salvation. And when you see this Golden Symbol remember to pray for God's blessing upon all

SECTION V

so execute Justice that you forget not Mercy.

SECTION VI

The Crowning

The Rector taketh the Crown from the Crown Bearer and layeth it into the Hands of Gen. Mitchell, who reverently putteth it upon the Queen's Head, as the Rector saith:

In the Name and for the Realm of the Piedmont Dairy Festival with Friendship for our State we place this crown, emblem of royalty and dignity, upon your head. Praying that the great King of all Kingdoms may replenish His handmaiden with the blessings of the fruits of the earth of the heavens, of the dews, of the depths from the heights of the ancient mountains and from the eternal hills that whatever may be typified by the brightness of silver and the splendor of gems may shine forth in your life; that in this world you may be crowned with Success and Honor and when you have finished your Course receive the Crown of Everlasting Life.

Then the Band playeth "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

SECTIONS VIII

The Enthronization

The singing being ended, the Queen will "ascend and be lifted up into her throne" by Gen. Mitchell and the Rector. At the sight whereof the Attendants and the People with loud and repeated Shouts, cry thrice:
LONG LIVE THE QUEEN!
The Trumpets.

SECTION VIII

All who have part in the Corona-to the Queen.

The Solemnity of the CORONA-TION being thus ended, the Queen, wearing Her Crown, and bearing in Her Right Hand the Sceptre, goeth in

PARK VILLE

Since our last report one house completed and another nearly so and building material being placed on the grounds for two more in the near future.

The well driller has drilled a well,
and must drill two more shortly.

Parkville anticipates the extension of the next dairyman's carnival from Manassas to Parkville where parking of cars shall not be so hampered.
How's that?

Mr. J. H. Senger, who lives in the northwestern suburb, says that in the twenty odd years that he has carpentered in Washington, D. C., he has seen many street parades, but none that he thought would compare with that of the dairyman's carnival in Manassas. Still he thinks that by the next time, a few 40 to 50 foot vines of Kudzu wound back and forth over the cows in the parade, may well represent the future feed and grazing of dairy cows. A legume equal to cowpeas grows when all else has perished on land too poor to grow anything else; grazes 6 head of cows per acre and makes as much as 8 tons of hay per acre in one season.
Plant it once and it remains there until you destroy it, which can easily be done by plowing it up.

Mr. Senger does not have it for sale, but he has had three years' experience with it on a small scale, and it can be seen at his place.

If Parkville continues as it has been, Mr. Clayton Harrison may have to remain about his poultry yard day and night.

.Cookies for Ever-Hungry Youngsters

Home-made Goodies Delight Kiddies

SCHOOL days again! And hungry youngsters racing home and asking for "something good" to eat. If the cookie jar is kept well filled, mother will have no difficulty in satisfying the children, because these little cakes are substantial enough to satisfy the between-meal craving and still so light they will not spoil the appetite for regular meals.

While even plain cookies will appeal to nearly all children, try giving them something with a flavor they like. Cut the cookies in interesting shapes, such as stars, diamonds, and little animals! Or decorate the tops of plain cookies with some ut-ra, raisins, or small colored candies, and listen to the shouts of delight.

Add these to the school lunch, too, and watch the interest of the youngsters in that rather difficult meal.

Chocolate Cookies

2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cups baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 tablespoon cream
Sift flour once, measure, add cinnamon, baking powder, and soda, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, chocolate, and cream, and beat well.

Add flour, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll into this sheet on slightly floured board. Cut with floured cookie cutters as desired. Dredge with sugar, or decorate with nuts, shredded coconut, small colored candies, colored sugars, or dried fruits (raisins, currants, and thin slices citron). Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 9 minutes. Makes 2 1/2 dozen large cookies.

Chocolate Drop Cookies

2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
dash of salt
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, well beaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate,
melted
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup walnut meats, broken Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together twice. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy.
Add egg and beat well. Add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla and nuts. Drop 1/2 teaspoon on greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 7 minutes.
Frost with chocolate butter frosting if desired. Makes 50 cookies.
