

CARSON REPORTS GIFTS FOR PARK

$213,881.00 Donated by Edsel Ford, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Estate of Thomas A. Edison.

Hon. William E. Carson, chairman of the Virginia Commission on Conservation and Development, has turned over to the treasurer of Virginia the huge sum of nearly a quarter of a million dollars donated by three contributors for the purpose of purchasing additional lands for the Shenandoah National Park.

It is estimated that when completed the Shenandoah National Park will become easily accessible to over 40,000,000 people and will constitute an asset to the State worth millions of dollars in money which will be spent within the state by visitors to this picturesque area.

The Skyline Drive, which has just been completed, has been placed ahead of the finest scenic highways in the Canadian Rockies and in Switzerland by those who have recently passed over the newly-constructed roadway. Commenting upon the especially fine scenery afforded at this time in autumn coloring, one enthusiastic observer stated this week, "I have read of the grandeur that was Rome's, but today I have seen the grandeur that is Virginia's."

The Shenandoah Park will comprise 160,000 acres, made up of more than 4000 separate tracts purchased from individual ownership and it is for the financing of these purchases that these and other donations are being made.

MEETING OF GOOD HOUSEKEEPERS CLUB

Bethlehem Good Housekeepers Club met with Mrs. Emily Round and Mrs. Kyle Lynn, with eighteen members present. Mrs. Lloyd reported good work done by club in providing clothes and shoes to needy children. Nice donations had been sent from families in town and the thousand yards of material had been received from National Red Cross. The ladies were cutting out garments to be made up. Treasurer's report was satisfactory. The money will be used to take care of the needy this winter. Meeting closed with club song "Auld Lang Syne" with Mrs. Hodge at piano. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Broadus Nov. 16.

SOUTHERN IDEALS ARE DISCUSSED

Woman's Club Hears Delightful Talk.

The regular meeting of the music and library section of the Manassas Woman's Club was held at the parish hall, Monday, October 24.

The topic of the meeting was the Customs and Life of the Southern Highlands. This was delightfully and instructively presented by Mrs. Ralph N. Andrews who gave a talk on the life and customs of the mountaineer as observed by personal contact. This was followed by the unique origin of the ballads of the mountain people given by Mrs. Walter Sanders. Mrs. Noel Gill read the outstanding facts of the life of Joel Chandler Harris, and Mrs. Robert Smith presented one of Joel Chandler Harris' works "The Trouble on Lost Mountain" which characterized the traits and habits of the mountain folk.

Several mountain ballads were sung during the meeting by the club led by Mrs. John Hynson.

The chairman, Mrs. Eli Swavelly, suggested to this section the idea of installing a bookshelf on music and literature.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed at which tea and sandwiches were served by the hostesses.

STATE HUNTING PROSPECTS ARE GOOD, SAY OFFICIALS

Prospects for a successful hunting season in Virginia this year are excellent, despite the drought, officials of the State Department of Game and Inland Fisheries reported yesterday.

The general hunting season begins on November 15, and many counties report that young turkeys and partridges are more plentiful than usual.

WOODBINE LEAGUE

The Woodbine Community League will meet Friday night, Nov. 4, 7:30 o'clock.

All patrons are earnestly requested to come.

Come, bring your friends.

We will have a surprise for you.

STATE HONOR MEDAL TO LOCAL POST

Prince William Post, No. 158, has just been notified that the state medal of honor for increased enrollment during the third quarter has been awarded to them.

Adjutant Pullen says that they are going after "two straight."

STATE FORESTER IS DISMISSED

Action Follows His Refusal to Comply with Request for Resignation.

On Tuesday State Forester Chapin Jones was formally notified by Hon. W. E. Carson, chairman of the Virginia Conservation and Development Commission, that his dismissal would take effect December 31.

Last August the Commission advised the State Forester that his resignation would be acceptable next March for reason that he was "lacking in the executive energy and ability necessary for the performance of the duties of State Forester."

Upon being advised that the State Forester had declined to resign and would accept no other position in forestry work, the Commission by a vote of 8 to 1 ordered his dismissal. The action is subject to review by the Governor.

The State Forester receives a salary of $5,000 and administers a fund of $87,645.00.

DOG MARKET

At Fredericksburg, Va., on Saturday, November 12, there will be held the customary Dog Market, sometimes called Dog Auction, which has characterized the fall season of Fredericksburg relating back to years prior to the American Revolution.

The shortness of last year's hunting season somewhat minimized the results of this market in 1931, though the lengthened season this year bids fair to bring out a large crowd of people, bringing their dogs and many spectators to the market this year.

To many sections of the country such dog markets or dog auctions are unique; to Fredericksburg it is one of the early institutions binding the historic old little City to its treasured past.

The spotted fox hounds, the pointer and the setter, the shepherd, the coon dogs and night dogs, long lanky canines with their sleek black backs and brown flanks and the favorite Chesapeake Bay dog with the oiled hair of the beaver and many of them web footed or partially web-footed—all dogs of utility have in former years had their place in this market. In addition to these the terrier, the "scotty," the poodle and other breeds of non utility value and even the common cur, have played their parts. Many puppies with their appeal to the children, some of them with their eyes just open have changed hands from seller to buyer. No dog is barred, the only requirement being that the dogs be free from contagious diseases.

Each owner fixes his price and "drives his trade."

At 2:00 o'clock Nathaniel Bacon Kinsey, dog fancier, and dog lover, who has cried these sales in former years, will at the request of any owner cry the sale of the dog, the owner and seller to announce the dog's own virtues and good points. Such public sale from time immemorial has been regarded as an offering only with leave reserve to the owner of the dog to accept or decline the highest bid as the owner may determine.

In former years the dog market has been held in the City Park and it has been a picturesque scene to see the great number of dogs, with their leashes tied to the long string of ropes provided for the long purpose running from tree to tree with the owner of the dogs standing by telling of the good points of their entries.

As customary, the Chamber of Commerce will furnish for the feed of the dogs "bakers bread" and if any owner is partial to "corn pone" or food other than "bakers bread" such owner will provide his own food.

Members of the Fredericksburg Hunt Club, Inc., of which Mr. Claire D. Schlemmer is president and members of the Rappahannock Field Trials Association, will be glad to welcome their friends on that day and to make new friends also.

Mr. Fred Robinson of "Fall Hill" with a group of gentlemen, all dog lovers, selected by Mr. Robinson, has undertaken to "run" the market this year.

BARBECUE PLANS COMPLETE

Everything relative to the barbecue tomorrow is complete. Work is already progressing on the active work of preparing the immense feast. News coming in indicates that around 1500 or 2,000 persons will be on the grounds before noon.

U. D. C. MEETING

The Manassas Chapter, U. D. C., will meet Wednesday, Nov. 2, at the home of Mrs. Robert Gulick, near Aldie. Those going from the chapter are to meet at Mrs. R. L. Byrd's, and leave there promptly at 1:30 p.m.

Those having ways to go please remember the members who are not so situated.

LECTURES WILL BEGIN MONDAY

The first lecture in the university extension class will be offered at the Manassas high school Monday afternoon, October 31, from 4 to 6 p.m. The subject of the course will be "The English Novel." It will be conducted by Prof. McLean who offers an exceptionally interesting and valuable course. Anyone interested may take the course and may take it either for college credit or may attend for the interest and value that they receive from the course. Everyone interested is urged to attend this first meeting.

ROOSEVELT REMEMBERS ADMIRERS

Mrs. L. J. Bowman, of Aden, received a beautiful little drinking cup this week from our next President.

It is a composition pottery affair, with the Governor's picture burned into the face.

PICTURES SHOW MISSION WORK

Mrs. Winegarner, secretary of the Mountain Mission Board, assisted by Mrs. Batchelor, of Charlottesville, showed pictures of the work in Dr. Neve's missions to a crowded hall Monday evening.

The pictures were very interesting and instructive.

MEETING OF W. C. T. U. (Secretary's Minutes)

The W.C.T.U. met in regular session Oct. 26 at the home of Mrs. T. E. Bywaters. All officers present. President read Romans 14th chapter and Mrs. Blough offered prayer.

A number of interesting papers were read, and a report of the "Golden Glow" convention at Alexandria was given by the delegates.

Plans were made for a public meeting to be held in the Presbyterian church on November 3 at 7:30 o'clock.

A paper read at this meeting gave the answer to questions uppermost in the minds of all loyal citizens at this time, as to the standing of our candidates for Congress. This paper told the result of a questionnaire in The Times-Dispatch of September 18.

The meeting closed with the Aaronic benediction.

MARIE FRANCES KING

Marie Frances King died Oct. 5 in Charlottesville Hospital after a long illness.

Funeral services were conducted in the Oakdale Baptist church by her pastor, Rev. V. H. Council.

She is survived by her father, mother and one brother and one sister, Walter Lee King and Margaret King.

The Manassas Journal,
Manassas, Virginia.
Gentlemen:

I believe one of the most important services the press can render in the approaching election is the education of the voters in the matter of marking the ballot. The ballot is difficult for the average voter, especially with respect to the candidates for Congress. It is most important that the voters understand that not more than nine names for Congress be scratched. Of course it is not necessary that nine be voted for, but it will invalidate the congressional ballot if more than nine names are left unscratched. The voters should be instructed also as to marking the presidential ticket, so that they will vote for only one candidate for president and vice president, and the ticket can not be split as to this. As you know, it is not necessary to vote on the electors, but only on the candidates for president and vice president.

I hope you will print the ballot in your paper from now until election and carry articles informing the voters as to the proper method of marking the ticket. This will be most valuable.

Thanking you, and with best wishes, I am

Very truly yours,
H. F. BYRD.

KIWANIS HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY

Visiting Clubs Attend in Good Numbers.

The Parish Hall of Trinity Church was filled to capacity last Friday night with the members of the local club and their guests, the occasion being the celebration of the eighth "birthday" of the Manassas Club.

Bob Hutchison eulogized Ed Hill and declared that he was the "spontaneous" choice of the Capitol District for president for 1933.

Ed responded modestly and then branched into a history of the club, telling his audience of its many achievements. He also introduced all past presidents, who were loudly applauded.

Judging by the display of Hill buttons on all coats, the group was given a good impression that Bob's summary was about correct.

Charles "Buck" Buckley, of the Fredericksburg Club, and Dave Book, of the Alexandria Club, introduced their delegations, and Ed followed suit.

Dr. Forrest Prettyman, of the Fredericksburg Club, got off some good jokes and followed with a splendid talk on "Friendship."

O. E. S. BEGINS ACTIVE FALL PROGRAM

Visitors' night was celebrated at Winodausis Chapter 106, O. E. S. After a busy meeting at which activities for fall and winter were planned, the members and friends adjourned to the lower floor for a social evening.

The program opened with a piano solo by Mrs. John Broadus. The past matrons gave brief talks on the highlights of their year in the east. These talks were interspersed with vocal solos very charmingly rendered by Miss Gladys Ball, accompanied by Miss Virginia Speiden. At the conclusion of the program, delicious refreshments were served.

Next month will be "Homecoming Meeting" and a large attendance is hoped for.

JUBILEE YEAR PUBLIC MEETING

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a public jubilee meeting celebrating the fiftieth year as an organization at the Presbyterian church Thursday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m., to which the public is cordially invited.

Some of our young people as well as older ones will be on the program, which will consist of songs and solos, short addresses by some of our pastors, readings, etc. There will also be special music by the Cline brothers.

JUNIORS EXCHANGE VISITS

District Deputy G. D. Baker, O. F. A., is sponsoring a series of visits between councils in the Prince William district.

On Tuesday night, Bull Run, No. 15, was host. Twenty-eight in all were present.

This evening a crowd will go to Greenwich where No. 33 is serving a turkey and oyster supper.

DAVIS HEADS CITY LEAGUE

Succeeds Mayor of Richmond as President of League of Virginia Municipalities.

On Thursday of last week the Virginia League of Municipalities in annual session at Charlottesville elected Hon. Harry P. Davis, mayor of Manassas, as president. Mr. Davis has served two terms as vice-president and has been a prominent exponent of better city government for many years. His local popularity is attested by the fact that he has been continuously re-elected mayor of Manassas during the past ten years.

HON. HARRY P. DAVIS.

The League of Virginia Municipalities is an organization of representatives of city and town governments for the purpose of perfecting city and town administration. All of the large cities of Virginia and a great many of the more progressive towns are represented in the organization.

Manassas is particularly honored in the election of Mr. Davis because this is the first time that such an honor has been conferred upon the mayor of any town so small as ours.

The importance of the office is indicated by the fact that the retiring president is Hon. J. Fulmer Bright, the mayor of Richmond.

DOGS SHOW FORM AT CENTREVILLE

Field Trial Association Stages Annual Event.

The Northern Virginia Field Trial Association ran its fall try-outs over the Centreville course Monday and Tuesday of this week. C. Bernard Cross was in charge of all arrangements. The course was laid out very much the same as last year, going north from Centreville, across Rocky Run, bearing to the west near Cub Run where it crosses the Braddock and back toward Centreville on the west.

Luncheon was served as usual by ladies of the M. E. church, south, at Centreville and headquarters were at the Prince William Hotel. No bench show was held this time, the members of the association having a banquet instead.

Winners announced are as follows:

Derby: First, Cyclone Jack, owned by Dr. E. V. Benbow of Winston-Salem, N. C.; second, Bullock's Pringle Jack, owned by A. B. Bullock of Manassas; third, Kid's Major Bell, owned by Dr. R. W. Baer of Frederick, Md.

The all-age race was won by Carolina Zero Proctor, owned by Marshall King of Fredericksburg, Va. Running second was Stevens Ben Nugym, owned by L. L. Stevens of Quantico and third, Sam Valiant's Boy, owned by Ford E. Young of Bethesda, Md. Mr. Young is also secretary of the association and for many years a consistent advocate of the Northern Virginia Field Trial Association.

J. W. Fielding is spending some time at Lutherville, Md., with his brother, the Rev. E. F. Fielding.

A large crowd assembled at Valley View cemetery to attend the burial of Mr. Oscar Duffy, the funeral having been preached at Providence M. E. church at 11 o'clock on Monday.

A CAMPAIGN TAILSPIN

"When Theodore Roosevelt threw the G. O. P. into a Tailspin" is the title of a presidential election article in the Magazine of The Washington Star for Sunday, October 30. But this is only one of a score of fine articles in the Magazine. Order your copy of next Sunday's Washington Star from your newsdealer today.

MINISTER CHANGES

Rev. O. L. Gochenour, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, Va., has been transferred to Durbin, W. Va., and has already left for the discharge of his duties there.

Rev. Compton has arrived and taken hold of the work left by Mr. Gochenour.

Manassas had grown quite fond of Brother Gochenour during his one year of residence here, and wishes him success in his new field.

CATHARPIN

On last Sunday morning a large and enthusiastic congregation welcomed the return of the pastor, the Rev. K. D. Swecker, to Sudley for another year's service. A fine spirit in all departments portends a very happy and prosperous year just ahead. Very encouraging reports were read by the pastors at the annual conference lately closed—all showing increased attendance upon public service and increased enrollment in the Sunday schools and a large increase in membership during the past year. It is now felt that the religious "depression" which seems to have obtained during the past several years is about over and the churches can soon claim their own.

Mr. William Bartle of Washington was a caller at Lawn Vale last week.

Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson and daughters, Frances and Ann, were Washington shoppers on Saturday.

Mrs. Jennie McIntosh has been under the doctor's care for several weeks but is now steadily improving and her friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Corn shucking is now the order of the day; some wheat fields are green while others are being planted; coal and wood being stored for the winter; hogs are fattening; turkeys are "ripening" and guineas maturing; apples are gathered but "Yes, we have no potatoes." The only mention of them we have seen was when Al greeted Frank with "How are you, you old potato?" Realizing that Frank may soon become president he may be kind enough to send us all a supply.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Adams of Manassas were visiting Mrs. Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie, on Sunday last.

Catharpin, as a rule, does not complain much but some recent happenings have put the neighborhood in a somewhat sulphurous mood, to recite. Dogs visited the flocks of A. W. Smith, J. W. Alvey, W. Holmes Robertson and Chas. R. McDonald killing some 20 sheep and wounding many others. Corn shuckers complain that it is no uncommon thing for several piles of the golden ears to disappear over night; locks broken and coal pilfered from the school house bin; the tractors used on the new grade have been drained dry of their oil and gas content and tool boxes relieved of their burden. Suspicion's long finger is poised high in the air and may drop at any moment upon this nocturnal prowler whose identity is pretty well surmised. People will not put up with these things forever.

Just now the spirit is very high and some hat bands may need enlarging among the component parts of "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party" since prosperity seems to have turned that old "corner" and now sits enthroned in the dining room of the Stone House Inn where Mrs. Ayres is selling "Dresden Plate" quilts faster than they can be produced. Just recently she told one to a New Jersey tourist and one to a California tourist thus spanning this old "U. S. A." from the Atlantic to the Pacific. A quilt from the Bull Run Battlefield is regarded as a valuable heirloom and the "Manufacturing Co." producing them is now working time and over-time to supply the demand.

The "Boulevard" from Catharpin to Putnam's ford is now completed insofar as grading and widening is concerned and such a change this improvement has made. The whole neighborhood seems and looks different; even the horses, cows, pigs and the feathered tribe seems to have taken on an air of importance and refinement; everything looks better and people feel better. The school bus loaded with children makes its daily journey over it to the Haymarket high school. Land owners are building their fences along this new and straightened thoroughfare which now crosses fields formerly farmed thus the fence rows are now clean and fair to look upon. We wonder just how long this will last. As a rule our fence rows are so outgrown with briars and bushes and so matted together with honeysuckle that it is not safe for either man or beast to try to negotiate a passage. It does us good once in a while to have an object lesson to remind us of just how lazy we can become when left to ourselves. This new highway will waken us all up to new and better ways of doing things and translate us from our so-called backwoodsness to the open forum of real life where our children if not ourselves will "carry on" in the new and modern way.

SPECIAL SERVICES

AT HAYMARKET

The postponed special services will begin in St. Paul's church, Haymarket, on Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 8 p.m., and continue through Wednesday and Thursday at same hour. The Rev. James Templeton will be the special speaker.

"BLONDIE OF THE FOLLIES"
 SPARKLING ENTERTAINMENT

When authors like Frances Marion and Anita Loos put their resourceful minds together, some sparkling entertainment is bound to result. "Blondie of the Follies," with Marion Davies and Robert Montgomery, which opens next Monday at the Dixie theatre, more than sparkles. It scintillates.

It adds another feature to the cap of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's long list of screen accomplishments. It is colorful, it contains moments of comedy that are hilarious, and moments of pathos which are poignant and heart-tugging.

Edmund Goulding shows that the direction which won him so much praise with "Grand Hotel" was no flash. He has taken a story simple in its appeal and given it pace, smoothness and the bubbling quality and flavor of champagne. He has blended the strong emotional qualities of Frances Marion's episodes, the brisk dialogue of Anita Loos and the deft characterizations of his cast into a cohesive whole that compares with any of his past achievements.

Marion Davies is at her best as the girl from the New York tenements who rises to luxury as a Broadway showgirl. Her acting covers a wide range from comedy to emotional drama, and in the latter she reveals surprising talent. Robert Montgomery is the suave, ingratiating New York playboy, and invests his role with a touch of irony.

Much should be said, too, for Billie Dove's portrayal of the selfish, vain showgirl who seeks to gloss her East Side origin beneath a Park Avenue affectation. The inimitable Jimmy Durante, James Gleason, Zasu Pitts, Sidney Toler, Douglass Dumbrille, Sarah Padden, Louise Carter and Clyde Cook also deserve particular mention.

"Blondie of the Follies" tells the story of two working girls who leave the New York tenements to seek "the larger life" on Broadway. They fight, they cheat each other, yet they love each other—and the same man. Out of that rises their chief problem.

GREENWICH

Miss Nellie Mayhaugh of Washington spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dug Mayhugh.

Most everyone from this community are anticipating on attending the barbecue at Brentsville Friday.

Mrs. A. L. Rector has taken her little daughter, Virginia Lee, to Children's Hospital in Washington to have her tonsils removed. Everyone hopes she will get along nicely.

Mr. Benton Nalle of Washington spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nalle.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nalle, who have been spending some time at Gainesville, have returned to the parental home, "Breeze Hill."

Mr. Lewis Carter of Manassas and Mr. Austin Owens were callers at the home of Mr. Dug Mayhugh on Sunday. "Must be some attraction."

Mr. Carlin Brady had the misfortune of being in an automobile accident on Friday evening, receiving some very bad cuts and bruises. He was treated at the Warrenton Hospital.

Mr. George Grant and Mr. Sam Grant of Washington spent Saturday with Mrs. C. E. Nalle.

Mr. Frank Cockrell and family of Washington spent several days last week with his mother and she returned home with them for the winter.

Mr. Walter House of Washington spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Fannie House.

Miss Elizabeth Wood, who has been confined to her home several days, is back in school.

Miss Edith Laws and Mrs. Sam Laws were callers at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Putnam one day last week.

Mr. Willie Mayhugh has purchased a new car. "Watch out girls."

TOM KEENE IS AT HOME IN THE SADDLE

Daring riders and wild horses provide the maximum of action and thrills, while a gripping story holds tense interest in "The Saddle Buster," the latest Tom Keene western feature which comes to the Dixie theatre Saturday.

Entirely different in theme from the usual western, this RKO Pathe production offers double conflict without resorting to wild chases and gun play. A young rodeo rider is pitted against win enemies, a man-killing horse and his own fear, with a rival cowboy adding further complications.

The rodeo atmosphere, with all of its thrills, has been admirably captured. Swift moving entertainment is the result.

SWAVELY TRAMPLES EPISCOPAL

Swavely School, playing a game which resulted in one of the most surprising football upsets in five years among Virginia's foremost secondary schools, forced a powerful Episcopal eleven to a decisive defeat. Nosing the Alexandria school out of the state championship, Swavely piled up a score of 19-0 in one of the most dramatic games of the season.

Mowrey, star half-back, supported by a team which ran with the precision of well-oiled machinery, made all the scorings. His sensational ninety-yard run to a touchdown climaxed the most brilliant playing of his career.

Kohler, powerful fullback, far outshone his previous performances, also, in a series of beautiful kick-offs and punts.

MARK HANNA'S FAMOUS "CORNERED BEEF BREAKFASTS" ECHOED IN "WASHINGTON MASQUERADE"

Breakfasts at which presidents are decided on and national crises settled have an echo on the talking screen in Lionel Barrymore's morning meal with political powers in "The Washington Masquerade," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's dramatic romance of public life and the machinations of lobbyists, which will open next Wednesday at the Dixie Theatre.

The breakfast decides the start of a political campaign in the picture. It is an echo of the famous "cornered beef breakfasts" that Mark Hanna used to stage in Washington. Whenever the famous political organizer and Czar wanted to decide on anything, he summoned his "cabinet" of men high in the political machine for a breakfast at which his colored cook served her famous corned beef hash. There anything from a new president to a national tax was settled on. It got to be a byword in Washington.

Samuel G. Blythe, famous political writer, who collaborated with John Meehan in the present story, attended one of them, of which a full account is given in his book, "The King Makers." Many other vivid details of the "inside" of politics at Washington and expedients of lobbyists, such as the employment of women in attempts to snare lawmakers when other means fail, are seen in the new production which is based on Henry Bernstein's play, "The Claw," with authentic material added by the adaptors.

Barrymore heads the cast as a senator and political ruler whom the vested interests seek to render powerless through the manipulations of a woman. How he comes to his senses, worsts the political gang and triumphs with his party, form the background of a spectacular drama. Karen Morley, who appeared with Barrymore in "Arsene Lupin," plays the political charmer.

AMERICANS AND THRIFT

Edward W. Bok was born in Holland, and came to the United States when 6 years old. He began work as a little boy, at 50 cents a week, and saved 5 cents of it. As his income grew larger, he saved a larger proportion, and kept this up until he had accumulated a considerable fortune. "So when a man tells me this is impossible," he once wrote, "I know from my own experience it is not, I have tested thrift and practiced it on every kind of an income, and always with responsibilities and others to support. . . . God has been too good to the American people. The result is wastefulness to a criminal extent. The American regards thrift in the light of a shortcoming; to him it borders on penuriousness; he cannot bear to be regarded as stingy. He has an instinctive dislike for the word economy, let alone the practice of it. Spending and not saving is a national trait. Food is wasted, time, effort; practically everything. So long as this condition prevails the economic status of the majority cannot and will not be on a sound basis. If there is a seed to success, it is the habit of saving. Thrift does not mean penury, but only common sense applied to spending. I cannot see the sense of working hard through the year, only to find oneself at the end of that year exactly as at the beginning. Where is progress in that method? Where is the result of the effort? And if one cannot show results for an effort to what purpose the efforts?"—Exchange.

FALLING LEAVES

The grass withereth, the flower fadeth. So runs a famous passage of Scripture. Some melancholy minds consider these seasonal phenomena, as a type of the transient nature of our life.

But to others, autumn foliage is a kind of final celebration of nature. At that time vegetation takes on its climax of glory. Nature celebrates her deeds of the season, by painting woodlands and hills in the most gorgeous color, and our gardens and orchards are adorned with fruits that make a rainbow of beauty.

The autumnal days are not an end, but merely lead the way to Nature's rest period. They should be as calm and hopeful as the hour when we go to our slumbers for the night. During the dark of winter, Nature will gather her forces anew for another season of toil and glory. She has poured forth her fruits for the service of man, but in our futile mistakes, we have marred our prosperity for the time being. Yet that will soon pass, and such errors are men's doing, not Nature's.—Exchange.

ADVERTISING LIKE STEAM

Sir Thomas Lipton, famous sportsman and merchant, wrote in his autobiography, that William E. Gladstone once said that advertising is to business what steam is to machinery, the sole propelling power. Sir Thomas acted on that principle, and won in business through advertising the money to promote his famous sporting enterprises.

If he had failed to advertise that business, he would have dragged along in the shadows of business life, and would never have accumulated the great fortune which he spent so liberally for yacht races for the America's cup. There is a lesson there for every ambitious person.—Exchange.

LAUGHTER

"It doesn't matter who makes the nation's laws if the right people can make its laughter," asserts Professor Chas. G. Gaum, of Rutgers University. That sounds suspiciously like something Hoover said the other day, and what the President said in turn sounded suspiciously like something that somebody else said a long time ago. But since Professor Gaum and Mr. Hoover are in argument on the importance of the part that laughter plays in the national scheme, it may be worth while to pass the sentiment along for whatever it may be worth.

Professor Gaum heartily approves of a laugh, a smile, a grim, a chuckle, but he has no earthly use for a snicker, which he defines as "a snake in the grass of laughter." There is a debased intent about it, he charges, which causes it to lack the virility of a sneer. Furthermore, it has none of the inanity of a giggle, which the professor exonerates as "innocent in its intent."

The man who laughs at himself, says the professor, should get the highest mark in an intelligence test. That will let most of us out, as far as high marks are concerned. It is ever so much easier—and funnier—to laugh at other people than it is to laugh at ourselves. At least, that is the way most of us look at it.—Roanoke Times.

RESOLUTION

Mrs. Sarah Keys
 Whereas, our Heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom and love has seen best to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Mrs. Sarah Keys; therefore be it

Resolved: First, That we, the members of the Ladies Aid Society of Manassas Baptist Church, bow in humble submission to His divine will.

Second, That we thank God for her Christian life and influence, and will cherish her memory.

Third, That we extend to the family our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to Him who doeth all things well.

Fourth, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the family, be published in the Religious Herald and The Manassas Journal, and that they be recorded in the minutes of the Ladies Aid Society.

SWAVELY NOTES

On Saturday Swavely defeated the Episcopal high school at football by 19-0.

The result is particularly gratifying in view of the standing of the Episcopal team, the number of reserves they were able to employ, and the fact that not once were they able seriously to threaten Swavely's goal line.

Mr. Mowrey came down from Royersford, Pa., to see the game.

A large number of Swavely supporters from Manassas attended the game.

Several of the faculty and students attended the International Oratorical Contest on Saturday evening.

On Saturday afternoon a football game will be played here against Shenandoah Valley Academy team of Winchester.

On Saturday evening an informal Halloween dance will be held in the Baker gymnasium.

Mrs. Frederick Leinbach was down from Philadelphia over the week end.

Sunday visitors at the school included Commander Bidwell of Washington and Mr. Mowsey of Royersford, Pa.

The Glee Club of the Manassas Industrial School gave a short but enjoyable concert in the Swavely dining hall last evening.

CLIFTON

A beautiful autumn birthday dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fansler for the little ten-year-old son of C. M. Williams of Vienna, Va., Oct. 23. The home was lovely decorated with flowers and autumn leaves. Among the neighbors, friends and children were Mr. and Mrs. Gale Blossom of Staunton, Va., Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Fansler and family of Orkney Springs, Va. The day was lovely spent by all and many gifts were presented.

NOTICE

The law offices of W. Hill Brown, Jr., after November 1, will be located adjacent to the offices of Hon. Robert A. Hutchison.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS

Miss Cecelia Beavers, Miss Lora Bell and Mr. Noble Polen of Washington were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Alfred Milnes Sunday who is still ill at her home on Center street.

As announced last week, the Kaspar trio including violin, vocal and piano artists, will be at the local high school this Saturday. The Kaspars formerly taught at Temple school and are well known here.

Mr. H. O. Russell of Cherry Hill was in Manassas Saturday and called at the Journal office for a pleasant chat.

The ladies of Eastern Star will hold a food sale Saturday, Oct. 29, at Mr. Gene Davis' store.

The High School Patrons League will hold a food sale in Manassas on election day.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will meet Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. R. B. Sprinkel.

Henry Peters is in a Washington hospital recovering from an operation.

VISIT SKYLAND TRAIL

Among those from Manassas who made the trip over the new Shenandoah Park road were Mrs. Melba McDonald, Miss Frances McDonald, Dr. C. R. C. Johnson and family, and Professor and Mrs. F. G. Sigman.

SIXTY DISASTERS IN 1932 ADD TO NATION'S DISTRESS

Red Cross Spends $2,760,000 To Help Victims of Catastrophes.

In a year of great misfortune caused by economic depression, in which the American Red Cross assumed heavy burdens of relief for the unemployed, the organization also responded to emergency needs in 60 disasters in the United States and its insular possessions.

During the twelve months ending June 30, 1932, the Red Cross gave aid to 75,000 families totalling 333,000 individuals, with expenditures of $2,760,786. These people were in distress because of drought, flood, forest fire, tornado, snowstorm, mine explosion, or other similar great disaster.

SHOOTING SCRAPE As we go to press a report has come in that Dewey Redd, Ralph Cornwell and Kenzie Breeden were assaulted and shot by George Shoemaker. It is not known whether a warrant has been issued.

COMMISSIONERS' SALE OF TWO VALUABLE FARMS

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia, entered on the 3d day of October, 1932, in the cause of the Alexandria National Bank of Alexandria, Virginia, vs. Andrew L. Todd, et al., depending in said Court, the undersigned Commissioners appointed for that purpose by the decree aforesaid, will offer for sale, by way of public auction, in front of The Peoples National Bank of Manassas, Virginia, on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1932, at about noon of that day, those two certain valuable farms or tracts of land both lying on the improved road or highway formerly known as Gainesville-Thoroughfare Pike and latterly designated as John Marshall Highway near the village of Thoroughfare, in Gainesville Magisterial District, Prince William County, Virginia, known and designated as follows:

1. That certain tract or parcel of land consisting of several parcels located as aforesaid, about one-half mile west of Thoroughfare, and twelve miles west of Manassas, Virginia, and described by metes and bounds as containing 614 acres, 1 rood and 20 poles, more or less, and being the same tract of land conveyed to Charles H. Keyser by Daniel I. Stover and others, and more particularly described in a certain deed of trust executed by Charles H. Keyser, unmarried conveying the same to Andrew L. Todd and New York Life Insurance Company of New York, dated December 30, 1926, and recorded in Deed Book 82 at folio 499 of the County Clerk's Office for said Prince William County the larger portion of said tract locally known as "Walnut" Farm.

2. That certain other tract or parcel of land located on the highway aforesaid, and described by metes and bounds as containing 333 acres, more or less, and is particularly described in that certain deed of trust executed December 30, 1926, by Charles E. Keyser and Mary, his wife, to Andrew L. Todd and New York Life Insurance Company of New York, by deed recorded in said Deed Book 82, folio 502 of said Clerk's Office, and as of the date of its execution was the residence of said Charles E. Keyser and was bequeathed to him by Charles F. Keyser, by will dated April 3, 1900, and recorded in Will Book V, folio 420 of the Clerk's Office aforesaid.

Both of said farms or tracts of land are well adapted to stock raising and general farming and are of exceptional fertility, each contains dwelling and commodious barns, sheds, etc., and as aforesaid are located on said John Marshall Highway; said two tracts or parcels of land will be sold in gross and separately.

"WHITE ZOMBIE" HAS 15 PER CENT OF DIALOGUE

What is believed to be a long step in the direction of talkie perfection has been taken in the picturization of "White Zombie," the United Artists picture which will open at the Dixie theatre on Friday, November 4, for in this production only fifteen per cent of the action is accompanied by dialogue.

From the advent of the talking picture, objection has been taken to the inclusion of too much dialogue, even up to 100 per cent of the picture's length in innumerable instances. The result is a consensus among motion picture students that an absolute minimum of dialogue and a commensurate increase in action must be adopted before improvement comes to the screen.

Of course, "White Zombie" is an unusually action-packed story, one which is told infinitely better in picture form than by the spoken word. This was one of the principal reasons for its selection in the first place, for Edward and Victor Halperin, its producers, have long since felt that the motion picture has been marred by its possibilities since the advent of the talkies by the employment of too much dialogue.

OCCOQUAN

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Selecman and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe and children of New Jersey have moved into the Connor home here. Mr. Roscoe has accepted a position at the D. C. Reformatory at Lorton.

Mrs. Hamilton Moore and son are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pierce.

Rev. H. H. Hoyt and family left on Wednesday of last week for Prince Frederick, Md., where Rev. Hoyt has been transferred as pastor of the Methodist churches in that circuit.

Messrs. R. J. Wayland and Carl Lynn made a business trip to Beaver Falls, Pa., the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rector and Mrs. Alice Ryan of Ballston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wayland.

Only where a line of dialogue is absolutely essential does a character speak in "White Zombie," and the result is a revelation. This means that for 85 per cent of the picture's length the story depends entirely upon camera action.

Letter from Governor in reference to tax commission.

ATTENTION DEMOCRATS

By decision of the Supreme Court of the State Oct. 11, the nine Members of Congress from Virginia must be elected At Large on November 8. This means that each candidate will be voted on all over the State as well as in his Congressional district, and each voter will be entitled to vote for nine candidates for Congress. There will be about thirty candidates for Congress on the ballot. In order to vote the Democratic ticket for Congress, it will be necessary for the voter to strike out the names of all except the nine Democratic nominees, who are as follows:

- S. Otis Bland
- Thomas G. Burch
- John W. Flannagan, Jr.
- Colgate W. Darden, Jr.
- P. H. Drewry
- Andrew J. Montague
- A. Willis Robertson
- Howard W. Smith
- Clifton A. Woodrum

All of these gentlemen are the Democratic nominees for Congress from their respective districts, and all except two are at present members of Congress, these two being the regular Democratic nominees from their districts.

In order to insure the election of nine Democratic Members of Congress from this State, it is necessary for the voters in each district to vote not only for their own Democratic Member for Congress, but also for the other eight Democratic nominees. All Democratic voters are, therefore, urged to be careful to strike out the names of all candidates for Congress on the ballot except the nine above mentioned. Any ballot that has on it more than nine names, not scratched, will be thrown out. Any voter who votes for less than nine Members thereby jeopardizes the chances of the election of a full Democratic slate. To vote the straight Democratic ticket, leave the nine names above mentioned and strike out the names of all other candidates for Congress.

"THE GOBLINS 'LL GIT YOU!"

DO you remember the old poem with the refrain of "The goblins 'll git you if you don't watch out!" That's the spirit of Hallowe'en. Any stunts that will scare you good and proper, pranks that will puzzle you, and ghosts that will give you a start are all appropriate for Hallowe'en. It is a time of grinning Jack-o'-Lanterns, missing gates and witches on broomsticks, and if the family carriage is found on the roof of the barn instead of inside it next morning, or the front gate in the bottom of the well, it's only fair to assume that it's all the goblins' fault.

That's what makes Hallowe'en such fun. You never know exactly what's going to happen. But, in order to have things happen, you have to get people together in groups. And wherever people are gathered in groups, food has to be provided. On this occasion it's appropriate to have it ghostly food, with eerie names, but don't forget that it has to contend with real human appetites.

Imps and Devils
Owls, black cats and witches on broomsticks are the right kind of decorations for a Hallowe'en party, and of course there should be Jack o' Lanterns grinning in dark corners to suggest the goblins that may "git" you, but the food must be real. Here are some suggestions for Hallowe'en dishes in keeping with the spirit of the day—or rather the night, since goblins don't go about in the day.

Jellied Imps: Heat the contents of two 15-ounce cans of tomato juice to boiling with one tablespoon sugar, salt and pepper to taste and a few drops of tobasco sauce. Soften two tablespoons gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, and dissolve in hot tomato juice. Cool. Place one curled anchovy from a small jar in the bottom of each small mold, pour in about two tablespoons of the tomato mixture, and chill until set. Then add the rest of the tomato, and let the whole mold set. Unmold onto lettuce garnished plates, and decorate with mayonnaise. Serves eight.

Devil's Brew: Melt two squares chocolate in double boiler. Smooth two teaspoons cornstarch with two tablespoons cold water, add one-half cup sugar and a few grains of cinnamon, and add this mixture to the melted chocolate. Add two cups hot strong coffee, and cook until creamy, stirring constantly. Cover and cook ten minutes. Chill. Add two and one-half cups chilled evaporated milk, and serve in tall glasses with a dab of whipped cream on top. This makes four to five cups.

Spooks and Jack-o'-Lanterns
Spooks' Goo: Make a cheese sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups milk, one cup grated cheese and salt and pepper. Shred one-half of a green pepper, and sauté it with the contents, less whole, of an 8-ounce can of mushrooms in a little butter. Add to sauce. Just before serving, add one slightly beaten egg yolk. Serve in patty shells or on toast points. Serves six.

Jack-o'-Lantern Salad: Chill twelve small-sized canned peach halves, drain and slightly scoop out cavities to make holes larger. Mix one-half cup halved, seeded white grapes and one-half cup chopped salted almonds with enough mayonnaise to moisten. Stuff cavities with this, and then press two halves together. Place each stuffed peach in a wreath of shredded lettuce. Make a Jack-o'-Lantern face on each with bits and strips of date. Makes six salads.

Goblins and Moons
Goblins' Mystery Hash: Brown one-half pound ground round steak and one tablespoon chopped onion in a small amount of drippings, working with a fork to keep particles of meat separate. Add two cups cooked spaghetti. Heat the contents of a can of tomato soup with one cup grated cheese until the cheese is melted. Add one-fourth cup India relish, and stir into meat and spaghetti. Reheat and serve. Serves six.

New Moon Tidbits: Mash the contents of one small can boneless sardines, add one package cream cheese and one small finely minced cucumber, and mix thoroughly. Add lemon juice to taste, and spread between thinly-sliced bread cut in the shape of new moons. Or spread on top of bread cut in the shape of new moons and then toasted.

NOKESVILLE

Dr. Charles B. Martin, formerly of Danville, has located here and is staying with Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Fitzwater.

Mrs. T. A. Bodine, of Washington, has been visiting her sister, Miss N. E. Jones.

The Brentsville District Community Association will hold its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday night, Nov. 1.

An "up-to-date" program has been arranged. The Republican Elephant and the Democratic Mule will be present in person to trumpet and bray their respective sentiments.

There will also be several good talks and other forms of amusement by our young people and of course the usual business, relative to the interests of the community, to discuss.

Let's have a good attendance and we'll have a good time as well as a beneficial evening.

Here's the first bit of real good news that we have had in several moons. Dr. C. B. Martin, young physician from Danville, Va., has decided to locate in our midst. Dr. Martin is a much-needed addition to our community.

You folks who believe in patronizing your local merchants, barbers, etc., extend your doctrine to include our local physician and we'll be able to keep with us this most valuable asset to a community.

We, as a community, welcome you, Dr. Martin, and altho we don't exactly wish that anyone will get sick, we do wish you all success in your vocation here.

What will it be,
Skipper...

SAIL or STEAM?

AN OLD SEA CAPTAIN once said "Any windjammer can ride out a storm with the hatches battened down and the sails clewed up; but it takes a steamship to ride out a dead calm."

Too many business men today are trying to meet a dead calm with hurricane-warning tactics. Huddling below decks, they've clewed up their advertising appropriations with stout ropes of prejudice, battened down, the hatches on their better judgment. One of these days they'll come on deck and wonder why they're so far from shore.

The steamship captain doesn't wait for trade winds to blow him into the Port of Profit. He musters those trade winds with the driving power of live steam... piles fuel under his advertising boilers... starts his craft towards Profit and usually reaches port before the old-fashioned skipper has spread their sails for an occasional buying breeze.

Decalmed on a glassy sea today, business will eventually be favored by that buying breeze. But why wait for it? The powerful engines of NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING are ready and waiting to stir up the unruffled expanse of buyer-indifference. And fuel is cheap... much cheaper than marking time while some wiser navigator gets to port ahead of you.
