CLUB HEARS OF BUSINESS IDEALS

Hunton Tiffany Addresses Kiwanis.

The Kiwanis Club enjoyed some more home talent at its regular meeting on Friday when Hunton Tiffany and Fred Hynson indulged in a dissertation on Business Standards. Fred's inspiration came after Hunton's line-up of some of the things that would make for better business in any locality.

Fred, who is well known for church activities, stressed the return to a religious background and read some lines to illustrate his talk.

Not content with that, Al Hooff made everyone quite serious by his earnest appeal for the use of prayer as a help.

Somebody called attention to the splendid record that Manassas was making under the attendance committee's work, but Dick Hynson almost ruined things when he declared that it had been necessary to call Al that evening to get him to the meeting. Dick almost got by with it.

This is Ladies' Night. The committee is treating it as a delightful secret. Nobody knows or has the slightest idea of the main line of attack that is being prepared. The meeting will be at the Grace M. E. Church.

"AMERICA, FRONT" SAYS COL. HODGES

State Blessed by "All-Virginia Spirit."

"It is springtime in Virginia, come spend your script in the Old Dominion," is the slogan with which Colonel LeRoy Hodges greeted a conference of State Chamber of Commerce leaders in Richmond Monday morning, called to work out plans for placing the facilities of the State Chamber at the disposal of the Governor for any service he may request, and to assist the local organizations throughout the state in meeting the emergency.

"There is more real joy in living today," Colonel Hodges said, "than one has felt for the past few years, for at last the dark, nerve-racking days of waiting for the signal to 'Let's Go' are behind us, and America once again is in red-blooded, body-tinting, and mental-stimulating positive action."

"We reached and passed our zero hour of national depression at noon Saturday," he said, "and the big drive of American business forces upward and to better times is under way at last all along the line."

Continuing, Colonel Hodges said: "America is sound, and at no time in her history has Virginia been on a firmer basis. Virginia's fields are just as fertile as ever before, her waters contain the same abundance of seafood, her mineral resources have hardly been touched, and her forests are still a vast reservoir of potential wealth. Virginia is bound closer together today than ever before by modern means of transportation, and animated by an All-Virginia spirit and determination to work together for the good of the State and Nation. She is ably led by a wise and courageous Governor in whom the people of the Old Dominion have faith. Our State credit is unimpaired by debt and at the top of the American list. Our banks, too, are sound and water-proof, and with the proper support of their depositors and the confidence of our people as a whole they will help lead the way back to sounder business."

"The tragic era of American business is ended, and we are off to a good start in a new deal for all our people. The blindness of seeking the key to perpetual prosperity in the fields of unsound speculation, individual and corporate selfishness, and governmental corruption has given way to clear vision that the old laws of economics still govern in simple majesty in spite of the insolence of the wealth-mad leadership under which America has swirled in confusion during the past decade."

"A conception of the need for hard work, an appreciation of real values, and a genuine respect for one's neighbors have finally displaced the silly illusion of a 'good time,' aimless spending in 'going places' and doing things, and the conception of

NEW SENATE SECRETARY

Edwin A. Halsey of Lynchburg has been selected by the Democratic caucus of the Senate for Secretary of the Senate. The selection is equivalent to election on account of the overwhelming majority which the Democrats now hold. Mr. Halsey is a nephew of the late John Warwick Daniel, with whom he came to the Senate thirty-six years ago as a page. Since 1913 he has held the position of minority secretary in the Senate. The appointment will bring much gratification to his many friends and increased satisfaction in the growing prominence of Virginia in national affairs.

LOCAL MEN VISIT REMOUNT DEPOT

Good Demand for Future Horse Crop Predicted.

Major Wald and officers at the Front Royal Remount Depot were hosts to a large number of men interested in the horse industry from Virginia, Maryland and other states Wednesday. The visitors were shown over the post and the horses exhibited and their breeding explained. After luncheon at the dining room at the Depot and a speech of welcome from Major Wald, a practical breeding demonstration and a talk on the control of contagious abortion was given by the Remount veterinarian.

Among those attending from this section were Hasting Herring, George Herring, E. R. Conner, Howard Myers, Frank Cox, Ernest Hale and Frank Cockerill.

A standing invitation was extended to all men interested to visit the depot at every opportunity and to make use of information and services available there. The prediction was made that there would be a good demand for the horse crop coming along by the end of the next four years.

DR. MARION TALKS ON THE AMERICAN INDIAN

On Wednesday, March 8, the regular meeting of the Manassas Woman's Club was held at the high school. The reports of the committees were given in order. From the civic committee we were urged to listen in on WRVA each Tuesday evening from 8:15 to 8:30 p.m. to talks given by our mayor, Mr. Davis, on problems we are concerned with. The Garden Section met at Mrs. Lewis' house this month and a most interesting talk was given by Mrs. Johnson on "The Witchery of Catalogues." The Garden Section are now making plans for their annual flower show. Already the gardens entered in the contest have been looked at for the first time. This section is planning to continue its work of landscaping the high school grounds and is planning to plant iris near the new retaining wall at the court house.

The Music and Literary Section met at Mrs. Ratcliffe's house at which the New England program was continued and a Cape Cod story was read.

Reduction of club dues were discussed but no definite action was taken.

Plans are now under way for the Easter Dance sponsored by the Woman's Club.

Our president appointed a new committee called the telephone committee the purpose of which is to act as a reminder of the regular club meetings so that the attendance may be improved.

Each member is invited to attend the town meeting held March 30 at 10 a.m., as matters of vital importance to the town will be taken up at that time and your loyal support will be needed.

The meeting was turned over to Dr. Marion of Brookart Institute, an authority on Indian Research. Some of the interesting features of his talk were that at the time Columbus discovered America there were about 200 different Indian tribes that spoke about 57 different languages, this being one of the reasons why the white man so easily conquered the Indian.

Dr. Marion spoke of the peculiar way of classifying the now surviving Indian tribes which is done according to how they obtain their food; for example, hunting, fishing, digging or cultivating. At the present time only two full blood tribes exist and the remaining tribes are part white. A very vivid picture of the life and customs of the Pueblos, Navahos and Sioux was given in detail by Dr. Ma-

THE BANKING SITUATION

It is difficult, in limited space, to present an adequate picture of the banking situation as it exists throughout the United States today. Thousands of facts are jumbled into a most complicated condition. There are, however, certain outstanding features which will be plainly seen.

The most important fact is that in Virginia and in Prince William County, our banks are absolutely safe. No depositor will lose a dollar. Yet every bank in the United States has been closed by order of President Roosevelt.

The reason for this unprecedented situation lies in the state of affairs in the big financial centers of the country. Under Republican administration big business has been constantly promoted at expense of the welfare of the masses of people. The international bankers have sold enormous quantities of worthless foreign bonds and have engineered huge loans to other nations. They have invented a program of borrowing their way out of financial difficulties at expense of the credit of the government. With representatives of big business occupying the executive offices of the government, they have created huge federal expenditures to promote their own business interests here and abroad, until, finally, in the closing hours of the Hoover administration, the specter of financial disaster stalked abroad in the land.

With the terrific financial strain existing, it did not require much to start a panic. The conflagration began in Michigan, the center of automobile manufacturing. The Governor of that State accused Henry Ford of failing to co-operate with General Motors and the Chrysler Corporation in a plan to sustain a big Trust Company. The differences seem to have finally been straightened out but not before the general public of northern Michigan became alarmed and began to withdraw deposits from all banks. The whole State soon became alarmed, and finally the Governor was forced to close all the banks of Michigan to protect depositors.

This caused surrounding states to suffer heavy withdrawals of funds and their banks had to be closed. This in turn extended the area of financial panic until, on Saturday of last week, while President Roosevelt was delivering his inspiring inaugural address, the panic was proceeding at an alarming rate and before night most of the States had declared a banking holiday. Foreign countries now became alarmed and began to withdraw their gold resources. Hoarding of gold still further threatened the nation's supply. Except for the confidence inspired by the new President's courageous and frank presentation of the true facts, the disaster would have been complete.

One of the very last States to close up was Virginia. Governor Pollard was reluctant to close our banks because of their sound condition and on account of the adequate State laws which we have for regulation of banks and protection of depositors. Finally on request of the Federal Reserve Bank, he issued the proclamation declaring a holiday for Virginia banks to protect depositors and our state from drainage of its resources into surrounding areas where banks were closed.

Then came President Roosevelt's proclamation closing all banks. The greatest executive mind in America had taken charge of the situation, and the whole country, in the most splendid spirit of co-operation and confidence, accepted the inconvenience and hardship imposed by his reorganization of the national banking system.

At noon, today, the Congress of the United States is being called in special session to receive the recommendations of the President and to promptly enact the laws necessary to rebuild our national financial system. It will be impossible to put the banking facilities of the country in perfect working order in a few days. The steps taken will be progressive and calculated to restore order where the greatest disorder exists. All banks, whether in difficulty or not, will have to conform to the same regulations. This means that the banks of Virginia and of Prince William County will have to subscribe to the new regulations, whatever they may be. We know that our money is safe, but because the government will have to make the big bankers of New York, Chicago and other financial centers cease their speculation and other harmful activities, the honest banks throughout the country will have to conform to the necessary regulations and open up under the same restrictions that will be required to rebuild confidence and credit where it has been destroyed.

However, we have this satisfaction. The inconvenience and hardships which we are having to endure constitute our own personal contribution to the restoration of national prosperity. The widespread good humor that is observed everywhere on the part of those denied access to their own bank deposits is due to the pleasant realization that we are actually helping President Roosevelt in his gigantic task of restoring happiness and prosperity to the nation.

It is not the condition of the nation's banks that causes the people to smilingly accept the present hardships and to feel absolutely secure as to the final outcome. The Roosevelt smile and vigorous leadership inspires the confidence that exists everywhere. One man has stopped a national panic.

In Prince William County, too, it is the honesty and ability of our local bankers that justifies our confidence in the security of the institutions they represent. We trust our bankers and they merit our confidence. "I know," we heard it stated during recent hours of money stringency in Manassas, "that as long as I see our bankers smile, everything is all right."

He mentioned in warfare the Indians were difficult to outwit. Now the Indians occupy land that is not needed by the United States and in the course of obtaining a place to try to make a living they have been moved 6 or 7 times. Being subdued by the white man has taken away a good deal of the old Indian culture. The mental capacity of the Indian has been proven to equal that of the white man. In closing Dr. Marion suggested reading Grant Forham's book, The Indian Removal.

Two songs having tribal melodies were sung by Miss Gladys Ball, after which coffee and cake were served by the hostesses. About the room was an excellent display of Indian relics brought by club members.

NO NEED YET

The new safe has arrived for the Treasurer's Office and was installed yesterday, minus the combination which really isn't needed yet as nobody has any cash.

BYRD AWARDED THREE IMPORTANT ASSIGNMENTS

Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, in recognition of his party services, has been given the most desirable committee assignments of any new member of the Senate, thereby offsetting the failure of a Virginian in the House to gain a post on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

Senator Byrd, who last week took the post made vacant by the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson, was awarded a post on three committees — Finance, Naval Affairs and Rules — all of which are considered enviable major assignments.

MRS. MARSTELLER ENTERTAINS U.D.C.

Manassas Chapter Has Interesting Meeting.

Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson and Mrs. E. H. Marsteller entertained the Manassas Chapter, U. D. C., at the home of Mrs. Marsteller on Wednesday, March 1. The meeting convened at 2:30 p.m. with Mrs. Marsteller, the vice-president, in the chair. The president, Mrs. R. A. Hutchison, was too ill to be present. The Lord's prayer was repeated in concert led by Mrs. J. B. T. Thornton. Minutes of the February meeting were read and adopted. Mrs. R. L. Byrd, treasurer, gave her report in detail, making mention that all the chapter's obligations for 1933 had been paid in full.

The name of Mrs. Grace L. Hite was presented to the chapter as an applicant for membership.

The report of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. S. Hynson, was heard. She read a letter of inquiry regarding Confederate graves near Manassas. A description of the location was given and it is hoped that the chapter may be able to assist in finding them. Mrs. Albert Speiden, registrar, reported sending two application blanks.

A letter was read from the Jefferson Davis Historical Foundation. The chapter quota to this cause has been paid in full.

A letter was received from Mrs. Lillian Kasehagen, one of the chapter's faithful out-of-town members. It is always a pleasure to hear from those who must be absent.

Mrs. Albert Speiden and Mrs. E. H. Hibbs were appointed to serve with Mrs. R. A. Hutchison and Mrs. L. L. Lomas from the memorial association, in preparing a program for the annual Jefferson Davis memorial service to be held June 3.

The problem of keeping the budget balanced was presented to Mrs. Aylene Guthrie, chairman of ways and means committee. She suggested that a special contribution would be acceptable at this time and the members responded generously.

Mrs. Johnson read from the Richmond Leader an account of the death of Mrs. Walter Christian, the little girl in the picture The Burial of Latane. Mrs. W. F. Coker, a guest of the chapter, displayed a letter from General Lee to General Jackson. This letter was found at the home of Mrs. Coker's grandmother who gave Lee a home until he assumed his duties at Washington College, Lexington. She also had an interesting old coin purse used by General Jackson and given by Mrs. Anna M. Jackson to Mrs. Elizabeth R. Coker, grandmother of Mr. W. F. Coker. Mr. Coker has been Manassas town manager for several years where he and his family have won many friendships.

Mrs. E. H. Hibbs was lauded for her work as chapter historian. She is putting forth every effort to win one of the state prizes for the chapter this year and thru her efforts every league in the county gave a program celebrating the birthday of J. E. B. Stuart. Mrs. R. L. Byrd gave a lecture to the fourth grade poetry club on the life of Sydney Lanier. Mrs. Hibbs lectured the 6th grade of the Bennett school on Walter Reed and Wm. Gorgas. She has also sent programs to the colored school.

Mrs. Ellis read a most interesting paper on the life of Edmund Ruffin, noted scientific agriculturist.

During a delightful social hour the hostesses were assisted in serving by the two charming young daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Marsteller, Mary Elizabeth and Nancy. Thirty-five were counted present and among the guests were:

Mrs. Margaret Darby of Maryland, Mrs. Ella Alnutt of Washington, Mrs. Bruce Atkinson of Washington, and Mrs. O. D. Waters, Mrs. Harry

PROF. HAYDON IS REAPPOINTED

Prince William School Superintendent Is Highly Esteemed.

The School Board by unanimous action yesterday re-elected Professor Richard C. Haydon as division superintendent of schools for Prince William County.

PROF. R. C. HAYDON.

The popularity of our school superintendent was attested by the fact that there was no opposition expressed to his re-appointment, and no circulation of credentials in behalf of any other aspirant for the position.

Professor Haydon by training and experience is particularly qualified for the position which he holds and his capable and considerate administration of our local school system has endeared him to all school patrons and pupils of the county. During his nineteen years of school work, he has capably filled positions of varied character, all combining to give him a broad conception of school administration. For five years he was principal of the Alexandria High School, having previously taught two years in high schools and three in elementary schools. He came to Manassas to head our school system in 1925, the present appointment being for his third consecutive term. He is a graduate of the Manassas High School and of the University of Virginia, where during the coming year he will complete requirements for his Master of Arts Degree, specializing in Administrative Education.

The re-election of Professor Haydon will bring much satisfaction to the citizens and school patrons of the county and is but another evidence of the ability of our school board to give to us the best that is available for our schools.

TEACHERS' PAY NOT TO BE HELD

Board Shows Confidence in Banking Situation.

The county school board met yesterday with all members present.

The leading order of business was the election of a division superintendent for the next four years, beginning July 1, 1933. The Board selected Professor Haydon to succeed himself.

An application for literary loan for extension work on the Woodbine School was returned to be amended so as to conform to standard application style.

The Board passed a resolution endorsing efforts of citizens to have a bridge built over South Run where the Thornton School was formerly located. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the State Highway Commission.

The clerk was authorized to take steps to have the history of Prince William copyrighted.

A special meeting of the Board was called for March 30 when the public budget meeting will be held.

SCRIP IN MANASSAS

On Tuesday the Journal office was busily engaged in printing scrip money for the firm of Conner and Kinchloe of Manassas. "This is the first real money we have made in some time," the editor remarked as he prepared to deliver the slips which for the time being will take the place of money.

Blakemore, Mrs. Wallace Whitmore and Mrs. W. F. Coker of Manassas.

The chapter is invited to meet next month with Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Dowell and Mrs. Hibbs.

CATHARPIN

One frequently sees in the society columns where some one had entertained her friends "at cards"; but Sudley neighborhood has changed that phraseology somewhat and now it reads—"Mrs. So-and-so entertained a party of friends "at quilts." These parties are very delightful affairs and usually begin about 9 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. with an hour's intermission for refreshments. Such a party was entertained at Oakwood last week when the "frames" were filled to capacity and many stitches taken and intricate designs traced to completion. The past winter has been ideal for just such indoor sport and it would be hard to tell just how many quilts have been completed or are under way. This quilt epidemic broke out in the Sudley neighborhood about a year ago and still obtains.
The flu came along, spent its force and is about gone, but the quilts go on forever. Some place the number made at 100; others more and still others less; at any rate they are numerous and have afforded a very pleasant and profitable occupation for the ladies during the "shut-in" period prior and subsequent to Mr. Groundhog's administration of the weather bureau.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower who have been visiting their son, Frank at Price, Md., for the past several weeks are expected home on Friday.

Miss Annie Tolley who is spending the winter with her cousin, Mrs.
R. A. Collins of Marble Hill is visiting Mrs. Louise Merchant of Ivakota
this week.

The community was startled last week when the radio announced the man-hunt near Price, Md., and the gun shot wound received by Mr.
Frank W. Brower who, it seems, was too close upon the fugitive for the comfort of either one. His friends are glad to know that the wound, albeit painful, is not serious. After the removal of some 20 buckshot from his shoulder and face he continued on with the posse until the fugitive was arrested and in jail.

After about two months of bad weather and worse roads the community is beginning to come to life again. For a number of weeks the sound of an auto was the occasion of a mad rush of all the family to the window to see what was going on.
Usually it was to see the machine stuck in the mud and the occupants thereof with "shoulder to the wheel" trying to extricate the thing from its unpleasant environment. Now however, the machine can pass by without exciting any undue commotion or causing the cook to upset the dishpan in her anxiety to see what is going to happen.

Miss Maude Ellison of Washington is visiting her brother, Mr. C. E. Ellison of Catharpin. Mr. Ellison who has been confined to his home for a number of months and who recently suffered an attack of flu is slowly recovering and it is hoped his condition will improve with springtime's settled weather.

Miss Frances Robertson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson, is confined to her room suffering from sore throat, bad cold and flu.

We are always making history;
however, what we now have in mind, we had nothing to do with. For the first time since any one can remember services at Sudley were suspended entirely during January and February due to bad weather and impossible roads. The new grading of the late summer contributed largely to the general discomfort and the weather did the balance; so betwixt them both people had a good excuse to remain at home, if an excuse was what they were seeking. It is now hoped that things will straighten out and brighten up so that all may get back to their places and things resume their normal status. Regular services may be expected from now on.

The people of Sudley will be interested in knowing that the Atkins family will soon move to Washington where they will be closer to their children. The Rev. Mr. Atkins was a former pastor at Sudley prior to his superannuation some two years ago. They leave many friends behind who will always wish them well.

It would be interesting to know how many people in the Catharpin and Sudley neighborhoods listened in on the inaugural ceremonies? It wouldn't be a surprise if their numbers almost equaled the number of quilts we have been talking about.

Not that the ceremonies and quilts have anything to do with each other yet a similarity of numerals leads one to think of them both at the same time. At any rate those who stayed at home and heard can tell those who went and saw something about it all that they did not know; and vice versa. Since both are well satisfied with their experiences everything is lovely and all glad to let Franklin straighten things out for them.

GARDEN SPECIALIST TO SPEAK
BEFORE COUNTY GROUPS

Mr. L. B. Dietrick, vegetable gardening specialist, will be in the county on March 15 and 16 and will speak before groups in different sections

EPIC FILM RIPS THE LID OFF —AND DARINGLY EXPOSES ALL

Columbia's epic film of national politics, "Washington Merry-Go-Round," stamped an audience of picture-wise Hollywood residents at its preview and was acclaimed by enthusiastic outbursts of applause and handclapping as one of the most powerful productions ever screened. It is showing next Friday, March 17 at the Dixie Theatre.

The splendid acting of Lee Tracy, as a firebrand Congressman, stopped the show on several occasions and the wholehearted applause his appearance drew indicated that he is today one of the most popular favorites of the screen.

Stunningly directed by James Cruze, "Washington Merry-Go-Round" holds the interest all the way. It is the kind of picture that sets an audience pondering for hours after having viewed the film. It is destined to create more controversy than any production Hollywood has turned out this year.

The picture, according to the Hollywood Reporter, "ought to do more to shake an American electorate out of its customary lethargy than a dozen 'Strange Cases of President Harding'."

The Hollywood Reporter comment continues:

"The picture sticks, first and last, to its primary business of being entertainment. There is no halting for much-raking or propaganda anywhere. Yet there is so much dynamite in 'Washington Merry-Go-Round' that except for its lack of names and recognizable personages, it ought to do more to shake an American electorate out of its customary lethargy than a dozen 'Strange Cases of President Harding'."

"One thing is certain — if Americans took their politics as seriously as most Europeans do, either the police would have to handle the crowds that would storm theatres to see this picture, or the showing of it would be banned by Presidential decree."

"Lee Tracy inevitably walks off with the honors of the cast, though right on his heels is Walter Connolly, as the veteran Senator Wylie, with a performance that ought to make studio executives meditate murder to get his services."

"Alan Dinehart, as Norton, the would-be American Mussolini, should go down in screen history as one of the few actors who have ever been able to portray a megalomaniac of this type and make him a flesh-and-blood character. When one considers that Dinehart's most brilliant portrayals have been in the key of smart, sophisticated comedy, this is a testimonial to his versatility."

"Constance Cummings surpasses anything she has ever done as Alice Wylie, the Senator's granddaughter. There is a finish, an ease, a sureness and a maturity in her characterization that were only fitfully visible in her earlier work. Frank Sheridan kicks in with a fine study of the political boss. Arthur Vinton, a newcomer to the screen, registers with emphasis in a smaller role."

"Washington Merry-Go-Round" is bound to send Jimmy Cruze's stock zooming toward the zenith, for this is one of the finest productions Cruze has turned out since 'The Covered Wagon.' Few directors can better Cruze at his best and every foot of this one is in Cruze's best manner. "With a nod to Maxwell Anderson for the things that are Anderson's in the picture, Jo Swerling deserves more than honorable mention for his dialogue. It's five-star all the way."

HOOVER'S LAST

IMPORTANT ACT

On the eve of his departure from Washington, Herbert Hoover did one thing for which he deserves the thanks of the nation. He should have done this kind of a thing many months before, but he finally did it and at least should have the credit. He refused to sign the billion-dollar appropriation bill which Congress had passed for the independent agencies of the government. The "Lame Duck" Congress had even been too extravagant for the Dean of Spenders.

WESTER-HIBBS

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hibbs announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Delilah, to Mr. Wm. C. Wester of Quantico, Va.

The marriage took place in Washington Sunday, March 5, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. J. E. Briggs. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Max Kaplin, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. Roy Gregory and family, all of Washington. After a brief honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Wester will make their home in Quantico. We wish to extend our congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

HERE AND THERE IN TOWN

We await with interest the opening of the New Prince William Grill. The date has not yet been set, but it's only a matter of time before the doors will swing shut behind the first customer. The word "Grill" sounds a little "high falutin'", but we hope and trust the weary man can find a hot hamburger and a cup of coffee there on a cold night.

As Will Rogers would say, I see by the papers that Huey Long is being sued for thousands of dollars, the charge being defamation of character. It seems that the Kingfish, in speaking before the Senate, charged a fellow congressman of lying, stealing, bragging, etc., and the latter was some riled. All we have to say on the subject is this: If the suit is successful, brother Long may necessarily be reduced to that famous diet of his, pot likker and corn pone.

Things we never knew till now: That Franklin D., when a laddie of five years, visited President Cleveland at the White House. Worried with troubles of the day, Mr. Cleveland, placing his hand on the boy's head, said, "My boy, may you never become President of the United States!" (Thanks, Mr. Ripley).

Why is it: That Miss Speiden can't persuade the boy's section of singing assemblies that it is better to sing the Anvil Chorus from "Il Trovatore," than "Old Zip Coon." (You remember: "Rabbit up a gum tree, Coony on a stump, Throw a stick a whizzin', watch old Coony jump," etc.)

My secret ambition: To see a Kiwanis quartet. With such basses as Mr. Ratcliffe.

CENTREVILLE

The teachers of the Centreville School attended the all-day meeting of the Fairfax teachers Saturday, February 25, at the Fairfax School. The different teachers made talks telling how they taught the different blocks of subject matter. All who attended made the expression that it was the most helpful teacher's meeting they had ever attended.

The sixth and seventh grade pupils have organized a "Food for Health" Club, and a garden club.

The seventh grade pupils are busy making articles for a museum on Africa which they are establishing.

The fifth grade pupils are enjoying the study of "What the Old World Gave the New" as they are making many of the old things out of clay and soap.

The first grade pupils just finished constructing a house and furnishing it. They kept a record of all they did each day and used it to motivate reading.

The seventh grade pupils with the aid of the sixth have just completed and published a magazine entitled "The Mountain View Trumpet" and written a play on "The Westward Movement" entitled "Moving West."

The following are on the honor roll for February:

First grade — Roy Hawes Rose, Sarah Robey, Freddie Ellison.

Second grade — Mary Ann Hawes, Theresa Ellison, Mildred Beahm, Wilton Crouch.

SURPRISE PARTY

The home of Mr. T. R. Bywaters was the scene of a pleasant surprise last Thursday night given to Mr. John Vandervilt Wurdemann of the Journal force, when a party of friends dropped in to give him good wishes on his birthday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Craven, Mr. Max Mossell, Mrs. Sara W. Johnson, sister of Mr. Wurdemann, all of Washington; Misses Nina Dalton, Elizabeth Hibbs and Mr. Delmar Cosgrove of Manassas.

After expressing their good wishes and spending an enjoyable social hour they were invited to the dining room where Mrs. Bywaters and Mrs. Harrell had a beautifully decorated table carrying out the colors of the month's emblem in decorations and refreshments. A lovely cake trimmed with tiny green candles graced the center of the table.

Mr. Wurdemann received many handsome and "tasteful" presents. At a late hour the party dispersed leaving him very happy over the great surprise.

BYRD IN WASHINGTON

Although the extra session of Congress called by President Roosevelt is only beginning its session today, the influence of Senator Harry Flood Byrd, who was sworn in last Saturday, is already beginning to be felt in the national capitol.

In joining with Senator Glass to vote 100 per cent co-operation with the President, Senator Byrd said:

"We are at war today just as much in a war of bullets, and every necessary power must be given the President. In supporting all means necessary to permit prompt passage of legislation, I believe I am carrying out the will of the people of Virginia."

Discussing the fearful condition of the national budget, Senator Byrd stated that some such budget-balancing power as Virginia has given its Governor should be accorded the President.

This "dictatorial power," which has so frightened bureaucratic Washington, is an authority secured for the Governor of Virginia through the statesmanship of Harry Flood Byrd, and it will be an outstanding service to the Nation, if he can invigorate Congress to the adoption of the same administrative safeguard for the Federal Budget.

LAST OF THE LAME DUCKS

By Constitutional amendment there will be no more "Lame Duck" sessions of Congress. The value of this reform was never more apparent than during the last few hours of the worthless session, when Congress appropriated over a billion dollars for the "independent agencies" of the government, regardless of the fact that there were no visible sources of revenue for such gigantic expenditures.

The Democratic Party is pledged to a 25 per cent reduction of the national budget, so it becomes evident that under the new administration, no such appropriation can be passed. Even President Hoover refused to sign the extravagant measure, which died with the expiring "Lame Ducks."

tion of the national budget, so it becomes evident that under the new administration, no such appropriation can be passed. Even President Hoover refused to sign the extravagant measure, which died with the expiring "Lame Ducks."

HUMANITARIAN POLITICS

Democrats of the Jacksonian characteristic will be disappointed at the announcement by Hon. James A. Farley that patronage matters will be ignored during the present banking emergency. "The country," Mr. Farley said, "just now is more concerned with the financial situation and I do not wish to throw anyone out of a job at once." Only necessary appointments will be made for the present. Such a policy, while distasteful to many hungry Democrats, is consistent with the big man who managed the victorious campaign and indicates that his bigness is not merely physical, but of the heart.

TIMES DISPATCH IS WRONG

Commenting on a situation in Louisiana the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Tuesday remarks unfavorably upon Senator John H. Overman who now "takes his place beside his master, the Hon. Huey P. Long, who seems to be some kind of a politico-dog in among the magnolia trees. . . . Let the Hon. Overton clean his linen before he sits down to talk and make law with the greatest deliberative body in the world."

It is not within the province of a little country newspaper, perhaps, to comment upon the infallible conclusions of a mighty Richmond daily, but we cannot help wondering if the city editor actually read the proceedings of the committee hearings in New Orleans, conducted by a committee of the "Lame Duck" Senate, which employed as its counsel the man who engineered the infamous Bergdol Draft Dodger Scandal and who had been branded by a committee of Congress as a most unscrupulous and despicable character. If Senator Overman needs to "clean his linen" as the Times Dispatch suggests, it would be well for his investigator to put some on, because he has been completely uncovered as an unconscionable scoundrel. As originator of the "pot of gold" conspiracy which accomplished the escape of Bergdol to Germany, the investigator of the Louisiana election would have been acceptable to the Congress in the Carpet Bag days, but his selection in the year 1932 is hard to understand.

AN APPEAL TO REASON

To the People of Prince William County:

Just a word as to the banking situation of the banks of this county, I look upon the banks of old Prince William as safe and sound, and I the people who have money on deposit in any of our banks will have confidence in the safety of our banks and leave their money where it is, go right along and forget it have confidence in your friends and neighbors and everything will come alright, if you go to do a job of work and you fail to have the proper confidence in yourself that you cannot accomplish it, why you are more likely to make a mess of it than if you place your trust and confidence in them and stand by them, they will stand by you and everything will come out as it should but if you lose confidence then you will hamper and hinder them from helping you, we have the best men of the county back of our banks, and there is no occasion for alarm, but right at this time everything depends on you the people who have your money in the banks, do not let your fear get away with your better judgment, stand by, stick tight, let us all pull together, sink or swim, stand by.

Yours for the success of our County,

WM. CROW,
Joplin, Va.

M. H. S. BOYS BEAT LINCOLN BUT M. H. S. GIRLS LOSE

Last Friday night in the home gym the M. H. S. girls got taken for a ride. The large Lincoln team started out with fast passwork and completely baffled our girls, who were feeling down in the dumps because of the absence of two of our best players, Kincheloe and Flaherty. They played with good sportsmanship and took their defeat nicely. The score was 40-9 in Lincoln's favor.

The boys' game was a different story for M. H. S. and it was a better game. Professor Pullen had his squad divided into two groups so he gave all his squad a chance to play. This made the game more interesting because it gave Lincoln a chance. Vetter, W. Kite, T. Kite, Gilroy and Leith played their usual good games.

life as an opportunity to 'get something for nothing.'

"The feet of America are once again on the earth, and a new leader is ready to guide them along safer and happier paths. The success of the new leadership, however, imposes a disciplined obedience, sound thinking, calm judgment, temperate talking, and forceful action, in support of the administration and of the Constitution. America is challenged to prove her boast of fitness for world leadership by setting our own camp in shape, by purging our forces at home of the insidious mercenaries of selfishness and corruption, and by occupying our proper sector on the international front with a sound economic program and an adequate plan of national preparedness.

"Virginians, as they always have done, will respond as a body in this emergency at the call of the President and of the Governor to the defense of our national and state institutions in the big drive for American prosperity that has at last gotten under way. Let's Go!"

AN INTERESTING LETTER

Editor, Manassas Journal.

Dear Sir:

After April first, when the R. F. C. work is discontinued in Gainesville District, there will be fifty young men and boys between the ages of sixteen and twenty-five years without any means of support. They face a future very dark indeed, and unlike any ever faced in this county, they cannot follow the advice of Mr. Greeley to their fathers "Go West, young man." The West has nothing for them. They are faced with the prospect of either living off of Charity, or stealing to sustain life.

The coward and mediocre will accept charity and become public charges, the brave and ambitious are of two classes — one gets by through the force of character, the other gets by through by his wits.

As heredity and environment make the man what he is, it is up to society to see that he has the proper environment to protect itself, and if they fail it means more gibbets and prisons.

There is one thing that society owes to itself: that is to make good citizens, and the only way that that can be accomplished is by WORK, therefore if we are to cut down our prison population we must furnish WORK AND SEE THAT ALL ARE BUSY.

Some of these boys will stay with us and subside in ways that will not always bear the light of day; others will drift away into that flood of human derelicts that is gradually but surely submerging our civilization.

From this flood very few are ever rescued. From it comes the Racketeer with the machine gun, to levy tax on the honest and industrious, bringing death to those who refuse to pay.

From it comes the beast that attacks someone's daughter, and leaves her mutilated body in the gutter.

This condition could have been avoided if proper supervision and employment, instead of enforced idleness, had been furnished for our young men, but we allowed individuals to go mad in their selfishness, sacrificing everything to their greed.

Individualism has been one of the most important factors in making this country what it is, and the selfishness of individualism is the one factor and the only one that is destroying it.

It is so bad that if God were to ask, as in the days of old, "where are those boys I sent you?" we would answer, "with Cain, I know not. Am I my brother's keeper?"

I will answer that we must be his keeper if we are to retain our present form of government, and the best way to do that is to see that there is plenty to keep youth busy at all times.

We insist that he must go to school until a certain age, and then at a time when he needs direction the most, he is allowed to drift into the gang of boys and old men that our present industrial world does not need. They collect on the street corners and other rendezvous, where they learn to gamble, to drink, to tell smutty stories, and to plan other adventures that are not at all times what they should be.

For the past forty years, there has been, even in the most prosperous times two millions out of employment.

Some who have been thwarted in exploiting some helpless individual will deny the truth of this, nevertheless it can be proven. There are some who will never work, but they are the exception, and all the unemployed should not be classed with them.

I am most enthused with our new President; he had promised us a new deal, and I for one believe in him school.

and that he will make good. It is also our hope that he will use a new deal, for we are sure that the old one is packed against "the forgotten man."

I am sure that this man understands that idle hands are the "devil's workshop," and out of that comes the gangster and not, as some would have us believe, from prohibition. Prohibition just furnishes the gangster with an easy means to make money.

It is hoped that the President will continue the R. F. C. work to all who need work, at full time, until a market has been established. Wages paid on this work should be such as not to interfere with private industry. At the same time serious consideration should be given to some way of curtailing the high salaries and bonuses paid by some of our industries, and see that this income is more equitably distributed, so that in the future we may not have market failures as in the past.

There are two ways open to accomplish this, one is a shorter work day, the other is taxation, coupled with nonliquidating public improvements.

I favor the latter because the former will furnish too much leisure for the young men, a six-hour day, six days a week should be the shortest time to be considered.

Our present means of production on the farm, and in the industries will produce a surplus on the six-hour day, and the only way to ever solve the farm problem is by a shorter work day with an increase in the pay of the farm laborer so that his standard will be raised to that of the industrial worker.

Our present form of government suits the writer, and he does not want a change, but he realizes that if it is to stand there must be a more equitable distribution of the public income, and he believes that the proper man to bring it about is in the President's Chair.

Gainesville District.

BIG STAR CAST ASSEMBLED FOR MILLIONAIRE FILM

Gary Cooper, George Raft, Wynne Gibson, Charles Laughton, Jack Oakie, Frances Dee, Charlie Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields, Mary Boland, Roscoe Karns, May Robson, Gene Raymond, Lucien Littlefield and Richard Bennett.

These fifteen stars, the greatest number ever cast together in a single picture, play the leading roles in "If I Had a Million," drama centering around an eccentric millionaire who distributes his fortune among nine persons whose names he has selected at random from the city directory. The picture comes next Monday to the Dixie Theatre.

The picture, the most ambitious undertaking ever to come out of Hollywood, has woven into it all the elements which stage and films have developed individually in the past — comedy, tragedy, irony, romance. Acquisition of sudden fortune means one of those elements of drama to each of the beneficiaries.

Bennett plays the role of the millionaire. His beneficiaries are Cooper, a rowdy marine; Miss Gibson, a lady of dubious past; Raft, a forger; Raymond, a convicted murderer only a few hours from the electric chair; Laughton, underdog in an office; Ruggles, clerk in a china shop; Miss Skipworth, an ancient vaudeville actress; and Miss Robson, an inhabitant of a home for the aged.

Each of the stars is cast in the type of role which won him original fame.

As the story offers a combination of the various types of drama, so does the cast offer a combination of the various types of characterization — rich men, poor men, beggar-men, thieves, and on down the line.

EATS LUNCH AT DESK

On Tuesday of this week the President of the United States astonished White House employees by eating his lunch at his office desk in order to save time. As Governor of New York this procedure seems to have been a frequent occurrence at Albany but staff officials in Washington recall no such informality on the part of any Chief Executive.

NEW CHEVROLET IN MANASSAS

Hynson and Bradford Will Display New Model.

Chevrolet's new entry in the automobile market — "The Standard" Six — goes on public display Saturday at the showrooms of Hynson & Bradford in Manassas.

Although certain models are priced below the present series, now known as the Master Six to distinguish it from the Standard, the new car has a wheelbase of 107 inches.

Featuring aer-stream styling, the new car resembles in external appearance its companion series. Three body types are offered — coach, coupe and coupe with rumble seat, all with bodies by Fisher and all featuring the new Fisher no-draft ventilation system.

Powered by a valve-in-head cylinder engine, the new motor develops sixty horsepower at 3,000 R.P.M., and is said to have a top speed of 65 to 70 miles per hour. It is of the same basic design as the six first introduced by Chevrolet in 1928 and now used in the Master series.

While certain features are identical with the Master series, a company statement emphasizes that the new Standard Chevrolet is an entirely new car, and not a smaller version of the Master nor a resurrection of an older model. It is the result of two years of development work, the company states, and is a companion car to the Master series designed primarily to consolidate Chevrolet in its position of leadership in the industry, which it has held four years out of the past six, by opening up to it that market represented by people who want lowest first cost and operating costs. The new Standard six, the company claims, will deliver more miles per gallon of gasoline than any other full size car now on the market, and is ideally adapted to the needs of the fleet user and the commercial traveler.

By announcement day upwards of 15,000 of the new models were scheduled to have been built and delivered to dealers for a simultaneous national showing. The cars are being built, just as the Master series, in the company's twenty domestic manufacturing and assembly plants, and all cars bearing the Chevrolet name are built of the same materials, to the same precision limits, on the same manufacturing and assembly lines and by the same fine craftsmen.

Prominent in the features of the Standard Chevrolet are skirted fenders front and rear, which conceal all under parts of the car, safety plate glass in the windshield, finger tip seat control, the new outward flare of the rear panel to conceal the gasoline tank and other under parts, stabilized front end mounting, new transmission with non-clashing gears and silent second, downdraft carburetion, and new octane selector first introduced by Chevrolet, counter balanced crankshaft, and many other modern car features.

In exterior appearance the Standard Chevrolet resembles the Master models except for size. One noticeable departure is on the hood, where the slanting doors of the big car are represented on the Standard series with louvers — eighteen on each side symmetrically grouped. The radiator is the popular slanting "V" type with harmonizing paint instead of chromium plate on the shell. The hood has the internally-operated catch.

The stabilized front end mounting, originated by Chevrolet, means that the front fenders, radiator and headlights are anchored to the frame in the exact center of the front cross member. This enables them to sway with the body as a unit, instead of twisting with the undercarriage in rough-road driving, and eliminates movements disconcerting to the driver, thus adding measurably to the elimination of body stress and squeaks.

Beneath the hood a six cylinder engine of the same basic design as used by Chevrolet since 1928 provides power for the new car. The engine has a displacement of 180.96 cubic inches, with a bore of 3 5-16 inches and a stroke of 3.5 inches. It is equipped with Chevrolet's new octane selector and a down-draft carburetor. The crankshaft has three bearings, has four counter-weights forged integrally and weighs 57 pounds.

A vane type oil pump is used, and the oiling system is the positive Homemakers Club of Prince William splash plus semi-pressure system.

The carburetor is equipped with an air cleaner and a resonance type intake silencer. A centrifugal-and-vacuum spark advance control is used. The water pump is the impeller type located in the cylinder head. The fan is the four-blade staggered type to reduce vibration and consequent noise.

The universal joint is assembled as a unit to the transmission and is removable as a unit just as in the Master model.

The instrument board follows the general design of the Master series, with the panel finished in distinctive design. All instruments register by moving pointers. Dials are black with white graduations, figures and pointers. One bulb on the under side of the panel lights all dials.
