SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR

DATE SELECTED FOR FESTIVAL

Third Annual Event to Be More Intensive.

September 30, 1933, has been announced as the date of the Third Annual Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival, to be held again at Manassas. It is planned to have the pageant and parade bring out clearly the purposes outlined in the by-laws and constitution of the sponsoring organization—herd improvement and teaching the true value of pure, fresh, rich milk as it is produced on the model up-to-date and carefully-inspected farms of this great dairy district.

Another important objective is to so advertise the Northern Piedmont area through the holding of such event in such a way that a wider market may be developed for the surplus dairy cattle of dairymen and farmers of the area. Census reports and D. H. statistics show that the Piedmont Dairy Festival area, comprising only 9.9% of the state land area, produces 18.7% of the milk; has more than 50% of the cows on test in county dairy herd improvement associations, with an average production of 7436 pounds of milk; and leads the state in average production per cow year by more than 25%—this in a state recognized for its excellent dairy herds. These together with many other facts to the credit of the area may be, without embarrassment, advertised to the people of other states.

With two years of experience and all the counties of the area working together, the Third Annual Festival, through the cumulative effects from the first two events, should go still farther toward helping realizing the objectives set up originally in the by-laws and constitution of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival Association, the organization which really in the final analysis is—we, the people of Piedmont Virginia who are interested in making the favored country in which we live more appreciated not only by us but by the people of other sections of the country.

LOCAL SLUGGERS ADD TWO MORE

Take Measure of Alexandria and Warrenton Teams in Easy Fashion.

The local baseball team captured both ends of a doubleheader last Sunday when they downed the Rosebud A. C. of Alexandria in the first game by a 10-6 score and then vanquished the Warrenton Wanderers in the second 8-4. Both pictures for the Macks at the route, Leo Lewis holding the Alexandria team in the first game, and Buster Polen disposing of the Warrenton lads in masterful fashion in the second.

In neither game were the Macks on the short end of the score, though at one time in the second game, the Wanderers succeeded in tying the score at 4 all.

In the first game, the Macks jumped away on an early lead when they rolled up a total of seven runs in the first two innings. Only in the three innings in which the Rosebuds scored was Lewis in trouble. They bunched three hits in the first inning for two markers, and then were unable to score again until the seventh, when they put four hits together to bring two more scores. In the ninth inning, feeling the terrific heat which beat down throughout the afternoon, Lewis allowed the Rosebuds to combine two hits with two base on balls for two more tallies. During the rest of the game, he succeeded in keeping hits well scattered.

In the second game, which was a nip and tuck affair through the first five innings, Polen returned to the box for the Macks. He held the opposition to eight hits and four tallies, all of the scoring coming in the first half of the game. In the last half of the game, the Macks stepped out to take the decision in handy fashion. The old war clubs began to sing and Polen became so stingy with his hits and runs that the Wanderers were forced to confine their wanderings to the space between home plate and first base for most of the balance of the afternoon.

Woodard led the Macks, with the willow, getting seven hits out of nine tries during the afternoon. He got three out of four in the first game, (Please turn to page 4)

WILLIAM HENRY ELLIS

W. H. Ellis, aged 76, a retired farmer of the Greenwich community, died Monday, after a brief illness with pneumonia following an operation at the hospital.

Funeral services were held yesterday at the late Albert Speiden, with interment in the church cemetery. Rev. J. R. Cooke conducted the services.

The deceased leaves two brothers.

BELOVED RESIDENT OF MANASSAS DIES

Mrs. Speiden is Mourned by Many Friends.

Effie Lee Nelson Speiden, widow of the late Albert Speiden, died at her home in Manassas on Monday, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Speiden was born in Brentsville, Va., August 7, 1874 and was the third daughter of Edwin and Bettie (Weedon) Nelson. She attended the public schools at Brentsville and completed her education under Dr. C. H. Waters, at the Fair View Seminary in Maryland, where she graduated with high honors in June, 1895. She taught school for two years. In June, 1898, she united with the Primitive Baptist church, being baptized by Elder Waters. Throughout the remainder of her life she was a devout member of Kettle Run church in Manassas.

In October, 1901, she was united in marriage to Albert Speiden, prominent architect of Washington, and they located here, where Mr. Speiden became one of the most highly-esteemed citizens of our county. His death on March 22 of this year was an occasion of much sorrow, especially among the boys of the Fire Department who had lost their beloved president.

Of the three children born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Speiden, two died in infancy, and the third, Virginia Nelson Speiden, survives. In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Speiden is survived by a sister, Mrs. A. O. Weedon, of Manassas, and two brothers, James E. Nelson, of Manassas, and C. P. Nelson, of Manassas, and Huntington, W. Va.

Mrs. Speiden was a member of the Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. She was a charter member of the chapter and had held every office, having served as president for three terms. She was also an active member and officer of the Ladies Memorial Association.

Funeral services were held yesterday at the Primitive Baptist church in Manassas. Elder R. H. Pittman officiated with the assistance of Elder C. W. Miller, Rev. C. P. Ryland and Rev. T. D. D. Clark.

Those acting as pall bearers were Messrs. R. L. Byrd, C. C. Cushing, W. S. Athey and J. Houghton Nelson, of Manassas; Edgar Speiden, jr., of Silver Spring, Md., and C. J. Weedon, of Washington, D. C.

The funeral was one of the largest ever held in Manassas, those attending not only including the many friends and relatives of the community but also a large gathering of mourners from distant points. The love and universal esteem in which the deceased was held was also attested by the abundant floral tributes.

The Journal expresses sincere sympathy to the bereaved daughter and other members of the family.

POLLARD SLASHES SCHOOL FUNDS

On the day following the Primary election Governor Pollard has issued an executive order slashing the general appropriations 30 per cent. The order is said to necessitate the cutting of the school term below 8 months in 62 counties. Eleven counties will have to shorten the term to less than six months.

Fairfax County, it is stated, will not be so seriously affected. Other counties nearby and the amounts needed to keep the school open the full term are as follows:

Arlington $1,874, Fauquier $5,813, Loudoun $5,141, Madison $3,889, Prince William $10,840.

Educators describe the situation as the most serious one confronting the school system in many years. Teachers' salaries have already been reduced to a minimum. The average salary in 50 counties last year was $600.

PEERY WINS NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR

FALL IN!

According to Tuesday's recorded vote, Judge Peery, admittedly the organization candidate, certainly received a handsome testimonial at the polls. He did not need the unusual vote in the 9th District to secure victory.

After all, the margin of the battle was not such as recorded in these figures. When any one man without resources and organization can carry a congressional district and gather twenty thousand votes outside of that area, he has done well.

Joe Deal should not feel badly. He played his part in the scrap ably, and largely accomplished what he started out to do—defeat Worth Smith and smear Harry Byrd as much as possible.

The Democratic Party in Virginia is sufficiently level headed to take whatever leadership it receives and profit to the limit thereby. Judge Peery is an old school politician who will doubtless attempt to soothe rather than to cause further irritation among Byrd's foes inside the Party.

We pledge our support to the Democratic nominee. Prince William will give Judge Peery as handsome a majority in November as it gave Worth Smith on Tuesday.

FIREMEN TO MEET AT HARRISONBURG

From all indications Harrisonburg will entertain a record-breaking convention there next week when volunteer firemen from all parts of the Old Dominion invade the city for the 47th annual gathering of the Virginia State Firemen's Association, the association's auxiliary and the State Fire Chief's Association of Virginia.

It will be by far the largest convention of any kind to be held in the city since 1924 when the firemen held their 38th convention there. Twenty-five companies, twelve bands, and seven drum and bugle corps have registered. Reservations have been received from 800 persons and more are coming in daily. The committee in charge of arrangements estimates that 2,500 firemen will visit Harrisonburg during the convention.

In addition to the hundreds of firemen from towns and smaller cities the reservations indicate that there will be many visitors from the paid departments of the larger cities, as well as public officials and out-of-state officers. Representatives will also be present from the Maryland and Cumberland Valley Associations. Several companies of Cumberland Valley firemen are also expected to be present on Thursday to take part in the grand parade.

Eight real teams will participate at this year's convention, while half a dozen companies will enter teams in the evolution contests. These contests were begun at the 1932 convention in Alexandria and consist of ladder and hose drills and life-saving drills.

A varied and attractive entertaining program has been arranged which will include dances, trips to nearby caverns, barbecues and many other enjoyable features.

GOVERNOR POLLARD MARRIED

Governor John Garland Pollard, of Virginia, and Miss Violet McDougall, his secretary, were married at Winnipeg, Canada, on July 31. Only close friends and relatives were present.

Quiet Election Brings Many Surprises.

Tuesday's primary brought many surprises as Democratic voters of Virginia assembled at the polls to select their standard bearer in the general election. As in normal times the Democratic nomination is equivalent to election this year.

Final figures in 1423 precincts out of 1685 give the following results: Peery 100,129. Deal 29,357. Smith 28,241.

The sweeping victory is said to have exceeded the fondest expectations of the successful nominee, who met with but one outstanding reverse—the signal defeat suffered by the machine in the Eighth Congressional District where Representative Howard W. Smith had championed the candidacy of his brother, who carried the District by a very substantial majority.

Fairfax County polled a handsome majority for Worth Smith, the totals being Peery 768, Smith 1403, Deal 80. In Arlington County the Peery machine battled across 1138, Smith votes reach a total of 1473. In Prince William the Smith vote overwhelmed his opposition about four to one, the figures being Smith 910, Peery 228.

Culpeper gave Peery 857, Smith 514. In Orange, Smith 527, Peery 610. Although the final state returns place Smith third, in the Eighth District Deal ran last.

Fourteen seats were lost and twenty were retained in the contest for General Assembly on Tuesday. The only woman member was defeated and there will be no ladies in the next legislature.

Mrs. Nelle Hyde Holmes was defeated for Delegate in Prince William and Stafford Counties by George W. Herring, the present incumbent by a vote of 624 to 525 in Prince William and 316 to 235 in Stafford.

In Culpeper Burnett Miller, jr., was elected to the House of Delegates. In Madison Early defeated Carpenter. In Fauquier Paul Richards, jr., was successful. Fred Birrell was re-elected in Alexandria.

MISS SARAH PITTS DESCRIBES PERFECT JELLY

Ideal fruit jelly is a beautifully colored, transparent, palatable product, obtained by so treating fruit juice that the result will quiver, not flow, when removed from the glass. The texture must be tender, yet firm enough to hold its shape. The product must be shiny but not sticky, gummy, syrupy or tough. This perfect jelly is indeed a delight for any pantry shelf.

Commercial pectins may be all right for some people, but are not recommended for Virginia farm women since apples abound in pectin and fruit acids and Virginia abounds in apples. These perfect jellies may be obtained from many fruits by using only the natural fruit juices, but if any additional pectin is needed, add apple juice, made from your own delicious, tart apples.

For the jelly maker, Miss Pitts offers a few suggestions that may be helpful.

1. Make only a small amount of jelly at one time—6 cups of juice for each lot is an easy amount to work with and this will give about ten glasses of jelly.
2. Cook jelly in a large shallow pan rather than a small deep one. It speeds the jelling and give a better product.
3. Be careful about adding too much sugar, more jelly failures are probably due to this than any other factor. From 2-3 to 3-4 cups of sugar to a cup of juice is the best amount.
4. Standardize your own jelly. This may be done by adding measured amounts of water to measured amounts of fruit, then test this juice to determine the best amount of sugar for your fruit.

Combination jellies are becoming popular, such as apple and blackberry, apple and rhubarb, apple and strawberry, apple and peach. Often three juices are combined in equal amounts.

Jelly Troubles
 Weepy Jelly is caused by too much sugar or too much acid. If the first, add more juice and cook up. If the latter, add a non-acid juice and more sugar.

Tough Jelly—this usually means too little sugar or cooking too long. Crystals in grape jelly are really cream of tartar crystals. They may be prevented by making grape juice and canning it. Let this stand about 2 months and next winter after crystals have settled, strain through a flannel bag and proceed with the jelly as always. If you don't care to wait—add grape juice to an equal amount of apple juice, and you'll hardly know that apple is used, but the texture will be fine. For grape jelly, don't use overripe grapes, they are more apt to form crystals than underripe fruit.

Moldy Jelly will not occur if you sterilize the glass before filling and seal it completely with paraffin.

WHAT OF THE FALL GARDEN?

Says Mr. Good Gardener to Mr. Poor Gardener, "Show me where the tallest weeds grow on your farm and I will tell you where your garden was."

Vegetables cannot withstand the battle with weeds and insects alone; weeds and vegetables cannot grow in the same spot, neither can insects and people eat the same vegetables. Thorough shallow cultivation and thorough pest control measures are necessary if a productive garden is to be maintained.

For many the home garden will provide few vegetables during the fall and winter months. What of yours?

With careful planning and good care a variety of vegetables may be had during the fall and winter months.

Within the next ten days plant: carrot, corn, beans, beets, set cabbage, collard, celery and tomato plants. Kale, mustard, Swiss chard should go in between July 15 and August 10.

Spring kale thinned and transplanted to about ten inches in the row will continue to produce throughout the winter. Kale thus treated will withstand freezes better than that sowed broadcast.

Good seeds, thorough soil preparation and liberal fertilization are just as essential for that fall garden as for the early one.

HAYMARKET

A most interesting entertainment was given on Thursday, July 27, in the parish hall, Haymarket, when selections from the opera Pinafore were sung, followed by a play, "The Obstinate Family."

Pinafore was sung by children between the ages of nine and thirteen and their acting, singing and general poise were of a very high standard. The solo parts were sung by Thom Williamson Blair as Ralph Rackstraw, Jackie Amphlett as the Captain, Carl Hall Blair as Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., and Mary Parsons Rector as little Buttercup. This able cast was supported by Miss Ann Piercy as Josephine, Miss Ann Robertson and Miss Kitty Hegerdorn as the cousins of Sir Joseph Porter, and by a group of sailors, marines, cabin boy and midshipman taken by Wade C. Payne, jr., Robert Morton Tyler, John Carter, jr., and Arthur Blair.

The parts in the play were well taken by Misses Christine Clark, Marie Clark and Elizabeth Harrover and Messrs. Howard Melton, John Piercy, jr., and Billy Garrett.

An enjoyable dance was given in the Masonic Hall, Haymarket, on Friday evening, July 21, under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Haymarket.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Club was held on Tuesday, August 1, in the club rooms. An interesting program of current events was given, each member present taking part. Delicious refreshments were served by J. W. Garrett and Mrs. Charles Gillias. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Mrs. Betty Pickett and small son, Walter Mason, of Haymarket, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Harvey at Poland, Ohio. Mrs. Pickett will attend the World's Fair at Chicago while there.

JELLY TROUBLES

Weepy Jelly is caused by too much sugar or too much acid. If the first, add more juice and cook up. If the latter, add a non-acid juice and more sugar.

Tough Jelly—this usually means too little sugar or cooking too long. Crystals in grape jelly are really cream of tartar crystals. They may be prevented by making grape juice and canning it. Let this stand about 2 months and next winter after crystals have settled, strain through a flannel bag and proceed with the jelly as always. If you don't care to

WHEAT PRODUCTION CONTROL PLAN

All wheat growers in Virginia who produce wheat in quantities greater than their home needs are greatly interested in the Domestic Allotment Plan as it will be applied to the control of wheat production. In an effort to get first hand information for Virginia farmers on this subject, John R. Hutcheson, director of extension work in this state, attended a regional conference at Columbus, Ohio, recently, and is giving herewith answers to the principal questions about which our farmers want information at this time.

If an average crop is produced in the United States in 1934, there will be more wheat than can be used and the carry over will probably be even larger than at present. It would, therefore, appear that Virginia farmers must co-operate with wheat growers in other states in holding down production if present prices are to be maintained or increased. Under the present plan of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration the government proposes to pay farmers for such co-operation.

Stated simply, the wheat adjustment program asks farmers to reduce their planted acreage in 1934 and 1935 by no more than 20 per cent of their previous three-year average. In return, farmers are to receive a compensation adjustment benefit for the years 1933, 1934 and 1935. For these years the benefits will be paid on an allotment based upon the domestically food consumed portion of their previous three years' production, regardless of the current yield per acre. The amount of the benefits per bushel will be declared by the Secretary of Agriculture who in following the agricultural adjustment act must set the amount at the difference between the market price and that price which would give the farmer parity in purchasing power according to the prewar average.

The allotment of 68,361 bushels of wheat to Prince William County upon which proceeds from the 30c per bushel processing tax on wheat may be paid to growers co-operating in the acreage reduction plan, represents 54 per cent of the average annual production of 126,540 bushels of wheat grown in the county for the five-year period, 1928 through 1932. The allotment principle works upon Secretary Wallace's estimate that the needs of wheat for food in this country and that on which the processing tax will be paid will be 456,198,588 bushels or 50 per cent of the average annual production for the five years ending June 30, 1932.

Upon this amount of wheat allotted, approximately $20,508 may be paid to growers of the county who agree to reduce their acreage for the 1934 and 1935 harvest. Taking for granted that the 54 percent allotment is passed on to the individual grower, his allotment on which he will receive compensation payments from proceeds from the processing tax now in effect on wheat will be 54 per cent of his average yield for 1930, 1931 and 1932. The grower will be paid 20c per bushel on his allotment this fall and a second payment of not less than eighth or more than ten cents next spring. The exact reduction in acreage required will be announced by Secretary Henry A. Wallace within the next few days but in no event will be more than 20 per cent of his average number of acres for 1930, 1931 and 1932. Because of this year's lighter production, a smaller figure may be announced. Only this announcement is necessary before the county campaign to obtain agreements from farmers to reduce their acreage for harvest next year will be in full swing.

Farmers of the county will themselves handle much of the local administration of the national wheat plan. Their own organization to be known as the Prince William County wheat Production Control Association will supervise the individual allotments to growers. The association will check farm production and acreage statements given in applications from growers, determine individual averages and allotments, publish list of allotment applications, see that required acreage reductions are made, and certify all facts to the wheat section of the National Agricultural Adjustment Administration. After signing the applications at meetings over the county, these to be announced within a few days, each community group will elect one director for the County Board of Directors. The directors representing the various communities will then select a small executive committee to have direct charge of detailed administration for the county.

Assuming that the State and County allotment of 54 per cent of the average three-year period yield will be given each grower, to show how the plan will very likely work out in practice, a farmer raising an average of 500 bushels of wheat on 25 acres of land would be paid the benefits as listed above on an allotment of 54 per cent of 500 bushels or 270 bushels. In return he would agree to reduce his wheat seeding this fall to the extent of 20 per cent or five acres or less, depending upon the reduction decided necessary.

The campaign will probably not be put on in counties which produce less than 100,000 bushels of wheat annually unless there are big farmers in these counties who produce considerable wheat for sale. This is because most of the farmers in such counties produce wheat largely for home consumption and the setting up of a wheat production control association would be too expensive. However, farmers in such counties can become members of association in adjoining counties if they so desire.

CIRCUS EXTRAVAGANZA AT DIXIE NEXT MONDAY

In the office of the Chief Game Guardian in an African City a party is obtaining a hunting license. The date of the license is 1911. In the party is a small boy of three.

Tragedy stalks the party. The child is the only survivor. He lives and grows to manhood among the lions—eating, sleeping with them, and seemingly speaking their language.

The natives whisper of the Lion Man, but the whites refuse to believe them. When the Lion Man accompanies the lions on a raid among the cattle of an English ranch owner, he falls into the trap that has been set for the lions and is captured. Joe Nolan, in Africa to trap lions for a circus, sees in the Lion Man a tremendous circus attraction. And so, caged with the lions, the Lion Man is shipped to America.

In port, the customs officer insists the Lion Man is part of a publicity stunt, opens the cage, and demands that he come out. He does—to leap overboard, and swim ashore. Clad only in a small, skin loincloth, he wanders through the city spreading terror, while the police frantically attempt to pick up his trail.

Spying food on a table in a house, the Lion Man climbs through a window and begins to devour it. Anne Rogers and her chum discover him. Frightened at first, they find he is apparently harmless—more hungry than dangerous. While the chum calls the police, Anne entertains the strange visitor and makes friends with him. When the police arrive, she alone can calm him. He does whatever she tells him.

The Lion Man can handle the lions in the circus—but Anne must be along to handle him. They travel through the country and the end of a year finds him able to talk, to outward appearances a civilized man, but still possessing a great love for his wild beasts and a strong yearning to return to his beloved Africa.

When the circus finally gets back to Anne's home town, he agrees with her that he's had enough. They'll get married, they decide. So the Lion Man says goodbye to his animals and departs.

But not for long. For fire has broken out at the circus. The crowd has stampeded. Animal cages are directly in the path of the flames. Attendants free the beasts from the cages and attempt to drive them to safety in a corral. But they break away. And then the carnage begins. (See the rest in the movie).

VIRGINIA BREEDERS TO HOLD FIELD DAY AT SNOWDEN

The Guernsey breeders of Virginia have accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. George Benoit of "Snowden," Fredericksburg, for the summer field day and picnic which has become an annual affair of considerable importance to the breeders of Guernsey cattle. A program that is both instructive and interesting has been planned by President T. Benton Gayle and Secretary Bruno H. Wittig of the State Guernsey Breeders' Association.

Speakers of national prominence to Guernsey breeders have been secured for the program which begins at 11 a.m. Among the Guernsey authorities to be present are: H. C. Bates, southern field representative of The American Guernsey Cattle Club; Warren Whittier, of Douglassville, Pa., authority on genetics and a practical breeder of Guernseys, and Louis McL. Merryman, Guernsey sales promoter and pedigree authority.

Visitors at "Snowden" on August 10 will find one of the best Guernsey herds of the east open for their inspection. Mr. Benoit has developed a herd that is absolutely clean from all health standpoints and contains some of the best blood lines of the Guernsey breed. A recent purchase made by Mr. Benoit at the annual Coventry-Florham Sale was Langwater Gay Lad 206932, a beautiful young bull, that will be viewed by many persons looking to the future when they will be in the market for calves from this well-bred animal. The "Snowden" herd contains animals strong in the Red Raider, Sequel, Linda Vista and Brooklandwood breeding; and mated to such blood as Langwater Gay Lad's should produce toppers.

Guernsey breeders who have faith in the future of their breed and are keeping "abreast of the times" will not miss the trip to "Snowden" on August 10, and indications point to a "gala occasion."

VIRGINIA LOSES REGIONAL OFFICE

The selection of Baltimore, instead of Richmond, as the regional headquarters for the President's Public Works Program, has caused much regret throughout the State. It had been hoped that Senators Glass and Byrd would be able to secure this for Virginia.

CHURCH FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHURCH
The Way to God
 If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

RETURN TO THE LORD:
 Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah 55:7.

THE SINS OF THE GUILTY
 Hardly is the ink dry on the unofficial returns of the Democratic Primary when Dr. Pollard makes public what we had expected—a slash which is very restrictive to the schools of over sixty counties and almost ruinous in eight or ten.
 To paraphrase the memorable words of Gifford Pinchot made immediately after the election last fall: "Virginia asked for a knockout to her school system and she got it."

THE SERPENT'S STING
 Our prediction as to the final insult to the Confederate cause were carried out on Tuesday.
 Twenty years ago, with our veterans in their prime and most of them voting, a man like Judge Peery would not have dared to ignore the aged Commander, General Atkinson.
 Commercialism has finally conquered, and the veteran has at last been cast aside in a State for which he bled and suffered.

We hope to see the day when such the perpetrators of such an open affront will be properly punished.

And this blow, coupled with a triple by Polen with two on in the eighth inning of the second game, were the blows which provided the margin of victory over the Warrenton gang.

Facts And Figures On Your Telephone

By EDWIN F. HILL
 By products of telephone communication developed by the Bell Laboratories have done much to alleviate suffering, to provide wholesome means of entertainment and the general promotion of human happiness. Interesting apparatus developed by the scientists and engineers in their research work to better the transmission and sound of the human voice include the artificial larynx, which enables those whom disease has robbed of their speaking voices to speak again; the electrical stethoscope used by surgeons throughout the world in heart ailments; development of the public address system, and radio broadcasting, which enables speakers to enlarge their visible audiences of a few hundred into invisible audiences of millions. Then there are the perfectly synchronized talking motion pictures and the transmission of pictures over telephone wires.

These are among the many projects developed and put to practical use by the telephone scientists for the benefit of humanity in general.
 When Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876, his workshop became the first telephone laboratory. The present organization is composed of several thousand scientists, engineers, and experts, who are constantly engaged in improving the transmission of the human voice across space and in providing better telephone service here, there, and everywhere.

ATLAS CONCRETE SILOS

Produce More Feed Per Acre Than Any Other Way.

There is no doubt about it—experiment stations and individual stockmen and farmers are proving it constantly. More and better feed can be harvested from an acre through a silo than by any other method of feeding or crop production.

And a Silo is no longer expensive. It will pay 50% on the investment each year. Or pay for itself in two years. The question really is: "Can I afford to do without one?"

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM AND STAFFORD COUNTIES:

I want to extend my sincere thanks to each one of you who voted for and supported me in my campaign for a seat in the House of Delegates. In spite of the fact that the unofficial returns, according to the newspapers, indicate that Mr. Herring came out ahead of me by only 132 votes in Prince William and Stafford together to be nominated for this office, I do not feel that I was defeated, because it has been very gratifying to know that in my first political venture I have such a host of friends. Your confidence in me is appreciated just as much as it would have been if I were nominated.

If we accomplished no other thing than to furnish Mr. Herring with a constructive platform upon which to base his efforts in the next session of the Legislature, that in itself is justification of our efforts. Let us hope that it will provide him with an incentive to give us some real representation this time.

With this thought in mind, let me say that I hope you will all stand back of Mr. Herring, as I intend to do, until two years hence—when I hope to again have your kind co-operation.

Sincerely,
MRS. NELLE HYDE HOLMES.

WAR VETERANS TO ORGANIZE

Ex-Service Men to Form State Council.

The first move in this State toward the formation of a central council of Virginia ex-service men's organizations has been initiated in Harrisonburg by Department Headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, with the issuance of invitations to the State Commanders of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and United Spanish War Veterans to name representatives to meet with officials of the V. F. W. to discuss plans for establishing the proposed body.

The invitation, which is being extended by Geo. L. Dovel, Department Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has for its announced object and purpose the creation of united effort and action by the four ex-service men's groups in Virginia in all matters and questions affecting the American veteran and his interests and problems.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars in sponsoring the movement for establishing a council of the several Virginia organizations, point out that the absence of such a unified body in the past has frequently prevented co-operation between the different groups and rendered their individual endeavors incapable of weight and effectiveness. It is said that the lack of co-ordinated action has been particularly felt in connection with veterans legislation and welfare problems.

Efforts to set up a council of the four major organizations follow the endorsement of the movement by the recent Department encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Roanoke.

DID YOU KNOW?

Tim McCoy is the only white man, except Gen. Hugh L. Scott who is an authority on the Indian sign language. That he brought 500 Indians from five different tribes in Wyoming, Montana and Colorado to Hollywood for "The Covered Wagon" that he began his career as technical adviser on that picture?

He never acted in his life until "The Thundering Herd"?

He owns a dozen ten gallon western hats that are made on a special hatblock by the Stetson Hat people?

He is the fastest man on the draw alive? With a single-action six-shooter he can fan the gun and shot six bullets in the amazing time of two-thirds of a second—and hit the bull's eye every time?

Tim McCoy has been named "High Eagle" by his Indian friends?

He owns a 10,000 acre ranch in the Big Horn basin on Old Creek, near Thermopolis, Wyo., 50 miles from a railroad, 20 miles from a town and 15 miles from a telephone?

He became a captain in the 311th, regiment of United States cavalry during the World War?

He has a saddle studded with silver and rubies worth $5,000?

He started Joan Crawford, Dorothy Sebastian and Raquel Torres on their screen careers as leading women in his early "westerns"?

Thinks his latest Columbian, "Fighting for Justice," coming to the Dixie Theatre next Friday, August 11, has more high-powered thrills than any "western" he has made so far?

Consider the Tuna Fish

THERE are lots of good reasons why housewives should serve tuna frequently. These fish furnish the vital elements which help children to build strong teeth and bones. They contain an abundance of vitamins A and D, iodine, which effectually prevents goitre, and other valuable minerals such as phosphorus. They are not expensive, and there are many different and easy dishes in which they can be served. But the main reason is that they are a delicious food.

Here are some recipes:

Tuna Loaf
Masked Tuna Loaf: Soften one teaspoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, and dissolve in four tablespoons hot vinegar. Mix with the mashed contents of two 7-ounce cans tuna fish, and add one-half teaspoon salt and a few grains of paprika. Pack into a loaf mold and chill. Meanwhile, soften one-half teaspoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water and melt over hot water; then pour slowly into one-half cup mayonnaise, heating all the time. Chill. Turn out the tuna loaf, and spread sides and top with mayonnaise. Decorate top and sides with sliced stuffed olives and strips of pimiento. Let chill and stiffen. Serve sliced. This serves six liberally, or eight moderately.

Tuna Loaf with Celery Sauce: Shred the contents of a 7-ounce can of tuna fish, and add two slightly beaten eggs. Add one cup bread crumbs, three tablespoons milk, and salt and pepper. Put in a buttered loaf pan, and steam or bake three quarters of an hour. Turn out and serve with a sauce made by heating one undiluted can of celery soup. Serves four.

With Sauces

Tuna Fish Mornay: Arrange the contents of two 7-ounce cans of tuna fish in individual greased earthenware baking dishes. Make a cream sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one tablespoon chopped onion, three-fourths cup white stock (or one chicken bouillon cube) and three-fourths cup cream or evaporated milk. Add four tablespoons Parmesan cheese, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour over the fish, sprinkle with more cheese, dot with butter, and brown in hot oven or under broiler. Serves six.

Tuna Fish and Rice with Capers Sauce: Place one large (one pound) can of tuna fish in water to cover and boil till thoroughly heated. Remove from can without breaking, and place in center of a hot platter. Meanwhile boil one cup rice as usual, and drain and pile in a ring around the fish. Slice three hard-cooked eggs, and arrange in a ring around the base of the rice. Add four tablespoons capers to two cups white sauce, and pour over the fish. Serves eight.

A Salad and Sandwich

Luncheon Tuna Fish Salad: Boil one and one-half cups diced potatoes and one cup diced carrots until tender. Add three-fourths cup diced celery and three-fourths cup diced canned stringless beans, and marinate all in French dressing for at least one hour. Add two cups of flaked tuna fish (the contents of one large can), mixing lightly, so as not to make pasty. Moisten with mayonnaise. Serves eight.

Tuna Salad Sandwich: Mix together the contents of one small can of tuna fish (one and one-third cups), two tablespoons chopped green pepper, one tablespoon chopped pimiento, one-half cup chopped celery, one-fourth teaspoon salt and four tablespoons mayonnaise. Chill, and spread between thinly sliced buttered bread.

A Soufflé and Creamed

Tuna Fish Soufflé: Add two cups tuna fish (the contents of a 1-pound can) to two cups thick white sauce; then add one tablespoon lemon juice and six beaten egg yolks. Fold in six stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water, and bake in a slow oven—325°—for forty to forty-five minutes, or till set. Serve at once. Serves eight.

Creamed Tuna Fish on Toast: Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour and one and one-half cups milk, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Add the flaked contents of a 7-ounce can of tuna fish, and heat thoroughly. Just before serving, add one slightly beaten egg yolk. Serve on four slices of hot buttered toast.

V. F. W. COTTAGE FOR CHILDREN

The dream of a Virginia unit at the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home for Widows and Orphans at Eaton Rapids, Mich., is about to be realized as a result of the action of the recent Department encampment of the V. F. W. in authorizing the immediate purchase of 12-child brick cottage at the Home for the care of needy children of deceased Virginia war veterans.

The step means the immediate consummation of the Virginia Department's five-year campaign to provide accommodations at the organization's National Home for fatherless and under-privileged World War orphans, and the attainment of one of the Department's foremost objectives.

Action toward transacting the convention's decision into definite form was taken a few days ago, when a special committee designated by Department Commander G. L. Dovel met in Harrisonburg and completed the arrangements for the purchase of the Virginia unit from the board of trustees of the National Home. This committee is composed of O. E. Tarbell, Harrisonburg, chairman; E. G. Byrd, Norfolk; A. Lee Coble, Winchester; R. L. Stultz, New Market; E. M. East, Waynesboro; C. W. Chespe, Charlottesville, and Geo. L. Whitlow, Roanoke.

A substantial portion of the necessary funds have already been raised, and an intensive campaign to complete the task is now being waged among all local posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this State. The fund-raising campaign is being directed by John W. Jenkins, Portsmouth, chairman, and Chas. D. Denys, Portsmouth, treasurer, of the Virginia Cottage Committee.

Plans are under way for the formal dedication of the cottage by members of the Virginia delegation attending the approaching National encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Milwaukee the last week in August. The commander-in-chief, the national auxiliary president and other high officers of the V. F. W. are expected to participate in these exercises.

The V. F. W. National Home for Widows and Orphans is the only welfare project of its character owned, maintained and operated by a national veterans organization in this country. It is located on a tract of 591 acres at Eaton Rapids, Mich., and today embraces 15 modern cottages and other buildings, where 125 children and 10 widows of dead veterans are being cared for—4 Virginia orphans among the number.

WHITE HOUSE

Brentsville, Virginia

By Florence S. Lion

The White House was built by Mrs. John Williams, nee Jane Dawe, when the county seat was moved from Dumfries, Va., to Brentsville, Va., 1822.

In 1795 John Williams, Esq., bought of Robert Graham, Esq., both of Dumfries, Va., the Clerk's Office. We think we can say here, without giving offense to the most sensitive persons, what the "Landmarks of Old Prince" has to say: "There are no better people ever lived, than the Williams."

In 1813 John Williams, Esq., died leaving his widow, Jane Williams, and a large family of children. Phillip Devereaux Dawe, Esq., the brother of Mrs. John Williams, who had been exchequer for the State of Virginia and also a member of the Legislature from the county of Prince William, qualified as clerk for his sister, Mrs. John Williams, was the guest of her brother while in Richmond, Va., and both were present the evening the theater burned, making their escape through the windows from the burning building.

The bricks from which the White House was built were brought from England and were hauled from Dumfries by teams a distance of 18 miles.

In 1832 Phillip Devereaux Dawe died and John Williams, the 2nd, became clerk and moved into the White House. His mother built a cottage in the yard and moved there.

John Williams was made colonel of the county militia and I have often heard the older people tell of General Muster Day, which was celebrated Spring and Fall. In the year 1852 Col. Williams was given an office under President Buchanan, in Washington, D. C. The clerk's office was then electoral and Mr. Phillip Dawe Lipscomb became clerk. He was a grandson of Mrs. John Williams, nee Jane Dawe.

Just before the War between the States, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Iardella of Washington, D. C., moved into the White House. Mrs. Iardella was Annie Williams, daughter of John Williams, the 2nd. Mr. Iardella was in the Geodetic Coast Survey of the United States, and a Union sympathizer. When the Union forces were camped here in Manassas, there were as many as a hundred thousand men camped here at one time. Mr. Iardella would ask the officers to his home for dinner, and one day his little boy, Walter, sitting at the table with these officers, looked up and said, "Will you lend me your pistol?" The officer patted him on the head and asked, "Why do you want my pistol, little man?" He answered, "to kill all the Yankees." The officer said, "Why kill the Yankees?" and Walter said, "Because they killed all of Ma's chickens." Mrs. Iardella was stricken with typhoid fever and died. Her husband was out on Lend and could not be located. He did not know that his wife was dead until he came home. His daughter, Nettie, said she would never forget going to her mother's grave with her father when he came home. After Mrs. Iardella's death, Mrs. Holland, the mother of Mrs. William E. Lipscomb, moved into the White House and as she was a British subject, she ran a blockade to Washington, D. C., and many people would go with her to the city under her protection.

In 1877, Maj. W. W. Thornton bought the White House through Aylette Nicol, special commissioner of Mrs. John Williams, nee Jane Dawe.

In 1879 Mr. Ezra Bauder moved from New York or Michigan and opened an academy in the White House, where he taught for several years. Later buying the Secksmith's house, about one mile from Brentsville, Va.

I have in my possession two sheets of the records of John Williams and wife, Jane Williams' family Bible, which were found blowing around the yard by Mrs. Holland. These sheets give the birth of John Williams 1802, and Jane E. L. Shaw 1808, their marriage in 1825 and the birth of their ten children. The death of two. The last entry being 1846.

John Williams' Children:

Mary Jane who married Mr. Aylette Nicol.

Ann Amelia died in infancy. Margaret Phillip married Mr. James Sinclair.

Ann Eliza married Mr. Charles Iardella.

John Thomas died of typhoid fever, contracted in the Army Camps.

Sarah Sommerville married Maj. Thos. W. Lion.

Rosa died quite young.

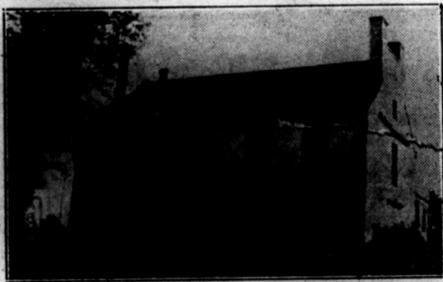

James Edward and William Francis both were in the Southern army.

James married Mrs. Smith of Fredric, Md. William F. married Miss Josephine Cainbell of Bristol, Tenn.

Robert Williams, the second son of John Williams and Jane Williams nee Dawe, married Lucy Anne Thornton. Their children were:

Virginia, who married John Sinclair; Emma Jackson, who married Capt. Lucia A. Davis; Miss Sallie Williams, who never married; Margaret Roberta, who married Dr. C. C. Barbour; Taylor, who married 1st. Jane Berry, 2nd Bettie Williams; Capt. Phillip O., familiarly known as "Zip." He was killed in battle near Raccoon Ford (Civil War).

The White House has been owned by Mrs. R. A. Cooper for over thirty-five years.

JAMES DUNN AND SALLY EILERS HIT IN NEW FILM

There seems to be no let-up in the triumphs that James Dunn and Sally Eilers are achieving as one of the screen's leading romantic teams. In "Hold Me Tight," their latest Fox production that opens at the Dixie Theatre next Wednesday, they add another notable one to their long list.

There are perhaps no other two players in films who so staunchly personify the real charm of modern youth, James Dunn is all young men, and Sally Eilers is every young girl. Together they are ideal.

In "Hold Me Tight," they have the type of roles that first brought them into prominence in such films as "Bad Girl" and "Dance Team." It is a story that concerns a search for happiness over almost insurmountable barriers. These two young people win their fight, and victory is sweeter for all of the hardships of the struggle.

They are both employed in a large department store, where they meet and fall in love. Sally is attractive and Jimmy is ambitious. There seems to be nothing standing in the way of complete success. But they reckon without the desires and ambitions of others. Let alone, they have a good chance of achieving their personal aims, but hampered by these others, the battle is a difficult one. With an unscrupulous store detective who is attracted to Sally and is also in a position to get Jimmy out of the way, the fight is made all the more strenuous.

The background of the film, so typical of New York in both mood and structure, is, just what this pair of young players needs. The department store with its teeming population is exactly suitable to the needs. The direction of David Selznick has taken all of these details into account and brought them to their best.

V. F. W. COTTAGE FOR CHILDREN

The dream of a Virginia unit at the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home for Widows and Orphans at Eaton Rapids, Mich., is about to be realized as a result of the action of the recent Department encampment of the V. F. W. in authorizing the immediate purchase of 12-child brick cottage at the Home for the care of needy children of deceased Virginia war veterans.

The step means the immediate consummation of the Virginia Department's five-year campaign to provide accommodations at the organization's National Home for fatherless and under-privileged World War orphans, and the attainment of one of the Department's foremost objectives.

Action toward translating the convention's decision into definite form was taken a few days ago, when a special committee designated by Department Commander G. L. Dovel met in Harrisonburg and completed the arrangements for the purchase of the Virginia unit from the board of trustees of the National Home. This committee is composed of O. E. Tarbell, Harrisonburg, chairman; E. G. Byrd, Norfolk; A. Lee Coble, Winchester; R. L. Stultz, New Market; E. M. East, Waynesboro; C. W. Cheape, Charlottesville, and Geo. L. Whitlow, Roanoke.

A substantial portion of the necessary funds have already been raised, and an intensive campaign to complete the task is now being waged among all local posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this State. The fund-raising campaign is being directed by John W. Jenkins, Portsmouth, chairman, and Chas. D. Denys, Portsmouth, treasurer, of the Virginia Cottage Committee.

Plans are under way for the formal dedication of the cottage by members of the Virginia delegation attending the approaching National encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Milwaukee the last week in August. The commander-in-chief, the national auxiliary president and other high officers of the V. F. W. are expected to participate in these exercises.

The V. F. W. National Home for Widows and Orphans is the only welfare project of its character owned, maintained and operated by a national veterans organization in this country. It is located on a tract of 591 acres at Eaton Rapids, Mich., and today embraces 15 modern cottages and other buildings, where 125 children and 10 widows of dead veterans are being cared for—4 Virginia orphans among the number.

WHITE HOUSE

Brentsville, Virginia

By Florence S. Lion

The White House was built by Mrs. John Williams, nee Jane Dawe, when the county seat was moved from Dumfries, Va., to Brentsville, Va., 1822.

In 1795 John Williams, Esq., bought of Robert Graham, Esq., both of Dumfries, Va., the Clerk's Office.

We think we can say here, without giving offense to the most sensitive persons, what the "Landmarks of Old Prince" has to say: "There are no better people ever lived, than the Williams."

In 1813 John Williams, Esq., died leaving his widow, Jane Williams, and a large family of children. Phillip Devereaux Dawe, Esq., the brother of Mrs. John Williams, who had been exchequer for the State of Virginia and also a member of the Legislature from the county of Prince William, qualified as clerk for his sister, Mrs. John Williams, was the guest of her brother while in Richmond, Va., and both were present the evening the theater burned, making their escape through the windows from the burning building.

The bricks from which the White House was built were brought from England and were hauled from Dumfries by teams a distance of 18 miles.

In 1832 Phillip Devereaux Dawe died and John Williams, the 2nd, became clerk and moved into the White House. His mother built a cottage in the yard and moved there.

John Williams was made colonel of the county militia and I have often heard the older people tell of General Muster Day, which was celebrated Spring and Fall. In the year 1852 Col. Williams was given an office under President Buchanan, in Washington, D. C. The clerk's office was then electoral and Mr. Phillip Dawe Lipscomb became clerk. He was a grandson of Mrs. John Williams, nee Jane Dawe.

Just before the War between the States, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Iardella of Washington, D. C., moved into the White House. Mrs. Iardella was Annie Williams, daughter of John Williams, the 2nd. Mr. Iardella was in the Geodetic Coast Survey of the United States, and a Union sympathizer. When the Union forces were camped here in Manassas, there were as many as a hundred thousand men camped here at one time. Mr. Iardella would ask the officers to his home for dinner, and one day his little boy, Walter, sitting at the table with these officers, looked up and said, "Will you lend me your pistol?" The officer patted him on the head and asked, "Why do you want my pistol, little man?" He answered, "to kill all the Yankees." The officer said, "Why kill the Yankees?" and Walter said, "Because they killed all of Ma's chickens." Mrs. Iardella was stricken with typhoid fever and died. Her husband was out on Lend and could not be located. He did not know that his wife was dead until he came home. His daughter, Nettie, said she would never forget going to her mother's grave with her father when he came home. After Mrs. Iardella's death, Mrs. Holland, the mother of Mrs. William E. Lipscomb, moved into the White House and as she was a British subject, she ran a blockade to Washington, D. C., and many people would go with her to the city under her protection.

In 1877, Maj. W. W. Thornton bought the White House through Aylette Nicol, special commissioner of Mrs. John Williams, nee Jane Dawe.

In 1879 Mr. Ezra Bauder moved from New York or Michigan and opened an academy in the White House, where he taught for several years. Later buying the Secksmith's house, about one mile from Brentsville, Va.

I have in my possession two sheets of the records of John Williams and wife, Jane Williams' family Bible, which were found blowing around the yard by Mrs. Holland. These sheets give the birth of John Williams 1802, and Jane E. L. Shaw 1808, their marriage in 1825 and the birth of their ten children. The death of two. The last entry being 1846.

John Williams' Children:

Mary Jane who married Mr. Aylette Nicol.

Ann Amelia died in infancy. Margaret Phillip married Mr. James Sinclair.

Ann Eliza married Mr. Charles Iardella.

John Thomas died of typhoid fever, contracted in the Army Camps.

Sarah Sommerville married Maj. Thos. W. Lion.

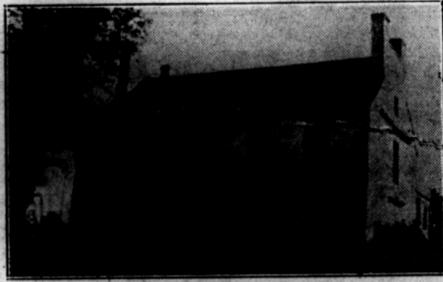

Rosa died quite young.

James Edward and William Francis both were in the Southern army. James married Mrs. Smith of Fredric, Md. William F. married Miss Josephine Cainbell of Bristol, Tenn.

Robert Williams, the second son of John Williams and Jane Williams nee Dawe, married Lucy Anne Thornton. Their children were:

Virginia, who married John Sinclair; Emma Jackson, who married Capt. Lucian A. Davis; Miss Sallie Williams, who never married; Margaret Roberts, who married Dr. C. C. JAMES DUNN AND SALLY EILERS HIT IN NEW FILM

There seems to be no let-up in the triumphs that James Dunn and Sally Eilers are achieving as one of the screen's leading romantic teams. In "Hold Me Tight," their latest Fox production that opens at the Dixie Theatre next Wednesday, they add another notable one to their long list.

There are perhaps no other two players in films who so staunchly personify the real charm of modern youth, James Dunn is all young man, and Sally Eilers is every young girl. Together they are ideal.

In "Hold Me Tight," they have the type of roles that first brought them into prominence in such films as "Bad Girl" and "Dance Team." It is a story that concerns a search for happiness over almost insurmountable barriers. These two young people win their fight, and victory is sweeter for all of the hardships of the struggle.

They are both employed in a large department store, where they meet and fall in love. Sally is attractive and Jimmy is ambitious. There seems to be nothing standing in the way of complete success. But they reckon without the desires and ambitions of others. Let alone, they have a good chance of achieving their personal aims, but hampered by these others, the battle is a difficult one. With an unscrupulous store detective who is attracted to Sally and is also in a position to get Jimmy out of the way, the fight is made all the more strenuous.

The background of the film, so typical of New York in both mood and structure, is just what this pair of young players needs. The department store with its teeming population is exactly suitable to their talents. The direction of David Butler has taken all of these details into account and brought them forth at their best.

● The safest tread is the one that can stop your car the quickest. Goodyears stop quicker than any other tire. 10% quicker than the second best. Up to 77% quicker than others. Tests on wet pavements prove it. Why not buy the safest tire?

MORE SAFETY in the plies

● Goodyears give you safety in every ply—because every ply is built with patented Supertwist cord—and every ply runs from head to head. Ask to see a Supertwist demonstration and see for yourself why it means more safety in every ply.

New Sights At the Fair

An impression of one of the dioramas showing how luscious olives grow in old Spain.

THINGS you have never seen before are being shown at the Century of Progress International Exposition this year. One of the principal food exhibits is that of Libby, McNeill & Libby, where you will be able actually to see some of the places where the foods canned by this company come from and some of the many spotlessly clean canneries where they are so carefully prepared.

From Far-Flung Places

This is accomplished by means of "dioramas." A diorama is not merely a picture but much more than that. Whereas a picture is just painted on a flat surface with only the tricks of foreshortening to indicate depth, a diorama has three dimensions and blends into a pictorial background in so realistic a fashion that you could almost swear that you can see the leaves stir in it and the figures move!

One of these dioramas will take you to far-off Hawaii where the succulent pineapple is canned. Another will make your mouth water with its vivid representation of one of California's famous peach orchards. A third will show a place in the far north where Alaska salmon is canned, and a fourth a peaceful pastoral scene whence evaporated milk travels to all parts of the world. Others will show canned meat and vegetable scenes, and still another just where and how the luscious olives grow in the new republic which has sprung from old Spain. The products themselves will be shown, too, alongside the dioramas, in large transparent glass jars in their finished forms.
