Funeral Home?

As we extend this invitation for you to visit our funeral home, the thought arises that you may wonder what reason there is for your accepting it. Briefly, it is no longer customary to wait until need arises before visiting a funeral home. Almost everyone may be obligated to make arrangements for a relative, friend or neighbor. Foresighted people are making it a point to visit and know about the facilities of modern funeral homes, as one of their responsibilities. By doing this they avoid hurried decisions, made in emergencies, that might result in lasting regret. They secure information which helps make their final tribute to FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-3. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled ap" saving made, not strung along in a line to waste it.

Mrs. Marie A. Larkin of Washington was visiting at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. S. Brower at Lone Oak last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lynn and daughter Elizabeth were visitors at the home of Mrs. Lynn's mother in Manassas on Sunday.

The sermon part of the 3rd Quar terly conference of the Sudley cir-cuit was delivered at Sudley last Sun day morning by the presiding elder the Rev. J. Howard Wells, from Ne hemiah's great utterance—"I engaged in a great work and not time to come down and talk with thee." This was a new one and caused us to wonder for a bit just what it was all about, but we soon found out. Nehemiah was rebuilding the walls and there were those who wanted to argue with him about it and discussed him from his purpose; but his reply was as above quoted. The lesson, then, to put it plain lanuage, was about like this, the not in the preachers' exact words: Get busy on some good work or project and keep at it; don't stop to argue with every Tom, Dick or Harry that might come along, for the Toms and the Dicks and the Harrys generally speaking, are just about as useful to society as barnacles are to a ship. The sermon throut was replete with good, common sense; strong, well delivered and well received by the congregation. Dr. Wells is a strong preacher.

Cold weather seems to be over, good roads are now enjoyed and above all things else, strawberries are getting ripe, and if there is one thing above another to awaken one out of his comatose state it is the "Strawberries prospect of cream"; and Sudley neighborhood can which they were designed, and being ably contained all their worldly produce some as fine specimens of the properties in which the late A. PANAMA
(No. 2)

The piers here at Cristobal are as fine as any in the world—vastly superior to those in New York—being equipped with the latest modern appliances for hauling cargo. (It seems a little odd that when we speak of transporting by freight cars we say we are "shipping by freight", and we speak of ship's freight", and we speak of ship's freight as "cargo". Such is the pervergity of human nature.) With wide docks having a depth of fifty feet of water, berths for ships on either side and sufficient space to berth as many as 20 ships at one time. Another very important, and entirely unique advantage here, is that the piers are right in the administration of the canal.

Those who were not here during the faintest idea of the size of this job by seeing the canal as it looks today. The first order given by Col. Goethals was for 4,500,000 bbls. of cement. It is hard to realize the amount of money and labor involved in that one order. The excavation amounted to 232,000,000 cubic yards of rock and dirt. It required 58,000 tons of steel for the lock gates alone.

These are staggering figures, yet they represent a small proportion of the labor and money. The cost of better to the level of the Pacific, and moves out into that ocean. It takes about six hours to travel the entire length of the canal.

Those who were not here during who a few years before, was a col-

All the steamship offices are hansome modern buildings, each flyinng its national flag. You can stand at our Terminal Building under the Stars and Stripes, and see the flags of a dozen nations flying at the tops of their respective buildings, with in the space of two blocks.

The forts here are all in plain view. Fort Sherman just across the harbor at the west end of the break-water; Fort Randolph; Coco Sola, the submarine base; the Fleet air base, and France Field, the airship base, are all just across the harbor about two miles away. Fort Delesseps is located at Battery Beach in the western edge of town. Fort Davis is about four miles distant, on the Gatun highway.

The Washington Hotel here, op-erated by the Panama R. R. Co., is located at Colon Beach, occupying gardens, and broad lawns surrounding it; the front lawn, with wide walks extending to the ocean front, with an omamental balristrade along the seawall.

A little further along Colon Beach we have the Colon Hospital, and the nurses' home. A block or two more we have the new Cristobal High School, completely equipped with all the modern fads known to the great public school monopoly; building at a lease of nearly a million dollars.

Ships from all parts of the world are daily transiting the canal. As many as twenty-seven in one day last week; and it costs on an average $4,500 in tolls for each ship, and as there is an average of about 15 ships per day, it is easy to under-stand how we take in over two million dollars per month in tolls.

The canal locks are built in pairs, so that both locks may be in use at the same time to accommodate ships going in opposite directions, or in the same direction, without delay. It is quite a novel sight to see one ship being raised 28 feet by the inflow of water, and by the side of it, in the adjoining lock, another ship being lowered 28 feet by the outflow of water. The locks, each are 1,000 feet long and 110 feet wide, can be filled or emptied in eight minutes.

There is a tunnel running through meter-large enough, if a track were laid in it, for an ordinary locomotive and train to pass through. This tunnel is always full, supplied by water from the lake, and the flow of water is controlled by powerful electric machinery, operated from a single control house built on the

The whole thing operates so silently, that, standing on the locks while ships are being towed through, you don't hear a sound except that of the electric "mules" as they grind along the tracks.

At Gatun there are three pairs of locks, and a ship entering from the Atlantic side, goes at sea level until it gets to, and inside the first lock, when the gates are automatically closed behind it. The ship is

Many entire towns had to be built along the Canal, at convenient points along the Canal, at convenient points along the Canal, at convenient points as quarters for the employees, all in complete sanitary condition. Immense water works with modern filtering plants were constructed. And now we have the finest drinking tons of steel for the lock gates alone.
