CAMP RECOVERY GREET VISITORS

Business Men at Good Will Banquet.

Approximately one hundred business and professional men of this and adjoining counties witnessed retreat and inspection at Camp Recovery last evening, meeting later in the mess hall to enjoy a meal which they all voted was one of the best they had ever tasted.

Mayor Harry P. Davis was master of ceremonies. In his opening remarks, he stressed the fact that the dinner was gotten up with the idea of exhibiting the good will of the community which feels proud of the fine quality of the personnel of the officers and men. He read letters of regret from a number of prominent citizens who were unable to attend.

Clog dancing by the boys, with plenty of good instrumental music got too much for one R. S. Hynson who ambled forward and showed the boys some real old fashioned rhythm. Those boys surely gave Dick a hand.

Captain Darmopray introduced the military guests which included Captain Harry Henry, Lieut. Hritz, Captain Esias, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. Powers and Lieut. Rich.

Hon. C. A. Sinclair introduced the civilian guests as follows: Hon. Howard Worth Smith, Hon. Melvin C. Hazen, Hon. George Herring, Hon. James Ashby, Hon. Frank P. Moncure, James U. Kinchele, H. E. Dameron, Calvin Haley, L. L. Triplet and Mr. Deering.

Hawes Davies then proceeded to give the inside dope on the business efficiency, peculiarities and other secrets of the balance of the crowd. He put it in a very efficient way and all hands got as many laughs as there were guests present.

Captain Darmopray in his welcoming talk had been most cordial to the guests as he had been equally efficient in his tour of the camp buildings, explaining the workings of the camp in every detail. He appeared to be proud of the good spirit among the camp boys and asked his guests to note their splendid discipline. He called attention to the fact that 92 percent of the personal was native to Virginia.

This statement elicited an enthusiastic remark from Hon. Thomas Lion who spoke for the civilian guests when he reminded the boys that they "sprang from the loins of the greatest state in the Union." He praised the boys, reminding them that in any contest, "It is the private who brings up the rear." He, too, was in a complimentary vein concerning the discipline. Tom had a chunk of the birthday cake of the CCC Camp, and the initials were too much for him so he put the thought into words and claimed that his messmate's initials were the inspiration from which the letters came (C. C. Cloe).

Judge Smith stated that on the occasion of his first visit to any CCC Camp that he had witnessed the most remarkable discipline.

He congratulated the officers upon the able manner in which they had worked to bring the camp to a high degree of efficiency. Mr. Smith put a great deal of emphasis upon the underlying purpose of the camp project as the reason for its existence and that this should be the main idea to keep in mind.

Mel Hazen was in his usual jovial manner and he got off some after dinner stories (Jim Kinchele was the only other one who put over in exactly the same groove). He also stressed the far reaching effects of such camp work as a training which would never otherwise be available for most of the boys.

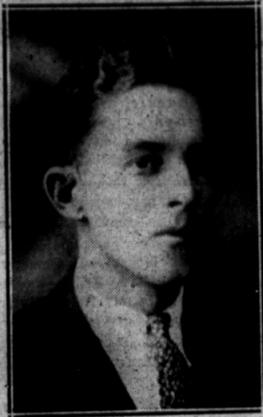

Captain Henry of the Regulars, told of the methods of youth development, dwelling at length on leadership training and the boundless intangible results of such schooling. He claimed that the benefits of the resultant responsibility were beyond measure in monetary terms.

He dwelt for a moment on the co-operative feeling of the gathering and laid much credit to the co-operative success which had been attained by the close harmony of the military and technical training, personally naming Captain Darmopray and James Rossell, in charge of forestry training.

Hon. George Herring made a brief address of congratulation to the camp authorities. Others who spoke for a few moments were F. P. Moncure, James Kinchele, L. L. Triplet, James Ashby and O. D. Waters.

The show just wasn't complete

APPOINTED POSTMASTER

Hawes Thornton Davies, Jr., of Manassas has been recommended for the position of Postmaster at Manassas. It is understood that the recommendation is a temporary appointment, pending a permanent appointment.

Mr. Davies is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hawes T. Davies and a grandnephew of the late Judge J. B. Thornton. For generations his family has served Prince William and the selection gives much satisfaction to his friends. Mr. Davies was educated at William and Mary and is a very bright, efficient young man.

MACS LOSE FIRST LEAGUE GAME

Hard Fought Battle Goes to Ballston by 2 to 1 Score.

Ballston put a decided crimp in the Macs' pennant aspirations Sunday when Hull Beated Dreifus in a brilliant pitching battle. The loss snapped the Macs' win streak, which had reached the impressive total of six, and knocked them off the top perch in the League standing.

Hull, who in the two times he has faced the locals, has been nothing but bad news, again tamed the Mac sluggers, granting but three hits, two of which were of the scratchy variety. Wildness, especially during the early innings, had him in difficulty a number of times but with the exception of the third inning he escaped unscathed and thereafter was practically invincible.

The Macs missed a golden opportunity to score in the opening inning, receiving the benefit of a single and three walks and yet were unable to push across a single marker. Woodard opened the inning by beating out a slow roller down the third base line but was picked off first a moment later, Bowman to Ball. Kite and Vetter walked but Via made a brilliant running catch of Saunders' looper to check the Macs assault. A pass to Bradshaw filled the bases but Wurdemann rolled out to Miller for the third out. The Macs scored their lone marker in the third when with one out, Kite walked, went to second on Vetter's out and scored when Saunders banged a hot one off McQuinn's shins into center field. They threatened mildly in the fifth, getting men on first and second via the pass route but Vetter flied to Wolverton for the third out. Their last opportunity came in the seventh, when with two away, Dreifus singled to left for the only clean hit off Hull and Woodard was hit by a pitched ball. Dreifus, however, was trapped off second and run down, Spitzer getting the putout.

Ballston threatened in the first when with two out, Via singled and went to third as Miller sliced a double down the right field. Dreifus fanned Biggs for the third out to end the threat. Ballston tied the score in the fourth, which Miller opened by beating out a roller to Reeves. Biggs was out for bunting foul on the third strike. Miller then stole second. Spitzer popped to Bradshaw but Ball beat out a roller to Reeves sending Miller to third. Bowman lined to center to score Miller, Ball taking third on the hit. Hull walked to fill the bases but Dreifus fanned McQuinn for the third out. The win-without some of OD's classy humor and he woke up everything in a mild way.

Adjournment was slow although the hour was late. All hands had had such a pleasant evening that they appeared averse to journeying back to paved streets once more.

Future Farmers of Prince William at World's Fair

When the announcement was made that A Century of Progress would be repeated this year at Chicago, this group of Future Farmers from Virginia began saving their chore money, and as a result enjoyed a thrilling adventure at the latest edition of the World's Fair. Those in the above picture, taken on the steps of the Administration building, are left to right, front row—C. O. Bittle, Charles Bauserman, Warren Hynson, Robert Adamson, John Hooker, Bill Hale, Kenneth Rollins, William Hale, and Roy Fredrick; second row—Charles Lynn, Walter Schroeder, O. Young, Howard Neff, Cleveland Fisher, Woodrow Smith, Eastman Keys, and Howard Miller; third row—Ralph Rollins, John Waters, Ivan Fountain, James Cornwell, Henry Peters, Vernon Moore, Allan Pitt, and J. L. Rollins; fourth row—Philip Reading, Clayton Lifeau, Stanley Harline, Paul Cooksey, Jr., Harvey Luck, Roger Anderson, and Benjamin Schaeffer.

The boys from Manassas and Nokesville went on the Future Farmer tour July 31, returned safely August 11 and all reported a good time. It will probably be sometime before these young men fully realize the extent of their tour which totaled eighteen hundred and eighty-one miles.

The scenery was continuously changing and many times strong contrasts appeared. The mountains and hills of West Virginia were quite picturesque in comparison with the miles of level country through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. The first night was spent in the municipal park at Mannington, West Virginia. Without a doubt everyone was thoroughly chilled when we awoke at "Three O'clock in the Morning." As we gathered around the camp fire to prepare breakfast numerous expense accounts were hastily revised. Nearly everyone resolved to put all of his spending money in the price of additional blankets. During the day as we left the mountains and oil fields of West Virginia and moved into Ohio the temperature climbed considerably. The second night blankets were for sale even though no extra ones had been purchased. Upper Sandusky was a nice warm spot and evidently the soil was safer than in West Virginia for everyone slept until the shrill sound of the bus horn had blasted the air several times. The aroma from fried apples, bacon and eggs blended with boiling coffee sounded a final call to which all responded. In Canada on the return trip the natives were complaining of the severe heat. With a good breeze from the lakes and temperature below eighty we felt that they were unduly disturbed.

The three days spent at the World

Fair were crammed full of changing scenes and it was hard for us to select the worthwhile instead of being overcome by the massiveness of such a magnificent presentation. We found everything one could ever expect to see and quite a lot of the unexpected. Our sight seeing did not end when we left the fair. It was generally agreed that the tour of Chicago which included the Board of Trade, Swift and Company plant, the Union Stock Yards, Chicago University, a trip through the Loop, and a dip in the waters of Lake Michigan was very interesting.

On the return trip there were many high lights. The changing agricultural conditions were always in evidence. Towering smoke stacks were almost constant reminders of industrial centers. From the Ambassador Bridge it was possible for us to get a most impressive view of Detroit, Mich., the home of the "Ford Family." As the bus rolled across the international line and down the Canadian side of the bridge our view of Windsor Canada was exceptional.

Throughout Canada our party received a most cordial welcome. On numerous occasions we were made to feel quite welcome when various citizens asked if they could do anything for our pleasure and comfort. Judging from the variation in crops grown Canada seems to be a country of living. We were also very much impressed with the fact that considerable attention is given to leisure time. Play grounds were found at regular intervals all through the country and every evening these were filled with people joining in clean play.

Our visit to the Heinz Plant was most interesting. These we saw canning done on a scale beyond our conception. Just imagine one and one half million jars of catsup in one pile. That was one of many such units in storage at this plant which supplies the world with its products.

The Welland Canal which makes it possible for steamships to climb the mountain and connects Lake Erie with Lake Ontario was very interesting. It is the second largest canal in the world. Here we witnessed the lowering of a sea going vessel forty-six and one half feet through the eighth lock. The group then saw the lock refilled with twenty million gallons of water in fifteen minutes. We also studied carefully the operation of the locks and received a detailed description from the gentleman in charge of the canal.

Our interest was next taken by the largest hydroelectric plant in the world through the turbines of which passes, one-tenth of the water from Niagara river. From this point we toured the great gorge of the Niagara river and crossed the Falls View Bridge, getting a wonderful picture of the falls. Spending a night and half of the next day at Niagara we saw many notable sights and visited the "Home of Shredded Wheat."

Turing our attention to a southern course we passed down through New York state and into Pennsylvania, where we drove through beautiful mountains. At Gettysburg we spent two hours looking at the battlefields. Traveling on down through Maryland we soon found ourselves in Virginia and near "Home Sweet Home."

The banners on our bus served a good purpose. People who saw we were from Virginia seemed to put forth every effort to see that our wishes were gratified. In numerous cases we came across Virginians, who had strayed from home and were apparently very happy to see people from their native state.

ARLINGTON FARMERS TOUR NEXT WEDNESDAY

All people of the county, both men and women, interested in visiting the Arlington Experiment Farm are invited to join the county tour on Wednesday, August 29. Arrangements have been made with Dr. E. C. Butterfield, Superintendent of the Arlington Farm, to receive the visitors at 10:30 Wednesday morning, and for men from the various departments to explain the experimental work being carried on under their direction.

Of especial interest to the farmers will be the work with the lespedezas, soybeans, cowpeas, grapes, storage and insect control. There will also be an explanation of the results of barley and winter oat experimental work at Arlington and other places. Some of this work together with a visit to the Botanical Gardens will be of interest to the women in the group. Lunch should be taken as there are no restaurant facilities at the farm.

All making the tour and going in cars will go by the shortest route to arrive at the station at 10:30 a. m. Arrangements have been made for the large bus of Eastman Keys to stop for those who prefer to go

6TH MARINES BREAK CAMP

Vast Crowd Witnesses Closing Exercises at Commissioner Hazen's Home.

The Sixth Marine Brigade Reserves closed its annual encampment on Saturday morning when the corps entrained at Manassas for the Capitol City.

After nearly two weeks of active training they were put one of their severest tests at midnight Thursday when the icy waters of Cedar Run came up into their sleeping quarters where they camped on Hon. M. C. Hazen's farm near Aden.

The intense darkness added to the general discomfort and tractors were plowing the fields at daybreak getting the equipment to higher levels.

In spite of the heavy downpour which had been the constant order of the day, fully a thousand visitors came early Friday afternoon to witness the drilling and other stunts.

It was a new sight for quite a few and many compliments were given the Reserves for their high quality of soldiery.

The program was arranged with finesse and the tests were both comical and severe. To see the boys hopping about in long sacks and in the interim go from bathing suits to ensemble and back again or vice versa brought forth much applause.

Perhaps the funniest sight was the obstacle race when a detail of about twenty went through pup tents, over a covered army van, and then reversed with some diversifications. It was a constant dog pile that was very amusing.

There were scores of dignitaries from both the State and Municipal governments, some of whom consented to act as judges, others to present medals to the smiling winners.

The sunset parade given in honor of Commissioner Hazen was inspiring. The high point of this feature was the presentation of the Order of the Compassionate Heart to Colonel J. J. Staley, commanding officer, by Lieut. Col. A. L. Luxembourg, formerly of the Russian Imperial Army.

Colonel Luxembourg, with all his European mannerisms, was a feature of note in his full regalia.

The evening mess was excellent and many of the guests joined the officers with much pleasure.

The boxing at night was the first in this section for a long time. Fans from everywhere were on hand to cheer the winners who will go to make up the tournament team. The bouts were well managed but several were uneven and two or three of the entrants plainly suffered from the lack of proper training. The winners were good sportsmen, however, and should make a good account of themselves. After the entertainment, an impromptu vaudeville was given with the brigade band furnishing the music. The honor of presenting the medals to the winners fell to Mrs. Hazen.

As a host Mr. Hazen lived up to his reputation and nothing was left undone to provide for everyone's comfort. Both the visiting Leathernecks and the civilians were high in their praise of this leading citizen of old Prince William.

PERFORM FOR KIWANIS

The main feature of the Kiwanis meeting last week was the excellent rendition of musical numbers by Miss Virginia Speiden and some of her musical associates.

Numbers were rendered by Miss Gladys Ball, Miss Miriam Blough, and Mr. Cleveland Fisher. The Club extended its thanks to Miss Speiden for the splendid entertainment.

ATTEND BAPTIST MEETING

Those attending the Potomac Baptist Association at Mt. Hope Church, from Manassas, Colonel and Mrs. Robert A. Hutchison, Mr. Thomas H. Cobb, Mr. W. J. Jasper, Miss Lillian Jasper, Mr. L. Ledman.

There was a large crowd in attendance both days.

The program was very good. Among some of the important things passed by the body, was the unanimous re-election of the Rev. C. Wirt Trainham, associational worker for the association.

(Mr. Ledman was elected moderator of the association—an earned appreciation of his work and a signal honor for Prince William County—Ed. note.)

The Homecoming services held at Asbury Methodist Church on Sunday was an entire success. Many friends from a distance attended as well as a large number of people from other places on the charge. Two sermons were preached by the pastor both of which were classed as excellent. The whole service with the good music was very uplifting. The social hour and dinner was also a pleasant part of the day. We hope for more such delightful occasions as this in our rural congregations.

Little Miss Jane Marshall is visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Jessie Earhart and Mrs. Paul Garber with her daughter, Thelma, and son, Milton, spent a few days with home folks and attended services on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marshall have returned from a visit to Mrs. Marshall's parents at Wightman, Va.

Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Fielding and daughter, Marysue, and son, Frank, Jr., of Aberdeen, Md., spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Lawson.

America Takes the Lead in Air

The notable performance of the Brazilian Clipper, first of three new types planes designed for international service, gives America the lead in the impending battle for business along the world's aerial trade routes. How this remarkable plane was constructed and the record it has broken is told in an article which will appear in the magazine section of The Washington Star next Sunday, August 26.

LARGE SQUASH

Joe Wheaton of the Canova neighborhood brought in a yellow squash Saturday measuring 18 inches and weighing about 5 pounds.

WATERFALL

Mrs. S. R. Clark of Baltimore, who has been visiting relatives here, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lawrence of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Richard Wilson of Marlton, N. J., were guests at "Oakshade" recently.

Mrs. Micheal Harlow and small son, Pat of Washington, are visiting at Hagley this week. Mrs. Harlow was formerly Marion Torbert of Washington.

Mrs. R. B. Gossom entertained a number of her friends, both small and large, at a beautifully appointed party on Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5:30. The occasion being the 8th birthday of her grandson, Philip Moore Thornhill.

The W. M. U. of Antioch met at the community hold on Thursday afternoon for their regular meeting; the topic being "Missionary Footsteps in the Orient."

Quite a number of our folks attended the Baptist Association held last week with Mt. Hope Church in Loudoun County.

Mrs. Charles Barnes who had the misfortune to fall and break a small bone in her ankle, is convalescing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith.

Mrs. Parke Torbert who has been visiting at "Hagley" returned to her home in Washington, Tuesday.

The series of meetings which were conducted at Antioch last week by the Rev. R. T. Hayes of Warsaw, assisted by the pastor, The Rev. V. H. Council were brought to a close on Friday evening. The annual home coming day on the second Sunday, which was the beginning of the meeting, was attended by a large crowd of people and it was indeed a "home coming" in every sense of the word.

Mr. Ashby Flynn of Washington, D. C. gave a beautiful rendition of Edgar Guest's touching poem, entitled "Home" at the opening of the afternoon service.

The Rev. Barnett Grimsley of Broad Run Church assisted at the ordination of two new deacons, namely, W. R. Gossom and Preston Smith; in addition to the two who have served through the years, G. A. Gossom and G. W. Shirley.

The ordination service was beautiful and impressive and surely any thoughtful Christian listening to the forceful words of the Rev. Mr. Hayes must have been reminded anew of the words of Christ, Himself who said "No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to one and despise the other."

The lovely gladiolas and ferns which graced the pulpit were brought by Mrs. Robin Powell of Bailey's Cross Roads and Mrs. Ford Anderson of Warrenton.

BIG MOMENTS IN NEW YORK'S VIVID HISTORY

New York in the early years of the century when "Diamond Jim" Brady was a familiar figure and Lillian Russell was the toast of the town, lives briefly on the screen in "Manhattan Melodrama," which co-stars Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy and opens next week at the Dixie Theatre.

As a sort of prologue to the principal action, which is laid in 1934, the picture re-creates one of the most horrible disasters in the big city's history—the fire and beaching of the excursion steamer General Slocum, a tragedy that cost more than 1,000 lives.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio technicians re-enacted the entire disaster in and around the studio's stages, and made it one of the most spectacular scenes ever filmed.

Re-created also is the famous Winter Garden roof, long since torn down where, in 1906, Harry Thaw killed Stanford White. A brief sequence of the picture takes place there.

The Dempsey-Firpo fight in 1923 is still another of the big moments of metropolitan history that comes to life in "Manhattan Melodrama," forming a background for one of the dramatic scenes.

The story itself deals with the careers of two boys, Gable and Powell, reared in the closest friendship and reaching middle life to find themselves on opposite sides of the law, Gable as a bigshot gambler, powerful and dramatic figure of the city's night life, and Powell as the district attorney forced to prosecute him for murder. Between them, loved by both, is Myrna Loy.

The best way to prove that Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" actually makes motoring twice as pleasant as before is to drive the new Chevrolet over all kinds of roads. You will find that the continuous jars you used to get even on smooth pavements are ended. The steering wheel is free of vibration. Back seat passengers are comfortable and relaxed. You can maintain higher speeds over rough roads that used to slow you down. You will find, in fact, that probably for the first time in your experience, every foot of every mile is equally enjoyable. Perhaps that explains why so many people are buying and recommending this extremely low-priced car.

LIFE INSURANCE ON THE BOOM.

A remarkable gain has been made during the past six months in life insurance, and former Gov. E. Lee Trinkle, president of the Shenandoah Life Insurance, in an address at Roanoke, says this trend can be taken as a safe index that business in the country is on the up-grade.

"That the people of the country are turning to life insurance reflects encouraging progress toward economic recovery, comments the Roanoke Times on Gov. Trinkle's address. "While we were in the depression few, comparatively speaking, were in position to add to their life insurance and new policies dropped off materially in consequence of economic conditions and the prevailing business stagnation.

"Now that the country is on the upward grade, from an economic standpoint, improving conditions are being reflected in the remarkable gains made by life insurance companies under more favorable conditions. Not only life insurance representatives but business men generally should view this progress with satisfaction and look upon it as highly encouraging."—Winchester Star.

Let The Youngster Decide

May Robson's views on letting children follow their natural bent are decidedly interesting. They indicate that the veteran actress, who enjoys the distinction of being the only great-grandmother in the ranks of Hollywood's motive actors, takes a sane and intelligent view of life and its problems.

Discussing her hopes for the baby daughter born recently to her grandson, Edward Robson Gore, of Byside, L. I., Miss Robson acknowledged that she is a believer in letting youngsters achieve their destiny without too much guidance and pressure from their elders. "I don't believe in thwarting children," she declared. "Half the time when a boy wants to go on the stage his mother will say, 'that would be awful—a child of mine on the stage.' But I would say, 'That's a good idea, try it.' If a child wants to be a painter, let him try. Maybe he'll turn out to be a first class

A man who sits in the park and watches the busy world go by, could also have occupied an important position among his fellows if he had cultivated early in life the habit of depositing regularly in a savings account. house painter, anyway."

Miss Robson evidently has not been acting all these years for nothing. She has used her eyes and ears—and mind—o good effect while entertaining people with her considerable ability before the footlights and in more recent years, upon the screen.

Older people are far too prone to want to order their children's lives. They mean well, no doubt, but just the same it's a mistaken thing to do. Find out what the youngster wants to do, what he is most interested in, and then help him to do it. To seek to dissuade him and turn his interest into other lines is to lay the possible foundation for keen regret in after years.—Roanoke Times.

GIVE SMALL BUSINESS A FREER REIN

Whatever changes President Roosevelt may order in N. R. A. administration, whether it will be a five-man administrative board or retention of one-man control, steps should be taken to give business, especially the small business man and manufacturer, a freer rein in the management of his affairs.

The N. R. A. has done a splendid work in business recovery. At the time it was launched, it acted as a confidence restorer and business stimulator. It enabled the business man to get a grip upon himself.

Gen. Johnson, the N. R. A. administrator, is said to favor a five-man board. In fact, it is stated that he and Mr. Richberg, chairman of the Emergency Council named by Mr. Roosevelt for a survey of result of the recovery program, will recommend an enlarged board to administer the codes.

It is expected that organization features of the new plan will reduce the permanent governmental recovery agency. One of the changes expected is that prosecutions for N. R. A. violations will be placed in the hands of the Department of Justice. This is entirely right. It will mean the removal of the Blue Eagles will become a legal process and not remain in the hands of one man with power to say "yes" or "no."

Small business concerns are ready to go ahead if they are given assurances many of the restrictions placed on commercial activities will not hamper them in their push-forward. The small everyday business man did not bring on the depression. He did bring not engage in all kinds of wildcat promotional sales and cut-throat competition. He managed his affairs with more or less conservatism. This business element may be counted upon to keep within reasonable lines and maintain conservative methods. Give them a chance to go ahead.—Winchester Star

Named by Teaching Organization.

The Alpha Chapter of the Alpha Tau Pi professional society has been organized at the State Teachers College at Fredericksburg during the Summer Session. Alpha Tau Pi society is a professional organization for teachers specializing in elementary education looking to the B. S. or B. A. degree. The society has three undergraduate degrees corresponding to the honor society feature after the manner of Phi Beta Kappa, and at a recent meeting, the third or highest degree was awarded to Miss Mary Benson Terrill of Haymarket.

The chief aims of the society are to promote fellowship among the teachers in service and in preparation for teaching in the elementary schools and for the study of problems of child welfare. It is hoped that all four of the State Teachers College will co-operatively launch local chapters sometime during the Fall term, in which case the society will seek incorporation and nationalization at once.

Miss Doris Taylor of Maryland was chosen first president of Alpha chapter and Miss Mildred Wood and Miss Mary Benson Terrill have alternately been acting as temporary secretary. Miss Grace E. Metz of Manassas has also been elected to membership.

INVESTIGATION OF MYSTERIOUS ROBBERIES IN "GALLOPING ROMEO"

Those who prefer stirring action, strong drama and gripping suspense will get more than their fill of their favorite thrills next night at the Dixie Theatre at Manassas, Va., when Bob Steele, Monogram western star, ride across the screen in "Gallop Romeo," seventh of his entertaining series of western pictures.

The plot concerns the trials and tribulations of a young cowpuncher and his elderly pal, who leave the State of Nevada when their efforts on behalf of law-enforcement are misunderstood by the local authorities, only to land in hot water in California when they become involved in the investigation of a number of mysterious gold robberies in which the shipments have disappeared from locked strong boxes on the stage coach line.

THIS ONLY FRIEND
(From old scrap book)
Brothers and Sisters have passed from me
Parents I never know.
Beneath the Sod where the grave stones be
Telling the false and true
My kindred sleep, and a vagabond I have my dog's society.

Together we tramped it many aday.
Tramped it early and late,
Cheering each other upon the way,
With many a friendly chat.
For we talked together, we two fast friends.

He does not hasten his friendship for gain.

For he loves the land that gives
Though the food I offer is scant and plain
Befitting our vagabond lives.
Though others have fed him bounteously.

Does he yearn for their flesh-pots? no! not he!

He knows my whistle, he knows my hand.

Touching him in his sleep.
He fetches and carries at my command.

Faithful watch doth he keep.
His tail is an abstract of all that is wise.

There is a world of love in his sober eyes.

He was but a pup when he came to me.

Gamesome, merry, uncouth,
And we grew together but somehow he

Has run the soonest through his youth.

For now he is a sage old dog
While I am a stripling still

The dog's existence, waxes and wanes
Ere man's has scarce begun.

Come tell me my dog, does a dog complain.

That his course so soon is run
Are his years so few, much longer than ours

Is his life time measured by thoughts, not ours.

Some men live a dozen good years.
While others live but one.

Oh! it is but a matter of smiles and tears,
When all is said and done.

Who knows old friend, but you may yet be

The only mourner, to mourn for me.

THRILLS MIXED WITH LAUGHS IN NEW MYSTERY

Secret panels, sliding doors, invisible microphones and disappearing rooms—tricks of legerdemain that would make Houdini look like an amateur come to the screen in "Murder in the Private Car," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's comedy-mystery thriller that opens next week at the Dixie Theatre.

Charlie Ruggles, Una Merkel, Mary Carlisle, Russell Hardie, Porter Hall, Willard Robertson, Berton Churchill and others are in the featured cast.

Into one set, the last car on a transcontinental limited train, studio technicians incorporated every known trick of magic. The effects are used for surprise entrances and exits of giant gorillas, mysterious assassins and others who add to the nerve-tangling aspects of the picture.

There were three separate places in the car in which a human being could be made to vanish in the twinkling of an eye. There were no less than nine invisible panels concealing secret alcoves large enough to hide a human body.

Electrical wizards installed switches so delicate that all lights could be extinguished by passing the hand in front of a concealed control board. Bells rang when invisible light rays were broken by the passage of a human body.

And to cap the amazing devices installed for purposes of comedy and thrills, the car had secret panels that rolled down at the pressure of a button, enclosing the occupants in a rolling coffin!

The set was one of the most remarkable ever built for pictures, and attracted the admiration of all studio technicians.

In it is enacted a thrilling story crammed with laughs. Adapted from the stage success, "The Rear Car," the picture tells of the murderous attacks made on a young heiress, and her rescue by a comedy de-fector of crime.

43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE!

"You're too modest!"

Motorists who got the first G-3's put out—months before the public announcement—say, "You're too modest!" Many of them report 50% to 100% more non-skid mileage. Why, then, do we insist on only 43%? Well, 43% is a definite test-car-proved figure. Very likely it is low for normal use—because the tests which established the 43% average were gruelling: cars speeding up to 50, jamming on brakes, mile after mile, day and night. Very likely most motorists will get more than 43% more non-skid mileage. But we'll string along with 43%—because it's plenty to deliver at no extra cost. Come see the tire that's the talk of the nation.
