WOMAN'S CLUB HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. Paul Cooksey Re-elected President.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Manassas Woman's Club was held on Wednesday of this week, at the high school.

Reports and resumes of the work done by the standing committees of the club were received by the president. These reports showed many outstanding and interesting accomplishments, most outstanding perhaps being that of the charity committee, whose work on behalf of those in need, and financial assistance in hospitalization for children has been most extensive.

New books have been added to the high school library by the library committee, visits and messages of cheer to sick members, featured the report to visiting committee. New members have been added to the club roster, and a very splendid report by the program committee to the effect that the program as lined up at the beginning of year had been carried out, with all programs of interest, covering a varied type of subjects.

The newly-elected officers were Mrs. Paul Cooksey, president; Mrs. A. A. Hooff, first vice-president; Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant, second vice-president; Mrs. C. C. Lynn, secretary; Mrs. Harvey Steele, treasurer, and Mrs. Frederick R. Hynson, corresponding secretary. These officers will be formally installed at the annual May breakfast, which was inaugurated by the club last year, and bids fair to become an annual occasion.

The guest speaker for the occasion Mr. Dan Hollenga, of Alexandria, addressed the members on the "Women's Part in Influencing Public Opinion About National Affairs." He spoke of the large part women of the past had played in influencing, both for good and evil, the men of their time, and urged that the women's clubs of today should be alert and active in keeping up with the present economic situation and do all they can to see that public money be conserved and directed to useful purposes.

Mrs. DeChant offered a resolution, regarding the present movement for world peace. This was enthusiastically received, and a number of members signed a petition later to promote this great and worthy cause. Hospitality and refreshments were dispersed during the social hour by Mrs. Eli Swavely, Miss Margaret Lynch, Mrs. Harry Love and Mrs. Chas. Linton.

FREDERICKSBURG TO BE RE-ENACTED

Colorful Celebration to Be Held May 2.

A thrilling chapter in the history of Virginia, the Battle of Chancellorsville, will be reenacted on this historic battlefield, near Fredericksburg, May 2, by Virginia Military Institute Cadets and marines from Quantico. The celebration is being given national publicity and because it will be restaged historically correct in detail, many high officials of the federal government, of the War Department and of the embassies of foreign countries in Washington, will be in attendance.

The celebration plans are being worked out by the people of Fredericksburg through the Battlefield Park Association, and with the cooperation of the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania County National Military Memorial Park, as Chancellorsville battlefield is a part of this area.

The plan calls for an explanation of the engagements which immediately preceded the fight at Chancellorsville and Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, of Richmond, an authority on Confederate history, with the aid of loud speakers, will make this explanation to the crowd of thousands that are expected. The Virginia Military Institute Cadets will play the part of the Confederate Army and United States Marines the Union forces. While the restaged battle is in progress it will be explained by Dr. Freeman, who will be aided by the use of a giant map of the area, which is now being prepared.

1935 MAY DAY PROCLAMATION

Governor Orders Spring Fete Observed.

The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Peery:

"WHEREAS, it is essential that we conserve and develop our human resources; and

"WHEREAS, the health and welfare of children develop a finer citizenry; and

"WHEREAS, the responsibility for the well-being of children is the duty of individuals, communities, and the State;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE C. PEERY, Governor of Virginia, do urge our citizens to observe a Child Health Day this spring in every community, county and city, that we may unite in developing the highest type of service for Virginia's children.

"GIVEN under my hand and under the lesser seal of the Commonwealth, at Richmond, this twenty-first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and in the one hundred and fifty-ninth year of the Commonwealth."

Governor Peery has shown his interest in the welfare of the children of Virginia by issuing the above Proclamation calling upon the whole State to join the nation-wide observance of the day commemorating Child Health. Virginia has been fortunate in that her governors have for several years paused long enough in their busy life to show their concern for the health and well-being of the children, by proclaiming abroad their desire that the whole State shall devote one day to focusing attention upon this objective. On this day the public will be shown in various attractive ways what has been accomplished by the schools during the past session in promoting the health of the pupils, and all will be given an opportunity to decide what may be accomplished in that respect during the next year by concerted efforts of all the people for the "people" these children will soon become.

This is one way by which it is hoped that parents and the public generally may be made alive to all the opportunities offered to make Virginia a healthy State through the health of its children. The special points to be emphasized this year are that every child has a right to be made healthy before he enters school, and to be given that protection from communicable diseases, especially diphtheria, which is offered by medical science.

Last year there were 62 county-wide celebrations, 30 white, 32 negro, and 17 city-wide celebrations, 9 white, 8 negro; and in addition, there were 1425 individual school celebrations, 777 white, 648 negro. We have reason to think that the number this year will be at least equally large.

EMPLOYMENT GAINS IN VIRGINIA BUILDING

A marked improvement in employment in construction industries in Virginia was noted by Frank P. Evans, statistician for the State Industrial Commission, in an analysis of monthly figures issued this week.

Mr. Evans said there was also some improvement in commercial employment for March, compared with March a year ago, but that manufacturing employment appeared to be about the same.

There were 2,878 injuries resulting from industrial accidents in March, Mr. Evans reported, compared with 2,894 in March, 1934. Of the total number, 12 were fatal. The industrial commission ruled on 664, compensation cases during the month, compared with 606 last year.

1934 TREE PLANTING SMASHES RECORDS

More than 163,586,000 trees were planted on national and State forest lands in 1934, breaking all previous tree-planting records in the United States, it was announced Monday by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association.

MARRIAGE RECORD

April 5: Francis C. Wilson and Jeanne Gardner, both of Haymarket.

PROCLAMATION DESIGNATING CONSERVATION WEEK AND ARBOR DAY

March 1, 1935

WHEREAS, the economic value of our natural resources is untold, and the aesthetic value of our forests, our streams and lakes, and our plant life cannot be estimated; and

WHEREAS, to conserve and protect these and all other natural resources of our country, we shall be false to the heritage left us by those dauntless pioneers who, in the midst of a wilderness, laid the foundations of our nation;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE C. PEERY, Governor of Virginia, do hereby proclaim the week beginning April 8, 1935, as CONSERVATION WEEK and Friday, April 12th, as ARBOR DAY, and I do request that during this week all educational agencies of the State, both public and private, and the people generally, conduct programs covering the various phases of the work of conservation, and devote a portion of the day indicated to the planting and cultivation of the American Dogwood and other ornamental trees and shrubs about their homes, in public parks, and along the highways of the State.

Given under my hand and under the lesser seal of the Commonwealth at Richmond, Virginia, this first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and in the one hundred and fifty-ninth year of the Commonwealth.

GEORGE C. PEERY,
Governor

By the Governor:

PETER SAUNDERS,
Secretary of the Commonwealth

CONSERVATION WEEK AT M.H.S.

Conservation Week proclaimed by Governor Peery of Virginia is being celebrated at the high school this week. Assembly and class talks are being given by the students on a number of interesting topics: the conservation policies of the government; the scenic beauties of Virginia, the beautifying of the homestead by native plants and trees, the preserving the beauty of the Virginia forests, etc. The special feature of the Friday program will be a talk on forestry by Mr. Lamb, editor of the "Manassas Journal." Mr. Lamb, who spent ten years in the National Forestry Service, is an ardent devotee of tree culture and all lovers of trees should hear his address. The assembly on Friday will be from 11:30 to 12:15. All interested are cordially invited.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS AT M.H.S.

Several notable assemblies have been held at the high school lately. On Tuesday of this week Rev. Mr. Miller of the Manassas Lutheran Church gave to the first and second year classes in history a very interesting lecture, illustrated with lantern slides on the life of Martin Luther. Last week the school had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Bessie Carter Randolph, the new president of Hollins College, Va. Dr. Randolph spoke of the value of a college education, and more particularly of the advantages offered girls by a woman's college. Other interesting addresses along the same lines were recently made by Miss Bruyn of Mt. Holyoke College, Mass., and by Miss Grace Moran and Miss Garber of the Farmville and Harrisonburg State Teachers Colleges.

CLUB CELEBRATES LADIES NIGHT

The Kiwanians were made very happy last Friday evening when Arthur Sinclair Boatwright returned to active membership after having been on the idle list for the past two years.

Arthur celebrated by introducing a talented musician, Charles H. Tenser, to the club. Mr. Tenser, who has long since been a radio performer in Richmond, gave the club several numbers with Miss Hamilton at the piano. Prior to this, O. D. Waters' guest, Mr. Frank C. Mason, Bridgeport, Conn., sang several solos. In all and all the evening was very pleasant.

Mention was made of ladies night and was finally decided to have the same on April 11, at the parish hall. Arthur went on the warpath before the evening was over in the interest of his Christmas saving boxes, declaring a number of them had decreased badly.

It is also a great pleasure of the group to note the return of Win Athey to the fold. Win says he did everything he could to keep up his attendance while on his southern trip and may contribute some articles to the Journal about his tour.

MRS. DAWSON TO ENTERTAIN BETHEL WOMEN

Bethel Home Demonstration Group will hold its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Wallace Dawson on Thursday, April 18, at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Dewey Schaeffer will serve as assistant hostess, Mrs. H. Yorkdale will take part on the program. The topic for study is "Furniture and Slip Covers."

Women of the community are cordially invited to attend.

It is respectfully suggested that any one who expects to vote in the primary and general elections and who may be in doubt as to the payment of capitation taxes for years prior to 1934, communicate with the office of the county treasurer.

C. A. SINCLAIR, Treasurer.

A meeting has been called for 7:30 Friday, April 18, in the Town Hall, Manassas, Va., for the purpose of discussing the organization of a Chamber of Commerce for Prince William County.

All people, who are interested, are urged to attend this meeting.

STEEPLECHASE AT MIDDLEBURG

Annual Event Will Be Held April 17.

A steady stream of motor vans moved into the Virginia sporting center at Middleburg this week to unload the East's top steeplechase horses, coming there to race over timber and brush and on the flat in the annual spring meet of the fashionable Middleburg Hunt. The races open Saturday, with a program of 12 events. Wednesday of next week will see the thoroughbreds again sporting silks over the same course at Glenwood, estate of Daniel C. Sands, M. F. H. The Middleburg Hunt, four miles over stiff timber, the featured event of the entire meet, is on the program for opening day.

The entry list is the largest ever received for the meet, and race officials were enthusiastic over the prospects for the events. They pointed out that Drinmore Lade, Paul Mellon's outstanding Irish timber horse, winner at Camden and Richmond in successive weeks, and favorite for the Middleburg Cup, already is on the ground. Other stables quartered here includes that of Mrs. T. H. Somerville, who has one of the strongest strings of timber and brush horses in the entire country. Grooms were busy polishing horses from New Jersey, Maryland, Massachusetts and various points in Virginia.

Favored with fair weather, it was predicted that the races would be witnessed by the greatest outpouring of smart horse and society folk this section of the Old Dominion has ever seen.

On no other cross country course in America may a race be seen with less trouble to the spectator than here. A grandstand, constructed on top of a lofty hillside, commands a view of the entire course, the fences being seen without the aid of field glasses.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

Dated April 1935, the new Telephone Directory just issued by the Central Mutual Telephone Company, of Manassas, reflects great credit upon this enterprising local institution and also indicates that Manassas is a growing community.

Manager Vetter states that patrons who have not yet received their copy may get one by calling at the telephone office or at the National Bank. The Company is distributing the new directory as rapidly as possible.

DUMFRIES WOMEN TO MAKE TOUR

A tour is being made to the homes of the members of Dumfries Home Demonstration Group on Tuesday, April 16, for the purpose of scoring the grounds entering the competition for improvements made during the year. Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Mamie Sissons at 10:00 o'clock and proceed from there to homes included in the day's schedule. A progressive luncheon will be served. All members are urged to be present.

CURSE YOUR WIFE IN A LOW VOICE

Under the laws of Virginia, a man has the right to curse and abuse his wife, either in his home or outside—provided he does it in a low voice, Major W. I. Stockdon, Jr., chief probation officer of the Richmond Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, told members of the Amity Club this week.

A husband also may escape a charge of desertion when he takes up his abode in another state, if he sends his wife $1 after he leaves her, Major Stockdon said in discussing Virginia's antiquated statutes.

Furthermore, he said, the law fixes $1 as the minimum amount a groom must pay the minister for pronouncing the love-and-obey lines.

If the minimum fee displeases the minister and he demands more for his services, the groom may hale him into court and collect $50. The law requires a minister to accept what he is offered above $1, and ask for nothing more.

CHARITY BALL PLANS MATURE

Miss Margaret Lynch Is General Chairman.

Easter week will be filled with festivities for the younger set in Manassas and among the outstanding events will be the Charity Ball Monday, April 22, at the high school gymnasium.

Invitations have been listed and a gala fete is expected by all. The ladies of the Woman's Club have arranged a most attractive dance for the younger set which has been held by them in the last few years at Easter time.

Miss Margaret Lynch is general chairman of the ball and has an interesting committee consisting of Mesdames William Lloyd, Alfred Mylander, Thomas Broadbuss and R. C. Haydon.

The men's floor committee is headed by Mr. John Jenkins Davies and assisted by Messrs. Jack Merchant, Sedrick Saunders and Jack Ratcliffe. Preceding the ball, there will be several dinner parties. During intermission there will also be parties.

ANNUAL MAY BREAKFAST OF THE WOMAN'S CLUB

Distinguished Speakers Will Be Present.

Mrs. J. L. B. Buck of Richmond, State director of the Virginia Federation of Woman's Clubs, and Mrs. Fred M. Alexander of Newport News, editor of "The Virginian Club Woman," will be the principal speakers at the May breakfast of the Manassas Woman's Club.

At this breakfast takes place the annual installation of officers and besides the speakers above, a delightful musical program is being arranged.

The breakfast will be held on May 1 at 12:30 at the Swavely School but will be served by the ladies of the Trinity Episcopal Church. All members of the club are requested to advise Mrs. Swavely before April 27 whether or not they will be present and also how many guests they will bring with them. Each club member is entitled to bring not more than two guests.

FOR COMMUNITY HEALTH—
EVERY HOME SANITATED

The presence of flies is an indication of uncleanness, unsanitary conditions and improper disposal of substances in which they breed. They are both annoying and dangerous to health. It is therefore important to know where and how they breed, and to use such knowledge in controlling them.

The house fly eggs are laid on barnyard manure, chicken manure and to a less extent on decaying vegetable and animal matter. Horse manure affords the most favorable breeding place.

An individual fly lays from 120 to 160 eggs at one time and repeats this at frequent intervals during the summer months. Sometimes, the interval between batches of eggs is found to be as short as 36 minutes. In a few hours the eggs hatch into small transparent maggots. These maggots pass thru the larva and pupa stages and from the puparium the adult fly emerges from eight to twelve days after the egg has been deposited in some form of filth. Soon, this vast brood, followed by other generations in turn, is seeking an unsanitary place to deposit its eggs.

The principal effort to control this prolific insect must be made at its source of supply—its breeding places. The most logical control method is the elimination or treatment of these breeding places.

On farms, much can and should be done to control this serious menace to health. If flies are to be kept under control, one of several things must be done with the farm manure. It may be hauled out daily and spread thinly over the fields, taking precautions that it is well broken up and the clumps are small enough to dry out quickly. A screened pit may be used and the manure moved to it as soon as possible after it is voided.

During the summer months, when fly breeding is going on most actively, farmers are usually busy and often can not spare time to remove the manure regularly. At this time, if it is found that the quantity of manure accumulating does not make the cost prohibitive, treatment with certain chemical substances will kill the eggs and maggots of the house fly. The one which seems best is powdered hellebore. One-half pound of the powder mixed in ten gallons of water is sufficient to sprinkle eight bushels of manure and will not affect its fertilizing value.

The box privy is always a nuisance from many points of view and is dangerous as a breeder of flies, which may carry the germs of typhoid and other diseases. No box privy should be allowed to exist unless it is thoroughly and regularly treated with some effective larvicide. Since the fecal matter in such privies is seldom used for fertilizing purposes it may well be treated liberally with borax. The powdered borax should be scattered two or three times a week over the exposed surface as to whiten it.

By the most painstaking care one may prevent fly breeding on his premises but it will avail him little if his neighbors are not equally careful. Concerted action in a community is needed if flies are to be kept under control.

CATHARPIN

Well, the Weatherman certainly does not allow his constancy to become monotonized by reason of the sameness of the brand he has allocated for use during the past weeks when seemingly he has exhausted his entire "repertoire" to try to please us; For the past fortnight or so he has issued a variety of weather unsanitary in the annals of history—wet, dry, moist, damp, cold, warm, rain, sleet, snow, hail, freeze, thaw, wind, just anything and everything a first-class American citizen did not want; and this Monday morning is a combination of them all; roads bad, slimy, slippery and sloppy. Man and beast uncomfortable. So there you have all we know. The balance you can fix up to suit your own individual taste.

Mr. C. P. McDonald, of Norton, Va., safety engineer for the Bituminous Casualty Corporation of America, was a guest of his parents at Oakwood over the week-end.

Another very enjoyable quilting bee was held at the home of Mrs. Etta P. Lynn on Friday of last week when a third quilt was finished for Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins, that little 87-year-old young lady who has been quite busy this winter keeping the Missionary Society busy at its wonted occupation. Orders for more are coming in which is a sure sign that spring is in the offing.

Catharpin neighborhood has almost reached the saturation point in regard to radio. Nearly every family is now provided with a set ready for Huey Long, General Johnson, Father Coughlin, Amos 'n' Andy, Lowell Thomas and all and sundry the speakers and entertainers who wish to be heard. It has almost gotten to the point when the farmer may come in from the plow, sit down to supper, turn on the switch and while eating listen to the news of the day, its politics, religion, entertainment; find out the best whisky to drink, learn the difference between Luckies and Campbell's cigarettes, sports, and dear knows what all. It may not be long until he may have a portable set attached to his reaper or plow? Why not? They have them in autos. Why not have one attached to old Brindle's back and let her kick to music instead of upsetting the milk pail? We've heard of things more ridiculous than that, haven't you?

All of the Gainesville and Sudley delegates elected to attend the annual Washington district conference of the M. E. Church, South, held at Hyattsville last week, were in attendance as follows: Mrs. A. B. Sapp and Mrs. C. F. Sinclair for Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. McDonald for Sudley. The conference, as usual, was full interest and spirit.

The several district conferences, next to the annual conference itself, is a most important event in the life of the church at large. Many features belonging to the annual body are transacted here thus saving time and expense at the annual event. In speaking of expense, we are bound to give that subject serious consideration. In years gone by, it was the delight and considered a great privilege to entertain both the district and the annual conferences; and when we say "entertain" we mean that all delegates were fed, housed and cared for without money and without price. But like all things else, this custom has changed by reason of necessity. That necessity is particularly due to the size of the conferences. In the old days from 10 to 25 delegates could be handled; but the growth of the church is such that these bodies now consist of about 200 at the district and 900 at the annual, and for any one congregation to feed, house, and otherwise take care of bodies of this size is out of the question; hence the necessity of meeting in large towns and cities where hotel accommodations are available.

The official enrollment at Hyattsville this year was about 185 all told; preachers, delegates and connectional men. Some were housed for the night in private homes and among friends, but meals were served in the dining room of the church at 50c per meal. The Hyattsville church is new, so new in fact, that it is not yet complete in some of its departments; very fine, large and well adapted to all kinds of church and S. S. work. Surprised

"PERFECT IN EVERY GOOD WORK"

That is setting a high mark for our rather imperfect nature to aim at. But only a high mark can save us from falling far below our best. There are many tests by which any perfection is only an unrealized dream. Some divine discontent with the best they could do or be has always haunted the poet and the artist, the scholar and the saint, but their passion for perfection has been the secret of their high accomplishment. One test of true greatness is to know, through some vision of perfection, how far we have missed it. What we try to do or be may, through our own imitations and circumstances, issue only as a poor expression of what we sought, but if we meant it, very deeply and honestly, to be perfect we have made a step in the long ascent. That lies within our power. — Prepared by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

WILSON-GARDNER

A very beautiful marriage ceremony was performed at high noon Saturday at Grace Episcopal Chapel, Hickory Grove, when Miss Jean Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Gardner, became the bride of Mr. Francis Christopher Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Parker Wilson.

The bride, Miss Jean Gardner, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly attired in a navy blue ensemble with beige accessories and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Rosa Gardner, maid of honor, was dressed in a powder blue ensemble and carried sweetheart roses. The groom, Mr. Francis Wilson, had as his best man Mr. Frederick Hutchison, son of the late beloved Dr. Fred Hutchison.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are among Hickory Grove's most popular young folks and have spent their entire life in the community.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. Carpenter and Mrs. Alice Taylor Hutchison presided at the organ.

The chapel was attractively decorated with spring flowers and the altar was banked with ferns and jonquils, while a large crowd of relatives and friends had braved the inclement weather to be present.

Following a wedding trip by motor into the Valley of Virginia, including Natural Bridge and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will make their home with the bridegroom's parents at Hickory Grove, where best wishes for a long and happy life together is extended to them.

VETERAN CHAIRMAN
NINETY YEARS OLD

Capt. C. T. Smith, chairman of the Democratic party of Caroline County, was ninety-three years old Tuesday, when he was given a testimonial dinner by a number of friends at which county officers and a few others were guests. About thirty-five in all enjoyed the excellent dinner prepared and served by the management of the Lawn Hotel in Bowling Green.

Capt. Smith is said to be the only Confederate veteran in the State of Virginia, who is now filling the office of chairman of a county committee.

Manassas Journal
Manassas, Va.
Dear Sirs:

I wish to express to you some of my experiences and impressions of St. Augustine:

Monday we drove up to St. Augustine 59 miles up the coast. Leaving Daytona Beach, we took the Seaside drive to Ormond 7 miles away. At Ormond we changed to the river drive, skimming all good roads through magnificent shady palm groves and other subtropical growth. The drive from Daytona and 7 miles above Ormond was delightful, for beautiful flowers, up to this point, lined the way. Running through this enchanting drive, we entered the countryside proper, which had but little to recommend it, but its everlasting monotony for the next 40 miles. Things began to change when within 4 or 5 miles of St. Augustine and again we entered a driveway shaded on either side by those fine palms and beautiful flowers. We are now thrilled with the fact that we are now seeing the oldest city in the United States. By right of heritage it stands supreme as the oldest and is undoubtedly the quaintest city in our land. Mellowed by time, rich in history, St. Augustine is a real national shrine which every tourist of Florida should visit, know and enjoy. Four centuries of colorful existence has given St. Augustine an aura of storied charm.

Spanish dominion over a long period has naturally left its indelible imprint, which succeeding years of England's occupation have utterly failed to efface. The old city is still, in many respects, distinctly Spanish in character and this is what lends it even great picturesqueness.

From the time the full sailed galleons of Don Juan Ponce de Leon first rode the waves off the Florida coast in search of the youth giving fountain, this magnificent spot has figured in history, for it was here that Ponce de Leon entered the harbor of St. Augustine in 1513.

This ancient but beautiful little city has no need to a rubber conscience to stretch its claims to an honorable and interesting antiquity. 50 years before the coming of Ponce de Leon, the fleet of Don Pedro Menendez de Aviles, dropped anchor off this same bar and on this soil established the first permanent settlement in the United States. St. Augustine was founded in 1565 and antedates Plymouth in New England by 55 long years. When the Revolutionary War broke out, St. Augustine was even then an ancient town 210 years old.

St. Augustine remained under Spanish rule until July 10, 1821, when it became a United States possession. Truly it is old, yet rich in romance and tradition, and it certainly looks and part. What an interesting story could be unfolded if its quaint, narrow streets could tell of Dons, dark-eyed Senoritas, English Bluebloods, devout Franciscans, proud, but stolid Seminole and adventurers from every land. Many interesting reminders of the ancient and many times troubled by by-gone days chief among them is the old San Marco fort, now called Fort Marion, that still guards the city of old like a huge medieval castle.

This grim old fortress was built during the 17th century. Its construction covered a period of 118 years. This old fort is now a mecca to which all tourists bend their steps. I guess I had better hold up on St. Augustine's history, lest some one might say "that I had better brush up on my history."

I can't begin to write all to be said about this ancient but beautiful up-to-date cit y of today. It lives no longer in the past. Beneath its charm of antiquity, we find it also a pulsing, throbbing modern city amid a fascinating old world setting.

Now some of my experiences there:

First we visited the old Spanish fort and a guide took us from room to room explaining each one's history. Finally we reached the dungeon. The only way to enter it was by a hole about 3 feet square cut through a 4 foot rock wall. As we went from room to room, I invariably found my way blocked by a "fat lady" and when we reached the hole into the dungeon, she blocked me again. Her husband had gotten through into the dungeon and she in her efforts to follow him inside before any other lady could do so, was jammed in the entrance so tight her husband could not pull her in and she could not back out. So we had to simply wait until she could reduce before we could go on with the show. I asked the guide if she intended to shut the dungeon door after all were in. She said "No, but I will turn off the light, so you will know what a dungeon is like." I am frank to say I did not grow enthusiastic over being shut up in a dungeon. I think everybody bumped their heads going in and coming out.

In one prison room a chief and two of his tribe were imprisoned. The only light or ventilation was a hole about 10 feet above the floor about 18" and 20" and cross barred by one inch iron rods. These Indians wanted to escape, but they were too big to get through a 9-inch space between the bars, so they decided to go on a "hunger strike" and so reduced as to be able to squeeze through a 9"x6" opening in the bars. No one knows how they succeeded in scaling the almost smooth wall to reach that window, but they did get up somehow and made their escape.

The chief refused to escape, but stood on his honor and demanded his release. He got it later. Now if this is not true, don't blame me for I was not there to witness the escape and "Know not how the truth may be, But tell the tale as told to me."

In the "Relics Room" of this old fort, we saw many implements of war, which doubtless were dangerous on that remote day, but would be valueless as war implements in this 20th century. We visited the Trinity Episcopal Church 123 years old; then the oldest house in the United States 336 years old was visited. It was filled with all kinds of old relics and the bedroom furnishings would certainly interest antiquity hunters.

I forgot to tell you two things, first the fat lady when she was finally pulled through the hole out of the dungeon, was very profuse in her protestations, saying: "I will never go in that place any more." The other thing I have overlooked is to tell of what material this old fort is constructed. It is made of a stone-like material called Coquero. This is produced by the little mollusk and his small shells, which untold centuries ago when the sea covered the Anastasia Island, these shells were for ages deposited by the sea and through (Continued on page 5)

Sound banking protects depositors' money, safeguards stockholders' interests and encourages borrowing customers to enter upon only such undertakings as contain the elements of success. Each one of these considerations is the truest form of friendship a bank can offer.

Sound banking principles permit only safe, profitable operations which return a fair yield on invested capital. They enable the bank to maintain an efficient organization and build up ample reserves and surplus to fortify the protection of depositors' money.

AUTO USES MANY FARM PRODUCTS

The growing things of the field, new every year, are serving mankind in most wonderful ways. Stockings are made of vegetable substances, dresses of wood fiber. Substitutes for rubber come from the cornfield. We paint Ford cars with soy beans.

To fulfill its announced intention of making a million cars this year, the Ford Motor company will purchase many products of animal husbandry. That number of cars will require 3,200,000 pounds of wool. The wool goes into upholstery, floor coverings, lubricants and anti-rust preparations.

And then comes the part of the cow plays. The production of glues made from hides, glues made from milk, stearic acid, greases, glycerine, soap chips, and 1,500,000 square feet of leather for upholstery, will utilize products of 30,000 cattle.

The hog also enters the picture. For lard oil in lubricants, oleic acid and bristles for brushes, 20,000 hogs will be used.

Even the goat yields his quota, for in making the pile fabric used in upholstery, 350,000 pounds of goats' hair—mohair—will be needed, which means shearing 27,500 goats. Beeswax is not so much used as it was, but it still serves in electrical insulating compounds, and the tons of beeswax used in making a million cars will require the labor of 93,000,000 industrious honeybees.

Turning to cultivated fields, we come first to cotton. Every four-door Ford sedan uses 70 pounds of cotton. A million cars will require over 69,000,000 pounds of cotton—25,000,000 pounds in tires, 34,000,000 pounds in batting, cloth, bake linings, battery box, timing gears and safety glass. It will take 433,000 acres of cotton to produce this material. King Cotton is a strong ally of King Ford.

The cornfield also is laid under tribute. Some half million bushels of corn will be needed for butyl alcohol and starch used in manufacture. This will bring the product of 11,280 acres of corn to the Ford factory. Flax growers will furnish 2,400,000 pounds of linseed oil, and to produce this they will cultivate 17,500 acres of flax. Even the fields of sugar cane help build the Ford car, for they furnish the 2,500,000 gallons of molasses from which come solvents, anti-freeze and shock absorber fluids, and it will take 12,500 acres of sugar cane for that. Growers of the castor bean will supply 240,000 pounds of castor oil for lacquers and artificial leather.

All this from the ordinary farm. From farther afield come jute and hemp and sisal and manila fiber for carpet backing and ropes.

The trees make their contribution. We shall need 112,000 feet of lumber, mostly for packing purposes, and 5,000,000 feet of paper board, and that provides a market for 20,500 acres of timber. The pitch pine will supply 2,000,000 pounds of turpentine for solvents and paints and adhesives. Rubber trees, whose product is used in 203 parts of the Ford car, from tires to tops, will supply us with 35,000 tons of rubber. Cork trees will yield a quarter of a million pounds of cork. And because we shall use 728,000 gallons of tung oil, which 16,000 acres of tung trees will produce, a new tree industry is being encouraged in the United States.

This is only to mention the ordinary materials. The motor car is not a kingdom in itself; it must buy something of nearly everything that is grown on the farm and that is made in other industries—for, of course, most of the products named here reach us after much labor has been spent on them in other industries. The motor car is a good customer of everybody. The farmer helps to build motor cars, just as the motor manufacturer helps to make farming more efficient and convenient. They help each other and that helps the country.

OLD FAIRFAX RESIDENT DIES IN WASHINGTON

The passing of Mrs. Richard Dear at her Washington apartment a few days ago removed another one of the old landmarks of Centreville.

Mrs. Dear (nee Jamison) was born in the old homestead in Centreville eighty years ago. She spent her entire girlhood there, marrying young Dick Dear who had gone west and made a fortune of perhaps a quarter million in mining.

The Dears then lived in the former home of the Roberdeaus and restored it in the 70's, adding the ell now on the south side of the house.

She was much attached to the little Episcopal church, several times donating to its upkeep in the past fifteen years.

She leaves two Dears, Richard, Jr., and Lillian St. Clair, of Newport, R. I.

Mr. Kirby Rainey of Dumfries, Va., has been very ill but he is now slowly recovering.

The Dumfries School ground is being made beautiful by the children and teachers planting trees and making flower beds.

We wish to take the opportunity to thank the people who have furnished cars and made it possible for our last two baseball games.

The Dumfries school boys played Occoquan High Friday, April 5. The score was 9 to 3 in favor of Occoquan.

The Dumfries seventh grade pupils have just finished a unit on Protection of Life and Property. They have written to State Highway Department asking them to straighten the dangerous curve entering Dumfries.

ROOT CROPS FOR SHEEP

British and Canadian shepherds consider root crops essential to good sheep husbandry. Many sheep farmers in the United States provide at least some roots for the breeding flock during the winter months. Many farmers do not have ensilage to use as a succulent feed for sheep, but all farmers can have roots enough to provide for health in the breeding flock.

Mangold Wurtzels are much relished, and are a safe feed, if properly used. When the breeding flock is suddenly confined to a lot in winter, roots provide succulence, and help very materially to avoid pregnancy disease. Succulent feed, water, and exercise, pretty well ensure a successful lambing period.

Contrary to the common idea, root crops are not expensive crops to grow, if their real value is considered. Deep, fertile soil is necessary to justify a root crop, but the size of a patch may be small, and yet be sufficient. One-eighth of an acre will provide roots for more than one hundred ewes during winter.

Mangold wurtzels (stock beets) should be planted in rows about May 15 to June 1. Storage is a simple matter, if one has any storage accommodations at all. They may be covered with straw or hay in any good building, if a root cellar is not available.

SUBSISTENCE GARDEN

IDLERS ARE WARNED

Relief clients, who have the facilities for subsistence gardens but refuse to accept the responsibility of planting and cultivating them, are relief rolls, according to a ruling of the State Relief Administrator William A. Smith.

Expulsion, however, is to be resorted to only as the last recourse and not until every means of persuading the client to co-operate has been exhausted.

In a bulletin sent out last week to all administrators of the VERA, he suggested that efforts on the part of the local advisory committees might serve to bring a recalcitrant relief client into line.

Should such methods fail, however, and no valid excuse be offered for failure to tend a garden, he instructed that such clients' names might be not until every means of persuading
