GRANGE FETE ALL ARRANGED

Horse Racing An Added Feature.

After being forced to postpone the annual Field Day at Haymarket the Bull Run Grange has reset the date of Friday, September 27, with exactly the same program as announced in July.

The forenoon will be devoted to the usual games and races for the spectators with a horse show at which Hon. Melvin Hazen and Hon. John Waller will be the judges. The noon hour will be given over to a band concert. In the early afternoon the annual tournament will take place after which a team from Warrenton will play a local nine.

An added attraction this year will be horse racing which will take place in the late afternoon. Local horse flesh will largely comprise the entries which will be made at the post and the field will be open without classification. This is a feature not heretofore presented and will prove very interesting to the farmers of the Haymarket area.

In the evening the tournament dance will be held beginning at 10 o'clock.

Hon. Melvin C. Hazen will deliver the address to the Knights and Judge Henry T. Holladay will deliver the coronation address.

I.O.O.F. HONORS PARKE P. DEANS

Alexandria Event on Sept. 21 Is Unusual Event.

A home-coming celebration will be staged by the Northern Virginia Odd Fellows Association in Alexandria on September 21 to honor the return home in Alexandria of Hon. Parke P. Deans, who will at that time have been elevated to the exalted position among Odd Fellows of Grand Sire of the World, which will take place the day previous at Atlantic City. An elaborate program has been prepared by the committee in charge and a large delegation representing lodges over a wide area is expected to be in attendance.

A meeting of the Eighth District Rebekah Association will be held at the Odd Fellows Hall at 9:30 a.m. The business meeting of the Northern Virginia Odd Fellows Association will be held at Armory Hall at 10 a.m. The Second Degree will be conferred at 2 o'clock at Armory Hall. At 4:30 a grand parade will be held, assembly beginning at 3:30 at Washington and Royal streets. A banquet will be given in the evening at the George Mason Hotel. The address by the Grand Sire at the public meeting will be at the National Masonic Temple at 8 p.m.

RECENT CONVICTIONS IN POLICE COURT

Convicted in Judge Brown's Court recently and fined amounts from $10 to $25 in accordance with the nature of the traffic violation were the following, arrested by Officers G. L. Lester, Sgt. McDermott, J. W. Clarke, Sam Snead and C. C. Witter: Melvin Payne, L. A. Gregory, Bryant Faw, Howard Russell, L. M. Buckley, Curtis Hoge, James E. Cadden, James Abernathy, James J. Keefe.

The following were convicted this morning of reckless driving and fined $10 and costs: F. S. Byrd, A. L. Stokes, J. J. Norwood, Henry Yetz, Myzel Lewis and Joseph D. Logan.

Intensified activity in enforcement, rather than an increase in violations, is regarded as the cause for the increase in traffic arrests in this section, and it is believed that the highways are becoming safer as a result.

COUNTY Y. P. CHOIR TO GIVE PAGEANT

On Sunday night, September 29, the County Young Peoples Choir, organized the past summer, will present a pageant, "Youth Buildeth," at the Nokesville H. S. auditorium. A full announcement will follow in next week's issue.

A CORRECTION

Sergt. Bargagni, of the Washington Fire Department, will be in Manassas this evening to address the local Chamber of Commerce. President C. C. Cloe will preside.

The following were elected as delegates to represent this club in said convention and given full authority to vote for this club: William H. Leachman, Dr. Pickeral, Mrs. Nelle Holmes, and Mr. William Sweeney.

KIWANIS CLUB GREET NEW CHAMBER EXECUTIVE

The Kiwanis at its last meeting enjoyed another family night with a fair representation of the ladies present.

Mr. Cocke, who had charge of the program, called an open forum for the ladies and several of them availed themselves of the opportunity.

Mr. Cocke also introduced Mr. Hall now associated with the Chamber of Commerce.

E. R. Conner, town councilman, was called on to offer some explanations of the situation connected with apparent violations of the prohibition law for which the local authorities had felt themselves rather helpless to deal with.

Ed's talk gave rise to considerable open discussion.

Mrs. Ratcliffe announced to the club that the ladies of Trinity Guild are going to have an oyster supper on the evening of October 4 and the club decided to have another family night on that occasion to patronize the church thereby.

DISTRICT OFFICIAL WILL BE MISSED

Dr. Minnie Robbins, who has been connected with the District Home for several years as assistant superintendent, has moved to her home at Irvington, Va., for the winter.

Dr. Robbins has many friends in Manassas, all of whom will regret her leaving.

For the last five years she has done an outstanding piece work at the District Home and her untiring efforts in this work will be greatly missed this winter.

MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH

Manassas, Virginia
September 7, 1935

A meeting was called by the County Board of Health to reconsider the resolution delaying opening of schools. Members present: J. L. Dawson, Chairman; Dr. Marsteller, L. D. Metz.

Motion made by Dr. Marsteller: BE IT RESOLVED, that the previous motion in reference to schools being opened September 26 be rescinded. The epidemic of Infantile Paralysis has decreased so markedly that the Board thinks it perfectly safe for all Public Schools to open September 16, and that all restrictions against public gatherings be removed on that date.

LULU D. METZ,
E. H. MARSTELLER,

PROF. R. C. HAYDON.

The schools of Prince William open next week under direction of one of the most popular and capable school executives in Virginia.

PROFESSOR PETERS ADDRESSES CLUB

Ladies Meet for First Fall Gathering.

The first meeting of the season of the Manassas Woman's Club was held yesterday afternoon in the high school auditorium with Mrs. Paul Cooksey presiding.

Prof. R. Worth Peters, principal of the local high school, delivered a very outstanding and interesting talk to the club on educational progression. Mr. Peters brought out comparative facts of the educational advantages of today and those of a few years ago. He explained to the club how the school, now, dealt more with the individual child than the student body as a whole.

Mrs. Fred Hynson also gave a brief talk on the state meeting at Charlottesville in July.

As is the custom every year, the club donates jellies and jams to the Crippled Children's Hospital at Richmond, and this year the members of the club have been requested to leave their donations at Mrs. McDonald's store any time between Monday and Saturday of next week.

WALTON CONTEST UP NEXT WEEK

Coleman Lost Ground by Failure to Act Promptly.

Hearing of the election contest case brought by H. H. Walton, Louisiana lumberman, against S. Bernard Coleman, young Fredericksburg attorney, who defeated him August 6 for the Democratic State senatorial nomination by 14 votes, will open Wednesday, September 18, before Judge Edwin P. Cox of Chesterfield County, it was announced this week.

Counsel for Coleman will move to dismiss the charges as "spurious" and "scurrilous." Mr. Walton charged the nomination was obtained through the abuse of election privileges, improper use of mail ballots, and the use of money and liquor in Coleman's behalf.

After refusing a petition of Walton's counsel to transfer the case, Judge Frederick W. Coleman later eliminated himself from the case because of kinship to the candidate who was declared the nominee.

When the petition, presented by George E. Allen of Richmond, Walton's counsel, was refused by Judge Coleman, Mr. Allen applied to a Supreme Court justice for an order to compel such a transfer.

Because counsel for Coleman did not file an answer to the contesting petition within the 10-day period allotted, Walton's lawyers said, they lost an opportunity to contest the merits of allegations in the petition and can do nothing save argue that the petition is insufficient to invalidate the election.

While counsel for Mr. Coleman, who was an organizer of the Young Democratic Clubs in his vicinity, have expressed confidence that the result of the primary would stand, attorneys for Mr. Walton claim that the alleged 14-vote margin included two persons who died after signing mail ballots and before the primary and that other persons were voted who should not have been counted.

BIG PAGEANT FOR FESTIVAL

Hundreds of Children Will Participate on October 11.

At a meeting of the Pageant Committee of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival at the Manassas High School, September 9, Mrs. Mary Callaway, of Alexandria, Va., was selected to write and direct the pageant which each year plays such an important part in the celebration of the festival. Mrs. Callaway, who is head of a studio of dance in Alexandria, is expected to produce an extremely artistic and spectacular pageant, already having given the committee several ideas as to the theme she expected to carry out this year.

Each year hundreds of school children from each county and city included in the festival participate in the pageant, which attempts to convey to the thousands of people witnessing the spectacle an educational dramatization of the use and benefit of milk. Last year the pageant, "The Fairies Plan," was directed by Miss Sue Ayres, and was interpreted by Mr. Noel Gill as the children went through their elaborate program of songs and dances. Onlookers were impressed by the splendid way in which the children carried out their parts and by the beauty of the performance.

The pageant will be produced on a specially constructed platform on the lovely Annaburg estate, with a historical ivy-clad tower, lovely trees and shrubbery forming a perfect setting. It will immediately follow the coronation of Regina V, Queen of the Dairy Festival, and will be enacted in her honor. Microphones will carry distinctly to the audience each word of interpretation of the pageant, and grandstands will be constructed to accommodate the spectators. Last year the number of persons witnessing the pageant was estimated approximately at 20,000, and there is every reason to believe the crowd will be swelled this year by the additional artistic element.

The other outstanding features of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival, the date of which is definitely set as October 11, will be a band concert, an aeronautical exhibition, "The Milky Way Parade," and the Queen's Ball, which is the closing event.

MACS TO PLAY AR- LINGTON SUNDAY

The Macs, still tied with Ballston for the lead, engage the Arlington nine Sunday on Swavely field. The game is called for 3 o'clock. Tenant is expected to pitch for the locals. He will probably be opposed by either McPherson or Rice.

Wet grounds caused the postponement of last Sunday's game with Ballston. Plans for playing this game have not been completed. However, if Manassas and Ballston both win next Sunday, efforts will be made to arrange a five-game series in place of the single game. Winner of the series will meet the winner of the other section for the league championship.

YOUNG RADIO OPERATOR ON CRUISE

Mr. Francis B. Compton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Compton, left last Saturday for a two weeks' cruise to Halifax, Nova Scotia, on the U.S.S. Wyoming. Mr. Compton has been enlisted with the Naval Reserve in Washington for the past six months as radio operator. He will act in the capacity of reserve radio operator on the cruise which is a training cruise for naval reservists.

Mr. Compton has been interested in radio work for the past several years, and owns and operates an up-to-date short wave radio station. Besides being quite an accomplished radio amateur, Mr. Compton finds time for flying. He has more than thirty hours flying time to his credit.

CONVICT ESCAPES

Early this afternoon, Convict R. E. Lindell of the county jail, who has served seven days of a six months' term, escaped from a force at work on the baseball diamond in Manassas.

In all, more than 200 votes have been challenged, it was said.

HAYMARKET

Miss Frances E. White, who spent August at her home here, left by motor on Wednesday of last week for Atlanta, Ga., where she is superintendent of the Oglethorpe Sanitarium. She was accompanied as far as Raleigh, N. C., by Mrs. Jean Clarkson Robertson, who spent the summer in Haymarket.

Mrs. Howard Wilson has returned to her home at Orange, N. J., after a stay of some weeks with her sisters, Mrs. Marie Hall and Miss Anne W. Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Amphlett, who since the loss of their home by fire in April last have lived in Haymarket, left on Wednesday for a motor trip to Georgia, where they will make an indefinite stay with Mr. Roy Amphlett and the boys; Meredith and Jack Amphlett.

Haymarket has been quite lively with informal social gatherings, the bridge players meeting here and there for a one or two table games, as well as several larger and more "party" like affairs. One of the recent very pleasant social events was a tea at which Misses Janet and Katie Low were hostesses, about thirty guests being present during the afternoon.

Mrs. Betty H. Payne, wife of the late John Payne of Culpeper County, and mother of Dr. Wade C. Payne of Haymarket passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stuart Jones, in Fredericksburg, on Friday night, Sept. 5, after a brief illness. The last rites were held on Sunday afternoon, at the Baptist Church near her old home in Culpeper County and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Payne was well known in Haymarket where she will be remembered and missed. She is survived by two daughters and five sons and over forty grandchildren, nearly all being present at her funeral.

A parade of the gay nineties will be held at Haymarket on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 28, at 2 p.m., under the auspices of St. Paul's Guild.

Many organizations are to be represented and a handsome prize will be given the group having the most original costumes. Further details will be given later.

POIGNANT LOVE STORY

THEME OF "SHANGHAI"

Coming next Monday to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas is an intensely dramatic gripping tale of the Orient. It is Paramount's "Shanghai" which stars Loretta Young and Charles Boyer in a picture revealing for the first time the modern Orient, the land with races, traditions and ambitions are flashing.

Scrupulous in its detail, alive with the authentic color and sound of Shanghai, the picture tells the tale of Boyer, who struggles from the bottom to the top of Shanghai's financial heap only to throw away everything he was won for the sake of love.

A mysterious figure, presumably a Russian refugee, Boyer bests the tians of finance, threatens to gain mastery of the Orient. Unimpeded by love or mercy, he is cold, indomitable, ruthless.

Then suddenly the girl turns up.

She is Loretta Young, an American, who is staying in China to cater to the whims of her eccentric aunt. Tired of the emptiness of the lives of the people about her, she finds in Boyer her ideal of a man.

Although they feel that their love is courting disaster, they cannot say no to the impulses of their hearts. Boyer, still intent on his business, is preparing the coup that will make him the master of the Orient. Then at a party given for Loretta Young, he reveals the secret of his ignominious birth to a startled Shanghai.

His future in Shanghai ruined, Boyer flees to the interior of China. But Loretta Young, who cannot give him up, follows close behind. In an absorbing and tender climax these two make a strange decision as to their love.

Boyer's masterful performance is the best of his recent series of sensational appearances, and Loretta Young is well matched to him throughout. In the supporting cast of "Shanghai," which was produced by Walter Wanger, are Warner Oland, Alison Skipworth and Fred Keating, who carry out the supporting roles in uniformly excellent style.

OCOQUAN

At all times, in every season, this quaint little village presents a veritable picture, quaint and picturesque. On Labor Day it surpassed itself in beauty, for, at anchor in front of the village, riding at anchor, one could discern twenty pleasure yachts. All were freshly painted with white hulls, their houses or cabins a rich mahogany color. On the Fairfax county side of the river old Mount Vision towered far above the serpentine road at its base reflecting itself in the clear water below. The passengers of the yachts regaled themselves ashore in baseball and other sports. Music was not wanting, for among fun-loving groups either a wheezy accordion or an asthmatic fiddle may be found. Forty years or more this little village was the most popular excursion resort on the Potomac.

As many as 1500 could be cared for on the old flat-bottomed steamer "Mary Washington," she was an ideal boat for dancing, safe, slow, capacious. Leaving Washington at 9 a.m. she would arrive at Occoquan at 12. A young couple could dance all the way down to the wharf here and there if they desired, more could repair to the "Race" where rustic swings, chairs and tables and good strong and substantial pavilions met their gaze. A young man with two dollars in his "teens" could take his sweetheart on one of these outings as cheaply as to a movie now. For 50c would purchase tickets for himself and sweetheart, another 50c would furnish 2 chicken dinners, and he would have left a sufficient amount for ice cream and street car fare home.

Gone are those days, but there are many old couples in Washington who have celebrated their fiftieth anniversary of wedded bliss can recall "Mary Washington," the old rustic scenery at Occoquan Falls, for many miles distant from Occoquan the falls were known as a splendid place to have an outing. Nature has been much generous in distributing her advantages to this old village, for among the many historic places in the Old Dominion this town is right in the midst of them, Pohick church, Mt. Vernon, Woodlawn, Alexandria, Westmoreland County, Gunston Hall, Bellevoir and countless others which via automobile may be reached in an hour's drive.

In the Library of Congress and in the library of the University of Georgetown may be found copies of John Gilmartin Shea under the caption "Catholic Missions in America, 1572." Axecon as Occoquan and its river.

The Potomac river is called by the Spanish navigators, El Espirito. The latitude even to degrees, minutes and seconds agree with the present Occoquan. It was on the shores of this village that seven Catholic missionaries were betrayed and slain. I am in possession of the details of this tragedy, the perfidy of the chief Axecon who, after seven years education in Spain, at his own solicitation, returned with seven Catholic missionaries and despatched the first one himself.

Very respectfully,
Geo. Davis Duty Selemcan.

BIG POULTRY FEED
RESEARCH ADVANCE

A startling announcement has been made to the poultry world and another is being made along with it in this community. Vitamin A, which scientists have recently found a way to isolate for human consumption, is now being put into poultry feeds. A new ingredient introduced to poultrymen the country over, is now available to farmers and poultry raisers in this locality, according to P. B. Beale, of Fallers Feed and Produce Co. It is called Pur-a-tene and is found exclusively in Purina Feeds, he said.

Newspapers throughout the country have been talking of this amazing discovery. Through the facilities of the Purina Experimental Farm and Research Laboratories, a new process has been developed of extracting Carotene (Vitamin A in its primary form) from plants and converting it into Pur-a-tene.

"All poultry raisers know that hens need Vitamin A for body maintenance," Beale told a reporter of this paper yesterday, "and recent experiments have proven beyond a doubt that when hens receive sufficient Vitamin A, they remain in better health and lay more eggs."

"Puratene is concentrated green feed," he said. "It is rich in Vitamin A because it is made from nature's richest store-house of this vitamin—the yellow coloring matter in plants and vegetables. It contains 750 times as much Vitamin A as yellow cornmeal which has been considered one of the best sources of Vitamin A. Each bag of Purina Laying Chows contains enough Pur-a-tene to step up its Vitamin A activity to two and one-half times its former strength."

"With the poultry outlook brighter today than it has been in many years," commented Mr. Beale, "this outstanding development of Purina research is being introduced at a most beneficial time for poultry raisers. Pur-a-tene will mean a great deal to them in extra eggs, improved health of hens and greater poultry profits."

SCHOOL BUS INSPECTION

On Wednesday the courthouse grounds presented an interesting and unusual spectacle as the big motor busses used in the transportation of the school children of Prince William County were assembled for final inspection previous to the opening of the schools.

There were seventeen busses for regular service, two for emergencies, a pick-up truck and in addition the schools of the county utilize two heavy duty trucks for the transportation of supplies.

All of these vehicles carried the official stickers showing that they had been duly inspected under the Virginia Motor Vehicle regulations and they were carefully tested and inspected under supervision of the County School Board, which maintains its own repair shop and service department.

Professor Haydon and the School Board deserve much credit for the extreme care and for the efficiency with which they perform the difficult task of daily transporting the boys and girls to and from their respective schools, under all sorts of weather conditions and without appreciable mishaps.

The display on Wednesday served as a practical reminder of the magnitude of the task and reflected much credit upon the Superintendent and the School Trustees.

FORTUNATE VIRGINIA

Virginians have great cause for thankfulness that their State is never visited by such terrible disasters as that which has just overtaken Florida. The hundreds of corpses left in the wake of the tropical hurricane which roared out of the Caribbean this week are eloquent testimony to the devastating effects of such natural phenomena.

Virtually every year in late August or September, Florida is subjected to the lashing of a tropical hurricane. These disasters descend on that State with almost clocklike regularity. Usually they are not as severe as that which has just thundered over the peninsula which separates the Caribbean from the Gulf of Mexico, but sometimes they are even worse.

But Virginia is happily immune from such natural scourges. If there is less sunshine here in winter than on the beach at Sarasota or Miami, at least our homes are not smashed to tinder by howling hurri-

NOTICE

It has been the custom of The Journal for many years to run church notices without cost. This has been done faithfully and without complaint although we have frequently been inconvenienced by late notices.

Recently some person said to be from without the town mulcted several of the local merchants to get up a "church calendar." This was done without a town license for advertising soliciting.

If this calendar is placed on display and made use of, we shall either have to ask the churches directly to pay for the use of their space in The Journal or the same merchants who "bit" on the "calendar" to pay for the church notices in The Journal.

This rule will be placed into effect after this week.

California, too, boasts of its climate, but if it is untroubled by hurricanes, it suffers from earthquakes. A particularly severe quake rocked Long Beach and vicinity in 1933, and no one ever knows when such phenomena are to be repeated. A State in the earthquake belt is always in more or less danger, California chambers of commerce to the contrary notwithstanding.

But Virginia has no earthquakes. John Smith, we believe, complained that the climate of the Old Dominion was uneven 300 years ago, and it must be confessed that some of the unevenness remains. We do not claim that Virginia is a land of perpetual sunshine, that you can pick oranges here in December or frolic in a nudist colony in January. Neither is it our contention that one must sleep under a blanket in mid-July, except in the heights of the Alleghenies or the Blue Ridge.

But Virginia's climate is fairly equable, despite the claims of Captain Smith. Perhaps we shouldn't enjoy sleeping on ice-covered Jamestown Island in the middle of the winter with no protection against the elements except a flimsy log cabin any more than he did. But generally speaking, the Virginia winters are not severe. Snow falls here to a depth of six inches only once or twice each year, and the heat in summer is not often such as to trouble the wearer of light clothes seriously.

So, in viewing the news of disasters in other States, we can at least rejoice at the immunity of Virginia from most such visitations. Distressing as was the tornado which ripped across Southside Virginia yesterday, it was a mere zephyr compared to the death-dealing hurricane which laid waste a part of Florida and took hundreds of lives a few days previously.—Times-Dispatch.

"JUDGE PRIEST" GREAT ROLE, SAYS PLAYER

The most successful pictures Will Rogers has made are those in which he has worn old clothes. On many occasions these have been the identical overalls and jumper he wears on his ranch.

Rogers says so himself, pointing to "David Harum," "State Fair," "Lightnin'," "Mr. Skitch," "Handy Andy" and now "Judge Priest."

"I feel more comfortable in old togs," declares the comedian, "and feeling at ease, I can give a better performance."

"What about 'They Had to See Paris,' one of your greatest pictures?" asked an interviewer. "In that production, as I recall it, you wore evening clothes and several tailor-made outfits."

"Well," drawled Rogers, "that's the one that proves the exception. Some said I suffered from microphone fright, but it wasn't so. I was afraid the people would laugh at me instead of at the character."

"I admit it was a great picture, but you must remember it had a human story and there were a lot of good actors in it and I'm not including myself when I say this. I'm not an actor and never have claimed to be one. I just go in there and play my natural self and if people like me I'm satisfied."

So far as his pictures are concerned, Will admits that he regards most highly his newest, "Judge Priest," which will return to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday.

"Now there's a picture with a world of humanity in it," says the sage of Claremore, Okla. "Irv Cobb wrote flesh and blood into the 'Priest' stories—and they've been given a mighty fine treatment by the studio."

FAIRFAX COUNTY IMPROVEMENT SOUGHT THROUGH P. W. A. LOANS

The closing date for filling applications under the grant feature by which government, through the Public Works Administration, would provide 45 percent of the cost of a public project found Fairfax County in line to receive considerable public improvements, provided all the applications are approved.

In addition to the application filed several weeks ago by the county school board seeking $153,022 for the school building program to take care of increased enrollments and future needs throughout the county, the town of Falls Church has filed an application for $25,000 for an annex to the Madison School.

Within the past two weeks four incorporated towns in the county have applied for grants from the P. W. A. The town of Fairfax sought a grant of about $100,000 estimated cost of a sanitary sewer system; the town of Vienna $55,000 for a water system; Falls Church $170,000 for a sewerage system and Herndon $90,000 for a sewerage system.

Whether any one or all of these applications will be approved or disapproved is unknown at this time.

In the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, in vacation, the 4th day of September, 1935.

James L. Carrico,
V.

E. L. Kilby and Sarah J. Kilby.
ON AN ATTACHMENT

The general object of the above-styled suit is to attach the real and personal estate of the said E. L. Kilby and Sarah J. Kilby, particularly the undivided interest in and to a tract of land of which W. C. Carrico, trustee, for Annie E. Carrico, died seized and possessed, containing about 80 acres, lying and being situated on both sides of the public road leading from Greenwich to Brentsville, adjoining the lands of Henry Haislip, Robert Robinson, and others, being the same conveyed to W. C. Carrico, trustee, by Mary E. Langhyer and Elizabeth Ann Rollins, by deed dated Dec. 8, 1884, and recorded in Deed Book 35, at folio 235, of Prince William County Clerk's Office and to recover a judgment on a note waiving the homestead exemption, dated Jan. 19, 1931, whereby the said E. L. Kilby and Sarah J. Kilby, sometimes called Mrs. E. L. Kilby, promised and agreed to pay to James L. Carrico four months after its date the sum of $250.00, with interest from date, and with ten per cent additional as attorney's costs for collection, and to make sale of the said undivided interest of said defendants in said tract of land and for general relief.

And, it appearing by affidavit filed according to law that the above-named defendants are not residents of this State; that their last known address was at, or near Frederick, Maryland; it is therefore ordered that the said E. L. Kilby and Sarah J. Kilby do appear within ten days after due publication of this order, in the clerk's office of our said Circuit Court, and do what is necessary to protect their interests. It is further ordered that this order be published once a week, for four successive weeks, in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper printed and circulating in the county of Prince William, Virginia, and it is further ordered that a copy of this order be posted at the front door of the Court House of said county on or before the next succeeding Rule Day, and that a copy of this order be mailed to each of the above-named defendants at the post office address given in said affidavit by Prepaid Registered Mail.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY IN BUCKLAND, VA.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust, dated September 13, 1928, and recorded among the land records of Prince William County in Deed Book 85, page 462, from James P. Fowler and Leitha May Fowler, his wife, to the undersigned trustee, to secure the payment of a certain promissory note in the sum of $1850.00, default having been made in the payment of said note, the undersigned trustee, at the request of the holders of the said note, will offer for sale, at public auction, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1935, at eleven o'clock, A. M., of that day, in front of the Peoples National Bank of Manassas, in the Town of Manassas, Virginia, all those two certain adjoining lots or parcels of land, together with the buildings and other improvements thereon, lying and being situated on the Lee Highway, in the village of Buckland, in Gainesville Magisterial District, Prince William County, Virginia, one of said parcels of land containing three-fourths of an acre, more or less, and the other of said parcels of land containing one-half an acre, more or less, together with the easements in said deed of trust mentioned, to which said deed of trust reference is made for a more particular description of the said land; and also all of the fixtures and furniture in the store house situated on the said premises and all of the fixtures connected with the filling station on said premises.

The said two parcels of land abut directly on the Lee Highway, in the said village of Buckland, and have on them a commodious dwelling house and certain outbuildings and also a combined store and filling station. Because of its exceptional location on the Lee Highway, the said real estate is exceedingly desirable property.

FILM BARES CANADA'S REPLY TO AMERICA GANG METHODS!

How native Canadians handle American gangsters who have the temerity to invade the snow-covered territory of Hudson's Bay, and how murderous gangland's contempt for law is answered in the northern provinces of the dominion is graphically described in James Oliver Curwood's "Wilderness Mail," starring two-fisted Kermit Maynard, which will be the featured attraction tomorrow at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas.

In "Wilderness Mail," Kermit Maynard portrays two roles, that of Keith, a newly promoted corporal in the Royal Northwest Police, and Rance, the corporal's brother. Corporal Keith is tortured and killed by a group of American gangsters, masquerading as fur trappers. Rance takes up the trail, wreaking swift and terrible justice on the murderers.

CATHARPIN

Well Golly Neds. Wasn't that a soaker? It began Monday and never stopped until Friday. It took 48 hours to start water flowing in Lick Branch. The first big rain in a long time that did not wash all the water-gaps away. Talk about "Dog-mires"; this was two of 'em. Well, anyway, we needed it all to start springs flowing again; but the corn; some was helped a little, and some was laid flat. All in all, however, people were glad to have the drought broken.

"LIQUOR ADDICT HOSPITALIZATION ASKED OF PEERY"—Headline in Washington Post, dated Staunton, Va., Sept. 6, 1935. Dr. DeJarnette asked that the appropriation for the new alcohol addict unit to cost $175,000 be made from the profits realized on liquor sales by the State. "Let liquor care for its derelicts," Dr. DeJarnette argued. "If liquor puts them here then liquor should pay to take care of them. I think that's reasonable." (End of quote). W-H-A-T? So soon after Repeal? We were told that Repeal would stop all this, kind of stuff.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. L. McCutcheon, of Modest Town, Va., and Mrs. T. J. Onley and daughters, of Washington, were Oakwood visitors the forepart of last week, the McCutcheons remaining over until Monday of this week.

Sudley was glad to get back into the harness again last Sunday when services were resumed after an interim of some six weeks due to quarantine regulations, and all glad to see each other once more. You know "regularity" gets monotonous sometimes, but when it quits once, then you sort of get "fidgety" and wish it would start up again. Both preacher and congregation enjoyed the reopening. The Sunday school will reopen next Sunday at the regular hour, 10 a.m., when Sudley will be running full speed ahead as usual.

Miss Louie Delaplane, of Delaplane, Va., was a Lawn Vale visitor last week.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. L. McCutcheon and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. McDonald were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kincannon Caldwell, of Six Acres, on Sunday last after church.

Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins, of Sudley, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chas. F. Brower, of Purcellville, Va., fell from the steps last week and injured her back necessitating medical attention. Her many friends are wishing her a speedy recovery.

The last quarterly conference of the year will be held in Sudley church on Saturday next, Sept. 14, at 10:30 a.m., to which all official members as well as the congregation are cordially invited. It will also be the last official visit of Dr. J. Howard Wells as presiding elder since his term expires with the next annual conference. Light lunch will be served.

Miss Katharine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie, of Catharpin, was a week-end visitor with her parents last week. Miss Pattie is now employed by the Works Progress Administration, Fredericksburg, Va.

Last week Catharpin Run section had a regular western rodeo right here in our midst and we knew nothing about it. The program was not advertised, neither was it expected, yet it furnished excitement enough to last several days before the final climax was reached, in fact, it is reached as we write.

Mr. W. Holmes Robertson had received a shipment of young cattle which had been grazed in the woodlands of Georgia, and in driving them from Gainesville everything went well until the open forest around Catharpin Run was reached when all of a sudden, the whole herd—some 40 head—rushed pell-mell into "the tall timbers." For several days it took men on horseback and men on foot to get them routed out of the dense foliage of trees, saplings and intertwining vines which so obstructed passage that men could not negotiate it either on horse or foot. At last account all had been safely corralled except nine which were still in hiding in this dense "Brazilian entanglement" which, on a hot day, would certainly rival that Tropical region for heat and discomfort to say nothing of the mental activities in directing vocal passages of verbiage necessary to express the hunter's opinion of such actions on the part of supposedly well-behaved bovines fresh from the Sunny South. Well, it is funny enough to read about but doubtless it was the acme of exasperation to the one who had it to deal with.

It is doubtful if a man ever lived who was nearer the hearts of his fellow man than Will Rogers. He never had a predecessor and the prospect of a successor is about one in as many as the total population of the earth from Adam to the present time.

It seems to be an old-time idea that a man must not be praised until he is dead, lest, by some misstep, he may fall from grace. Will Rogers, then, being dead, his friends are at liberty to praise without further ado; some form is needed. If we could but understand that a drop of praise is worth more than a barrel of censure, we could then revise our vocabulary and get used to the finer sentimentalities which we know are so popular with every one. It is the newest number that is able to criticize justly. One must be "pure in heart" if his criticism is to avail. And since there are so few that can be helped by censure, and so many that may be helped by "praise" and respect, it behooves us all to revamp our common tendencies and see if we may not do something to justify "our place in the sun," by praising our fellow man while he is yet with us and capable of being helped.

As a rule, however, we believe that if the human family were to put into practice a little more praise and a little less criticism, it would be worth for more than it costs and would help the "praised" to a higher appreciation of himself and the things we should all stand for. We all have tendencies, and tendencies indulged in become habits, and habits are either good or bad, helpful or discouraging, just as we indulge them, hence their influence is great upon one's fellow man. We all know that if one does something through fear or compulsion, he will "get out from under" and leave upon the first opportunity; but if he does something for love and respect, he will remain to repeat and to receive your commendation. So the whole matter of life, if stepped up to its "highest" terms, is built around our own self respect and the confidence our friends repose in us, which is another way of saying that "we love to be loved and respected of our fellow man."

If we could but realize that indiscriminate criticism, though possibly deserved, is really vicious and harmful, we would then be in a position to understand that "help" in

Miss Arcelia Dane has returned home after a week's visit in Indian Head, Md.

MINNEVILLE

We have been having quite a lot of rainy and cloury weather. I think everyone will be glad to see the warm sunshine again.

We are very sorry to state that Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Curtis and family have moved from Minneville to their place of business on the highway. We wish them much success.

Those visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gordon on Sunday were Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Bass, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ramey, Miss Emma Jane McGallard and Miss Beatrice M. Gordon, all of Washington.

Mr. Everett Coxen and Mr. Archie Gordon, of Falls Church, Mr. John Kavocho and Mr. William Russell of their place, Miss Bertha Gordon is spending a few days in Washington.

Rev. D. J. Hunt will preach at Minneville School, Sunday night, Sept. 15, at 7:30 o'clock. All come out and help in this work.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ramey, Miss Beatrice M. Gordon and Mrs. J. H. Gordon has returned from a ten-day vacation in Muncie, Ind. All reported a nice time, but say it is not safe to go into the cornfields at this time of the year in Indiana. If you escape the ear of corn which is so thick and large, you are apt to fall over the mammoth pumpkins or get tangled in the bean vines.

POPULAR COWBOY

SONGS ORIGINATED

AS COW LULLABIES

"Rock-a-bye, Bossie, dum-dum-dum-dum—"

That, should it prove mystifying, is a cow lullaby, and a cow lullaby is a lullaby that is sung by cowboy herd riders to keep their cattle quiet at night, much the same as sleepy fathers do with lusty-lunged babies.

That's the way Tim McCoy, star of Columbia's "Justice of the Range," coming next Friday, Sept. 20, at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas, explains cowboy songs, a type of melody that has become extremely popular with the American public of late.

"Cattle are almost human in their understanding of some things," he declared. "Herds in the open prairies are extremely restless at night. Every shadow is liable to be a wolf, coyote or mountain lion. The steers are always nervous."

"When the cowboys used to ride herd at night their mere presence frightened the cattle into frequent stampedes. It was thus that the cowboy songs were born. The cowpunchers began to sing while riding herd and the voice of a man gave the cattle a sense of security. They will lie down and sleep when a cowboy is singing."

"Thousands of these songs have been improvised by cowboys. Some of them have many hundreds of verses, enough to last all night. Many of the songs have never been published although hundreds of them are sung in Western films and on the radio."

QUIET TALKS ON

By

Dr. James T. Marshall
WAS WILL ROGERS RELIGIOUS?

Few perhaps would call Will Rogers a mystic or a saint. It is not likely that he will be canonized by the church or be memorialized by a cathedral window. Yet he was religious in the truest sense. His character was marked by those qualities which our Lord considered essential in a son of God.

Our country has never produced a man whose death elicited such universal and such sincere sorrow. Indeed the whole world has paused to shed a tear. His popularity does not rest on the fact that he made us laugh and forget our troubles. Artemus ward, Mark Twain, and others did that but made no such impression on human hearts. Think of the hundred thousand people who wended way to Forest Lawn Cemetery in California that they might catch a last glimpse of the face of their beloved friend.

The secret of Will Rogers' popularity lies in his character, for he was in every way a man, sincere, unspoiled, unostentatious, pure in heart, courageous and loving toward all the world.

I should say that his outstanding trait was his genuineness. He was transcendently honest. If Diogenes had ever met Will Rogers he would have extinguished his lantern and abandoned further search for an honest man. He was thoroughly democratic and looked with contempt upon the artificial and shallow distinctions which society sets up between various classes of men. He shared the native simplicity which marked Bobbie Burns and is expressed in his famous line "A man's a man for a' that."

Will Rogers was the only man in the United States who could go where he pleased and do what he pleased. He could attend a White House reception in a business suit, and call a President by his first name and yet give no offense. Kings and cowboys all looked alike to him.

Will Rogers was clean. No whisper of scandal ever spotted his reputation. His most intimate friends testify that a dirty story never passed his lips. He was a true friend to the people who have been waging their fight against filthy movies. Here he accomplished great results, not by preaching to the movie barons but by his personal example. He has demonstrated that the demand of the American public is for films which are clean and uplifting, and that high grade pictures bring in the largest box office receipts. His influence on the moral life of the country will be felt for years to come.

Best of all, Will Rogers possessed a loving heart. While he punctured shams and excoriated corruption of every sort there was no sting in his humorous thrusts. He criticized our politicians freely but made no enemies among them. Sincerity, purity and love—if these are not religious traits, I know nothing about religion. The American public will insist on canonizing Will Rogers and will do it in their own way by giving him a permanent shrine in their hearts.

This year the very attractive program will likely assure a goodly attendance.

At 10 o'clock on the first day Dr. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the first Baptist Church of Alexandria, will deliver the first of four addresses on living topics, the other three marking the beginning of each succeeding service. Rev. J. Paul Essex of Middleburg will preach the annual sermon on the opening day, and addresses will be made by outstanding men of the Baptist denomination. On the second day addresses will be made by Rev. C. B. Jones of Manassas, Rev. Henry B. Cole of Hamilton, Rev. Ryland T. Dodge of Alexandria, Rev. E. J. Richardson of Richmond and Rev. Perry L. Mitchell of Clarendon.

SECONDARY ROADS
RECEIVE ALLOCATION

The State Highway Department recently notified the county board of supervisors that $144,474.44 has been allocated to Fairfax County for the construction and maintenance of secondary roads.

While this amount is about $14,000 more than the county received last year, and is said to be larger than that received by most of the counties in the Culpeper Road District, it is about $50,000 less than was requested by the board.
