KIWANIS CLOSE ACTIVE YEAR

Many Achievements Under Tiffany's Leadership.

Last Friday night a near political meeting was staged at the Kiwanis Club with the debate largely being indulged in by Mayor Davis, one-time member of the club and the witty and versatile O. D.

Inasmuch as the Journal reporter was not present there are no definite details except that O. D. appeared to take exception to what he considered an attack on the New Deal. O. D. probably the most widely travelled man in the club, contacts men in many sections of Virginia and Maryland.

The balance of the session was devoted to last-minute consideration of the annual Christmas present distribution.

Mr. Carl Kincheloe, who is chairman of this committee, has been assisted in the buying and wrapping by the following members of the club: Dick Haydon, Arthur Boatwright, Charlie Lynn, Ray Hall, and J. P. Lyon.

Mr. Kincheloe states that he especially wants to give worthy mention to Miss Sabina Neel, Mrs. Marion Lewis, Miss Margaret Lynch and Mrs. Mamie Lynch Delaney who aided him in getting up the list and also in making suggestions for the purchases.

The committee which went forth Tuesday to assist Carl in distributing the long-expected bundles are as follows: Dick Haydon, Arthur Boatwright, Charlie Lynn, Ray Hall, R. M. Weir, Fred Hynson, Dudley Martin and J. P. Lyon.

This event, while not the most signal one, comes at a season of the year when it certainly receives full attention and no child who was a recipient of the Christmas package ever got any greater happiness of the contents of that package than did the Kiwanian who made the delivery.

The meeting tomorrow night will be held at the hotel as usual.

MANASSAS HIGH SCHOOL PATRONS LEAGUE

The patrons of the Manassas High School met with an assembly of the students and enjoyed an interesting program of Christmas carols and a reading by Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson of "Jest Fore Christmas" by Eugene Field and "The Little Gray Lamb" by Sullivan. After the program the league adjourned to the dining room where regular business was transacted.

Mrs. W. L. Lloyd presented the Parent-Teacher Magazine which contain many articles interesting and profitable to parents. Ways and means were discussed whereby more parents and patrons might benefit and it was voted to organize a study group and invite not only all patrons of the school but the public.

It was regrettable that there was such a small attendance for a most interesting discussion was held of several problems vital to our school children and our schools and our future standing and curriculum in relation to the Association of Schools and Colleges. Almost without exception everyone participated in the discussion, parents and teachers alike and all present felt that the afternoon had been not only profitable but interesting and educational.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson Ratcliffe, charming host and hostess, entertained in their new house on Grant avenue at a delightful surprise handkerchief shower given in honor of Miss Janet Trusler who is to be married to Mr. Stanley A. Owens on Saturday.

After the opening of the gifts, delicious refreshments were served from an attractively decorated table of holly and white candles. A huge punch bowl of tomato juice surrounded by running pine formed the centerpiece.

The guest list included: Misses Ann Bradford, Walser Conner, Rose Ratcliffe, Evelyn Cocke, Sue and Eleanor Gibson, Hilda Moser, Lucy Arrington, Messrs. Arthur Sinclair, Jack Merchant, Connie Kincheloe, Wallace Lynn, Bob Fox, Hawes Davies, Edgar Conner, William Trusler, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Sedrick Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arrington, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davies.

"I will pay my subscription," is a good New Year Resolution.

DECORATIONS FOR WOMAN'S CLUB DANCE COMPLETED

Final arrangements for the annual Christmas Assembly Ball tomorrow night have been made.

A decorating committee consisting of Mrs. Mylander and Mrs. Edgar Parrish reports that the Manassas High School gymnasium has been artistically decorated for this annual event, and a very popular orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.

The officers of the club have graciously offered their services as chaperones of the evening and will form an ex-officio hospitality committee, headed by Mrs. Paul Cooksey, president of the club.

As this dance is one of the most outstanding events in northern Virginia, a large crowd is expected, to be in attendance, and a gala affair anticipated by all.

FIVE SQUATTERS DELAY PARK

Transfer of Lands Held Up by Unlawful Tenants.

Five squatters, clinging obstinately to homes they never owned, are holding up transfer of the 190,000-acre Shenandoah Park from Virginia to the Federal Government, it was learned recently, but they will all be out by the day after Christmas, Wilbur C. Hall, chairman of the State Conservation Commission, said.

The individuals, who have declined to sign agreements which would give them until April 1 to find other homes were listed by A. E. Demaray, acting director of the National Park Service, as follows: Mrs. Cora Roach of Elkton, George Buracker of Criglersville, Mittie Breeden of Fletcher, Hensel Hopkins of Sperryville and Walker Jenkins of Stanley.

"If we are to consider the acceptance of the Shenandoah deeds before the deadline date of December 26," Mr. Demaray wrote, "it will be necessary that arrangements be made to remove these people from the area within the next few days. The secretary has advised that he is not willing to accept the deeds until all unauthorized occupants of the land are cleared out by the State authorities."

As a result of these instructions W. C. Armstrong of Front Royal, counsel for the Conservation Commission, will notify sheriffs of Greene, Madison and Page Counties to offer one more explanation to the squatters why they cannot move in and grab land and cabins; to offer them assistance in moving and, if they remain obstinate, forcibly eject them next Thursday.

DR. ALSTETTER ADDRESSES PRINCIPALS' ASSOCIATION

The Northern Virginia Principals' Association met at Culpeper, Wednesday, December 11, at 6:30 p.m. After a pleasant social hour during which a delicious turkey dinner was served by the Fernside Tea Room the association went into extensive session, Charles S. Monroe, principal of the Leesburg High School and president of the association, presiding.

The program for the evening was in charge of the committee on evaluation of secondary school standards. Mr. S. P. Vanderslice of Washington and Lee High School as chairman of this committee introduced Dr. M. L. Alstetter, educational specialist for the Co-operative Study of Secondary School Standards. Dr. Alstetter gave a most practical talk on how the principal might evaluate the standards of his school. His five point program included the following significant items: Pupil, Staff, Plant, Educational Program, and Administration.

In order to assist in the solution of current school problems it was agreed to ask each person to submit two topics, one involving problems which have been satisfactorily solved and one to include those which are giving trouble.

The members of the association are as follows:

C. O. Bittle, C. M. Bradley, Miss Ruth Campbell, H. C. Cloe, G. E. Cox, Mr. Crigler, Macon F. Fears, H. D. Gasque, G. F. Hankla, H. O. Hutton, Mrs. Mary J. Hudson, H. L. Lynn, H. J. Meredith, H. T. Moncure, C. S. Monroe, A. D. Neale, Howard Newlon, R. W. Peters, C. D. Rainey, J. H. Rice, Lupton Simpson, G. E. Smith, P. B. Smith, R. R. Tolbert, W. E. Tyler, Jr., S. P. Vanderslice, Elizabeth Vaughn, G. A. Watts, L. H. Worneldorph, Augustus De Zerega, Phillip De Zerega.

"CONSERVATION OF VIRGINIA'S RESOURCES"

Address of Wilbur C. Hall, Chairman of the Virginia State Commission on Conservation and Development before the State Teachers College, at Harrisonburg, Va., November 13, 1935, at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

About 55 per cent of the State is forest land. Most of our superb virgin forests have been destroyed, in part usefully to advance the welfare of our citizens, but in part rather wantonly. Great National Forests are helping to conserve some of the present stock. The annual inroads of forest fires, mostly due to human carelessness, is a deplorable loss to the State.

The above-mentioned resources are tangible natural resources, evident to all who will look and see them. More intangible, but of equal importance, are the history resources of the State. As residents of Virginia and as students you are no doubt fully aware of the incomparable and imperishable records and traditions of our history. They allure countless visitors to the State every year, in response to the innate urge to visit in person the scenes of great historical and social events.

I have mentioned that the State Commission on Conservation and Development deals primarily with the forests, mineral resources, and waters of the State as well as its parks, history and archaeology, and appropriate publicity for all of the resources within our borders. It is our task, along with all other groups having similar objectives, to aid as much as possible in the full development of a great Commonwealth. It is our duty to afford adequate technical service in the field of conservation and development of the State's natural resources to all of our citizens and to all others who may become interested in those resources. The Commission is supported by State appropriations and its service is to the State. Permit me to outline briefly some of its chief activities.

You are familiar, at least from accounts in the press, with some of the great developments under way in recent years. They include the Shenandoah National Park and its magnificent Skyline Drive; the Colonial National Monument; six State Parks, and a host of other undertakings by the various divisions of the Commission which, though less spectacular, are none the less of great importance to the Commonwealth.

At this college, almost in the shadow of the Shenandoah National Park and in an area where the idea of a great national park in Virginia was first translated into action, you have the opportunity to see and know at first hand some of the beauties and charms of the park. One may wonder, however, how many have not yet visited the park itself. You may be surprised to learn that for the National Parks "travel year," which ended on September 30, 1934, 4, 284,615 visitors entered the National Parks of America and that 516,637 visited the Shenandoah National Park area in Virginia. When it becomes a real national park, with the care and attention of the National Park Service, its value to this part of the State and to all of the State can scarcely be forecast. Not alone in the dollars and cents that will enter manifold channels of commerce and bring financial aid to many families, but in the first-hand knowledge of the charm of Virginia will be much of the real future value of the Park.

The unique Colonial National Monument—the cradle of the nation, the birthplace of representative government, the seat of our Colonial capital, and the place where American independence was finally won—has become the shrine and mecca of throngs of tourists from many states. The magnificent authentic restoration of Colonial Williamsburg by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has added immeasurable attraction to that historic area. If you have not seen it, let me urge you to do so at the first opportunity.

Our developing system of State Parks will afford many possibilities of re-creative recreation to all residents of Virginia. When made fully available to the public next year they will no doubt be visited annually by thousands of tourists. There are seven parks in the chain: Chesterfield Park, southwest of Richmond; Douthat State Park, in Bath and Alleghany Counties, northeast of Clifton Forge; Fairystone State Park, in Patrick County, northwest of Martinsville; Hungry Mother State Park, in Smyth County, just north of Marion; Seashore State Park near Cape Henry; Staunton River State Park, in Halifax County; and Westmoreland State Park, along the south side of the Potomac between historic Wakefield and Stratford.

WINDOW PRIZE BY GARDEN CLUB

Awarded to Hibbs and Giddings In Close Contest.

The Committee from the Garden Club, after carefully judging the business houses of the town, decided that Hibbs and Giddings had the best decorated windows for the Christmas spirit.

The United Food Stores and Conner and Kincheloe tie for a close second and Wenrich Jewellery Store was third, all three of which are given an honorable mention for their attractiveness.

The Club feels that a great deal of credit should be given the Chamber of Commerce for forming a lovely background for the windows of the business houses by the colorful lighting arrangement.

Sincere appreciation is extended each and every business man in town for the generous cooperation in making their windows beautiful.

MAY AWAIT WINTER'S END ON SKYLINE WORK

The southern extension of the Skyline drive may not be built until spring, it was said at Luray. The first 10-mile stretch from Elkton to Waynesboro, which has already been let twice, and twice held up, once because bids were too high, and once because of difficulty in securing rights of way, may yet be delayed again, although nothing official has been made public on the matter.

The reason for the delay, according to information, is because the contractor hesitates to begin work in the winter time. In the construction of the entire drive it has been necessary to stop work occasionally during the winter, but on the whole little time has been lost. In constructing the northern extension, however, the contractor for the middle 10-mile stretch did no work at all last winter, waiting for the winter to break.

The southern extension, particularly the first 10-mile stretch now under construction, is over wild and rugged terrain, more difficult than any yet encountered, it was said. Much of the timber is virgin forest. Undergrowth is thick, and boulders abound. Farther on the next 10 miles is a proposed tunnel, twice as long as the Mary's Rock tunnel near Panorama. Engineers in locating the road had a difficult task and in many instances had to make several attempts.

PRIZE WINNERS TRADE CONTEST

General Satisfaction Expressed by Business Men.

Christmas Eve was the occasion of much interest and speculation in Manassas as the time drew near when the cash-prizes would be awarded to those who had received tickets in appreciation of their loyalty to the home town in the matter of Christmas shopping.

While returns have not been made by the various participating merchants, the general result of the campaign for home trade has been widely recognized as successful in every way and the volume of business stimulated by the awarding of these prizes has exceeded expectations.

Mr. Ray Hall, Secretary of the Manassas - Prince William Chamber of Commerce, initiated the project and has worked day and night to bring it to a successful conclusion and he has received many congratulations, as the realization grows that the greatest benefit has been the resulting stimulation of home-town spirit.

As we go to press we are unable to report the names of all of the winners, particularly those receiving the minor awards, but the major winners were as follows:

First prize, fifty dollars: Miss Anna Lee Brown.

Second prize, twenty-five dollars: A. W. Sinclair.

Third prize, twenty dollars: William MacMillan.

Among those receiving prizes of five and ten dollars were Mrs. C. B. Compton, Miss Thelma Robinson, Mrs. Charles Lawson, A. L. Calvert and Glenn Laskey.

CARSON IS AWARDED PARK SERVICE MEDAL

The depression bringing with it CCC camps was credited with causing an increase in the number of state parks in recent years as presentations were made for the fifth year of the Cornelius Amory Pugsley medals for park service.

In awarding the silver medal to William E. Carson, Riverton, former chairman of the Virginia state commission on conservation and development, he was credited with "creating from nothing an expensive and varied state parks system."

MOSS-HEFLIN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong, Nokesville, was the scene of a quiet wedding Tuesday, Christmas Eve, when Mr. Francis Elvin Moss and Miss Harrietta Virginia Heflin were united in marriage.

The bride becomingly attired in blue, leaning upon the arm of the groom, entered the living room to the strains of Wagner's Bridal Chorus, rendered by Miss Edna Armstrong. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Murray Taylor in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

After refreshments the bride and groom departed for Washington and other points where they will spend the holidays and will be at their home near Bristow after January 1.

SILENT NIGHT

By Inno McGill

Again this year at Christmas the sweet carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night," is heard in every corner of the world: in church, in the home and over the radio.

Of all the Christmas songs of many lands this simple tribute to the Babe Divine seems to have attained the greatest affection. It is heard wherever the Feast of the Nativity is celebrated.

A monument recently unveiled at Oberndorf-on-the-Salzach, a Bavarian town near Salzburg, commemorates the composing there of this famous song 117 years ago by a Catholic priest, Father Joseph Mohr. It was set to music by the village school-master, Franz Xavier Gruber.

Because the organ of the parish church had been damaged in a flood, the melody of Silent Night, Holy Night was composed for the guitar, and the refrain that was destined to be heard in all the cathedrals of the world was first sung by a group of school-girls to the accompaniment of the guitar in the humble church of Oberndorf.

Father Mohr died in 1848 and Master Gruber in 1865. A monument in the village church represents the poet-priest listening in Heaven to the sweet strains of his song. The recently erected Gruber-Mohr monument is the gift of Austrians and Bavarians and represents the poet and the composer standing hand-in-hand. The sculpture is the work of the sculptor-priest, Father Joseph Muehlbacher of Kufstein-Zell.

A NEW YEAR DAWNS

A New Year dawns in the calendar of man, As the echoes of Christmas fade— And the choral songs and the carillon chimes That burst and surge o'er hill and glade— Give way to the raucous tumult's shout, With less of prayer and more of cheer— And midnight bells and song and mirth Give welcome to the newborn year!

Age looks back with calm reflection; Revamping dreams of yesteryear, While youth with most of life before it, Exults in hope that's void of fear. If mankind thus, with mixed emotions— With war and hate and crime uncurbed, Would keep the Faith with Christ of Christmas, He'd greet each New Year undisturbed!

—Stephen J. Lewis, Manassas, Va.

CATHARPIN

Mrs. J. H. Tolley and sister, Miss Mamie Baker of Hampton, Va., are spending the Christmas holiday season with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Collins, of Marble Hill.

Miss Frances Robertson, who is rapidly recovering from an appendicitis operation, returned home last week from Harrisonburg feeling remarkably well.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lynn and daughter, Elizabeth, Mrs. Etta P. Lynn, and Robert and Lynn Alvey "did the capital city" one day last week window shopping, Christmas shopping, sight seeing, and just what have you? all to the great delight of the youngsters whom they chaperoned.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson of Lawn Vale, Christmas shopped in Washington on Tuesday of last week bringing home with them—not all the city had to offer—but enough to make many friends happy on Christmas morning.

Mrs. L. J. Pattie and daughter, Harriet, took in the County Seat on Tuesday bringing home with them some of the fine, beautiful things the county capital has to offer during the festive season of the year.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower are spending the holiday season with their daughter, Mrs. Willis, of Clarendon, Va.

Anyone visiting the Catharpin postoffice on Monday morning last would certainly be imbued with the idea that prosperity was right here at our doors or else Christkingle has gotten his itinerary mixed up with Manassas or some other large city since Uncle Sam delivered to that point the largest consignment of mail matter in the history of the office; the mail truck delivering sacks enough to start a grist mill had they been filled with wheat. Great is Catharpin.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Akers and daughter, Elaine, of Washington were Sunday visitors at Rock Hill.

Notwithstanding the cold weather, the Christmas entertainment at Sudley last Sunday morning was greeted by a house full of people who witnessed a fine and beautiful program. The decorations were superb, program well rendered and all in faithful keeping with the spirit of the occasion thus another beautiful, inspiring and entertaining program was the pleasure of all in spite of discouraging weather and road conditions during its preparation, all of which goes to show that "where there is a will there is a way." The usual treat to the Sunday school children, Bible class gifts and a handsome collection for the Home at Gaithersburg was the final consummation of a beautiful observance of the day. Mrs. L. L. Lynn director with Mrs. J. W. Alvey at the piano.

SEEK REDUCTION IN AUTO DEATHS

Program of Safety Education to Be Launched.

A new program of safety education which will have as its goal a reduction in automobile accidents next year, will be sponsored by the State Department of Education, the American Legion, and other agencies, it has been announced.

In the meantime the traffic toll for 1935 continued to mount with a report today of the death of Semmie Allen Brooks, 19, of Jacksonton, at Lynchburg, last night. This marked the thirty-fifth auto fatality for December in Virginia, and 645 deaths for the entire year.

Director John Q. Rhodes, of the Motor Vehicle Division, urges motorists throughout the state to help make this Christmas a happier one by driving carefully and avoiding accidents. He recalled that twenty-two persons died as the result of motor crashes during the Christmas holiday period last year.

The safety education program was outlined at a meeting attended by Dr. Sidney B. Hall, state superintendent of public instruction; Frank Bennie, department commander of the American Legion; Mr. Rhodes and others. The Legion "volunteered to furnish all materials" needed for such a course.

A committee was appointed to "work out suggested source material which might be used by the teachers in the public schools," Dr. Hall said. "Our teachers have been crying for the proper texts and materials for a long time and we will see to it that they are used to the best advantage."

WINTER DATES ANNOUNCED FOR NATIONAL SYMPHONY

An augmented series of Students' Concerts, a Brahms Festival, and outstanding concerts in Constitution Hall featuring world renowned soloists are scheduled for the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., shortly after it resumes its season after the Christmas holidays.

Dr. Hans Kindler, conductor of the orchestra who inaugurated Students' concerts five years ago as a part of the National Symphony's regular season has just announced a unique plan for these concerts this year. There will be more of them. They will be presented in various high schools on week day afternoons, making them conveniently available to large numbers of boys and girls. Under the general title of "How to listen to Music," they will bring to the thousands of young listeners the finest music in symphonic literature.

Plans are already underway to draw the attention of young people throughout Washington to these concerts, which begin January 16 in Central High School, January 17, in Eastern High School, and January 20 in Western High School. Dr. E. N. C. Barnes, director of music in Washington public schools, and his staff music teachers are again co-operating with the orchestra, and music supervisors in the parochial schools, too, have pledged their support.

There will be three of the Students' Concerts in each of the schools named and a fourth and final concert in Constitution Hall. To this last concert, which will be at 11 a.m. March 21, all students who attended the high school programs will go. It will be a festive event, with Dr. Kindler presenting a great symphony concert in the symphony's regular concert hall.

Attractive circulars containing full information about these special concerts may be obtained at the National Symphony Orchestra Association headquarters, 1113 Woodward Bldg., Washington.

Regular concerts in Constitution Hall will be resumed Thursday night, January 9, when Dr. Kindler will present a soloist of world renown. The name of this artist will be announced within the next few days. This will be the first of several of the Constitution Hall events in which great artists will take part. On the following Sunday, January 12, Frances Nash, pianist, who has played brilliant with the orchestra in previous appearances, will be soloist. Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, distinguished English duo-pianists, will appear on the Thursday concert, January 23.

Of great interest to music lovers in the Capital and nearby cities is the Brahms Festival, which Dr. Kindler has announced will definitely take place February 1, 2, and 3. The first and last of the concerts will be in Continental Memorial Hall, which adjoins Constitution Hall, while the regular series of Sunday concerts in Constitution Hall.

Myra Hess, pianist, the Musical Art Quartet, and Hans Kindler, cellist, will be featured in the festival events of February 1 and 3. The program of February 2 will feature the National Symphony, Dr. Kindler, conductor, and Myra Hess, pianist, as soloist.

TELEPHONE SCIENCE WONDERS DISCLOSED

Impact Tester

A machine with a mechanical arm capable of delivering a blow of hundreds of pounds and yet that will measure accurately the impact value of telephone materials requiring only a fraction of a foot pound to break them has recently been developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Its use is to test insulating materials and parts of telephones, so that they will have longer life and be of greater service to the user.

Moulded parts of telephones, which the user sees, are the shell case of the hand set, the mouth piece and receiver of the desk type and wall set. Some breakage of these parts of the telephone is inevitable, but losses in recent years have been greatly reduced, according to F. L. Hopkins, telephone development engineer, by the use of compounds effecting high resistance to fracture. The toughness of these products is a very important characteristic and in studying them the engineers developed this apparatus, which is now playing an important part in the manufacture of telephone equipment.

The 17,000,000 Bell System telephones in daily use in the United States are designed to give the best possible telephone service to the user. Telephones of the same type must of necessity be alike. In desk stand type telephones, containing 176 parts, every contact must be similar and accurate in the most minute detail. In the handset telephone there are 181 parts, each of which is exactly like its mate in all of the other innumerable telephones of this type. The same is true of the familiar wall-type telephones found in rural communities and in smaller towns and villages.

FORMER SLAVE DIES

AT 90; ESCAPES YANKEE

FIRING SQUAD

Funeral services for Daniel Nelson, a former Negro slave whose boast it was that he escaped unscathed from a "Yankee firing squad," were held Dec. 20 at Hurleytown, Negro settlement in lower Fauquier County. He died Wednesday night at "Weston," home of the Misses Charlotte and Constance Nourse, who had taken care of him for the last five years. He was 90.

Born in slavery, the property of the Robert Martin family of the Casanova neighborhood, Nelson went to the field in the War Between the States as body servant to his master. He said he was "captured" near Warrenton by Union soldiers, who stood him against a tree and took pot shots at him.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tabs the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

HAPPY NEW YEAR

The year 1935 will be remembered by the American people as marking the closing stages of a great period of depression. Many experiments have been ventured in the realm of governmental solicitude for the public welfare. Some of these have been highly successful and others have apparently fallen short of the desired accomplishment.

Out of the year 1935 the country emerges with renewed vigor, decreased unemployment and a greater faith in the stability of those basic institutions which comprise the American Democracy.

The greatest experiment in popular government that the world has ever seen was inaugurated by the American Revolution. Other peoples have followed the precepts set forth in our Declaration of Independence, but it has remained for the United States of America to carry on the ideals of true self-government.

Democracy has failed in many sections of the world, particularly in Russia, Germany and Italy, where popular government has submitted to either bureaucracy or to dictatorship.

That America is destined to enjoy a Happy 1936 is evidenced by our stabilized condition as a nation, while the Old World stands on the brink of war.

May we add the personal wish that the New Year, which should mean so much in the lives of all, will be particularly rich in blessings to the hundreds of friends of this newspaper, who have been so kind, neighborly and helpful in sustaining their county newspaper.

We wish you all a Happy New Year.

FRATERNAL ORDERS

PLAY SANTA

For the first time since its organization the Daughters of America this year played Santa Claus to the worthy associated with the Order. The packages were delivered by the councilor, Miss Minnie Smith.

Not to be outdone, the Juniors, under Councilor J. H. Boley, also got busy and arranged a special basket for one of its less fortunate members.

The sincere thanks of the recipients of this good cheer have been personally conveyed to the Journal editor so that the public may know of the good work of the beneficial fraternal order within its midst.

Ford V-8 Streamlining Steps Ahead

THE IMPROVED streamlining of the front end of the Ford V-8 for 1936 is well illustrated by this camera shot. Note the horn set into the fender apron behind a chromium grille and the way the graceful contour of the fender is carried to the edge of the new radiator grille. A glimpse of the new hood louvers is caught behind the headlamp. The V-8 insignia on the prow of the car is of new design.

JUST ONE WORD

How many people in civil life Will take the time to think, That Service Men do other things Than "Bum around and drink." Don't judge us by the one or two You see that act the fool, For it's not an exception That proves to most every rule.

When you see a man in civil life Go staggering down the pike; You don't run down the civil line And say, "They're all alike." Now most men in uniform Are really pretty good, They'll never steal your chickens, Or carry away your wood.

We're as welcome as the Gout, You wonder what we're drilling for And what it's all about, But let there be a sound of War, You'll make a lot of noise; And strain your lungs and voices While cheering for "Our Boys." And yet there's just one thing more That should be understood

"They send us back to civil life If here we don't make good." —Sent in by a "A Sailor from Prince William."

Have you read the Clark and Arrington History of Prince William County? Every citizen who takes pride in local institutions should possess a copy of this charming book, which is on sale for 40 cents at the office of the Prince William County School Board, Manassas, Va., or will be sent postpaid for 50 cents.

Facts and Figures On Your Telephone

BY EDWIN F. HILL

Each day during the year ending June 30, telephone users in the United States made 74,700,000 calls. Of these 2,440,000 were out-of-town calls, according to statistics recently compiled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. For the first six months of the year there was a daily increase of 1,300,000 calls.

These calls were made over the 17,090,000 telephones now serving the American people through 6,864 companies and 18,902 central offices. During the year there was a net increase of approximately 350,000 telephones.

Telephones in this country are now connected by 87,060,000 miles of wire, 71,257,000 miles being for exchange service and 15,803,000 miles for long distance communications.

Of the estimated total of 33,500,000 telephones in the world, 93 per cent or 31,100,000 may be connected with any Bell System telephone. World-wide telephone communication now reaches more than sixty countries and geographical locations on six continents. This transocean service was inaugurated January 7, 1927, between New York and London. Within a short time the service was extended to the principal cities of continental Europe, South and Central America and the West Indies.

Within the past year or two service has been extended to Hawaii, the Philippines and late last year to Japan. There are only three countries with as many as 100,000 telephones—China, Russia and New Zealand—which may not be connected with the international telephone network.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

FOR THREE DAYS THIS WEEK a very interesting and highly instructive exhibit of recent scientific research was staged in the Carnegie Institution of Washington. It was free to the public and the exhibits were explained and demonstrated so that any intelligent layman could understand their main features and their importance to human progress.

A MONKEY'S EGG was one of the most interesting features, a tiny thing just big enough to be seen with the naked eye, yet within that little speck of living matter Mother Nature has hidden a highly complicated mechanism that operates mysteriously, driven marvellous power more spiritual than material, so that it evolves into a cunning and spritely little monkey. The exhibit showed the actual growth of this tiny egg, and for the first time it was possible to observe the change that take place during the first days of the creature's life. The achievement may have an important bearing on human development.

IF YOU WERE CURIOUS to know how the ancient people of America lived 10,000 years ago, what buildings they constructed, what tools and utensils they made, and what they thought and believed; if you cared to see the ingenious machine with which scientists drill into the floor of the ocean under a mile or two of water and bring to the surface a core of earth and rock in which may be read the history of that part of the earth for millions of years; if you were interested in how such telescopes as the great 200-inch reflector now in preparation are constructed and used; or if you are a lover of beautiful things, such as the exquisite diatoms displayed in powerful microscopes, your curiosity would have been satisfied by a visit to this exhibit. The these diatoms are water plants so small that a single drop of water may contain thousands of them, their flinty shells are so exquisite and elaborate in design, so symmetrically marked, and so beautifully colored that no art gallery can compare with them in loveliness.

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS streamed thru the exhibit rooms during the three days they were open to the public, but if the great daily newspapers and the schools had been awake to this splendid educational opportunity and had urged their readers and pupils to attend, the thousands would have been multiplied into tens of thousands or even a hundred thousand. Each year the Carnegie Institutions stages a similar exhibit and each is a most valuable "application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind," as Andrew Carnegie hoped it would be when he founded the institution. But, alas, superintendents, principals, and teachers generally seem indifferent to them, apparently buried alive in toms (or tomes) of an age that is past and dead. Were it not so they would close their high schools and colleges at least for a day, confident that three hours spent in studying these exhibits would be a greater educational stimulus to the students than a whole week of the usual classroom activities. Perhaps some genius will make himself famous by inventing an alarm clock powerful enough to awaken our instructors of youth, open their eyes to the light and warmth and coloring of the living world around us, inspire them with aneager desire to feel the power and pressive thought and swim daringly energy of the deeper currents of pro- in its waters.

BUSINESS FIRM REORGANIZES

Announcement is made of the fact that Mr. Kyle Davis, of Lorton, has sold his interest in the undertaking business of Davis and Hall to the latter who has taken in as his partner his son, R. Warthen Hall, an enterprising young business man of the Occoquan neighborhood.

Simultaneous with this announcement comes word that with the new firm will be associated Mr. Edwin Morgan, who has the distinction during his business experience of being the attendant who embalmed the son of ex-President Coolidge.

The new firm has its announcement in this issue of The Journal.

TO TEST RIGHT TO PAY
LIQUOR FUNDS ON ROADS

The Frederick County Board of Supervisors has instituted a friendly suit in Circuit Court to determine whether it legally may apply funds received from the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board on county road debts.

The board received $4,000 as its share of ABC profits and was puzzled as to how to spend it. It was decided to use it on the payment of road debts, incurred before the highways became a part of the State secondary road system, if the step is legal.

"I will pay my subscription," is a good New Year Resolution.

Railroads Extend
Telephone Usage

Telephone train dispatching is being used by a greater percentage of the mileage of class one railroads in the United States than ever before, the telegraph and telephone section of the Association of American Railroads reports. Use of the telephone for dispatching trains has steadily increased during the past fifteen years.

Telephone service is now used for transmission of orders for the operation of trains over 151,103 miles of railroad or 63.72 per cent of the total railroad mileage. In 1920 the telephone was used for the transmission of train orders over 48.5 per cent or 119,554 miles of railroad.

From 1920 to 1935 there was an increase of more than 26 per cent in the miles of road over which trains are operated by means of train orders transmitted by telephone. Use of the telephone affords great flexibility in the transmission of train orders and also expedites the transmission of such orders. In the event of emergencies in train operation, the train conductor or engineer, by using a way station or portable telephone, can give first-hand information to the dispatcher or superintendent that is always helpful under such circumstances.

READING THE PALM OF '36

Nineteen thirty-six! The seers have read its tender palm, analyzed the shape of its skull, read its horoscope and gazed into dozens of crystal balls to come to the conclusion that it will be one of the wordiest years in American political history.

The outlook, related in its wealth of detail, will be revealed in the feature section of The Star, next Sunday, December 29.

OCCOQUAN

Mrs. Jennie P. Hamill, mayor of Occoquan, Va., delivered the fourth in a series of nine talks on problems of local government sponsored by the League of Virginia Municipalities from Radio Station WJSV, Alexandria, Saturday, December 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Hamill discussed "What A Woman Can Do to Improve Municipal Government." It is an unusual distinction for a woman to be elected mayor of a Virginia municipality and what Mrs. Hamill has to say in this capacity was of unusual interest.

THE WELL

For thirty years I've had something to tell.

About the merits of a good drilled well,

My wells are made good and tight, Cased with the best of standard pipe, No surface water can enter there, That gathers filth from everywhere; Secure from rats, toads and snakes, Which often cause pains and aches. Don't be afraid a few dollars to spend—

The best is the cheapest in the end. My terms are easy and my prices are low, So don't hesitate, I can please you, I know.

When once it's done it always will last, And you will be happier than you were in the past.

Stock well watered will do with less feed.

Let me drill your well and you'll have more 'n you need.

You may say what you will, but this I do think,

Your health will be better if pure water you drink,

So take my advice of a very good plan,

And come and see me as soon as you can.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Take Children's Pictures Now

Pictures like these will lend enchantment to your "Memory Album."

HOW many members of the Snapshot Guild have taken snapshots of their children? It would be interesting to know for so few parents realize the importance of keeping what might be called a "Memory Album"—fascinating, story-telling pictures of their children.

The two pictures above are excellent examples of story-telling pictures—the kind you should strive to take for your "Memory Album." They were taken on just such a day as we hope to have tomorrow—sunshine and bright skies. Mother snapped little Billie as he was making a vain effort to sweep the front walk while Jane was apparently pleasure-bound with her toy dog and dolls. Aren't they real story-telling snapshots?

Suppose that you want to snap a picture of your little son or daughter playing or "working" in the yard. This is what you should do.

First of all don't try to get the child to pose, for the chances are he will appear in a stiff, unnatural position in the finished picture. Let him become busily engaged in whatever he is doing and then rather nonchalantly get as near to him as possible with your camera. If you have a box camera you should not be closer than eight feet. Have the camera (if it is of the box type) set at the largest "stop" or lens opening and you are ready to "shoot" the minute your child unintentionally or intentionally, if he is a good actor—assumes an interesting pose or position. Be sure all of him shows in the finder or else he may appear in the finished print minus his head or an arm. Here's another simple precaution. The shutter on a box camera operates at a speed of approximately 1/25 of a second. This is not fast enough to stop action when the camera is close to the subject so in taking the picture of your child wait until that moment when he is not in motion before snapping the picture for otherwise the image will be blurred.

If you have a folding camera with a footage scale you can work as close as six feet to your subject and get a larger image. Set the diaphragm control pointer at f.11 or if it is quite shady, at f.8. Set the shutter speed indicator at 1/25 of a second or number twenty-five. Locate the child in the finder and snap the picture.

Don't have the sun striking the child in the face and then expect him not to squint. Let the light come across his face and you will get interesting shadows and show his features much better. And there'll be no squinting.
