MAC NINE WINS AT ALEXANDRIA

Dreifus Limits Opponents to Four Hits in Brilliant Pitching Effort.

Manassas invaded Alexandria Sunday and became the party of the first part in the seasons most startling upset, winning from the strong Celtic Nine by the score of 6 to 2.

The Celtics, who were the possessors of a sixteen straight winning streak, ran into unexpected opposition and found themselves in difficulty from the start. Dreifus turned in one of his best games since donning a local uniform, holding the Celtic sluggers to four hits, one of which was a bunt, and with better luck would have blanked his opponents.

The Macs, taking advantage of Titcomb's wildness, pushed across a single run in the second inning, fell upon Titcomb in the sixth with a sudden five hit attack that was good for four runs and chased the latter to the showers and sneaked across their final run in the ninth off Shu with the aid of but a single hit.

Dreifus in the mean time was holding the Celtics at bay, permitting but two men to reach second during the first five innings. They scored their first run in the sixth as the result of a walk, an error and a pair of infield outs and added another run in the following inning on a single, a walk, an infield out and a single by Shu. Dreifus steadied in the eighth, however, and after pitching a single to Godfrey, forced the next three hitters to pop out to short. He wound up the final inning with a flourish, setting down Hamilton and Ludlow on strikes and forcing Lonford to roll out to Vetter for the final out.

With the Macs holding on to a one run lead, Vetter opened the sixth with a single to center and took second as Saunders dropped a single into short right. They each moved up a base as Brenner tossed out Bradshaw. Kite lined Titcomb's first pitch into right for a single, scoring both Vetter and Saunders. Kidwell kicked so on the decision at the plate that he was ejected from the game. Wurdemann continued the assault with a triple against the right wall to score Kite and scored a moment later on Dreifus' line drive to center. The latter blow finished Titcomb and Shu came in to halt the Macs' drive. MANASSAS — 0 1 0 0 0 4 0 1 — 6 CELTICS — 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 — 2

Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Duffy of Pittsburgh, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Theresa to Dr. Leo Kasehagen, 3d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kasehagen of Washington Wednesday, July 8, at Pittsburgh, Pa. The Rev. C. A. Sandorbeck, uncle of the bride, officiated at the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride wore a white tailored suit, white straw hat, white accessories and a corsage bouquet of pale yellow roses. Mrs. John B. Meagher of Steubenville, Ohio, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a blue print dress and a corsage bouquet of tall-man roses. Mr. Meagher was the best man.

After the wedding ceremony a supper and informal reception was held at the home of the bride. Later the couple left for an Eastern motor trip through historic points of interest in Virginia, stopping a few days at Virginia Beach and then returning to Washington.

Jimmy Kasehagen was born in Manassas in the Kasehagen home on Grant Ave. August 18, 1909. The family moved to Washington in 1920.

BAPTISTS MEET AT LEESBURG

First Time Since 1903 That the Association Has Gone There.

The Leesburg Baptist church is to entertain the eighty-first annual session of the Potomac Baptist Association on August 12 and 13.

This will be the third time for this church to entertain the Association. In 1887, and again in 1903, this body met with the Leesburg church. On the first occasion there were fewer than four thousand Baptists in the Potomac Association. This year there are more than ten thousand, while the number of churches has increased from 44 to 64.

The sessions this year will be held in the High school building at Leesburg, where the body will find adequate seating room on the inside and abundant parking space on the outside.

Some new features have been added to the program this year. The reports will be fewer and promise to be more interesting. There will be more time for discussion, and the speaking arranged for promises to arouse great interest. Mr. H. Grady Daniel, Musical Director for the First Baptist church of Alexandria, will be in charge of the music and will sing one or more solos.

Rev. Owen P. Lloyd is to preach the annual sermon. Rev. C. W. McElroy, the new pastor of Upperville, will make his first address to the Potomac on Men and Missions, while his wife, a former president of the Women's Missionary Union of Virginia, will speak to the report on Women's work. Rev. Russell J. Urquhart of Fairfax will also be making his maiden speech on Present Day Youth and Religion.

At a memorial service in honor of Dr. Chas. T. Herndon and Revs. V. H. Councill and Chancellor N. Brown, Mrs. Arthur S. Jenkins of Leesburg will sing and Rev. J. Murray Taylor will deliver an address.

The devotional theme this year is worship and there will be four brief and pointed addresses on different phases of worship.

Rev. Perry L. Mitchell of Clarendon is expected to preside, while Rev. C. Wirt Trainham of Marshall will be serving his fourteenth term as clerk. The meetings will begin at 10 o'clock on both days.

A WONDERFUL PAGEANT

The Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Jackson's great military victory will long be remembered in Prince William. Over 30,000 people witnessed the marvelous army display and heard the clear, ringing voice of Dr. Freeman, Virginia's famous historian, as he described with dramatic force and realistic vividness the facts and movements of the First Battle of Bull Run. His address was listened to with rapt interest. He, himself, expressed regret—a regret felt by every one—that the opening guns stopped him at a most interesting point.

The Army and Navy officials, co-operating with the local committees, omitted no detail in their part of the program and certainly have the appreciative thanks of all interested in the gigantic performance. For their aid, without which the celebration could not have been handled in this way, we are indebted to our Congressman Howard W. Smith.

The bountiful and beautifully served luncheon was pronounced by Governor Peery, Judge Howard Smith and the rest of the 200 guests to be the best of its kind they had ever enjoyed. For this, Mrs. Jacobson and her associates in the United Daughters of the Confederacy are to be most cordially thanked.

The meeting adjourned to meet again on the evening of August 4 and a cordial invitation has been extended to all interested to be present.

HOME COMING BRINGS CROWD

Haymarket Finds Event Popular at St. Paul's.

The first Home-coming day for St. Paul's church was on July 19. Large numbers of former members and of friends gathered to hold fellowship with those who are now carrying on the work so well done in former days. The morning congregation numbered about two hundred and reminded many of those days when church-going was a more general and prominent virtue.

The service was a happy combination of the Holy Communion and Confirmation services at which the Rev. W. F. Carpenter presented six candidates and the Rev. H. J. Miller presented four which latter fact added much to the impressiveness of the occasion. Bishop F. D. Goodwin confirmed, then preached an excellent sermon and was also celebrant. He was assisted by the Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger, the Rev. H. J. Miller and the rector. The choir with the assistance of visiting clergy rendered excellent music and revealed fine ability under the capable leadership and good judgment of the organist. Communicants numbered one hundred and twenty.

From one until three in the afternoon a box luncheon and a social hour afforded much pleasure.

At 3 p.m. the second service of the day was held at which the Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger was special preacher using as his text Rom. 8:19 and gave a message marked by insight and spirituality that will certainly prove to be a rich inspiration and a lasting benefit.

One outstanding feature of the occasion was a high note of joy which found expression in a general desire to have another Home-Coming Day in 1937. A feature also was a success of the plans prepared by the special committee and by a group of willing workers among the ladies.

The many expressions of satisfaction and pleasure encourage the members of St. Paul's to plan for the bigger and better Home-Coming Day next year.

KIWANIANS GREET VISIT- ING MILITARY MEN

The Kiwanis Club had the pleasure of entertaining the regular line officers in charge of the battle celebration at the regular meeting of Friday evening.

Previous to this, Ben Jacobson had the group to his home for a brief reception. Then the Colonel and Ted, assisted by Ed Conner, piloted their guests to the Kiwanis haven of good cheer for another hour of festivity.

The officers were introduced one by one and each made a bow and said a word of appreciation at the hospitality which they were receiving.

President Dick congratulated Ted on the best program of the month, and with but one more week in the month, this assumption is reasonably certain.

Yesterday, several of the Kiwanians joined the Skyline Drive motorcade and made the rounds winding up at Culpeper where they enjoyed dinner. All report having had a fine time.

Military Action Was Timed Perfectly.

DR. FREEMAN EXPLAINED TROOP MOVEMENTS

JULY 21, 1936!

This day brought almost as much fervor to the throng gathered on the battlefield last Tuesday as it did seventy-five years ago.

Taking all things into consideration that which will be most remembered of what occurred Tuesday will be the dramatic moment when Dr. Freeman repeated Jackson's famous command. "It is now 3:25," said Dr. Freeman, "in a few minutes you will witness what took place just seventy-five years ago to the very minute. In his dispatches, Jackson stated 'It is 3:30. The condition of the line is such that it calls for a bayonet charge. I have ordered the charge'."

Dr. Freeman seemed to absorb the spirit of the great Jackson as his words rang out.

And then thirty-one thousand people gave a mighty cheer as the discomfited Federals fled northward in the direction from which they had swept to the South.

Dr. Freeman gave one of the best discourses on the campaign to which an audience ever listened. He showed very clearly the causes of the defeat, disclaiming the general assertion that McDowell had planned the battle well. From a military standpoint, Dr. Freeman sounded much like a division commander discussing a previous engagement.

The speaker was intensely interested in his subject and unfortunately did not have time to complete his entire remarks as his time allowance was cut short nearly twenty per cent by the other speakers. An the military action started very precisely at two-thirty.

There were among the spectators quite a number of veterans some of whom are listed as follows:

Confederates: Gen. R. M. Colvin, Co. E. 11th Virginia Regiment, Harrisonburg, Va.; Robert Cushing, private, Co. A. Fourth Virginia Cavalry; Leroy Wesley Cox, private, Fourth Brigade, Wise's Legion Virginia Cavalry, Charlottesville, Va.; Carter Bishop, V. M. I. Cadet, Petersburg, Va.; J. W. Gwaltney, private, 2nd Tennessee Cavalry, rear ranks, Roanoke, Va.; Mayor Harry Wooding, private, first fifteen months, Co. B. 18th Virginia Infantry, two years, ten months, Co. C. Fifth Virginia Cavalry; Robert W. Wilson, private, 1st Maryland Cavalry, Co. D., Maryland; and one Union veteran, Napoleon Beckeleman, private, 96th Pa. Regiment, Pennsylvania.

Several of the veterans were actual participants in the battle and indorsed what Mayor Wooding of Danville said when he declared that the reproduction was quite realistic and accurate.

Other prominent personages in attendance included: Miss Cox, Adjutant, John Bowie Strange Camp, Charlottesville, Va., Mrs. Norris Harris, Registrar General, U. D. C., Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, Richmond, Va., Edward A. Wyatt, Franklin Smith, Dr. J. W. Coleman, Superintendent, Petersburg National Military Park, Mrs. H. R. Quisenberry, Lexington, 2nd vice-presi. state U.D.C., and Dr. Quisenberry, Mrs. William M. Forrest, University, President, Virginia Division, U. D. C., Dr. Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nat Harrison, Greenville, N. C., Mrs. E. O. Henckle, Richmond, Va., Miss Anne V. Mann, Petersburg, Va., past president of the Virginia Division and National officer, U. D. C., Dr. Douglas Freeman, Richmond, Va., Hon. Howard W. Smith, Gov. George Peery, Hon. Wilbur C. Hall, Commissioners, Melvin C. Hazen, and Dan I. Sultan, Capt. Edward A. Duff, chief of naval chaplains, Mr. Arno B. Cammerer, director of the National Park Service, Brig. Gen. Gardner Waller, Walter Hopkins, commander-in-chief, Sons of American Revolution, Gen. and Mrs. C. H. Lyman and Col. and Mrs. Barker, of Quantico.

During the period of the Sham Battle Dr. Freeman stayed by the microphone explaining some of the things which were being done. He called attention to the fact that the men were going through the laborious motions just as if they were actually loading muzzle loading guns. Dr. Freeman explained in this connection that many of Jackson's men had flint locks dating back to the war of 1812.

Another interesting point he noted was the practice of the ranks interchanging, each rank loading and going forward to shoot as it knelt, while one or more ranks in the rear were

HAY SHORTAGE IN VIRGINIA

Purchasing Service Organized To Protect Buyers.

The 1936 hay crop in Virginia is now estimated at 41 per cent of normal, which means that thousands of farmers will be purchasing hay this season. The previous experience with western hay has created considerable reluctance in the part of Virginia dealers to again get into the hay business, but the increasing pressure for reliable service has been such that the Drought Relief Committee of Virginia, appointed by the Governor, requested Southern States Co-operative to serve as a co-operative hay purchasing agency for Virginia farmers.

This well known concern has sent buyers into the western territory to inspect all hay purchased for their customers and is taking every precaution to protect their customers. Local representatives of Southern Co-operatives are, therefore, taking orders for imported hay and are handling the material on the slender margin of 50 cents per ton. Orders may be sent direct to the Southern States Co-operative, Hay Purchasing Service, Richmond, or to any local Southern States representative.

SPECIAL NOTICE

We run a column for church notices. Despite that fact scarcely a week passes when someone claims that not enough attention is giving to this column and want a side notice.

Nothing will motivate quicker to render this column useless than to run items concerning the churches outside this regular church column.

This does not apply to church suppers, etc as these are not religious services.

UP AND DOWN WE GO

You may not realize it—in fact, it is not perceptible in the slightest degree to the senses—but there are earth tides which are daily lifting and dropping your home as if you lived on the body of a huge animal and were subject to the inflation and deflation of its lungs.

This newly measured phenomenon is the subject of a fascinating article which you can read in This Week in The Star next Sunday, July 26.

TODAY In Politics . .

by Geo. Dent

When the children of Israel called on David to build a great temple—he drafted his son Solomon . . . When the Republican party called on Landon to rebuild their political fence—he drafted his friend Hamilton . . .

When the Lord wanted to return everyman unto his possessions—He told Moses to have sounded the trumpet of the jubilee . . . When Roosevelt was hunting for the "forgotten man" to return unto him his possessions—he told the New Deal to call Jim Farley . . .

Solomon built the Temple without delay or strife; Hamilton resurrected the Republican party giving 'em new life; Moses had the trumpet sounded announcing the jubilee; Roosevelt found the "forgotten man" Jim Farley . . .

And now amidst the dust-bowl from out of the west, We hear the sound of oratory, the gnashing of teeth—No political rest;

Father Coughlan, his priestly vestments lay at his feet, pours out his vial of condemnation—Points at Roosevelt as a "liar and a betrayer of the 'forgotten man'" hisses damnation . . .

He has laid aside—"Roosevelt or Ruin"

And now orates in a different Tune . . .

Seriously, it is a little too early to approximate the position of the third party . . . The damage that they will do the two old parties remains to be seen and that will take time . . . The third party as it stands now (Father Coughlan, Dr. Townsend and the Rev. Gerald K. Smith) have a candidate by the name of Wm. Lemke; Mr. Lemke with these three gentlemen represent the left just a few degrees to the left of Mr. Roosevelt's stand . . . The third party's position, granted for the sake of argument; does it not appear to you that Mr. Roosevelt will be the one that they will draw the most votes from? Father Coughlan, with his Union for Social Justice; Dr. Townsend, with his $200 a month revolving pension; and the Rev. Gerald K. Smith, wearing the mantle of the late Huey P. Long's share-the-wealth clubs; make a combination that cannot be laid aside with a huff and a puff . . .

Teddy Roosevelt split with the old line Republicans, polled 36 per cent of the popular vote, and elected Wilson . . . Strictly speaking, this was not a third party . . . Senator LaFollette marched out no the political battle ground with a genuine third party playing the drum and fife and polled 17 per cent of the popular vote . . . Other third parties, generally speaking, never poll more than 2 per cent of the popular vote . . . The third party this time bids fair to be a serious menace to both the old line parties.

Mr. Roosevelt is being seriously weakened by the desertion of real democrats . . . Alfred Smith, the happy warrior, and a 15,000,000 popular vote Democrat, claims that Mr. Roosevelt leans too far to the left . . . Ex. Gov. Eley of Mass. thinks like Mr. Smith and announces in favor of Landon . . . Col. Breckinridge, a stranger in politics, without organization, and using only a thin dime for expenses, appeared on the primary ballot in a few states, simply as a protest, and polled enough votes along side of Roosevelt to make an interesting study . . . Breckinridge's per cent of votes if followed thru all the states would easily swamp Mr. Roosevelt's land-side in 1932 . . . The Colonel declares for Landon . . . Ex-Senator Reed of Missouri has his head turned away from the New Deal . . . Ex-Senator Bruce of Maryland sends a love letter to Landon, and says in so many words "I am ready to embrace you." Senator Byrd, the Junior Senator of our State, condemns the whole outfit that he is a part of and is far from being loyal to his Commander-in-chief . . . Senator Glass, our senior Senator, says under this administration the U. S. has a system of government of privilege, and on the 17th of this month said: "I wish Patrick Henry were living today. I wonder what he would think of the whims and vagaries in government . . ."

Landon is going forward at a rapid rate, he is gaining strength day by day as the political wheel of fortune turns . . . But Mr. Landon may be fooled, we have quite a distance to go before election day in November . . . In Cleveland, and the writing of the platform (A careful reading will convince you) there appears a strong under-current for the specific purpose of wooing the middle-of-the-road leftist . . . Can Mr. Hamilton make the flares interesting enough to hold these conseration leftors and at the same time throw kisses at the Liberty Leaguers?

Mr. James A. Farley is not given to sleeping on duty; he has proven in the past three years that America has never produced a better boondogler . . . Mr. Farley knows quite well that the rank and file of the voters are not with the Liberty League . . . He (Farley) further knows that the Liberty League et al forming the right wingers are not his for the asking, and that the extreme left wing will be hard to rope and brand . . . At present, we will give Mr. Lemke the extreme left wing . . . Mr. Landon gets the semi-conservatist leftors, the Liberty Leaguers and a bunch of conservative and disgruntled Democrats along with the Old Guard Republicans . . . This leaves Mr. Roosevelt with most of the leftist in the industrial working class, which takes in those of the Republican as well as the Democratic faith, and all those who were Democrats because their fathers were born under the sign of a Democratic moon; he will also get Mr. Landon's semi-conservative left wingers if they find out that he (Landon) is becoming hide bound with right wingers.

This election will not hinge around the voters who close their eyes and follow a leader; but will ebb and flow around the voters who keep their eyes open and finds a leader . . .

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a precious heritage to them in after years.

OUR BURDEN BEARER:
Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee; he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.—Psalm 55: 22.

A BREAK FOR INDIANS

A plan to establish a national holiday in tribute to American Indians has been proposed by members of the Ridgefield Lakes Club in Connecticut. This group thinks it is high time to accord honor, gratitude and admiration "to a noble race which held in perfect trust the New World, which they loved but did not selfishly hold."

A petition asking the President to designate such a day in 1937 reads: "We who took the North and South American Continents from them should give recognition to the original and true Americans, and extend a more generous friendship to their descendants, whom we regard as our wards instead of looking upon ourselves as their heirs." The Indians are described as "the glorious race preserved the natural beauties, the mineral wealth, fertile soil and abundant floral and animal life by which we, by acquisitive instinct have benefited."

All this would surprise contemporary Indians. It would certainly surprise those early settlers too, and the French missionaries who went out to save the savages in the wilderness, to hear of a day set aside for commemorating the "folk lore, history, crafts, morality and kindness of the American Indians."

The Peoples National Bank of Manassas

To the Editor of the Journal:

As time and space were limited I was unable to make clear in the July 9 issue of the Journal the muddle the Board has made in its handling of the welfare question in this county.

Time has made it clear to those who have followed the case that the Board, with fore knowledge, did, without any excuse, place a person of high standing in the community in a very embarrassing position, and did it for no other than political reasons.

The Board, without legal authority, did elect a person with no more official rating than an overseer of the poor for the whole county at $100.00 per month.

Their only hope now is that the State Welfare Office can be coerced by political influence to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. It is doubtful if that office will lower its high standard for this purpose.

I have not attacked any member of the Board. Each one knows the part he has taken in the efforts of the Board to establish a welfare office, also his reason for that part, and his squealing will not in any way deter me from telling the public what has happened, as near as I am able. I feel that this is the only way such conditions can be checked.

—C. B. ROLAND.

Editor Manassas Journal,

Dear Mr. Wharton:

Hon. A. S. Buford, who had represented our county in the Legislature, was Sergeant Major of the 18th Virginia Infantry Regiment which was stationed at Fairfax Court House when, if I am correct, the Union forces advanced upon the Confederate troops on July 17, 1861.

General Bonham of South Carolina was in command of the Confederates who numbered less than 5,000 men and just when we expected to engage in battle, Gen. Bonham received orders to fall back to Centerville. When the 18th Virginia arrived at Centerville we were ordered to go to Blackburn's ford on Bull Run where we remained until July 21, when the 18th Regiment was ordered in the battle. I was a boy of 17 years at that time and if my memory is correct it was on the 19th day of July, two days before the battle Hon. A. S. Buford, who after the close of the Civil War was President of the Richmond and Danville railroad, said that he climbed a tree to view the surroundings and said he distinctly saw a battle on the exact ground where it was fought on July 21, 1861. He gave no explanation for his illusion, but years afterwards he still contended that this vision was as plain as it was enacted two days later, July 21, 1861.

Hon. A. S. Buford was a highly respected and truthful man and would not have made such a statement unless the vision actually came to him, and he no doubt to his dying day, was impressed with the vividness of the battle, which was fought two days later. To him and to others who knew A. S. Buford and know that he would not make a false statement, the vision has never been solved.

I was a member of Co. B 18th Virginia Infantry, "Danville Grays," and on Tuesday July 21, 1936 I expect to be on the battlefield where seventy-five years ago I participated in the battle of Bull Run; met the Union soldiers who proudly marched to Bull Run and there double quick ran back again.

I hope you can read the writing of a 92-year-old man who has hastily written a reply to your request.

Sincerely, HARRY WOODING.

Danville, Va.

(Questions That Are Asked About Banking)

"Do Banks coin money or issue currency?"

THIS question has been asked by some people who desire a clearer understanding of our money system in this country.

Banks do not coin money. Money is coined by the Federal government mints under authority given to Congress by Section 8 of the Constitution which says: "The Congress shall have power to coin money and regulate the value thereof."

The banks of the country (except the 12 Federal Reserve Banks) do not issue currency. This function is exercised by the Treasury of the United States. The 12 Federal Reserve Banks issue Federal Reserve Notes. National banks formerly issued National Bank Notes but that authority was terminated by an Act of Congress.

The bank is glad to answer further questions about our American monetary system.

CHAPLIN DUE IN "MODERN TIMES"

Charlie Chaplin in "Modern Times," the comedian's long-awaited new comedy comes to the Dixie Theatre next week Wednesday and Thursday. Almost two years in production, Chaplin's first picture in almost five years is also his most pretentious. Like its predecessor, "City Light," "Modern Times" is without dialogue, but boasts some novel sound effects. The comedy, which introduces the familiar little figure in the big shoes and baggy trousers into the relatively complex environment of a big industrial city, casts Charlie as a factory worker with a talent for getting out of jobs and into jail, and who subsequently finds employment in such widely divergent capacities as shipyard worker, night watchman and singing waiter. The story, which was written by Chaplin and marks the first time he has ever worked from a prepared script, is said to involve him in the most hilarious situations of his entire career. The star also produced and directed the film and wrote the music. The girl, a gamine of the waterfront to whom Charlie plays knight errant, is played by Chaplin's lovely new leading lady, Paulette Goddard, who has been pronounced a genuine screen find.

loading and waiting to come forward. The men placed in charge of the detachments very realistically portrayed parts of officers at that time in their manner of directing fire. The ones who were selected to take the role of killed and wounded in the main pursued very realistic poses. Some of the Confederate dead, however, got so interested that they were up on their elbows watching things later on.

Dr. Freeman was particularly interesting in his remarks on the action which took place in the Southern part of the arena, and also described for the benefit of the hearers what went on out of sight on that date and which could not be portrayed for this reason.

After the final charge Dr. Freeman retired and officers from the Cavalry, Artillery and Marine Corps explained the workings of the exhibit given by members of their corps.

While it is extremely doubtful that such a performance will ever be repeated, be said to the lasting credit to those who conceived this performance to the honor and glory of our common forebears, that it will go down into the annals of Prince William as a fitting tribute to the great Confederate leader and his untrained and rather poorly armed men.

So much has been said in a joking way about the "Third Battle of Bull Run" that very few today realize the origin of this expression. History tells us that after Gettysburg, Lee and Meade again made a race for the Centreville Ridge position and that Meade was there first. So impetuous were the Confederates that they pushed ahead and their scout lines actually engaged the Union outposts when Lee defected and moved to the South. Thus ended the Third Battle of Bull Run.

In the forenoon the Manassas Chapter, Daughters of Confederacy, entertained the veterans and other guests on the lawn at Annaburg, the Porter Estate north of Manassas, Gov. Peery arrived a little late out in ample time to partake of the delightful luncheon.

The weather was ideal, particularly in the afternoon. Approximately 200 guests took part in the festivities there. Shortly before one o'clock the procession of official cars with the Governor's car in the lead, filed slowly out of the grounds and headed for the famous battlefield.

Everywhere in evidence were state police and C. C. C. men. It was truly a remarkable exhibition of police work. Seven thousand cars entered and left the grounds and the main traffic on the Lee Highway was routed through the town of Manassas for seven hours without an accident of any description. Sheriff Kerlin declared it was "the nicest crowd he had ever seen." There was not even a threatened arrest during the entire day, and nothing materialized to show the evidence of the use of alcoholic drinks.

After an enjoyable band concert, Bishop St. George Tucker, of the Virginia Diocese, gave the invocation and Senator John W. Rust, for many years head of the battle park association, spoke briefly on the occasion which was being memorialized pausing to compliment in glowing language the work of the Conservation Corps and State Conservation Commission, for what has been done. Senator Rust made the dramatic announcement that this occasion also marked the formal release of the Henry Farm to the Federal Government.

Hon. Wilbur C. Hall, chairman of the Conservation Commission, the second speaker, highly praised the work done by the Conservation Corps, and briefly dwelt on the park situation in Virginia. He also gave some of the history of the battlefield.

Governor Peery, the last speaker, was loud in his praise of the efforts of local legislators, local committees, etc. He, too, spoke lovingly of the Confederate victory and deeds of arms.

ARLINGTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

The tri-weekly night baseball games and the Sunday afternoon baseball games which are being provided as a means of amusement for the residents of the County, are creating a great deal of favorable comment from all of those who have attended these games, at Ballston.

A part of the six acre tract owned by the Association has been devoted to an up-date ball-park almost completely inclosed by a substantial fence, with ample free parking-space off the traveled highway.

The illumination afforded for the night games is secured from fifty 1500 watt electric lights erected upon 80 foot masts and experienced players, who have played on other ball grounds, say in the illumination of the park, at no time has there been any difficulty experienced by them in following the course of a thrown or batted ball.

The Association will be pleased to rent the facilities for night activities on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at a nominal charge, as it is a non-profit stock company and is primarily interested in providing athletic amusement for the young and old folks of the County.

The schedule of games for the next week, all of which will be played in competition with the Ballston Athletic Club, are as follows:

Saturday, July 25, 8 p. m.—Young Men's Democratic Club of Forrestville, Maryland.

Sunday, July 26, 3 p. m.—open date.

Tuesday, July 28, 8 p. m.—Philadelphia All-Stars.

Thursday, July 30, 8 p. m.—Fairfax Station Athletic Club.

Saturday, August 1, 8 p. m.—open date.

Sunday, August 2, 3 p. m.—St. Mary's Celtics.

Organizations desiring to avail themselves of the facilities of the park and baseball teams desiring to play may communicate with Mr. J. R. Spitzer, president, Arlington Athletic Association, 3902 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia, Telephone Clarendon 1196.

BUS HEARING

A hearing will be held before the State Corporation next Thursday (July 30) at which time it will be decided whether the bus company will have permission to run an intra-state bus all the way between Richmond and Washington, via Bowling Green and Fredericksburg.

The bus company has been suddenly restricted from four to one continuous intra-state bus privilege. This has brought about a condition by which the company is cut to such an extent that its income will prevent the possibility of long continuing, according to statements of officials.

Free transportation may be had and a bus will be on hand early Thursday morning to take interested persons to the hearing.
