CLUB PLANS MANY ACTIVITIES

Woman's Club Hears Interesting Reports.

The October meeting of the Woman's Club of Manassas met at the high school on Wednesday of this week. Interesting reports of the section meetings were given, each section chairman reporting increases in membership and attendance.

The Music section chairman, Miss Virginia Speiden, announced that the Music Section was sponsoring a plan for taking a certain group of students to the National Children's Symphony Concerts to be held in Washington this winter. This proved a very worthwhile and interesting project last year.

The Legislative chairman, Mrs. F. R. Hynson, gave a splendid resume of the recent program in that section.

The Garden Section report by Mrs. J. P. Lyon included an announcement of a tour of that group to the Skyline Drive later this month.

Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, president of the club, told of plans for the Fourth District Meeting to be held in Orange, Va., on Tuesday, October 23, at 10:30 a. m. and urged as many members as possible to attend.

The following were appointed official delegates: Mrs. C. C. Lynn, Mrs. Paul Cooksey, Mrs. Thomas Howard, and Mrs. J. P. Lyon.

Members of the club wishing to attend, are asked to notify the club secretary, Mrs. C. Wade-Dalton, at once.

The social hour and refreshments which were in charge of Mrs. A. B. Bisson, assisted by Mrs. E. C. Bowers, Mrs. William Coker, Mrs. W. M. Compton and Mrs. Paul Cooksey, followed in the usual order and another very pleasant meeting adjourned to meet again in November 11 when a special Armistice program will be featured.

4-H CLUBS HOLD ACHIEVEMENT DAY

The Prince William 4-H Achievement day was held October 10 at the Manassas gymnasium with 250 in attendance. The program began with the club members bringing exhibits of their project work, then parading to the movie house where they were guests of Mr. Hibbs. After the club members had seen the exhibits brunkewick stew was served for supper. The club members donated the materials for the stew, much of the materials were prepared or grown by club members.

DEMOCRACY IS APPLAUDED HERE

Highlights in Gov. Peery's Address Last Saturday

The banking crisis left upon his doorstep by Mr. Hoover was so desperate that it called for first-aid, and the first official act of the new President was to declare a bank holiday and close all of the banks until they could furnish assurance that their condition was such as to entitle them to the confidence of the people and to their continuance in the banking business.

This action on the part of the President, with rare exceptions, was acclaimed from ocean to ocean by Republicans and Democrats alike as one of wise and courageous leadership. Well do I remember a momentous meeting called by Governor Pollard and attended by representatives of all the leading banks of the city as to the banking emergency that confronted us in Virginia. It was at first thought by the bankers that they could withstand the storm but later heavy cash withdrawals were made for the purpose of paying payrolls of some of the large corporations in other cities where the banks had closed, and Governor Pollard's action in declaring the banking holiday in Virginia from March 6th to March 14th, inclusive, was generally approved by Virginia banks.

I read a report of a speech made by Colonel Henry W. Anderson, prominent Virginia Republican, in Richmond on October 6th, in which it was said that he (Colonel Anderson) criticized Roosevelt's action in closing the banks at the start of his administration as one of the "greatest crimes" ever committed in this country. That is in strange contrast with statements made by the press and by leading bankers at the time of this emergency. The Chicago Tribune, a Republican newspaper, writing of the President's inauguration address, said that "it strikes the dominant note of courageous confidence." The New York Herald Tribune, another Republican paper, said that the new Executive speaks "like a true leader who realizes the difficulties before him and faces them unafraid."

More than 6,000 banks in all had failed during the Hoover administration, and the bankers themselves were in a state of panic and collapse. That this action on the part of the President saved the country from financial disaster, there can be no substantial doubt. In May, 1933, two months after his inauguration, it was said of him:

"The President has moved with almost bewildering speed attempting to revive business and industry, get 15,000,000 idle back to work and raise farm prices. He has tackled the depression from every angle with the support of a willing Congress and an enthusiastic public hungry for action."

And now, after three and a half years, we witness a strange hatred—one of the strangest, in all history. Many of those, who would then have given half of their wealth to be assured that they could keep the other half, and who then acclaimed the President as the financial savior of the nation, now, with either short or ungrateful memories, are berating him and singing their song of hate against the President. They were perfectly willing to be saved from financial drowning then, but now they bitterly complain that they suffered some bruises in the rescue.

What else has the Roosevelt administration done to safeguard the future from a similar catastrophe?

It passed the Emergency Banking Act, under which the banking system was reorganized.

It passed the Banking Act of 1935, sponsored by the Senior Senator from Virginia, Carter Glass. These acts put a stop to dangerous speculation on the part of the banks and limit them to safe and legitimate banking functions. Many of us remember very well how some of the larger banks of the country during the hey-day of

STATE CAMPAIGN OPENS AT MANASSAS

EDITORIAL

That Governor Peery should open the State Campaign in Manassas is a source of pride to the citizens of Prince William. He came in response to the invitation of our Congressman, Judge Smith, and, like Judge Smith, he came without ostentation and greeted with sincere friendship the men and women who gathered especially to hear him and see him. He created a popularity for himself that will last. Everybody who met him wants him to come again.

Governor Peery Given Ovation Here

CONGRESSMEN SMITH AND BLAND PRAISE ROOSEVELT

Barbecue and Speaking Evidence Democratic Confidence in Prince William

Selecting Good Old Prince William as the opening point of attack in the Virginia Presidential Campaign, State leaders attended the Democratic Rally and Barbecue at Manassas last Saturday, hitting straight from the shoulder and landing squarely and effectively on the Republican effort, State and national, to discredit the achievements of the Roosevelt administration.

Graced by the presence of the Governor of Virginia and by two of our most distinguished members of Congress, as well as by many other prominent Democrats, the rally and barbecue imprinted itself indelibly upon the political history of our County and not only evidenced the genuine affection in which the Governor and our own distinguished Congressmen are held by all classes of our citizens, but also constituted a visible demonstration of the high esteem in which the Democracy of Prince William County is held by those who guide the political course of Virginia.

That Governor Peery should select Manassas to open the State presidential campaign was the occasion of much gratification locally and the tremendous ovation accorded the Governor was not only a tribute of affection to a most likable gentleman but a mark of respect for his high office and an expression of deep appreciation that this locality should be honored by his genial and gracious presence.

Under threat of cloudy skies a goodly assembly congregated in the spacious auditorium of the new high school. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Hawes Davies who presented Hon. Howard W. Smith, Congressman of the Eighth District. Mr. Smith presided over the meeting and introduced the various speakers in the intimate and informal way so characteristic of Hon. T. Otis Bland, Congressman from the First District was the first speaker and he gave an appreciative audience a genuine thrill as they listened to a type of oratory and vigor reminiscent of the days of John Warwick Daniel. In good old-time fiery language Mr. Bland hit straight from the shoulder, revealing achievements of President Roosevelt, and the empty arguments of his opposition.

On the platform with Governor Peery were, in addition to Congressmen Bland and Smith, Melvin Hazen, Commissioner of the District of Columbia; Leslie Garnett, District Attorney in the National Capital; George Herring, former representative of Prince William and Stafford Counties in the General Assembly; Frank Moncure, the present Delegate; E. R. Conner, W. P. Meredith, son of the late Congressman Meredith; Hawes Davies, sr., and Arthur Boatwright.

Congressman Bland paid a very high tribute to the fine personality and the wide influence in Congress of Judge Smith whose power on the important rules committee and distinguished service to the State and Nation "made him a worthy successor of the many illustrious Representatives who have reflected lustre on the untarnished pages of Virginia history." His tribute to Judge Smith was the occasion of a prolonged applause, as the Judge is very popular.

Congressman Bland struck a smashing blow at the self styled "Jeffersonian Democrats," maintaining that the precious heritage left by Jefferson remained the property of all, and could not be appropriated by a limited group and shaped to their purposes. He outlined the great Jeffersonian principles and demonstrated how the present occupant of the White House had been the true friend of the masses. He explained how the present evils had accumulated since the War between the States and how every great plan advanced by William Jennings Bryan had at last been written into law. Three achievements of the Roosevelt administration alone, not counting the hundreds of other accomplishments, he said, would justify the reelection of President Roosevelt. These were held to be the bank deposit guarantee, the control of speculation and the establishment of the C. C. C. Camps.

PARADE CUP IS PRESENTED

Kiwanis Entertain distinguished Guests

By virtue of the fact that most everybody forgot to sign the register Friday night before last, the Club decided to disregard the meeting entirely as there had actually been no meeting anyway. Ovarations were accorded Hon. Melvin C. Hazen and his niece and also the newly-wed, Mrs. Stewart Slaybaugh.

The guests of the evening were Dr. George B. Coker, president of the Manassas Volunteer Fire Department and J. A. Vetter, Fire Chief.

Dr. Coker in his talk stressed the question which has been frequently raised in the past year and that is of additional light equipment for use over secondary roads and in bad weather when the heavy equipment of the town cannot be used.

The speaker declared that it was often an embarrassing situation to decide whether to answer a call in the country or not, and that it would be a great calamity if the equipment were withdrawn and a serious fire should break out in town with the apparatus unavailable.

Yielding to popular demand, Mr. Hazen gave a bright little talk, reciting some of the humorous instances

The purpose of this group is to discuss informally the problems of child rearing and to exchange helpful suggestions for general improvement.

The regular business session of the League will be taken up at three o'clock with Mrs. Percival Lewis presiding.

This meeting promises to be one of special interest and all patrons and friends of the school are urgently requested to be present.

that have taken place since he had become chairman of the Board of Commissioners in Washington. Ed Conner wound up the evening by inviting everybody to attend the Barbecue on the day following.

Fred Hynson presented the Club with the cup won by the Kiwanis float at the Dairy Festival.

Ralph Sharrett was a welcome visitor and the club hopes to have him as a permanent addition in the near future.

HOME ECONOMICS WORK DEVELOPING

Increased Demands Registered at Last School Board Meeting

The School Board met last Wednesday with all members present.

Miss Munsey, commercial teacher at Occoquan, filed her resignation. The Board filled her position temporarily.

Mr. Free, school trustee for Brentsville, reported an enrollment at Bristol as insufficient and the closing of the school was duly authorized.

The sale of the Bradley school to Mrs. O'Callaghan was reported.

Four libraries were ordered purchased; two for Bennett and two for Quantico.

At the request of Mrs. Kerr, the Board has taken under consideration the proposition to establish a home economics department at Haymarket High School and a study will be made.

A committee was appointed to immediately investigate the practicability of the erection of a home economics cottage at Nokesville.

Lights were authorized installed in the old Brentsville court house. A large volume of miscellaneous business including the payment of bills, busied the board for the balance of the day.

QUIET TALKS ON RELIGION

By Dr. James T. Marshall

THE OTHER ROOM

"In my Father's house are many rooms." (John 14 : 2, Goodspeed's translation) The old world took an exceedingly gloomy view of death and the future. Even the outlook of the Old Testament writers is depressing. It was reserved for Jesus to guild the tomb with sunlight and give hues of glory to the western sky.

He literally "abolished death and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." Listen as He says "If any man keep my saying, he shall never see death," and "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall he live, and he that liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

By His own resurrection He demonstrated the reality of life beyond the grave and thus "became the first fruits of them that slept." The first Easter was the greatest day in Human history. Of its epochal character the great German critic Harnack says, "Whatever may have happened at the birthplace of the indestructible belief that death is vanquished and there is a life eternal. On the conviction that citizenship in an eternal city which make our earthly life worth living and tolerable."

It is high time for christian people to discard unchristian views of death. It is not to be regarded as crossing a "gloomy river," but as entering the door into the Father's house. It is in fact the most glorious adventure of which the human spirit is capable: It does not mean ceasing, but beginning to live; not separation, but reunion. Life is continuous and unbroken. We merely change the place of our residence and exchange a tattered tent for a marble palace. In Paul's language death means "to depart and be with Christ, which is far better."

In a little book called "The Other Room," Lyman Abbott gives us a beautiful illustration of what really happens at death. His father, who was the head of a large school in Boston, was in the habit of going out of the school room into another room, at certain times during the day, leaving the scholars to themselves. While in the other room he was not lost to them, nor had he forgotten his interest in them. All that happened was that for the time they were unable to see him with their physical sense of sight.

Our Savior has left us for a time and gone into "the other room." Our loved ones have followed Him there. In His own good time He will come to the door and call us also. Then we "shall see Him as He is" and shall be eternally united with those who have been dearest to us on earth. This is the promise, "I will come again and receive you unto Myself, that where I am there ye may be also."

KENTUCKIAN SUCCEEDS IN LOCAL FIELD

Charles D. Faller of Midland was a welcomed caller at the Journal Office this week.

The typical old-time southerner, native of the blue grass land of Kentucky, Mr. Faller emanates the type of kindly friendliness that is so valuable in the business world.

Coming to Fauquier county in 1904 he entered business at Midland going on his own in 1917 at the time of the war boom. He was so successful that in a few years he found enough support in the neighborhood of Bealeton to open a branch and which is at present managed by Dophie Stephens.

Encouraged by the uptrend of business there the feed people whom he represents, a third branch was opened here in 1934 with Mr. P. B. Beale as local manager. Mr. Faller has spent his life time in trying to promote business and civic enterprises in the two counties often sponsoring educational progression to aid in feeding problems.

TODAY In Politics . . .

by Geo. Dent

President Roosevelt moves out of the White House and circles thru the west as Candidate Roosevelt . . . Candidate Roosevelt makes a very good case for President Roosevelt . . . He argues the New Deal from a progressive standpoint, and claims "just as we planned it" a feather in President Roosevelt's cap . . . Candidate Roosevelt says, "Friends and neighbors, stop, look and listen; before balancing the national budget we had to balance the budget of the American people . . . We had to bring back from the years of depression the faith and hope that keeps civilization moving forward; we had to cast aside the darkness of Republican misrule and balance the human side of the budget before the national budget could be or can ever be balanced . . . That makes sense, doesn't it?"

Mr. Landon, or should I say Candidate Landon, comes along and takes us back to 1932, and quotes Candidate Roosevelt in regard to government spending and budget balancing . . . Candidate Landon makes a very fine case against Candidate Roosevelt; and asks in all seriousness: "That makes sense, doesn't it?"

The real issue of this campaign are the issues as stated by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Landon, and not the hybrid issues as ballyhoo'd by Hearst and his ilk; nor by Mr. Knox who is trying to stamper the electorate by highly inflated and misleading statements in regard to the money issue . . . Mr. Knox, as Vice-Presidential Candidate Knox, knows that our devalued dollar, off the gold standard, has the very same purchasing power as our gold standard dollar had . . . We can peg the value of a dollar counted in grains of gold, but we cannot guarantee from day to day the amount of merchandise our dollar will buy . . . Farmer Brown borrows from the bank $1,000 and pays half of the loan off in one year with wheat selling at $1.00 per bushel; next year wheat is selling for 50 cents per bushel, and with fifty cents wheat he finishes paying off his bank note . . . Now let's see: Bank loan $1,000, 1st year with interest farmer Brown renews the note and curtails it by paying $500 and interest . . . Wheat $1.00 per bushel, 500 bushels of wheat pays $500 on note and interest $50 . . . 2nd year, note in bank $500 and interest $30, wheat 50 cents per bushel, 1000 bushels of wheat pays off the bank note . . . The bank has all of its money back with interest, and farmer loses 30 bushels of wheat all because the price of wheat has dropped . . . Farmer Brown should be a banker . . . Now Mr. Knox, instead of ranting around and raising false issues, tell 6,000,000 farmers and their dependants how to peg their commodities and be able to look a dollar in the face of its own level . . .

I do not agree with one side of the electorate, that if we elect Mr. Landon as our next president our national institutions will crumble and the hand writing upon the wall will spell our doom; neither do I agree with the other side, that if we elect Mr. Roosevelt, Communism will take charge and Mr. Stalin will issue orders . . .

We are all consumers—if we have the where-with-all to buy the necessities of life, we buy, and most of us aim to raise our standard of living . . . High wages makes for a high standard of living, and a high standard of living makes a prosperous country . . . That makes common sense, doesn't it?"

A defeatist attitude must be laid aside; a going back to the days of Jefferson is simple looking backward . . . Jefferson was a wise man, a thinking man, a true statesman in his day and times, so were our Founding Fathers; but why turn our backs on progressivism and go back to the ox-cart . . . Our Jeffersonian Democrats, (they named themselves) seem to think that if Jefferson were with us today he would still be cracking his whip over the backs of a yoke of cattle, wearing red-flannel, high top boots and chewing hill-side-navy . . . They fail to note that Jefferson was a progressive for his day and would be leading the way if he were with us today . . .

The welkins ring with politics and connect every conceivable form of business with things political; this being the case, no column would tell but half the thing political if we left out business: Let's read the record . . .

Woolworth sales set a Sept. record for Sept. . . The largest recorded for any Sept. in its history . . .

Record Bus order awarded by Greyhound . . . This order was given to the Yellow Coach and Mfg. Co., 505 highway coaches $6,800,000.

Cocoa futures at a 6 year high and moving at record pace . . .

Steel orders are heaviest in 7 years . . . Steel companies enter the year with the largest unfilled orders since 1929 . . .

N. & W. buys 27,000 tons of rail . . .

Montgomery Ward Co., sets new record . . . Sept. sales $33,357,194.
A. T. & T. shows increased gross income; $9,000,000 over the same period last year . . .
All time auto sales peak forecast in 1937 . . . The year 1936 was second to 1929 . . .
Chain Stores show a big gain . . . Sept. rise of 20.5 per cent over 1935 is best since depression . . .
Textile mill activity during the first seven months was at a rate higher than that for the corresponding period of any year since 1929, and indications are that an equally favorable showing will be made for the whole of 1936 . . .
A six year high for freight loading and a sharp gain in motor production helped drive the Nation's industry ahead last week, while retail trade moved forward . . . And in Virginia, as shown by U. S. Reports—Internal Revenue Collections in Virginia, reported October 9, were $9,000,000 greater for the period ended last June than for the preceding fiscal year . . . Total collection $150,333,865.93 . . . Corporate income taxes increased from $7,336,740.12 to $8,284,332.95, and individual incomes taxes from $3,455,463.93 to $5,081,607.78 . . .

Now the question for the voters to decide, and for the good of the country, the average business man man should help the average voter to decide, whether the priming of the pump helped business or not; and did the priming keep our country from going the way of Russia, Germany, Italy, Spain (and probably France) . . .

Being an American is more important to our National welfare in this year of our Lord 1936, than just being a Republican, a Democrat or a whatnot . . .

Lime When Convenient

T. B. Hutcheson makes the following statement in regard to the best time for applying lime: "The best time, all other things being equal, to apply lime is immediately before the crop in the rotation which responds best to lime. This is usually the legume crop in the rotation or the grain crop on which the legume is sown. Personally, I do not think it makes any difference where the lime is applied in the rotation considered over a period of years. I believe that the best policy for the farmer to follow is to distribute the lime whenever it is convenient for him to do so, knowing that it will give good results when the crops come on the land which respond to lime. I consider the convenience of the application far more important than the place in rotation, when it comes to putting on lime."

Select 1937 Seed Corn Now.

The 1937 corn crop will depend a great deal on the care taken in selecting and storing seed corn for the next few weeks. The best ears can be selected as the crop is being harvested and properly seasoned and stored. The small additional work will pay big dividends.

Soil Conservation Program.

Four hundred and six Prince William farmers are participating in the Soil Conservation Program. The acreage of these farms represents a high percentage of the total farm land in the county. Payments will be received for soil-building and soil-conserving practices carried out between January 1 and October 31, 1936. There is yet time for many who have not done so to qualify for their maximum soil-building allowance.

PROPAGANDA — THE WEAPON OF COWARDS

One of the most regrettable features of the National Campaign is that Roosevelt is being fought by his enemies with propaganda only.

That the President has made mistakes is not disputed.—That some of his assistants are unpopular, and some of his methods of operation, also, is accepted.

But none of this is made an issue. With the spleen of jealous hatred his opponents are surging forward hysterically, agitating mob methods, charging him with violations that would justify his impeachment, if true.

This is a clear indication that his opponents know they cannot make a case against him sufficient to defeat him and are resorting to base propaganda.

No person succeeding in any phase of life has failed to feel the coward's thrust along these lines and while it may cause hurt for a while it cannot ultimately succeed.

If the Republican Party can do so much now, why was the country on the rocks four years ago?

The United States is on the up-grade and the enemies of the President have not helped. The American people will not let them hinder.

R. LEE LYNN

R. Lee Lynn, president of a large commercial concern in Roanoke, died on October 6 following a hospital operation.

The deceased who was sixty-four years of age, was born at Catharpin, going to Roanoke in 1892 where he entered the firm of which he was a partner at the time of his death.

The business world and the press of Roanoke greatly deplored the untimely passing of such an active leading citizen.

His funeral which took place in Roanoke, was attended by all the prominent people of the town.

His wife was the former Miss Ethel Rucker of Lynchburg. He leaves a son, Robert Lynn, jr., and a daughter, Mrs. V. P. Moir, of Roanoke, and two sisters, Mrs. May Lynn of Manassas and Miss Sadie Lynn of Washington, and one grandson, V. P. Moir, jr.

Among his activities in the business world he was a past president of the Retail Merchants Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and many other organizations.

The many people who recall Mr. Lynn in his younger days regret his passing as much as his fellow townsmen in Roanoke.

A SAFETY WARNING

State Officer Howe of the Motor Vehicle Department was in the office today to issue a warning to all automobile owners or operators concerning the posting of any material on the front windshield, side-shield or rear windows other than the certificate approved by the Director.

Mr. Howe says that this warning is to prevent considerable confusion that may arise between now and the time of the election, particularly with regard to placing windshield stickers for any candidate or party in the manner described in the preceding paragraph.

Mr. Howe states further that while it may not be in conformity with the law, that the placing of a small sticker other than on the front windshield which does not intrude vision and thus endanger life and limb, would not be treated ordinarily as a misdemeanor.

TOWN BOY OPENS BUSINESS HOUSE

The many friends of Mr. J. Emmett Rice of Manassas will welcome his opening in his new establishment as outlined in the details of an advertisement which appears in other columns.

Mr. Rice, who is the son of Mrs. Rose Rice and the late Mr. Welby Rice, is a lifelong resident of the town and a graduate of the local schools. He has been employed on a number of local business connections and is too well known to need any introduction to anyone in the county.

The Journal wishes Mr. Rice all success in his venture and trusts that its readers will consider his offerings carefully.

Speech

the Hoover administration, lured by liberal profits, underwrote bonds and securities of foreign nations, and when they sensed the impending collapse, unloaded them on their small and unsuspecting correspondents, who later found that these securities sold to them were altogether worthless. Virginia witnessed some bank failures that were directly traceable to this cause.

This administration also created the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by which the United States Government undertakes to guarantee depositors in both national and state banks up to $5,000. As a result, the total bank deposit in the United States have increased by more than $6,000,000,000 in a period of three years.

It is worthy of note that the Republican candidate for the Presidency denounced the Federal Deposit Insurance Act before the American Bankers Association and used his influence to prevent the banks of Kansas from joining this great security act.

Concrete evidence as to recovery in the banking situation is found in the fact that during the Hoover administration 6354 banks were forced to close their doors, while during the present Roosevelt administration there have been only 264 bank failures.

The Farmer

Let us now take a look at the American farmer and see what the Roosevelt administration has done for agriculture. Does the record show that Roosevelt has been a genuine friend of the farmer? One of the main difficulties was that farm credit had collapsed during the Hoover administration. The farmer was paying high interest rates, and receiving reduced prices for his products. The farm credit system was restored. Credit was made available to the farmer at lower interest rates. More than three and a half billion dollars in new loans was made available to the farmers of our country in refinancing old loans and making new ones. As a result, more than a half million farms were saved from foreclosure to their owners—and their homes were saved to them and their families.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act was passed for the purpose of reducing the unsalable surplus of farm products. It is true that the Supreme Court held the act invalid. But before this decision came, there had been brought about a reduction in the surplus and an increase in the price of farm products. And we must in any event give credit to the administration for an honest effort to better the farmer and help to place him more nearly on a parity with industry. The annual income of the American farmer was increased by at least $3,000,000,000. During the last year of the Wilson administration in 1920, the gross income of the American farmer was $13,600,000,000. In the last year of the Hoover administration it had declined to $5,300,000,000. In 1935 after two years of the Roosevelt administration, it had grown to $8,110,000,000.

A comparison in the prices of some of the leading agricultural products during the Hoover administration and now will help us to get a true picture.

Spot cotton sold in New Orleans in June, 1932, at 4.95 cents per pound. Now it is bringing more than 12 cents a pound. December Wheat in Chicago in November, 1932, sold at 41½ cents a bushel. Now it is bringing more than $1.11 per bushel. December oats in Chicago in December, 1932, sold at 13½ cents per bushel. Now the price is 42½ cents a bushel. Spot lard sold in Chicago in March, 1933, at 3.78 cents per pound. Now lard is bringing on that market more than 11 cents a pound. Bright flue-cured tobacco in Virginia and surrounding states for the 1932 crop averaged 11.41 cents. Today tobacco is bringing on these markets 23 to 24 cents a pound.

The price of beef cattle has risen from about 4 cents a pound in 1932 to 7 and 8 cents today.

Of course the American farmer is happier today than he was under Hoover in 1932, and he thanks President Roosevelt for it.

And what does the Republican party propose for the farmer? It has in effect in each of its platforms in recent years declared in favor of placing the farmer upon a parity with industry. But immediately after the 1928 election, it enacted a tariff law that alienated practically all the nations of the world against our nation, and destroyed the markets for the salable surplus of the farmer. And Mr. Landon now condemns the Soil Erosion and Conservation program, which he apparently approved during his term as Governor. He condemned the N. R. A., and yet he wanted the principle of the N. R. A. applied to the oil industry in which he was interested. He still promises aid to agriculture but he wants the high tariff continued, and he proposed a direct subsidy which would inevitably produce a greater surplus and lower the general level of agricultural prices.

*Where a NUMBER appears following a name, it is to indicate the PARTICULAR farm upon which the higher score was attained.

REMARKS: ONCE AGAIN WE APPROACH the fall season and the busy months of winter—summer is always a trying period, both from the standpoint of production and marketing of dairy products.

We are especially happy however, to find so many of our producers eligible for public recognition on this—the season's first—HONOR ROLL.

Many of the prize winners for September, are the same old fighters, who by their tireless efforts have, month after month, retained their position in or near the front ranks. Each month however finds some new faces forging ahead and marking up excellent scores, thereby serving notice on the old timers to watch out for their laurels.

As the season advances, this list will naturally grow and we shall watch with keen interest for the new faces, which are sure to appear.

Again we wish to compliment you on your present very excellent record, and wish you every success in the continuance of this good work.

Very Truly Yours,

M. V. Davison

Who Pays the Bill?

OFFICEHOLDERS will tell you that the New Deal pays for its party by soaking the rich. The officeholder's interest in politics is to keep holding office. The folks who have been worst soaked are the poor. If the government took the whole income of the rich, it would come far short of paying the huge bills of the New Deal. Those of small income would still have to bear the major burden. This burden is represented in indirect or consumer taxes. What the small wage-earner or the small farmer pays to the tax collector is a small part of his actual taxes. This consumer tax bill is handed to him every day. In 1931 consumer taxes were 31.8 per cent of Federal income; today, after meddling measures of the New Deal, the consumer pays 61.3 per cent of the enormous Federal tax bill. Most of this comes out of the small wage-earner and is collected by adding to his living cost.

Always, it is the poor man who is soaked. Mr. Roosevelt knows this and has frankly admitted it. In his so-called "breathing spell" letter, written September 2, 1936, he said, "What is known as consumer's taxes, namely, the invisible taxes, fall relatively much more heavily upon the poor than upon the rich. In 1929 consumer's taxes represented only thirty per cent of the national revenue. Today, they are sixty per cent." In those words, Mr. Roosevelt plainly tells you that since 1929, the tax which you pay indirectly for the privilege of eating and having a roof over your head, has been doubled.

Every prudent person hates being in debt and avoids it when possible. He should feel the same way about being put into debt by the Federal government, for when that government borrows a dollar the American citizen is pledged to its payment. It is a lien on his property and his wage dollar.

The New Deal is spending your dollar and pledging your credit. You pay the bill.

Barbecue

Mr. Bland explained that Roosevelt had never exercised any powers not delegated to him by Congress and none that were not subject to termination at will of the people and he contrasted Roosevelt's respect for the Constitution and the Supreme Court with the disrespect shown by the Republicans from the days of Lincoln to the present time; that Theodore Roosevelt even advocated recall of judges.

"Virginia under Washington instituted a political New Deal in America," Mr. Bland said, "and under Roosevelt we will unite to continue the economic New Deal. While others may knock with Knox and attempt to land with Landon, not knowing where, we will rise with Roosevelt into the clearer atmosphere of a brighter and a better day."

The conclusion of Mr. Bland's eloquent speech marked the end of the morning session and the meeting adjourned to the barbecue grounds nearby to enjoy delicious refreshments so popular in the days gone by and all mingled intimately to their mutual admiration and huge enjoyment. The Governor proved to be the best kind of "mixer" and encompassed barbecued nourishment with evident enthusiasm.

The afternoon session was called to order by Hon. Thos. H. Lion and the introductions of speakers was resumed by Judge Smith in his customary happy manner. The first speaker was Leslie Garnett, District Attorney of the District of Columbia. Mr. Garnett told a number of humorous stories and presented undeniable statistics in support of the fact that recovery from the depression is an accomplished fact. He pictured the normalcy bequeathed by Wilson to Harding, the dormancy of the Coolidge Administration and the hesitancy of Hoover, clinching most of his arguments with appropriate statistics presented more palatable. The figures were necessary to prove restored economic conditions, and the stories much enjoyed.

The introduction of Governor Peery was the occasion of a welcome such as not usually seen at a political meeting in Manassas. Judge Smith's introduction was particularly intimate and cordial and the audience which had greatly enlarged since the morning session, rose as one person to greet their distinguished guest. It was the kind of a welcome that recalled days when the Governorship of Virginia was more highly esteemed as a public office than the Presidency of the United States.

The Governor recalled his previous enjoyable visits to Prince William County. He pictured the condition of the country at the close of the Hoover Administration and gave an intimate view of the industrial situation which was revealed so plainly to him at that time as a member of the State Corporation Commission. He referred to a recent statement by Col. Anderson that the closing of the banks was one of the "greatest crimes ever committed in this country" and pointed out the almost universal approval with which the banking holiday was accepted by all classes and by the outstanding spokesmen of the Republican Party. (A direct quotation from the body of the Governor's speech is printed in another column of this newspaper).

The Governor's eloquent endorsement of Roosevelt and his sound logic met a hearty response from the audience and spontaneous applause resounded through the hall as he concluded. He had defined Democracy to an appreciative people and there had at the same time dawned a revelation of a splendid personality, not previously so well known here, but evidently destined in the continuance of his distinguished public career to become more and more appreciated and beloved by the citizens of Prince William County.

The Governor's address was followed by the introduction of former State Senator Goelrick, of Fredericksburg, widely recognized as a fire-eating Democrat of uncompromising character and deeply versed in the basic principles of Democracy. Senator Goelrick hit out with his accustomed vigor and the logic of his remarks was keenly and closely followed by the audience. He covered ground not completely reviewed by the distinguished preceding speakers, particularly elaborating the successful monetary policies of Roosevelt, including devaluation of the dollar. The Liberty League and Alfred Smith were the subjects of some pretty devastating criticisms and farm improvement was intimately dealt with. He called attention to what a disorderly following was included in the Landon ranks. "We are here," Senator Goelrick said, "to say whether we will keep faith with the man who has kept faith with us. I believe he will be returned to the White House."

MACHINE AGE FOOT BALL

They have fused the machine age and Fall's most fascinating pastime, foot ball. Skeptics on that point have only to read in next Sunday's Star the story of how foot ball players are made; how they learn to charge, to block, to snake their way down the field, all through the aegis of machines designed for the particular job of turning out gridiron geniuses.

The game, with scores of gadgets, you may safely call foot ball today. Indeed, you will call it that after reading the story of Washington's favorite recreation and how it is engineered in The Star October 18.

CLIFTON CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

Presbyterian Group Reviews Events of Past Sixty-Five Years.

The Clifton Station Presbyterian Church celebrated its sixty-fifth anniversary with appropriate services on Sunday, Oct. 11. Sunday School was a birthday party with candles. The morning services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. John M. DeChant, who preached on the theme: "Anniversary, A Time to Look Forward." He was assisted in the pulpit by Rev. T. Hugh McLeod of Washington, D.C., who had served the church from 1920 to 1935. At the close of this service a dinner was served on the grounds. The presence of friends and former members added much to the pleasure of this hour.

At the afternoon meeting were heard from the Rev. Mr. Sheets of the Clifton Baptist church and elder Edgar M. Arey of the Manassas Presbyterian Church. Rev. W. Keith Custis, a former pastor, now of Riverdale, Md., spoke in congratulatory vein and Rev. McLeod spoke reminiscently. Special music was furnished by a trio consisting of Miss Virginia N. Speiden at the piano, Miss Emma Perkins at the cello, and Lewis Carper at the violin. Their numbers were appropriate and well received. At night an Historical Pageant was presented. Randolph Buckley read a history of the church which he had prepared with the help of older members and during the reading, scenes were enacted which portrayed many interesting events in the early and later life of the church. A feature of the pageant was the flashing on the screen of photos of the church and of former pastors.

The pageant was written by Willard Webb of Clifton and directed by him. The actors were members of the C. E. Society and the Sunday School. The church was well filled at each of the services. Plans for the Anniversary, made months ago, were carefully carried out by committees selected from among members and friends of the church. Success was due to their untiring efforts. With a great past behind her, the Clifton Church looks forward to a useful future.

ODD FELLOW LODGE SHOWS AWAKENED INTEREST

On October 12 one of the best meetings of the year was held by the Odd Fellows at Independent Hill. The attendance was nearly 50 per cent.

Those who have not been attending are advised of the pleasure they are missing and are urged to be present on October 26. They are reminded that Odd Fellowship is no better, nor no worse than the individual membership, who should do their part to make the order deserve the gratitude and the plaudits of mankind.

ADEN

The Kensington Club ladies were nicely entertained at the home of Miss Minnie Smith at Bristow at the September meeting. At this time they planned to serve lunch at the Carter sale on Saturday. They realized a nice little sum for the treasury as a result. The October meeting will be held at Mrs. Frank Hummers near Aden.

Mrs. S. G. Whetzel with her son, Jr., and daughter, Mary Lee, have returned from Bergton, Va., where they went last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. William Albright, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Whetzel.

We are glad our merchant, Mr. S. G. Whetzel, is able to be about his work again, having had a serious operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marshall and son are attending the State Fair at Richmond and visiting relatives in Southern Virginia.

Miss Sarah Hively Marshall and time with relatives in California and reports to her friends back home, "having a splendid trip."

We are glad to hear the children from our local school say "We have a good school and we like our teachers."

The friends of Asbury church are glad to have Rev. W. P. Goode returned to this charge another year.

BURKE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blincoe of Cherydale spent Sunday with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Blincoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Erle R. Kirby and daughter, Ann Fairfax, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Merchant, Sunday.

Hereafter news matter and classified ads will not be accepted after noon Thursday; ads of any size must be in the printers' hands by 10:30 a. m. of the same date.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christian Scientist on Sunday, October 11. The Golden Text was "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you (James 4: 7, 8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Lord is good to all: and his tender mercies are all over his works. All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. The Lord is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works" (Psalms 145: 9, 10, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sin, sickness, and death are comprised in human material belief, and belong not to the divine Mind. They are without a real origin or existence. They have neither Principle nor permanence, but belong, with all that is material and temporal, to the nothingness of error, which simulates the creations of Truth" (p. 286).

The Peacemakers

THE establishing of peace among the nations needs the efforts of individual thinkers, as well as the efforts of national governments and international councils. The statesmen who are striving for a solution of the problems of today are appealing more and more to the conscience of mankind. There is a pressing demand for peoples of all nations to consider world problems from the standpoint of right thinking, and to bring to them the healing influence of right thought. In order to do this one cannot ignore the seriousness of world problems, nor be ignorant of the spiritual remedy which alone can solve them.

Men everywhere need enlightenment in order that they may recognize spiritual values. There is great need of a keen, awakened thought on social justice, a justice which is concerned not alone with one's own country, but which also recognizes the rights of other countries and other peoples. The world is still going through a process of civilization, and that civilization alone will endure which is founded on true Christianity. This line of argument is strongly opposed by those who believe that war plays a necessary part in civilization, and who point to the conquest of ancient kingdoms by means of superior physical force. But enlightened public opinion is more and more regarding war as a relic of barbarism, a crude and uncivilized method of settling differences between peoples.

Today it is more widely recognized than ever before that war is not the true way to solve problems, and that this way adds more problems to the burdened shoulders of humanity. In disputes between nations, fear is the chief difficulty, and right thinkers in every country can help the situation by striving to eliminate fear from their own and others' thoughts.

An inheritance which is common to all humanity is the ability to "let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2: 5). In this way of Christianly scientific thinking lies the solution of world problems, economic, social, and civil. On this basis, the right thinkers of every nation are united in purpose to serve humanity's highest interests.

The substance of such a brotherhood is love, expressed in tolerance, forbearance, patience, and forgiveness. Above the tumult of the nations the spiritually enlightened hear the "still small voice" of Truth, which is ever speaking to the receptive heart.

In the book of Revelation we read (2: 26), "And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations." As more and more Christianly scientific thinkers ally themselves with the forces of righteousness and stand for them in their own community, the more will such thinking be represented in national councils, and become formidable in meeting the claims of greed, selfish patriotism, and autocracy. In "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous" (p. 281) Mary Baker Eddy cites "as our present need, faith in God's disposal of events." And she adds: "Faith full-fledged, soaring to the Horeb height, brings blessings infinite, and the spirit of this orison is the fruit of rightness,—on earth peace, good will toward men." On this basis the brotherhood of all peoples is established; namely, one God, one Mind, and Love thy neighbor as thyself; the basis on which and by which the infinite God, good, the Father-Mother Love, is ours and we are His in divine Science.

The times demand a wider vision of the world's need, a more active participation in spiritual enlightenment, a broader outlook of common brotherhood. This wider vision can be found only in the Christianly scientific knowledge of God as Father-Mother. The prophetic words proclaimed that "the mountain of the house of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains," and of the results of such establishment he prophesied that God "shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more" (Micah 4: 1, 3).

In the face of present-day problems, fulfillment of the above prophecy may perhaps seem unobtainable or far-off, but spiritual thinkers in every land need all the more to have faith in the certainty of God's just and loving government, and gain more understanding of the facts of His omnipotence and ever-present love.

Scenes at Staunton River State Park

Scenes at the Staunton River State Park, near South Boston, are shown in the layout above. The top view shows the fine facilities for bathing and swimming. In the foreground is the wading pool for children. Next is the swimming pool, the largest in the state, having dimensions 150 feet by 60 feet. In the background is the spacious bath house, in which is also located the concessionaire's stand, where sandwiches, soft drinks, etc. may be purchased. The picture at the bottom left shows one of the picnic shelters. A beautiful scene along the Staunton River is seen at the bottom right. The park offers light cabins for rent, many beautiful trails and other recreational features. It is now second in attendance among the six state parks and is proving a popular recreational center in the tobacco-growing belt.
