MEMORIAL BODY PLAN EXERCISES

Historic Homestead To Be Marked.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Ladies Memorial Association was held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Hibbs on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 8, 1936.

To locate unmarked graves of Confederate veterans in the county was the principal subject discussed. It is the purpose and desire of this Association to have markers placed. Any one who is interested or knows of such graves, please cooperate by notifying the committee, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs, chairman.

Dedication exercises for the Liberia marker are being planned. This ceremony will probably be dated for early spring or as soon as the weather is suitable.

A cash prize will be offered to the fourth grade of Bennett school for the best judged historical paper, subject to be announced later; also the Speiden memorial prize to the American history class of the high school is again offered.

The same officers were reelected. Mrs. C. M. Larkin is the president.

After adjournment the hostess served tea and wafers.

The next meeting, February 25, will be at the home of Mrs. C. B. Compton.

RELIGIOUS DIRECTOR VISITS KIWANIS CLUB

The Manassas Kiwanis Club had the pleasure of greeting for the first time the new religious educational director for the county in the person of Miss Emma Perkins who was present as the guest of Frank Sigman at last Friday night's meeting.

Mr. Sigman, who is head of the county council of religious education, also had as his guest the Rev. John DeChant, chairman of the steering committee for week day religious education.

Both Mr. Sigman and Mr. DeChant gave entertaining information and then Frank introduced Miss Perkins who dwelt on the work and its many phases, both national and local. She told a number of interesting incidents of the progress already made all over the county. Mr. Sigman gave some details of the work of the Inance committee and how hoped the club would continue to give individual assistance as well as all the business men of the county.

Attention was again directed to the ladies' night on December 18, at the high school.

It was also noted with pleasure that the club again stopped the Capitol district for attendance in November.

PUBLIC CAUTIONED AGAINST CONTRACTING TULAREMIA

With the opening of the hunting season it is timely that some notice be given to the disease tularemia, commonly called rabbit or squirrel fever. This disease is usually contracted by the handling and skinning of wild rabbits who are infected with the disease. It may sometimes be contracted by eating poorly cooked rabbit meat. The public should therefore be warned to be careful, particularly during the hunting season in the handling of wild rabbits.

There has been one case of this disease reported from the vicinity of Oakton.

GARAGE MAN KILLED AT WORK

Mr. Benjamin Lehman, a mechanic at the Eskimo Garage in Triangle, was choked to death on Monday when a jack slipped from under the car on which he was working, letting the wheel drop on his neck.

Mr. Lemman was formerly of New Market, Va., having been associated with the Eskimo Garage about a year and was at the garage alone when the accident occurred.

Annual Report of Home Demonstration Work

Program of Work—Home Demonstration Clubs were organized in 8 communities with an enrollment of 222 women. Food was selected as the major project and following are some of the results reported: 195 reported serving their families better balanced meals, 57,337 quarts of food were canned, valued at $6,892.76 200 families used economic information to adjust their food supplies and 175 families reduced expenditures by producing a large part of food on the farm.

Clothing and handicraft were selected as minor projects for the adult program with 193 women using recommendations in improving care, renovation, and remodeling clothing. The work are: 33 chairs and stools re-seated, 13 rugs made, 20 chair seats made, 59 sets of table linens and 65 other handicraft pieces were completed.

The country-wide House Repair Campaign was successful as shown by the report of accomplishments. The results are as follows: 44 kitchens were improved for convenience, 13 refrigerators, 16 stoves and 28 other articles and 10 kitchen sinks were installed. Eight homes put running water in the kitchen, 6 added bathrooms, 4 homes installed sewage systems, 6 wells were made safe, 155 sanitary toilets were built. Ten homes completely screened, 14 controlled household pests by recommended methods. Thirty-nine families cleaned up the premises, 19 storage spaces were improved, 2 storage spaces were built for food. Ninety homes improved the walls, woodwork and floors. Forty-four women improved windows, 30 pieces of furniture were refinished, 12 pieces upholstered, 34 pieces slip-covered, 9 women used dyes for renovating furnishings. Nine new windows were cut to add light, 22 homes secured better lamps, 16 electric lighting systems were installed. Eight homes were insulated to prevent heat waste, 4 central heating systems were installed, 56 rooms were improved, 24 houses were painted outside. Nineteen roofs repaired, 11 chimneys were repaired, 96 windows were re-putted, 16 porches repaired, 4 back porches improved, 67 yards made attractive, 12 outbuildings screened from view, fences, 32 planted trees and shrubs 13 homes improved walls, drives and 12 lawns were improved.

Hot lunches were served to the school children in Haymarket, Green-wich, Aden, Brentsville, Bennett, Buckhall, Woodbine, Bethel, Joplin, Dumfries, and Cherry Hill communities. Although this work was finally taken over by P. W. A. agencies, projects were organized and well under way long before plans formulated for their supervision through P. W. A. December of first of January in each Lunches were begun either the first of these communities and serving continued through March or May.

Surplus foods were utilized in the serving of lunches but foods served were not confined to materials thus secured. Community cannings, individual contributions, procured individual canning, donations from local organizations helped to provide sufficient and a variety of foods for these lunches.

When quantities of flour was sent in for school consumption, there was considerable question as to what to do with it. A meeting of P. W. A. workers was called, and a demonstration in the making of yeast bread was given also. Large quantity recipes for yeast bread were worked out and with this assistance the women working on this project were able to use the surplus flour advantageously in making very nice rolls. These women were also assisted with quantity recipes for other dishes. The women and girls in three communities canned 600 quarts of soup mixture to be used in the school lunches.

Girls' Work—The first year room improvement project was selected by 4-H Club girls for major study for 1936. 173 girls are working under the supervision of 15 4-H Club leaders and the Home Demonstration Agent to improve their own rooms and learn better housekeeping practices. Two meetings have been held each month

With Christmas greetings to our many kind friends we solicit their attention to their subscription labels and beg them to bear in mind that we would like a little Christmas, too.

CLUB DISCUSSES WELFARE WORK

Woman's Club Prepares For Christmas.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Club of Manassas was held yesterday at the high school with the president, Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, presiding.

During the business session various committee chairmen made their reports, one of special interest being that of Mrs. Robert Lewis, chairman of the club welfare committee, and recently appointed case worker for Public Welfare in Prince William County. She told of the relief work now being done throughout the county and made an appeal to club members for Christmas donations of jellies, or any thing which they felt might bring pleasure to a needy one on Christmas morn.

Miss Neel, county nurse, also told of the work being done in various sewing rooms throughout the county where men's and women's discarded coats are made over into warm garments for needy children. She stated that the present supply of such coats was now exhausted and asked that others be brought to her office as there is still an urgent need for these warm wraps.

The club also instructed its legislative chairman, Mrs. W. F. Cocke, to write Senator Rust that the Social Security Act, now before the House, has been endorsed by its members at its present meeting.

Another matter of importance was the change in place of the club meetings. After discussion it was decided that, beginning with January meeting and thereafter, the meetings will be held in the dining room of the Prince William Hotel, at the usual hour, this being a more centrally located point.

Mrs. A. A. Hooft's committees on arrangements for the annual Assembly Ball, to be held in the high school gymnasium Monday, December 22, were reported as actively functioning; with prospects excellent for a most enjoyable affair. A well known seven piece orchestra has been engaged.

At the close of the business meeting the club members joined in the singing of Christmas carols. This was followed by a most interesting and enjoyable talk by the Rev. John M. DeChant, his timely topic being "Looking Forward to Christmas." After reading portions of the Christmas story from the Bible he spoke of the universal appeal of Christmas. He especially stressed the religious phase of the celebration of this holiday and urged that we not lose sight of the true and beautiful significance of Christmas—the birthday of Jesus.

During the social hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gillum, Mrs. Linton, Mrs. Hooft, Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. W. S. Athey.

All the churches of Manassas will unite in a great union temperance service at Grace M. E. Church, South, this Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The address will be delivered by Ed. J. Richardson, D. D., of Richmond, Va.

Mr. Richardson is a splendid cartoonist and will use crayon to illustrate his address. He has gathered many vital and startling facts about the results of repeal in Virginia which all loves of our common weal should know.

The program on the beverage alcohol question will be very definitely educational. He will outline a program of action to meet the growing evils of liquor sale and drinking into which we have been thrown and which, in the language of one of America's most prominent citizens, is rapidly making us into a nation of drunken men and drinking women.

This is rare privileges and our people should avoid themselves of it.

For fourteen years he served as road commissioner in the county in which position he was quite capable and well liked. At the time of his death he was employed as a guard at the Occoquan Work House and had been in that service for seven years.

Besides his widow, Eunice Fairfax Hedrick, and small son, William, Mr. Hedrick leaves two children, Lee and Clyde, by his first wife, Nettie V. Hedrick (nee Sayers) who predeceased him May 28, 1926; one sister, Mrs. Mollie Diehl of Nokesville and two brothers, B. F. Hedrick of Nokesville and E. S. Hedrick of Fredericksburg, Va.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 1:00 p. m. from the Valley Church of which Mr. Hedrick was a life-long member, with interment in the church cemetery. In the absence of Rev. I. N. H. Beahm, his brother, Rev. George Beahm, will officiate.

The acting pallbearers will be Messrs. H. T. Davies, R. M. Weir, T. B. Flickenger, Grover May, G. G. Allen and Mr. Hughes of Occoquan.

TAXI SMASH-UP

STARTED CAREER

A taxi collision may be bad luck to most people, but a smash-up was the best break Gladys George, noted stage actress, ever got.

Miss George, who makes her first appearance in "Valiant Is The Word For Carrie," a dramatic story of mother love and sacrifice, which comes to the Pitts Theatre next week, had been a troupier since she was three years old and a lifetime of hard work in a long succession of plays had brought her no nearer Broadway than a stock company touring the key cities.

Then she came to New York and was hit by a taxi. She was rushed to a hospital. While recuperating she made the acquaintance of another patient who was being cast in "Queen People." The patient was Hal Skelly. He got a part for her and she scored an instant success. Further fame came to her in "The Milky Way" and then she was given the lead part in "Personal Appearance," in which she played 698 successive performances. The play "made" her.

She was taken from "Personal Appearance" by Director Wesley Ruggles for the lead role in the motion picture version of Barry Benefield's best-selling novel, "Valiant Is The Word For Carrie" to play the highly dramatic and emotional role of a woman who found salvation in raising two orphaned children as her own and who did not hesitate to pay dearly for their happiness once they grew to young manhood and womanhood. She is supported by Arline Judge and John Howard.

N MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mary F. Steele, who departed this life one year ago today, December 6, 1936.

Like a flower that fades away
Upon this earth she could not stay
For God sees and knows the best
So He took our mother home to rest.

The old home seems like another place
Without the smile of her dear face

For all of us she did her best
God grant her soul eternal rest.

H. D. ANNUAL REPORT

by each group at which plans and practices have been studied. Under the new organization most of the manipulation work has been held for summer meetings.

Margaret Burdette in the Occoquan 4-H Club did the most outstanding room improvement work in the county. First she made a plan of her room, showing the need for improvement, then she went to work and painted the background, rearranged the furniture, made two slip-covers, refinished one piece of furniture, improved three windows by making curtains, made four pieces of linen for the room, made two bed spreads, one shoe bag, one laundry bag and five other small articles and bought one ready-made article.

The results of the home improvement project for the county are as follows: In 57 rooms the color schemes were changed, 97 girls improved their selection of furniture, 70 rearranged furniture, 97 improved the arrangement of accessories, and 122 bedrooms were improved. Twenty stools were made, 22 articles slip-covered, 52 pieces of furniture was refinished, 28 pieces of furniture made at home. Eighty windows were improved, 56 walls were painted, 64 pieces of linen were made for bedrooms, and 86 other small articles were made. Fifty-nine ready-made articles were secured. The cost of these improvements was $204.39 and estimated at a saving of $105.90. 122 girls took care of their own rooms, 55 improved storage space for clothing, 42 girls improved their kitchens in a definite way and 13 made personal budgets and helped with the household accounts.

Gardening—Thirty girls and 21 boys are conducting garden projects under the supervision of the Home Demonstration Agent. Some of the garden projects are partnership undertakings, while, in other cases, they are individual. All of the Cherry Hill and a large number of Woodbine members are working with garden projects. Through the cooperation of the Manassas Garden Club and the Bethlehem Good Housekeepers Club, garden seeds suitable for that type of land were provided for club members.

Louise and Evelyn Cumberland in the Cherry Hill Club won the county prize of five dollars for having the best garden in the county. These two small girls grew four new vegetables that the family had never used before.

Their garden provided the family table with fresh vegetables and canning. They not only learned to grow vegetables but how to prepare them for the table and how to can them for winter use.

Club girls have been most enthusiastic in their acceptance of the flower garden project. Some of the girls are taking care of home grounds, while others have individual flower gardens. In each case members have been asked to include in Club books a drawing showing permanent plantings and perennials with planned space for additional plants. Want lists were made up and members asked to cooperate in securing the variety desired.

Poultry—Four boys and forty-two girls are working with poultry projects under the supervision of the Home Demonstration Agent. The improved poultry market and publicity to the success of the poultry club members have combined to stimulate interest in the poultry project. Dorothy Allen won the county gold medal, given by Mrs. E. W. Thompson, 4-H leader, for having the best poultry project. She raised 97 turkeys.

Canning was a minor project of 63 club girls, 12 of them made canning plans. These girls canned 3,334 quarts of food alone and helped with 8,869 quarts, at an estimated value of $2,660.35.

Regardless of other projects taken by 4-H Club members, health has received minor emphasis. Each child has been given as thorough an examination as leaders and agents could give; weak points have been emphasized for correction. Club contests have been held to add interest in the health program and high ranking boys and girls will enter county contests. Special emphasis has been placed on teeth in several of the school communities and 4-H Clubs have given their help in this program. In Manassas 4-H Club the goal has been set to have no girl attend camp or short course who needs dentist's attention. The Woodbine 4-H Club is assisting to finance the dental work in the school. Every girl and boy were given one or two health checks during the year. Seventy-two postures improved, 45 had dental corrections made and 125 improved food habits.

HATS OFF TO BALDWIN

The greatest shock that society has received in recent years is the announcement that an English king has renounced the most solid throne on earth and rejected the tenets of his Church for a woman—we regret to say an American—who is not yet divorced from one of his subjects.

But with the announcement, this big, powerful fact cheers us, England is true to Church and the dignity of family life.

The princely and home-loving Duke of York who succeeds to the English throne as George VI will no doubt succeed to the love and esteem in which his father was held.

May he and his charming queen be blessed with a long and prosperous reign.

And as for Stanley Baldwin—may he also live long and prosper. We regard him as a bulwark of the Church and State and of English principles wherever found.

AN EGREGIOUS ERROR

Mr. Editor:

In the past distant ages it was customary for Kings to have in their entourage an individual whom they designated "Kings fool," and whose primary duty was to amuse the King and the King's friends. The "fool" was consulted by the King on many subjects.

On one occasion the King and his friends were setting out for a grand hunt. The King asked the "fool" what kind of weather would be that day and the fool said "fair, nice for a hunt." The King and his party had not proceeded far when they met a peasant riding a jackass. The peasant advised the King to return to his castle as it would soon rain. "Why," said the King, "I am advised by my fool to the contrary."

In a very short time it poured down rain, necessitating the return of the King, who sought out the peasant and asked how he knew that it would rain. "Your majesty, when my jackass pricks up his ears as he did today, it is sure to rain." At once the King dismissed his fool and installed in his place the peasant's jackass.

There was where the King committed an egregious error. Why? Because ever since every little jackass has been seeking office.

SYMPHONY BACK FROM TOUR

Hans Kindler, Conductor, and the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., returned to the Capital this week (Dec. 11) from a triumphal 11-day Northern tour and brought home new honors and testimonials of national recognition.

Its appearances in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, and Pennsylvania were before packed auditoriums and cheering throngs. Dr. Kindler received thunderous ovations after each concert, and enthusiastic comments from the newspaper critics.

In the Hartford Daily Courant, T. H. P. wrote of the concert in that city "That the program, performance, and personal charm of the conductor achieved a heartily popular success last night, was undeniable from the long and enthusiastic applause meted out by the audience."

"Dr. Hans Kindler and National Orchestra Score in Impressive Style," announced the headline in the Daily Reporter, White Plains, N. Y., on December 6, and the critic, describing the concert of the previous night, said, "Westchester county has heard the best of orchestras under finest of conductors, and the National Symphony Orchestra needs doff its collective hat to none."

After the Orchestra played December 1, in Manchester, N. H., the Union reported to its readers that "The Manchester Civic Music Association presented the famous National Symphony Orchestra in a concert of such excellence that an audience which filled the Practical Arts auditorium to capacity punctuated the program with long periods of applause and called and recalled the Orchestra's leader, Dr. Hans Kindler, who lived up to his reputation as one of the greatest of the young conductors."

The concert in Smith College, Northampton, Mass., received this despatch from Francis Regal, of the Springfield, Mass., Daily Republican: "His (Dr. Kindler's) Orchestra has been rising steadily in prestige and last night's performance quickly showed that it must be ranked among the great symphony organizations." The Troy, N. Y., Record, after the concert there, December 3, reported "His (Dr. Kindler's) is the spirit that drives the artists in the ensemble to heights of emotional ecstasy."

Before ending its tour the Orchestra also appeared in Norwalk, Conn., Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, State College, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, State College and in Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

When Christmas morning comes again And brings you happiness In the many gifts that you receive Of things you like the best,

When Christmas dinner fills you up With all that you can eat, And cake and fruit and candy Finally make your meal complete,

When Christmas stars are shining down Peep through your window there, And see you warm and cozy In your easy fireside chair,

Will your mind be free from worry And your conscience be at rest In the knowledge that you've given To the needy and oppressed?

Will you bring to recollection The basketful of food A hungry family thanked you for With heart-felt gratitude??

Will you smile while you're imagining The happiness and joy That the toys which you gave them Brought some little girl and boy?

Then Christmas night will find you In a happy frame of mind, With God's blessings heaped upon you

And the good will of mankind.

I. N. H. BEAM LIKES TENNESSEE

Baileyton, Tenn.

Dec. 17, 1936.

Dear Editor, Manassas Journal: Here I am in good old Tennessee, a state that has supplied the White House with three presidents.

This is Greene county. Greeneville is the county seat and exceedingly proud of Andrew Johnson, our tailor president. The old tailor shop stands in original tact and is well cared for. Mrs. Patterson, a granddaughter-in-law, a most gracious Southern woman, is custodian for the government. No other president has been unique in so many ways—never attended school a day in his life and yet served as alderman, U. S. Congressman, State governor, Vice-President and President, and a score of other ways. It is easy for me to like Tennessee, the home of Boone and Crockett.

"How are Banks started?"

A GROUP of citizens apply to the state or federal authorities for a charter. Those who wish to form the bank must furnish the required capital. When the charter has been issued, by the proper government authorities, the capital stock paid in, the directors elected, and officers appointed, the bank is ready to equip itself for operations.

It would appear, from long experience that the following questions may properly be asked by state-federal agencies before a new charter is issued:

1. Is there a definite in the community for the proposed institution?
2. What are the character and banking experience of the management?
3. Is the capital structure adequate; are earning prospects such as to justify the investment?

If the answers to these questions are favorable, then, and only then, in the opinion of leading banking authorities, should a new bank come into being.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By O. J. SCHUSTER

HATE AND JEALOUSIES are today boiling furiously in Europe. They are the products of the World War, the "war to end war." Yet today a European war is in actual progress, tho there has been no open declaration of war and the actual seat of conflict at arms is limited as yet to Spain. But in the opposing armies are not only munitions sent from many countries but also soldiers supplied by Italy, Germany, Russia, France, Portugal, England, and other nations—privately of course, and more or less secretly. These secret war activities express the hatreds and jealousies engendered by the World War. This truth is clearly seen in spite of the hypocritical pretensions of peaceful designs used to hide it. The Old World is in the grip of bitter hatreds.

A FINER SPIRIT possesses the New World. Here, thruout the Americas, the nations are cultivating good will and friendship. They are practicing the principles of Mutual Aid, rather than cut-throat competition. They are democracies, and in the practice of democracy reason is substituted for brute force. The dictatorship of a Mussolini or a Hitler is hardly a day more advanced in its ideals than was the dictatorship of Genghis Khan in the fourteenth century. Dictatorships tend to destroy civilization and lead the world back to barbarism.

THESE TWO IDEALS—that of the Old World and that of the New World, that of Europe and that of America—are diametrically opposed to each other. In a free open market the New World ideal would win easily, but dictators will permit no free open market of ideas and ideals in their countries. Such free open markets are possible only where democracy is practiced. As President Roosevelt said in his splendid address in Buenos Aires:

"The plain people everywhere in the civilized world today wish to live in peace one with another. And still leaders and governments resort to war. Truly, if the genius of mankind that has invented the weapons of death cannot discover the means of preserving peace, civilization as we know it lives in an evil day."

THE CIVIL WAR IN SPAIN is really a European war in which two fundamentally opposite ideals are contending for mastery. The soldiers of half a dozen or more nations are fight-with the newer ideals of open covering on either side. Dictatorship is inane, openly arrived at, the kind of a death struggle with democracy. It is the old game of secret, selfish grasp-the principle of universal interdependence for wealth and power at gripspendence.

Replacement of Obsolete Trucks Urged to Promote Highway Safety

Robert F. Black, President of The White Motor Company, of Cleveland and director of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, whose White trucks are pioneering streamlined beauty and new safety features.

UNIFORM state laws governing highway travel, the replacement of vehicles built before the development of modern safety features and continued efforts to impress on the driving public that "it's smart to drive safely," are the three chief ways by which America's appalling highway accident toll can be reduced, in the opinion of a leading spokesman for the truck and bus industry, Robert F. Black, president of The White Motor Company and a director of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Uniform Code Needed
"Ever since U. S. route markers first began to line important highways the length and breadth of the nation, there has been an obvious need for a traffic code uniform for all states. Federal enforcement would not be necessary or desirable, but certainly what constitutes safe driving in one state is safe in another and from the 48 widely different state codes now in effect, a uniform system embodying the best of each should be drawn," Mr. Black said.

"Highway transportation has developed so rapidly that modern traffic problems are of comparatively recent origin. We are just beginning to have sufficient experience with them to control dense traffic properly. Heretofore, it has been necessary to experiment with regulations and many that looked well on paper, proved an actual hindrance in practice.

"In the past two years, White has devoted the major portion of its large research expenditures to developing safety features. Engines responsive enough to make the truck flexible in modern traffic; four-wheel hydraulic brakes, power-booster operated; automatic air conditioned and fume-proof cabs; easy steering and good road stability are only some of the essential truck safety features in modern Whites.

Obsolete Trucks Costly
"Because they have found it to be economically unsound to try to operate obsolete trucks under today's traffic conditions, more and more progressive operators are replacing them with safe modern trucks. In the first eight months of 1936, White's increase in registrations over the same period of last year was 165%. Most of this large increase was due to the emphasis placed on safety features in the new Whites. Truck and bus operators fully realize that nothing can be as expensive as an accident, and the safest vehicles they can buy are the cheapest insurance against them.

"The truck industry's statistics show that there are over a million trucks in operation today that were built before the development of many safety features now recognized as essential.

"Despite this, trucks and busses have a much better safety record than passenger cars, largely due to the effective educational work done in the past few years by fleet owners among their drivers, which proves the importance of educating the driver to drive safely.

EGG MASH

More Extra Eggs . . . .

MORE PROFIT

A ton of Larro Egg Mash will feed about 50 hens for a year. Suppose it makes each hen lay only one extra egg per month. (It will actually do much better than that.) But suppose they lay only one extra egg. That's 50 dozen extra eggs for the year from the flock . . . and at 30c per dozen those eggs mean $15.00 extra profit for you from only one ton of Larro Egg Mash.

Larro Egg Mash may cost a little more than your present ration—but don't let that hinder you from feeding it when one extra egg per month from each hen will cancel a $15.00 difference in cost.

We know you'll make more money if you feed the Larro way.

POLICE BOYS' CLUBS

Boys don't turn "bad" all alone—it's when they travel in gangs that they may become incorrigible, says Sergt. John E. Scott, director of the Boys' Club of the Metropolitan Police of the District of Columbia.

In next Sunday's Star is told the story of how the boys' clubs were designed to and succeeded in keeping youth off the streets, out of alleys and away from the underworld at the Nation's Capital. In three years the idea has developed until these clubs are the center of all sorts of wholesome activity, from reading and wrestling to aircraft building, music and opportunities for scholarships to accredited universities. The same purpose can be accomplished any place, Sergt. Scott declares.

CATHARPIN

Mrs. Gussie Lynn Webb of Chicago, Ill., is home to spend the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. Etta P. Lynn, of this city.

Mrs. Mildred Collins Shelton of Alexandria, Va., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Collins, of Marble Hill where she expects to remain during the holiday season.

Whooping cough has found some new victims during the past week and parents still on the anxious seat about their children and the consequent non attendance at school is overtaken by this pestering ailment. Scarlet fever seems to have abated since no new cases were noted and those formerly afflicted are mostly out of quarantine at this writing. People and doctors have certainly done everything possible to prevent its spread.

Mr. Hamilton Swart, an honored and respected of the Sudley neighborhood, after an illness of several weeks, died at his home on Thursday, December 3, 1936, and was buried the following Saturday in the family lot in Sudley cemetery. The large number of relatives and friends bore mute testimony to the character and good citizenship of the deceased who was a man highly respected by all who knew him. In departing he leaves a wife and one son, Hamilton, jr., and two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Swart Hundley of Stone House and Mrs. Birdie Swart Peterson of Arlington, together with many friends to mourn his passing. Mr. Swart was a man of honesty, integrity and dependability in all things and will be missed by the entire neighborhood. The community extends sympathy and condolence to the faithful little wife who is known to all for her good works and helpfulness to all who are in trouble.

The first quarterly conference of the new year was held at the parsonage, Gainesville, Va., on Saturday last with the presiding Elder, Dr. E. C. Beery in the chair. This first conference is always a matter of much importance since the budget concerning salaries and expenses is adopted and other matters pertaining to the year's work planned and arranged. Also statistics relative to the previous year's work are made a matter of record and read to the conference. In this connection it might be of interest to note that during the past year 26 new members were admitted to full connection on the circuit making a total membership to date of 365. Two Missionary societies—Gainesville and Sudley—with a membership of 47, raised during the year for all purposes $410.00. Three Church schools have a total membership of 200. All financial obligations of the different churches were fully met in the sum of $2,118.00. The work for the new year starts off well and prospects good.

Some of our prognosticators are predicting a rather long and severe season with much wet weather mixed in along with the snows and zero's; so it might be well to lay in a supply of Hagerstown almanacs in order to keep posted on these climatic changes.

"Of the old festivals, that of Christmas awakens the strongest and most heart-felt associations ... It is a beautiful arrangement, also, derived from days of yore, that this festival, which commemorates the announcement of the religion of peace and love, has been made the season for gathering together of family connexions, and drawing closer again those bands of kindred hearts, which the cares and pleasures sorrows of the world are continually operating to cast loose; of calling back the children of a family, who have launched forth in life, and wandered widely asunder, once more to assemble about the paternal hearth, that rallying-place of the affections, there to grow young and loving again among the endearing mementos of childhood."

ROGERS DISCOVERS

SALUTE IS REVOLT

Will Rogers thinks he is being greeted with the Presidential salute when he lands in the mythical kingdom of Sylvania, but finds to his chagrin it is really the Sylvanian weekly revolution. Starred as a homespun American diplomat to an etiquette-ridden European court, America's beloved humorist is currently at the Pitts Theatre in a return engagement by popular demand of Fox's "Ambassador Bill."

Turning the kingdom topsy-turvy with his laconic wit, Will Rogers soon has things running smoothly for romance and for Sylvania, but only after a hilarious revolution of his own.

Featured with Will Rogers in "Ambassador Bill" are Greta Misen, Marguerite Churchill and Gustav von Seyfritz.

POLICE NETWORK GETS $75,000

Survey to Test State Systems of Communications Begins.

Governor Peery has earmarked $75,000 for the State-wide police communications network and John Q. Rhodes, jr., director of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, said he was planning a survey to determine the most efficient system through which it may be developed.

Pending that development, the 155 officers of the Motor Vehicle Division will introduce the "personal touch" into the division's safety campaign beginning this week end, the director announced.

"Beginning Saturday morning I am going to try a new experiment," Mr. Rhodes said. "Patrol officers on duty on all the main highways of the State will signal motorists to come to a dead standstill at all 'stop' signs on the highways. They will then say to motorists: 'We are making a special effort to make a safe week end and we will appreciate it if you will drive carefully.'"

"I realize that some motorists who are already driving with reasonable care may be offended, but I believe that on second thought a favorable reaction will develop and that they will realize that an effort is being made to protect them against reckless driving. In every case, I think the gesture on the part of the officers will tend to impress a safety lesson on the motorist. If there are two people in the car, the mental equation is doubled, and so on. The whole purpose of the experiment is to increase the 'safety consciousness' on the highway."

In the development of the communications service, both radio and teletype will be considered. Mr. Rhodes said the system would make it possible to reach every police officer in the State at the same time and thus secure a continuity of co-operative service 24 hours a day.

Ten Virginia cities are operating radio communication system at the present time and these, the director of the Motor Vehicle Division said, made it possible to reach State police in emergencies.

FRAMED KILLING OPENS UP OLD FEUD

Offering a series of thrill-packed situation closely woven into a plot of absorbing and fascinating interest, Buck Jones' latest Universal feature, "The Ivory-Handled Gun," is attracting unusual attention at the Pitts Theatre where it will show tomorrow and Saturday.

During a card game a cunning effort is made to "frame" Buck, a crack shot, into killing a man and thereby reopening a feud that had its inception many years before. Later the man is killed and all evidence points toward Buck as the guilty man, but the killing is merely a pawn in a game of big stakes. Two ivory-handled guns figure in the story, with Buck owing one and his deadliest enemy the other and the struggle for the acquisition of both weapons also has an important bearing on the story. Mystery, adventure and romance all are cleverly combined to make this one of the best of the countless fine pictures Jones has made.

Charles E. Barnes wrote the original story and Ray Taylor directed the picture. A New York stage actress, Charlotte Wynters, appears as Jones' leading lady and the balance of his supporting cast includes Walter Miller, Carl Stockdale, Frank Rice, Joseph Girard, Robert Kortman, Eddie Phillips, Stan Blystone, Niles Welch, Lafe McKee, and others of cinema and stage prominence.
