JUNIOR WOMEN PLAN SPRING BALL

Club Scheduled April 16 as Date for Social Affair.

The Junior Women's Club of Manassas held very interesting meetings at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. J. P. Lyon last Thursday evening, Miss Walser Conner, president, presiding.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Frances Saunders, Miss Marion Lynn read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. Miss Rose Ratcliffe gave the treasurer's report and the various committees also made reports on the work done during the month.

Four new members were welcomed into the Club. They were Misses Ethel Cadmus, Mary Currell Pattie, Katherine Luck and Margaret Carter.

The Club voted to contribute $10.00 to flood the relief fund, which was carried out in proper order.

It was decided that the Club hold a spring dance and Miss Sally Lewis was made general chairman of the dance committee. She appointed the following chairmen to work with her in furthering plans for this social function: Invitations, Miss Esther Warren Pattie; tickets, Miss Irma Ball; music, Miss Mary Currell Pattie; publicity, Miss Rose Ratcliffe; arrangements, Miss Nancy Lynn and flowers, Miss Rena Bevans.

Following the business session, the group enjoyed a delightful social hour. Delicous refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Meeker Hurst and Miss Margaret Hottle.

At a special meeting of the dance committee, held at the home of Miss Rose Ratcliffe last evening, April 16 was set as the date for the spring dance.

Word has been received from State President Alvin Shade of Winchester that he will attend the District meeting of the O. F. A., which will be held with Bull Run Council on the evening of March 9.

STATE CROP SUPERVISOR

Hugh Bridges of Lynchburg has been appointed State Supervisor of Emergency Crops Loan Offices of Virginia, it was announced in Baltimore this week. The State headquarters of this office is in Lynchburg.

KIWANIS WOULD PROTECT GAME BETTER

More complete protection and better arrangements for promoting Virginia's wild life, both for hunting and for practical uses was the sense of a resolution passed at the last session of the Manassas Kiwanis club in response to a similar resolution passed by the West Point Club. It calls for an early session of hunters and wild life lovers in Richmond.

Arthur Boatwright opened his February campaign with a dissertation on the Bible. Arthur admitted before he finished that it was a big job for one discussion. The speaker developed a number of interesting facts.

R. B. GOSSOM GETS SCHOOL CONTRACT

Construction at Nokesville to Begin at Once.

The adjourned meeting of the County School Board was held last week with all members present.

The most important item of business was the formal letting of the contract for the construction of the home economics cottage at Nokesville to Mr. R. B. Gossom of Waterfall. Mr. R. S. Britten was named the inspector of construction.

In connection with this project it was found necessary to purchase certain additional land from Mr. J. A. Hooker which will also be used for playground purposes.

The School Board also approved the tentative budget for 1937-1938 which will be submitted for approval by the Board of Supervisors at its adjourned meeting on February 25.

The Board was advised by Dr. Sydney Hall of the necessity of electing a division superintendent of schools for a four year term beginning July 1, next. A list of the eligibles have been submitted to the Board which will hold such election on March 3.

The Board also approved the purchase of two car loads of coal.

Libraries were ordered for the following schools: Bennett, Bethel, Aden and Cherry Hill.

The report of the Virginia fire marshall, who was in the county last week inspecting two-story school buildings reflected credit on the schools at Bennett and the old Haymarket high school, both of which were held to be in good shape in the matter of exits and in general condition.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Earl Hurst will entertain several friends at a bridge party in her home on Prentiss avenue.

PORTER DISMISSED FROM FEDERAL JOB

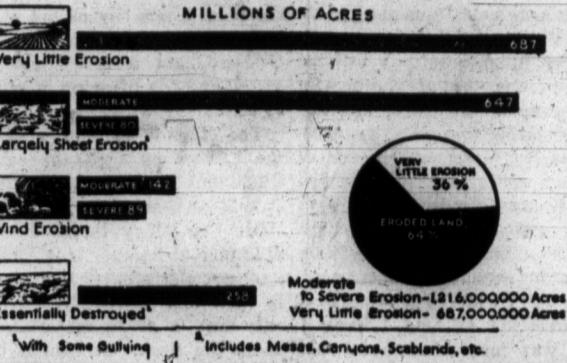

Colonel Daniel L. Porter of Orange County, formerly in charge of enforcement of the alcohol tax unit, said Colonel Porter was removed some time ago after an investigation into the administrative conduct of the Baltimore office. He would not amplify that statement.

LIGHT FIRE EQUIPMENT PURCHASED AT WARRENTON

The Warrenton Fire Department has just been equipped with a light weight fire truck for service on the rural roads of that vicinity.

Sometime ago there was considerable discussion of the need for a similar equipment in Prince William County at which time the great need here was demonstration.

EROSION CONDITIONS IN THE UNITED STATES

The recent floods, now subsiding, and the fearful dust storms now arising in the west are said by experts to be the result of the destruction of our native forests.

As indicated in this diagram, 64 per cent of our land is now subject to some kind of erosion. Yet few people know very much about our native trees and how to perpetuate their growth.

Who, for example, knows how many different kinds of trees grow naturally in Prince William County and can call them by name?

ELEANOR SMITH ADAMS

Mrs. Eleanor Smith Adams, wife of Mr. Chas. H. Adams, of Manassas, Va., passed into Eternal rest on Feb. 11th at 5 o'clock in the morning. She was the youngest daughter of Andrew Jackson Smith and Ellen Lewis Smith, of Fauquier Co., Va., and was born April 20th, 1882 near Bealeton, Va.

Mrs. Adams had been suffering several years from serious heart trouble which grew worse the past 7 or 8 months.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Manassas, and loving music greatly, took great interest in the choir as long as she was able to attend the services of her church.

Her kindness of heart and thoughtfulness of others made her many friends. She taught in the schools of Virginia a number of years.

She is survived by three brothers and one sister, W. A. Smith, of Springfield, Virginia, P. G. Smith, of Cumberland, Mr. P. B. Smith, of Sanford, Fla., and Mrs. Carlisle H. Gilkeson, of Fairfield, Rockbridge Co., Va. She also leaves a number of nephews and nieces.

She was laid to rest in the Manassas Cemetery on Saturday morning, Feb. 13th, mid beautiful floral offerings. Rev. J. M. DeChant conducted the services.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Federal laws recognize the lack of ability of clover seed of foreign strains to produce in this country and require that they be stained before being brought into the United States. Even the highest yielding of the foreign strains produce much less than the lowest yielding of our domestic strains. Virginia clover seed is best and seed from the Central and Middle Atlantic States are better adapted than seed from other sections of the United States.

Even though some foreign seed is better than some foreign seed from other sources, there is no way to distinguish the part of Europe from which it comes (with the exception of Italy which has 10 per cent of the seed stained red and is the poorest of foreign sources). Some of us may have the erroneous impression that seed from Northern France is almost as good as domestic seed. Even if this were backed up by experimental evidence (which it is not), there is no way to distinguish it and Southern France or other European strains.

The best procedure is not to buy any stained seed and to insist upon knowing the part of the United States from which domestic seed comes before buying.

ENTERTAIN AT CARDS

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Weatherall entertained a number of friends at cards on Monday evening.

The home was very prettily decorated with St. Valentine's Day colors, the same scheme being carried out in the delightful refreshments which were served the guests.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Herrell, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Bean, Mrs. R. M. Jenkins, Mrs. A. L. Mylander, Mrs. John Sutphin, Miss Abby Lutes, Miss Katherine Jenkins and Mrs. Lizzie Kite.

U. OF VA. FOOTBALL COACH

Frank J. Murray, coach of Marquette University, Wisconsin, has just been appointed football coach at the University of Virginia.

LATEST SIT-DOWN STRIKE

The latest thing in sit-down strikes is said to be that now going on at Saluda, Va., where thirty-two high school pupils have refused to leave a school bus until the authorities restore the water supply of the school, where wells are said to have been dry for three weeks.

Press reports indicate that the pupils have been warned by the principal that they must be prepared to suffer the consequences of their unexcused absence from class, but it is stated that they are acting with consent of their parents who are said to be backing the young people in their vigorous protest.

FARMERS DISCUSS SOIL POLICY

Saturday Meeting is Important

A Farmer's Discussion Meeting will be held at the Manassas Post Office, Saturday Afternoon, February 20, at 1:30 O'clock.

The topic for discussion is "What Kind Of Agricultural Policy Is Necessary To Save Our Soil?"

Some of the questions bearing on this subject to be discussed are:

1. Are losses through soil erosion and soil depletion serious enough to require a continuous national policy?

2. Can we work out of our difficulties by using individual judgment on individual farms?

3. What has been the history of our forests under private initiative?

4. Should we have agricultural policies put into effect in times of drought—like 1934 and 1936—and in times of price depression—like 1932—but not in normal years?

5. Is local policy, or state policy, adequate to deal with droughts and depressions? With production in normal years?

6. Why haven't more farmers in the past been careful with their soil? Would most farmers be willing to take care of their soil if they could afford it?

7. What can be done to save our soil? How can farmers afford to do it?

8. Who suffers eventually when we waste our national resources? Why should the Government be interested in conservation?

9. If you were working out an agricultural policy for the nation, would you stress a long-time point of view? What would you include? Why?

FORMER MANASSAS STUDENT ENDOWS SCHOOL

Announcement was made this week that Mr. Charles Eppa Lipscomb, well known graduate of the old Rufner Institute and who is now a member of a prominent New York Publishing Firm, has endowed a medal and through which fund the student winning the award will also have his name inscribed on a bronze plaque.

This is a permanent endowment, the principal sum of which is $2,000. It is a handsome gesture in the interest of local scholastics and one which lives up to the best traditions that have ever been indicative of Manassas and Prince William County.

Lenten Talks on the Parables of Jesus

by Dr. James T. Marshall

THE LOVELESS BROTHER

The parable of the Prodigal Son closes with the story of the churlish conduct of the Elder Brother. It seems like the introduction of a sudden discord into a lovely symphony, but it is true to life and is essential to the lesson which Jesus desired to impart.

The Elder Brother refuses to have any part in the joy of the family over the wanderer's return, and answers his father's gentle entreaty with a surly retort, "thou never gavest me a kid that I might make merry with my friends, but as soon as this thy son was come which hath devoured thy living with harlots thou hast killed for him the fatted calf."

"Child," the father replies, "thou art ever with me all that I have is thine. It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found."

The damning defect in the Elder Brother is his lovelessness. In him we have an exact picture of the self-righteous Pharisee of our Lord's day, the hypocrite who murmured, saying,
"this man receiveth sinners and eateth with them." To understand the three parables of Luke XV we must remember that they were spoken in answer to this criticism.

Heaven can forgive everything except the absence of love in the human heart. St. John writes, "He that loveth not knoweth not God, for God is Love."

In the light of Jesus' teaching we are compelled to revise our list of cardinal sins. He never regarded sin as a trifles, nor condoned sins of the flesh, but He made it very clear that the sins which are most offensive to God are sins of the spirit. He had forgiveness for the sinful Magdalene, for the dishonest publican and for the thief on the cross, while He had nothing but contempt and condemnation for the self-righteous Pharisee who

FAMED DANCE TEAM GREW OUT OF CHANCE MEETING

In the heart of New York City's most congested residential district stands the Collegiate Club. It's a community center, just like hundreds of others in the great metropolis, where the youngsters of the neighborhood gather on Saturday nights to dance and frolic. Much can be written about the romances begun in the Collegiate Club which might be thrilling, gripping, tragic or comic. But it is doubtful if there could be anything to match for drama or romance the meeting in that crowded hall a few years back, of a 20-year-old assistant credit manager of a textile mill and a 15-year-old school girl.

The boy was Frank Veloz and the girl was simply Yolanda, just a pair of others, out for an evening's fun. He asked her for a dance and they danced. And out of that dance came the celebrated team of Veloz and Yolanda, America's premiere ballroom dancing team—recognized by dance authorities of the world over as one of the most ideally matched teams in show business.

No Path of Roses

But it wasn't all roses from that first meeting to the important role they play in "Champagne Waltz," the brilliant comedy with music co-starring Fred MacMurray and Gladys Swarthout, which comes to the Pitts Theatre on Thursday-Friday, Feb. 25-26. There were plenty of disappointments and heartbreaks on the way up. Even that first night start. They danced to the blaring of the neighborhood orchestra but didn't get along well. "You're not a good dancer," Veloz told Yolanda, "you're leading me!"

That broke it up. But six months later they were dancing again and dancing well. So well, as a matter of fact, that they decided to enter contests. They did, journeying through the five boroughs to visit dance halls and theatres, and so marked was their success that they were "spotted" and ruled out because they won too many.

With the first money Yolanda bought a dress. Then the team went to the Palais D'Or and got a job, which they held for a week. Then it was back to the amateurs again. The opportunity came to go on the road, but the trip was a failure. They made good at a tryout at the Everglades Club and got money with which to buy suitable costumes.

Invented "Slow Waltz"

At first managers didn't like their slow way of dancing and told them so. But the pair refused to speed up their tempo. Success began when they got the American rights to "Poem," a slow waltz. America realized it had something new and startling. "Poem" was later rewritten and became popular as "Moonlight Madonna." The Schuberts saw them dancing this number in the Everglades and signed them up for "The Love Call." They were made after that.

After successes on the stage and in night clubs the movies beckoned them and they went to "Under A Pampas Moon" and "Many Happy Returns." "Champagne Waltz," in which they talk in pictures for the first time, is their third big movie.

They were married in March, 1929. Neither has ever danced without the other. Speaking of their success, Yolanda says: "Just a pair of East side kids with one chance in a million. We just happened to get it."

But Veloz says there's more to that than that. "We love to dance," he says, "and we love each other."

SUNDAY LIQUOR

Press dispatches from Richmond indicate that the new ABC regulation prohibiting the Sunday sale of wine and beer goes into effect Sunday, February 28 at midnight.

Although the General Assembly placed responsibility for these regulations upon the ABC Board and gave their rulings the force of law, the Board has seen fit to pass along responsibility for enforcement of its Sunday law to the local courts and enforcement personnel.

Ordinarily responsibility for laws rests upon the shoulders of those who make them, and not upon those who are required to enforce them, and the wisdom of the present regulation of the ABC Board, in exempting localities from enforcement of the Sunday law, when enforcement officials believe public sentiment will not sustain their action, remains to be demonstrated.

In the meantime, until there is definite evidence that no effort will be made locally to enforce the Sunday law, the sale of beer and wine on Sunday should be regarded as unlawful.

"ALL'S NOT GOLD"

The venerable gold piano at the White House which came to live there in the Administration of Theodore Roosevelt is soon to retire to the National Museum. For thirty years it has served in a musical capacity and as a "sight" for sight-seers. Now it can be told, however, that it was not wholly a success in either respect. Talented musicians invited to play at the Executive Mansion have been known to hint that there were other pianos they would as willingly play. Its rococo magnificence escaped neither notice nor comment. And thereby hangs a tale:

Once upon a time an attractive young schoolteacher from Massachusetts shepherded a group of students to Washington ton to see the capital at vacation time. Of course, the East Room and the gold piano were among the sights. The young teacher stepped up to the piano and put her hand on it.

"Please do not touch the furniture," admonished a guard, tapping her on the shoulder.

This teacher told the story years later.

"The piano was so ugly I felt like kicking it," she said.

That teacher was Grace Goodhue. She became Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and found the piano still there when she became mistress of the White House. Evidently, she never changed her opinion about it, for she is said to have confessed that she did give it a couple of kicks when she could do so with no one to say her nay.—Christian Science Monitor.

Today there are more than 15,000 chartered banks in the country. Deposits in our banks exceed $4 billion dollars. Last year there were more than 42 million savings depositors in the banks of the United States.

JAMES MERCHANT DUNNINGTON

The many friends and relatives of James M. Dunnington were shocked and saddened when news of his sudden death was received here on Saturday morning last. He passed away February 12, 1937 at his home in Blackstone, Virginia from a heart attack. Mr. Dunnington was born in Manassas, Va., July 7, 1893, where most of his boyhood was spent. He attended the local schools and later moved to Baltimore with his parents where his studies were further pursued.

He married June 10th, 1916, Miss Lelia Wilson Clineland who survived him. Also surviving are two sons, James M. Jr., and Thomas Edward Dunnington.

Mr. Dunnington was the son of the late James E. and Annie Merchant Dunnington, grandson of Lieut. Benjamin D. Merchant of the Confederate Army and nephew of the late Dr. William Fewell Merchant, well-known surgeon and local practitioner.

He was employed for more than eighteen years by the Diamond Match Company as traveling salesman, which position he held at the time of his death. He was held in high esteem by his business associates and employers and by those he contacted in social life. This was evidenced by the beautiful floral gifts and the large number of relatives and friends who came from a distance to attend the funeral rites, which were conducted by the Rev. A. Stuart Gibson from the Episcopal Church on Sunday afternoon, followed by interment in the Merchant family plot in the Manassas Cemetery.

Representatives of the Diamond Match Company who came were: Mr. W. D. Lowry, New York City; Mr. Glenn Oshea, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. Hugh Miller, Bedford, Va.; Mr. S. H. Carter, Bedford, Va.; and Mr. J. H. Chilton, Richmond, Va.

Cardozo and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Turner, Mr. Frank Moltz, Mr. A. Dabney Ellis, Mr. Russell Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Carter, Richmond, Va., Mr. and Mrs.

Paul Merchant, Misses Catherine and Pauline Merchant, Weldon, N. C., Mr. J. W. Holtzman and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Holtzman, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Krautz and son, Woodstock, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crim, Miss Samuela Crim, Mrs. J. G. Miller, and Mrs. F. H. Morehead, New Market, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Moore, Staunton, Va., Mr. Harry Castles and son, Mr. E. S. Clay, Mr. W. L. Johnson, Mr. W. B. Johnson, Mr. L. Coleman and Mr. J. A. Andrews, Blackstone, Va.

Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Sarah Butler celebrated on Sunday, February 14, her 89th birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Whetzel.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Buffus Grey, Mrs. Olive Conrad and son, Billy, from Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler and daughter, Virginia, from Warrenton, Miss Gladys Campbell, from Calverton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Todd and family from Cannon Branch, Mr. Everett Dowell, from Culpeper, Mr. and Mrs. Eppy Butler and daughter, Nellie, Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson and son and daughter, Mrs. Council Leibau, Raymond and Myrtle, Mrs. Viola Seekford, Mr. Henry Butler, Miss Mildred Vance, Mr. and Mrs. James Boley and daughter, Virginia, all from Manassas.

HAROLD BELL WRIGHT BIGGEST BEST-SELLER BIGGER ON SCREEN

Excitement crackling like a prairie fire, action, fast and furious as a free-for-all; and romance, glorious as the great outdoors—these are the surefire elements that introduces Ralph Bellamy as a thrilling new kind of Western hero this week-end at the Pitts Theatre in "Wild Brian Kent," Twentieth Century-Fox release of Harold Bell Wright's best-selling novel.

Until he meets and falls in love with the beautiful Mae Clarke, Western girl-owner of the Circle V ranch, Bellamy is a good-for-nothing playboy, kicked off a polo team for sponging on his friends, and knocked about the Western town he is stranded in for gambling without money to back him up.

Befriended by Mae, Ralph carelessly watches her ranch being endangered by a bad lands gang anxious to seize control. Branded as "yellow" and subject to her taunts, Ralph suddenly realizes his love for Mae, and the carefree grin on his lips suddenly freezes into a fighting snarl when the gang strikes again.

With trip-hammer fists and hair striking wits, the playboy turned cowboy blazes a fiery trail to a thrilling comeback. Blasting the bandit band out of the bad lands, Ralph wins through to romance worthy of his reclamation.

Breath-taking highlights of a hero's birth range from a tremendous mad dash across rough country in a wild horse race "fixed" by the crooks to a desperate struggle to fight a fierce prairie blaze whose realism is stark and breath-taking.

Directed by Howard Bretherton for Producer Sol Lesser, "Wild Brian Kent" features in the cast Helen Lowell, Stanley Andrews, Lew Kelly, Eddie Chandler, Richard Alexander and Jack Duffy.

MY VALENTINE

I was about twelve, she was ten that year,
The nice little girl who lived quite near

She had lovely eyes of heavenly blue
Long Light curls of golden hue,

We trudged to school happy and gay
I carried her books most every day.

Valentines, oh! My mother made mine
From gayest paper and heart design,

With motto inside—(I printed mine)
"Will you please be 'My Valentine'?"

I ran up the steps—rang the bell
Waited a minute then called, "oh Nell",

No name was on my valentine
I wanted to be sure she'd know it was mine,

I gave her the note and started away
"Don't go, she said, please do stay",

I have something for you
Mother made it today.

She gave me a note 'bout the size of mine

Inside was printed "You're my Valentine",

I was seventeen at a high school dance

When she answered me with a merry glance,

"You can't have all my dances, Ted"

There are just two left; How many.

I said,

Well, as long as it's you, you may have about nine

She was still my "Dearest Valentine".

The years go by—I am twenty-four
Of schools and college for me, no more,

She too, is out with a crowd young and gay

But soon will come my "Happiest Day."

For she answered "yes" with a smile divine

When I asked "You'll be always

"My Valentine".

TO WITHHOLD SKYLINE FEES

Protests Against Charge Cause Secretary Ickes To Defer Action.

In view of widespread protests against proposed automobile tolls for use of Skyline Drive in the Shenandoah National Park, Secretary of the Interior Ickes intends to withhold approval of the schedule of rates, it was learned today, until he can make further inquiries in the matter.

Senator Byrd and Representative Robertson have joined a number of Virginia chambers of commerce and other groups which are opposing the initiation of automobile fees in the park. A letter from A. D. Demaray, acting director of the National Park Service, informed the Winchester Chamber of Commerce that revised regulations being considered include provision to levy fees of $1 per calendar year and of 25 cents for a single trip on automobiles and house trailers entering the park area.

The proposed plan, Demaray pointed out, is the result of a suggestion by the Budget Bureau to make national parks more nearly self-sustaining. It was planned to initiate similar fees in all national parks.

In Winchester, Wilbur C. Hall, State conservation and development commissioner, declared former President Hoover, under whose administration the State contributed $1,000,000 toward construction of the middle section of Skyline Drive, expressly stated that the park should be free to all people. Virginia made the contribution, he said, with that understanding.

Spinach and Cabbage Outstanding

Fresh PEAS and BEANS are high in price but both SPINACH and new CABBAGE are plentiful and low in price. To supplement these, young CARROTS and POTATOES are abundant and inexpensive. ONIONS and TURNIPS are higher but still very reasonable. CAULIFLOWER is lower while Brussels SPROUTS and BROCCOLI are both higher.

Iceberg LETTUCE is plentiful but the heads are unusually small, a consequence of California's cold spell. CELERY is also inexpensive.

Here are two weekend menus built around foods which are readily available and moderate in price.

FOOD MARKET Advice

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Creomulsion is doctor recommended. Creomulsion is in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

DOROTHY LAMOUR PERFECT
"JUNGLE PRINCESS" TYPE

Had it not been for the "discovery" of Dorothy Lamour it is likely that "The Jungle Princess," a story of love in the heart of the Malayan jungle which comes to the Pitts Theatre on Wednesday, Feb. 24, would never have been produced.

Paramount had this story for many months, but would not put it into production until they found a girl star to play the title role.

The girl had to be beautiful, she had to have long beautiful hair, and she had to have all the mysterious and elusive charm of a primitive jungle dweller. She also had to have enough courage to go through her paces in the company of a fierce man-eating tiger and a giant chimpanzee, both of whom were to be her only companions in her jungle home.

Hollywood is full of long-haired beauties, "panther women," and courageous girls who have no qualms about being hugged to death in the vice-like grip of a chimpanzee, or to make a pet of a man-eater measuring almost four feet from its stiletto-sharp claws to its haunch, or nearly eight feet from its saber teeth to the tip of its lashing tail. But to find a girl who could fit all the requirements of an honest-to-goodness "Jungle Princess" was no mean job. And then came Miss Lamour. The pretty blonde had already gained a nation-wide reputation as a radio singer and one day a radio magazine published her portrait. Paramount executives saw it and called her to the studios for a screen test. She registered perfectly, and she wasn't afraid of animals.

The rest was easy. The story was immediately put into production. Ray Milland, who scored as the romantic lead in "The Big Broadcast of 1937," was cast as the explorer who gets lost in the jungle and falls in love with the "Jungle Princess". Molly Lamont was cast as the girl Milland left behind him. It is between her and Miss Lamour that he is forced to choose his mate.

"Limau," a full-grown tiger from the Malay jungle, is the tiger companion of Miss Lamour, and "Bogo," a huge chimpanzee, is another of her friends.

EXPERT ADVICE MADE 'PLAINSMAN' AUTHENTIC

Men who knew "Wild Bill" Hickok, "Calamity Jane," "Buffalo Bill" Cody and other colorful figures of the old West, veterans of the Indian wars, army experts, fashion experts, Indian experts and a host of other experts of every description poured into Hollywood when Cecil B. DeMille set under way his new spectacle, "The Plainsman" which comes Monday and Tuesday to the Pitts Theatre.

They almost matched in number the army of actors assembled for the spectacle, and that number was close to four thousand!

ACCURACY ESSENTIAL

It's a great price to pay for authenticity, DeMille admits, but he also insists that a historical spectacle must be authentic in every detail if it is to stand as a work of art instead of just another pot-boiler from the Hollywood production studios.

One false note, one tiny anachronism which might slip past the army of experts assembled to watch, can completely ruin what would be a historical document and make of it a laughing stock, DeMille says.

In order to get the real "lowdown" on the famous shooting of "Wild Bill" Hickok, portrayed in the film by handsome Gary Cooper, a search was conducted for a person who was in that crowded Bella Union saloon in Deadwood, South Dakota, on August 2nd, 1876, when "Broken Nose" Jack McCall shot the colorful peace officer.

The search turned up Captain Jim Moore, who was an eye-witness to the crime and, later, a witness at the trial which sent McCall to the scaffold. Under Moore's careful direction, an exact replica of the Bella Union Saloon was built, and McCall, played by Porter Hall, was rehearsed for hours by Moore.

Actual Survivors Found

Two Cheyenne survivors of the Battle of Little Big Horn, where the entire Seventh U. S. Cavalry, under General Custer, was massacred, were discovered on the Tongue River Reservation by studio scouts. They are "Louis Dog," aged 101, and "Stump Horn," who boasts of 87 summers, and under their supervision the great battle, which is a pivotal point in the picture, was filmed. Two other Indians, Chief "Braided Hair," also 101, and "Pick Out," 86, who took part in the Battle of Beecher's Island, were also found and taken to the island to supervise the filming of that Battle.

Army Officer Recruited

Capt. Frank Layton, U.S.A., retired, was brought to Hollywood to serve as expert on army cavalry and to oversee the fighting done by 250 horsemen, provided by the United States Army and the Wyoming State Militia.

A thousand real Cheyennes, the tribe which fought with the Sioux at Little Big Horn, were "borrowed" from the government reservations in Montana, and put through their paces under the eagle-eye of Chief Thunder Bird, an authority on Indian affairs, and Joe DeYong, noted Indian painter and recorder of Indian Lore.

Old Rifles Procured

Several hundred Winchester .44's, of the type smuggled into the Indian country by unscrupulous white men, were found in the Winchester arsenal at New Haven and taken to Hollywood. Several thousand "dummy models," of the same arm, were also made.

The search for "survivors" also turned up a frontier character who claimed he was once the beloved of the famous "Calamity Jane," frontier beauty whose romance with "Wild Bill" Hickok is the motif of "The Plainsman."

PENSION BOARD TO BEGIN STUDY

Virginia's old-age assistance commission, headed by State Senator Aubrey Weaver of Front Royal, will meet in Richmond on February 19 to begin a study of the probable cost of the system. The basis of preliminary studies will be data procured from States which have such a system and material provided by the National Social Security Board.

The approaching meeting will be the first since the commission, created by the regular 1936 General Assembly, was organized last September. Meanwhile W. R. Shands, State director of legislative research, has been collecting data to place before them.

A bill pending in Congress includes an allotment of about $2,800,000 to be set aside for old-age assistance in Virginia whenever the General Assembly makes an appropriation for such assistance.

The Weaver commission was directed by the Assembly to file its recommendations with the Governor prior to the next regular session of the Legislature.

THE WORLD AROUND US
By
O. J. Schuster

THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN to increase the efficiency of the federal courts and expedite justice is bitterly opposed by industry in general; and by the conservative press in particular. The conservative forces would have us believe that the reform would "pack the court," lead to "dictatorship," tend to "coerce and dominate the court," and make Roosevelt "the master over congress and the courts." It is of course an obsession the conservative mind, prompted by the fear of losing its ancient privileges. A rational approach to the subject would, we believe, dispell the fear of change.

BRITISH INSTITUTIONS are generally commended by our conservatives. Why then not "point with pride" to the fact that Britain's high court has 43 judges with only five of them over 70, while our supreme court has 6 out of 9 who are 70 or over. New Zealand's government is recognized as among the most enlightened, yet it has for years had most of the President's plan in practical operation and likes it. No critic of the plan has so much as suggested that it was unconstitutional.

THE CLAIM IS MADE that the plan is undemocratic, yet these same conservative forces that oppose it also oppose all efforts to hold a national referendum on measures of congress and permit the voters to be the court of last appeal. They also oppose placing the power to recall judges in the hands of the people. They charge the President with dictatorship yet he urges against hasty action on his plan, wants the most exhaustive discussion to precede legislation, tells congress to search for a better plan which he will welcome when found. In other words, he remains open-minded on the subject. His mind is closed on one thing—there shall be action leading to absorption of the unemployed and to economic security for every man, woman, and child in the nation. Such a course is not that of a dictator. It represents democratic leadership.

IT WOULD BE ILLUMINATING if the critics of the plan would take a census of the employees Industry has retired during the last ten years, giving the age at which retirement took place. How many head men were retired before they reached 70? How many others before they reached 65? How any employees were dismissed before they reached 50? How any unemployed does industry reject because they have reached the age of 50?

THE WORLD AROUND US is changing so rapidly and membership on the supreme bench changes so slowly that poor teamwork results. Even conservative judges have themselves seen the need of retiring judges at the age of 70. Justice McReynolds, himself now past 70, when he was Attorney General, thought the addition of a younger judge to District and Circuit courts for each judge past 70 a desirable provision. Former Chief Justice Taft expressed a like view. The old leaders of seventy years ago could not comprehend the greatness of Lincoln. Younger men came and saw more clearly and ever more clearly his towering character. We believe that such will be the case

SCHOOLS OBSERVE NEGRO HISTORY WEEK

Negro History Week was observed in the schools of the county February 7-14. In the lower end of the county, these observances culminated on Sunday afternoon, February 14, at the Little Union Baptist Church, Dumfries, Virginia where pupils and patrons from the five schools participated in a joint program that was highly enjoyable.

Many past and present day achievements of the Negro race in various phases of work were given through the impersonations of outstanding characters and the interpretation of poems and songs. These performances were made impressive with pictures, charts and recent statistics. An exhibit was arranged to show representations of some of the hundreds of products which George Washington Carver, a noted Negro scientist, makes from peanuts and from common clay.

The following schools were represented on this program: Cabin Branch, Hickory Ridge, Quantico, Neabsco and Summit. Similar programs were given by individual schools in other parts of the county.
