Last Sunday afternoon two of the best known and most beloved residents of lower Prince William County celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home in Minnieville. These two are none other than our very good friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mr. Charles Edward Clarke, now the only living son of the late John Clarke, who likewise was a lifelong resident of the neighborhood, was born at "Rock Hill", the residence and birthplace of his father, in the same neighborhood, August 20, 1864. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke's children and grandchildren were all present besides a host of friends. Although the afternoon was damp and dreary the throng had a splendid time and wish for the young couple a celebration of their diamond anniversary.

BUYS FINE CATTLE

Mr. Akar has stocked his farm with pure-bred Holstein dairy cattle, and has added to his herd by purchasing five or six of the finest cows offered for sale at the Virginia Holstein sale held at Orange yesterday. One of these was "Mooie Betsy Korndyke", whose dam milked up to 103 pounds a day.

MARINE OFFICERS AND MEN
ENTERTAIN AT BRENTSVILLE

The Commanding Officer and the Officers and Men of the United States Marine Corps entertained their friends at Camp Williams near Brentsville on the evening of September 30, beginning at 5:30 o'clock.

The program was followed by a delightful lunch and included boxing exhibitions and a number of other highly entertaining features which were much enjoyed.

REGULAR MEETING OF COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD

The County Board held its regular October meeting yesterday. F. M. Lynn, vice chairman, presided in the absence of Mr. D. J. Arrington, who is ill.

Two bus drivers were named on routes serving the Occoquan High School, Stanley Reid at Hoadley and Rufus Russell at Minnieville.

Library units were granted as follows: two at Quantico, two at Dumfries and two at Haymarket.

Amelia Doleman was named teacher at Quantico the Board decided to cooperate in grading and draining the school lot.

The balance of the day was devoted to routine business, such as the paying of bills, reading of communications, etc.

RELIGIOUS WORK IS EXPANDING

Miss Saunders to Assist Director

Week Day Religious Education is well started on the second year of its program of Bible study in the Public Schools. Miss Emma M. Perkins, the director, is assisted by Miss Hazel Saunders this year. Over nine hundred boys and girls are enrolled in twenty-nine classes in the fourth to the seventh grades in every white school in the County. This program is costing the County Council of Religious Education about $1.10 per child for a year of instruction.

Last August a letter went out under the signature of the President of the Council, Rev. John M. DeChant, asking the friends of the movement to contribute to it. The receipts thus far have enabled us to pay one month's salary for each teacher. Some Sunday Schools have not yet made their pledges. They are urged to do so as soon as possible. Many individuals may want to contribute a dollar or more to this work. This should be sent to Mr. J. J. Camner, Treasurer.

Miss Perkins has gathered statistics which show that about one third of the pupils in her classes never attend Sunday School and receive no religious training. Her work therefore is reaching children who are beyond the reach of the Sunday Schools. Everyone who believes in law and order, everyone who believes in character-building, and wants to see the best type of citizenship developed in our young people, ought to be interested in this work.

It is significant that Parent-Teacher Associations all over Virginia are putting special emphasis on Week Day Religious Education this year.

DEMOCRATS OPEN

Democratic headquarters for the November 2 Virginia general election were opened yesterday at the Capitol hotel.

Arrangements for the opening were made by J. M. Hooker, of Stuart, Va., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, following a conference with Jas. H. Price, Democratic nominee for governor, and other party leaders.

The headquarters will be in charge of Pearne E. Ketrone of Bristol as campaign director. Ketrone is also chairman of the Democratic city committee of Bristol. He was headquarters director under Charles E. Pollard, state campaign manager for Lieut. Governor Price during the campaign preceding the August primary.

Ketrone said Chairman Hooker and M. A. Hutchinson, Secretary of the Committee, would be at the headquarters most of the time.

It is the purpose of the committee, Ketrone said, to get in touch with the local county and city committees and urge a heavy Democratic vote in the November election.

FRAZIER CONTINUES AS ALCOHOLIC HEAD

T. McCall Frazier, chairman of the Virginia Alcoholic Beverage Control Board since last October 1, has been continued in the chairmanship until June 30, the end of the fiscal year. His term was extended beyond the year at the request of the other two members of the board, who told Governor Peery they believed the chairmanship should run concurrently with the fiscal year.

ACCIDENT TO MAIL

The mail sacks thrown off at Manassas before dawn on Sunday were badly chewed up by a freight train following.

Those who may have had incoming letters should trace them if necessary.

To the Taxpayers
of Prince William County

My letter of September 23, to the taxpayers, was not intended as an attack on anyone's integrity. It was only written to feel out the public sentiment and, as a warning of what may happen. I am very sorry that anyone should have construed it as an attack on the Board or themselves.

I shall add at this point that there are other members of the Board who, though, like myself, would like to see an addition built, yet question very much the advisability of spending the amount estimated necessary to build it.

The reason I did not enter into a more complete exposition of the subject was because of the lack of writing ability that would be necessary to keep it from being personal.

Those familiar with the work of the Board will remember that to cover the expenditures set up in the budget for the present fiscal year the budget committee recommended a two-cent raise in the levy. This means about $1500. Nevertheless, if there had not been other funds coming in, it would have been necessary to have made the increase. They will also remember that when the committee

MRS. SARAH JANE HARPINE

Mrs. Sarah Jane Harpine was born at Singer's Glen, Rockingham Co., Va., June 22, 1859 and passed unto the Great Beyond at Nokesville, Va., Sept. 23, 1937.

Her husband, J. Benjamin Harpine preceded her to the grave 12 years ago in April.

Mrs. Harpine was a devoted member of the Church of the Brethren. So long as she was able to attend the services she was very faithful.

The funeral services were conducted at Valley View Church of the Brethren on Saturday, September 22, at 2 o'clock by Rev. A. K. Grabbill assisted by Rev. N. J. Miller.

Interment was in the Valley View Cemetery.

The pall bearers were Messrs. W. F. Hale, R. S. Britton, M. J. Shepherd, Saylor Diehl, J. F. Miller and Clyde Summers.

GAME BODY TO ORGANIZE AT LYNCHBURG

Every club or other organization of hunters and fishermen in this county is invited to send delegates to the permanent organization meeting of the Virginia Federation of Sportsmen's clubs which will be held at the Virginia Hotel in Lynchburg on October 20, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The purpose of the meeting, it has been announced, is to take definite steps to weld all hunters and fishermen in Virginia into an active, co-operative and constructive body to bring about laws, rulings and practices that will result in more and better fishing throughout the state.

At the recent temporary organization meeting held in Lynchburg in July the following were elected to hold office until the permanent organization meeting: Collins Denny, Jr., of Richmond, President; Harry D. Guy, Jr., of Roanoke, vice-president, and Wilson Meake, of Richmond, secretary and treasurer.

DAIRY SHOW
AT COLUMBUSNational Event Only One-Day
Journey from Here.

The National Dairy Show, which will be held at Columbus, Ohio, October 9 to 16, promises to be one of the most spectacular and interesting dairy shows ever held. Several days, filled with showing, sales and tours, the renewing of old dairy acquaintances and making of new ones, will be in store for dairymen attending this year's National.

For the first time in many years, the show is being held within a reasonable distance from Virginia and Prince William County. The trip each way can be made in one day and it is anticipated that many of the dairymen of Northern Virginia will group together and drive over in their cars. Not only will there be hundreds of the best dairy cattle of the country on exhibit but there will be educational exhibits by the United States Department of Agriculture, various State Colleges of Agriculture and Dairy Breed Associations. The commercial exhibits of the latest in dairy equipment and supplies will be interesting.

Lovers of horses will be well repaid for the trip, for the National Percheron Show and the National Horse Pulling Contest will also be held. Forty states and the Dominion of Canada have made entries in the students' and 4-H judging and demonstration contests.

POTOMAC MINISTERS MEET

The Potomac Baptist Ministers Conference met in the Manassas Baptist Church on Tuesday of this week. This conference includes nearly all of the pastors in Northern Virginia.

Murray Taylor, Manassas; Rev. O. W. Triplett, Ashburn; Rev. W. R. Pierce, Arlington; Rev. U. S. Knox, Falls Church, and Rev. R. M. Graham, Manassas.

The order of the day was the consideration of a Memorial to the Acting Board of the Potomac Association. This Memorial was presented by Mr. Graham, chairman of the committee for this purpose. The discussion centered around the regrouping of church fields, week-day religious education, and colportage work. Not having sufficient time to fully discuss this paper, the conference voted to continue a consideration of it on through the next meeting in November. It is hoped that this Memorial, when acted upon, will result in a widespread program of progress throughout the entire Potomac Baptist District Association.

The meeting adjourned for lunch. The entire conference lunched together at Smith's Bakery where a very enjoyable post-mortem continuation of the discussions was carried on.

UNDERGROUND WASHINGTON

A description of Washington's rapidly multiplying underground tunnels and passages, that not only serve the special needs of a modern city, but play an important part in the history of the Capital, is given in a story appearing next Sunday in the feature section of The Sunday Star.

A great many of these tunnels honeycombing the earth beneath picturesque avenues, notably the newest one now being dug under lower Fourteenth street to connect the old Bureau of Engraving and Printing with the new annex, are designed to facilitate the myriad activities of Government.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

"WE HAVE NO TIME TO WASTE if our schools are not to go on delivering, year by year, fresh hordes of ignorant, unbalanced, uncritical minds, at once suspicious and credulous, weakly gregarious, easily baffled, and easily misled into the monstrous responsibilities of this present world. Mere cannon fodder and stuff for massacres and stampedes."

THE ABOVE QUOTATION is the deliberate statement of one of the world's real educators, H. G. Wells. He was addressing the British Association for the Advancement of Science which commands the highest respect of educated people throughout the world. Mr. Wells continued:

"Two-thirds of the teaching profession now is in urgent need of being either reconditioned or superannuated. I believe that the crazy combative patriotism that plainly threatens to destroy civilization today is very largely begotten by the schoolmaster and the schoolmistress in their history lessons. They take the growing mind at a naturally barbaric phase and they inflame and fix its barbarism."

In the last sentence above Wells expresses the well-known fact that because of long ages of racial inheritance children are highly susceptible to the instincts and modes of life that necessarily prevailed in ages past when our ancestors were struggling out of savagery into barbarism and from barbarism to civilization.

IN A RECENT EDITORIAL, the Washington Post expresses general agreement with the criticism of Mr. Wells. Here are three sentences from the Post's editorial, one directed to parents, one to teachers, and one to citizens in general:

"Every parent who has concern for the future of his children must sometimes doubt whether their current intellectual training will prove really valuable in the confused future which lies ahead. Every conscientious teacher must periodically confront the bitter thought that he may be wasting both his and his pupil's time. Every patriotic citizen must occasionally wonder if the instruction of the coming generation is fitting it to solve the problems which successful democracy must continue to confront."

HISTORY TEACHES US that teachers, as well as citizens in general, have joined in ridiculing and persecuting men who gave the world new truths. Thousands upon thousands of men were burned at the stake for believing and teaching that the earth is a great ball; that it moves 18 miles a second as it travels around the sun in a year; that man's progress upward from savagery has been a slow growth, as natural and as divine as is the growth of a human being from birth to old age; that the invention of the steam engine is a creation of the devil; that man must be crazy to think he can lay a cable across the ocean and send messages thru it, that he can learn to fly, that an income tax is practical and just. All these and thousands of other new ideas and discoveries met the ridicule and the persecution of the learned as well as of the masses.

MUST THE DEMAND for a New Deal in education, a more realistic and more effective education, be forced upon the schools by public opinion? Or will teachers give respectful and very careful consideration to the newer outlook such men as Wells, President Hutchins, Secretary Ickes, Mrs. Roosevelt, John Dewey, and other progressive minds represent. Perhaps 1 per cent of our one million teachers are in agreement with Wells and possess the courage to say so openly, fearlessly. How many of the other 99 per cent will soon join them? When 25 per cent of the profession emancipate themselves from their fears the teacher's salary will not be the pittance now paid but will equal the Go-Getters in industry and finance.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Photography, Time and Sentiment

"Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight!"

THIS is an address to camera-owning parents to remind them of a few facts relative to the sentimental value of photography and the passage of time. Self evident though they may be, these facts are too often forgotten.

The first is that in the case of parents the most treasured of all photographs are those of their children. When the children grow up, photographic records of how they looked as children become with the years more and more precious. Any doubt about that?

Fact number two is that parents who are camera owners have the means of obtaining pictures of their children at any time throughout those childhood years.

The third and most important is that since Time is not a motion picture reel that can be repeated or turned back to a given scene, too many parents let Time slip by without taking the pictures that will make the record of their children's constantly changing appearance.

Billie, aged ten, is quite a different looking person from the one he was at eight, six, four and two. If years are allowed to pass without pictures being taken of him, memories of how he looked at different ages survive only vaguely. Remember that mental pictures fade and perish but images on photographic paper endure. Moreover, Billie, too, will cherish those pictures, and so will his future wife and their children.

Here are some important facts, too, relative to the picture-taking. The most interesting and revealing pictures of children are informal ones, showing their natural manner of doing things, their unconscious attitudes and unpremeditated poses, taken unawares. These are the ones you like most to look at. Such pictures are easy to obtain outdoors when the children are at play intent upon the fun they are having. Now, at those times, it takes only a few moments to slip out of the house, camera in hand, and snap them.

Don't let the children discover your purpose if you can help it, because they will most surely stop everything with a shouted, "Wait a minute! Mummy's going to take our pictures!" and start to pose.

The "pitchers" may not seem anything remarkable when a day or two later they come back from the photographer because they merely show the children just as you now see them every day. But wait a few years! Then they will be priceless!

Don't neglect to get these snapshots from time to time, and particularly when birthdays come around, and don't forget to date the prints. Remember: it only takes a few minutes to step out with your camera and obtain these precious remembrances.

John van Guilder

The Community League held its regular monthly meeting at the school Monday, September 27 with an average attendance. It is hoped that a large attendance will be at later meeting, which will be held the last Monday in the month.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will grow to be a habit and a source of wisdom and grace to them in later years.

FAITHFULNESS: He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.—Luke 16:10.

JUSTICE FOR MEN OVER FORTY

Good judgment as well as good feeling is evident in the stand of the members of New York City's Sales Executive Clubs in favor of the employment of men over forty years of age for positions which call for experience as well as physical vigor. They have given concrete evidence of the faith that is in them by the fact that 80 per cent of their employees have already passed their 40th milestone. The sales executives give reason, too, for preferring men of early middle age. They are these:

1. They are likely to turn out more production.

2. Most likely to be conscientious about those phases of work hard to check up.

3. More likely to be open-minded toward criticism.

4. Likely to undertake unpleasant assignments more willingly.

5. More likely to bring in new ideas of value.

Whether or not these arguments in favor of the older men as against the young will stand up in individual cases, the important part of the decision is that the fact that a man has passed forty years is not permitted to weigh against him when he applies for a position under these executives. On the contrary, the only consideration is the qualities which he possesses and the experience which he has, necessarily, gained in his years of contact with the business world.

In other words these shrewd business men have given the man on the shady side of forty about the only break that most of them ask, which is that their ages shall not be considered an insurmountable obstacle to their employment, regardless of what their qualifications and experience may be. The decision of these executives is in no way a reflection on the young men. It is simply according the vigorous older ones a justice long denied them in many quarters.—Norfolk Ledger—Dispatch.

Apples and Tomatoes Novel Combination

Apple pures adds an elusive flavor to this molded tomato aspic which forms a colorful well for Waldorf salad. The tomato and apple aspic also may be molded in a shallow pan, cut in squares when jellied and served as an accompaniment for roast pork or ham.

APPLES never cease to be a culinary wonder. They have a way of turning up in the most surprising disguise to add zest to a dish that delights the epicure.

Tomato aspic is the latest dish to acquire a keener palate appeal through the subtle blending of apple pures with the mixture. The result is an aspic that from all physical characteristics has undergone no change. There is a marked improvement in flavor, however, for the apple pures adds an elusive, indescribable quality that definitely gives the tomato aspic more character.

A ring of tomato and apple aspic forms a colorful circle and interesting flavor contrast for Waldorf, mixed raw vegetable or seafood salads. The tested recipe follows:

Tomato and Apple Aspic
1 cup canned or cooked tomatoes (rubbed through strainer)
1 cup cooked apples (rubbed through a 1/2 teaspoon salt strainer)
1 tablespoon sugar
3 bay leaves
2 cloves
2 tablespoons gelatin
1/4 cup cold water (rubbed through a 1/2 teaspoon salt strainer)
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Soak gelatin for five minutes in cold water. Boil the tomato pures for a few minutes with the bay leaves, cloves and sugar. Add the hot tomato pures to the dissolved gelatin, straining out the spices. Add apple pures, salt and pepper, and pour into molds which have been rinsed with cold water. Set in refrigerator to stiffen. The mixture may be poured into a pan and when stiff cut into squares for serving. Serve on a lettuce leaf or with a garnish of chicory or water cress with mayonnaise.
Yield: 4 to 6 individual molds.

NITRATE SAVES DYING ORCHARD

Elmer E. Page, of Weaverville, Buncombe County, North Carolina, owns a 35-year-old apple orchard on a mountainside over 3,000 feet above sea level; but neither distance, height nor age could prevent him from getting a 200-pound sack of Arcadian to his orchard which he felt was badly in need of the American Nitrate of Soda. Transportation facilities not immediately available, he put the heavy sack on his back and carried it up the mountain.

Because of lack of fertility and diseased condition, he was considering cutting the trees down. Relating his experience, Mr. Page says: "... I used 7 pounds around each tree about the time the buds showed pink. My results have been 'An Old Orchard Made Young.' The trees are free from rust without spraying and are as fine as they have ever been. I am looking forward to some big apple crops, as a result of using 'Arcadian' which has saved my orchard."

TRAINS HELP EDUCATION

Ask your School Board

Every twenty-four hours the railroads of the United States pay nearly a million dollars in taxes. Almost half of this amount is allocated to educational purposes.

Chesapeake and Ohio annually contributes about two and a half million dollars towards the maintenance of schools in the communities served by this railroad. A part of Chesapeake and Ohio's taxes are used in your own schools—ask your School Board!

Chesapeake and Ohio is not in the school business, but it is estimated that its school taxes pay for the education of fifty thousand children each year.

Chesapeake and Ohio is glad to be a good citizen, sharing in the life and responsibilities of your community.

Last weeks column, "The World Around Us," was indeed a forceful reminder of the World past, Japan for many years has been adopting Occidental customs and ideas, thinks she is justified in also using their means of expansion, and while leading nations are voicing their indignation and disapproval of her invasion of China, it seems just a case of the "pot calling the kettle black"

Some startling revelations have appeared in recent issues of the Sunday News, a Washington paper News that has come to light after seventy two years. Substantial evidence to show that Abraham Lincoln, like Julius Caesar was the victim of his friends, Booth their trigger man. Honest Abe was too much so for the enemies of the South and had to be put away so they could go on with their further destruction and pillaging of the already destitute South. Hence, the carpet bag era. "Believe it or not"

More startling yet is a story appearing weekly in the same paper, reprinted from The London Express, revealing the intimate life of Victoria, Englands beloved Queen for sixty four years, the story relates have early in her reign, she was so impressed by a young Scotch Highlander, handsome and intelligent, who was her stable boy, that she promoted him to be her personal servants or rather, gentleman in waiting, which position he held the rest of his life. After the death of her husband it was he who comforted and brought cheer to the desolate widow as none other could do, he led her pony, drove her carriage, told her what dress to wear, if her hat was on strait pinned on her shall, bossed the household and spanked the children.

In fact he ruled her as she ruled England. Just what puzzles us, why this story which smacks of scandal, dormant all these years, should blossom forth at this time. Was it in some way supposed to avenge Edward. It also must be consoling to Carol. Anyway it seems that Hemophilia was not the only thing Grandma transmitted to her progeny.

We were somewhat disappointed in Judge Black's speech, we settled ourselves and tuned our ears for some real Southern Oratory. After that fifteen minutes of wisely chosen and slowly spoken words, we felt like we

Service and Dominion

WHEN Christ Jesus, the Way-shower, declared to his ambitious disciples (Luke 22:27), "I am among you as he that serveth," he revealed the essential relationship between service and dominion. Service, on the part of one universally acknowledged to be master, would seem anomalous did not spiritual understanding discern their inseparable nature.

According to the first chapter of Genesis, man, in the image and likeness of God, has dominion—even over all the earth. This declaration of truth, however, remains but an abstract statement until proved by demonstration. In demonstration it soon becomes apparent that the greater the service rendered, and the greater our understanding of the spiritual nature of right service, the more scientifically do we prove our spiritual dominion.

The meaning of service became elevated and ennobled recently in the thought of one who, seeking in a well-known dictionary for a definition of "servant," found amongst other renderings, "One consecrated to God." Because men are growing into a better understanding of spiritual values and proportionately relaxing their tenacious grasp upon material things, service is being recognized more and more as the way to happiness and progress.

When on that well-known occasion, the Master, girding himself with a towel, proceeded to perform the humble service of washing the disciples' feet, he set a seal of spirituality on the first thought of mortal mind under like circumstances would be one of superiority to such an action. Yet but little study shows how there simply could not be anything in mortal thought superior to the spiritual qualities which man—as Christ Jesus understood him—forever reflects. Of our mortal selves we do nothing. Man's true being is in God, and is manifested in the reflection of the Godlike qualities of love, kindness, usefulness, activity, and service. In short, in these qualities man expresses the divine Principle. The expression of God being one's chief end, it is obvious that whatever the human capacity may be, whether that of father, son, merchant, client, master, or servant, one is endeavoring to practice one's highest, conceivable concept of spiritual service.

The history of many Bible characters provides interesting illustrations of the inseparability of the spiritual qualities of service and dominion. Of Moses we read (Numbers 12:3), "Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth." Yet, who was more active or more useful in true service? And who, in the Old Testament, made a better demonstration in leading, clothing, and feeding God's people than he? Moses served and proved his dominion, because he discerned that true power lies in the reflection of spiritual qualities, including humility, which perceives activity to be in divine Principle alone. Did not the Way-shower himself ask men to learn of him because he was meek and lowly? And did he not specifically promise that service, as he served, would bring rest and dominion? Because he knew no self-hood apart from God, his service consisted of the continual reflection of spiritual being, full, active, unceasing, ideal!

In Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures (p. 1) Mary Baker Eddy writes, "Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind." So clear to her was the revelation of the allness of Spirit, and of man as God's spiritual expression, that she was led to use the term "self-immolation" to indicate the path which leads through service to dominion.

Our goal is to fulfill the command of the Way-shower in preaching the gospel, casting out demons, cleansing leprous thought, and doing today the wonderful things he accomplished. Such may be achieved only through first proving in experience the perfection of God and man. Devotion is service in its truest sense. It consists of the hourly elimination from thought of the material, and in proving the superiority of the spiritual. This is the service in which we indeed "by love serve one another."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Plans for the introduction of dial service in the Walnut Exchange and for the erection of a new building to provide quarters for the new equipment and for the Telephone Company's local headquarters have been announced by John A. Cummins, Arlington Manager for The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia. The project will involve expenditures of approximately $1,000,000.

Mr. Cummins stated that the rapid development of Arlington County makes it necessary to provide enlarged and improved service facilities, and careful studies by the company's engineers indicate that dial service will best meet the present and future needs of this exchange. The dial equipment will be placed in service in about the end of 1938 or the early part of 1939. Operation of the manual switchboard will continue at its present location.

The company's new building will be located at 1025 North Irving Street and will be a two-story structure of gray brick rimmed with limestone. Of contemporary architectural design, the building will be of a modern and fire-proof construction throughout and will provide approximately 22,750 square feet of floor space with a frontage of 113 feet and a depth of 103 feet. In addition to the new dial equipment and associated apparatus, the building will house the company's business office, district offices, operating room and operators quarters. It is designed to permit additions to be made when needed. Ground will probably be broken by the end of 1937.
