P. T. A. CONVENTION IS INSTRUCTIVE

Local Delegates Greatly Enjoy Sessions

The Manassas Parent-Teacher Association sent Mrs. A. O. Beane and Mrs. J. Dennis Baker as delegates to the State J. T. A. Convention at Roanoke last Thursday. Accompanying them were Mrs. Edgar Parrish, Mrs. Wheatly Johnson, Mrs. R. C. Haydon and Rev. DeChant. Banner Certificates were presented both to the local Association and to the County.

The Convention divided itself into conference groups in order to give thorough discussion to important questions like Parent and Adult Education and Character Education. The Character Education Conference discussed Religious Illiteracy in Virginia, what the State can do and cannot do in Religious Training. Every phase of Week Day Religious Education was discussed by Educational and Religious authorities.

The Convention was given an unexpected and delightful treat in the form of an address by Ruth Eryan Owen Rhode, former Ambassador to Denmark. Mrs. Rhode spoke in her humorous and captivating way, of her experiences as an American official in a foreign land. She criticized severely both the American movies and the news dispatches that are sent abroad, saying that these are giving to the whole world a one-sided and erroneous picture of the real America. She spoke entertainingly of a trailer trip thru Denmark with her family. Ignorance of the language was not a serious obstacle because the people were so hospitable. Her formula for friendship is this: Hospitality by the host, gratitude by the guest and tea and cakes between them. Quoting her own hospital experience in Denmark, she said $1.70 per day pays for a private room and a private nurse. She closed her address with an appeal for world peace, stating that public opinion is the one force powerful enough to deal with the problem of War. It could bury War under a great avalanche of Peace. The Convention was attended by 427 registered delegates and 155 visitors. The Manassas group returned with an enlarged view of the place the P. T. A. holds in a great system of Public Education.

REPORTS HEARD ON DISTRICT MEETING

Reports on the Capitol District meeting of Kiwanis International were made at last week's meeting of the local club, Messrs. Ratcliffe, Bradford and Hutchison doing the said reporting.

The hospitality of the town, the music features, etc, made the greatest impression on the local delegates. A few stories had survived and were related. Even OD passed on them.

Everyone was delighted with Directors Peters report that a satisfactory contribution had been made to the Episcopal Hospital in Washington.

TO MARK MISSION ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday, Oct. 1, the Presbyterian Church will have a commemorative service marking 100 years of Foreign Missions. In the past 100 years the Presbyterian Church has spent $135,000,000 on the Foreign Field. Today 1262 missionaries are at work in 16 Foreign countries, where over half a million people have given their hearts to Christ. Over 109,000 pupils are enrolled in Mission schools, ranging all the way from kindergarten to Theological Seminary. Over 550,000 patients are treated annually in Mission hospitals. The service next Sunday will take account of these achievements and an opportunity will be given to contribute to the $1,000,000 Centennial Fund which is being raised to send out new missionaries and to meet urgent needs on the Mission Field.

In spite of war in China, Mission Schools opened as usual and Mission Stations are going right ahead with their work except in a very few places. There is no intention of closing up missionary work either in Japan or China. The war makes it evident that missionary work is more needed than ever.

THE NEW CHEVROLET

Noteworthy advances in performance, economy, safety, durability and style, gained through systematic refinement of features already thoroughly proved in the hands of the public, mark the two new passenger car series which Chevrolet is introducing for 1938. Both lines embody an improvement destined to rank as outstanding in the industry this year—the revolutionary new "Tiptoe-matic" clutch combining more positive action with greater operating ease, and adding importantly to the safety, comfort, and durability of the car.

The 1938 line, Chevrolet engineers assert, represents important advances over even the highly successful 1937 models. Refinements extend to bodies, both interiors and exteriors, and to numerous units of the chassis, whose design, however, remains fundamentally unchanged. The unchanged. The power plant in both series is the 8-horsepower high-compression valve-in-head six-cylinder engine whose power, smoothness, economy, and freedom from service interruptions are already familiar to millions of owners throughout the world.

All models have Chevrolet's perfected hydraulic brakes, all-silent, all-steel turret top bodies by Fisher, and the trouble-free hypoid rear axle. On the Master DeLuxe series, Chevrolet fully-enclosed knee action is starting its fifth year.

Outwardly, the most notable change in the new Chevrolets is their advanced styling, which is especially evident at the front end. The top of the hood sweeps forward from the cowl in a graceful curve, to cap the almost vertical flattened radiator and grille. The latter, a radical improvement over previous design, consists of chromium-plated horizontal bars, flowing back from the center line of the grille to blend into the radiator shell. Accentuating these lines, every fifth bar is of double width, pin striped down the center with vermilion enamel. The new Chevrolet emblem, in cream letters on blue, embossed in a die-cast winged shield, is centered at the top. The streamline which introduced a new style note is continued in 1938. (Continued on page 7)

JUNIOR WOMEN

SPONSOR CLINIC

Beginning their philanthropic work for the winter season, the Junior Woman's Club has chosen Saturday, November 6th, as the opening day of their new project, a free baby clinic. Several meetings at the home of Mrs. Ralph Sharrett, the clinic chairman, with Mrs. Marion Lewis as advisor, have about completed the arrangements. The clinic will be held at the Manassas Welfare Office from 2 to 5 on Saturday afternoons. The club members are asking doctors and nurses of the town to volunteer their services in examining the children to determine if they have any physical defects. The doctors will be assisted by the club members, who will weigh the babies and keep a record of their condition on file. If they are found to have physical defects they will be recommended to the county nurse or advised where they can go for treatment. After a winter of observation, the club plans to hold a baby contest in the spring, at which all of the babies who have been examined and treated will compete for the honor of being the healthiest baby in the county. Parents and doctors who have been approached on the subject seem to think the clinic is one of the most necessary and beneficial projects that the club could undertake.

Another project the club will carry out this winter is case work. Feeling that Mrs. Marion Lewis, Superintendent of Public Welfare, is somewhat overworked, the young ladies have offered her their services in visiting homes, supervising children, hunting up clothes for the needy, solving minor home difficulties and doing numerous other small but useful tasks. Mrs. Jenkyn Davies is in charge of this group of workers.

MARINES IN ACTION.

Scene in recent maneuvers of Quantico Corps.

FIFTEEN MONTHS WITH THE FIRST BRIGADE,
FLEET MARINE FORCE

On July 21, 1936, the 75th Anniversary of the First Battle of Manassas, we find the First Brigade not in its comfortable and commodious barracks on the banks of the Potomac, but on the hot and dusty battle fields of Manassas. Here in commemoration of that historical First Battle of Bull Run, the First Brigade Marines emulated the Union Forces under General Irvin McDowell. Thousands of civilians from Virginia and adjoining states enthusiastically watched the Brigade in bloody assaults against Henry House Hill, held by the Sixteenth Brigade, United States Army, and R. O. T. C., units in the roll of General Stonewall Jackson's Confederate brigade.

Upon the completion of this maneuver, the Brigade returned to its barracks at Quantico for five weeks' training on reservation, then moved again to an area south of Manassas for two weeks' field exercises in the vicinity of Brentsville and Bristow, Virginia. Following this, the Brigade had two and one half months at home before it embarked on transports to join the Second Brigade and the Headquarters of the Fleet Marine Force on the West Coast.

For two months the First Brigade operated with the Fleet Marine Force Headquarters and the Fleet in the joint maneuvers conducted off the California Coast.

Arriving back in Quantico training area until late in April 30 it staged the battle of the Crater. Here again the Marine Brigade played the roll of the Union Forces and were opposed by cadets from the Virginia Military Institute and the Virginia National Guard as the Confederates.

Upon returning from this historical festival no movement of this force as a brigade occurred until September 21, 1937, when the First Brigade Fleet Marine Force again returned to the Manassas area to establish Camp R. P. Williams and conduct two weeks terrain exercises. However, between the return from Petersburg in May, and the movement to Brentsville, Virginia in September, both the First and Second Battalions of the Brigade had extended tours of duty away from Quantico; the First Battalion at Lakehurst, New Jersey, for emergency duty due to the wreck of the Hindenburg; the Second Battalion at Camp Perry, Ohio, for duty at National Rifle Matches.

Hardly had the Second Battalion rejoined its Regiment when the Brigade moved to Brentsville where the most extensive and intensive fall training yet carried on in this area were conducted. In addition to Brigade exercises and maneuvers conducted for Battalion, Regimental and Brigade training, demonstrations were staged by the Bridge for the Marine Corps Schools which were also conducting field exercises in the area.

The patriotic zeal with which the loyal citizens of the area so generously extended to the Marines the unrestricted use of their farms for these training exercises was an inspiration to every member of the Brigade and immeasurable aid to the staffs of both the First Brigade and the Fifth Regiment in the planning and conducting of this fall's training exercises. Soon to follow will be the annual winter maneuvers in southern waters.

The First Brigade may be stationed at Quantico, Virginia, but its theater of operations in the course of fifteen months has been the United States of America and contiguous waters. Its scope of activity extends from simple general duty and actors in the reenactment of historical battles to intensive training exercises and maneuvers in preparation for another war if and when history repeats itself.

WATERFALL

We like living where our gaze can rest on the mountains, because, like David, we always get an inspiration from the hills; but when we traversed Skyline Drive on Sunday for the first time, and saw the mountains in a blaze of autumn color and gazed down on the Shenandoah river, twisting like a huge serpent up the rich Page Valley; we felt we must be geographically wrong as to our location. This couldn't be the crest of the Blue Ridge; but it must be Mt. Nebo, and we were gazing right over into The Promised Land!!

We stopped for lunch at Sexton Knolls and while we were eating a sudden snow storm swept across the mountain's top, almost obliterating the lofty peaks to the north.

When the sun came out again the scene was like fairy land, with the pines and spruce and hemlocks etched in snow. We stopped at Skyland and it resembled a Christmas card with the quaint-cabins covered with snow; and while we were "toasting our toes" by the huge fire-place in the rustic but charming hotel, gay riding parties were coming and going and the atmosphere of the place was so genial with the white coated darkies serving the guests so graciously, we decided that if this wasn't the Promised Land, it was the next thing to it—just "Ole Virginny"!

We drove under lofty Mary's Rock and on down to the beetling brow of old "Stoneman" himself marveling all the while at the engineering skill of man; but giving credit to a Higher Power in the words of Samuel Morse, and his first message over the telegraph—"What hath God Wrought?"

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage at Gainesville on Saturday last. When Miss Leda Sowers, daughter, of Mrs. Frances Sowers, of near Stone House, became the bride of Mr. Nelson Thomas, son of Mrs. Tarlton Thomas, who resides near here. After a motor trip thru the Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas returned to their home here on Monday. We offer congratulations and best wishes to this very popular young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sinclair and son and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Gosson of Washington were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gosson.

Misses Elizabeth Gyn and Beatrice Haserock and Messrs. Herman and Robert Smith of Washington were week-end visitors at "Hagley".

Mr. Cuthbert Foley, who resides with his niece, Miss Flora Smith, has been confined to his bed for the past week. Mr. Foley, who has reached his 83rd year, is one of our oldest citizens!

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas and family, of Arlington Co., were guests at "Oakshade" over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Granville Thomas and Howard, Jr., and Mr. Alton Bell of Falls Church visited Mrs. Howard Bell on Sunday.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY

Next Tuesday is the general election, at which time the Governor of Virginia, Lieutenant-Governor, Attorney General, and Members of the House of Delegates will be elected.

It is important that all Democrats go to the polls on Election Day and vote for the candidates of our party, although Republican candidates may have little or no chance of election. Hon. James H. Price, our candidate for Governor is one whom we should feel proud to vote for. He is a man of very high ideals and he has had a great deal of experience in governmental affairs, which qualifies him in a great measure for the high position of Governor of this state.

I ask that you go to the polls without fail on election day and cast your vote for the entire Democratic ticket.

C. C. CLOE, Chairman of the Democratic Committee of Prince William County.

The Importance
TIME

"Time is money," wrote Benjamin Franklin in his Advice to a Young Tradesman. This sage advice, true in 1748, has gained added force with the years.

Today, alert individuals and business concerns pay by check, because checks save time. It is a simple matter to sign a check and mail it. The minutes saved grow into hours during the years—hours for extra work, or extra leisure.

If you believe that time is important, we invite you to open a checking account at this bank.

RELIGIOUS SUPERVISOR
TO DISCUSS ORGANIZATION

There will be a meeting of the Manassas District Sunday School Association on Sunday, October 31, 1937, at 3 p.m. in the basement of the Presbyterian Church. Superintendents of all the Sunday Schools in the District are asked to be present. In addition, each school is expected to send at least one representative. All Sunday School workers are invited, as well as Pastors in the Manassas District. Miss Elizabeth Longwell, Area Supervisor of Week Day Religious Education, will be present. Miss Longwell has had much experience in this work and she will be happy to answer any questions that pertain to it. Matters pertaining to a better organization of the District Association will come up for discussion. It is hoped that every Sunday School will be well represented.

NEW CHEVROLET

Other important changes extend to louvers, headlamps and their mountings, hood side panels, running boards, and body hardware, interior and exterior. Outside door handles are incased at their ends for greater safety, and embody the vermilion enamel pin stripe found on the grille. The overall effect of the many refinements in the hood and body is one of greater length and racier, more graceful lines—an impression of fleetness which is confirmed when one takes to the road.

Engine advances for 1938 are mainly in the nature of refinements, although a new and lighter flywheel, in conjunction with the new clutch, affords greater flexibility and quicker response to the controls, and valve springs, valves, and certain portions of the cooling system have been redesigned rather than simply refined. There is faster transfer of heat from the combustion chambers, especially in the vicinity of the valves, in spite of the fact that the cooling system in 1937 was outstanding for efficiency.

The most notable change in the power plant and its related units is the electrical system, which is entirely new. It consists of a new higher-capacity generator with voltage regulator which adjusts its output at all times to the load imposed on the battery; a new starting mechanism of the type furnished on costlier General Motors cars, with over-running clutch and automatic throttle, opening assuring easy, positive starts, and a new, weather-tight, and accessible battery cover.

Greater body space, and increased stability on the road, are provided by widening the rear tread from 57.9-16 inches to a full 59 inches. In conjunction with changes in the wheel house design, this makes possible two inches greater width through the rear seat of the car. The longer axle drive shafts and housings necessitated by the change are compensatingly sturdier to take care of their added length.

An innovation in the mode of attaching the rear springs to the rear axle housing results in quieter operation over any type of road. Rear springs are completely insulated from the housing by bushings and washers of live, resilient rubber, used in conjunction with a new bracket welded to the front of the housing on each side. Metal-to-metal contacts are eliminated entirely, as is the "telegraphing" of road noises to the passenger compartment of the car. The need for adjustment, lubrication, and service of any sort at this point no longer exists.

The convenience and utility of the trunk models in the new line is enhanced to a marked degree by the greatly-increased luggage space provided this year. The flat shelf under which the spare wheel rested horizontally has been removed, giving 6-7-8 inches greater height, and the compartment floor has been redesigned to include a well in which the spare wheel rests in a nearly vertical position. The floor, which is entirely flat, is covered with a rubber mat, and top, sides, and rear are insulated to exclude heat, cold, and weather. The tools are in a separate compartment just inside the rear edge of the trunk, and are reached by lifting out an easily-removed wooden lid. The trunk support is of new design, of the telescoping type. It operates automatically, and by reason of its compactness and simplicity, does away with any chance of damaging articles in the trunk when the door is closed.

Beauty and safety received first consideration in the new Chevrolet interiors. Grays and tans predominate in upholstery and trim, in the Master DeLuxe and the Master—the former offering Breathing Back mohair velvet as standard and broadcloth as an option, and a single choice, Breathing Back mohair velvet being available in the Master series. A more attractive instrument panel which is also easier to read, an illuminated ignition lock, sure-grip control knobs, flush-type locking knob on the glove compartment, firmer-grip steering wheel which can be adjusted to the spoke-position preferred by the individual driver, reversed control handle on right-hand door of coach and town sedan, to prevent accidental opening of door when seat is tilted forward, are among the numerous refinements here.

Marked advances both in safety and in convenience are gained by an entirely new design in the backs of the front seats of all five-passenger models in both series. The hard portion of the backs terminates several inches lower than on previous models, and the portion above it is softly cushioned for maximum safety in case of a sudden stop. Incidentally, the change makes for greater ease of ingress and egress in the case of the four-door models. Front seat backs are equipped with soft, resilient robe cords which stretch across the full back length of the front seats in four-door models of the Master DeLuxe series and each front seat separately in two-door models. Slip-free running board mats with a heavily-ribbed surface promote safety, and both safety and comfort are served by redesigning the door sills to exclude weather and drafts.

Differences between the two series of Chevrolets are basically the same as heretofore. In the chassis, the principal difference is the substitution of conventional I-beam front axle, and semi-elliptic springs, on the Master, for the fully-enclosed knee action units of the Master DeLuxe. Interiors present the same appearance of spaciousness and comfort in both series. The main additions in the case of the Master DeLuxe are assist cords, come light switch on pillar post, ash receivers, rear window curtains, and decorative door sill plates. The instruments are the same, except for the addition of water temperature gauge on the Master DeLuxe. Outward appearance is identical, except for substitution of embossed and painted running board edge for the stainless steel strip found on the Master DeLuxe, addition on the Master DeLuxe of a nameplate on the louvers, and of bumper guards. In the Master DeLuxe models, and on the Master Cabriolet, armrests are furnished on the front doors.

Both lines include coach, sedan, sport sedan, town sedan, and business coupe. The Master DeLuxe line has in addition a sport coupe with rumble seat, and the Master line has cabriolet, sedan delivery and coupe pickup.

Bronchial Coughs
Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm. The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed, and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Adv
