AID IS URGED FOR LIBRARY

Present Work is Shown As Worthy of Assistance

(Contributed.)

The Ruffner-Carnegie Library will ask the Manassas Town Council for an annual appropriation of two hundred dollars to use in purchasing books for the use of the general public.

The reasons for this request follow:

1. When the library was organized as the result of a bequest of one thousand dollars which Mr. George C. Round obtained from Mr. Andrew Carnegie it was with the understanding that the School Board should furnish a room, and the public should always have access to the books.

2. The library has now about three thousand volumes all of standard value or of current interest and it is also building up a good collection of reference books. We feel very strongly that the public should have more access to its very worth-while collection.

3. The library is now open from 9 until 4 o'clock on school days and one day in the week through the summer; but, for all the public to have access to the books, reference material and periodicals, it is necessary to open it at least once or twice a week at night (the school authorities would agree to provide heat and light during those nights).

4. In order to make the library more accessible to the public, however, by opening it some at night, it is necessary to have at least a small certain income to buy new books, else the public interest could not be kept up.

5. The library now has a small yearly appropriation from the School Board but this has to be spent altogether for reference material for use in class work. It has appropriation also from the Parent-Teacher Association and from two of the three Woman's Clubs but these appropriations are small and uncertain, and only help provide for reading material for the English classes. A very small amount of this appropriation is available for books for the general public.

6. If the appropriation is given the Council, if desired, might appoint a committee to assist in selecting the books.

7. It would be also understood that any appropriation given by the town would in no way decrease the appropriation given by the School Board. That is fixed by the state requirements.

Manassas now has a number of attractions for home makers: good highways and train service, paved streets, water, electricity and gas for household purposes, but a number of the people feel very strongly that the town is large enough to have some library facilities. While the town might not feel that it could put up a building and pay the running yearly expenses of at least $1200 to $1500 for even a very small public library, it could by a small annual appropriation made available for public use our plan has been used successfully by the city of Richmond and the John Marshall High School Library; it could be used equally well for Manassas.

FEDERAL FUNDS FOR OUR SCHOOLS

State Budget Is Held In Abeyance

An elaborate expansion of vocational education in Virginia will be gained through the allocation of new federal funds to the State, Dr. Sidney B. Hall, Superintendent of Public Instruction, announced. The federal funds allocated to Virginia will total $142,269 for July 1 to December 31, the first six months of the federal fiscal year. Dr. Hall said a similar allocation would be more after January 1 for the last six months of the federal fiscal year.

The allotment is part of the $12,000,000 George-Deen Act passed by Congress in June, 1936, and must be matched by the State on a basis of 50 cents on a dollar. At this rate the total allocation will be $213,403 above the allotment made yearly under the older Smith-Hughes Act for the vocational education program, Dr. Hall said. The State Department of Education has made plans for the use of the funds but the budget will be held in abeyance, Dr. Hall said, pending the actual allocation of the George-Deen funds.

Meetings will be held in Williamsburg on Dec. 7, Charlottesville on Dec. 9 and Wytheville on Dec. 11 so that superintendents can re-check sectional vocational needs for the winter under the four parts of the expanded program included in the budget, Dr. Hall explained.

According to the superintendent, the four divisions of the expanded program are vocational agriculture, vocational economics, trade and industrial training and teaching distributive occupations such as salesmanship. Tentatively, in the trade and industrial classes, the vocational classes for police and firemen will be greatly enlarged. Eighty new schools will be included in the home economics classes, making a total of 200. Agriculture will be taught in over 200 schools, under the enlarged program, and agriculture classes will include training in other vocations other than that of farming for the benefit of unschooled rural residents, who wish to learn some other trade.

BUFFET SUPPER

Mrs. Jack Leachman entertained at a Buffet Supper at the Prince William Hotel on Saturday evening for some friends from Washington.

Among the Manassas people who were invited to meet the guests were Col.

and Mrs. B. L. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hynson, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Didlake, Rev. and Mrs. A. Stuart Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Briscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jamison, Miss Margaret Lynch, Miss Eleanor Gibson and Mr.

E. R. Conner.

Near Centreville, Fairfax Co., Va.
Friday, August 2nd, 1861.

Dear Aunt:

According to promise, I take this opportunity to write you a few lines. I am now in camp near the above named place, and have been ever since last Sunday—at which time our regiment marched here from within one mile of the great and ever memorable battlefield of the 21st inst. I have thus far been spared from the bullets of the enemy, though subject to their fire in both fights.

I left Culpeper C. H. on the 26th day of June, arrived in camp at a place called Wigfall some two miles from Manassas; stayed there six or seven days then marched with the regiment (which is called the 7th Va. Regiment) to a place called Occoneechee—a distance of 18 miles. We remained there a week and returned. In some five or seven days after our return we were ordered out to meet the enemy, a distance of about two miles, where we camped on the ground, and many of us without blankets! On the next day, which was Thursday, the 18th, we marched some three or four miles in a different direction where we met the severest volley of musketry from the enemy (who were some 300 yards upon the hill hidden entirely from our view) that you can conceive of. As luck would have it, not many of our regiment got killed or wounded, but many of the enemy were slain.

It was really a sight to find the blankets, oil cloths and many other things scattered over the field after their defeat.

You may think it strange, but many of our men went upon the field

the next morning and got off the dead bodies of the Yankees money, cards, likenesses and many other little novelties. Many things, no doubt, that had been stolen from private citizens upon their route from Washington to the field.

We then stayed in our trenches for two days and nights waiting for them to return, but they did not return.

They brought up a flag of truce for "permission to bury their dead."

Instead of acting honorably, they left the dead and wounded and went some two miles higher up the run, where they threw up a most tremendous breastwork against us. We took up the wounded and had them cared for, and believe Gen. Beauregard had the dead buried.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR

FARM PROGRAM RESTORES SOIL

To Encourage Soil-Building Crops

To put into practice the 1938 farm program, which it is hoped will further stabilize agriculture and raise the farmers' income as well as save wasting soil, there are only three points each individual farmer needs to know about the program on his own farm.

The first is that a single total payment, representing the amount that a farmer can earn, will be calculated at the beginning of the year. He will know just what he has to do to earn this payment. In general, to earn the payment he will need to bring his farming in line with approved good farming methods. The 1938 program will measure this good farming by establishing two "goals" for each farm—and these two goals are the two points each farmer must know.

In the second place, then, he needs to know his farm's total soil-depleting crop goal or the number of acres of soil-depleting crops that may be harvested in 1938. This represents the individual farmer's share of a national goal of soil-depleting crops. The national goal is the acreage that it is calculated will produce an abundance of farm products, but not so large it will bring surpluses and low prices and losses to farmers.

Third, in addition to the soil-depleting crop goal, each farmer will have a soil-building goal established for his farm. This soil-building goal represents a total of soil building and conserving practices to be carried out on the farm.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By O. J. Schuster

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, in his radio address to the people of the United States last Sunday night, said: "During this coming week we are going to strive to get the facts regarding unemployment in this country. We are going to hold the mirror up to ourselves and try to get, not only a true and honest reflection of our present unemployment conditions, but facts which will help us to plan constructively for the future."

IF THAT IS NOT DEMOCRACY in actual practice, what is? Democracy is not a mere name or partly labeled. It is an attitude of mind, a practical procedure based on full faith in the people as a whole. Such genuinely democratic procedure is constantly practiced by the present national administration. This questionnaire on unemployment is but one of many vital problems the President and his cabinet heads have submitted to the people in a nation-wide referendum. Thus the administration again proves that it possesses the spirit of democracy and does not merely wear its label.

IT IS THE AUTOCRAT, not the genuine democrat, who fears facts and resents them; insists that they do not apply to him or his community. He may call himself a democrat and regularly vote the democratic ticket, but he is none the less a dictator by nature, undemocratic in practice. If permitted he would smash the mirror held before him and in which, if he possesses democratic tolerance, he may see the realities regarding himself and his community—the realities regarding local, state, and national governments; the local problems pertaining to business, health, education, public welfare, social life, etc.—and use the facts thus presented "to plan constructively for the future," as the administration does. The autocrat lacks that decent respect for opinions that run counter to his own that alone would entitle his own views to a decent respect.

GENUINE DEMOCRACY is on the march in this country. Its genuine nature is personified by the President and cabinet members. They constantly encourage free, frank, full, open discussion. They are not frightened by adverse criticism. Their faith in the ability of truth to make its own way in the open market cannot be shaken. They do not pretend that the adverse views do not apply to them or the activities in which they are engaged. They welcome all facts, knowing that whether those facts are for or against them they will help them "to plan constructively for the future."

THAT DEMOCRATIC SPIRIT is also manifested by our elected local public servants, the County Board. At least in its action it has always manifested that attitude whenever this writer has appeared before it to offer criticism of existing conditions in the county. The adverse views have not been resented or regarded as personal criticism. The criticism was intended to be a cooperative, helpful effort for the common welfare, and it was so received by the board. That is democracy in actual practice. And only as the same genuinely democratic procedure prevails in dealing with education, with public health, and with all other public interests will a public office be a public trust. Only where such procedure does prevail can there be "government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

THRILLS GALORE IN NEWEST OF GREY PICTURES

A new Zane Grey outdoor romance which lives up to all the high standards set for this type of motion picture entertainment by the Grey stories with Larry Crabb in the key role, came to the Pitts' Theatre on Dec. 1 in "Forlorn River," an action-packed story of the old West.

A highlight of the fast-moving and well-told story is the splendid photography of several thousand head of wild range horses who play an important part in the plot. The horses used for these scenes are the "outlaws" of the Idaho and New Mexico plains who have been running wild for many years and are notoriously camera shy.

"Forlorn River" puts Crabb in his famous role as "Nevada" again, with Syd Saylor as his inseparable saddlemate, the ever hungry "Weary" Pierce. After frustrating a bank hold-up planned by Harvey Stephens and his band, but getting themselves in wrong with the sheriff for it, the two become involved in a plot hatched by Stephens to steal several thousand horses consigned for the army remount service.

Handicapped by suspicion on the part of the range boss and a desire for revenge on the part of Stephens, Crabb and Saylor succeed in smashing the plot and undoing Stephens. A tender romance between June Martel and John Patterson adds to the entertainment of the story.

Walrus-mustachioed Chester Conklin, famous funnyman of the Mack Sennett days and Charlie Chaplin's partner in the latter's early film endeavors, supplies most of the comedy as a sheriff with peculiar notions as to how justice is to be administered.

Letter

On Saturday we were ordered out of our trenches and marched two miles where we rested until Sunday morning when we marched ten miles and a half to meet the enemy again.

The battle commenced before seven in the morning and lasted until late in the evening. Our regiment got upon the field about three in the afternoon at which time the enemy retreated.

We lost out of our regiment some fifty men killed and wounded. They fired upon us very heavily for 15 minutes, I suppose. We marched after them, but not far as their retreat was in such haste and confusion that our cavalry could hardly keep up with them. Such a defeat was never known.

They scattered thousands of dollars worth of blankets, oil cloths, hats, coats and shoes. They actually threw away trunks filled with surgical instruments. Besides these, there were silk dress patterns, bonnets and underskirts found marked to the wives of men in New York as trophies gotten from the Rebels, as they term us. These things were stolen by them from private individuals in Alexandria and Fairfax C. H. How can a young man (dear aunt) help volunteering to fight such a mob of heartless wretches as they? They actually killed the stock, burned houses and destroyed furniture of the people as they advanced.

We whipped them very decently, and they went back to the spot from which it took them six months to march in the short space of six hours. They were seen to pass the streets begging the citizens for private clothing in order to get out of danger, thinking we were after them. They fell in the streets and died of exhaustion.

I had the audacity to think on Sunday, Aunt M., that I was not made to be struck by a bullet. It is, I am fully convinced, the hand of an All Wise Being that prevents the balls from striking me for they whistled around like hail. All history of a battle is mere fiction to the reality. It is no desirable sight to see bodies mutilated by the quantities in every possible manner. An arm in this place, a head here, a leg in another. There were many cut up in this manner. Some of the dead actually laid out of the ground for six days. Hundreds of the finest horses were slaughtered upon the enemies' side. We took 12,000 guns, 71 pieces of cannon, 1000 men and 500 or more horses.

I had no idea that I could stand what I have, but I can now walk over a dead Yankee with as good grace as I could a dog. I hope our country may soon be at peace, but from the present movements of our regiments, I fear not. Some four or five have passed down in the last two days. It is thought that we will advance upon Washington in a short time. How true this is, I am not able to say. You can hear more news than we.

The soldier's life is not a pleasant one by any means, but when one knows the duty he owes to his country, he will make many sacrifices. I shall ever consider the service that I have done the most noble act of my life.

You must excuse this epistle as I am writing very fast.

I will close. Remember me most affectionately to Uncle Albert, Cousin Fountain, and family and all of my relatives and friends.

Your most affectionate Friend and Relative,
C. H. THOMPSON

TOM TYLER GALLOPS TO NEW POPULARITY IN 'RIDIN' ON'

Popular as he has been since his initial appearance as a western screen star, Tom Tyler climbs to new peaks in "Ridin' On" which opens at the Pitts' Theatre on Saturday, Nov. 27.

In story, action, direction and support, the star has remarkable material and the audience indicated its approval in no uncertain burst of applause.

Geraine Greear proves to be a charming leading lady, as daring as she is lovely.

Rex Lease, John Elliott, Earl Dwyer, Charles Whittaker, Robert McKenzie and Roger Williams, share honors for their respective parts.

The Roarke clan and the O'Neill's declare war over what appears to be a crooked play for water rights on the Roarke side.

The story is extraordinarily virile to begin with and the players succeeded in bringing it to vivid life on the screen.

It is safe to say that "Ridin' On" is a picture that will please every member of the family.

The Tuberculosis Tragedy

Two-thirds of all deaths from tuberculosis occur before the age of 45. Nine-tenths of all death from heart disease occur after 45. Nine-tenths from cancer after 45. Nine-tenths from nephritis after 45. Tuberculosis is still the leading cause of death between 15 and 45. Christmas Seals are fighting to prevent this tuberculosis tragedy among our younger generation.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND:
For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind; it hath no stalk: if so be it yield, the strangers shall swallow it up.—Hosea 8:7.

THANKSGIVING—1937

As a nation, and as individuals, we have much to be thankful for today. Our nation is at peace, when much of the world is concerned with wars or rumors of wars. Our resources and opportunities are seemingly expanding, despite temporary setbacks, and the general outlook is most encouraging.

Nationally, balance is returning. The momentum of the national efforts toward recovery carried measures too far in some directions. The momentum could not be arrested before certain barriers were passed which we rely upon to safeguard the system of government which our forefathers designed.

Our three branches of national government are beginning to function independently. The stubborn resistance which has developed in Congress toward measures calculated to destroy self-government among the States indicates that a suitable balance of Federal and State powers is being maintained.

Business is becoming more assertive in its demands for greater freedom from Federal coercion and restriction. National determination to keep out of war is more and more evident, despite movements for boycotts and demands for increased exports of war materials.

All of these, and many other evidences point to continuation of our national trend toward ever increasing happiness and contentment of our citizenry, in all walks of life and for the blessings which we are enjoying, and for the prospect of their continuance and probable increase, we give our heartfelt thanks and devotion to the Author of all blessings, repairing on Thanksgiving Day to our several shrines of worship to give expression to the gratitude which should be in our hearts.

OUR SCHOOL LIBRARY

The exercises at the high school last Friday morning in connection with national Book Week were quite appropriate and much enjoyed by the group in attendance.

The library, which was originally established by Mr. George Round, now has some 3,000 volumes according to Miss Eugenia Osbourn, now in charge of this work.

These books are all carefully selected and represent every line of thought and science. It is really wonderful that so much has been done to provide research matter of such a wide range.

It is worth while for any one to go there during the school hours and observe the care that has been taken to render the reading matter available in the quickest manner possible.

It is the expressed hope of Miss Osbourn and Principal Peters that a larger library be set up for use a night by those who passed the high school age and who desire really good reading matter. Miss Osbourn is laboring faithfully to improve and to render more essential to the public this last piece of work in which she is so much interested. Having been one of the prime factors in the high standards of the present school system in this county, Miss Osbourn deserves public support in her present work.

INDUSTRIAL HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM CLAIMS TWO VICTORIES

Our local boys claimed their first victory by defeating a powerful Dunbar Eleven in Washington on Monday, Nov. 15th.

The boys showed their greatest form ever on Thursday 18th by smothering a highly confident team of Rosenwald High from Warrenton, 24-0, on the former Girdron.

Tucker, the star fullback for Manassas, registered the first touchdown in the first two minutes of the opening quarter, only to score another late in the second quarter by a brilliant run of 78 yards.

After a series of first downs in the third quarter from their 35 to the visitors' 21 yards stripe, Tucker completed a 16 yards pass to Alexandria who scampered the remaining distance and scored standing up.

The visitors took a useless aerial attack early in the fourth and final period, which was abruptly halted when Williams, a Manassas halfback intercepted a pass on his own 20 yard line and raced 80 yards for the fourth touchdown, accompanied by beautiful blocking by his captain, Poles. All four attempted for the extra point failed, but the boys marched off the field satisfied in having avenged a 13-6 loss the preceding week.

The boys, coach by Nicholas B. Thomas, a backfield graduate of Va. State College, and captained by M. T. Poles a leader in ultra-curricular activities, have shown remarkable late season progress, Wells, Gaskins and Henzeley officiated.

NOKESVILLE

On Monday, November 22, Reverend Miller of Nokesville made a very interesting speech to the high school students.

Another main topic was the making of Christmas gifts. Miss Webb, the agent, showed them many useful articles they could make many useful articles they could make to give their parents or brothers and sisters. Mrs. Free read the monthly plan for the year as to what topics would be taken each month. After other smaller discussions the meeting was adjourned.

Miss Ramsey will spend the Thanksgiving holiday in Richmond, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Bittle will spend the Thanksgiving holiday in Richmond, Virginia.

ADVENTURE IS COMING IN THE AMERICAN BOY

Readers who like adventure and the lure of far places will find plenty to please them in coming issues of THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. They'll read, for instance, of seamen and sabotage and San Francisco water-front trouble; of daring adventure in the world of pseudo-science, and of a feud aboard a plunging, rolling battleship.

They'll read, too, of excitement aboard a transport plane blaring over jungled Mexican mountains, and of stranger planes that are not bound to earth but swing through the noiselessness of space. Readers can follow a young ex-Mountie as he searches for clues in the northlands, and Tierny, the pie-eating detective, on the trail of city criminals.

WOMEN HANDLE MILLIONS

What would be your reaction to handling millions of dollars daily while you were earning $1,502 a year or less? Women called "counters," who work for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, do just that, and what they think about their jobs and what their work consists of is told about in a story appearing in the feature section of The Star next Sunday.

Like other Bureau employees they are not bonded, but the system in effect successfully prevents low-salaried employees from succumbing to temptation.

QUIET TALKS ON RELIGION

Dr. James T. Marshall

THE CROSS AS A HABIT

Someone has said, "With Jesus the cross was not an incident, but a habit." We are apt to think of His cross bearing as being limited to the hours He spent on Calvary. In fact there was not a moment in His entire life when He was not carrying His cross and fulfilling His mission as "the Lamb of God who taketh away the sins of the world."

This is implied in the statement of St. Peter that "He carried up our sins His own body to the tree." I Peter 2:24, as given in the American Revision. This render is confirmed by Weymouth in his New Testament in Modern Speech, "The burden of our meringue into each garnish of apple meringue a slice of unpared apple, letting just the surface of the skin appear.

To grate apples the easy way, pare apples but do not core. This makes it possible to hold the apple between the stem and blossom end, grating each side in turn without wasting any of the fruit or cutting the fingers.

Pared apples will not darken if dipped into lemon, orange, grapefruit or pineapple juice. When the flavor of salt is not objectionable to the flavor of the dish in which the apples are to be used, the peeled apples may be kept white by immersing in a solution of salt water, using about 1 tablespoon salt to 1 quart water. This method is frequently employed when apples are peeled for puddings, pies, or other cooked dishes and the preparation of the dish is not completed immediately.

A THANKSGIVING LITANY

In several of the classes in Week Day Religious Education, the children have been writing Thanksgiving litanies. The following litany was written in the Woodbine School by the third and fourth grade children.

O give thanks unto the Lord for He is good; for His mercy endureth forever."

For Your help, Our Heavenly Father, we are most thankful.

For our churches where we learn from the Bible about Thee.

We give Thee thanks.

For our homes that make us happy; For our fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters and grandparents who love us;

For nurses and doctors who help to keep us well;

We give Thee thanks.

For food to eat, which makes us grow; For pretty flowers and gardens where they grow;

For sunshine, for rain, and the rainbow of many colors after the rain;

For birds that sing and help to keep insects from harming our gardens;

We give Thee thanks.

For trees and the things they give us, maple syrup, rubber, paper, lumber, and shade;

For trees that break the wind and keep floods away;

For our helpful wild friends of the woods;

For fresh air to keep us strong;

We give Thee thanks.

For schools where we learn many things;

For teachers who teach us how to work;

For pictures, books, and stories which bring joy to all;

For toys and a time to play;

We give thanks.

"Father, we thank Thee,

Father, we thank Thee,

Father in heaven we thank Thee."

remainder of his days in ease and luxury. Livingstone could not be untrue to his habit of cross bearing, and he remained in Africa and died among the people to whom he consecrated his life.

Christianity needs no argument beyond one such life, a life fashioned after Him of whom it is written, "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give His life a ransom for many."

Roslyn's Old Mill Wheel Still Grinds After 236 Years

Priceless American Relic Stands with Few Changes Save for New Roof

By MARION CUNNINGHAM

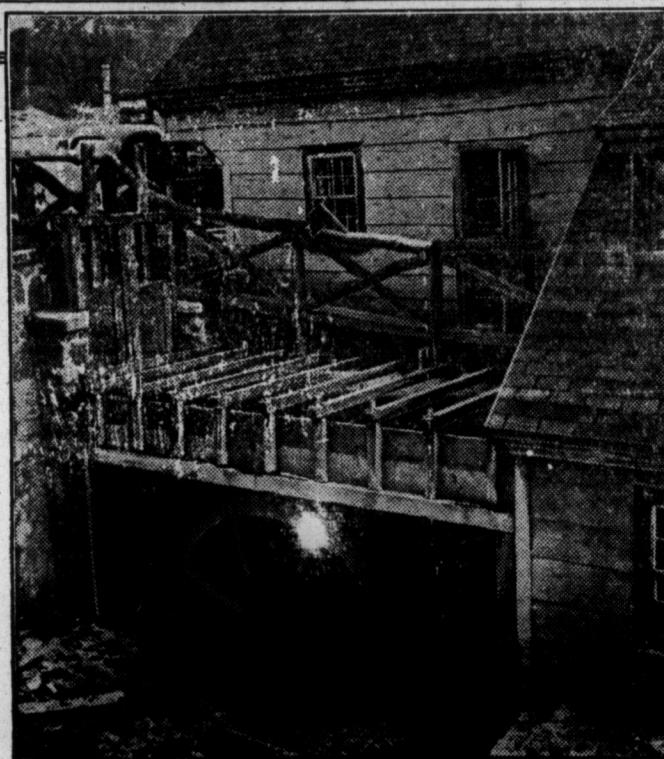

IT'S water over the dam, all right, it's out in Roslyn, Long Island, and has been since 1701.

Ceaselessly for more than two centuries the old mill wheel has been revolving, marking with every turn the slow passage from pioneer simplicity to a modern America.

Long before George Washington saw the light of a Virginia dawn, tall-masted schooners were tying up at the landing in the little inlet of Hempstead Harbor to unload their burdens of Connecticut corn. With the nineteenth century steamers clogged into the dock to feed grain to the hopper. By 1916 even the mill wheel that still turns conceded to progress by giving its power to generate electricity.

It was in 1701 that Doane Robinson built the old grist mill, and until 1916 it operated continuously for business. In that year the last private owner, Isaac Hicks, gave it to the town of Roslyn to be restored and cherished as a "Museum of Industrial Arts."

America's three great wars are represented by a frayed British red coat, a drum carried by a little English boy whom the soldiers of the Civil War called "Johnny Bull," and the gas masks and bayonets of the World War. There are symbols of peace too, of life continuing in spite of war—a yellowing marriage certificate, a baby's christening dress, a colonial wheat cradle, even a hand-made tooth extractor among countless other objects.

Such mementoes of early American history, it was decided years ago, were too valuable to be risked under a roof which might be prey to sparks from a chimney or a nearby burning building.

When in 1916 the mill became public property, Harold Godwin, a grandson of William Cullen Bryant, was appointed trustee in charge of the restoration and donated an old Dutch door from his grandfather's study for the entrance. It was he too who asked Miss Alice Titus to come there and serve tea for the visitors.

It was about that time that a modern roof was constructed to protect the fine old building. In color, the mineral-surfaced asphalt shingles were planned to harmonize admirably with the mellow surroundings, while sheltering against possibility of roof fires the priceless objects of Americana beneath. It is a concession to modernity which, while adding beauty and safety, sacrifices nothing in atmosphere.

NAUGHTY MARIETTA" FILLED WITH SPECTACLE AND COLOR

Drama, romance, thrills, and the gorgeous music of Victor Herbert's greatest operetta are blended in "Naughty Marietta," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular romance of Creole girls in New Orleans, which brings to the screen Jeanette MacDonald, glamorous heroine of "The Merry Widow," and Nelson Eddy, eminent American operatic baritone.

Directed by W. S. Van Dyke, of "Thin Man" fame, it tells a graphic story of the settlement of New Orleans by the French in the days of Louis XV and of the love of a disguised French princess, seeking escape from a marriage of state, and an English officer.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm. The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed, and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is obliged to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, nor has it any hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. As Glorifying The American Dairy Maid!

COUNT ALEXIS DE SAKNOFF-SKY, whose designing genius has heretofore been directed toward glorifying the American automobile, business office, and industrial life in general, now turns his artist's hand to exalting the American dairy maid.

Under his skilled fingers, the design for a coronation Dairy Maid gown, symbolizing the dairy maid costume of all ages and people, has been created. Turning back to the historic and picturesque in dairy maid costumes for his inspiration, this modern industrial designer has achieved a creation fit for the Queen of Dairyland. And it's for Wisconsin's dairy queen, Alice Baker, who will don her dairy coronation gown to preside over festivities of National Cheese Week, November 7 to 14.

Instead of the homespun woolen, linen and velvet which make up the traditional dairy maid costume, the glorified dairy coronation gown will be fashioned of cheese-yellow tulle, embellished with sequins in the design of the American cartwheel cheese. A girdle of brightest gold sequins will replace the conventional velvet bodice. Gold slippers will take the place of wooden shoes. The glorified dairy maid crown will be a cap of tulle with a rolling brim encrusted with sequins.

TRAINS ARE GOOD CITIZENS

Ask your Mayor
● As a taxpayer, Chesapeake and Ohio considers itself a "stockholder" in your community. It follows, naturally, this railroad is ever civic-minded—as are its employees. The Railroad With a Heart and members of its family also have a genuine interest in local affairs—and take pride in being good citizens... ask your mayor.

This attitude toward civic responsibilities on the part of Chesapeake and Ohio is the same at all points along its line. For this railroad realizes that its future growth is linked with the communities it serves. Here, as everywhere, it is "the road that service built."
