PROGRESS OF LEGISLATION

Important Bills Still in Committees

Much of the major legislation expected by the present session of the General Assembly is awaiting final committee recommendation, but developments at Richmond during the past week include a number of outstanding legislative events.

One of the most publicized legislative matters voiced in the past few days is the address of Governor Price recommending legislation to consolidate School Boards and Boards of Supervisors. The Governor asserted in an address to the League of Virginia Counties this week that such a consolidation would bring management of civic affairs closer to the people. The Governor also stated in this address that he was opposed to any diversion of road funds. He urged improvement of State hospital facilities.

Referring to the Federal legislation passed this week in Washington affecting agriculture, Governor Price stated that he did not "understand fully some of the complications of the Federal program". He received considerable applause on this statement, as nobody except agricultural experts seem to understand the workings of the new law.

There is a growing belief this week that the Jail Reform Bill will shortly become law, with certain modifications affecting probation and parole. The proposal to establish regional work farms in place of local lock-ups has met little opposition.

The Weaver Resolution to set up a Commission to study the Primary and Secondary road system of Virginia has been approved by the Senate Finance Committee.

All bills directed toward changes in existing election laws have been killed. These include consolidation of school boards with Supervisors, a proposal to prohibit solicitation of funds for charitable enterprises from candidates for public office and the various proposals to change the voting hours.

A bill has been introduced by Delegate Bandy to close motion pictures and all other theatres on Sunday. The sponsor of the bill stated, however, that he had little hope of it being passed.

Possibly the outstanding legislative event of the week has been the action of the Senate Committee on Education in recommending the Muse resolution keeping the Haag-Waddell alcohol report out of the hands of the school children of Virginia. This book had been widely condemned throughout the State as teaching moderate use of liquor as unwholesome, and was being vigorously fought by the W. C. T. U. The Committee members stated that no member of the General Assembly the public schools.

The proposal to supply free text books received a set back this week when it was tabled for two weeks by the House Schools and Colleges Committee, to permit action by the General Assembly on the proposal to increase the minimum average salary of teachers.

The opposition of the City of Richmond to transfer to the State the so-called Ford Lot, on which a million dollar State Library is to be built, was overcome, with sufficient strength, is believed to override the veto of Mayor Bright.

The Senate approved the House bill authorizing Bank loans, payable in installments, with interest deductible in advance, and sent the measure to the Governor. The bill is said to place all State banks on the level with small loan companies and the Morris Plan Banks.

The bill to limit activities of the Virginia State Milk Commission was overwhelmingly overcome by the 18-to-1 vote of Agricultural Committee of the House of Delegates in Richmond late Monday afternoon.

Dairymen from throughout the State rallied to the defense of the Milk Commission and lengthy testimony was submitted by the opposition which for the most part was from Alexandria and Arlington County. It was shown that the Commission had acted in the interest of consumers as well as producers and was generally regarded with favor by the producers, consumers and distributors of the State.

A petition from a large number of Prince William County citizens in opposition to the bill which would have crippled the State Milk Commission to the extent that it could

GEORGE DAVIS DUTY SELECMAN

On Feb. 16th, 1938, at Alexandria Hospital, Mr. George Davis Duty Selecman entered into Eternal Rest.

The deceased was a son of the late Albert A. and Mary Ann Duty Selecman. He was born at Occoquan, Va., September 14, 1857. He attended the schools of his town from his sixth to his 15th year. He like his father was particularly fond of reading works of history. Unlike any other member of his family he possessed an irresistible taste for travel.

Upon leaving school he found employment in his paternal uncle's store which he left within a short time to be with his mother's brother, Capt. Henry F. Duty as his freight clerk, on one of the latter's boats. At seventeen he began "Seeking the World", visiting all of the Eastern parts of Canada. Visiting Quebec, Montreal and St. Lawrence River points. At twenty he was aboard the Flag Ship Hartford, cruising in the South Atlantic Waters, visiting points on the West Coast of Africa, the Canary and Madeira Islands and spending two years in Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina. He returned home in his 23d year.

In 1880 he entered the U. S. Geodetic and Coast Survey taking in the Atlantic Sea Board from New Foundland to Florida. He held another clerical position aboard the U. S. S. "Yantic" cruising in West India Waters. He next left the Sea faring life and filled positions in the large cities of the West, including Chicago, Denver and San Francisco. After shore life of seven years he went to sea again, sailing from San Francisco to Alaska, Hawaiian, Central American and other points.

In 1893 he returned from California to Chicago and was employed as clerk and Quarter master on steamers plying lake Michigan. In 1894, after an absence of 12 years he returned to Virginia. After teaching an advanced private class of young ladies he engaged in the Railway Mail Service, advancing from class 1 to class 4. He later went to St. Louis, Mo., where he engaged in Railway office work.

Mr. Selecman had a most distinguished appearance. He appeared many years younger than his age and of a most erect carriage. He was of an impulsive temperament, generous, loving loyal and full of energy. He was exceedingly humorous, tender, loving, loyal and true to his family and friends to the end. He was a member of The Sons of the American Revolution, Chapter of Minute Men. A member of The Society of Oldest Inhabitants of Washington, D. C. He lived, under many trying circumstances a truly sincere Christian life. He was a good man without guile. He was widely known for his untarnished character. His was unswerving integrity.

Mr. Selecman filled a business position in Washington, D. C., for 18 years.

After the close of the World War he went to Europe and translated and interpreted for the American Legion. He was highly educated and was rated as one of the best linguists and mathematicians in Washington and an undisputed authority on ancient and modern history. He transfluently.

The deceased was named George Davis Duty for three of his ancestors, one on the paternal side of his family and two on his maternal side. His paternal ancestors established Occoquan about the year 1732 and have lived there ever since. On his maternal side he was a lineal descendant of a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Of the Duty family, who sailed in the Mayflower and landed on Plymouth Rock and who fought at Bunker Hill. Of Asa Davis, who marched to Lexington and served throughout the Revolutionary War until the Surrender at Saratoga, and afterward served eight consecutive terms in the general council of his State.

He was paymaster of Continental troops. His family home is still standing at Bush Hill, Hudson, N. H., owned and occupied by relatives.

He was a descendant of James Freeman, born in England in 1682 and came to Haverhill, Mass., in 1640. He was a descendant of Haverhill, Mass., to whom the State of Massachusetts erected a monument for bravery. Among his ancestors were the first law-makers of Virginia, who were the first settlers of historic old Dumfries.

HOSIERY MILL IN PROSPECT

Philadelphia Concern May Locate in Manassas

Serious negotiations have been in progress for several weeks with individuals in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, having for their purpose the re-location in this vicinity of a full-fashioned silk hosiery enterprise, which it is calculated will employ one hundred or more persons. It is estimated that after the hosiery mill would be completely set up here, and after a necessary period of training new help and making adjustments generally, the payroll will amount to as much as $90,000.00 annually.

There is a good prospect of success in inducing these people to set up in his community, and it will be necessary for the local people to make an investment for the purposes of erecting the necessary building, advance money for moving machinery and supply a fund for working capital during a period of readjustment. It is estimated that $25,000.00 will be adequate for these purposes.

At a meeting in the Town Hall Wednesday night, February 16, of a group of local business men, this proposal was thoroughly discussed, the consensus of the meeting appearing to be that if these Philadelphia people can definitely satisfy the people of this community that money advances would not be by way of contribution, but would be absolutely safe and sound investments, from which the money could be liquidated in case of failure of the new enterprise, the necessary amount of money could be raised by the people of this community on a bond issue secured not only on such new building as might be erected, but also on the valuable machinery which the new enterprise proposes moving into the new building.

The Wednesday night meeting culminated in the adoption of a resolution authorizing Stanley A. Owens, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to secure the services of a disinterested person of recognized experience and ability in evaluating and appraising delicate textile, full-fashioned hosiery machine, who would go to Philadelphia, thoroughly inspect the machinery proposed to be moved into the new building and report back to a mass meeting of Prince William County citizens.

"EXPRESS YOURSELF" WELL DONE

By Occoquan High School Seniors

The best high school play I've ever seen, "Perfectly Cast", "Not a Dull Minute!"—such comments have been heard since Friday evening, February 11th, when the seniors of Occoquan High School presented "Express Yourself". Despite very unfavorable weather conditions, the auditorium was filled with an enthusiastic audience.

"Express Yourself", Jay Tobias' latest play, was a comedy full of humorous and dramatic situations which gave every character a chance for the spotlight. One might say it was a play without a star for the cast of twelve was so well balanced that Carlton Post, as stage and property manager with Billy Marshall, assisting, deserves especial praise for his work.

Each player created a distinct place in the hearts of the listeners. Much could be said complimenting the natural, well-poised manner in which each character moved through the performance. Everyone suited perfectly the role he portrayed proving that a great deal of work had been put on the characterization. The cast was as follows:

David Dexter, the master of his family, Warren McIner; Elinor, his long suffering wife, Elzora Allen; Donna, his daughter with musical ambitions, Cecelia Markle; Phyllis, his daughter with domestic ambitions, Norma Alexander; Nick, his son with political ambitions, Ambrose Petellet; Stephen Dexter, David's brother, a successful artist, Lafoe English; Jerome Travers, David's choice of a son-in-law, Frederick Liming; Stuart Craig, Donna's choice of a son-in-law, Robert Hendrick; Smudge Townsend, Phyllis' choice of a son-in-law, Bill Hensley; Celeste O'Ryan, Nick's choice of a life partner, Cynthia Lacey; Theora, an independent maid of color, Eleanor Austin; Pinky, a tool of a political boss, Billy Marshall.

HORSE HUNT TOUGH JOB FOR "HAPPY"

Hopalong Cassidy finds the toughest job of his life and a great yarn in "Texas Trail," the new Cassidy picture which opens on Wednesday, February 23, at the Pitts' Theatre. With smoking guns, thundering hooves of a huge herd of wild horses, and one of the best pitched battles of the entire Hopalong Cassidy series, "Texas Trail" tells the story of a horse roundup during the Spanish-American War.

The story begins when the major of an Army post in Texas receives orders to round up 500 wild horses to be used as remounts for the men in Cuba. Unable to find or collect the steeds himself, he sends for Cassidy, turning the mission over to him.

Hopalong finds the horses and drives them into a blind canyon in preparation for the trip back to the post. The first night after the roundup he and his friends are attacked while sleeping by a gang of rustlers. Bound and disarmed, their plight seems hopeless until Billy King, roaming the range in search of his lad reaches Cassidy and supplies him with two guns; and also helps to untie the group with him.

Cassidy shoots the way out of the canyon for himself and his whole band with only the two guns supplied by Billy, overcomes the rustlers and delivers his horses to the Army. In reward for his service, the Army enlists him and his troop of volunteers for service in Cuba, and the film ends with departure from the range, war bound.

VIENNESE STAR TO BE HEARD SUNDAY

Viennese music will hold away at the next concert of the National Symphony Orchestra's Sunday series to be presented under the baton of Dr. Hans Kindler in Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C., Sunday afternoon, February 20, at 4 o'clock. Ania Dorfman, talented young Russian pianist, will be soloist in this program. She will play Beethoven's C Major Concerto (the first) for piano and orchestra.

Dr. Kindler has arranged a program of wide appeal. Among the compositions to be heard will be the famous "Donner and Blitzen" and "Emperor" Waltzes of Johann Strauss, Waldteufel's infectious "Skaters' Waltz," works by Lanner and other men whose music bears the indefinable and irresistible charm of Old Vienna.

Mme. Dorfmann, who be soloist, is making her Washington debut at this concert. Now on her second American tour, Mme. Dorfmann was born in Odessa and received most of her training under Isidor Philipp at the Paris Conservatoire. She has appeared with leading European orchestras under Sir Thomas Beecham, Sir Henry Wood, Valdimir Golschmann, Willem Mengelberg, Forandez Arbos, Gabriel Pierne and Issay Dobrowen.

The next Concert in the Sunday series will be on March 6 when a program of operatic excerpts is presented with vocal soloists. On March 8 and 9 Col. W. deBasil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will appear with the National Symphony in two different performances presenting a collaboration of the famous dance organization and the entire symphony orchestra.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 20.

The Golden Text will be "O Lord, how great are thy works and thy thoughts are very deep" (Psalms 92:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?" (Rom. 11:33, 34).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience,—that is, all power, all presence, all Science" (p. 275).

ACTIVITIES NOKESVILLE HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Nokesville Home Demonstration Club met on Wednesday, February 9 at the home of Mrs. John Harpine with 36 members and two visitors present.

During the business period conducted by the president, Mrs. Lutner Bowman, some matters of interest to the community and school were discussed. A committee from the F. F. A. appeared to inquire whether the Club would be interested in serving its Father and Son banquet the last of this month. The Club agreed to serve the banquet with the material to be furnished by the boys, provided this is agreeable to the F. F. A.

The program was in charge of Miss Bertha Herring. During this part of the meeting Mrs. Harry Miller played a piano solo and Mrs. T. N. Broyles gave a word picture of her summer work among the peoples of southern Georgia.

The Demonstration was given by Miss Webb, the County Home Demonstration Agent. It was a series of interesting games intended to make easier and more effective our home management schedule. Names were drawn for the Mystery Pail remembrances of the year.

Finally, appropriate refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Harpine and Mrs. Robert Nelson. And each guest received interesting Valentines and favors with which to remember the February meeting.

Bronchial Coughs
Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed, and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, as it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Ad.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a precious heritage to them in later years.

A froward man soweth strife; and a whisperer separateth chief friends.—Prov. 16:28.

HELP THE FIREMEN!

On the evening of Friday, February 25, the Manassas Volunteer Firemen will hold a benefit ball at the Manassas High School Gymnasium. They have no adequate public fund upon which they can depend for maintenance of their expensive equipment, and their services are entirely voluntary.

We have one of the best-volunteer fire departments of any town of our size in the United States—a fact testified by the multitude of silver cups which they have won in various competitions. Their true worth, however, is found in the speed and efficiency with which they respond to the cry of "fire" and in their generosity in making runs all over the county. Wherever the presence of a water supply justifies the attempt, they always respond.

On such occasions as this benefit ball, Manassas and the surrounding areas have an opportunity of showing gratitude for past services and for present protection, and it is hoped that all who can will patronize this event; attending if possible, but in any event purchasing tickets.

A WORD TO DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBER

The response to our plea for prompt payment in any arrearage on the part of our subscribers has been quickly and generously received.

It is our wish not to discontinue anyone who wants to remain in our newspaper family but we can not keep on sending the paper to anyone indefinitely without reasonable response.

During our eight years as publishers of the Journal, it has been our great pleasure to find that the percentage of those who deliberately let a subscription get in arrears with the fixed intention of acting dishonorably is exceedingly small.

Please do not come into the office and say you have never received a bill. Read your label and help us by sending in what you yourself know to be due at this time.

YOUR FLOWER GARDEN

The nicest pastime that I know Just now, for a gardener's needs Is to sit in a chair by the window With the new spring catalog of seeds. And now is the time to order a few packets of the new snapdragons, petunias, carnations and other varieties of Dianthus and summer phlox and plant them in boxes to set in the tulip beds after they finish blooming. They will cover the drying tulip foliage, and begin blooming soon after the tulips are gone.

Do your houseplants begin to look a little "out of sorts" and you see very little growth or bloom? They need food, and inexpensive boxes of odorless tablets can be purchased at your favorite seed or dime store. Follow directions and you will soon be amply repaid for your trouble.

It isn't too late to feed your peonies and other perennials. Try a mixture of 2 parts bone meal to 1 part wood ashes. If this can be sprinkled around the plants on top of snow, it is ideal as the melting snow will cause the food to soak down to the "feeder" roots.

If the unusually mild weather has caused your bulbs to come up ahead of time, try putting a shovel of well rotted wood dirt over them. This will retard growth and act as a plant food later.

Send me your questions.

Brush Up . . . And Pep Up!

By Gloria Lane

THAT bugaboo "winter sluggishness" will get you if you don't watch out! Full of kinks and a lazy, stagnating circulation, you'll begin to feel old, weary and grumpy. This is hardly the formula for beauty, any beautician will tell you. What you need is exercise to stimulate the circulation and keep you physically fit.

Today, beauty is thought of in terms of health and physical well-being. Why not then combine a health and beauty program, when there's no going out and exercising under the sun? Limber the body for grace and suppleness, while grooming with your toilet brushes. So line up your hair brush, long handled bath brush and complexion brush!

If your brushes are old and worn out, by all means invest in some of the new improved ones that are specially designed by a well-known New England firm to meet the needs of our modern age. There's a unique hair brush with wave-like bristles, that's just the thing for your hair exercises. For your bath, get one of those long handled bath brushes with a removable handle that's shaped to fit the curve of your back; and for your complexion, an egg-shaped complexion brush tapered to get in the crevices around the nose.

Now for the exercises. Remember that in addition to grooming your body, you're trying to limber up and increase the circulation of the body to restore energy. With the hair brush grasped in your right hand, bend forward from the waist with arms outstretched. In this position, brush the hair with the right hand working from the edge of the hairline up and out to the very tip ends of the hair. Do this twenty-five times and then straighten up. Breathe deeply, transfer the brush to the left hand and repeat. Again assuming an upright position, brush the right side of the head, then the left, twenty-five strokes on each side. The wave-like bristles penetrate right through to the scalp, stimulating and exercising the scalp muscles, as well as cleansing and polishing the hair strands till they gleam with glorious lustre. The bending position is excellent for the faulty circulation since it causes an onrush of blood to the head. By this simple expedient you're exercising arm, shoulder, abdomen and leg muscles.

When exercising your facial muscles, dip your complexion brush in a bowl of warm soapy suds and using a clockwise motion, massage the skin gently. Using the smaller end of the egg-shaped complexion brush, give particular attention to the crevices where you're most likely to have blackheads. The friction of the bristles stimulates the blood stream and increases the activity of lazy facial glands, helping them to throw off pore waste and debris. Brushing brings a youthful radiance to the complexion.

Now, get into a warm tub prepared for your body limbering exercises. Sit erect with feet outstretched. Having detached the handle of the brush, bend forward and without bending the knees, scrub the toes and feet. Use the right hand for left foot and vice versa. Stretch hard, and you'll feel the pull in thighs, arms, shoulders and back.

Put the handle back on the brush. Then with the legs crossed Hindu fashion and the brush in your right hand, scrub downward over the left shoulder as far as you can reach. Repeat with your left hand. This limbers up under-arm muscles.

Now bring the knees up against the chest, with the feet flat on the bottom of the tub. Circle the legs with the left arm to keep them in position and with the right hand scrub up and down the back to arouse the circulation and relieve nervous tension. Repeat with the left hand.

Complete cleansing the body without exercising and finishing with a cold shower. Do your exercises with brushes in the morning . . . it's sure to send you on your daily round feeling ever so alert. And isn't it a comfort to know you are perfectly groomed from head to toe?

Fire Prevention Pays

AN EPISODE OF 1870

—OCCOQUAN, VA.

(Editor's note—This is a contribution from Mr. Duty Sealeman received only a few weeks ago. We print it with pleasure.)

Despite the fact that this little town among the hills of old Prince William, while giving birth to not a few capable men, she has never, to the present time, produced a doctor or a lawyer. It is of the latter I wish to write. There are, or there always have been in small towns, men who know more about law than our famed John Marshall, though no law school claims them.

In 1870 the big fisheries of the Potomac were the leading industry of the place. Seines, extending from the Virginia side to the Maryland side of the Potomac, 1 1/2 miles in length, could be met with 20 miles below Washington to 60 miles down the river. The fishing season began March 15 and ended 15 May. Many men were necessary to operate those vast seines, and those men were exceedingly tough.

Two men who had been employed were paid off at Freestone Point, 7 miles distant. Both men got gloriously drunk and started to walk to Occoquan. A few miles below the village sleep overcame them so they lay down in the woods. Upon awaking one missed his money. He accused his comrade of being the thief. My uncle, Thomas Lloyd Sealeman was magistrate of the village and it was before him the case was tried.

Desiring to hear the case when both men sobered up, he remanded them to the lock-up until the following day. This house of detention was 10 x 12 built of logs by Billie Maddux, at a cost of $80, and years after its construction was lifted from its former lot by a party of negroes, drunk and hilarious, and has never been replaced to this day. One of the Emperors, the French call soi-ditants, self claimed, had access to the prisoners. He said to one named Webster, "You did not get justice, demand your rights, the trouble with you is that you are timid". So the following day they were before my uncle again. Taking the advice of this self acclaimed lawyer, Webster was emboldened to the extent of insolence. My uncle dismissed one of the pair, but sent

SONJA HENIE, TYRONE POWER TEAMED IN GAY NEW HIT

Dazzling in its undreamed-of crystal-tipped spectacle, snowdrenched with shimmering Alpine beauty, exhilarating in its fresh, gay out-of-doors romance that will fill your eyes with delight and open them wide with wonder, "Thin Ice," Twentieth Century-Fox gay and magnificent musical starring Sonja Henie, more radiantly exciting than ever before, and Tyrone Power, handsome young screen star who soared to fame in "Lloyds of London," opens February 21 and 22 at the Pitts' Theatre.

A star in her first picture, Miss Henie tops "One in a Million" with new miracles of grace never before revealed, as she skates and skis along the silvery Alpine slopes, with Tyrone Power and romance following close behind. Arthur Treacher, Raytenced Webster to 60 days in Brentsville Jail, for contempt of Court.

He was placed in the little log lock-up awaiting transportation to Brentsville. While he was looking through the bars the soi-ditant lawyer passed by. "Well, I did," said the prisoner, "as you directed me to do, and see where I am. They are going to jail for 60 days. What shall I do now?"

mond Walburn, and Joan Davis are featured in the notable supporting cast, which also includes Sig Rumann, Alan Hale, Leah Ray, Melville Cooper, Maurice Cass, and George Givot.

The story is swiftly paced, exhilaratingly exciting, and hilariously funny. It gets off to a fast start when Tyrone, a Prince who has come to an Alpine winter resort to escape the bickerings of two agents (Alan Hale and Maurice Cass) over a neutrality pact, accidentally meets Miss Henie while skating, and introduces himself to her as a newspaper reporter.

A case of mistaken identity sends rumors about the village that Sonja is being favored by the Prince. The two agents, hearing the rumors, attempt to win her to their side in order to get closer to Tyrone. When she refuses, they dangle huge offers before her worthless uncle (Raymond Walburn), who is unable to refuse.

Although Sonja is still unmindful of the rumors she continues to meet Tyrone. At the same time, the agents discover trickery on the part of Walburn, and through sympathy for each, become friends. This makes the situation more complicated than ever, until the ideal solution to the entire affair is found to be what all concerned had hoped for—the marriage of Sonja and Tyrone.

"NAVY BLUE AND GOLD" NEW PITTS' ATTRACTION

As American gridiron heroes figure in the headlines, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presents a football story of Annapolis titled "Navy Blue and Gold", from the novel by George Bruce, which comes to the Pitts' Theatre on February 24 and 25.

Initial scenes were filmed on a regulation gridiron built to duplicate the field at the United States Naval Academy. Later, a camera and technical crew went to Annapolis to film actual scenes of the regiment in action.

The story described the dramatic rise of a common seaman from a battleship to high honors at Annapolis. The role is played by Stewart, with Young appearing as a sardonic youth who cares little for Navy life. They both love the sister of a fellow midshipman played by Florence Rice and Tom Brown, respectively. Barrymore is the veteran coach who influences the Navy team to win in a bitter gridiron battle against Army.

Due to an error in the record of his father's navy service, the man portrayed by Stewart, faces disgrace at the Academy. Pending a hearing he is forced out of the football squad but eventually he clears his father's name and appears in the line-up.

Salute to George Washington

FATHER OF AMERICAN TRANSPORTATION

A CONTINENT controlled by one people in the interest of their common destiny... in those terms the prophetic mind of George Washington foresaw the future America. But the odds against that future were tremendous. Indeed, had it not been for him, we might today have two or more nations within our present boundaries! Political union, he knew, was impossible without commercial union. Rising swiftly in the west was a new empire—with no life-line to the Atlantic. How could that great new land be welded to the eastern confederation which was itself "a rope of sand"? George Washington knew the only answer. Transportation and a system of better canals and better turnpikes east and west—serving and unifying America. Through his vision and determination was realized the beginning of this route to the west—the James River Company, founded by him in 1785... The Chesapeake and Ohio Lines of today are proud to be direct descendants of that James River Company of which George Washington was the first president. We wish he could have lived to see the coming of that power which forged his "rope of sand" into chains of steel—the railroads! As part of the Transportation he dreamed of for America, Chesapeake and Ohio pledges to carry on in the spirit of service exemplified for all by George Washington.
