MUSIC FESTIVAL WELL PORTRAYED

HAYMARKET STARS AT ATHLETIC PROGRAM IN AFTERNOON

All Schools Take Realistic Parts

Amid the green fields of Annaberg and the bluest of blue skies, with only a light breeze to fan the gay youngsters who assembled from all parts of Prince William County, the 1938 Music Festival was held last Friday morning on the historic grounds of that old estate.

With Mr. D. P. Weimer, of Washington, D. C., directing assisted by members of the various faculties, the several groups gave their numbers in a very sweet and realistic fashion.

There were present the Scottish lassies in their plaids, the Spanish donnas in the glittering mantillas, the fresh open faced colleens from the greens of Erin draped in their native colors and many others, all suitably clad in their national garb. Fortunately there were no prizes given as it would have been indeed difficult to choose the winner.

A large audience was present to enjoy the entertainment and to applaud the performers, this being the first affair of its kind held in the county. It is to be hoped that similar affairs will be held in the future, the success of the present undertaking having been established.

CLUB PRESIDENT NAMES AIDES

Miss Osbourn Speaker at Recent Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Club held at the Prince William Hotel Wednesday afternoon, Miss Eugenia Osbourn spoke on "The Quest of Good Reading." In beginning Miss Osbourn urged all members to read Dorothy Canfield Fisher's book "Why Stop Learning," suggesting that even though we are adults, we should take advantage of the many agencies for increasing our knowledge in an orderly way. Adult education is now being carried on in a vast field, thru Women's Clubs, Correspondence Schools, Libraries and Chataqua Schools and many other media. There are rich suggestions for a planned reading to be obtained from many sources and Miss Osbourn pointed out outlines which may be secured from National Federation Headquarters of Women's Clubs and The Enoch Pratt Library in Baltimore. Selections may be made not only along the line of contemporary fiction but if a definite plan is followed, choice may be made from a list of outstanding fiction of the preceding century, recent European fiction of various countries, biographies, are, and music. Miss Osbourn said that a wealth of knowledge may be gleaned from reading the Sunday issue of the New York Times Magazine and Book Review which latter contains reviews of every book that is worth anything at all. Our local library contains many books along any line of reading, we might select and Miss Osbourn offered to personally help and advise us in selecting reading along any particular line. Reading in any certain field will yield us greater pleasure than reading at random.

Mrs. C. Wade-Dalton, the newly installed President announced the following committees for the year:

Junior Sponsor: To be elected by the Junior Woman's Club.

Chaplain: Mrs. R. M. Graham.

Parliamentarian: Mrs. W. L. Lloyd.

Librarian: Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson.

(See PRESIDENT, page 8.)

It was announced that the Chapter's quota to the Jefferson Davis monument to be erected in Montgomery, Alabama, had been paid in full. The name of Mrs. Connie Kinchloe was presented for membership. A Confederate Flag had been taken to the grave of Mr. George Weedon, an old Confederate soldier, who recently ended his earthly pilgrimage at the age of ninety eight. Mrs. Weedon read a letter from Hon. Frank P. Moncre, accepting the invitation to be the principal speaker on June the third. The food sale recently held at Dr. Dowell's Drug store was reported a success.

STAFFORD TO HAVE A SPECIAL CACHET

Stafford, Va., has a special cachet to be applied on covers sent to the post office there for mailing during National Air Mail week, May 15-21.

Covers should be sent with proper directions for as to date of mailing and accompanied by sufficient money to cover postage.

Covers sent from the historic Court House probably will have a greater value in the future than those mailed from larger cities, as they will be fewer in number, according to an official of the committee making arrangements for the celebration of the week in Stafford.

MANASSAS BEATS HERNDON 10-5

Last Friday the Manassas High School baseball team travelled to Herndon and came back with a sweet victory. The Boys, still smarting from the eleven innings loss to Herndon, were bent on victory.

Worley pitched a very fine game allowing four scratch hits, only one of which were hit to the outfield for a double.

The Manassas boys hit the ball freely. The leading batters were Payne and Vetter getting three safe hits.

O. D. Waters took the whole works except possibly matters relating to medicine and religion, with Jim Bradford acting as official scorer. Worth made a fine score, with Frank Sigman right behind him. Both got hardware prizes of merit and practical use.

WREATHS PLACED WHERE BEE AND BARTOW FELL

Confederate Flag Accepted for Park Service by Branch Spaulding

An important event took place on May 9th, 1938, at the historic Henry House Farm when a flag raising and memorial service was held under the auspices of the Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of Confederacy, directed by the president, Mrs. Robert LeRoy Byrd and her committee, Mrs. Lewis J. Carper and Mrs. E. B. Giddings.

The program opened by reading of the U. D. C. ritual, led by Rev. A. S. Gibson, Past Chaplain of Ewell Camp, U. C. B., followed by singing of the first verse of "How Firm a Foundation." A large Texas flag was then unfurled by Miss Isabelle Hutchison and in the name of the Barnard E. Bee Chapter of San Antonio, Texas, was planted on the spot where General Bee fell. As the flag of the Lone Star State rippled to the breeze, Miss Hutchison in a few well chosen remarks, impassively spoken, paid tribute to Bee. These exercises were concluded with the last verse of Lee's favorite hymn and prayer by Mr. Gibson.

Master Bo Williams, the handsome young son of Mrs. Daisy Brown Williams and a collateral descendant of Gen. A. P. Hill, assisted Miss Hutchison in a the flag ceremony. With Town Manager Cocke as master of ceremonies, honors were bestowed to the memory of General Bartow. Miss Elizabeth Davies, great-granddaughter of Major William Willis Thornton of the Prince William Cavalry, C.S.A., president of the Manassas Chapter, Children of Confederacy and a charter member, placed a spray of cut flowers at the foot of the monument recently erected by the Georgia Division U.D.C. to the memory of Gen. Francis S. Bartow who fell at Manassas. Miss Davies, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs and Mr. Wallace Johnson of the Battlefield Park Association assisted Mrs. Frank Dennis, of Georgia their president of the Division, in the historical research and proper location of the monument.

The crowd then assembled on the velvety green lawn of the Henry House over looking the magnificent mountain view of the Blue Ridge, where, beneath sunny skies, the voices in concert sang "Dixie" and the battle flag of the Confederacy was raised by Bobbie Byrd, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Byrd, great-grandson of Robert James Byrd of the Confederate Army and a Charter member of the Manassas Chapter, Children of Confederacy.

Mr. Branch Spaulding in accepting the flag for the National Park Service, paid a glowing tribute to the Southern Army and spoke with deep feeling of the noble heritage left to succeeding generations.

Mrs. Robert A. Hutchison led the salute to the flag and the program was concluded by a most inspiring and beautiful talk by Rev. R. M. Graham of the Manassas Baptist Church.

Mr. A. J. Powell, care taker at the Henry House was most helpful in making special preparations for the occasion and the Daughters are very grateful to him for the courtesy accorded them and to Mr. Branch Spaulding for his splendid cooperation and for his part in making the affair a success.

MANY ATTENDED CEREMONY AT BULL RUN SUNDAY

Hon. C. J. Meetze Makes the Address

On Sunday, May 8, the dedication of the National Battlefield Museum was observed with appropriate ceremonies, and thrown open to the public. The museum brings to the Manassas Battlefield the famous Chewning Collection which has been on exhibition at Fredericksburg for many years and now, in a suitable building, has been opened by Mr. J. T. Richards, adjacent to the historic Stone Bridge at Bull Run. The collection, with the additional relics added to the Chewning Collection now comprises over sixty-thousand items, and their arrangement in this new museum makes available an exhibit of great educational and historic value.

The ceremony, despite the rain, took place out of doors, and following the formal dedication, as the exhibit was opened to the public there were many expressions of astonishment at the size of the collection and the historic value of the various exhibits.

Mr. E. R. Conner, one of the distinguished citizens of Prince William, with his usual dignity and friendliness acted as master-of-ceremonies. The dedication was opened by a bugle call, "To the Colors," by Master John Broadbush, of Manassas, Boy Scout Troop No. 1, under leadership of Mr. R. Jackson Ratcliffe. The invocation was delivered by Mr. William Harrison Lamb, Editor of the Manassas Journal, and then the speaker of the day, Hon. C. J. Meetze, was introduced. Mr. Meetze, who is a former member of the Virginia General Assembly, spoke with his accustomed eloquence, and his remarks, so fitting to the occasion, were much appreciated by his audience.

A notable feature of the occasion was the flag raising by Mr. Robert Cushing, the only surviving Confederate Veteran in Prince William County. Mr. Cushing handled the ropes in a very efficient manner, and unfurled the Stars and Bars, under which he fought, in a manner especially impressive.

Music for the occasion was rendered by the Northern Virginia Choral Society. America, Bonnie Blue Flag, and other appropriate songs were sung.

Mr. Richards received many congratulations upon his enterprise in bringing to the Battlefield something really worth seeing, and which will undoubtedly be viewed by countless thousands of tourists.

LEGION PREPARES FOR CELEBRATION

At a meeting of the Prince William Post 158 of the American Legion on Tuesday night, two actions of some importance to the community were taken. The first has to do with the graves of World War veterans. The Legion will try to locate the graves of World War veterans. The Legion will try to locate the graves of veterans who are buried in this county, with a view to placing suitable markers thereon, and making a permanent record of the final resting place of all veterans. Anyone who knows of the location of the grave of any veteran is requested to give the information to Mr. J. H. Stauff, chairman of a committee working on this matter.

The second action relates to a Fourth of July celebration. The legion proposes to raise a fund for the purchase of a suitable amount of fireworks to make a creditable display for the benefit of the general public on the night of July 4. The minimum amount needed is $100.00. The Legion is aware that much promiscuous shooting of fire crackers goes on in the Town for several weeks in the summer. It is also aware of the Town Ordinance which requires a permit from the Mayor for the shooting of fire crackers, etc.

In the interest of a safe, sane and patriotic Fourth, the Legion makes the above proposal. It calls upon interested citizens and civic organizations to support this movement. It was agreed to ask the local Fire Department to cooperate in putting on the display.

The W. M. U. of the Manassas Baptist Church will meet in the church on next Tuesday, May 17th, at 2:30 p.m., with Mrs. R. M. Graham in charge.

CATHARPIN

The busy season is now upon us and farmers planting corn, making garden and performing all other tasks incumbent upon a well regulated agriculturist to get himself ready for the summer's activity. Land is working up well, a trifle dry just now with some volunteering the forecast that we are in for a dry spell. Naturally we are all afraid of dry weather and ever hoping to be spared that ordeal; but the remark reminded us of the ever present propensity of the human family to worry about things. We heard a remark recently that amused us somewhat, but upon thinking it through realized that it was quite applicable to all of us. The speaker was worrying over something which still claimed his attention and said: "I hope this thing will soon be settled so I can begin worrying about something else." From this it seems that we are willing to worry but do not want to be worrying about the same thing all the time. So human nature, like the good house wife, likes a change once in a while even though it may not afford much relief. How is it with you?

Mother's Day was fittingly observed on Sunday last and a large collection taken for the Home at Gaithersburg. This annual event is growing in interest as the years go by. The music for the morning service was conducted entirely by the young people, while a special program was rendered by the Epworth League at night which was very interesting and largely attended. That the young folks should honor this very interesting and largely attended. That the young folks should honor this very interesting event is very fitting. We are just wondering how many know the origin of Mother's Day? From an article on that subject we learned that about 30 years ago the day, as such, was celebrated in Philadelphia and that its founder was Miss Anna Jarvis; and that 24 years ago it was made a national event by act of Congress and proclamation by President Wilson. Not much wonder then, that this great day has become a day of veneration being envired by one's own personal feelings as well as Governmental sanction.

Friends and neighbors in the neighborhood were sorry to learn that Mrs. P. B. Senseney formerly of Groveton but now of Front Royal, fell and broke her hip and is now in the hospital, Winchester, Va., for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Willis and son and Mr. Willis' mother of Arlington, Va., were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Brower on Saturday last. Upon their return home were accompanied by Mrs. Brower who will remain for a few days visit with her daughter.

The over-flow point in the Sudley Wesley Bible class has been reached and the class divided. It now contains a Men's division and a Women's division, each regularly organized and officered. The teacher of the new division being the pastor, the Rev. A. B. Sapp. All men in the community are cordially invited to attend. All classes are large and much interest is shown in all Church school work.

Mr. and Mrs. Sowers and daughter of Concord, N. C., were visiting relatives and friends in the Stone House and Catharpin neighborhoods last week-end and attended services at Sudley on Sunday morning where they were greeted by many friends of former days.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Lawler and daughters and Mrs. P. S. Buckley of Olney, Md., were neighborhood visitors last week.

Mr. Ray Akers of the Capital City is at his mother's home, Rock Hill, recuperating from an attack of bronchial pneumonia from which he has been suffering for the past several weeks.

Mr. L. J. Pattie of Belle Farm is home after spending several days with his son, John and family of Triangle, Va., last week.

Mrs. A. L. Webb of the great city across the Potomac, was a home-folks visitor on last Sunday.

Well the baseball season is now in full swing and if any one should wonder or be in any doubt this being the great American pastime he need only to ask any boy, or girl for that matter, and he will receive full information in all its detail. The country is full of radios and from 3 o'clock on until the game is over, work is almost at a stand-still; pigs may squeal, cows may moo, chickens may cackle and even the guineas may pot-rack, but all of no avail until the last man is out in the ninth inning, or, might it be out in the 13th? Since it seems that long games have lately become the fashion. At any rate, nearly every one is interested and perhaps is one of the best and most innocent games we have. Of course, there are those who like to bet on results and use it as a "vehicle" for their venturesome spirits, but after Kenesaw Mountain Landis gets thru with things, it's a pretty safe bet that the game itself is about as free from evil entanglements as any one could well expect.

GREATEST CIRCUS
NOW STREAMLINED

Streamlined from big top halyards to ring curbs, from opening spectacle to chariot races the Big Show—the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey combined shows—will exhibit in Washington, D. C., on May 16, 17, and 18th with an unprecedented array of smashing features in support of its attractions extraordinary—Gargantua the Great, the largest and most ferocious gorilla ever held captive; Bring 'Em Back Alive Frank Buck, hero of countless jungle exploits and of adventure lovers the world around, and "Nepal," the most beautiful spectacle the circus world has ever known, created and costumed by Charles Le Maire, former Ziegfeld Folies designer.

Gargantua the Great stands 5 feet, 6 inches, weighs 450 pounds and has an arm spread of over 6 feet. He is 7 years old and will likely grow until he is 20, as a gorilla's span of life is about that of humans. This giant primate has no fear of man; rather, he seems to have contempt for him. No persons, not even his keeper, dares to get within reach of Gargantua's great hands. The huge ape has already achieved world-wide notoriety by attacking the executive head of the show. Viewing Gargantua and meeting his gaze are experiences one will never forget. One cannot but feel, after looking into his deep eyes, that within the great hulk is a human soul.

"Nepal," the opening spectacle of the show, starting at 2 and 8 p.m., is a spectacular pageantry, marking with its ultra modern costuming and lighting a new era in the circus. In it, Frank Buck and his caravan of captured wild animals are welcomed by the Maharajah of Nepal and his court. Two thousand people and animals have roles in spectacle, and his costumes cost $80,000, it is claimed.

Jungle minded this season, the circus has returned wild animal acts to its 7-ring-and-stage program. The largest group of blackmaned African lions ever to perform together will be seen under the subjugation of Terrell Jacobs, renowned trainer and animal educator. The world's first and only group of performing black leopards, featuring "Midnight," will thrill the crowds, as will Pallenberg's wonder bears.

Foremost among other top flight features, many of them from abroad, this season are the Cristianis, world famous bareback riding stars, with Luico, double twisting somersaulter from horse to horse in coolness; the Angelos, teeter-board somersaulter headliners; Tamara and her equestrian cart beautiful; the Davisos, thrilling high perch troupe; La Louise, Europe's aerial darling; the Great Magyar troupe, springboard somersaulter sensationalists in four high flights to shoulders; the Wen Hais, wonders of Oriental bar tumbling; the Qualtieros, aerial whirling perch marvels, and others of international acclaim.

Also headlining among the 800 aerial, acrobatic, wire and riding artists of every land are the Naittos, spectacular tight-wire troupe with Nio and Ala, somersaulter stars; the internationally celebrated Yacopis, champion springboard somersaulter artists; the lovely Antalek girls in lofty perch feats; William Heyer, famous Dutch trainer, with his remarkable horses Yo Yo and Arjuno; the Walkmirs, marvels of the whirling aerial perch; the Mayss-Brach troupe of lofty unicycle acrobats; the great Loyal-Repenski and Walters families of bareback riding stars; Rudy Rudynoff, renowned trainer, and his troupes of liberty horses; Mlle. Gillette, sensational aerialist; the famous Walter Guice troupes of daring comics on the aerial bars; the Maschino and Uyenno troupes of whirlwind acrobats; the Torrence-Victoria duo of flying perch aerialists; the world renowned two troupes of high wire Wallendas; the famous Flying Concellos, with Antoinette, only girl triple somersaulter to a catch; the Rooneys, aerial aces; the Randol and Comet troupes of flying-return artists; the 50 girl aerial ballet; sixty free running horses in tableaux vivants, and others of almost equal stellar rating in the world of sawdust and spangles.

Grass is Good ...if

Grass is good if cows can get enough of it. But when it's old and tough they don't eat it readily and when pasture dries up, it's impossible for cows to get enough grass to fill their requirements for body maintenance and milk production. Don't take chances. Feed a regular ration of Larro and good hay along with your pasture. You'll have healthier cows and get the steady daily milk yields that mean bigger profits.

OCCOQUAN (AND VICINITY)

Mrs. C. Lee Starkweather has returned to her home in Occoquan having been visiting in Pennsylvania since last December. We are glad to have her back with us again.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patterson and daughter of Richmond, Va., spent the week-end with Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lynn in Occoquan.

Mrs. Carl Lynn of Occoquan has returned home and is rapidly convalescing from her operation which was performed at a hospital in Richmond, Virginia. We are glad to know Mrs. Lynn is home and hope she will soon be fully recovered.

Miss Margaret Burdette, of Washington, was the week-end guest of Miss Charlotte Thompson of Woodbridge, Va.

Miss Mae Gossom, of Haymarket, Va., was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayland in Occoquan.

Mrs. Morrison, wife of Rev. Morrison of Occoquan underwent an operation at Alexandria Hospital, and reports are that she is doing nicely. We hope she will soon be able to return home.

Capt. Thos. F. Joyce, Mr. Edgar R. Shanklin and Mr. Hubert T. Mooney represented the town of Occoquan at the meeting of the Virginia Municipalities held at Fredericksburg, Va., on Monday, May 9th. Several matters of importance to counties, cities and town were discussed.

The town of Occoquan is still carrying out its clean up campaign. There are still a few places badly in need of attention, and it is hoped they will be cleaned up without making it necessary for the town Council to bring legal action.

At a recent meeting held at Occoquan High School at which the following were present: Mr. B. W. Brunt, Mr. G. C. Russell, Mrs. Jane Abel, Miss Elizabeth Vaughan and Captain T. F. Joyce, the matter of improvements to the school were discussed. Mr. Russell and Mrs. Abel who are members of the county Supervisors assured us that the school grounds would be graded this summer; also that the school would get a Home Economics Collee during the 1939 school year. This was good news to all of us. Our sincere thanks go to Mr. Russell and Mrs. Abel who always make every effort to get needed improvements for this school.

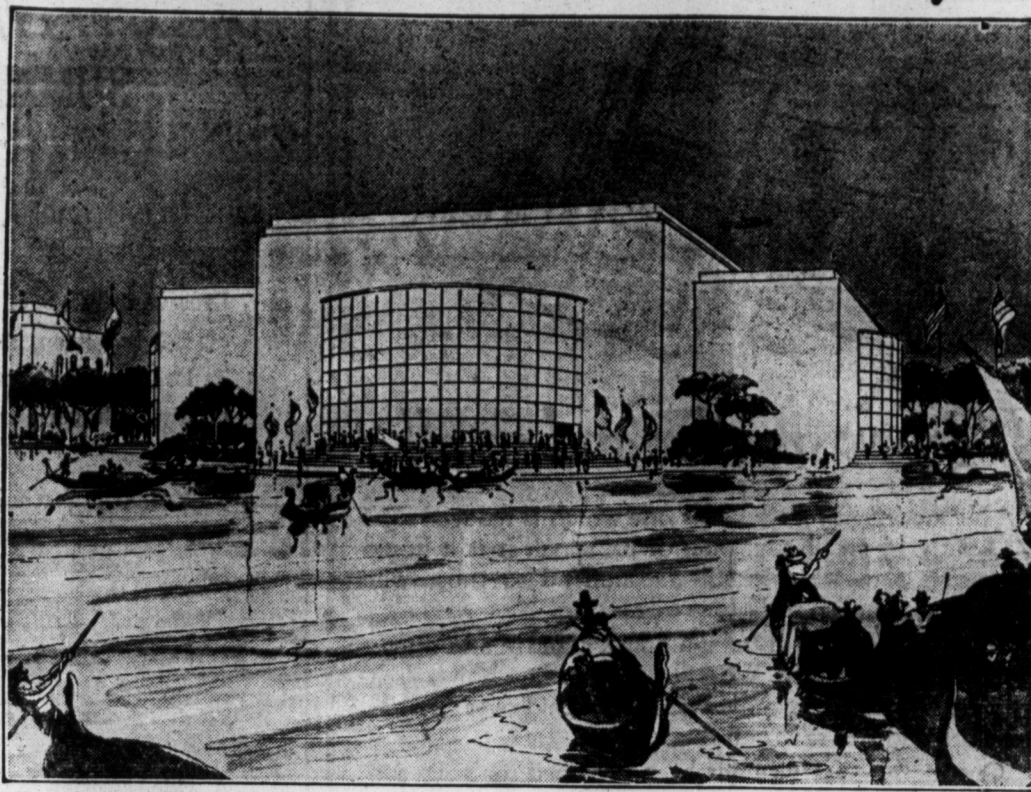

COMMENTS ON MOSES A. C.

The Moses A.C., of Haymarket, has had all the bad breaks, I think, of any team I ever saw, but you just wait and see the lineup for this coming Sunday. There will be an altogether different game. Not saying that the games haven't been good but we just haven't gotten over the winning run as yet. The boys have gotten together and made a few changes and I think it will be an altogether different story.

Come out and see for yourself.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in later years.

And deliver them, who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.—Hebrews 2:15.

"WE OF THE NORTH"

"We of the North," said Leeds Moberly, a newspaper writer from Philadelphia, at the meeting of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers in Charlotte last week, "have been too long deceived by the surface charm of the South, by the sincere friendliness and hospitality of the Southern people, which is a thin crust over the treacherous economic and social quicksand that engulfs the mass of the Southern population."

Mr. Moberly is mistaken: He is still caught in the legend which overlays poverty in the South. If he wants to see the truth, he might look in his own North as well as in this South. Sensible Southerners know that the condition of the masses of men, black and white, in the South is heart-rending, far from what it ought to be in a great and rich nation. And certainly some of the fault for that condition belongs to leaders in Southern life. But Mr. Moberly is not a man from Mars. "We of the North," he said. If as one of those he is trying to see the truth beneath surfaces in the South, he ought to look at causes. Not all of them are Southern.

Does Mr. Moberly realize that the people of the South were forced by the conqueror North to pay probably the largest cash indemnity out of the South's past war poverty that any people ever actually paid in the history of the world? Perhaps not. Some Southerners do not know it. It is the fact, nevertheless:

(1) To June 30, 1930, the Government of the United States had paid pensions to Union veterans of the Civil War amounting to $7,370,462,014. The South paid its share of the taxes for those pensions but its veterans got no share in them. If the South paid one-seventh of that sum it paid more than France paid after the Franco-Prussian War.

(2) Historians are uncovering more and more evidence that in the Reconstruction Congresses the great display of humanitarian interest in the protection of the Negro in the South was in part at least an effective mark for exploiters who were seeking favor and subsidy, tariff and plunder, much of it at the expense of the conquered South. Tariffs and freight rates enriching the North at the expense of the South have added to the pension-pull of money out of the South to increase the proportions of the drain which amounts to an indemnity from a conquered people which the South is still paying.

The condition of too many people in the South is deplorable, degrading, destructive of the decencies which men expect from American civilization. But history shows and God knows that not all the blame for that condition is Southern. Certainly "we of the North" who have devoted nearly a century to fostering the degrading subjugation of the South are scarcely qualified to whip the South for conditions they helped to make in it.

There are bad men in the South, blind men, ruthless men, greedy men. But the South has no monopoly of them. And those who come from the North to look at the South are not discovering the truth when they only begin to see after they cross the Mason-Dixon Line.—The Raleigh News and Observer.

NO ADVICE ASKED

The Republican Party has within its ranks men of high calibre who fitted to carry on, in a national sense, without the interference of Herbert Hoover.

In attacking the Democratic administration this week, he gave out what he termed to be "eleven steps" or broad "hints" for the Administration to follow at once. The only thing he did not add was the 12th, which might have been some advice to here and now depart for Utopia or some heavenly clime beyond all care and pain.

No Democratic administration is sending out tanks, like the dictators against whom Hoover is warning the country, as Hoover did when he had helpless and unarmed World War veterans fired on.

There is no present fear of that, although so far as the South is concerned there is worse. If the present Administration insists upon attempting to foister upon the stronghold of Democracy such measures as are repugnant to the vast majority of that section it will only stymie its own progress, or make it possible for some new leader who will recognize the folly of such legislation and attempt to forge new paths for the Ship of State.

Will this be anarchy or dictatorship? Hardly. The history of the Anglo-Saxon world has shown that its people will take some stand in the long run which will obliterate from its midst any such heresy against real democracy and the liberty of its peoples.

—Commonwealth-Monitor.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

COOL tones in window shades are the vogue! They're designed to subdue the glare of the sun and keep the rooms livable even on torrid days.

We have discovered there are two such new tints—a green in the springleaf range and a larkspur blue. Both of them soft, muted, and delightfully restful to the eyes. Another household hint for this spring in decoration is that green in its varying tones promises to be particularly important in draperies, slipcovers, cretonnes, chintzes and pottery. And no wonder, for a soft green seems to bring the whole beauty of the countryside indoors!

MANASSAS LOSES TO FALMOUTH 5-2

The Manassas High School baseball team lost a hard fought baseball game to Falmouth on Tuesday. The game was much closer than the score indicates since only two of the Falmouth runs were earned.

Worley pitched a very tight game and kept the Falmouth batters under complete control throughout the game. He walked only two men and allowed seven safe hits.

The Manassas boys hit the ball hard but did not come through in the pinches. The port siders had a big day. Kane and Bowers getting two safe hits each, and Vetter getting a circuit clout. Well's chalked up a double.

This Friday Manassas goes to Haymarket for a game. Manassas beat Haymarket once before, 8-1.

This church is cooperating with the Group of Ministers that are sponsoring the great evangelistic campaign to be held in Manassas, beginning June 5 and continuing until June 26, under the leadership of Evangelist Dan McNally. We are glad to have part in such a movement as this to put Jesus Christ in His proper relation to our community. Read the announcements next week.

Grace Church is here to serve. We feel that to faithfully deliver God's Word to this our day and generation, without compromise and without rancor, but the faithful witnessing to the truth in Christ Jesus and the application of that truth to the present is the best service we can render, and the sure way of helping people. Come and hear what the Lord has to say to your soul.

QUIET TALKS ON RELIGION

BY

OBEDE-EDOM

There is a beautiful little story in the sixth chapter of Second Samuel. King David left the Ark of the Covenant for three months in the house of Obed-edom who, strange to say, was a Philistine. Very soon this man's neighbors began to notice a change for the better in all that concerned Obed-edom and his family. It was a matter of common remark that his crops were better, his hedges more neatly trimmed, his flowers brighter in their bloom, and that the faces of all the family wore an expression of cheerfulness which betokened an inner happiness. "The Lord blessed Obed-edom and all his household."

This is what happens to every man who keeps the ark of God in his home. One of the greatest misfortunes of our day is the decline of family religion. Dr. Harold McAfee Robinson says "When religion dies the church dies." It is equally true that when the church dies character dies, and when character dies civil liberty and social security die also.

The ark of God is crowded out of the modern home by the elaborate furnishing of the world, including the radio, phonograph, telephone, automobile and movies. There isn't a square inch of floor space on which to set the ark.

I have lived a happy life, but there is nothing for which I am as thankful as I am for the fact that I was brought up in a home which had room for the ark. My father was a man of simple and beautiful piety and my mother a woman with a singularly sweet and reverent spirit. We never ate a meal on which the blessing of God had not been invoked, nor entered upon our day without family prayers. I was a normal boy, but our family religion never bored me. On the contrary I recall days when my father's morning prayer was so tender that I rose from my knees with a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes.

I have an instinctive contempt for man who excuses himself from recognizing his duty to God and the church by saying, "I had too much religion when I was young."

I am sure there are many good men today who devoutly wish they could give their children such a religious atmosphere as they themselves enjoyed; but conditions of modern living make it impossible. Life is all hurry and hysteria. There is no time for morning prayers when the father has to rush off to his office and the children have to be gotten off to school. There is no time in the evening because everybody is wild to get to the movies. How many or how few take time to kneel by the bedside before going to sleep we can not know, but the tendency is to forget our obligations to God and take our chances with getting by with it.

I submit that nothing would do as much to lift our nation and our world out of its present distress as a revival of good old-fashioned family religion. Why not try it?

Miss Janet Jackson, of Alexandria, Mrs. Charles Barnes and Judy and Messrs. Herman and Robert Smith of Washington, were week-end guests at "Hagley".

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gossom, Jr., and Dickie dropped by "Mt. Atlas" Sunday afternoon to say "goodbye" as Nonie, Jr., has been given several Southern States to canvass in the interest of public safety with Sportanburg, C. S., as headquarters.

Mrs. Susan Morton and children of Haymarket, assisted by the ladies of this neighborhood, gave a very delightful May Day Party to the children of the community at the hall and in the adjacent meadow recently.

The May pole dance was very pretty, and all the contests and games were played with zest by the youngsters, perhaps, because of the clever prizes awarded the winner. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Morton was given a vote of thanks for her kindly interest in our community.

Mr. John Kerns of the C. C. Camp at Lyndhurst, visited his home here several days last week.

Quite a number from our neighborhood attended the Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester and were enthralled with its perfect beauty.

A very interesting meeting of the 8th Virginia Regiment Chapter, U. D. C., was held at the Memorial Hall at Hickory Grove on Thursday afternoon as about fifty school children accompanied by some of the teachers from Haymarket School, visited the hall and viewed with much interest the many relics there. Some of the U. D. C. ladies were dressed in costumes of ante bellum days and a very interesting program was given. Mr. Charles Gillis of Haymarket very ably assisted in describing the relics to the boys and girls.

The ladies of the 8th Virginia Regiment Chapter, U. D. C., held their May meeting at the hall at Hickory Grove on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Grace McDonough who has so capably presided over the WPA sewing room here, has resigned as foreman, and is now visiting relatives in Washington. Her co-workers gave a lunch in her honor at the Community hall on Wednesday last. Miss Grace will be greatly missed at the hall and we were all sorry to see her go, but we are very fortunate to have so efficient a person as Mrs. Will Downs to serve as temporary foreman.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gossom, Miss Ruth Gossom, Mrs. Stuart Pickett and Peggy Anne were guests of relatives in Washington on Sunday.

The W.N.U. ladies have improved their property, known as the Sinclair place with a very neat and attractive addition of two rooms and a porch.

Mr. C. H. Anderson and family of Rappahannock County are now occupying the cottage owned by G. A. Gossom, which was formerly the school building.

INDEPENDENT HILL

Religious service will be held in the Junior Hall at Independent Hill on Sunday, May 15, with Sunday School at 1 p.m. and spend religious services at 2 p.m. with singing by the children, under direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wine. Everyone is cordially invited.

REV. DAN McNALLY COMING TO MANASSAS

Opportunity comes to a community once over so often. A group of ministers and layman, under the leadership of the Spirit of God, is arranging for a great evangelistic campaign in Manassas under the leadership of Dan McNally, exconvict, sparring partner with Jack Dempsey, dope fiend, drunkard, coal miner, to begin June 5 and continue for three weeks.

Dan McNally ran away from home in the mining regions of Western Maryland when a drunken father put him in the mines at eight years of age, became the companion and partner of thieves and dope peddlers, was arrested and served eight years in the Missouri State Penitentiary, pardoned by Governor Hyde, converted under the faithful and patient and loving efforts of Warden Hill, and set on the business of witnessing to the power of Jesus to save the worst of mankind. Dan McNally comes to Manassas from an eight months campaign in the churches of Cumberland, Maryland, where the results obtained are simply marvellous.

The conducted evangelistic campaigns in the most fashionable churches of that western Maryland city, and the pastors and laymen are of one voice concerning him and his work. The effects of these meetings are cumulative, being greater after months than while the meetings were in progress. The group of ministers sponsoring this campaign are really fortunate too secure his services as they are in great demand.

The Journal congratulates the community on this opportunity that is ours, and pledges its support to the fullest. The ministers sponsoring the meeting are: Rev. John M. DeChant, C. R. Kesner, Byron M. Flory, E. E. Blough, A. H. Salter, and Harry Paul Baker. A layman's Cooperative Committee is being organized and steps are being taken to organize a Laywomen's Co-operative Committee. Cottage Prayer Meetings will be held for two weeks before the opening of the campaign under the leadership of Rev. O. R. Kesner. Rev. John M. DeChant is chairman of the committee at work to get together the singers of the community in a large chorus for the meeting.

Rev. Harry Paul Baker is general chairman of the Campaign Committee. The meetings are strictly non-denominational, and this ground all Christians of all churches are invited to cooperate fully in this great effort. The services will be held in the Methodist Church.

CITY LEAGUE ENJOYS MEETING

Fredericksburg proves Ideal Host

Approximately 35 officials from cities and towns in this section of the state attended a regional meeting of the Virginia League of Municipalities in Fredericksburg last Monday afternoon and last night.

Mayor W. Marshall King, in opening in the City Hall, praised the league's work and said Fredericksburg was honored in having the group of municipal representatives there.

J. B. Bickford, mayor of Hampton, president of the league, said the organization was on the alert to aid its members whenever possible. He said the last session of the General Assembly had passed a number of praiseworthy bills but that others had failed to pass.

W. A. E. McShea, of Arlington, vice president of the league, stressed the progress of Arlington county under the county manager form of government in the past six years.

Mr. McShea said the population had doubled in the last two years. He said he believed efficient operation of the county would be impossible now under the old system of government. The county manager form was adopted by Arlington in January, 1932.

Mr. McShea said he had seen both the old and new systems of county government in operation and he believed the people were best served by the latter. He said it was free of politics, log rolling and other detrimental features of the old form.

Morton L. Wallerstein, executive secretary of the league, discussed bills passed by the last session of the General Assembly, pointing out good and bad points.

A roundtable discussion was held during a banquet in the Princess Anne Hotel last night at which Mayor C. A. Warner, of Tappahannock, presided.

Among those present were Charles E. Gage, councilman, Falls Church; O. D. Calhoun, clerk, treasurer, Falls Church; W. A. E. McShea, county board, Arlington; George M. Yeatman, member of county board, Arlington; Mrs. George M. Yeatman, Arlington; Mrs. Elizabeth B. Magruder, chairman county board, Arlington; Frank

C. Hanrahan, county manager, Arlington; Stuart Shumate, Warrenton; Dr. Warner, Tappahannock; J. S. Phillips, councilman, Tappahannock; Sidney Shumate, manager and treasurer, Warrenton; L. J. Houston, Jr., city manager, Fredericksburg; E. R. Shanklin, town clerk and councilman, Occoquan.

Also Thomas F. Joyce, mayor, Occoquan; William F. Coker, town manager, Manassas; John H. Burke, councilman, Manassas; Joseph G. Smith, councilman, Falls Church; Cecil L. Reid, councilman, Fredericksburg; W. P. Adams, county board, Arlington; J. V. Bickford, mayor, Hampton; H. G. McCartney, city engineer, Alexandria; L. P. Daniel, mayor, Falls Church; Harry P. THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

WISHES ARE NOT WISDOM—though they often pass for wisdom when they come from persons in high places. Propaganda is made up of wishes in the main. The vast amount of propaganda now current to convince the public that President Roosevelt is losing ground is based on the assumption that voters like to ride the band wagon of success and will forsake any leader who appears to be slipping. So if the impression can be created that the President is losing popularity, those who wish this to happen hope the impression they are creating thru propaganda will make their wish come true.

IT IS AN OLD GAME, but it cannot be played as successfully as in the past. The public has grown more skeptical. More and ever more voters are relying on their own judgment, rather than on the words of the Big Boys who have proven themselves quite as subject to error as is the man in the street. Now that another political campaign is getting under way, the common man is recalling with considerable amusement wishes the co-called "best minds" expressed two years ago about Roosevelt's chances of re-election. Those wishes were, of course, given out as profound judgments. It will help us in our efforts at self-education to recall a few of the wished expressed by high authorities.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, owner and publisher of many big newspapers and magazines, in "August, 1936, said: "The race will not be close at all. Landon will be overwhelmingly elected, and I'll stake my reputation as a prophet on it."

HENRY L. MENCKEN, magazine writer, during that campaign said: "The Republicans can beat Roosevelt with a Chinaman or even a Republican."

GOVERNOR NICE thought, in October, 1936, that his state, Maryland, would be carried by the Republicans.

GOVERNOR LANDON, the presidential candidate on the Republican

ELECTRIC SERVICE WITH SAFETY

Care of Electrical Appliances

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the International Association of Electrical Inspectors to encourage safety in the use of electricity in homes.

Sometimes we hear of electrical appliances, particularly flatirons, which have been in constant use for many years. As with most other merchandise, there are differences in quality of electrical appliances, the best ones lasting longer than those of inferior workmanship and materials. The useful life of all of them can be prolonged by reasonable care in handling, and inspection from time to time will help to keep them safe.

It seems hardly necessary to warn against leaving electric flatirons connected to the circuit, but overheated flatirons have been responsible for more fires than any other electric appliance. Most of these fires occur when the operator has left home without disconnecting the iron. When irons are connected to sockets of pendant cords, and are controlled by switches in the sockets or by wall switches, there may be no indication to show when the current is on or off, and sometimes when one thinks he is turning the iron off, he really turns it on. The way to make sure that an iron is off is to disconnect the cord. Red bulb-eye lamps, built in conjunction with wall switches are available and are effective safeguards against leaving irons or other appliances connected. So long as the red light shows, the appliance is connected to the circuit.

Appliances, especially flatirons, should be connected to convenience outlets in the wall, rather than to lamp sockets. Pendants are usually designed for supplying lamp bulbs only and the pendant wires are usually of too small capacity to properly supply appliances. This is especially true of the wires used in living and dining-room fixtures.

The newer types of automatic flat-irons have mechanisms which automatically turn off the current when the iron gets too hot. From the fire hazard point of view, automatic irons are safer than the non-automatic type. In general, electrical appliances should not be used close to water or in damp places but this cannot be avoided in some cases, particularly in the case of electric washing machines. These machines must necessarily be used around water pipes and are sometimes used on damp earth. For these reasons special precautions should be employed in their use.

Washing machines must necessarily be used in the vicinity of water so the special precautions are advisable. Convenience outlets with insulating covers are preferred to pendant cords. Metal sockets as shown here should not be used in this location.

Electric motors of washing machines are usually well insulated, but getting a motor wet may reduce its insulation qualities. The cord is the more likely to become defective. Only Underwriters' labeled rubber-sheathed cords of good quality should be used on washing machines and these should be replaced when they become worn.

The surest way to safeguard against shock from insulation break-down in washing machines is to have an electrician connect a special wire between the frame of the washer and a water pipe, and to take care to see that the wire does not become broken and that connections at each end remain secure. With such a connection any failure of insulation which might create a dangerous condition will immediately be indicated by the blowing of the fuse.

As a secondary precaution, it is advisable to connect the washer to a convenience outlet in the wall rather than to a pendant socket, and the outlet should have a cover plate of insulating material. A wall outlet can be controlled by a wall switch, which is the most convenient and safest arrangement. Where washing machines would otherwise be used on earth, a raised wooden platform large enough to take both the machine and the operator, in addition to the protective grounding wire, constitutes a double safeguard.

Sometimes when vacuum cleaners are run against steam radiators or touch some other metal which makes electrical contact with the ground, sparks occur and a fuse blows out. This is an indication that insulation is defective at some point. It is likely that the cord has worn out where it enters the cleaner and a wire is touching the metal case. A prompt repair is advisable.

ticket, offered this bit of wisdom as his prediction: "There are now seven fat years ahead. They will be Republican years."

THE LITERARY DIGEST, represented as an infallible judge of political trends, predicted Landon's election by 370 electoral votes to Roosevelt's 161 votes. We can only surmise how its editors felt the day after election when they learned that Landon had received less than a dozen electoral votes.

EVEN JIM FARLEY slipped a little in his prediction. When John Hamilton, national chairman of the Republican Party challenged Farley to name even six states the Democrats would carry, Mr. Farley replied: "Very well,

I name all 48."

BUT JOHN HAMILTON'S slipping was a landslide. The Republican chairman had predicted: "Governor Landon will break into the Solid South. It might happen that we will carry all 48 states. The West is in the bag."

THESE WISHES of those who are supposed to be wise are much the same as those used in the propaganda now current. Politicians are not scientists. The scientist practices no self-deception. His one all-absorbing purpose is to seek truth impersonally. Some day, in the more or less distant future, the politician will be a scientist, one whose only aim is to find truth and apply it in government to make it honest and effective.

MUST HAVE CERTIFICATE

Despite the fact that the recent General Assembly turned the measure down, the Diocesan Council of the Episcopal Church of the Diocese at its assembly last week passed the following Canon, to-wit:

Canon 22. Of the Solemnization of Matrimony: No minister of this church shall solemnize a marriage in this Diocese unless and until he shall receive from a qualified physician, on the case of each of the contracting parties, a certificate to the effect that he, or she, is free from any communicable venereal disease.
