FIREMEN MEET AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Notables for Washington and Other Points are Honor Guests

The Manassas Volunteer Fire Department entertained its friends last Thursday evening. The occasion was the annual banquet held in the Masonic Temple and served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

Dr. George B. Cocke, president of the Department, presided in the capacity of toastmaster and conducted the affair most graciously. Representatives of the neighboring communities were present to pay their respects and admiration to the department on the occasion and to wish them well for future.

Commissioner Melvin C. Hazen of the District of Columbia was present along with several members of the District Fire Department. Because of the great interest that Commissioner Hazen has always shown in the affairs of the town and county and especially because of his encouragement to the fire department, a proposal was made that a medal be awarded to the member of the local department who made the most outstanding contribution of service to the department during the year that the award be known as the Hazen Award. This suggestion was received with enthusiasm.

During the dinner the guests were entertained by a sextet from the Manassas Regional High School with a number of negro spirituals and these were not delightfully rendered.

Mayor Harry P. Davis, in a short and eloquent speech, welcomed the visitors and paid suitable respect to the courage and outstanding service of the department to the community. Dr. Cocke introduced the distinguished guests and welcomed them all to the banquet.

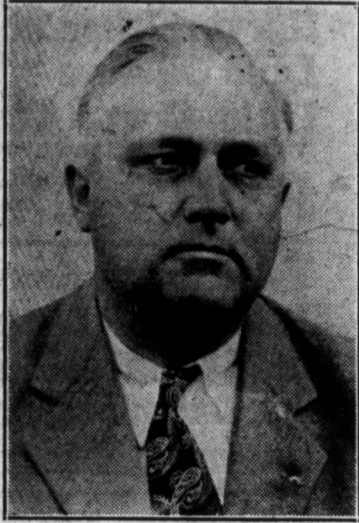

The program was composed of several short and interesting, and sometimes instructive, talks by experienced firemen and a delightful tribute by Commissioner Hazen to Virginia, Prince William County, and Manassas. He was especially high in his praise of the leaders which Virginia has given the nation, both past and present. He interspersed his remarks with his usual pointed stories and again pledged the support and co-operation of the District government to the Department.

Fire Marshall Calvin G. Lauber of the District explained fires with particular emphasis on the great number of spurious extinguishers now flooding the market. Battalion Chief S. C. Porter of the District Firemen's Training School urged not just the acquiring of the knowledge of what to do, but the importance of knowing how to use that knowledge. He advocated regular and frequent fire drills for the solution of specific problem situations. He also suggested that Manassas should have two pieces of apparatus. After his talk, the toast-master thanked him for his instructive talk, and following up his suggestion, explained, that a movement was on foot, per the purchase of an additional piece of fire-fighting and life saving equipment and hoped that the city-fathers or the governing body of Prince William County would interest themselves in this important understanding. District Superintendent of Fire Alarms Freide described briefly the necessity of gradually developing a central fire alarm system as the town or community grows. Chief James M. Duncan, Jr., of the Alexandria Fire Department told of the experience of his department in their inspection of homes before fires occur and the success in prevention of fires rather than putting them out after they occur. Instructor Padgett of the Alexandria Department expressed his pleasure at being present and praised the program of instruction necessary for good training in fire control.

The Reverend R. M. Graham was present and offered the invocation.

The second floor of the temple was tastefully decorated in the George Washington mode, with seeming parts of the cherry tree used a candle-holders on one of the tables. The dinner, sufficiently copious for the most demanding epicure, was topped by cherry pie with the cherries from, one hopes, the same tree.

Hon. Melvin C. Hazen, chairman, Board of Commissioners, of District of Columbia; Calvin G. Lauber, Fire Marshal; S. T. Porter, Battalion Chief and his son; James M. Duncan, Jr., Chief of the Alexandria Fire Department; Capt. L. P. Strohle, first aid

Dr. George B. Cocke, President of the Manassas Volunteer Fire Department, who presided as toast master at the annual banquet last week.

The Music-Literature Section of the Manassas Woman's Club met on Tuesday evening, February 27, in the home of Mrs. T. J. Broadbuss with Mrs. John Broadbuss assisting her as hostess.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 5.

The Golden Text will be "God giveth to a man that is good his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy" (Eccl. 2:26).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visited him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him glory and honour. Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet" (Psalms 8:4-6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If we were to derive all our conceptions of man from what is seen between the cradle and the grave, happiness and goodness would have no abiding-place in man, and the worms would rob him of the flesh; but Paul writes: 'The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death' (p. 244).

REGIONAL SCHOOL FULFILLS PURPOSE AS SEEN BY EARLY OFFICIALS

The Manassas Industrial School has a rich heritage. It was founded by Jennie Dean a life long resident of Catharpin. Hon. Frederick Douglas, the noted abolitionist leader, delivered the dedicatory address. Although the school has recently passed into the hands of Prince William, Fauquier, and Fairfax County School Boards, it has from the beginning had the sympathy and co-operation of the officials of the public school system.

On the occasion of the dedication of the school October, 1895, Hon. John E. Massey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, spoke. He called attention to the fact that here where one of the great battles had been fought between the North and the South, upon the very battle-field was now to be tried a great experiment for the benefit of the colored race, with the Southern people in full sympathy.

"My colored friends," he said, "let me tell you, the eyes of both North and South are on this school and it behooves you to conduct yourselves well; for by its success must you be tried in the eyes of the world."

He further emphasized the relation of the two races more especially here in the South, and that here must the race question be settled. He told them that only through a thorough education of mind, hand and morals could they achieve success, earnestly entreating them to forget not their duties as good citizens.

Hon. Massey was followed on this dedicatory program by Dr. H. M. Clarkson, superintendent of Prince William County Schools. His speech is today preserved among the annals of the school. Excerpts from this masterly address follow:

"Having been set free by the issue of the civil war, the colored man, after 250 years of bondage, finds himself face to face with the logical sequel of his liberty—the responsibility of citizenship. But how can he enjoy that liberty and become a good citizen without the benefit of a moral, intellectual, and practical education? What is the solution of the so called race question about which there is so much flippant talk? Simply to educate the Negro. Educate him not in the classics, for in these days of utilitarianism, when he who makes his bread by the sweat of his brow must seek the shortest route to self support the ornamental must give way to the practical. Educate the colored man, that he may be independent as well as free, and that he may respect himself; for as the great man, Dr. Curry has said, 'self-respect is very close akin to self-support.'—Instruct him in industrial pursuits. In advocating industrial education for him, I do not mean training in agricultural pursuits necessarily, for he has had this for a couple of centuries, but I allude to school instruction in the arts and trades, as applications of scientific principles."

Other public officials present at the dedicatory exercises were Mr. Tyler, Mayor of Manassas; Mr. Westwood Hutchinson, County Treasurer of Prince William; Hon. Chas. E. Nicol, Circuit Judge; Hon. E. E. Meredith, Congressman; Mr. Geo. C. Round, Capt. R. H. Tyler and others.

The presence of these notables indicated their sympathy and interest

FARM REHABILITATION METHODS ARE DESCRIBED

"Rehabilitation" means to restore and reestablish. As the Government uses the word, it simply means helping a family to get back on its feet.

Farm owners, farm tenants, sharecroppers, and farm laborers, who need financing and guidance which they cannot obtain from any other public or private agency.

He should apply to the county rehabilitation supervisor for his county. Information also may be obtained from the county agricultural agent or the local public welfare office.

The family must be able to own or rent land on which it can make a living. If the borrower is a tenant he should be able to get a written lease for the county supervisor in working out a sound plan of farm and home management.

Rehabilitation loans are made to finance the purchase of necessary farm supplies, livestock, seed fertilizer, feed, tools, household equipment and temporary feed and clothing requirements.

Loans are made for periods of from one to five years, depending on the purpose for which the money is used. For example, money loaned to buy livestock or machinery might be repaid over a five-year period. Money loaned to buy feed, fertilizer, or household equipment ordinarily is repaid within one year. The rate of interest is five percent a year.

The borrower gives a note and mortgage on his personal property, on the goods he buys with the loan, and on his coming crop. A loan will not be made unless the borrower's farm plan shows that he can produce enough cash income to pay off the debt.

It is a plan, worked out by the borrower and the county rehabilitation supervisor, outlining the farm and home operations for the year. It shows how much income must be produced to get the family back on its feet and pay off the loan. It indicated that the crops must be grown to produce this income.

A good plan always calls for the production of enough food for the family and enough feed for its livestock. In this way the family can "live at home" and use its cash income to pay off the debts or buy livestock or equipment.

For further information see the County Rehabilitation Supervisor Mr. W. H. Goodall, Jr., at the Farm Security Administration Office Hibbs and Giddings Building, Manassas, Virginia, or the County Agents Office at Fairfax C. H. on Wednesday mornings of each week.

and is evidence that the citizens of the State were glad to see the colored people using all honorable means to educate and develop themselves and to be valuable co-workers in building up a great and abounding prosperity in Virginia and the whole Southland.

Today joining in the spirit of the early officials are Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Mr. Fred M. Alexander, State Supervisor of Negro Education; Prof. R. C. Haydon, Superintendent of Prince William County Schools; Prof. W. H. Thomas, Supt. Fauquier County Schools; Prof. W. T. Woodson, Supt. of Fairfax County Schools and a host of others, the number too numerous to mention.

A BOOK TO READ

by Clarence Wagener

While it is unpleasant to ponder the fact that for nearly ten years now the economic system under which our country operates has been markedly out of kilter, it is important that we—the Toms, Dicks and Harries of the Nation—give unremitting thought to our biggest problem: How to insure a continuance of the democratic form of government here.

We have a President? Yes. We have a Congress? Yes. What, then, do we elect men to these high offices for, if it isn't with the understanding that they are to govern the country for us; that they are to relieve us of all such responsibility?

In a democracy it isn't as simple as that. Our priceless liberty, our freedom of speech and press, the great Bill of Rights—all are predicated upon the sovereignty of the voter. And sovereignty implies responsibility. Either the people run the country or, in the long run, democracy must give way to some other form of government.

It is therefore up to the individual citizens—you and you and you—to give something more than superficial consideration to the great national problems, especially those having to do with the preservation of a free America. No adult, whatever his or her station in life, should offer the excuse of being too busy to read at least a few of the outstanding "plan" books which have been published during the past decade.

High up in a list of such books put "Land of the Free," by Herbert Agar (Houghton Mifflin, 1935; 288 pages; with a 32-page section of illustrations of America as interpreted by some of the country's leading artists). Mr. Agar, winner of the Pulitzer prize in 1934 for his book "The People's Choice," pleads for a return to democracy based upon widespread ownership of small property and small businesses, as opposed to the present order of finance-capitalism. Even though it seems unlikely that Mr. Agar's confident hope can be realized at this late day, he rendered his fellow countrymen a distinct service in writing "Land of the Free." He has plenty to say; he says it with unusual vigor and clarity.

First, Mr. Agar traces the degre-sive steps the Nation took in getting away from Thos. Jefferson's and John Adams' concepts of a free and enduring America. Next, he analyzes the American dream and points out how, in his estimation, it can still be made to come true. Finally, he discusses cogently the struggle for power in America (thus providing a helpful summary of the different forms of government—including divergent forms of democracy—which are competing for supremacy in our changing country).

SWINE MEETING DRAWS GOOD ATTENDANCE

The County Hog Meeting at the Manassas Post Office Wednesday of last week was well attended by hog producers from throughout the county.

George C. Herring, V.P.I. Swine Specialist, in his discussion advocated the use of better foundation breeding stock, the balancing of hog relations with protein supplements and the use of sanitary precautions for disease and parasite control. The need for wider use of protein supplements to balance the fats and carbohydrates of grains was also brought out by farmers participating in the discussion. Mr. Herring also recommended that hogs be provided with a mineral mixture and suggested a simple mixture made up of three parts ground limestone, three parts steamed bone meal and one part salt. As a means of cutting down on the cost of the protein supplement, he suggested substituting soybean meal for half of the fishmeal or tankage. An interesting statement by Mr. Herring was that hogs from the weanling to the finished stage required about the same total amount of protein supplement per day since the need was gradually reduced as hogs approached maturity or marketing weights.

Other speakers on the program were A. K. Gilmer and Tom Morehead of the Eastern Livestock Co-operative Marketing Association. Gilmer is a fieldman and Morehead the hog salesman of the Baltimore cooperative marketing agency.

THE DOODLE BUG

This is a 1933 Chevrolet dual wheel truck converted into a very useful power unit for the farm. The tremendous power obtained by using the regular 60 horsepower motor, regular transmission and differential with a 14" drive in regular tractors, shaft and shortened housing gives The Doodle Bug a pulling ability not ordinarily found. The 76" wheel base allows an unusually short turning radius, making it easy to use in the field.

The picture shows Oden A. Breeden at the wheel. His mechanical ability and ingenuity made the conversion possible. James E. Bradford, of Hynson & Bradford, is standing behind The Doodle Bug. It has under his direction and at his garage that the tractor was built. It is now for sale at Hynson & Bradford's Chevrolet Garage. You are cordially invited to come down to see it.

OCCOQUAN AND VICINITY

Mr. Charles Petellet, of Baltimore, is spending several days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Petellet in Occoquan.

Mrs. H. T. Tyson, of Occoquan, is in Columbia Hospital in Washington, D. C., having had a major operation from which we are glad to report she is getting along nicely.

Miss Willie Alexander and Mr. Herman Rohr, of Alexandria, Va., spent Washington's birthday at the home of Miss Alexander's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude McMahon in Occoquan.

Mrs. Jack Alexander with her daughters, Norma and Jackie, have gone to New York City, where they expect to make their future home.

There will be a meeting of the Alumni Association of Occoquan High School at the school on Wednesday evening, March 8th, at 7:30 p.m. Please attend this meeting and show your interest in the Association.

There will be a dance at Occoquan High School on Friday, March 15th, sponsored by the Alumni Association. This promises to be a GRAND dance, so do not miss it.

Mrs. Herman Jennings and son, Wesley and Mr. Jennings' sister, Miss Andray Blockard, spent the week-end at the home of the Misses Mamie and Helen Davis in Occoquan.

Mrs. J. E. Bradford, Sr., Miss Ann Bradford and Mr. Arthur Sinclair, of Manassas, were week-end guests of Mrs. F. W. Hornbaker in Occoquan. Mrs. Hobert Wicker, of Occoquan, has returned from spending several weeks at her former home in Sanford, N. C.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Edson Lynn and his son, Myron, are on the sick list and we hope they will soon be well again.

The O-W-L Fire Department of Occoquan was called out on Saturday evening to combat a fire in a house occupied by Mr. Hollifield and family on Ed. Sheppard's place in Agnewville.

The Fire Department extinguished the fire with a loss of only about $200.00. Later that night the house caught fire again before the Fire Department could arrive there the house was almost completely destroyed. It appears evident that some of the electrical connections caused the fire both times. The Fire Department did a grand job at the first call, in that they extinguished the fire with very little damage. Had the occupants then cut the electricity off and left it off until a thorough inspection had been made, it is apparent the second fire would not occur. We feel sorry for the occupants who lost most of their belongings.

The Pohick Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Frank Hornbaker in Occoquan on Wednesday, March 1st. There was a very large attendance. All had a most enjoyable afternoon.

Mr. Austin Barbee and Capt. Thos. F. Joyce, of Occoquan, and Mr. Kenneth Dove and Mr. French Fleming, of Lorton, attended the meeting of the Clearing House Association at Purcellville on Tuesday, February 28. There was a very large attendance. Good speakers were there, who gave excellent talks on matters of great importance to every line of business.

The Resident Engineer of Prince William County has given a statement that he expects to have the bridge at Occoquan opened for traffic on Saturday, March 4th. It has been strengthened to support TEN TON vehicles.

Spring will soon be here again; and when it arrives we hope all the good residents of Occoquan will make every effort to clean up and make out Town a place from which Tourists will carry good reports home with them. We hope to have a TRUCK collect all the trash early in April. You are requested to put your TINS CANS and other trash in some kind of receptacles so they can easily be picked up. Anything scattered on the ground will not be taken away unless you load it on the truck yourself. Please start to make preparations for this pick-up now.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

Parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections. It will prove a precious heritage to them in after years.

And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper. — Psalms 1:3.

NOT FOR CHILDREN ONLY.

Every parent wants his children, everybody's children, to have a playground. But he needs one, too. All adults do. A hard-bitten superintendent of steel mills in Gary, Indiana, once went to the late Judge Elbert H. Gray and persuaded him, as chairman of the United States Corporation, to appropriate $250,000 toward the purchase of land along Lake Michigan, adjacent to Gary, to be given to the public as the Indiana Dunes State Park.

"I didn't know," a friend said to the superintendent, "that you had that much sentiment in you."

"It wasn't sentiment," he replied. "I merely pointed out to the Judge that in another generation or so, unless we acted now, all that land would be occupied by industries or homes, greatly increased in value, and out of reach. Our thousands of workers would then have no place to sit on the ground near the lake and eat picnic lunches undisturbed under real trees. All the signs would say 'Private Property; No Trespassing.' And that would tend to breed inefficient, discontented, dangerous-minded workers, ready for anything. That's why I wanted the park. There wasn't a spark of sentiment about it."

Maybe not. But the end served, all the same, was on the side of imperishable human values.

The ancient Greeks had a myth about a mighty wrestler. His name was Antaeus. He was a good deal of a nuisance, because he made every stranger wrestle with him; and if the stranger lost, he was put to death. Antaeus could be thrown. But he always got up stronger than ever, thanks to contact with Mother Earth. The great Hercules came along one day, and by holding Antaeus completely off the ground, he succeeded in strangling him, and so ended his career.

There is immense significance in this ancient tale. All of us are stronger after direct contact with ancient Mother Earth. We cannot long be kept away from it and still remain wholly normal and healthy. But an increasingly urbanized civilization makes even an occasional return to the good earth ever more difficult for many of us. That very difficulty, however, emphasizes the need. Happily many communities—led by alert groups of citizens—have long understood that need and have long been doing more than a little to meet it. For instance, they have built kiddie parks, wading pools, and woodland camps for the youngsters—and parks and flower gardens and tennis courts for the grown-ups.

In this as in most other cases it is no doubt only right to "think of the children first." Very well, let's do so. Let's give them a corner on recreational facilities of our communities, but let's save a corner—a grassy knoll or viney dell or just that acre down by the "depot"—for their mothers and dads. Or, better, for all of them to use together. — The Rotarian Magazine.

The good people of Manassas missed a great treat, when they failed to inspect the wonderful exhibit, of ancient needle-work, and hand carded, hand woven, bed spreads, which were shown by the Ladies Aid Society, at the M. E. Church, on Thursday of last week.

Many old articles of real merit were shown, such as a bed spread made in 1790, old china, old fashion book over 100 years, and many other articles too numerous to mention.

CATHARPIN AND VICINITY

The sessions of the Mission School, which have been conducted by the Rev. Mr. Schwartz, have proven very interesting and instructive. The enrollment was quite large, but owing to inclement weather and sickness, the average attendance was not as good as we had hoped to have.

Mrs. Berkeley Hoffman and children, of Greenwich, recently visited their relatives at "Deserette."

Serg't. W. K. Caldwell was stricken with a severe nasal hemorrhage about ten days ago and was rushed to the Naval hospital by his neighbor, Mr. J. David Harrover. His condition is much improved, but he will remain under the doctor's supervision while recovering his strength.

Mr. Edward Ellison, who spent the greater part of the winter in the "Sunny South," has returned to Prince William and is now assisting at Byrnes Filling Station on Lee Highway, during the convalescence of Mr. Byrnes who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McDonald, Sr., returned to Norton, Va., Sunday morning, after spending the week at "Oakwood." Mr. McDonald is connected with the Department of Trade and Industry of the State of Virginia. He is employed as instructor, in all phases of mining, to the superintendents and bosses, who are now compelled to pass rigid examinations before accepting any supervision in this hazardous industry.

Miss Rossell and Jean McDonald returned to their respective schools Wednesday night after attending the funeral of their grandfather. Miss Rossell is a teacher in Averett College, Danville, Va., while Jean is a sophomore in the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, N. C.

Dr. Robt. B. Hightower, assistant to Dr. Murphy of the Children's Health Department of Washington, D. C., was a supper guest at "Oakwood" Wednesday evening.

Among the relatives and friends from a distance who attended the funeral of Mr. C. R. McDonald were: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Onley and Mrs. Edward Willis, of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Brower, of Purcellville, Mrs. Charles H. Munday, Mrs. Augusta Lynn Webb and Mrs. Raymond L. Briggs, of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Judson Hoffman, of "Deserette" is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Howard Mills and Mrs. Neil Clemons of Washington, D. C.

Miss Hallie Dorsey, of "Lawnvale" is visiting relatives in Berryville.

Mrs. Will Brower and daughters, Bertha Pattie, attended the concert of the National Symphony Orchestra at Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C., Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. Glenn C. Cooper, of Warrenton, Rev. and Mrs. Chas. F. Phillips, Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Sapp, of Linden, Rev. and Mrs. Clarence L. Beard, of Baltimore, and Mrs. May Dogan, of Paradise, were among the many who called at "Oakwood" this week to offer their condolence.

Little Miss Rita Robertson, of "Lawnvale," entertained a number of her friends at a Marble Contest Saturday afternoon. Other games were played and very delicious refreshments served by the gracious little hostess.

Mrs. Charles F. Brower, Sr., returned Saturday for a short visit to her daughter, Mrs. Edward Willis, of Arlington.

Mrs. Sue C. Swart is spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Collins, who is ill with an attack of flu at her home at Annandale.

The Young People's Group have held their February meetings at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jennings Matthew, J. Worthington Alvey, Mrs. Anna Ellison and L. Jett Pattie. The young people are to be congratulated upon the excellency of their program, which are developing the spiritual life of the church as well as the social life of the community.

Mrs. W. K. Caldwell is with Mrs. Chas. R. McDonald at Oakwood for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Layton Laws and little son are with their parents at Sudley Mills. We are delighted to have them in our community.

CONGRESS CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

The first Congress of the United States assembled in New York City on March 4, 1789, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution, which had been ratified nine months before. The story of the first session of the body, now celebrating its 150th birthday anniversary, is told in detail in a story appearing next Sunday in The Star.

At the time the first Congress met, for example, it consisted of 11 States. Of the 13 British colonies which had fought the Revolution together, Rhode Island and North Carolina had failed to ratify the Constitution, adv.

LOCAL FIRM OPENS FEDERAL-STATE EGG GRADING STATION

Prince William Farmers Service working in cooperation with Southern States Marketing Cooperative, on Monday, February 20, opened a Federal-State egg grading station through which it is felt poultrymen of this community might market their eggs on a basis of Federal-State grades and thereby receive a better price and also through its educational program improve quality.

Southern States Marketing Cooperative in a few years has increased its volume from $160,000 to over $400,000 last year. Its costs have continued to go down as its volume has climbed. It is quite possible that in a few years the annual volume might be $1,000,000. This wholesale cooperative egg marketing service located at 404 12th Street, S. W., Washington, D. C., has unlimited possibilities not only in marketing of eggs but also poultry and other farmer's produce.

They are receiving eggs from North Carolina, West Virginia, Maryland number will be increased to fifty. Its marketing program is probably the most unique in the United States.

and Virginia directly and indirectly with thirteen grading stations. They expect within three years that this With the exception of one or two months in the year its entire receipts are marketed in the city of Washington. Its customers are made up of jobbers, chain stores, hotels, restaurants, stores, institutions and others.

They have done much to increase the demand for graded eggs. A great part of the increase is due to the loyal co-operation of its producers, particularly those who have supported the grading station throughout the year.

The purpose of this organization is to create greater interest in the production and marketing of eggs of better quality. It is the quickest method by which the average poultry raiser can increase the prices he receives for his eggs.

HAYMARKET

The February meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was a most successful one. Much business was discussed. A contest will be held at each meeting, and the room having the largest attendance of parents and friends will receive a treat. Miss Trueheart's room was the winner this time. Prof. W. E. Moore is making plans to obtain an excellent picture to be shown in the near future, the proceeds from which will be used to obtain curtains for the auditorium windows. This will make it possible for him to use our machine in the day time for visual education in the school. (Watch for our notice and be sure to see this picture.)

An interesting program was given. Rev. W. F. Carpenter, Rev. John S. Schwartz and Mr. Henry Maddox gave excellent talks on the importance of Week-Day Religious Education in Schools. Prof. Dan Eutsler, most efficiently accompanied by Miss Dorothy Bevard, gave a delightful violin selection from "Faust."

Be sure to attend our next meeting and cast your vote for your child's room.

The Committees in charge of the P.-T. A. supper and bingo party, Feb. 18th, desire to thank the patrons and friends for their generous contributions, and express appreciation to the public for its encouraging patronage.

On the evening of February 23 a most delightful program was given at the grade school, when a recital of social music was presented by the pupils of Mrs. Charles Wesley Gibbons. Every one performed in a most creditable manner, and certainly proved the joy and entertainment that may be received through music. Mrs. Gibbons deserves much commendation for placing musical instruction within the reach of the young of our district.
