SMITH URGES FOREST NEEDS

Conservation Head Discusses Important Forestry Problems

There needs to be a real awakening in Virginia to the value of farm woodlands and to the need of keeping them continuously productive in order to promote a sound, enduring rural economy, writes N. Clarence Smith, chairman of the Virginia Conservation Commission, in an article entitled, "Forestry in a Balanced Farm Program," in the August issue of The Southern Planter.

"When these lands begin to produce their maximum forest yields, we may confidently expect the establishment of new industries which will offer real relief to many of the social and economic problems confronting Virginia today," he stated. "With the advent of such new industries will come stabilization of property values, decreased unemployment, permanent homes and a happier, a more contented and a more prosperous people."

Pointing to the economic importance of timber farming to Virginia, Mr. Smith said that according to the latest available census figures, the principal forest and wood using industries in Virginia, including lumber, pulp and paper, plywoods, poles, piling, ties, veneer stock and other forest products outrank all other industries in the State, except agriculture. This situation exists, despite lack of proper management, and care and attention in many parts of the State.

Mr. Smith declared that there are in Virginia millions of acres of cut-over and idle land, much of which is non-restocking, a burden on owners and contributing little to the public revenue, that can be restored to productive use through forestry.

U. D. C. LAUDS SOUTH- ERN PATRIOTIC AIR

Mrs. E. H. Nash, Mrs. Geo. Kasehagen and Mrs. R. A. Hutchison were hostesses to the Manassas Chapter U.D.C. the first Wednesday in August, at the home of Mrs. Hutchison.

Mrs. William A. Coleman of Alexandria, Division historian, and Mrs. N. Ingraham Hall of Fairfax Station, chairman of the Fourth District, were honored guests.

Mrs. Newman read a clipping from her Confederate Scrap Book, which said, among other things, in a tribute to "Dixie" that it was the best loved tune in the United States, there seemed no section feeling regarding it. Galveston was the southern city for discussion. Mrs. Maud Kincheloe had been asked to prepare a paper on the topic, but on account of her accident was unable to be present.

Mrs. Coleman told of a movie reel that has recently been made in honor of Matthew Fontaine Maury, who, she said, had received great honor abroad but very little in his own country.

Mrs. Byrd presented the names of Miss Eugenia H. Osbourne and Mrs. Mary K. Scott for membership.

Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Coleman made informal talks, and expressed their pleasure in attending a meeting of the Manassas Chapter. Mrs. Hutchison had reported the re-organization of the Junior Chapter, and both of the visitors were delighted that it had been done. Mrs. Coleman's daughter is in charge of the Junior chapter at Arlington. Mrs. Coleman gave a very interesting and informative talk on the causes of the "War between the States."

The chapter adjourned to meet in September with Mrs. Marie Larkin. A refreshing ice course was served by the hostesses.

GAME AT TRADING POST

The Bull Run Trading Post baseball club won a very beautiful game last Sunday from the Centreville club. The score was 5 to 3. No doubt but what this was one of the finest games played in northern Virginia this season.

We have a real surprise for you this coming Sunday, August 13th, at 2:00 p.m.

If you are interested in baseball, don't fail to see this game, Sunday.

LIEUT. GIBSON TO PREACH HERE

Lt. Col. Churchill J. Gibson of the 29th Division, will preach at Trinity Church, on Sunday morning, August 13th, at 11:00. Col. Gibson is the brother of the rector, Rev. A. Stuart Gibson.

HELP THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

A beautiful crocheted bedspread, which was made for the Manassas Volunteer Fire Department by Mrs. E. R. Shoemaker, Manassas, R.F.D., is on display in a window of the Prince William Pharmacy. Chances on the bedspread may be obtained from Miss Nancy Lynn or at the Prince William Pharmacy.

PLENTY OF WATER FOR MANEUVERS

Associated Press Story Denied by Town and by Military Authorities

Daily papers earlier in the week carried a story by the Associated Press to the effect that the water supply at Manassas was inadequate, both in the Town and at the military camps.

Upon being advised that there was absolutely no foundation for the story and that there was plenty of first class water, the correspondent who was responsible for the story was withdrawn, after the Richmond Times-Dispatch was advised by Mr. W. F. Cocke, Manassas Town Manager, of the real situation.

"In regard to the adequacy of our water supply," Mr. Cocke wrote, "I would say that we are at present pumping about one half of the capacity of our wells. The military are getting as much water from the town supply as their requirements demand."

"Your correspondent," Mr. Cocke added, "either had an attack of nightmare, or else was gullible enough to listen to some private with a very lively imagination. If he has seen any ten thousand tank trucks in this it is probable that he had imbibed some liquid other than water which had multiplied his vision by a ratio of ten to twelve."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ENTERTAINS A DISTINGUISHED GUEST

On last Sunday the Prince William County Chamber of Commerce entertained Ex-Governor James Scrugham of Nevada at a luncheon given at the Stone House Inn. After lunch the Governor and his party were escorted over the Battlefield and given an exceedingly graphic description of both the First and Second Battles of Manassas by Maj. Joseph Hanson of the National Park Service.

Governor Scrugham, who now represents his State in the National Congress, has taken a life-long interest in the Manassas Battlefield as his father took part in both battles as a soldier in the Confederate Army from "Old Kentucky." He took an active interest in the bill passed by the recent Congress providing $56,000 for the erection of a museum on the Henry Farm, and ably supported Hon. Howard W. Smith, of the 8th Virginia District, in securing the passage of this bill.

Accompanying Governor Scrugham were Mr. G. E. Ruckstell, of Arizona, and two lady members of the Governor's secretarial staff. The other persons attending the luncheon were: Maj. Hanson, of the National Park Service; C. C. Cloe, president of the Prince William County Chamber of Commerce, and Wm. F. Cocke, representing the secretary of the chamber who was unavoidably absent from Manassas.

THE SURGEON GENERAL ENTERTAINED AT BULL RUN

Surgeon General Magee, of the United States Medical Corps, was entertained at a banquet last night at the Stables Kitchen, given in his honor by 100 high ranking officers of the 104th Medical Regiment, Maryland National Guard.

This was an unusual gathering. The first of its kind since the second battle of Bull Run, August 29th, 1862.

After enjoying the lovely dinner, Toastmaster Col. Frederick H. Vinup made some nice remarks concerning the evening, etc., and then introduced the Surgeon General James C. Magee, who gave a very pleasant talk that made the evening quite complete. All expressed themselves as having enjoyed the evening to the fullest extent. The Regimental band played softly during the dinner hour.

TROOP CONCENTRATIONS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED

The concentration of some 23,000 Regular and National Guard troops for the Third Corps Phase of the First Army maneuvers were completed in the Manassas area last Sunday and an intensive program of field exercises began last Monday morning.

For the first half of the two week training period, the exercises is designed to train troops in the regimental and divisional units, culminating the second week in a joint maneuver of all arms.

The schedule for the first week is as follows:

Monday—August 7, Battalion training (Under Regiment).

Tuesday—August 8, Two sided Battalion training (Under Regiment).

Wednesday—August 9, Two sided reinforced regimental exercises (Under Regiment).

Thursday—August 10, Two sided reinforced brigade exercises (Under Divisions).

Friday—August 11, Two independent division exercises.

One of the principal objects of this training is to qualify commanding officers of all grades in the actual handling of troops in the field and to give experience to higher commands and staffs.

Because the turn-over in enlisted personnel in both the Regular Army and the National Guard is so great, ordinary annual maneuvers are largely confined to elementary field exercises.

Once every four years, however, under the cycle of training set up by the War Department, each of four exercises in which the Regulars and the Guardsmen take part together.

In the large scale two-sided exercises of the second week, one fast division of Regulars (about 6,000 men) will be required to engage two slower moving divisions of much greater strength in men (about 16,000) and guns.

The exercises, however, will be conducted not for the purpose of testing the relative merits of the troops engaged but rather for their training value and to glean, if possible, some bits of additional data on the great problems of military organization.

SPECIAL FIELD MASSES ON SUNDAY

Father Widmer will conduct special field masses at Groveton at 8:00 a.m. and at Linton Hall at 9:15 a.m., Sunday morning, August 13. There will also be masses at Manassas at All Saints' Church at 8:00 and 10:30 a.m. The public is invited to attend any of these masses.

MANEUVERS ARE WELL UNDER WAY

Troops Go into Field All Next Week

To write a comprehensive story of the activities of twenty-five thousand troops in camp and their movements during the day and get it into the columns of a weekly newspaper is not an easy thing.

The general idea can be put down in a few words and then "side dressed" as best may be done. Three fourths of the uniformed visitors are civilians in their regular duties and need some preliminary "hardening up." Thus this week has largely been give over to a build-up along these lines, beginning with squad and battalion movements up to division movements which have been going on today.

Before we go any further, congratulations are in order for the fine way in which all these men came without any mishaps either to men or equipment. This spotless record has been marred by one accident which took place on the serpentine road above Clifton to which the ordinary traveler is not accustomed.

The local maneuvers are a part of a larger plan which takes in the Atlantic Seaboard. The diversion attack, which the "Blacks" will initiate sometime Sunday night, in the area north of Quantico, will serve to test the guardsmen who are quickly grasping the idea of both defense and attack.

Your correspondent's activities have largely been with the 29th Division and more especially the 91st Brigade, composed of the 1st and 116th Virginia, of which the commanding officers are Colonels J. Fulmer Bright, (mayor of Richmond) and G. Murrell Alexander, of Lynchburg. The brigade commander is Colonel Samuel Gardner Waller, of Front Royal, long known to all Virginia guardsmen. The unit also contains the 111th Field Artillery, commanded by Col. E. Sciatier Montagu, of Hampton.

It is a significant fact that the First Virginia is the oldest military unit in the United States, dating back prior to 1650 when Virginia counties were better known as "hundreds" and Lieut Colonels appointed by the Crown were the "big shots" of each community. Colonel Bright proved a delightful host and told about the former glories of this famous regiment. In 1757, its commanding officer was Col. George Washington; in 1776 (at the entrance into the Revolution) Col. Patrick Henry was at the head of the column; when the surge of Pickett's bloody charge at Gettysburg was written into history, Colonel Lewis Williams was leading the First Virginia into the jaws of destruction, going to his own death. George Mason was also an officer of the regiment.

The First is composed of such universally known local units as the Richmond Blues, the Richmond Grays, the Huntington Rifles (Newport News), Hopewell Rifles, Nottoway Grays (Blackstone), Monticello Guards (Charlottesville), Petersburg Grays, Lynchburg Light Infantry and Alexandria Light Infantry and Onancock Grays (Norfolk) (Note the prevalence of the use of name "Gray"—Ed note).

Of these perhaps the Richmond Blues have been best publicized. Only past May 10th, was the Sesquicentennial celebrated, its organization date having been May 10th, 1789.

On Tuesday morning while the 1st Virginia was going through its paces, some historically minded persons noted that it was actually doing over the same ground over which its predecessor operated on the event of the famous battle of the War between the States.

Yesterday the Henry farm was the scene of a contact between regiments. The job of defending Henry Hill was assigned to the 116th Virginia while the attacking infantry force was the

GOVERNORS OF VIRGINIA, MARYLAND AND PENNSYLVANIA TO BE HERE

Public Interest Will Center at Reviews on Saturday

As the Army Maneuvers at Manassas progress it becomes increasingly evident that some comprehensive plan lies behind the progressive movements now underway. A theoretical foe has in some way gotten past the naval defense and landed extensive forces in the vicinity of Washington, and in the New England area. Major General James K. Parsons, Commanding Officer of the Third Corps Area, and a native of Alabama is in complete charge of the Manassas Maneuvers, and will direct the "Blue Army" against the invading "Black Army." The final phase of the great war game will culminate later in the month at Plattsburg, New York, where approximately twice as many troops will be concentrated as are here in Prince William.

The high point in the Manassas Area, from the point of view of interest to civilian spectators will be the reviews of the 28th and the 29th Divisions next Saturday, August 12. The Governors of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania will be in attendance and it will be necessary to be on the grounds early to take full advantage of the spectacular review. The week to follow the various troops leave their base camps and go into coordinated action on a large scale, during which civilian observation will be difficult and necessarily restricted.

Announcement has been made that the Governor of Pennsylvania will arrive at 28th Division Headquarters in the late afternoon of Friday, August 11th, to be the guest of honor at that evening. It is expected that the guests at the dinner will include the Governor of Maryland and the Governor of Virginia and about 150 other distinguished persons. A nineteen gun salute will be accorded the visiting Governors.

Following the dinner, there will be brief addresses by the Governors present. There will then be an impressive memorial service in honor of the 2,874 members of the 28th Division who died in France.

Beginning at 7:45 p.m., immediately after the close of the dinner, the 28th Division will present a simulated attack on the entire camp by planes from Bolling Field under the command of Lt. Col. Victor Dallin, Division Air Officer, commanding the 103rd Observation Squadron. The camp will be defended by the 213th Coast Artillery. In addition to the guests, the attack will be watched by all the troops of the 28th Division who will be assembled on the slope of the hill across from Division Headquarters. The announcing system will also be used here in order to explain all the details to the spectators.

The Review of the 28th Division will take place Saturday morning, August 12th, at 8:30 o'clock. The former headquarters of General Beauregard, now known as the Portner Estate, a short distance north of Manassas on Route 234, (the Manassas-Stone House Road) is the location selected.

A public announcement system will be set up in order that the various units can be identified, and information given regarding their war history, for the benefit of the spectators.

Governor James of Pennsylvania has announced that he will attend, and it is expected that the Governors of Maryland and Virginia will also be present. Following the Review of the 28th Division, the distinguished guests will proceed to the Review of the 29th Division.

This will be held at 10:30 a.m. on the west side of Route 234, about four miles north of Manassas, between the famous Chinn House and the Henry Farm Battlefield Park.

It is expected that adequate provision will be made to care for the heavy traffic entering the area, and for the parking of spectators' cars.

GUESTS OF GENERAL PARSONS

Among those who have enjoyed the genial hospitality of the Commanding General this week are Messrs. E. R. Conner, Robert Weir, Jenkyn Davies, R. D. Wharton, W. H. Lamb, L. Ledman, Ernest Trusler, Col. Robert Hutchison, Judge Wm. Hill Brown, jr., and Judge C. Lacey Compton.

"By restoring forests to these areas and organizing them for sustained yield, production of raw materials can be provided for existing and new wood-using industries, and the communities founded on such industries can plan safely for a long life," he declared.

"Timber is a poor-land crop," writes the author. "Hills that are rocky and steep, sites that are too wet or too dry, soils that are infertile or worn out, will grow trees. But to yield the farmer his greatest profit and usefulness, the farm woodland should be fully stocked with high quality trees. Unused land, not needed for other agricultural purposes, should be planted to trees. No farmer can afford to pay taxes on idle land."

Approximately 200,000 Virginia farmers secure supplemental cash incomes each year from timber, posts, pulpwood and fuel, the writer asserts. This cash comes sometimes when no other crop can be sold for cash. The farm woodlands provide posts when there is no money to buy them, and they provide work for men and teams when there is no other work to be had. "Unfortunately, to a great extent, forest land values in Virginia have depreciated by practices of farmers in over-cutting timber of the valuable species and permitting inferior species to occupy and to reseed naturally the ground," says the author. "As a result of such unregulated cutting, forest lands in the State are, in a large part, poorly or only partly stocked with worth while species and substantial returns from them must necessarily be deferred until, under proper management, the forests can be rehabilitated and the lands begin to yield a regularly mature crop of timber and other salable products."

"In the past, Virginia farmers have done little, generally speaking, to increase the income from their woodlands through improved management. Too heavy cutting of the timber stand on farm woodlands has been one of the common mistakes of farmers in the State. The advent of the small sawmill has been the principal cause of overcutting in Virginia, as elsewhere throughout the South. In many cases, farmers have sacrificed stumpage under pressure of financial difficulties or simply because a small sawmill happened to be temporarily located in the vicinity."

"Often farmers have converted all their noncultivable timber into lumber, ties, posts, pulpwood or other products for the sake of immediate cash income, when through selective cuttings and careful marketing they probably could have obtained an equal income without the sacrifice of adequate growing stock."

"Good farm forestry at the present time is to thin timber for pulpwood, but grow poles, piling or saw logs. This means to grow quality timber as a main crop. Generally the market pays more for saw logs and piling than pulpwood. To grow quality timber would seem, therefore, the only economical goal for the average farmer."

Three Age Groups Where Tuberculosis Takes Heavy Toll

Babies under one year are safer today from tuberculosis than was the case in 1923. Ten years ago, 1,300 infants less than one year old died of tuberculosis in this country, while in recent years the annual toll has been 670. The disease is not inherited, but young children are liable to be innocent victims if they are exposed to persons who have active tuberculosis. Christmas Seals are enabling parents to learn more about tuberculosis, thereby protecting their children.

Young girls are particularly susceptible to tuberculosis. Intensive efforts, financed by Christmas Seals, are directed toward turning back the threat of this disease from young people. Many schools and colleges throughout the country recommend tuberculin testing and X-raying to discover whether or not their students have tuberculosis. Out of 200 persons who die every day from tuberculosis in the United States, 33 are between the ages of 15 and 25.

While more women than men are victims of tuberculosis up to 30 years of age, the toll among men 40 to 65 years of age is approximately twice that among women of the same age. Medical authorities emphasize the importance of parents being free from tuberculosis in order to reduce the danger of infecting their children. The anti-tuberculosis movement receives its main support from Christmas Seals.

FUR EXTERMINATION

The fur industry of the United States is being destroyed, according to a story appearing next Sunday in The Star, and unless better means of conservation are developed a very substantial natural resource will soon be lost.

The story tells how this country, long the world's chief source of fur supply, does not today produce enough fur to meet more than a third of its own demand and sketches the plans of the United States Biological Survey to conserve and increase fur-bearing animals.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. 14-1f.

TELLING THE WORLD

Montreal . . . Telephone service is now available to Newfoundland, the service having been opened recently with appropriate ceremony at Montreal, Canada, by conversations between the Governor-General of Canada and the Governor of Newfoundland. Newfoundland has thus become the seventy-eighth country or territory to which Bell System subscribers may be connected. The circuit will be maintained by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, the Avalon Telephone Company of Newfoundland and the Canadian Marconi Company. Calls between Newfoundland, Canada, and all world points will be routed through Montreal.

Copenhagen . . . The Jutland Telephone Company will install the first dial telephone exchange in Denmark. The cost of the project will be $1,407,000. The work is to commence in the spring of 1939 and it will take three years to complete the project.

New York . . . Nowhere else in the world are public telephones or pay stations as widely used as in the United States. New York state itself has about 115,000 public telephones, more than a sixth of the nearly 600,000 in the nation-wide Bell System. In the C. and P. area there are about 11,906, 5,000 of which are in Washington, 2,500 in Maryland, 2,450 in Virginia and 950 in West Virginia. The number of public telephones in this country is greater than the number of all kinds of telephones in the whole of Italy, or in the entire continent of Australia.

Stockholm . . . A rapid advance in the number of telephone subscribers during the last three years has been reported in Sweden. During this period approximately 160,000 new telephones have been installed, representing an increase of 25 per cent since the end of 1935. There are now in operation about 780,000 telephones, or roughly 125 per 1,000 inhabitants, against 118 per 1,000 inhabitants at the end of 1937. The major portion of the increase is represented by subscriptions from private individuals, such as farmers, workmen, small business men, etc., rather than by large enterprises.

Magnetic Heat Motor At Academy Of Sciences In D. C. Baffles Visitors

Bell Laboratories Exhibit Shows How Telephone Works, Has
"See Your Voice" Device

The magnetic heat motor on display in the National Academy of Sciences, Washington.

Many visitors to the National Academy of Sciences Museum in Washington are attracted to the exhibit of the Bell Telephone Laboratories which looks like a perpetual motion machine, but isn't. It consists of a small glass disc which rotates continuously and apparently without being propelled.

It is a magnetic heat motor, and here's how it works. The rim of the disc passes at one point a small horseshoe magnet. The rim is a magnetic tape consisting of an iron alloy which requires very little heat to make it less responsive to the attraction of the small magnet. Iron loses its magnetism when heated. A small electric lamp concealed in the base of the apparatus furnishes the heat. When the magnetic flux through the heated portion of the disc rim is reduced, the horseshoe magnet draws at unheated portion of the tape into the gap between its two poles. This new portion of the rim of the disc is then heated and so the disc continues to turn.

The Laboratories have also installed in the museum apparatus by which you may "see your voice." By speaking into a telephone attached to the device, the complex vibrations which constitute speech are seen as a fluctuating line of light on a screen.

The action of the carbon telephone transmitter is also illustrated by a large mechanical model, which can be operated by the spectator.

Another exhibit demonstrates the action of the vacuum tube amplifier by making the plate of a large vacuum tube glow more or less brightly in response to the changes in intensity of telephone currents which it amplifies.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble.—Nahum 1:7.

THE MILITARY MANEUVERS

Historic Manassas has seen much of fighting men and military movements. At First Manassas in 1861 there were engaged 35,732 Union men and 31,810 Confederates. At Second Manassas, in 1864, much larger armies were engaged. The Federal Army, according to the Historical Division of the National Park Service, numbered approximately 100,000 men, and were routed by approximately 55,000 Confederates.

In the actual combat maneuvers which will culminate in Prince William County next week there will be engaged, aside from the supply service approximately 16,000 officers and men. Against them will be invading "Black" army of only some 5,800 officers and men, but they are especially organized for speed and mobility. The total number of men engaged in military activity in Prince William County during the present maneuvers, therefore, will only approximate half the number engaged in the First Battle of Manassas, and about one-fourth that engaged in Second Manassas in 1864.

But the greater mobility and strength of action in modern warfare makes the present concentration one of great striking or defensive power, and it is a source of pride that we have in these days of international strain, such a formidable military equipment and such a fine personnel. Officers and men, throughout the present maneuvers, have made a most excellent reputation for themselves, not only in military ability, but in personal courtesy and fine demeanor, and their presence among us in such great number has been a most pleasing experience.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

To the general satisfaction of folks at home, the Congress of the United States has adjourned. The Session, however, is one which will have a distinctive place in our political history because it marks a definite termination of the legislative branch of government and a re-assertion by Congress of individual authority and responsibility.

It is true that something like thirteen billion dollars has been appropriated and the huge national debt correspondingly increased, we are nevertheless deeply indebted to this Congress for the determined stand taken in the direction of economy in slashing the proposals of the Administration so heavily.

Although there is no formal coalition of Republicans and Conservative Democrats, their unity of purpose in checking national extravagance has accomplished the desired ends and resulted in great loss of prestige to the Chief Executive, who certainly lost his control of Congress.

Out of the Session, our beloved Congressman, Hon. Howard W. Smith, has emerged a truly national figure. Black-listed last year by the C.I.O. and marked as one of the first legislators to be blasted by the Presidential Purge, he has steadfastly adhered to the ideals of conservative democracy and in the closing hours of the Session was appointed by the Speaker of the House to head the Committee authorized to investigate the National Labor Relations Board. We are deeply indebted to Howard Smith and to the men of his type who have stood shoulder to shoulder in this session to permanently and long period of fanatical experimentation which has been steadily undermining the national credit while failing dismally to cure the national depression.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP AND THE SOLDIER

Dear Editor:

As a citizen of Manassas, and in order that misunderstanding may not arise between the citizens of our town and community and the men wearing the uniform of the U. S. Army, permit me to say as a soldier of 1898, I speak from experience.

First of all we must recognize in the uniform the soldier wears lies the armed defense of this great free country of ours which we love to call "The Home of the Brave and the Land of the Free." Treat the soldier as you would wish to be treated. If he passes you and speaks, speak to him politely. If he halts to ask a question answer him as you would any one in civilian attire, if he lounges around and seems grumpy and morose, engage him in conversation. If he does not care to talk, do not be rude to him, it may be he has something important on his mind that he wishes to solve. Invite him into your house, let him know that you are friendly to him and wish to make his stay pleasant while he is in the town and consider most of these men whom folks sometimes call "hard boiled" have mothers and fathers and sisters and homes. They still love the boy and want him to be nice and to be treated as a friend, and if perchance some of them stray away from the beaten path, imbibe too freely and even become boisterous, do not condemn them too harshly. End them a helping hand. It will do you and them both good. If a situation arises that you can not cope with, call an officer. These gentlemen can and will take care of complaint, in any case do not make a complaint against a soldier to his commanding officer—only in case of last resort. These gentlemen have their regular duties in taking care of their own commands. If it becomes necessary your local officer will do that.

Let us citizens and soldiers do our part and each and all enjoy a good time.

Friendly Citizen.

STEAMBOAT "TELEPHONE" QUEEN OF OHIO WHEN INDUSTRY WAS YOUNG

Ancient Stern-wheeler Named for New Invention in 1878 To Symbolize Speed

The steamer "Telephone" which plied the Upper Ohio and Kanawha Rivers from 1878 to 1885.

Sixty years ago the "Telephone," a stern-wheel steamer 150 feet in length, left Portsmouth, Ohio, on her maiden trip to Pittsburgh. At that time fast boats had often been called the "Telegraph" but only two months after the first commercial telephone exchange in the world had been opened in New Haven, Conn.,—the name "Telephone" was an innovation. Alexander Graham Bell's invention was new and mysterious and the name "telephone" stirred the imaginations of the residents along the upper Ohio River. It was then six months before the first telephone exchange was to be opened in the state, and, of course, long before the telephone was in general use.

The three Maddy brothers, who in 1876 had become prominent in steamboat circles on the upper Ohio River through their ownership and operation of the steamers "Salt Valley" and "Exchange," sought a fitting name for their new boat.

The telephone was a topic of much discussion and on March 4, 1878, the Maddy brothers announced that they had selected a very appropriate name for their new steamer—"The Telephone." Oddly enough, the bell which they placed on the "Telephone" was formerly in use on the steamer "Exchange," on which they had served and had been financially interested. The ship was launched at Ironton, Ohio, April 27, 1878, and about a month later began her run between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

On November 1, 1878, the "Telephone" permanently abandoned her Cincinnati and Pittsburgh schedule and entered the trade for which she was built, that between Wheeling and Charleston, W. Va., the latter port being on the Kanawha River. On December 2, the Maddy brothers sold the "Telephone" to the Kanawha Valley Packet Company, and the following week she entered the Charleston and Gallipolis trade. The "Telephone" was queen of the upper Ohio and Great Kanawha rivers and did much to publicize the instrument from which she derived her name in the early pioneer days of the telephone industry.

After an interesting career on the Kanawha and Ohio Rivers, she was damaged by ice on January 2, 1885, and sank. After having difficulties in trying to raise her, the job was abandoned and the ship was sold to wreckers.

The interesting story of the "Telephone" was dug out of dusty newspaper files and historical material by Clarence A. Swoyer, of Columbus, Ohio, chairman of the historical research committee of the N. C. Kingsbury Chapter No. 2, Telephone Pioneers of America. He became interested in the historic steamer during the course of his research into the early history of the telephone industry in Ohio.

V. P. S. CELEBRATES 100,000th CUSTOMER

Banquet Served by Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce

Officials of the Virginia Public Service Company and heads of Waynesboro city government and civic organizations gathered at the Hotel General Wayne this afternoon for a luncheon meeting sponsored by the Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce to commemorate the signing of the 100,000th customer by the Company.

Speakers at the luncheon included S. H. Hall, president of the Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce; Jay W. Johns, of Charlottesville chairman of the board of directors of the V.P.S. and M. J. O'Connell of Alexandria, president of the V.P.S.

Prior to the luncheon the Company officials called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Moomau on Elkins Avenue in Waynesboro to officially congratulate them on being the 100,000th customer.

Mr. S. H. Hall acted as master of ceremonies for the program at the hotel, which was broadcast by remote control facilities of station W.S. V.A. Mr. Hall said in part: "In addition to our wonderful financial, educational, commercial and transportation facilities, we are blessed with a diversification of industrial establishments that represent a capital investment of $15,000,000.00, employing 3,500 persons at an annual payroll of close of $4,000,000.00."

"This broadcast is a salute to one of these industries that has always been an asset to this community. The other day this company passed a memorable milestone in its path of progress by placing on its books its 100,000th customer. I am referring to the Virginia Public Service Company that supplies this city as well as 600 other communities in Virginia and West Virginia with electric service."

"We have gathered here today to express our appreciation to the officers of that Company for the fine spirit of cooperation and understanding that has been displayed by them over the period of years they have served this community."

Guests of honor were the honorable mayor of Waynesboro, A. R. Harding, Honorable C. G. Quisenberry, member of the House of Delegates from this district; L. G. Vass, city manager, Felix E. Edmunds, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, S. Dean Sutphin, president of Rotary Club; Walter L. Hickok, president of Kiwanis club; Mrs. E. Driver Etter, business and Professional Woman's Club; Mrs. Cyrus Pyle, Woman's Club, and Mrs. Ernest East of the Wenonah P.T.A.

Mr. Jay W. Johns spoke briefly on the progress made by the Company since its organization in 1926. He pictured the development of more efficient lighting, refrigeration and cooking appliance due to the initiative of Electric Utilities and Electric Appliance Manufacturers. This same transformation has taken place in the use of electric service in stores and factories.

Mr. Johns stated: "V.P.S. was organized in January, 1926. It consisted of many small plants each dependent upon itself. In order to tie together this far-spread operation it was necessary for the Company to spend millions of dollars for additional generating equipment and transmission lines in order to give the small communities dependability and transmission lines in order to give the small communities dependability and availability of power for domestic, commercial and industrial development."

Many of the 500 industrial customers served by the company located in these communities after our interconnected system of generating plants assured them of ample dependable power, at low cost.

After thirteen years of pioneering the Company new supplies 100,000 customers in an area of 15,000 sq. miles in which are located 600 communities."

Mr. M. J. O'Connell, V.P.S. president, also expressed the Company's congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Moomau and pledged to them as representatives of all customers the best possible service at the lowest cost consistent with good service.

He elaborated on the three responsibilities of an utility official:

1st. Render highest possible type of service at the lowest cost possible.

2nd. Afford employees better opportunities of advancement by means of competent management.

3rd. Give to those who have a financial interest in our business an administration filled with faithfulness and competence.

He pointed out that in 1929 the average domestic customer used 610 KWH per year and paid on an average 6.79 cents for an annual bill of $42.52 while in 1939 this average domestic customer used 980 KWH and paid $4.08 cents per unit, giving us an annual revenue of $40.00 per average customer.

Mr. O'Connell also mentioned the fact that V.P.S. spends annually in Virginia and West Virginia for fuel alone a quarter of a million dollars, and an additional half million dollars to cover freight on this fuel.

Last Word in Convenience

The desire to make a car reflect its owner's individuality is a potent factor in the average motorist's choice of accessory equipment. And it would be hard to find a more thoroughly "personalized" car than this new Chevrolet in which Mary Pickford is shown applying a touch of makeup. As if the handy illuminated vanity mirror were not enough, the car has a special kit of Miss Pickford's own famous beauty aids, now on the market under her name. The container, holding lipstick, rouge, powder and cream, folds neatly up into the glove compartment when not in use. Inset shows close-up of vanity case.

He said, "Our annual payroll is in round figures $2,000,000.00. This money rapidly finds its way into the channels of trade in the various communities, the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker all get a part."

WELFARE-RECREATION IN 3rd CORP AREA

Col. Leon R. Cole, who is in charge of the welfare-recreation section at the 3rd Corps Headquarters outlined the purpose of the department as assisting in uplifting moral and pride in the organization. There is the religious phase and the recreation phase headed under chaplains organization. Religious services are made available 1 or more time a week for every denomination. Arrangements are made with civilian ministers, Catholic priests held field masses for troops. Wednesday evening the chief chaplain of the U. S. Army assembled all chaplains in area and discussed plans for welfare in the fields. All that is necessary for religious services is a large open air theatre, bands and chaplains to lead.

Recreation is always given much attention. Every company has a full supply of athletic equipment, softball, handball and all mass games are stressed. Up to date movies are shown every night and are preceded by band concerts. There is a certain amount of work to be done and when this is finished in the afternoon the men are free for recreation. Religion and athletics are combined into the building moral and health. Good food and careful preparation of food are stressed.

NEWS EXCHANGES

Washington . . . An overseas telephone call is an event in most telephone offices outside of the larger cities. Four such calls in a single day would be something noteworthy in most American cities, but four overseas connections at one time at one long distance operator's position at the switchboard, with the distant ends of the four conversations hundreds and even thousands of miles apart, might easily fall into the "believe-it-or-not" category.

Yet, this is exactly what happened recently in the Washington, D. C., long distance office. One of the connections was a call to London, another was a call to Paris, the third was to Juneau, Alaska, and the fourth to Buenos Aires, Argentina.
The conversations with London, Paris and Buenos Aires were handled via New York and radio telephony, and the one to Alaska by way of Chicago,
Seattle and radio telephony.

London . . . In the latest London telephone directory, issued in two volumes—A to K and L to Z—are listed 5,000 Smiths, the largest entry of any single name, according to The Times of London. Next comes the Joneses, with more than 10 pages of listings;
then the Harrises, with seven pages and then the Cooks, with three pages of listings.

There are 600,000 listings in the current London directory, which contains 1,254 pages. Approximately 1,700,000 copies of the two London volumes are issued and distributed to subscribers every six months.

Yellowstone . . . Ranger W. Verde
Watson at the Gallatin Station in Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, can't understand why, when they have all the trees in the 2,200,000 acres of park forest to put into their dams, beavers have to use telephone poles near his station.

Ranger Watson recently tried to call the superintendent's office. Getting no response, he decided to investigate the lines. Several miles east of his station he found that beavers had gnawed down poles, felling wires and all. Park naturalists report that beavers will rarely work on treated or dead wood, usually preferring live trees.

Washington . . . The Federal Weather Bureau has announced the perfection of a telephone device whereby a close watch can be kept on rising waters in rivers all over the country. The bureau is connected by telephone with a gauge located on a river bank, and, by timing the sound of a gong in the gauge, can tell how fast the river is rising.

NEWS OF OUR COLORED FRIENDS (Waterfall)

The services at Olive Branch were well attended on 3rd Sunday in July. Rev. John S. Thomas of Seminary, Alexandria, Va., was speaker for the a.m. and p.m. services. He is a very fine speaker and one of our own young men, whose grandparents were members of this church years ago. We are very proud of Rev. Thomas' ability as a minister and love to hear him preach.

Last Word in Convenience

The desire to make a car reflect its owner's individuality is a potent factor in the average motorist's choice of accessory equipment. And it would be hard to find a more thoroughly "personalized" car than this new Chevrolet in which Mary Pickford is shown applying a touch of makeup. As if the handy illuminated vanity mirror were not enough, the car has a special kit of Miss Pickford's own famous beauty aids, now on the market under her name. The container, holding lipstick, rouge, powder and cream, folds neatly up into the glove compartment when not in use. Inset shows close-up of vanity case.

On Sunday, August 13, at the 11 o'clock service the pastor has secured Sheikh Raphael Emmanuel, a native of ancient Babylon to be the guest speaker for the services. This distinguished poet and composer, a Nestorian Christian, will appear in the dress of a sheik of the Holy Land and speak on the subject: "Bible Lands: Yesterday and Today." The Sheik is a Nestorian Orthodox Christian and traces his ancestry back to the day of Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon. He comes from the country of Abraham and of the Garden of Eden. He will revive ancient scenes of Bible times in song and story and verse. This is a rare treat for Manassas and the church should be filled to its capacity to hear his message. Mr. Emmanuel has appeared in many of the great churches of all faiths throughout the Old Dominion, and many of the colleges and high schools and in Lyceums.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, August 13.

The Golden Text will be "The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him" (Lam. 3:24).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God; incline thine ear unto me, and hear my speech. As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness" (Psalms 17:6,15).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Science of being reveals man as perfect, even as the Father is perfect, because the Soul, or Mind, of the spiritual man is God, the divine Principle of all being, and because this real man is governed by Soul instead of sense, by the law of Spirit, not by the so-called laws of matter" (p. 302).

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Second Annual Event at Urbanna Promise Much Entertainment

Historic old Middlesex County is being very much alive these days in anticipation of its second annual Labor Day celebration at Urbanna.

Plans are nearly complete for what is certain to prove the largest Regatta and Water Carnival ever staged in this section of Virginia. The Middlesex County Woman's Club is sponsoring the affair as they did the very successful Historical Day last year. The entire County and a large number of persons outside the County will take part in the Labor Day events.

The Regatta, embracing all types of inboard and outboard motor boat races and a good variety of sailing races, will be held on the Rappahannock River and in picturesque Urbanna Creek. These races will be run from ten in the morning on into the afternoon. If the entries already received before the schedule is complete are any indication, the Regatta is sure to be the largest ever run on the Rappahannock. The prizes offered are types suggested by racing drivers themselves. Mrs. Lewis Jones of Urbanna and Mrs. Ben Temple of Rosehill head the Regatta Committee, and Fred Sittord, Jr., of Richmond and Christchurch is chairman of the Racing Committee, of which W. L. Sams, Ben Temple, Eugene Cockrell, Stuart Michaux and Reid Dunn are members.

To lend variety to the sporting events the crack Urbanna Baseball Team will play a sectional game in the afternoon, and an open swimming meet, in which prizes will be awarded, will be held at a point in Urbanna Creek which is particularly good from a spectator point of view. This will be followed by special swimming features.

At sundown, the most spectacular event of the day, to be seen from the same point of vantage, will be a colorful parade of gaily bedecked boats of all types and a good number of specially built floats, one of which will carry the queen of the Water Carnival and her court.

The Queen, representing Aphrodite, Goddess of Love and Beauty, will be Miss Elizabeth Hart of Wake. Miss Frances Moore of Saluda will be her attendant, and her maids of honor will be girls from the six surrounding counties, five of whom are Miss Christine Dutton of Gloucester, Miss Thelma Flook of Mathews, Miss Elizabeth Warner of Essex, Miss Lucy Jeffries of King and Queen, and Miss Jean Robinson of Lancaster.

During the Carnival a large choir of the best negro voices in the County will be heard from across the water. At night the Junior Woman's Club is sponsoring a Carnival Ball.

Coastguard cuers and he Sirene, Virginia's beautiful new boat, will be on hand to assist in the races and add color to the scene.

Charles A. Taylor, Jr., of Urbanna, is General Chairman of the celebration with the following chairmen to assist him: Mrs. L. N. Weaver, Mr. J. M. Barnhardt, Mrs. E. W. Chappell, Mrs. Harris Booth, Mrs. Percy Jones of Urbanna, Mrs. W. R. Gwathmey of Ruark, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cockrell of Christchurch.

Between forty and fifty prominent persons in the State have been invited to attend the celebration, among them Senators Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd, Governor Price, Mayor Bright, S. Otis Blom, Thomas Lomax Hunter, William Tuck, O'Conner Goolrick, John Stewart Bryan, Ashton Dovell, Robert Norris, William Wright, Colgate Darden, Thomas Ozlin, E. R. Combs, Dave E. Satterfield, William Butzner, Judge A. D. Dabney and Judge Douglas Mitchell.

HAYMARKET

Miss Roberta Payne and Mr. Robert Tyler are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Karsten, Jr., at Fairview Beach.

Miss Rose Gardner of Sinal hospital, Baltimore, and a friend, Miss Lucille White, are spending their vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gardner, at Hickory Grove. Miss Helen Jacobs, of Washington, D. C., is also a guest of the Gardners.

The Boy Scouts are camping at Fairview Beach this week.

MRS. VETTER ENTER-TAINS LO-CO-WO CLASS

The Lo-cowo class of the Grace M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. C. W. Vetter on July 27, 1939.

Miss Betty Shirley was leader of program, and gave a very interesting reading and talk on Brazil missions. There were eight members present. Committees responded with favorable reports.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

MANEUVERS ARE UNDER WAY

famous First. The general staff remained at the point where Stonewall Jackson earned his sobriquet and the umpire sent messengers scurrying over the fields to tell the various units when their various movements had been successful or vice versa.

It was a very hot day, almost as hot the day of the actual battle. But the men didn't seem to mind, and it was hard for a layman to decide just who had won when it was all over. The most notable thing perhaps was the part that the lowing flying scout planes took, sometimes darting as low as a 100 feet from the battle lines.

Tomorrow, there will be a bridge building operation on Cedar Run, not so far from Brentsville. In the evening, General Drum, Lieutenant General of the United States Army and the three commanding generals of the several army corps will be the guests of General Parsons. The Governors of Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania are also expected to be present. A nineteen gun salute will be fired in honor of the visitors, which will include many other notables. All of this will take place in camp of the 28th Division, north of Manassas.

After dinner, there will be an address by the Governors present, after which there will be a memorial service for members of the 28th Division who fell in France.

The camp will then be subject to an air raid by planes from Bolling Field and defense will be offered by the 213th Coast Artillery. A public announcement system will aid the public in understanding the methods of attack and defense.

Saturday morning, the 28th Division will review at 8:00 a.m. on the level plain about a mile north of Manassas, near Fort Beauregard (Manassas-Stone House Road).

At 10:30 a.m. the 29th will march in review just off the Sudley Road on the Chinn farm. Visitors will enter by the northerly road into the grounds.

Military police, assisted by State officers, will handle the traffic.

By way of closing one can only say that the neat orderly condition of the camps and the quiet fashion in which the boys have come into the country side is a silent tribute to complete organization. Some of the terrain they are now occupying was certainly not nearly so clean and well-conditioned as it will be when the troops go away. And is the canteen good! Those army cooks are no novices and the boys who serve the tables are most excellent hosts.

CO-OPS TO HOLD ANNUAL SESSION AT NOKESVILLE

Plans are being formulated for the annual Southern States Patrons' meeting for the Nokesville and nearby communities to be held at Brentsville District High School Wednesday evening, August 16, at 8 o'clock, according to J. Julian Baker, district manager of Southern States Cooperative. All farmers of this section, their wives, children, and friends, are invited.

A discussion, "What Farmers Expect of Southern States Cooperative," will be led by Frank Foster, Nokesville. W. Davis Nolley, Nokesville, will explain "The Effect Southern States Cooperative Has Had on the Price and Quality of Farm Supplies in Our Community," and Mrs. A. B. Lawson, also of Nokesville, will talk on "Woman's Part in an Agricultural Cooperative's Program." Walter Sudd will outline his duties in a talk entitled "My Responsibility as Southern States Distributor." The annual report will be given by a representative of Southern States Cooperative.

Two members will be elected to serve on the board for the fiscal year just beginning. There will be contests with prizes, also refreshments.

One of the features of the program will be the showing of the "Southern States News Reel" in technicolor.

Lester W. Huff, Nokesville, who will preside, declared that he expects this session to be the most interesting, instructive, and entertaining patrons' meeting ever held in this section.

Southern States Cooperative, and the local board are being assisted by the following chairmen of patron committees in planning the meeting: M. S. Kerlin, D. E. Earhart, B. F. Hedrick, C. B. Fitzwater, Leo Garman, and J. F. Hale.

FIELD ARTILLERY BANQUET

Friday, August 11th, the 176 Field Artillery of Pennsylvania will banquet 100 guest officers at the Stables Kitchen, Col. Schock acting as Toast Master. According to the preparations, this will be one of the gala affairs during the maneuvers at Bull Run.

CHAPLAIN TO PREACH AT HAYMARKET

Major McCallum, Chaplain of the District National Guard, will preach at St. Paul's Church, Haymarket, on Sunday, August 13, at 11:00 a.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

ODDITIES AT THE FAIR

NEW YORK—Here are a few of the strikingly unusual things visitors will find at the New York World's Fair 1939:

A parachute tower from which visitors may "bail out" at an elevation of 250 feet and be sure of a "happy landing."

Revolving "magic carpets" from which you may look down as from a height of two miles upon "The City of Tomorrow" inside the 200-foot Perisphere.

A "Tree of Life" carved from the trunk and branches of an elm planted in Connecticut in 1781 by Revolutionary War prisoners.

"Steve Brodie" jumping six times a day from a reproduction of the Brooklyn Bridge.

The most valuable wheat field for its size in the world in full growth.

Five million dollars worth of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and other gems in one glittering display.

The steel-walled bathysphere in which descent has been made miles down in the black depths of the ocean.

"Rocket gun" by which passengers will be shot to the moon, or Mars someday—perhaps.

The model of a human eye so large visitors may enter it and look out upon the Fair's busy scene just as if the eye were doing the looking.

Two hundred blooded cows being milked daily on a revolving platform.

An orange grove transplanted intact all the way from Florida.

Automobiles with living drivers in hair-raising collisions and flying somersaults.

The largest opal in the world.

An oil well in operation with real drillers in the "cast."

The largest model railroad ever constructed.

Puppets 14 feet tall dramatizing

the contents of the familiar bathroom medicine cabinet.

Displays of rare orchids, renewed every three days by plants flown to the Fair from Venezuela.

The tremendous discharge of 10,000,000 volts of man-made lightning.

A Brazilian exhibit building erected on stilts.

A floor made of cotton.

Ricksha runners from South Africa six and a half feet tall and clad mostly in feathers, horns and beads.

A waterfall cascading from the high roof of a building.

Mural paintings that change their colors while you're looking at them.

Fireworks set to music in related patterns of color and light.

A city entirely populated by midgits.

An automobile speedway half a mile long on top of an exhibit building.

Mighty snowstorms sweeping down out of a clear Spring sky.

A building turned inside out with its roofbeams on the outside.

Moving chairs traveling around in a building so visitors won't have to walk.

A flight to Venus so real you'll swear you've been there and met the folks.

The tallest mural paintings in the world.

A model of New York City so large that the Empire State Building is reproduced 23 feet tall.

A sphere 200 feet in diameter seeming to revolve on jets of water, like the little silver ball in the shooting-gallery.

A fountain that sings.

Paintings that have to be destroyed every night and done all over again next morning.

A "Fountain of the Atom," with electrons and protons dancing around a pulsating shaft of light.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

The Manassas Kiwanis Club was greatly entertained and enlightened by a discourse last Friday evening by J. Oliver Martin, editor of the Transmitter, employees magazine of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

J. Oliver, who has lost none of his charm, was last down here with Ed. Hill, while that fine Kiwanian was lieutenant governor of the Capital District. This time he was present as the guest of Father Jim Widmer, who was program chairman for the evening.

This time his remarks were directed at the theory of fraternal organization. He spoke of the great variety of club groups and gave some very amusing stores and puns on lodge work.

His visit was very enjoyable and it is hoped that he will not wait so long to come again.

MAKE PLANS FOR FUTURE CAMP ACTIVITIES

Replying to an invitation from Rev. Churchill Gibson, ranking corps chaplain of National Guards, quite a group of army chaplains and local ministers attended a meeting on Swavely Field last night.

The meeting itself was in charge of Chaplain Arnold, U.S.A., ranking chaplain of the Army. A. A. McCallum, of general headquarters in Washington, took a leading part in the discussion which was entered into by everyone present.

Local clergy in attendance were Revs. Gibson, Carpenter, Baker, Widmer and Ballentine.

This being the first corps maneuvers, there was little in the way of organization previously done and the chief purpose of this gathering was to plan for religious and recreational work in future encampments of the National Guard.
