STATE PRESIDENT GUEST OF CLUB

Miss Bland Speaks on "Building A Greater America"

The Manassas Woman's Club was honored by having its state president, Miss V. Lucille Bland, to address them on Monday afternoon. Miss Bland made an inspiring and worthwhile talk choosing as her subject, "Building a Greater America." The platform for this needed building should be, a return to religion, the building of ideal homes, a sound educational system, a true democratic government and an extended program of public welfare.

Miss Bland stressed child welfare and stated that what we do today for our children will determine the future of our country. She made an appeal to this club to get behind our legislators, and try and help put the Three-Point Program of the State Board of Education and the Virginia Education Association through the General Assembly during its next session.

We must start with our own community if we are to build a greater America just as our ancestors did in building our Great America.

Mrs. Dennis Baker played a lovely piano solo, "Whim," by Schumann.

Mrs. Stuart Gibson, chairman of the Educational Committee, reported that the Reading Group started so successfully last winter, would resume its meetings on Thursday afternoon, September 28, at 2:30 in the High School Library.

A very able appeal was made to the club by Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson, to aid the Bethlehem Club in every way possible in their task of sponsoring the getting together and publishing of material for a book, "The History of Prince William County."

Mrs. T. J. Broadbudd reported that the Garden Section had a most delightful meeting on September 5 in the home of Mrs. Margaret Lewis.

The report of the Music-Literature Section was made by Mrs. Dennis Baker, who invited all the members of the club to their meeting, Tuesday evening, September 26, in the home of Mrs. Lewis Carper to hear a program which promises to be very enjoyable. Mrs. Ossie Tipton will discuss, "Women's Work in the Field of Art." Mrs. E. M. Colvin, vocalist, will supply the music.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Miss Sue Ayres, Mrs. Dennis Baker, Mrs. A. W. Ballentine, Mrs. John Barrett, Mrs. Robert Bisson and Mrs. T. J. Broadbudd.

BIBLE TEACHER ATTENDS INSTITUTE

Miss Hazel Saunders, teacher of Week Day Religious Education in our county, attended a Teachers Institute at Bridgewater College Sept. 7 to 9. The Institute was held under the auspices of the State Council of Religious Education. Thirty teachers from 22 counties were in attendance. Rev. Minor C. Miller, the well-known secretary, presided.

The purpose of this Institute was to discuss the problems that arise in teaching the Bible in the public schools, and to make the classes in Bible study of the greatest possible interest and value to boys and girls. The State Council is working on a plan or test, which will be used to determine character growth in the child as a result of this public school Bible training.

This movement is growing in popularity throughout the State. It is one thing in which Virginia is playing a leading part. The State Secretary reports that he is constantly receiving inquiries from all over the country about the work of Week Day Religious Education as it is carried on in Virginia.

The work in Prince William is going forward this year under a reduced budget of 1,100.00. The call for the raising of this budget has already been given by the County President, Rev. John DeChant. Miss Saunders learned at Bridgewater that our neighboring county of Fauquier is employing two teachers to give Week Day Bible instruction there this year.

TRINITY GUILD TO HOLD RUMMAGE SALE

The Ladies Guild of Trinity Church will hold a Rummage Sale in the Parish Hall on Saturday, October 7th, from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Mrs. John Broadbudd is beginning her fall classes in violin and piano on Friday, September 15th.

SANITARY INSPECTION

On July 31st the Town Council of Manassas enacted an ordinance providing for certain sanitary precautions in the operation of restaurants, lunch rooms, etc., and on August 2nd a copy of this ordinance was delivered by a police officer to each such place of business in the Town.

Mr. J. R. Simpson, of the County Department of Health, which is now functioning as a Board of Health for the Town of Manassas, proposes to make an early inspection of all places of business coming under the provisions of the above ordinance, and it is his hope that he will find that all such establishments are meeting the requirements of this ordinance One Hundred per cent.

DR. RILEY GOES TO WINCHESTER

Will Be Succeeded by Dr. H. Garnett Snead of Arlington

Dr. C. L. Riley, director of the Prince William - Stafford County Health District, will, in the future, be located in Winchester, Va., where he will practice medicine. Dr. Riley is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia, and served as a member of the resident staff at that institution for a period of three years, serving as resident obstetrician during the last year.

Dr. H. Garnett Snead, who will succeed Dr. Riley, is also a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia, and received his hospital training in Chattanooga, Tennessee. He is now employed as Assistant Health Officer in Arlington County.

Dr. Riley wishes to take this opportunity of expressing his appreciation to the citizens of Prince William County for their cooperation and assistance. He is of the opinion that although the Health Unit is comparatively young, much valuable work has been accomplished as a result of the splendid cooperation shown by the people and various organizations of the county.

MACS WIN TWO

On Sept. 10, the Manassas Macs went on the field and won a double-header from the "Bull Run Trading Post." The scores were 3 to 2 and 14 to 5. The first game was very close from start to finish with the Macs winning 3 to 2.

The Macs got off to a one run lead when Ward got on, on M. Piercy's error and Slugger Crabill drove him home with a single to right. The Macs made it two to nothing in the fourth when D. Posey collected his second straight hit a single to center. He then stole second and scored while A. Collins was playing with Bowen's grounder.

The Bull Runners came back and made their first run in the sixth. Halvey doubled and went to third on A. Collins' single. He then scored when Buckner forced Collins at second.

In the first of the ninth the visitors tied it up, when Worley got a little wild and walked two men in a row. Schneider then singled to drive over Buckner. Worley then struck out Collins, Polen, and M. Piercy for his eighth, ninth, and tenth strike-outs. In the last half of the ninth the Macs won the game when Paul Beavers got his second straight hit a single to left, stole second and scored when Gene Worley won his own ball game, with at long single to right. Buckner struck out ten men for the Bull Runners and pitched great ball all the way through.

The second game was a run-away with the Macs collecting 20 hits and 14 runs. Billy Ward, Knuckle ball ace hurled for the Macs and was never in trouble, allowing 6 hits. The Vetter boys featured the game with long right field homers. They also collected four hits each. Bobby Leith also collected four clean hits, one being a long double.

VIRGINIA ALSO SHOULD CLEAN HOUSE!

As the world moves steadily forward beneath the fearsome blackness which is surely enveloping all of us, there are certain signs that Uncle Sam himself is beginning to awaken to a realization that stern efficiency must replace the irresponsible experimentation and parlour communism which has been an undeniable characteristic of our federal activities of the past few years.

We are awakening to find that with the outbreak of a worldwide conflagration, our own National and State household is honeycombed with slow fuses and powder trains, placed to occasion the utmost damage when the ignition moment should arrive.

There are signs that the administration in Washington is now beginning to realize that there has been regrettable disregard of the proper function of the national government during a prolonged period of invasion of State and personal rights and during which the most subversive un-American influences were permitted, if not encouraged by federal agencies.

Meanwhile the Dies Committee, and now the Howard Smith Committee Investigating the National Labor Relations Board, are laboring to uproot the seedlings which already have begun sprouting from the sowings direct from Russia and Germany, by revealing the extent to which this cancerous growth has permeated the vital structure of America.

We who felt the attack of the unsuccessful Purge last year know full well that Stalin himself extended his grimy hand right into the Eight District of Virginia, but it takes the lime-light of the Congressional investigating committees to shock us into action by the apparent revelation published this week that the Chief of the United States Forest Service has been a national officer in a subversive communistic organization.

These disclosures of apparent communistic activity among responsible officials of the federal government make it a matter of deep concern in Virginia, and throughout the nation, as to how far these influences have penetrated the state government. If the Chief of the United States Forest Service is disclosed as a national official of an organization widely characterized as communistic, what about our own State Forester—his recognized henchman in Virginia? Has he exhibited the same kind of antagonisms toward men in public life who were marked by the C. I. O. blacklist? If so, how much further have communistic antagonisms corrupted the large personnel of the State Forest Service. While the Dies Committee is giving the Chief of the Forest Service a chance to explain his apparent affiliation with an organization widely considered subversive, it might be a good thing for our Conservation Commission to look likewise into the possibility of contaminations affecting the public welfare of Virginia. We understand that our state forestry officials can only come to us endorsed by the Federal government and we should know their race and creed.

The time may not be far distant when Virginia blood may again be freely offered upon the altar of human rights and liberty. It is the fervent prayer of all that we may be able to stay out of the fearful world conflict which is rapidly developing, but these may be eventual, un-realized days of spiritual and material preparation for great sacrifices, and we cannot afford to permit even a chance for subversive influences to fester in our midst.

Sheriff Kerlin Is Honor Guest of Kiwanis Club

Mr. Washington Cleveland, of the American Automobile Association, was present last Friday evening as the guest of Mr. C. M. Harris. Sheriff John Kerlin was also an honor guest on this occasion.

Mr. Cleveland spoke on Traffic Safety. He cited the fact that 80 per cent of traffic deaths are pedestrian and that most of them are persons over fifty years of age, a majority of the victims being killed after dark.

Noting that school was just opening, Mr. Cleveland told of how the school patrols had cut down death among the school population while that of adults was increasing. He urged everyone having a child just starting to school to go over the route to school and train the child as to the most dangerous places in the route, having tried to pick the best route from the safety angle.

After his talk was over, Mr. Fred Hynson handed him a short reading on this subject which proved quite timely.

"FATHER OF RESTORATION" DIES

Dr. William A. R. Goodwin, known as the "Father of the Restoration" of Colonial Williamsburg, died Thursday night, September 8, at his home in Williamsburg after an illness of more than a year. He was laid to rest in a vault at Historic Bruton Parish Episcopal Church, of which he was rector for 17 years. It was through the efforts of Dr. Goodwin that John D. Rockefeller, jr., became interested in the plan for restoring the colonial portion of the city, which even now, is continuing, although the man who inspired the plan resigned from active participation in 1935, saying that he had lived "to see his dream come true." The restoration work was launched in 1938 and is still under way. JANE IS PARTNERS AGAIN WITH LEO CARRILLO

Jane and that carefree Carrillo fellow are partners again (as they were in "Arizona Wildcat"). You never saw such a pair! They'll trade—skin you, maybe—but throw in a lot of fun to boot. With Leo Carrillo the cast also features Marjorie Weaver, Spring Byington (mother of the famed Jones Family) and Kane Richmond.

Jane sports a new, up-to-the-second hair-do in this 20th Century-Fox picture, but you mustn't let it fool you. Under that stylishly arranged thatch is the same old mischievous Jane, up to deviltry most of the time and getting all the fun she can out of life.

In case you don't know, the chicken wagon is a mule-drawn Conestoga, carrying a cargo of trinkets which are traded for farmers' chickens. Traveling throughout the South, the wagon also serves as living quarters for the family. When the bartering is completed the wagon heads for the City where the chickens are in turn sold to municipal dealers. It's a pleasant life and it has its excitement too.

It will be shown at Pitts' Theatre next Thursday and Friday, September 21-22.

We wish to correct an error made last week: Miss Norma Alexander of New York was the week-end guest of Mrs. F. W. Hornbaker in Occoquan, and not the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hall as stated.

The Newly elected Town Council of Occoquan had their first meeting on Monday, September 11, at which meeting they set the tax levy for the coming year. The levy is set at 0.50 on the 100.00 valuation of property and personal property. This is the same as the tax levy in effect for this year.

All taxes are paid in for this year, except three or four small amounts which we feel sure will be paid in the next few days. There will possibly be TWO which will have to be posted with the Tax Collector at Manassas as delinquent. We consider this an excellent record for the Town of Occoquan. We desire our taxpayers to know we appreciate their co-operation, and we also wish to inform we appreciate their co-operation, and we also wish to inform them our town HAS NO DEBT, but has a surplus in bank. We also wish to inform them their Council will continue improving the streets at every opportunity. We also wish them to know they are welcomed to attend all Council Meetings.

We have learned with regret that Mrs. Harry Slack has been on the sick list, but we thank God she is getting better, and we hope she will soon be entirely well. Mrs. Slack is one of our good Christian women who is greatly missed when she is ill.

Mrs. C. Lee Starkweather of Occoquan is spending several weeks visiting Mrs. Boake Wickes at her home, Buenos Aires on the Potomac, near Mt. Vernon.

His many friends are trusting that he may soon be restored to health. His wife will be remembered as Miss Mildred Collins.

Food Prices and Profits

A Statement of Sanitary Policy

THE FORCES of market disturbance, fear, and speculation, are at work. Prices for some basic commodities have already gone up. Increases in Sanitary's retail prices on these items reflect the rise in wholesale cost, over which Sanitary has no control.

It is a fundamental Sanitary policy to earn only a small profit on each sale. Sanitary pledges that during the period of war emergency it will not change this policy; and that in the future, as heretofore, it will make every effort through improved methods to reduce distribution cost—the difference between what the farmer gets and the consumer pays. You will always be able to buy from Sanitary at the lowest prices available anywhere.

Consumers may assist materially in preventing unwarranted price increases by continuing their purchases on a normal scale. There are adequate supplies of food stuffs for every American. Hysterical buying which strips retail and wholesale stocks creates artificial scarcity, which pushes prices to abnormal levels.

Machinery exists within the government to control production, storage and release of commodities, imports, exports, quotas and prices—if it should become necessary to employ these methods to protect the economic welfare of the country.

Sanitary further pledges complete cooperation with the governmental agencies and with farmer producers in all efforts to stabilize prices; discourage profiteering; and maintain orderly facilities for food distribution.

Receive my instruction, and not silver; and knowledge rather than choice gold. For wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared to it.—Prov. 8:10-11.

"WHEN YE SHALL HEAR OF WARS"

The individual's task in dealing with war begins in his own consciousness. The worst that war can do to him is start a conflict within. If the invading news arouses thoughts of anger, confusion, fear and hate, then evil, of which war is only one expression, has won the first battle. Jesus, recognizing that until evil had been routed from human thought "these things must needs be," declared, "when ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars, be ye not troubled."

"Be ye not troubled" is the first mind-raid precaution in this hour when fear that the world will launch itself into catastrophe might help to produce the condition feared. And hate is no answer to hate at a moment when too much animosity has been expressed. The individual who wishes to combat the evils manifest in war will take up arms against them in his own thinking. He will stand porter at the door of his own consciousness, denying entrance to every erroneous suggestion. He will keep his mind so filled with the eternal truths of God's omnipresence and omnipotence that no wrong purpose or motive will find room. He will confidently await the outcome of events which press upon the world.

The calm thought, exalted by Christian love and assurance in the ultimate triumph of right, will be led to take any necessary steps in dealing with events.—Christian Science Monitor.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Now that Europe's long-drawn-out "war of nerves" has broken out into a battle of bullets and bombs, national defense is one of the questions uppermost in the minds of Americans.

An article to be published Sunday in The Washington Star presents an interesting and authoritative study of one of the most important phases of the defense question—the training of officers for the Army, Navy and other services.

VIRGINIA MILK COMMISSION HOLDS HEARING

On Tuesday, September 12, the Virginia Milk Commission held a hearing at the Courthouse, Manassas, Virginia, for the purpose of determining whether or not it would be advisable to set up a market for this area.

The meeting was called on the complaint of a Fredericksburg producer and distributor owing to the fact that one of the local producers was selling milk in his territory. The meeting was well attended by the citizens and the local milk producers and distributors.

The local producers and distributors, Messrs. T. R. Hurst, Gilbert White and J. Carl Kincheloe presented their case before the Commission and most emphatically stated that they did not care for a market to be set up in this County; That they have been supplying the local consumers to both the satisfaction of the consumer and themselves and felt that any interference by a governmental agency would result in decreasing the market for their product.

The meeting was rather spirited and the consumers' views were presented by Col. Robert A. Hutchison, Mr. J. L. Bushong, Rev. Harry P. Baker, Hon. C. A. Sinclair, Mr. W. Hill Brown, Jr., and Mr. J. P. Kerlin.

One would judge from the attitude as expressed by the Commission that it was not the desire of the Commission to set up a market for this particular area and that the sole and single question for them to decide is whether or not the fact that the local producer and distributor who is selling to a governmental agency in another area would necessitate the establishing of a market in this area.

We are all vitally interested in awaiting the decision of the Commission, which will affect each and every individual in this community in his daily life and the Journal will at a future date give you the final decision of the Commission.

ROBERT DONAT GLORIFIES PROFESSION OF SCHOOLMASTER

Described as the most moving school story every written, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," based on the successful novel by James Hilton, and with Robert Donat in the starring role, opens next Monday and Tuesday, September 18-19, at the Pitts' Theatre as one of the major movie events of the season.

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips" tells of an ordinary man going about his work day after day, year after year, thoroughly and conscientiously. A moving tale of the joys and sorrows met by every man or woman, whatever their rank in life, this memorable record of the personal experiences of Mr. Chipping, or "Chips" as he comes to be known, friend of generation after generation of young Englishmen, proves that the spirit of England can again be faithfully translated to the screen.

To the central figure of this moving story Robert Donat is said to bring all his brilliance as an actor and, as the lovable schoolmaster, to give a performance which by its sincerity and strength of character surpasses even his portrayal of the doctor in "The Citadel."

Donat regards "Mr. Chips" as the most difficult assignment of his career, for he had to play the varying ages of a man, first slightly younger than himself, then slightly older, becoming gradually a hero in his own small world, and finally recognized by successful men as the true builder of their careers and character.

Donat believes in studying the character he is playing rather than the actual words he has to say. Consequently, quick changes did not catch him napping and he was ready at all times to be "Mr. Chips" at any age.

ANNE SHIRLEY AS "SORORITY HOUSE" AT PITTS' THEATRE ON SEPTEMBER 20, 1939

Complications which arise when a poor college girl is mistaken for a daughter of wealth and becomes the belle of the campus for one glorious week, provide the basis of Anne Shirley's latest vehicle, "Sorority House." James Ellison appears opposite.

Miss Shirley plays a small-town girl whose father, a grocer, borrows enough money to enroll his daughter in a mid-west university. Like all the other young ladies at the school she aspires to be pledged into a sorority, but the experiences of other poor coeds proves the futility of her desires.

A whirlwind romance with an upper-classman, however, changes everything. The young man secretly tips off the president of each sorority that Miss Shirley is an heiress. This has the desired effect, for she is immediately "rushed" by them all.

Unaware of her boy friend's ruse, the young girl attends a round of sorority affairs, meets social leaders and seems certain of obtaining her long-cherished pledge. The rivalry of a jealous co-ed and the hapless arrival of her seedy parent during a fashionable dance combine to reveal her true identity. The result awakens the girl to the difficulty of her position in a shallow, artificial atmosphere.

ORLANDO HOME-COMING SERVICE

On September 10, Home-coming Services were celebrated at Orlando. This proved to be a most enjoyable occasion for those who had the privilege of attending. At the morning service music was furnished by the Junior Choir from Woodbine—directed by Mrs. Walter Wine. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Henry Lawson.

A delightful luncheon and social hour was all too short for those meeting old friends. In the afternoon the music was furnished by the Buckhall choir—led by Mr. Smith. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Skutt of the Woodbine Baptist church. It is seldom one hears such splendid sermons and has an opportunity to enjoy such excellent music as the large crowd heard at Orlando last Sunday.

Science Slashes Kitchen Mileage

A KITCHEN that takes the housewife out of the kitchen— Sounds a bit paradoxical, doesn't it? But that's exactly the purpose behind the arrangement of the ultra-modern kitchen of the air-conditioned home in the Town of Tomorrow at the New York World's Fair.

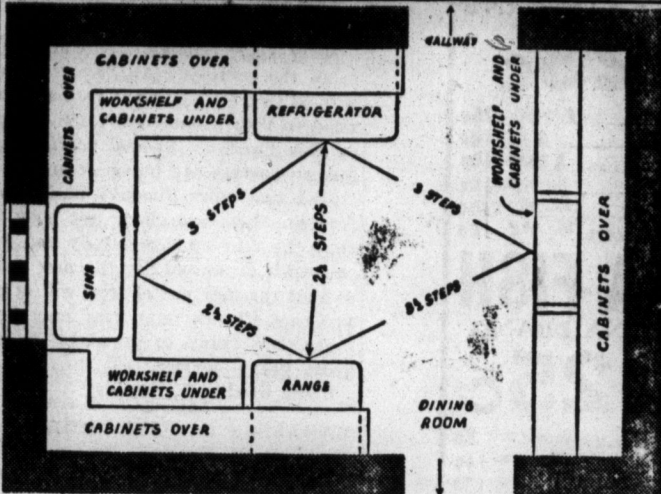

Scientifically planned and arranged, the kitchen—measuring 12 feet 4 inches long by 9 feet wide—was designed for "production line" cooking, which, as is the case with production line methods in the modern factory, saves needless steps and eliminates waste motion and resulting fatigue. "Production line" cooking reduces to an absolute minimum the amount of time the housewife has to spend in the kitchen.

According to engineers and home economists, who designed the kitchen of the World's Fair home and then equipped it with scientifically placed electric refrigerator, electric range, cupboards and built-in cabinets with work table tops, the arrangement results in a tremendous reduction of the number of steps the housewife has to take while carrying out her culinary duties.

Following the "production line" method, which in factories saves time and eliminates "back-tracking," the housewife using this kitchen cannot help but follow an efficient, planned route when preparing meals. She works around the kitchen in a counter-clockwise direction, starting at the electric refrigerator (where raw materials are stored); then proceeding to the sink (where materials are processed), and last arriving at the electric range (where the materials are finally prepared and from which they are served).

From the electric refrigerator to the sink, she has to take no more than three steps. She covers the distance from the sink to the electric range in only two and a half steps. And she has only to take two and a half steps from the electric range back to the refrigerator. From electric range to workshelf and cupboards at the opposite end of the kitchen, the distance is only slightly more than three steps and it's just three steps from the electric refrigerator to this point.

Further enhancing the efficiency of this modern kitchen is the new-type strip wiring at the junction of the walls and the table-high workshelves. At 6-inch intervals appear outlets, to which such electrical appliances as mixers, toasters and irons can be handily attached. This is a further step-saver, for the user of the kitchen can connect any electrical appliance at whatever point in the room she stands, without delay or getting mixed up in the cord.

Pedometer tests have shown that under old-fashioned conditions of work, where no heed was paid to convenient arrangement, the cook or housekeeper often traveled as much as five miles a day in carrying out her duties. Recently, a modern kitchen laboratory conducted an experiment in which a dessert was made in an awkwardly arranged kitchen and then in one that was "engineered" to save steps and motions. By proper routing, the operations were cut from 97 to 64 and the steps taken from 281 to 45—a notable difference, which means much in the course of a day's work.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Matter" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 17.

The Golden Text will be "My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever" (Psalms 73:26).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever" (1 John 2:15-17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "A moral, corporeal, or finite conception of God cannot embrace the glories of limitless in corporeal Life and Love. Hence the unsatisfied human craving for something better, higher, holier, than is afforded by a material belief in a physical God and man. The insufficiency of
