Miss Blough Gives Music recital For Woman's Club

The Music and Literature Section of the Woman's Club of Manassas, held the first meeting of the 1939-1940 season, on Tuesday evening of this week, at the home of Mrs. Lewis Carper, with Mrs. William Fauntleroy Cocke, assisting as hostess.

Miss Sue Ayres, chairman, after a pleasant and cordial greeting to the members and guests, presided over a brief business session. The group decided to join the teachers of the county, on a visit to the Art Galleries in Washington, on Saturday, October 14. Mrs. Dennis Baker was named chairman of a committee for this, and members wishing to go are requested to get in touch with Mrs. Baker at an early date, so that arrangement may be made for transportation.

A most enjoyable program followed with Miss Miriam Blough, gifted young pianist of Manassas, as guest artist, for the Music Section. Miss Blough played two lovely numbers "NOVELETTE" by Schumann; "Sous-Bois," by Debussy, and gave an encore "Schirzo" by Beethoven. The Section having decided to feature programs on Art for the three fall months, got off to a fine start, by having a most interesting and comprehensive discourse on "Women's Work in Field of Art," (1800-1900) given them by Mrs. Ossie Tipton. "Women of that period, did not or were not allowed to take active part in public life and were not given recognition except in very rare cases," Mrs. Tipton said. She then gave some very illuminating data on a few women who were so outstanding as to demand this public recognition. She spoke of Rosa Bonheur, a French artist of the nineteenth century, a painter of animals, and mentioned among some of her most outstanding painting, "Horse Fair," now in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York City. The section was thrilled by the splendid contributions of both guest artist and speaker, and a cordial invitation was extended to Miss Blough and Mrs. Tipton for a repeat performance. A pleasant social hour and refreshments brought the evening to a pleasant and happy ending.

The October meeting will be with Mrs. Thomas J. Broadus. Miss Eugenia Osborn will be guest speaker with Mrs. Lewis Carper, violinist, as guest artist.

SOUND MOVIES FEATURE KIWANIS PROGRAM

Mr. Litz, of the Alexandria branch of the Ford Motor Company, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club on Friday evening.

Two very entertaining reels of sound movies were shown. They were as instructive as well as pleasant. Ralph Sharrett, in charge of the program, was congratulated on the excellence of his offering for the evening.

The resignation of Capt. Mackenzie was noted with regret. Worth Peters was back again for his first meeting since June.

A letter from Jack Cummins, of the Arlington Club, was noted. He asked for support of this club in the candidacy of Lyman Kelley as governor of the Capital District. The delegates of the Manassas club will go uninstructed.

ALEXANDER TRIPLETT

Funeral services for Alexander Triplett, 59, who died on Tuesday, September 19, after a lingering illness, were held from the Gainesville Methodist church on Friday, September 22, with Rev. J. C. Schwartz officiating. Burial was in the family lot at Gainesville.

Mr. Triplett was a native of Gainesville, the son of the late Hayward Foote Triplett, a Civil War veteran who lost a leg at the two battles of Manassas. He had spent much time in his late years in Fauquier County.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. A. Weaver, Remington, and three brothers, Roderick Triplett, an attorney of Portsmouth; Pelham Triplett, of Richmond, and Hayward Triplett, of Gainesville. Mr. Triplett was of a retiring and gentle nature and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

FREE BOOKS FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Governor Price Urges School Needs as First Consideration

Governor Price was in conference with his Budget Advisory Committee this week and stated that "the budget for 1940-42 will be built around the appropriation for public schools" and later announced to the committee there was "every probability" he could release by December 1 at a 250,000 conditional appropriation for the University of Virginia Hospital.

The State Department of Education requested $3,846,310 per year in additional appropriations for the next biennium. Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, described the sum as sufficient to raise the pay of the average teacher from $500 to $720 per year.

Dr. Hall said the cost of providing free textbooks would be $1.50 per pupil, or $878,643, and the cost of establishing an actuarially sound teachers' retirement system $878,398 per year. For administration, libraries, vocational, industrial and adult education only the state board asked $362,428 for the second.

Governor Price questioned Dr. Hall repeatedly on the question of free textbooks. Asked if the cost had been broken down county by county, Dr. Hall said:

"The cost to supply any county or city with books can be determined by multiplying the number of school children by $1.50."

For elementary grades only, the cost would be approximately $1, Hall said.

During a discussion of the question of the question of free textbooks, Joseph H. Saunders, Newport News schools superintendent and member of the State Board of Education, said experience in that city showed the average life of a book to be about three and a half years.

Governor Price also said, "As I have hitherto told the State Board of Education, it is my purpose to build this new budget around the public schools. I have asked all the institutions to keep down expenses and capital outlay requests to a minimum. The Federal government has spent more than $100,000,000 in Virginia, most of it for school buildings, so we must concentrate upon the foundations of a modern system of education."

Each member was presented with a Year Book of the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs, and several members purchase copies of the State Song, "In Virginia", music by Mabel Sims Saville, words by Charles Curran Wilbur. The mocking bird is the State bird, and twenty four different kinds of dogwood, the State flower, are growing in Dogwood Dell in Richmond. Mr. Paul Cooksey, roadside chairman, requested the members of the club to save Lilac settings and shrubs for the roadside planting just outside of town on Route 28. Wm. Co., but now of Arlington Co., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Mr. R. B. Stevenson, Rector of the church.

URGENT PLEA FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION BUDGET

Thus far, the appeal for funds for the work of Week Day Religious Education has not been encouraging. In the two weeks since the first appeal was made through these columns, only 50.00 has been received in cash and pledges. When this amount is compared with a budget of 1,100.00, it is easily seen that the response has been negligible. It is time now for the friends of religious instruction in the schools to come forward. If you believe in this program, show your interest with your gift. Contributions may be sent to Rev. John DeChant, pres., or to Mr. J. J. Conner, treasurer.

FREEMASONS PLAN ENDOWMENT GIFT

Dr. Barrett states Golden Anniversary Fund is being Sponsored

Robert S. Barrett, Grand Junior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, A.F. & A.M., and Chairman of its Endowment Committee, reports that the Freemasons of Virginia are in the midst of a personal visitation of their thirty nine thousand associates securing gifts towards a Golden Anniversary Endowment Fund of a minimum of $50,000.00 in cash to be presented to the Home at the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Richmond in February 1940.

According to Dr. Barrett, the Home was authorized by the Grand Lodge meeting in December 1889, and was founded chiefly through the generosity of Alexander Gulick Babcock who was a southern sympathizer, reared in the north but came south during the War between the States and served as one of Mosby's men. Babcock gave the original lands, buildings and endowment to the project. The Masonic Home of Virginia was dedicated June 24, 1890 and since that time has served several hundred children of deceased Virginia Freemasons.

The Golden Anniversary Appeal, continued Dr. Barrett, is unique in that it has been placed within the scope of the most impecunious. The goal is that every member of the Craft in Virginia should make a gift of "So much as he can Cheerfully Give" toward the fund.

During the past month, in conformity with a proclamation of Judge Needham S. Turnbull of Virginia, Grand Master of Masons of Virginia, all the lodges in the State have devoted one meeting, or have met jointly with other lodges, to consider the needs and program of the Home in preparation for the actual visitation. Some groups and individuals have already made appropriations to establish Memorials in the fund for deceased leaders and friends.

Advance reports from several sections of the State, which have progressed more rapidly with the appeal, are to the effect that it is being enthusiastically received.

A. Douglas Smith, Jr., Past District, and present editor of the Virginia Masonic Herald, has been appointed by the Endowment Committee as Chairman of the Golden Anniversary Appeal.

NATIONAL SYMPHONY PREPARES FOR AUSPICIOUS SEASON

Two unique conductors will share the podium with permanent conductor Hans Kindler during the coming winter season of the National Symphony Orchestra, which Sunday, October 29, at Constitution Hall.

Carlos Chavez, foremost composer and conductor of Mexico, will appear as guest conductor at the National Symphony on Sunday, February 4; and Edwin McArthur, latest native-born recruit to the conducting field, will act as guest director on Wednesday, February 14. Dr. Kindler will conduct the remaining eighteen concerts of the winter series.

Chavez, founder and permanent conductor of the Orquesta Sinfonica de Mexico, is a product of the same Mexican artistic renaissance which gave to Mexico and the world the painters Rivera, Orozco and Siqueiros. Like them, he has created a vigorous art which stems from the people and reaches out to the people, at the same time revealing the universal repertory of the classic masters.

Although his interest is centered in Mexico and Mexican music, Chavez' reputation is not limited to his native country. He is well known internationally as the composer of such works as the dance symphony, "H. P.," which Stokowski introduced to this country in 1932 with decor and costumes by Rivera, "Sinfonia de Antigua" and "Sinfonia India." As a conductor, he has appeared with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic, the Boston Symphony, the N.B.C. Symphony Orchestra, and other major symphonies. His appearance in Washington on February 4 is his first with the National Symphony Orchestra. On that occasion, Rene LeRoy, distinguished French flutist, will be heard as soloist.

Mr. McArthur is better known as accompanist for Kirsten Flagstad and other first rank artists than as a conductor. His appearance as guest director with the National Symphony Orchestra on February 14 will coincide with that of Madame Flagstad as soloist.

Only 32, McArthur made his conducting debut with the Sydney Symphony Orchestra during an Australian tour with Madame Flagstad in the summer of 1938. His schedule for the coming season, however, is one which the most highly experienced and widely recognized conductor might envy. In addition to appearing with the National Symphony Orchestra, he will conduct operatic performances of the Chicago City Opera and of the San Francisco Opera, an orchestral program in his native Denver, and two concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra in Philadelphia and one in New York.

The ninth season of the National Symphony Orchestra comprises a mid-week series of eight concerts with soloists, a Sunday series of six concerts with soloists, a second Sunday series of six orchestral programs featuring the world's most beloved symphonic masterpieces, and a series of eleven students' concerts. Artists who will appear as soloists on the mid-week series include Luboshutz and Nemenoff, duo-pianists (Nov. 8); Albert Spalding, violinist (Nov. 15); Myra Hess, pianist (Jan. 17); Madame Flagstad, soprano (Feb. 14); Marjorie Lawrence, soprano (March 6); and Percy Granger, pianist (March 27). Soloists appearing on the first Sunday series include Moriz Rosenthal, pianist (Oct. 29); Nino Martini, tenor (Nov. 19); Marcel Mass, pianist (Jan. 7); Mr. LeRoy (Feb. 4); Maurice Marechal, cellist (March 3); and Ossy Renardy, violinist (March 24). All concerts, with the exception of the Students' Concerts, will be held in Constitution Hall, the mid-week series at 8:30 p.m., the Sunday series at 4:00 p.m.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

"EUROPE FOR A THOUSAND YEARS has existed merely for the advantage of half a dozen seventh-rate families called monarchs and some hundreds of riff-raff sarcastically called nobles." So said that keen and careful American thinker, Mark Twain.

THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA publishes the excellent VIRGINIA QUARTERLY. Some months ago it contained an article by Dr. Charles A. Beard, a leading American historian. Beard charges:

"It is only because our editors orators, columnists, and instructors of the public are ignorant of history or willfully distort it that they may write and spout the way they do over ancient myths of small minds."

THOSE MENTALLY CRIPPLED EDITORS might well take a lesson from Haile Salassie, ex-king of Ethiopia. When Mussolini's troops conquered Ethiopia, drove Salassie into exile, his tragic fate could not rob him of his manhood or destroy his love for Truth. When the "Big Dailies" of Europe in their screaming headlines charged that Italian soldiers were using dum-dum bullets and poison gas against his people, Salassie denied it and added:

"Let us try to mitigate the inherent horrors of war by being frank and honest and giving our enemies credit where credit is due. Is war not terrible enough without investing it with such deceptive horrors?"

THE YOUTH OF AMERICA want deeds of peace. They are suspicious of the constant talk of peace and moves toward war. The same is true of youth in other countries. Here are a few facts offered our war-mongers for their serious consideration:

1. The students of Oxford University, England, started what is known as the Oxford Movement. They signed a pledge never again to fight for "King and Country." Other British colleges followed suit and the movement swept over the land.

2. The movement quickly spread to America and resulted in organizing the American Student Union whose members pledged themselves not to support war or their government's leadership toward war. THE BEARCAT, student publication of the University of Cincinnati, supported the organization and declared that most of the newspapers of our colleges "have recognized that the American Student Union will have an important part in the history of American undergraduate life within the next few crucial years." In the University of Minnesota a similar action was taken.

3. Thousands of prominent United States citizens who supported our entry into the World War in 1917 have since then openly and frankly acknowledged their mistake and expressed deep regret that they did so. Even outstanding editors like William Allen White of the GAZETTE (Emporia, Kansas) is one of these humble penitents.

4. Young men here are saying they cannot be drafted to serve on foreign soil. They are not deceived by the hypocritical slogans about liberty, democracy, patriotism, humanity, etc. They understand that the real motives hidden under these pretenses are commercial—oil, coal and other minerals, profits, loot, in short MONEY. Were it not for the tremendous financial holdings of investments in Poland by France her tears for the Polish people would be far fewer. The biggest oil companies in Rumania are owned by British and American concerns. There are international racketeers as well as racketeers in our own country.

NOT ONLY THE BIG DAILIES but the movies and the radio are steadily at work laying the foundation to embroil us in the thousand-year old quarrels and hatreds of Europe, their commercial rivalries and political feuds. These European quarrels are between their "seventeenth rate families and riff-raff" rulers. They are not between the people of those countries. As that excellent liberal publication, the MANCHESTER GUARDIAN of England, says of the young men who organized the Oxford Movement: "They have no prejudices against other nations and no hatreds; the idea of killing young men of other countries seems just 'damn silly' to them. They definitely think war is silly and bestial."

IF OUR PAY-TRIOT WAR-MONGERS should succeed in entangling the United States in another European war even they, ignorant as they are, may learn that war does not pay—not even for the most selfish profiteer.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in later years.

As I was with Moses, so I will be thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.—Joshua 1:5.

EFFECTIVE NEUTRALITY

The United States does not want war. It is our hope and our fervent prayer that we shall not become involved in the frightful conflict which is developing in Europe.

There is no question that the measures which we adopt to maintain our neutrality have an important bearing upon continuance of peace in this country. But unfortunately we are deluged with all kinds of propaganda, with every argument being clinched with the assertion that it provides the only sure way of keeping out of war.

Fortunately, however, it is possible for Americans to do a little thinking of their own without guidance from anybody across the Atlantic, and we are capable of studying our own experience with neutrality policies. The situation in 1917 provides ample material for such research. At that time we adopted certain measures to keep us out of war. They were ineffective, and we were soon at war.

If there is any connection between neutrality policy and war immunity, it is a reasonable conclusion that an opposite procedure would at least have operated substantially in keeping us out of war. And this is precisely what is being attempted now. In 1917 we went to war definitely on the issue of our "rights" as a neutral to travel on armed belligerent ships and to sail our own boats wherever we pleased on the high seas.

Today President Roosevelt is asking Congress to do exactly what President Wilson insisted should not be done. Mr. Roosevelt is recommending that Americans be forbidden from sailing on belligerent ships and that our own vessels stay out of danger zones. Had this been done before the sinking of the Lusitania our entrance into the last world war would certainly have been delayed, if not prevented.

DR. FRANK B. JEWETT RECEIVES HIGH HONOR IN SCIENTIFIC CIRCLES

Noted Head of Bell Laboratories Elected President of Academy of Sciences

Dr. Frank B. Jewett, vice president of The American Telephone and Telegraph Company and president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, was elected president of the National Academy of Sciences, Washington, recently. This is one of the high honors that can be given to an American scientist.

He succeeds for a four-year term Dr. Frank R. Lillie, noted biologist of the University of Chicago. Dr. Frederick E. Wright of the Carnegie Institution of Washington was elected home secretary. Drs. Charles A. Kraus, chemist of Brown University and Alfred N. Richards of the University of Pennsylvania were elected members of the council.

Three foreign associates were elected—Sir Joseph Barcroft, chemist of Cambridge University; Sir William Bragg, noted physicist of the Royal Institution, London, and Dr. F. A. Venning Meinesz of the University of Utrecht, Netherlands, world-renowned explorer of the sea bottoms.

The National Academy of Sciences was organized in 1863, during the most critical period of the Civil War. Its charter bears the signature of Abraham Lincoln. Carrying out the object for which the academy was incorporated by Congress, to report upon matters in science or art whenever called upon, it has often been of service to the government.

A NATION OF HOME TELEPHONES

The value of the telephone for the purpose of social communication is made evident by the rapid increase in Bell System residence telephones. In the twenty-six years since 1913, telephones used for business purposes have increased from 2,157,000 to about 6,200,000; residence telephones from 3,050,000 to about 9,550,000. In 1938, about two-fifths of Bell System telephones were business telephones; about three-fifths, residence telephones. America is preeminently a land of home telephones. In no other country is the use of the telephone in the affairs of everyday household life more widespread.

were served by the new P-T. A. social committee, of which Mrs. A. O. Beane is chairman.

MODERN TELEPHONY IS RESULT OF ENDLESS RESEARCH AND EXPERIMENT

Factors Of Distance, Bad Transmission, And Cost Had To Be Overcome

One of the earliest printed references to "transmission" as applied to the telephone appeared in a four-page folder issued in May, 1877—the first telephone advertisement. This was a little more than a year after the telephone was invented. The first paragraph of this historic document is printed below. It shows that then, as now, three factors were involved in the electrical transmission of speech.

"The proprietors of the Telephone, the invention of Alexander Graham Bell, for which patents have been issued by the United States and Great Britain, are now prepared to furnish Telephones for the transmission of articulate speech through instruments not more than twenty miles apart. Conversation can be easily carried on after slight practice and with the occasional repetition of a word or sentence. On first listening to the Telephone, though the sound is perfectly audible, the articulation seems to be indistinct; but after a few trials the ear becomes accustomed to the peculiar sound and finds little difficulty in understanding the words."

The first of these factors was distance. It will be noted that telephones were available for transmission "through instruments not more than twenty miles apart." The first telephones were leased in pairs and provided no inter-communicating service. The lines which connected these pairs were rarely more than a few miles in length; often they merely crossed the street.

The second factor was the clearness or quality of transmission. Through the primitive telephones of 1877, the articulation was admittedly "indistinct" and was received as a "strange sound." The first step in remedying such transmission defects was the improvement of the telephone instrument itself; the second was the development of better circuits.

The third factor was the cost of providing transmission facilities. One of the most important of the many achievements of telephone research and engineering has been the reduction of the cost of service by finding ways of using the same physical conductors for more than one conversation at the same time.

By 1915, the loading coils, the vacuum tube repeater and other transmission developments had so far extended the distance over which the voice could travel by wire that the first transcontinental telephone line was built and nation-wide service was accomplished.

The development of radio telephony, in association with transmission by wire, has given the telephone a world-wide reach. Today, every Bell-owned or Bell-connecting telephone may be connected with more than 36,000,000 American or foreign telephones, or about 93 per cent of the world's total.

The modern Bell System telephone instrument is the direct descendant of more than one hundred types of transmitter and more than seventy types of receiver. Such developments of apparatus, together with the improvement of telephone circuits, have not only extended the distances over which the voice may travel, but have increased the distinctness with which it is received. So faithful is the reproduction of the sound which issues from the telephone receiver of today that speaker and listener may converse practically as if face to face.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

"THE CHAMP," GREAT KING
VIDOR HIT, COMING TO PITTS

Two outstanding characters of the screen, one a veteran, the other one of Hollywood's youngest stars, are teamed in "The Champ," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama of sporting life below the Mexican border, which will come Wednesday, October 4, to the Pitts' Theatre.

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper share honors in the new picture, which King Vidor directed. Thrills, comedy and heart-throbs mingle in the drama, and much authentic detail was actually filmed in Caliente and Mexican border locals.

Beery plays a broken-down prize fighter, rearing his small son amid border while attempting a "comeback." The love of the two is great. Finally the boy's mother, who has married a rich man, seeks to take the boy that he may have better advantage. Despite his great love for to make the sacrifice. But the child runs away from his mother and returns to him. "The Champ" then makes his great resolve and stages an attempted "comeback" for money to send the child to school. The attempt cost him his life, in a sensational prize-fight episode.

One of the most dramatic scenes occurs in a Mexican prison, when Beery tries to send the child to his mother, even to the point of using force—and, later, the pathetic return of the runaway. Vidor's intimate human touches are notable throughout the entire production.

SKY-LINE ROUTE NEARS COMPLETION

Engineering Feat
Provides 97-Mile
Scenic Drive
Along Crest of Mountain Ridges

Above: Right over the tops of mountains is the route of Sky-Line Drive. Firm road foundations, topped with skidproof pavements, provide added safety for motor travellers.

Left: Spreading the white flakes of calcium chloride. This material is used in stabilizing the road base before the final paved surface is constructed.

BEFORE the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is through, John Motorist will be able to enter a mountain-top highway at Front Royal, Virginia, and ride south with the clouds for nearly 800 miles. The first section of this scenic highway, known as Sky-Line Drive, is now nearly completed and is open to traffic for almost its entire 97-mile length.

To link Sky-Line Drive in the Shenandoah National Park with the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina and Tennessee, construction of the Blue Ridge Parkway is progressing rapidly and it is expected that over 150 additional miles will be open to travel by the summer of 1940. Characteristic of the careful engineering employed in building this mountain highway system is the preparation of the road base before final surfacing.

To guarantee long life and easy maintenance of the finished roadway, particular attention has been given to provide a firm, consolidated foundation. A typical method used to accomplish this purpose is illustrated above.

Here, a carefully proportioned mixture of coarse and fine soil materials has been placed on the roadway, then stabilized with calcium chloride, a chemical used to absorb and retain moisture. During the time preceding application of the bituminous surface, this stabilized layer solidifies and packs down as dense as concrete. In furnishing this firm foundation for the final surface, the engineers have greatly reduced the possibility of future frost bumps and dips which are so dangerous to motorists and costly to correct.

This, of course, is but one of the measures taken to insure safety and comfort for travellers of the mountain route. The bituminous pavement is of coarse texture to prevent skidding, stout guard-rails give protection wherever necessary, and parking overlooks are provided at frequent intervals to afford panoramic views without the danger of stopping on the travelled way.

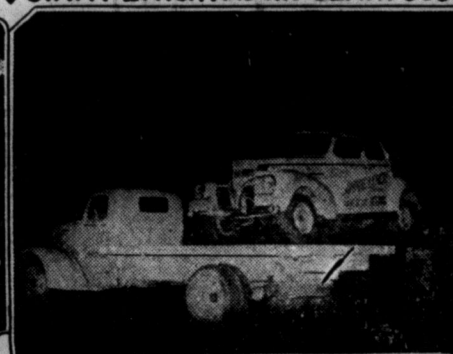

When the Blue Ridge Parkway section of this scenic highway is completed a few years hence, American motorists will enjoy a mountain drive without parallel in the whole world—a monumental tribute to the ingenuity of the country's highway engineers.

The Holy Communion will be observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, October 1. This observance is of a special nature. Presbyterian and Reformed Churches all over the world will commune on the same day. It is called World Wide Communion. Somewhere, throughout the whole twenty-four hours, on Mission fields and all over the homeland, congregations will be having communion. This is a stirring example of how people of all races and in every clime are united under the banner of Christ. Locally, the service will be held at 10 a.m. in the Presbyterian church.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, Jesse Williams, who departed this life six months ago today September 27, 1939, gone but not forgotten.

In the graveyard sweetly sleeping
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
In the cold and silent grave.

That true heart that beat so high,
Free from care and gloom,
Is hidden now from those he loved
Beneath the silent tomb.

How we miss him in our home
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.

But all his pain is over,
His suffering, toil and woe.
Jesus has taken him home to heaven
To love for evermore.

We will try to bear our troubles
And live the best we can,
For we know that Jesus took our husband and father,
To join the heavenly band.

He's safe from earthly sorrows,
He's safe from earthly sins,
He's resting safe with Jesus,
He's called him home to Him.

Written by his wife and daughter,
Fannie and Ruby Jane.

IRVING BERLIN'S "SECOND FIDDLE" BOASTS DAZZLING TALENT PARADE

Irving Berlin's new songs, Sonja Henie's sunny brilliance, Tyrone Power's gay romancing, Rudy Vallee's singing and Edna May Oliver's fun—one of the greatest combinations of talent ever gathered for one show is making Irving Berlin's "Second Fiddle" the sensation of the preview critics who have lavished on the 20th Century-Fox film a chorus of praise.

It's something new in screen entertainment, this film which will open at the Pitts' Theatre on Thursday and Friday, October 5 and 6, and it's filled with romance, dazzling spectacle, fresh comedy, six new Berlin songs and surprise galore, including sensational tangos on ice, snow rumbas, ice ballets, and the new ballroom dance craze, the "Back to Back."

Bearing evidences throughout of the magic touch of Darryl F. Zanuck, 20th Century-Fox production chief, the screen play by Harry Tugend is a highly realistic story of filmdom's long search for a girl to play the heroine of a best-selling novel and what happens when she is found.

This is right in line with the new trend, set by Zanuck in his production of Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band," of combining music with a story of real dramatic worth into perfectly blended entertainment. "Second Fiddle" introduces, also, new-star Mary Healy, lovely young actress whose first screen appearance finds her in a romantic role opposite Rudy Vallee. The producers expect great work from this newcomer and her performance is hailed as fulfilling every expectation. Included with her in the cast are Lyle Talbot and Alan Dinehart.

For the first time on the screen Sonja Henie has a skating partner on the ice, young Stewart Reburn. The handsome Canadian athlete appeared with the ice star during her triumphant personal-appearance tour of the country last winter.

REVIVAL IN THE CANNON BRANCH CHURCH NOW IN FULL SWING

Rev. W. C. Sell

Rev. W. C. Sell, of Kittanning, Pennsylvania, started a revival in the Cannon Branch Church of the Brethren, Monday evening, September 25, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Mr. Sell is an experienced Pastor-Evangelist. He has held pastorates in Springfield, Illinois, Grand Rapids, Michigan and in Hollidaysburg, Dubois, and Kittanning Churches in Pennsylvania. He has traveled in half of the states in the U. S. and has held Revival in many of them. He traveled with Rev. J. M. Cline from Nampa, Idaho, to Portland, Oregon, San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif., after the great annual conference of the Church of the Brethren, held in June of 1937.

Rev. Sell has his A.B. and B.D. degrees, having graduated from Bethany Biblical Seminary in 1933, yet he preaches a simple Old Fashion Gospel with spiritual fervor and Holy Spirit Power. He is a lover of children and a worker with young people. Although he is a strong believer in his own church and is loyal to it, yet he has such a gracious personality and a cooperative spirit that he holds three prominent interdenominational positions in his country. He is president of Armstrong county Pennsylvania Ministerial Association; Superintendent of the Young People's Department in Armstrong County Sabbath School Association and is Superintendent of the Evangelistic Department of the County Christian Endeavor Organization.

Rev. Mr. Sell is conducting a two-weeks Revival in the Cannon Branch Church and will welcome people of city and community to attend. Delegations from surrounding churches are being planned with special music, and other special features every night. The Scriptural Theme for the Revival is: "We Would See Jesus." Jn. 12:21. The Theme song is "A Revival Is Sweeping This Way." His sermon subjects for the next few nights are as follows: Friday: "What it Costs Not to be a Christian"; Saturday: "The Power of Pentecost"; Sunday: Sunday School at 10 o'clock preaching at 11 a.m. Subject: "A Story of Actual Life." Sunday evening: "What Shall I Do With Jesus?" Monday: "One of the Greatest Needs in the World Today"; Tuesday: "Man's Responsibility for Human Redemption." Wednesday: "God's Plan of Salvation"; Thursday: "Something More Certain Than Taxes and Death"; Friday, October 6: "God's Power to Give New Life."

Great enthusiasm has already been aroused, and plans being laid to care for a packed house by Sunday evening. Come early to secure a good seat. Every one welcomed to all these services.

Evangelist Rev. W. C. Sell, just before we went to press, informs us that the meetings at the Cannon Branch Church of the Brethren are increasing in attendance every night, and the spiritual interest is very high. Some special features not mentioned the former write-up are: Stories for the children, and chorus songs for them to sing. The Evangelist this Sunday evening, September 1, is offering a special souvenir prize for the following: (1) The most recently married person present; (2) The oldest person present; (3) The largest family present; (4) The largest family present. No one will want to miss this dynamic speaker, who preaches with conviction and Holy Spirit power the Old Time Gospel Truth in a convincing way. The public is cordially welcomed.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Fairfax Guernsey Makes Good at World Fair

is shown above, is gaining fame for herself and honor for her owner, B. P. Sailsburg, Fairfax, in the Borden Dairy World of Tomorrow at the New York World's Fair.

This cow is one of the herd of 150 fine purebreds from dairy farms throughout the United States and Canada on display at the Fair. The June and July average milk production records for 150 cows, of 47.9 and 44.5 pounds of milk per cow per day and per cow averages of 60 and 55 pounds of butterfat for each of the two months, so far as is known have never been approached by any herd of the size made up of cows of the five major dairy breeds.

The record-making Dairy World of Tomorrow herd is composed of 30 representative cows of each of the Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Guernseys, Holstein-Friesians and Jerseys. A representative bull and representative calves of each breed also are on display at the Borden Dairy World of Tomorrow.

BOB BURNS STARS AS 100 PER CENT AMERICAN

"Our Leading Citizen," Paramount's colorful, honest screen treatment of a vital contemporary American problem, will bring Bob Burns back to town in a role which is being hailed as the best of his career. When the picture is presented locally for the first time on Monday and Tuesday, October 2-3, at the Pitts' Theatre, Bob will be seen as a man who is a lawyer by profession, a philosopher by instinct, a real dyed-in-the-wool, down-to-earth, 100% American character who believes in the principles of democracy, of square dealing with his fellow men.

The Irvin S. Cobb story is concerned with Bob's efforts to restore law and order in a thriving American city when an industrialist puts thru a ten percent pay cut at one of his mills despite the fact that business is good. Bob and his junior partner have been retained as counsel for Lockhart, and when the latter refuses to reconsider, Bob resigns as his counsel.

Lockhart's next move is to call in strike breakers. Then agitators arrive in town to urge the workers to meet force with force. To cap all, the mill is bombed, and two of the workers' leaders are killed.

A Citizen's Meeting is called by responsible members of the community. Bobs speaks in behalf of dispensing with "isms," with all outside influences which are causing more trouble in the dispute. Lockhart turns the meeting into a political rally by revoking the pay cut, and announcing that he will nominate Allen for Junior Senator at the forthcoming State Convention.

It would be giving away too much of the story to tell how Bob goes into action, deals with the leader of the strike breakers, Bickford, in a thrilling fist fight, and finally is nominated to run for the Senate in place of Allen!

Of course, there are grand romantic moments in the picture, involving Miss Hayward and Allen. In the course of the story, Bob has plenty of trouble keeping them together, but he deals with their difficulties in stride.

FAMILIAR BELL SYSTEM "BLUE BELL" CELEBRATES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Well-Known Emblem Created 50 Years Ago By Early Telephone Company Official

One of the world's most famous trademarks, the Bell System's familiar "Blue Bell," has now attained its golden anniversary. This telephone symbol came into being half a century ago to call the public's attention to pay stations equipped with special long distance telephones. What was later to become a universally-known emblem was hastily sketched on a scratch pad by its creator, Angus S. Hibbard, general superintendent of the three-year-old American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Today this symbol appears in Bell System advertisements, on telephone cars and trucks, on envelopes and other printed matter and on the ever-present public telephone sign.

The "Blue Bell" was designed to meet a need which arose in 1888. Commercial telephone exchange service in 1888 was just a decade old that year. Local service was a well established fact. Demands for long distance service were beginning to be met. Lines had been built from Boston to New York and from New York to Philadelphia. Work was under way or contemplated on routes southward to Washington and westward to Buffalo. The development of the metallic circuit and of improved instruments, especially designed for long distance transmission, had made these extensions possible. But not all telephones could be used on these early long distance lines. Instruments which were adequate for local service were not satisfactory for long distance transmission. Pay stations equipped with special long distance telephones and connected to metallic circuits were established. It was in order to call the attention of the public to these special "long distance" telephones that the "Blue Bell" was created.

The emblem drawn by Mr. Hibbard was submitted to E. J. Hall, then general manager of The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and approved by him January 5, 1889. The original drawing bearing this inscription is now in the American Telephone Historical Library, New York.

By the early nineties the use of metallic circuits and other developments had progressed to the point that many of the telephones installed primarily for local service were suitable also for long distance purposes, and it was no longer necessary to give particular emphasis to public telephones which could provide the latter service. The inscription on the "Blue Bell" was accordingly changed to read "Local and Long Distance Telephone." In March, 1922, the emblem in its present form, with the words "Bell System" inscribed on the bell, appeared on the advertisements and has been used throughout the Bell System in basically the same form ever since.

BIG WHITE ACORN

A white Oak acorn, probably the largest ever noted in these parts, is on exhibit in the office of the Manassas Journal. It came from the farm of Mr. A. B. Rust, near Haymarket.

The circumferences are approximately four inches in one direction and almost five inches in the other.

Norfolk and Western Railway Pays Largest State Tax

The coffers of Virginia's state treasury took on a sizable bulge this week, when the Commonwealth's largest single taxpayer, the Norfolk and Western Railway, paid its state taxes for the year, amounting to $1,045,893.62. The check for the huge sum was delivered in person by F. G. McGee, of Roanoke, the company's treasurer, to Governor James H. Price, at his office in Richmond.

The Norfolk and Western's tax payment represented about 25 per cent of the total state taxes paid by all public service corporations for 1939.

In addition to its state tax, the railroad will pay approximately a million dollars in taxes this year to 43 counties and 66 cities and towns of the Old Dominion—or a grand total of about $2,100,000.

Sydney F. Small, the railway's vice president in charge of taxation, pointed out that as the largest taxpayer of the State, the Norfolk and Western is the largest single contributor toward the maintenance of Virginia's public schools. A large per cent of rail taxes is used for this purpose. In a number of counties, Mr. Small added, more than 50 per cent of railroad taxes is used for school purposes.
