Last Minute Legislation Of Interest At Richmond

A call for an investigation of textbook prices in Virginia was made by the Senate yesterday, while the House was receiving bills to increase the minimum State pay per teacher unit to $720 and to repeal the judicial retirement system established by the General Assembly in 1938.

The Weaver resolution for a referendum on a proposed amendment to the Constitution to prevent road fund diversion, which was passed by the Senate Thursday, was sent by the House to its Roads Committee along with the Wright Senate resolution which merely would put the Assembly on record as opposed to diversion.

The Senate passed the Coleman bill, already adopted by the House, authorizing the State Supreme Court rather than the Governor to name judges in annexation proceedings and to fill a vacancy on an annexation court in case any one of its judges is disqualified.

Action on the bill to tax the income of Federal employees was deferred by the Senate Finance Committee pending an opinion by the attorney-general.

It was on motion of Senator Vivan Page of Norfolk that the upper house adopted a resolution requesting the State auditor to investigate textbook prices to determine whether or not publishers are charging Virginia higher prices for school books than they are charging neighboring States, in violation of their contract with this State.

The upper branch rejected a House amendment to the bill by Senator Robert W. Daniel of Brandon adding 20 miles of State park roads to the primary highway system. The amendment, by J. Tinsley Coleman of the House, would add to the system 4,000 miles of roads leading from main highways to public schools.

Senator William M. Tuck said he would favor an amendment that would put in the highway system roads from main highways to recognized high schools.

The veteran Senator Henry T. Wickham of Hanover, president pro tempore of the Senate, who is presiding in the absence of Lieutenant-Governor Saxon W. Holt, who is ill, was honored signally by both houses in a resolution requesting him to address the Assembly during the current session. The senate then adopted another resolution providing for a portrait of Senator Wickham to be placed in the Senate chamber. A similar resolution for a portrait of Lieutenant-Governor Holt, intended for presentation yesterday, will be submitted Monday.

A new bill to regulate barber shops and beauty parlors was introduced by Senators Page and Norris. It is a modification of similar bills defeated in previous years and is said to have the endorsement of the State Board of Health and the State Board of Education. It establishes a regulatory board and provides sanitary and educational standards. Barber schools would be under the supervision of the State Board of Education, while the sanitary standard would be regulated by the State Health Board.

The regulatory board would consist of six members to be appointed by the Governor, one of whom would have to be a Negro barber and one a Negro beautician.

Senator Charles W. Crowder introduced a bill to include insanity as a ground for divorce if the person involved is declared incurably insane after five years of illness. He also offered a bill to allow an appeal from the local Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court to Hastings Court, Part 2, in cases originating in South Richmond.

A bill by Senators Parks, Stuart and Caudill would prevent a person not a citizen of the United States from obtaining a license to sell beer and wine, and would declare as an "unsuitable" place for an ABC license any place not owned wholly or in part by a citizen of the United States unless it is owned by a corporation.

Senator Caudill offered a bill to transfer Wythe County from the Fifth to the Ninth Congressional District.

The Senate Court of Justice Committee yesterday afternoon reported a bill defining a "newspaper" in which required legal notices may be placed

KIWANIS CLUB ASSIGNS NEW MEMBERS TO DUTIES

Autobiographies (brevities) were the product of the program chairman's mind last Friday evening at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Many interesting side lights concerning town celebrities were developed in this discussion.

New members added since January 1st were placed on committee working of the Washington club yesterday.

SUPERVISORS HOLD MEETING

Delinquent Taxes And Fines For Drunkenness Sought

At the board's request on Monday Clerk James Ashby had prepared a list of unpaid taxes for the 10-year period, the total sum approaching $20,000. The notices will be mailed in the near future.

The supervisors decided to seek no change in the fox hunting laws in the county after being advised against such steps by the State Game Commission. A number of landowners petitioned the supervisors last month to ask the commission to repeal the existing law to permit hunting of foxes with guns throughout the year.

Basis of the petition was the claim that foxes had become so numerous in Stafford they were killing off small game. The landowners also asked that the supervisors offer a bounty for foxes. But, there will be no bounty and no change of regulations, as they now stand.

The recommendation of Commonwealth's Attorney R. H. L. Chichester that the supervisors adopt a resolution which would divert fines collected from persons convicted of drunkenness from the state treasury into the county's coffers was acted on favorably.

The board requested Mr. Chichester to draft a resolution requesting the General Assembly to pass a bill authorizing the county to issue building permits for all buildings costing $500 or more to erect. The resolution will be forwarded to the Assembly when adopted.

The supervisors began active preparation 1940-41 budget and transacted other business as follows:

Heard Superintendent T. Benton Gayle discuss school finances;

Took under consideration a proposal of the Ruritan Club, presented by Webb Midyette, that traffic signals be purchased for placing in roads near schools;

Authorized the Public Health and Welfare Association, for which Mr. Midyette also appeared as spokesman, to issue membership tags at $1.00 each to be placed on automobiles;

Provided funds for continuing the W. P. A. sewing room, which now has 17 women workers;

Took under advisement for investigation a request from G. W. Massey, Sr., of Brooke, that the old railroad bed from road from Brooke northward be closed. Mr. Massey claims ownership of the entrance of the road where his general store is located.

BELOVED SOCIAL AND CIVIC LEADER DIES AT HER HOME IN MANASSAS

Mrs. Fannie Care Thornton, widow of the late Judge J. B. T. Thornton, died at her home in Manassas on Friday, February 9, at 4:45 A. M. after an illness which had extended over a period of two years, during which time, however, she continued as active interest in the social and civic affairs of the community as her failing strength would permit.

Mrs. Thornton was born December 17, 1859 at Port Royal, Caroline County, Virginia, and was the daughter of Ezra and Julia Care Bauder. She moved to Brentsville, Prince William County, when in her early teens and there married the Commonwealth's Attorney of the County, James Bankhead Taylor Thornton, a young man who had already made his mark in the legal profession, both here and in Mississippi where he had been in law-partnership with the late Senator John Sharp Williams. Upon death of his father, the younger Thornton had returned to his native county where he formed a partnership with Congressman Meredith, and rose rapidly, becoming Judge of this Judicial Circuit and distinguished throughout the State for his judicial wisdom and fairness. When the Court House was moved from Brentsville to Manassas the Thorntons came here and played a conspicuous part in the development of the social, civic and commercial life of our Town and County.

Mrs. Thornton's social standing, and her charming hospitality attracted many notable visitors to Manassas and her organizing ability brought into being many local institutions and organizations which have continued to flourish and contribute to the upbuilding of the community. She was an organizer and one of the first officers of the Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church, a charter member of the Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and one of the founders of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Bennett School. She was Chairman of the Bi-Centennial Celebration which was so successful in Prince William County and entertained many of the distinguished visitors who came here to participate in the various Dairy Festivals.

Funeral services were held from her home on Sunday afternoon, February 11. The Rev. J. F. Burks, former Rector of Trinity Church officiated and interment was in the family vault in the local cemetery. The active pall-bearers were all nephews of the deceased and were Messrs. Hawes Thornton Davies, Jr., and James Jenkyn Davies, of Manassas, William Willis Thornton and James Bankhead Taylor Thornton Davies, of Arlington, and John Jenkyn Davies and John Andrew Davies, of Culpeper, and McDuff Green, of Brentsville.

The passing of Mrs. Thornton was the occasion of widespread sorrow throughout the county, as was attested by the lovely floral offerings and the deep sorrow of those who gathered to pay their past tribute to one who for so many years had endeared herself by charm of personality, social accomplishments, fine qualities of character and untiring devotion, not only to those who were near and dear, but also to welfare and progress of the whole community where she had lived so happily for three quarters of a century.

Great grandchildren: Billy Gue, and Patricia Ann Albrite, both of Manassas, Manassas, and Barbara Ann Bowers, of Washington.

One sister, Mrs. Katherine Whetzel, of Aden, and four brothers, Frank, of Criders, Va., William of Burgtan, Va., George of Winchester, and Jesse, of Mathias, W. Va.

The funeral was held at Valley View Church Monday afternoon at 2:00, and she was laid to rest in the church cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. Miller, her pastor, and Rev. Graybill.

The active pallbearers were six grandsons, Claude and Waldo Albrite, Howard and Johnnie Snyder, Buddy Hedrick and Junior Whetzel. The honorary pallbearers were Emory Grey, George Grey, Billy King, Charles Beahm, Wade Whetzel, Tom McMichael and Ernest Patton.

Mrs. Fitzwater was a good wife and mother and a true friend and will be greatly missed in the Nokesville community.

"A mother like this is not only a memory, she is a living presence."

AN EXPLANATION

The article headed "School Rating Endangered" which appeared in last week's Journal had no reference to the Manassas High School. Those who read the story to the end would have easily noted that it pertains to Haymarket High School after this session.

The Board of Supervisors will hold a special session on Thursday, February 22nd.

Town and County Government Explained To Ladies

Mr. Harry Davis, mayor of Manassas, and Mr. Wheatley Johnson, a member of the Prince William County Board of Supervisors, addressed the Manassas Woman's Club on Monday afternoon in the Parish Hall. Mr. Davis spoke on the Town Government while Mr. Johnson took the County Government. Both Mr. Davis and Mr. Johnson explained very clearly many points in the government of the Town and County that every citizen should know and be interested in. Both gentlemen expressed a wish that more people avail themselves of the opportunity of going to the meetings of the Town Council and of the County Board of Supervisors and seeing for themselves just what is being done in the Town and County. Fortunate indeed was the club in having two such fine talks in one afternoon.

The date for the Easter Charity Ball is driving near and Mrs. Wade-Dalton appointed the following committees: General Chairman, Mrs. Harold McCall; Music, Mrs. Fred Hynson; Invitations, Mrs. W. L. Graham, Mrs. Marshall Douglas and Mrs. John Broadbudd; Publicity, Mrs. Worth Peters.

The teatable very lovely in its Valentine decorations was very charmingly presided over by Mrs. Margaret Lewis, the other hostesses being Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. Charles Linton, Mrs. William L. Lloyd, Miss Margaret Lynch and Mrs. Charles C. Lynn.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS EARN FOURTH WIN IN FIVE TRIES

Playing before one of the largest crowds of the year, the M. H. S. girls' team ran their string of victories to four out of five starts at the expense of the Warrenton High School girls' team.

On the short end of the score at the end of the first quarter, the M. H. S. girls began to put on the pressure and gradually forged ahead with the score 10-5 at the half.

As the second half began, the Manassas High's offense began clicking beautifully and the defense working to perfection, the girls held a commanding lead at the end of the third quarter. It was at this point that the substitutes took the floor for the Manassas team, and the score continued to pile up until the end of the game with the score 24-10, Manassas having the advantage.

The only bid for victory that the Warrenton team could offer was in the first quarter when they were ahead 3-1.

The Warrenton team should be complimented for their fine sportsmanship shown during the game.

Fourteen girls took part in the game for Manassas with the first team playing the first and third quarters, and the substitutes dominating the second and final quarters.

If you have not seen your high school teams play this season, by all means do so, for you have a treat in store.

Eagle Scouts Heroic Action Saves Life Of Girl Skater

Life saving methods, learned as a Boy Scout, have enabled George W. Tice, Jr., of Lebanon, Pa., to make one of the unusual drowning rescues of the skating season.

Tice, an Eagle Scout, maneuvered over the thin ice to where the girl struggled alone in the darkness. With a flashlight, he lighted up the whole ice area, calmed the girl's panic, pulled her out of the water, administered first aid, and then took her to her home.

When he first heard the girl's cries, Tice was standing on the bank. The night was very dark, with no moon, and the cries came from a spot well off shore. However, with the help of his flashlight, Tice quickly located her and made his way toward her over the thinning ice.

"It was very cold," Tice said, "and there were only a few other people on the ice. I had just started to put on my skates when I heard the girl's screams.

"There wasn't much time to think what to do. I just grabbed up the flashlight and started. Fortunately, the batteries in the light were fresh, and the beam was so strong that I could locate her easily from shore. She was struggling and I knew I'd have to work fast.

"As soon as I got near enough, I called to her to kick her feet and move her arms slowly. That was all I could do till I got closer, but I kept talking the whole time to reassure her. The light showed that the ice was pretty thin, but by watching it and moving carefully I managed to edge near enough to grab the girl and pull her out."

When Tice got the girl to shore she fainted, but he revived her quickly, helped her to his car, and made a dash for her home. Although she suffered from exposure, she was soon little the worse for her experience.

IF HE COULD
By Algia A. Martin

If George Washington
Could come back today,
And see all the wonders
That times brought our way.

Do you think he would be glad?
Or feel we are not blest,
As with all we now do have
There is so much unrest.

I think George Washington
Would be hurt, and very sad,
To know the hate, and suffering
Our world has seen, and had.

I Like This Book

I LIKE THIS BOOK
CAPT. HORATIO HORNBLOWER
By C. S. Forester

Every once in a while don't you think you should stop and read an interesting story? Well that's what the book "Captain Horatio Hornblower" is. It is an interesting trilogy of the sea. The story is written in a free, easy style. It is easy to understand and very interesting. It is a fictional novel and yet at times England did try to stir up rebellion as Hornblower did.

The first book, "Beat to Quarters," took place on His Majesty's frigate Lydia in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans around South America. It was here that Captain Hornblower tried to stir up rebellion against Spain.

The second book, "Ship of the Line," took place on H. M. S. Sutherland in the Mediterranean Sea. Here Hornblower's ship was captured after brilliant fighting with the French.

The third and last book, "Flying Colours," tells of his escape from the French and of his trip back to England.

These books were written by C. S. Forester (published 1939 by Little, Brown and Company.) Mr. Forester is best known for his sea stories. Some of his best stories are: "The Gun," "The African Queen," "The General," and "Captain Horatio Hornblower." In 1936, he published "Beat to Quarters" and in 1938, he published "Ship of the Line" and "Flying Colours."

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner Carnegie Library.

JEAN ARTHUR AND JAMES STEWART HEAD CAST IN DRAMA OF ADVENTURE AND ROMANTIC IN NATION'S CAPITAL

To improve upon perfection might seem an impossibility, but Frank Capra has been doing just that for so long the fact is no longer news. Director of "It Happened One Night," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "Lost Horizon" and "You Can't Take It With You," Capra on Monday and Tuesday, February 19 and 20 brings to the Pitts Theatre screen what has been hailed as the ultimate in screen entertainment, his stirring romantic comedy, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Critics and cinemagoers who have seen this timely, new drama enjoyed it more than "You Can't Take It With You," and that film, it will be recalled, won the Academy Award as the best picture of 1938.

Appropriately, three of its brightest personalities who appeared in "You Can't Take It With You," are reunited in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." They are Jean Arthur, James Stewart and Edward Arnold, the first two co-starred in the romantic leads, and Arnold as part of a truly distinguished supporting cast which includes such stellar names as Thomas Mitchell, Claude Rains, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly, Eugene Pallette, Beulah Bondi and Astrid Allwyn, to name only a few. Some like Mitchell, Kibbee and Miss Donnelly, have highlighted previous Capra hits. Like the others, they were personally chosen by the director as the perfect players for their particular part.

James Stewart plays the title role in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," and the youthful charm, earnestness and idealism with which he invests the part contributes greatly to the picture's appeal. Young Jeff Smith is head of his state's Boy Rangers, and when a vacancy in the United States Senate has to be filled, his name comes to the attention of the ruling political forces who want the appointee to be a harmless and inexperienced tool.

Jeff goes to Washington unconscious of the fact that he is helping to betray the ideals he holds so dear. Miss Arthur, his secretary, is prone to scoff at him, but she falls in love with the human, honest youth. Little by little Jeff learns that he is being victimized. Climaxing scenes in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," flowering out of rich antecedent material, reveal Capra and his cast at their best. As Stewart revolts, the party machine fights back and the whole nation takes sides in a bitter fight to the finish. The picture rises to truly memorable heights.

A noteworthy aspect of the picture is its scenes of Washington life. The United States Senate chamber was rebuilt in Hollywood full-size and complete to the most minute detail. All such phases of the production were under the supervision of James D. "Jim" Preston, a nationally-known authority on the capital. Preston for 35 consecutive years was Superintendent of the press gallery in the Senate chamber—a position that brought him into intimate contact with three generations of the nation's leading political figures.

This winter can sure be remembered for its many changes in weather and temperature. One could scarcely have suspected two weeks ago, that the great snow drifts would now be gone, and spring-like weather prevailing so soon. But if the weather was all the rest of the world had to worry about, how happy we could all be.

We had hoped that an epidemic of influenza or grip would not pass through the country, but it did; though in a much milder form than heretofore, possibly because folks have learned how to combat the disease, and to mind the doctor. Few persons in this locality escaped an attack. One of the lucky ones lays his immunity to a perpetual "chaw of terbacker." Well ole doc nicotine is mighty effective in protecting our plants from bugs. So why doubt the philosophy.

Philip Thornhill recently spent two weeks in Washington, receiving treatment for threatened mastoid trouble. He is much improved in health and has returned to school. His mother, Mrs. Pauline Thornhill spent several days in Sibley hospital with flu. She has now returned to her work in the Department of Labor, and spent this week end at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Gossom of Washington, announce the birth of a daughter on January 26. Another departure from the business world, after several years of married life. We wish them best of luck in their new found happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Thomas and son of Falls Church, spent the week end with Mrs. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnes and children, of Arlington, also Robert and Herman Smith and Miss Edna Kaufman spent Sunday at Hagley.

Miss Florence Smith had as her guests for the week end, Mrs. Marie Tedrow, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tedrow, Mr. Howard Berry and Miss Boswell, all of Washington.

Mr. John Hundley, aged 51 years, a World War veteran, died at Mount Alto hospital in Washington, D. C., February 7, after a long and painful illness. His remains were interred in Arlington cemetery. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Hundley and five small children of Sudley neighborhood who have the sympathy of many friends.

Mrs. Harry Dogan, Mrs. Charles F. Caton and Mrs. L. J. Pattie accompanied Rev. Mr. Schwartz to the zone meeting at Warrenton, Thursday, February 8, where a most instructive meeting was conducted by Mrs. Nellie F. Clark, secretary of the Washington District of the Woman's missionary society.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

PARTY FENCE JUMPERS are constantly increasing in number. Voters are becoming expert at the game of jumping over party fences. On election day party fences are often completely broken down in many places. Were "Mr. Dooley," the humorist, living today he would not say, as he did a generation ago to his friends:

"Hinnissy, a man makes up his mind how he's goin' to vote about the time his father was born, and niver changes."

THE AMERICAN VOTER is far more independent of political parties than he was when Dooley poked fun at him for blindly following the political bell wether. He has become expert at jumping party hurdles, as recent national, state, and local elections demonstrate. Here are a few records made in just one recent election:

MARYLAND'S STATE ELECTION 1934: Albert C. Ritchie, the state's Democratic Governor, was up for reelection. He had been governor of the state for 15 years, always elected on his appeal for the repeal of prohibition. That issue could no longer be used and Ritchie fell back to his conservative trenches and his dislike of the New Deal. Enough voters hurred over the party fence to defeat him and elect a more liberal Republican. Yet those same voters in that same election gave the liberal Democratic candidate for the United States Senate a plurality of 60,000. Their hurdling over party fences was even more expert than that for they gave the liberal Democratic candidate for Attorney General of the state a plurality of 100,000.

IN NEW YORK CITY in that same election one Democratic candidate received 800,000 more votes than were given to the Democratic candidate put up by Tammany Hall for another office. They just smashed party fences down to defeat Tammany's candidate.

IN MINNESOTA THAT YEAR the combined forces of the Republican and Democratic machines could not stop the voters from swarming over party fences into the Farmer-Labor camp and electing that ticket. In Wisconsin that year both the state and national Democratic organizations tried to defeat both the Republican and the Progressive tickets but the voters stamped to the Progressive ranks and gave overwhelming pluralities to Phil La Follette for governor and Bob La Follette for Senator, both of them Progressives.

THE NATIONAL ELECTION IN 1928 gave Hoover, the Republican, a plurality of six million over Smith, the Democrat. But in 1932 there was so much jumping over the political party fence from the Republican field into the Democratic field that Roosevelt was given a plurality of more than seven million over Hoover. And in 1936 the fence separating the two old parties was completely demolished except in Maine and Vermont, in which states it was only badly damaged.

LAST NOVEMBER 7 the voters of Arlington gave proof of their independence, as anyone who examined the results knows. It was a fine demonstration of democracy in action. Voters are distinguishing sharply between the Democratic Party and democracy (spelled with a small d) in practical operation. If democracy fails it will be due to bad leadership in the shell game of party politics. The continued success of democracy depends on the continued growth of independence on the part of the voters, their determination and ability to hurdle over party fences when public interests are served by doing so.

STATE REORGANIZATION

Although there are many features of Governor Price's reorganization plan which appear commendable, there are unquestionably other important aspects which deserve more deliberate consideration that can be accomplished in the remaining half of the present session of the General Assembly.

In the murky atmosphere now developing in Richmond to control the Democratic State Convention this summer, it is becoming increasingly evident that the Governor's proposals are regrettably late, and to this extent at least more or less untimely.

The charge has been widely publicized, and indignantly denied, that the Governor has already been down to the White House to make preliminary strategic arrangements in behalf of the Third Term movement, and this unfortunate situation, whether true or false, when viewed in the troublesome light of the various ramifications of the recently enacted federal "Hatch" law, makes it certain that there will be more charges and counter-charges. The "Hatch Law" will keep a small army of Federal officeholders from participating in the Democratic State Convention. The importance, therefore, of State employees in State politics becomes correspondingly increased, and the delegation at this time of enormously increased gubernatorial power will be likely to be looked at with askance by Conservative Democrats. Thus the whole situation becomes confusing and creates a refraction of direct vision calculated to obscure the real merits of the Governor's interesting proposals.

WHY NO FISH AND GAME COMMITTEE?

Sportsmen and nature-lovers, who are interested in the progress of legislation to preserve and propagate the wildlife in Virginia, must be somewhat puzzled to note in the recently published Manual of the Senate and House of Delegates of the General Assembly of Virginia for 1940 that while there is a standing committee on Fish and Game in the Senate, no such committee is listed for the House.

It is known that Delegate Maitland Bustard, of Danville, is about to introduce, or has now introduced, a bill carrying the major recommendations of the Committee appointed two years ago to study the Game and Inland Fisheries of Virginia. Publication of the report of this Bustard Committee has unfortunately been delayed until the Session is half completed and little opportunity will now be afforded for hearings and consideration, which seemingly must be conducted by some Committee of the House whose activities will necessarily be diverted by attention to many other types of legislation.

There has been much unrest throughout the State with regard to the Administration of our Conservation and Game laws, and without referring at all to the Bustard investigation, it may be stated that we have had too many inquiries into the activities of State Agencies which have resulted in their largely being permitted to investigate themselves, generally with a liberal utilization of white-wash, as for example, in at least two investigations of our State Forest Service.

It would seem that failure of the House of Delegates to maintain a standing committee on Fish and Game, and Conservation, may be at least contributory to the difficulty which seems to exist in shaping legislation which will be satisfying to the many and conflicting interests which are concerned. Certainly it would seem that if the Senate, with its smaller membership, should consider our fish and game as worthy of consideration by a standing committee, the House, with its larger personnel, could well afford to accord the same distinction to this important problem.

BETHEHEM CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Bethelhem Club will meet with Mrs. R. L. Byrd next Wednesday, February 21st, at 2:30 P. M. Mrs. Robert Hutchison is assistant hostess.

MRS. CARPER ENTERTAINS MANASSAS CHAPTER U. D. C.

Mrs. Lewis J. Carper was hostess to the Manassas Chapter, U. D. C. on Wednesday, February 7th, at her home on Battle Street. A large group of Chapter members were welcomed by Mrs. Carper in her usual gracious manner. The occasion was particularly important as Mrs. William A. Coleman, State Historian, U. D. C., was the honor guest and gave a most interesting talk, covering the various phases of the historical department over which she presides.

Mrs. McDuff Green, president, called the meeting to order and the usual schedule of business was transacted. Six new minute books of the 1939 convention were distributed and nine more copies were subscribed to.

A very pleasing report was given by Mrs. Carper of the Lee-Jackson-Maury program sponsored by the chapter and presented at assembly in the High School auditorium on January 25th.

Miss Marie Bauserman presided. The Glee Club gave two selections. The boys sang, "Jine the Cavalry" and the girls, "Beautiful Dreamer." Mr. Herbert Saunders conducted an historical "quiz" on the three men, Lee Jackson and Maury. Six students participated and two tied for honors, Miss Aileen Harris and Tommy Athey.

The chapter will award to each of the winners a book; to Miss Harris, "Mrs. Robert E. Lee" and to Mr. Athey, "Pathfinder of the Seas."

Mrs. R. L. Byrd, historian, continued the report of chapter activities; that by an act of the town council the Confederate flag had waved over the town hall on the birthdays of Lee and Jackson and that Mr. Powell had cooperated also by raising the stars and bars at the Henry House, Manassas Battlefield, on the commemorative dates, January 19 and 21st.

Mrs. Byrd announced Montgomery, Ala. as topic for March meeting and requested each member to respond with an historical fact concerning the Southern city.

Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson, acting librarian is lending much needed assistance in collecting for the library, reference material for Confederate essay subjects, "Pelham," "Lanier" and "The Confederate Flags."

Mrs. B. F. Knox, registrar, presented demit papers from the "Blue Ridge" Chapter for Mrs. Marshall Douglas. The Manassas Chapter is pleased to receive Mrs. Douglas as a member.

Mrs. Coleman's talk was received with appreciation and her charming personality will linger long in the memory of those who were privileged to meet her.

Mrs. Coleman had, earlier in the afternoon, visited the Osbourn High School and by appointment, addressed the students of the Junior and Senior Classes. Mrs. Coleman was accompanied by Mrs. McDuff Green, Mrs. Robert Hutchison, Mrs. R. L. Byrd, Mrs. Joseph Kincheloe and Mrs. Clyde Rector. Mrs. Hutchison was accorded the honor of introducing the speaker.

Mrs. Coleman had chosen to speak on Major John Pelham, however, before taking up the subject she brought out a few important facts relative to causes of War Between the States, especially that slavery was not the cause, as is often the general belief among the present day youth. Mrs. young Major Pelham, riding with Coleman also stressed the foremost Stuart at the front, was killed when objective of the U. D. C. organization as being, to collect and preserve material for a truthful history of the War Between the States.

In speaking of Pelham, Mrs. Coleman impressed her hearers with recorded facts concerning the high esteem and loving admiration General J. E. B. Stuart maintained for the youthful Alabama hero, and how in 1863, a baby daughter was born to Stuart, he gave her the name, Virginia Pelham. Mrs. Coleman concluded her talk by describing the desperate struggle between the forces at Kelly's Ford near Culpeper where among the present day youth, Mrs. young Major Pelham, riding with Coleman also stressed the foremost Stuart at the front, was killed when a shell exploded above him.

Mrs. Carper, assisted by her guest, Mrs. R. Terrell Johnson, served a desert course in which the scheme of Confederate colors, red and white was attained. Also heart shaped wafers were suggestive of the Valentine season.

ENTERTAINED AT MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. Herwin Ritter were guests of honor at a surprise shower, given at their home last Wednesday evening. A large number of their friends were present to wish them much happiness, and they received many lovely presents.

QUIET TALKS ON RELIGION

By DR. JAMES T. MARSHALL

COMMENDABLE COVETEOUSNESS

There are two kinds of covetousness. One is forbidden in the Ninth Commandment. The other is commended by St. Paul when he says, "Covet earnestly the best gifts." (I Cor. 12:31) we should earnestly strive to possess the highest gifts which God offers to us in life. The average person lives on too low a level.

In a poem entitled "God the Architect," Harry Kemp writes, "Thou hast made the flowers to blow And the stars to shine, Hid rare gems and richest ore In the tunneled mine; But chief of all Thy wondrous works, Supreme of all Thy plan, Thou hast put an upward reach Within the heart of man."

First of all, we must realize that there is a beat in life. Why should mankind go grovelling about in the mire, or waste his time on gaudy toys? The central message of the Bible is that man is superior to the animals, to the "fowls of the air, and passeth through the paths of the sea, and whatsoever sea."

He has been made "but little lower than God." (Psalm 8:5, Revised Version.)

Yet the present generation is moving away from its high ground of divine sonship, and surrendering to the lure of the material and sensuous. Civilization is becoming more and more Pagan, and our standards of values are becoming lower and lower.

Human life is about the cheapest thing in the world today. Jesus said it was the most precious of all God's gifts to man. "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, He asked, "and lose his own life?" Dictators in Europe and criminals in the United States have no conscience about the ruthless killing of innocent and helpless men, women and children.

Christianity appraises life at its highest value. Our Savior came that we might have life and that we might have it more abundantly. This saying of Jesus has been degraded by our politicians. It means much more than promises of "a full dinner pail," or "two cars in every garage." When we stake all on material gains, we degrade life and revert to savagery.

We should be in love with life itself. What a glorious privilege it is to be alive in a beautiful world like this, where we can commune with fields, flowers, birds and stars, and look up to Him who holds these stars in His hands, and watches over those who call Him "Father."

We should seek to be at our best in character; to save our souls even if we lose some money in the process; to put first to seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, knowing that all needful things will be added unto us. All true wealth is on the inside. The most important consideration is what we are in our own selves, and not how much we have in the bank.

We should endeavor to accomplish something worthwhile in life. It is not true that all opportunities for achievement and success are gone. There never was a day when the world had a more wonderful future for the young people who have good stuff in them. To them is entrusted the task of remaking society which their parents have so badly mused up.

To accomplish the attainment of the best gifts, we must not leave Christ out of our program. It is either Christ or chaos. He is "the Light of the world," and "in Him dwelleth all the fullness of the godhead bodily."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ. Scientist, on Sunday, February 18.

The Golden Text will be, "I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people" (Lev. 26:11,12.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness" (Isaiah 55:2.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind is the Soul of man, and gives man dominion over all things" (page 307.)

MRS. CHARLES F. BROWER, SR.

Catharpin community lost one of its most beloved characters when Mrs. Sarah Frances Sanders Brower passed to eternal rest at Leesburg hospital, January 30, 1940, after an illness of two months.

She was a daughter of George and Roberta Grayson Sanders, who moved from "Mill Park" to "Mt. Pleasant" farm, near Catharpin when their family was quite young. There were seven sons, Frederick Hampton, George, Silas Beauregard, Henry, Bernege, Walter and Carroll and three daughters, Sarah Frances, Bessie and Eva.

Fifty some years ago, when the terrible scourge of diphtheria epidemics swept through this section, Bessie, Eva and Carroll were victims of this dread disease, thus leaving "Sadie," as she was familiarly known to her dearest friends to be the only daughter to reach womanhood.

On October 26, 1886, at Sudley Church, with the Rev. Stringer officiating, she became the bride of Dr. Charles F. Brower, a young physician who had recently begun practice at Catharpin, having chosen this community for his field of sacrificial service in relieving the sufferings of humanity.

Together they began life at "The Lone Oak" farm and continued in the activities of the Church and community. To this union were born two daughters: Mrs. Russell Holman

Willis, of Roanoke, and Mrs. Edward Willis of Arlington; three sons, Charles Ford Brower, Jr., of Purcellville, Va., Frank Brower, of Price, Md., and William S. Brower, who resides at the parental home.

The doctor's wonderful ability as a physician and his expertness as a diagnostician is known far and wide, as his wife, Mrs. Brower undoubtedly became one of the best known and most beloved women of upper Prince William, for while rearing her own family, she also shared the joys, anxieties and sorrows of his patients.

She was a charter member of the Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club, and for many years served as its secretary.

When she and the doctor celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, on October 26, 1936, friends, relatives and prominent physicians gathered from far and near to extend their congratulations and good wishes to this beloved couple.

When the Woman's Missionary Society of Sudley Church, held its 50th anniversary meeting at "Stone House Inn" on January 24, 1938, Mrs. Brower shared the honors with Mrs. May Dogan, Mrs. Margaret Hundley and Mrs. J. D. Wheeler as the four surviving charter members. One of our most delightful memories of her will be her "Reminiscences of Old Sudley" which she gave at that meeting.

A great sorrow was felt over our entire section when she was stricken with partial paralysis on the evening of December 4th, soon after enjoying a family dinner in honor of her 76th birthday. From this illness she never recovered, and passed away leaving to us all a memory of her as sweet and lovely as her sympathetic and gracious personality.

The funeral was held from her late home, February 1st, with services at Sudley conducted by her pastor, Rev. John Sanders Schwartz. Interment was made in the family plot in the adjacent cemetery amid a profusion of fragrant flowers, silent tokens of deepest sympathy to the doctor and the family.

The pall bearers were Messrs. L. Kyle Lynn, Charles C. Lynn, Sr., of Manassas, James G. Metcalfe of Sudlersville, Md.; J. W. Alvey, of Catharpin; C. B. Roland, of Haymarket and Thomas M. Piercy, Sr., of Gainesville.

Besides her husband and children, she is survived by one brother, Mr. S. B. Sanders, of Marshall, eight grandsons, three granddaughters and one great-grand daughter.

SONJA HENIE'S LATEST FILM THRILLINGLY DIFFERENT

Story value and acting performances are counted on in "Everything Happens at Night" more than in any of Sonja Henie's previous five productions. A completely different type of story for the famous skating star and queen of the ice the screen play by Art Arthur and Robert Harari is filled with love and laughter, and mysterious danger, too. It's a timely tale of modern intrigue, with the added attraction of Sonja's matchless artistry on silver blades and slippery skis.

Ray Milland and Robert Cummings are featured as Sonja's leading men in the attraction which opens Thursday and Friday, February 22 and 23, at the Pitts' Theatre. Because it is essentially a story picture, Irving Cummings, known as an "actor's director," was selected by Darryl F. Zanuck for the megaphone. The cast includes Maurice Moscovitch, Leonid Kinsky, Alan Dinehart and Fritz Feld.

Signed by 20th Century-Fox originally just for her skating genius, the studio asked no real acting talent from Sonja Henie in her first few pictures where they were content just to have her perform on the ice. But it was soon apparent that a real dramatic talent was possessed by the ice champion. Never, however, has Sonja had a part as demanding upon her new-found ability as in "Everything Happens at Night."

As the daughter of a famous European statesman hiding in Switzerland from his enemies intent on extinguishing the light of freedom in Europe, she aids her father in revealing to the world the sensational inside story of the new international intrigue.

MDS. SUTPHIN ENTERTAINS CHURCH CLASS

On January 25th, the Lo-co-wo Sunday School Class of Grace M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. John Sutphin, with Mrs. Thomas Marshall, assistant hostess. Because of the inclement weather we had a small group but a very nice meeting.

Mrs. Sutphin was our leader for the evening. Her subject was on one of our Methodist Missions, China. Various members gave readings on the New Year.

As our president and vice president were absent, Mrs. Sutphin very capably presided over the short business session. Our corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Allison, was absent because of illness, but she did not fail to send in a good report of the sick folks she had remembered.

After much discussion of the wintery weather and thoughts of our absent members, we adjourned to partake of the delicious refreshments served by our hostesses.

FOUNDER'S WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED BY A&P STORES

The founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, George Huntington Hartford, who created the modern retailing method of direct buying and straightline, mass distribution, will be honored by all A & P stores during Founder's Week, February 15-24, the company announced here today.

Retailing principles established by Mr. Hartford when he opened the first red-fronted A & P store in 1859, company officials pointed out, are used today by countless chain and independent merchants as the means of providing greater savings to consumers.

A young man from Maine, Mr. Hartford entered the retailing field in New York City, where he was impressed by the prevailing high price believed that by purchasing tea direct, eliminating the many handling of tea, A & P executives said. He charges and middlemen's profits and retailing through his own store, he could materially reduce the price from the prevailing scale of a dollar and more per pound.

Mr. Hartford's first store, located on Vesey Street in lower New York, offered its customers striking savings on their tea purchases, and was an immediate success, the company officials said. Applying the same principles of direct buying and quick turnover of large volume at small profit, he opened additional units and added other groceries to his stock.

During Founder's Week, all A & P stores will lay special emphasis on tea, as their original stock in trade, and coffee, another early item of which the company is now the world's largest retailer, executives of the food chain declared. Purpose of the merchandising program, they concluded, is to demonstrate how foods and beverages that were once luxuries have been made inexpensive items in everyday diet, through modern, efficient methods of food distribution.

She Often Earns $5.00 in an Hour

The American Housewife, realizing the value of advertising often earns $5.00 an hour just by reading the newspaper.

She studies the advertising and learns where she can buy things she needs at the lowest prices. Then, she saves time as well as money by "buying from the ads." Often she merely steps to her phone and orders the advertised merchandise.

Telephone purchases are made with complete confidence because she selects advertised brands which she knows have the uniformly high quality she can depend upon.

Or, if she wishes to shop in person, she makes trips easier by going directly where bargains abound.

Compare this modern American way of buying with those of days before advertising. In those days, Mrs. America dangled a market basket from her arm and started an expedition of exploration, with no advance knowledge of products she was to buy.

She could not step up to a display counter and choose branded merchandise, with confidence in its quality. She bought from buckets and barrels and hoped for passable quality but seldom got it.

Would you prefer to buy by guess or by the American Way—the way made possible by advertising?
