MILITARY DAY AT LINTON HALL

Program Rendered Was Both Enjoyable And Inspiring

The ninth annual Military Day was held at Linton Hall Military School, Sunday, May 19. The Cadet battalion of a hundred and sixty-five boys, ranging in age from six to fifteen years had gone through many long hours of drilling, and practice in the manual of arms, with this day in view; and the large crowd of people from Washington, Baltimore, Richmond, and nearby towns, who had gathered to see the drills, fully appreciated the training of this unit of Uncle Sam's army.

The ceremonies opened at ten o'clock with a Solemn High Military Mass in the chapel of the school. The ritual for this ceremony is one of the most dramatic and colorful in the Catholic Church, and the combination of Military and religious features is an inspiring sight. Rev. Thomas J. McCarthy was celebrant of the Mass assisted by Rev. Lawrence Krause and Rev. J. Edward Rauth, O. S. B. as deacon and sub-deacon, with Rev. Alphonse A. Kremer as Master of Ceremonies.

After the reading of the Gospel for the Sunday, Father Krause addressed the congregation in a short sermon, stressing the work of the Holy Ghost in the soul of every baptized Christian.

At twelve thirty the formal drill began with a review of the Guard of Honor by guests and judges, followed by luncheon at one fifteen.

The program for the afternoon, under the direction of the Commandant, Marlin S. Reichley, 1st Lt. Inf. Res. U. S. A., the Battalion Commander, Cadet Major T. Ikeler and the Battalion Adjutant, John Grissom, with the winner, was as follows: Battalion Inspection and Review followed by Company competition. Company A commanded by Cadet Capt. C. Flaherty Co. B, commanded by Cadet Capt. Francis Slater, Co. Headquarters commanded by Cadet Capt. Charles Jenkins. The winning Company was Co. A and Capt. Jenkins was declared the best company commander. The Platoon competition was won by the 1st platoon of Co. B, commanded by Cadet Lt. G. Bliley. The individual competition was won by Cadet Serg. M. Ducharme taking first place and Cadet Robert Irwin taking 2nd place.

The individual platoon competition in the Manual of Arms was won by the following: Cadet A. Bishop, Cadet G. Grimmel, Cadet Serg. W. Downing, Cadet Serg. J. Vito, Cadet Serg. M. Ducharme, Cadet D. Irwin, and Cadet Serg. H. Davidson.

Rifle marksman awards were, 1st place Cadet Capt. C. Flaherty, 2nd place Cadet Lt. Adj. J. Grissom. Cadet Major Thomas Ikeler received the vote of the battalion as the most popular boy.

The Drum and Bugle Corps, under the direction of Cadet 2nd Lt. J. Dayhoff, won special applause by its appearance and performance.

The reviewing officers and judges were Major Charles Rayens, U. S. A., Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Georgetown University, Major Everett Yon, U. S. Others to be remembered were, National Grange Representative to Washington Fred Breckman, Hon. Wm. Lambertson, of Kansas, ranking member of the Agricultural Committee of the House, Dr. Dora Stockman, of Michigan, members of the Michigan Legislature, Robert McMiller, co-editor of The Farm Journal and members of the National Farm Chemurgic Council; Mrs. S. Among these were seven Masters of Subordinate Granges.

The local grange sent many invitations to the meeting as well as many phone. It is to be regretted that so for responded to these invitations but we feel that the loss was theirs.

"The Grange on the March" was the subject of Mr. Taber's address in which he spoke on agricultural and grange matters. His address was informing and was made entertaining by several good stories.

Mr. Taber has an attractive personality and a profound interest in agricultural problems and his popularity in the grange is proven by his record as National Master for fifteen years.

Dr. Stockman gave a very interesting account of the notable work she has accomplished in Michigan in securing hospitalization for mothers.

Mr. Breckman favored the ordinance with his reminiscence of his association with Bull Run Grange.

RAISES RARE ROSES

Growing prize roses might seem an odd hobby for a screen villain, but Harry Cording, one of the meanest, toughest, most arrogant bad men in pictures, appearing with George O'Brien in his latest outdoor drama, "The Marshal of Mesa City", sees nothing strange in it. It will be at Pitts' Theatre, Saturday, May 25.

"I've always been interested in flowers", says Cording. "Even as a youngster in Portsmouth, England, I had my little flower garden."

Tall, heavy-set, jovial and with a pleasing and unassuming personality, Cording says he finds great relaxation in his garden. To him flowers are almost human. His English-type farmhouse on his five-acre ranch in the San Fernando Valley, California, is literally surrounded by a floral kingdom.

At present Cording is experimenting on the cross-breeding of a Will Rogers rose with the Prince Edward and the Queen Victoria, a rose which he hopes will develop into an interesting study for botanical societies.

"The Marshal of Mesa City", is a saga of courageous federal marshals who ended the riotous and bloody rule of frontier desperadoes. Besides Cording, in prominent support of O'Brien are Virginia Vale, Leon Ames, Henry Brandon, Lloyd Ingraham and Mary Gordon. Dave Howard directed the RKO Radio offering.

THE FORD WAY OF DOING BUSINESS

The Ford Motor Company was founded by a working-man for working-men. Its present officers began as employees of the Company. It was the first company to pay a minimum wage, beginning in 1914, at the then astounding figure of $5 a day. That was double the prevailing wage of the time. The Ford minimum is now $6 a day for all employees engaged in production work. And from that, the wages rise to $10.80 a day, with the average wage $7.25, exclusive of salaried employees.

The Ford Motor Company was the first large company to establish the 8-hour day—also in 1914. And the 40-hour week was inaugurated by the Ford Motor Company in 1926, years before any such laws existed.

The Ford Motor Company employs men without regard to race, creed or color. It is common knowledge that working conditions in the Ford shops are the best that science and constant care can make them. A square deal, a just wage and stabilized employment for a large proportion of our employees—and as fully stabilized for all as conditions will permit—enable our men to retain their personal independence.

In consequence of these policies the Ford Motor Company has one of the finest bodies of employees in the world. The larger proportion are mature men of long service with the Company—sober, decent family men. Hundreds of them have been with the Company for more than 25 years—thousands for more than 15 years. Their health record, home ownership and citizenship records are good.

All this is reflected in Ford products, whether cars, trucks or tractors. The work is honestly done. Materials are the best that can be made or procured. Less profit to the Company and more value to the customer is known throughout the motoring world as "Ford's way of doing business."

Ford Motor Company was the first to make a motor car within the means of the average family—quitting the manufacture of what was then the largest selling model in the world to do so. Its chosen field in all the 30 years since that time has been the average American family—for which it has consistently provided car facilities which formerly only the wealthy could buy.

It is the policy of the Ford Motor Company to share the benefits of advanced methods and management with workers and public alike. Increased wages and employment over a period of many years have resulted in

A 300 per cent increase in the built-in value of the Ford car and a 75 per cent reduction in its price.

A very well known citizen who operated the hotel at Dumfries for a number of years; Mr. Albert A. Shelhammer has passed to his master's fold. He was laid to rest in Ivy Hill Cemetery in Alexandria on Monday, May 20th., in the 41 year of his age. Our sincere sympathy goes to his wife and son, his only remaining relatives in this country. Mr. Albert A. Shelhammer was always known to his many friends as Albert. He leaves a host of friends in Dumfries and vicinity where he was better known. He was very proud of his American citizenship, was always a great booster of the American Legion and other patriotic organizations. He lately moved from Dumfries and operated a restaurant in Alexandria, Va., where a number of his Dumfries and Quantico friends patronized him when in Alexandria.

THAT "KILDARE" HOSPITAL GETS LARGER AND LARGER

Recreating a great hospital for a motion picture and reproducing doctors in the persons of actors is almost as much of a task as originating the real thing. So declare the technicians and scientists who drop their real-life vocations to help present them on the screen in the "Dr. Kildare" medical-detective pictures, the fourth of which, "Dr. Kildare's Strange Case", opens Monday and Tuesday, May 27 and 28, at the Pitts Theatre.

As the series has proceeded, the Blair General Hospital, principal scene of the stories, has developed into a complete replica of a great modern hospital. It has its pathological laboratory, its bacteriological department, its pharmacy department. It has the latest modern operating rooms and equipment; even a modern hospital dietetic kitchen.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios can probably boast the distinction of being the only studio to own a hospital. As each addition to the institution was built for different stories, all equipment was purchased and every set made permanent so that the hospital might remain for the next in the series, just as the town of Carvel was built permanently for the Judge Hary Family stories.

In "Dr. Kildare's Strange Case" the public will see, for the first time, the treatment of the insane. Lew Ayres, playing the title role, administers the treatment exactly as it is done in practice.

The Kildare pictures, with Ayres and Lionel Barrymore, as the gruff old diagnostician Dr. Gillespie heading the cast, have in each episode shown the public some medical marvel, aside from telling a gripping medical-detective story in which the younger doctor uses science to aid in a detective investigation. In the present picture he utilizes insulin shock to wrest the secret hidden in the brain of an insane man.

Harold S. Bucquet directed the picture, with a cast that includes Ayres, Barrymore, Laraine Day as the young doctor's sweetheart, Shepherd Strudwick, noted New York stage actor, Samuel S. Hinds, Emma Dunn, Nat Pendleton, Walter Kingsford and Alma Kruger.

SHOUTING OVER PHONE USED TO BE COMMON HABIT BUT SHOULD BE AVOIDED NOW

C. & P. Companies Continue To Emphasize Importance Of Telephone Courtesy

Some sixty years ago, when the telephone was still an infant, subscribers could speak through instruments which were not more than twenty miles apart. These pioneer users of Alexander Graham Bell's invention often found it necessary to repeat a word or sentence. As a result there was a great deal of shouting and even though it was claimed that this instrument would transmit the human voice, most users felt that it was necessary to raise one's voice in order to be heard by a party twenty miles away. It was also discovered that "slight practice" in use of the telephone improved the reception of conversations.

Today through the efforts of telephone engineers and scientists it is no longer necessary to shout over one's telephone. Surveys by the C. and P. companies, however, reveal that a great many subscribers continue this practice.

In an effort to correct this fault and others, and to promote courtesy and personality in telephone conversations, the C. & P. companies have inaugurated campaigns at various times for the benefit of telephone users. Telephone employees throughout the C. and P. area advocate that the "slight practice" carried on in the early days of telephony can still be used to good advantage today.

For instance, it is pointed out that trying to talk over the telephone with a cigar, pipe or pencil in your mouth is a good trick but should be avoided when making a business or social call. Speaking clearly, distinctly and in a natural tone of voice will insure the best reception and at the same time leave the called party with a much better impression of us.

Telephone employees also suggest that when transferring a call or signaling the operator we should not bang the receiver hook. It is better to first tell the person with whom we are talking what we are going to do, then gently depress and release the receiver hook three or four times. These suggestions and others are emphasized by telephone employees as the best rules to follow in developing our telephone personalities.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in later years.

When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things. 1 Corinthians 13:11.

HAULING THE GOVERNOR INTO COURT

The Attorney General of Virginia has seen fit recently to seek Court action to override a recent veto by Governor Price. He is not literally hauling the Governor into Court, but his action amounts substantially to just that.

The legal question at issue seems to be the Constitutional question of whether, under Virginia law, a Governor may veto an amendment to a bill, without rejecting the measure itself.

The Governor has seen fit to veto certain items attached to a general appropriation bill by amendment. The Attorney General objects to this action and has brought suit in the State Supreme Court to compel the "keeper of the rolls" to re-instate seven of nine vetoed amendments in the published acts of the Assembly.

The legal aspect of the case is interesting and a Court ruling should clarify the situation, as the opinion of the Attorney General is simply advisory and has no force of law; but the action of the Attorney General at this time and in this manner will undoubtedly be interpreted throughout the state as a continuation of the factional fight which occurred last winter in the General Assembly, and in this light the action at this time and in the present manner seems to savor distinctly of partisanship in a factional fight which should be, if it is not, above the concern of the Attorney General, and which will almost inevitably, by his entrance into the situation, be injected into his own future campaign for the Attorney Generalship.

HAMILTON LYNN

Born, raised and died in the same house, the family homestead near Bull Run, summarizes much of the quiet life of Hamilton Lynn, Centreville District farmer who passed away on Friday, May 3.

He was the son of James E. and Jane M. Lynn, being born on May 27, 1862, in the heart of the battle field area. Here he chose to remain. In latter years, he and his sister, Virginia, were all that was left of the immediate household, although a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Murtaugh, (who survives him) lived near by. "Jennie", as she was known, passed several years ago.

He was intensely interested in all civic matters and was widely read. He never missed an election up to the last year or so when he became too feeble to service his most choice privilege.

The funeral was held from the Centreville M. E. Church, the Reverend Carl Maxwell officiating. In his sermon, the minister characterized the deceased as an "honest and upright citizen". Certainly this described him as no other phrase could.

The pallbearers were Messrs. John T. DeBell, A. J. Robey, Ben Cross, C. D. Roberson, Howard Havener, and Clayborne Wells. Interment was

WORLD TELEPHONE

NEWS EXCHANGES

Virginia Beach . . . Mrs. Edith Curles, telephone switchboard operator, Virginia Beach, Va., was responsible for the recent apprehension of a burglar. Seeing a light flash on her switchboard and noting that it came from a pay station in a closed summer hotel, she decided to investigate and in a few minutes the hotel was surrounded by police and the burglar caught. The quick-thinking of Mrs. Curles proves that the switchboard operator is more than a "hello girl."

Winnipeg . . . A telephone unit, manufactured in England, has been installed on an American-La France aerial ladder used by the fire department of Winnipeg, Canada. It is believed that this is the first unit so equipped on the North American continent. This equipment makes it possible for a man on top of a ladder to communicate what he sees of the progress of a fire to the ground crew. As the ladder is drawn up or lowered a drum automatically pays out or winds up the telephone cable. With the trend toward longer ladders, telephone communication has become more important.

Lincoln . . . Miss Myra Underhill, night operator at the York exchange of the Lincoln (Nebr.) Telephone and Telegraph Company, sensed something was wrong recently at the home of Dr. C. N. Holmsted when the light on her switchboard kept flashing. Knowing the family was out of the city, she called police who found a brisk fire in progress. The fire had short circuited the telephone wiring which caused the signal on the switchboard.

Greenwich . . . Advice given over the telephone on how to apply a tourniquet saved the life of Irving Austin of Greenwich, Conn., after he had suffered a deep cut on one leg while operating a buzzsaw near his home. Alone when the accident happened, Austin dragged himself fifty yards to his home, where he telephoned police who told him to apply a tourniquet until the arrival of an ambulance.

East Waterloo . . . The East Waterloo, Iowa, independent school board recently approved plans for taking classroom recitations directly to crippled shut-in children by telephone. Equipment has been installed which will permit the shut-in child in the home to hear all of the classroom instruction and ask questions of the teacher. The state board of education provided the equipment.

'EIGHT' IS MY LUCKY NUMBER, SAYS GLAMOROUS MAE WEST

Mae West is superstitious! And because she is superstitious she probably was convinced even before the picture started that her most successful screen offering would be Universal's "My Little Chickadee", which comes to the Pitts Theatre, Thursday and Friday, May 30 and 31. Perhaps it's just a coincidence, but this picture in which she stars with W. C. Fields, is her eighth starring vehicle. And thinks that anything with "eight" in it must be lucky.

"Eight" has been her lucky number ever since the day she was born—August 17th, the eighth month and on a day adding up to eight.

So, as soon as she remembered that "My Little Chickadee" was her eighth film, she relaxed with with the comment, "No need to worry about it (it's bound to be good.)"

"Are you really that superstitious?" asked Fields.

"You bet I am", Miss West replied.

"Every time 'eight' has come into my life, things have turned out for the best."

That lucky numeral enters very prominently in her life too. Her Hollywood apartment is number 611, which adds up to eight. Her ranch number in San Fernando Valley is 11402, another eight combination. Her car license is 3 W 5, also adding up to eight. And her studio dressing room number is just the opposite of her apartment, being 116.

"I never have gone after this number but whenever it comes into my life I know everything is going to be all right", Mae remarks.

"Supporting Miss West and Fields in "My Little Chickadee" are Joseph Calleia, Dick Foran, Anne Nagel, Gene Austin, Margaret Hamilton, George Moran, Donald Meek, Ruth Donnelly and Fuzzy Knight.

YORKTOWN LABORATORY TO BE CONTINUED

The Yorktown Biological Laboratory, which is conducting experiments into Chesapeake Bay marine life for the Federal Government and the State of Virginia, will continue in operation next year to conduct a long-range program of marine investigations designed to improve the fish, oyster, and crab harvests of the State.

Plans for the program were made made by Commissioner of Fisheries G. Walter Mapp in consultation with Charles E. Jackson, Acting Commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, last week in Washington. Three leading marine biologists of the Bureau, Dr. Paul S. Galtsoff, Mr. R. A. Nesbit, and Dr. Elmer Higgins, were called into consultation on the program.

First survey planned by the Laboratory is a study of the cause of oyster rock depletion in the Rappahannock River, as called for by resolution of the Virginia General Assembly last February. Dr. Herbert F. Prytherch, Marine Biologist of the U. S. Bureau and head of its Beaufort, N. C. Laboratory, will be in charge.

Services of the Biologist have been loaned the Commission and will make possible a more complete survey with the Assembly's $3,000 appropriation than would otherwise have been possible. The survey is to begin June 1st and two employees of the Commission of Fisheries will work with Dr. Prytherch in taking tests.

NEW ZANE GREY FILM TRIUMPH FOR WRITER

The debt which lovers of Zane Grey action pictures owe to Zane Grey was repaid in part last night at the Capitol Theatre, Wednesday, May 23, where "Knights of the Range", featuring Russell "Lucky" Hayden, Victor Jory, Jean Parker, J. Farrell MacDonald and Britt Wood, was accorded an enthusiastic reception at its first local showing.

Marked by a strong spicing of action with romance, the picture was produced by Harry Sherman and directed by Lesley Selander, the gentlemen who are responsible for the popular "Hopalong Cassidy" pictures. All the skill which they have bestowed upon making outdoor action romances in the past is evident as this picture unfolds on the screen, gaining fitting consummation in one of the best westerns which has ever been put on film.

Differing from many a western, the narrative takes a well-known western hero, and makes him a villain at the outset—not an intentional "heavy", but a real member of the band of outlaws. Russell "Lucky" Hayden has that role, and the popular young actor does a fine job with it. Before we meet him, we find lovely Jean Parker, daughter of a rancher, falling in love with Victor Jory, a gambler. Half-Spanish, headstrong, she refuses to leave him until her father is killed by a rustler.

As the story develops, she takes over the ranch. With her father gone, rustling becomes more common than ever. But one day Hayden, accompanied by the outlaw who killed her father, encounters Miss Parker and her father's old retainer, J. Farrell MacDonald. When the outlaw threatens the two, Hayden kills him. Miss Parker, sensing that he has a sense of honor, asks him to come to work for her.

Eventually Hayden accepts her offer, and after winning over the ranch hands, is appointed foreman. Miss Parker's respect for him develops into love, and as the climax of the picture approaches, she trusts him to drive a large herd of cattle to market and to bring back $45,000 in cash.

Jory, however, has not given up. He joins the outlaws, and in a thrilling climactic sequence, attempts to take the money from Hayden.

The production is made even more pleasant by the singing and playing of Britt Wood and The King's Men, rendering many fine songs of the range.

All in all, it's a roaring good story with bullet-speed action and more than a dash of romance. Hats off to all concerned: producer, director, author, actors and, yes, the cameramen who captured those excellent shots.

Catholic Information

Is the Catholic Mind Hide-Bound?

In the little store below the street level, the delicatessen dealer figures his profits on the basic principle that two and two make four. He has to, or he'll go wrong in his accounts.

Behind the mahogany desk, the expert engineer plans the mammoth sky-scraper on the basic principle that two and two make four. He has to, or his building will never stand.

The humblest Catholic layman and the wisest theologian worship on the same basic principle—that Christ founded one Church which, like its Founder, is infallible in matters to do with the soul.

If the theologian's mind is hide-bound because he must be guided by the same religious dogma as the layman's, then the engineer's mind is hide-bound because he dare not deviate from the delicatessen dealer's mathematical dogma.

The dogmas of the Catholic Church are comparatively few—fewer than those of science and art—fewer than those of a profession or a business.

You can't even play a good game of golf without following the basic principles of the game. Then, why indict the Catholic who does the same thing in the vital matter of saving his soul?

Every belief and practice of the Church has behind it sound logic. It is only because things Catholic are misunderstood that they are criticized by the sincere non-Catholic. In the spirit of fair play, will you not give us a chance to state the Catholic view-point on any Catholic subject which to your mind is objectionable?

DRAMATICS CLUB MAKES EXCELLENT PRESENTATION

The high school dramatics club presented three very charming little one act plays at the high school on Friday evening, as announced.

Miss Lula Metz directed the young actors, and their performances would have done credit to a much more experienced group. The scenery, too, was well planned.

No special previous mention was made of the part taken by the maid in the first number. It was not as prominent as some of the more difficult roles but that little curtesy would win anyone's heart.

The second play was a mischievous showing of two school boys (Shreve Brent and Everett Jones). With all due regard to the fine showing made by all the balance of the players during the evening, this due probably acted more naturally than any.

The last play was also a comedy, featuring Thomas Athey in the lead role. Here again it was difficult to pick any one of the group as the acting by the entire cast was so uniformly good.

Miss Dorothy Luttrell acted as accompanist, and played during the intermissions. Miss Anita Luttrell sang, and an entr'act was put on by Mr. Joseph Lonas and Miss Betty Parrish, which was a monosyllabic farce.

FLOWER SHOW AT HISTORIC LOUDOUN HOME

The Leesburg Garden Club's Fifteenth Annual Flower Show will be held at historic Belmont, home of the former Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley on Wednesday, June 5th from 2 to 6 p. m.

Belmont was built in 1890 by Ludwell Lee, son of Richard Henry Lee, Signer of the Declaration of Independence. Visitors may see the garden, the nearby chapel, the Lee burying ground as well as the colonial mansion house. The beautiful colonial interior of Belmont will provide a perfect setting for the flowers which are to be exhibited.

The show has been planned so that the flowers will be suitable to the eight rooms of the house where they will be displayed. An arrangement of bright flowers in an urn shaped container is to be shown in the dining room where the beautiful Adam mantle given Ludwell Lee by his friend, Marquis de Lafayette is located.

The dining room, with its unusually fine Sheraton furniture is one of the most charming rooms in the house. The exhibit planned for this room is an "old fashioned bouquet", which will be placed on the dining room table. This is the first time the Leesburg Garden Club has included a class of flowers which may be worn.

An outstanding feature of the show is a group of noncompetitive horticultural exhibits. Notable among these is an exhibit of Clematis by Mr. Frank Littleton of Oak Hill. Mr. Littleton's previous exhibits have created great interest and won him an outstanding reputation.

The club is providing a generous prize in each class including two challenge bowls and as a sweepstakes prize, a silver plate.

Belmont is located on Route No. 7, four miles east of Leesburg and may be recognized by a historic marker.

W. P. A. DUTCH DINNERS A GREAT SUCCESS

WPA Dutch dinners were held at Haymarket, Nokesville, Manassas and Woodbine on the evening of May 20, 1940, in observance of "The Work Pays Your Community Week" with a county-wide attendance of approximately 450 persons. Interesting talks were made by members of the Board of Supervisors, Hon. E. R. Conner, Member of the House of Delegates, Mr. R. C. Haydon, Division Superintendent of Schools and by project workers. Mr. Conner's topic, "This Work Pays Your Community" was presented in a most effective manner, pointing out the benefits of the sewing, writers, library and lunch projects, noting the merits of each of these professional and technical projects. Mr. Haydon brought to the attention of those present interesting facts regarding the assistance the schools have been afforded through the WPA program.

Presiding at each dinner was a member of the Board of Supervisors who introduced the speakers and summarized briefly the points brought out in the different discussions. Special music and community singing were enjoyed after the dinner hour and provision was made at the different locations in order that those attending might hear the nation-wide broadcast from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

It is felt by the committee in charge that these neighborly get-togethers have resulted in a more adequate understanding of the WPA program, inasmuch as individual projects and their specific functions were discussed with reference to the various ways the county have been benefitted.

Great interest was also felt in knowing that well balanced dinners could be served at the price of 25c which was nation-wide. The various committees reported that dinners at all of the above locations were successful financially.
