WAR THREAT HITS VIRGINIA

Defense Plans and Higher Taxes Bring Realization Of National Danger

The tax man impressively reminded Virginians on the first of July that necessity for increased defense measures must bring an accompanying strain upon the pocketbook of Mr. Taxpayer.

Cigarettes, drinks, and amusements are the first items to be advanced in price to meet the new tax schedules. And while the federal plans boosted retail prices of these and doubtless other commodities, the Commonwealth of Virginia moved quietly along with training plans.

This week Virginia educators conferred with Dr. B. H. Van Oot, State Supervisor of Trade and Industrial Education, on plans to fit adults for effective service in the country's rapidly expanding defense program.

In large cities, such as Richmond, Norfolk, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Portsmouth, Danville, Newport News, classes in mechanical work relating to war industries needs will be organized for both day and night sessions and will continue evenings in the fall after the regular school work requires the day time facilities of the vocational departments of the various schools.

In Richmond training will be directed along the lines of machine shop work, auto mechanics, welding, electricity and plumbing. In Norfolk and Newport News the requirements of the shipyards will be emphasized. At the Virginia Polytechnic Institute a ground school for airplane mechanics will be organized, while general machine shop training will be carried on at Roanoke, Danville, Lynchburg and Bristol.

And last, but possibly not least may be noted activity in the local area at Manassas where flying-field activities at the local airport are being organized and where the National Youth Administration is in the midst of preliminary work on the location of a vocational educational institution at the old Swavely School, formerly known as Eastern College, where a number of fine old buildings offer exceptional advantages for those able to bring them up to their present requirements.

POLO GAMES PROMISE TO DRAW LARGE CROWD

On Sunday, July 7, the strong Third Cavalry Polo Team will play the Fauquier-Loudoun quartette in a benefit match for the Rectortown branch of the Fauquier Red Cross. The game will take place on the Goose Creek Polo Field, starting promptly at 3:30.

Mrs. Laura Rawlings, chairman of the Rectortown Red Cross, and her co-worker, Mrs. W. H. Lewis, with the members of the local polo club, are responsible for putting on the benefit match. Mrs. Paul Mellon, of Upperville and Pittsburg has kindly offered to give the cups and will present the trophies to the winning team at the conclusion of the game.

The Third Cavalry are old rivals of the local team and a fast, hard-played game should result, with plenty of action. The line-up for the Fauquier-Loudoun team will be: No. 1, Rubert Phipps; No. 2, Denny Skinker; No. 3, Capt. R. J. Kirkpatrick; Back, Robert Clark, with the visitors playing Lt. J. H. Polk, Capt. L. R. Dewey, Major T. Q. Donaldson and Capt. D. S. Cooke in that order. Major Turner Wilkeson and Charles Sabin will officiate as referees.

At Potomac Park the Third Cavalry defeated Fauquier-Loudoun in a closely contested game by the score of 8 to 6, the Army receiving a two-goal handicap. This week the home team is bent on turning the tables and is out for blood. Their score for the season is four victories and one defeat.

It is hoped that a large crowd will attend and by so doing help a worthy charity as well as see an exciting match of polo.

Notice is also made of the fact that the federal tax on admissions has been lowered to twenty cents. It has been forty cents. A twenty five cent ticket hereafter will cost twenty eight cents, and so on up the line.

OUT DOOR ENTERTAINMENT GREAT SUCCESS

Not many towns the size of this one can boast of an out door theatre. On Tuesday evening, 7 p. m., the younger group of "Prescott Avenue Players" put on a show which attracted to their open-air theatre a crowd estimated between forty and fifty people. The play was given in the attractive garden of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Beane.

The audience was surrounded by huge walnut trees, and when the curtains were drawn, lovely shrubbery, flowers, and huge clumps of peonies formed the setting for the back ground of the improvised stage. Those who were fortunate enough to get a ticket for this occasion, sat under the blue of the evening sky, and even the noise of the great locomotive that went by, nor the air plane that zoomed over head, did not in any way detract from the characterization of "The Golden Goose".

Each part of the dramatization was splendidly carried out in a very creditable manner, and this young group of players is to be congratulated. The talent displayed was rare, and it is hoped that a second rendition of this play will be held in the near future.

The entire proceeds of this play was for the benefit of the Red Cross, and the neat sum of between $7.00 and $8.00 was realized.

DRAFT LAW IS DEBATED

Plan Contemplates Registration Of Men Between 18 and 65

The Congress is debating passage of a "Selective Training and Service" Law, based upon our experience in the last war and our observations on what is happening today in Europe.

Sentiment is growing rapidly for enactment of a law which will speed our defense program and not leave us unsupplied with trained men in case of a sudden invasion of this country.

As contemplated the law would require registration of all male citizens between the ages of 18 and 65, and these would be divided into two classes:

(a) Men between 21 and 45, who shall be liable for training and service in the land and naval forces:

(b) Men between 18 and 21, and those between 45 and 65 who shall be liable only for training and service in home defense units near their residences.

The Bill does not undertake to determine the number of men who should be in training and service. This would be determined by the President, who would not call any persons for training or service until Congress has appropriated funds for such purpose. Men required would be selected by lot, and until completion of registration and classification would be chosen from those between 21 and 31. Local boards would pass upon deferment, as was done in the World War and would include those judged necessary to industry, agriculture, ministers of religion and those with dependents.

Peace-time training would be for eight consecutive months, with pay at $5 per month with travelling expenses and for ten years, or until 45 years of age, trained men would be subject to additional training of not more than one month in any year and not oftener than three years in any five.

ODD FELLOWS MEET HERE

On Wednesday evening, parade was led by the Culpeper Municipal Band of last week the Northern Virginia Odd Fellows Association met with Highland Lodge No. 252, I. O. O. F. in Manassas. A beautiful parade composed of all branches of the Order was led by the Culpeper Municipal Band, marching from the Odd Fellow Lodge Hall through Centre Street to the High School auditorium, where a beautiful program was held.

Hon. Harry P. Davis, Mayor of Manassas, made an address of welcome which was much appreciated not only by the large number of members of the Fraternity which were present, but also by the general public which was well represented in the audience.

Following music by the band, the meeting was called to order by the President, C. G. Herrell, and after a business session a beautiful and difficult drill was put on by the Falls Church team from Lodge No. 11.

The principal address was delivered by Parke P. Deans, Past Grand Sire of the World and dealt with the accomplishments of the Odd Fellow Order throughout the World.

Another interesting speaker was Fred L. Flynn, Past Grand Master of Odd Fellows in Virginia.

The whole affair was particularly well managed and much enjoyed by Manassas residents, regardless of membership in the Order, and the Committee in charge of arrangements wishes to sincerely thank all who so ably assisted in making the meeting a success.

TO SPEAK ON TIMELY SUBJECT

Representative Darden To Discuss National Defense Here

At a time when world conditions are of interest to every citizen of the United States, the Young Democratic Club of Prince William County will present to the public one of the "outstanding authorities" on national defense. Congressman Colgate W. Darden, Jr., who is a member of the Committee on Naval Affairs, has accepted the invitation of the club to speak at the Manassas High School auditorium on Wednesday night, July 10th, at eight o'clock. Mr. Darden will be introduced by Mr. W. T. Sweeney, of Gainesville, Eighth District Vice-Chairman of the Young Democrats of Virginia, following a short business session.

He served with the Air Service of the Marine Corps during the World War, and he is a former member of the General Assembly of Virginia. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia and Columbia University.

Among the notables who have been invited to hear Mr. Darden speak are Congressman Howard Smith, of Alexandria; Delegate Francis Pickens Miller, of Fairfax; State Senator William D. Medley, of Arlington; Delegate Lake Triplett, of Markham; Delegate Charles Fenwick, of Arlington and Delegate E. R. Conner, of Manassas. Officers of the Young Democratic Clubs of Virginia who are invited include John T. Duval, of Gloucester, President; John A. All the members of the local club are especially urged to be present, and all former members are urged to renew their memberships when they attend the meeting, as a membership booth will be provided for their convenience.

The Young Democratic Club has attempted, in securing Mr. Darden as its guest speaker, to bring to the general public an authority on the subject that is foremost in importance and interest in the world today, and it is hoped that every public-minded citizen will come to hear Mr. Darden speak.

STATE FAIR BUILDS
NEW CATTLE SHEDS

The Virginia State Fair Association has already started active preparation for the 1940 exposition in keeping with the early announcement of an enlarged display at Richmond in September. A new cattle shed, which is to add two hundred stalls to the Fair accommodations, is being erected in expectation of a gain in entries of beef and dairy cattle. Substantial increases of premiums are being offered as an added inducement to the breeders to bring their best to the Richmond cattle show, which has long ranked as one of the country's finest.

WALLACE BEERY IN THRILL-
SHOT OUTDOOR DRAMA

Wallace Beery and Leo Carrillo who teamed sensationally as Pancho Villa and his lieutenant in "Viva Villa!" join forces for the first time again in "20 Mule Team", saga of the pioneers of Death Valley, which opens Monday and Tuesday, July 8 and 9 at the Pitt's Theatre.

Beery is seen as Bill Bragg, veteran muleskinner of the desert trail, driving back and forth through blistering heat to the railroad at Mojave, 162 miles away, while Carrillo appears as his faithful "swamper", the Indian Plute Pete. Completing the trio of leads is veteran character actress Marjorie Rambeau as Josie Johnson, owner of the hotel and saloon where Beery is in the habit of "undehydrating" himself.

Another Beery, Noah, Jr., joins his uncle for the first time, playing the romantic male lead of the young company paymaster, Mitch. Anne Baxter, newcomer from the New York stage, is the feminine heart interest as Jean, Josie's daughter, who jilts Mitch and tries to elope with the gambler, Stag Roper, played by Douglas Fowley. Completing the featured cast are Clem Bevans as the prospector, Chuckawalla; Berton Churchill, Arthur Hohl, Clem Beans, Charles Halton, Minor Watson, scar Shea and Lloyd Ingraham.

DRAMA OF BOY'S HEART IN TORMENT IS THEME OF
"TWO THOROUGHBREDS"

Combining sweet simplicity with dramatic power, RKO Radio's "Two Thoroughbreds", which has its initial showing next Wednesday, July 10, at the Pitt's Theatre, is said to be a gripping story of a small boy's fight for happiness.

Featuring Jimmy Lydon and Joan Brodel, two clever juveniles, the down-to-earth story revolves around the determined efforts of a boy to raise a colt which he has found and which his miserly uncle is equally determined to sell. What the lad doesn't know is that the young colt is the foal of a thoroughbred brood mare stolen by crooks from the Conway ranch.

Inevitably the boy meets Conway's young daughter and eventually learns the truth about his beloved horse. Because the colt is the biggest thing in his lonely unhappy life, the boy is reluctant to give him up. This character study of the bewildered luckless youngster whose soul cries and out for companionship and love is said to reach spectacular dramatic heights, making the story one of the most human heart-tugging drama of youth ever screened.

EXERCISE AND MIDDLE AGE
(by Dr. I. C. Riggia).

Many middle-aged men are likely to forget they are no longer young. Inspired by their own conceit, they sometimes indulge suddenly in violent or sustained exercise and consequently suffer a long illness or worse. It should be remembered that violent and sometimes moderate over-exercise for men beyond forty is as bad as no exercise at all.

For example, the other week a man who went out to the golf club for the first time this season in a holiday spirit determined to make the most of his opportunity. He insisted on playing three rounds of the game in one day. And at the twenty-third hole he died.

While this is an extreme example, it nevertheless emphasizes that the just-as-young-as-I-used-to-be idea may fool the individual but not Old Dame Nature. After all, she is the real boss, knows better, and frequently proves it.

The middle-aged should think twice before he leaps into a sudden and unaccustomed physical exertion. Much as it hurts one's pride, a man past forty should realize that the resiliency and stamina of youth are likely to be lessened. Consequently, one's exercise tempo should be geared down to physical limitations. A check-up by a physician will assist one to determine what those limitations are, if any.

There are exceptions to the general rule. Some men who have continuously kept in training can exercise vigorously, apparently without bodily harm. But such men are in a class by themselves. And the average middle-aged sedentary male is extremely foolhardy indeed to believe that he can harmlessly subject himself to unusual physical exertions.

The prudent business or professional man of years will apply the same quality of intelligence to his play as he does to his work. By so doing, though he may not fully realize it, he may be choosing between health and illness or a worse fate.

MACS LOSE TEN
INNING BATTLE

On June 30, 1940, Manassas was again defeated by a close score of 5 to 4. After winning two games in a row Manassas was finally beaten, but it took 10 innings to do it. This is how Manassas was beaten. Billy Ward had relieved Blankmer on the mound for Manassas. Edmonds waked and stole second then Johnson hit a slow grounder, Parrott then went out and in came the winning run. Roseberry tried to keep Manassas in the game in their half of the tenth when he singled, stole second, but that's as far as he went.

John Blackmer went to the sixth inning without allowing a hit, but C. Posey's error led to their first hit. Both teams, the Gibson Grays and Manassas made four hits.

Manassas will play Haymarket here Sunday, July 7, 1940, on Swayely Field at 3 p. m. Come out and see the Macs new hurler Johnnie Blackmer and a new fast stippling ball team.

SPEEDING U. S. AIRPLANE PRODUCTION

Full-scale photographs made directly on metal, wood, cloth or paper in a camera half the size of a small house are being employed to beat the vital time element in the production of warplanes for the United States and the Allies under a revolutionary process established in the great Glenn L. Martin Co. plant in Baltimore. The story of this amazing new process and what it may mean in enlarging the United States fighting air fleet in the shortest possible time is told in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in The Washington Sunday Star.

Careers in Engineering

By R. T. Stroh

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

WHO enriched our lives by the airplane, the modern refrigerator, the automobile, the radio? Who provided us with light at the flick of a switch? Who, indeed, has wrought more changes in our manner of life than the engineer?

In conquering the forces of nature man learned engineering. The first lever used to pry a rock, the first wheel built to move burdens, the first wedge shaped to split a log were creations of prehistoric engineers. Over four thousand years ago, engineers built the dams on the Euphrates and erected the Egyptian pyramids.

Two thousand years ago Roman engineers tied Europe together by highways, spurred the migration of older civilizations into unexplored countries. There the conquerors provided uncontaminated water supplies and shelter against the elements. So down through the ages, making life more secure and more satisfying, the work of engineers has gone forward.

The work of engineers, often unsung, has provided for ever-widening and continuous benefits to the human race, through control of nature's forces and materials.

Today the youth of vision, interested in knowing more about our fast moving age may well consider engineering as one of the most utilitarian and fascinating professions.

Engineering embodying a knowledge of mathematics, technological arts and sciences and the ability to direct and work with men offers worthwhile careers for youth of ability!

Chevrolet Builds Its 900,000th 1940 Car

Here is the 900,000th car of Chevrolet's 1940 model production, as it left the assembly line at Flint, Mich., June 12, less than one month after No. 800,000 was completed. Beside the car are M. E. Coyte, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division (left), C. E. Wetherald, general manufacturing manager (right), and Arnold Lenz, assistant manufacturing manager, who were present in the plant when the car was produced.

"Chevrolet has built 300,000 cars in less than three months," Mr. Coyte pointed out. "The 600,000th of these models was built on March 21, the 700,000th on April 16, the 800,000th on May 13, and the 900,000th on June 12. This production rate closely parallels the consistently heavy sales volume since the introduction of the 1940 models last October, sales during March, April and May alone totalling 307,345."

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If servants will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in their mature years.

JULY FOURTH

Independence Day has a more vital interest to American citizens than customary. Since the passing away of the generation which fought and won our Revolutionary War the observance has been more or less of a memorial in recognition of what our forefathers accomplished.

The Mexican and the Spanish-American Wars were of conquest. The last World War did not really threaten the existence of our own Democracy, and the War between the States only threatened continuation of liberty and local self-government south of the Potomac. But the present World War is bringing us face to face with the possibility of utter destruction of Democracy throughout the World and its replacement with the Totalitarian form of government.

We do not like the prospect of ever being forced to bow before the will of might. Regardless of our occasional personal and national disregard of right, in favor of might, to attain limited objectives, we are willing as a Nation to make supreme sacrifices to insure for ourselves and our posterity the opportunity of doing right, whether we choose to exercise the privilege or not.

Let us, therefore, celebrate this Fourth of July with more than usual enthusiasm, realizing that we are enjoying our present reprieve from the horrors of war through the patriotism and sacrifices of our forefathers, for we know not what practical demonstrations of our love of country may be required before another year rolls around.

QUATRAINS

by Algia A. Martin

It's a sad sweet, recollection
That will be ever dear to me,
Was life in my childhood
Jolly laughing, and free.

Rain

I love to watch the rain,
On my garden windowpane.
And see it softly sweep
On my lovely flower bed.

It Will Grow

Kindness makes for kindness
And will grow and grow,
And mercy gives for mercy
Wherever we shall go.

If You Don't

If you don't believe in people
They won't believe in you,
And if you don't show you care
They won't give a hoot, for you.

OUR HOPE

Oh! Why does war have to come,
To bring sadness and disaster
Is it just to make the stocks go faster,
The plain man fights the rich man's war,
To him it brings nothing but and sadness and sorrow,
Yes, it is every boy's dream,
To protect his Country,
But not an he has ever seen,
Then let us ask in silent prayer,
To keep our boys here,
We have all to lose and nothing to gain,
If we enter the war again.

Catholic Information

Why do Catholics pray to Mary?

Catholic devotion to the Mother of God has been the custom in the Church from the earliest days of Christianity. This is proved by the writings of the early Fathers and by the still extant relics in the catacombs.

But, remember, all our prayers to the Blessed Virgin Mary have just two purposes. First, pleasing Almighty God, by honoring, revering and praising His Mother, upon whom He conferred the highest of honors. Second, to plead for her intercession before the throne of God for our worthy needs.

This is typified by our great and most frequently used prayer to Mary—the Ave Maria:

Hail, Mary, full of grace. The Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou among women and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus. (Words of honor, praise and exaltation, spoken by the Angel Gabriel and St. Elizabeth, as shown in your own Bible. Luke 1, 28-42.)

Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of our death. (No worship, just a plea for our Blessed Mother's prayers now and just before we are to meet our God).

The Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin is so beautiful, so inspiring, so well authenticated, that we cannot understand why the Religious Revolutionists of the sixteenth century could, with any sincerity, throw out the Queen of Heaven from their churches, allowing the Catholic Church alone to fulfill Mary's own prophecy: "From henceforth all generations shall call me blessed"—Luke 1-48.

Mary, the Mother of God, has been immortalized by poem and prose, by painting and sculpture, by song and by prayer, down through the ages. Would you like to hear more about Mary—her Immaculate Conception, the Virgin Birth, her stainless life and the Assumption of her body as well as soul into Heaven? Write us for details of this beautiful and helpful devotion or for information on any Catholic subject.

METHODIST CHURCH TEAM HAS CHAMPIONSHIP "IN THE BAG"

With approximately thirty children taking part in the playground in the mornings and twenty-five or thirty reporting in the afternoons there is still a need for more children in these two sections. There is no reason why there should not be twice this number taking part in the playground, so why don't you mothers send your children so that they might play with a group of children of their own age, so that they will enjoy the summer more fully. The playground offers many supervised games that can not be had in the homes, so why do not you send your children to the playground to take part in these many games.

The adult section is growing very steadily with the women reporting on Tuesdays and Fridays. If you women have a free evening come out on these two evenings and enjoy yourself playing softball.

In the church league, the Methodist continued its victorious march by putting down the much improved Presbyterian team 14-5. The Poling bros., newcomers in the line-up, along with R. Saunders furnished the power for the losers, but this was overshadowed by the vicious hitting of Parrish, Byrd, J. Johnson, and S. Vetter of the winners.

The Methodist needs only one more win to cop the championship of the first half. There are three more games in the first half and these will be played Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week.

The Baptist team moved into second place by downing the third place Episcopal team 22-1. C. W. Staggs pitched his second win of the season in allowing the losers four hits. Every member of the Baptist team except Curtis hit hard during the game; Bourne, Worley, and H. Saunders hit homers for the winners. W. Lynn collected two hits while Bradford and Merchant got one each to lead the hitting of the losers.

AN OLD PRINCE WILLIAM FAMILY

Among old residents of Lower Prince William were the Tansill family, who, tho' they apparently made no bid for publicity, had their share of County honors, one of them, John Tansill, being Sheriff in the days when that office seems to have been more important than present. But in the case of at least one of his name, Colonel Robert Tansill of the U. S. Marines, and later of the Confederacy, there was much for the County to be proud of—indeed too much to be ignored. The recent death of his son, Mr. Charles Fiske Tansill, of Washington City, seems a fitting occasion for mention in the Journal.

To begin with the father: Robert Tansill was born in Prince William County in 1812, at the old Tansill home called Cottage Inn, situated on the Telegraph Road between Dumfries and Occoquan. With the consent of his father he enlisted at an early age in the Marine Corps, and after serving in the Pensacola War received a Lieutenants Commission. Being charged with striking a superior officer, tho' on great provocation, he was furloughed, and came home for a while. It was during this time that he married Fannie Weems, granddaughter of Parson Weems.

The Weems family were then living taken over that old home from the Ewells. The best man at this wedding was Richard Ewell, Lieutenant of Dragoons, U. S. A., afterwards General Ewell, C. S. A. The bride was said to be a beautiful girl and the bridegroom strikingly handsome. It was also said to have been one of the prettiest weddings that ever took place at Bel-Air.

Robert Tansill's career has been recorded in the History of the U. S. Marines. He figured honorably in the Mexican War and received the thanks of Congress for his defense of Guaymas. At the close of that war, he was for a while Military Governor of San Francisco. He went later with Perry to Japan, and was the first American to drill Marines on Japanese soil. He also witnessed the Return of the Six Hundred after the Battle of Balaklava, during the Crimean War.

A letter he wrote to Gideon Welles, while on duty at Montevideo (that letter is in the Library of Congress) caused his arrest in 1861 and he was sent to Fort Warren where he was imprisoned. Later he was transferred to Fort La Fayette.

Mrs. Tansill, his second wife, had a most unpleasant interview with President Lincoln, when she went to plead with him to let Captain Tansill go South as was permitted to others, during the first months of the War. It took so long for the Prison Ship to get to the North that in the meantime more stringent laws had been passed, and on account of the high-strung nature of the letter he had written to the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Lincoln refused clemency and in fact was abrupt and harsh. It was a noteworthy fact that Captain Tansill did escape and did go South.

His sister, Mary Tansill, was married to Dr. Hay who was Commissioner of the Land Office, and Mr. Lincoln once asked Dr. Hay, if his rebel brother-in-law had been killed at Gettysburg. Captain Tansill went to North Carolina and was on General Whiting's Staff. He was beside the General when that officer was killed and his new Colonel's uniform received a baptism of blood. He drilled many raw recruits and his fame as a drillmaster went abroad. He soon became an Inspector-General of the Confederacy.

After the war Col. Tansill lived some years in Manassas, and after the death of his wife, Anna, (who was a daughter of Major George Bender, U. S. A., who was made a Lieutenant at the Battle of Lundy's Lane) he lived in Alexandria where he died in 1890, and was buried near Bel-Air beside his first wife, Fannie Weems who had died young. There is a tradition that when Jesse Weems, her father, the eldest son of the celebrated Parson applied for a Government position in Washington he was successful when it was mentioned that his father wrote the "Life of Washington". President Lincoln remarked that no book was more deserving of popularity, and that it had influenced him more than any other.

After his father went South, Robert Weems Tansill, the son of Robert Tansill and Fannie Weems, went to live with an uncle in Illinois where he engaged long and successfully in mercantile business. He has been dead for some years. Charles Fiske Tansill was the youngest child, of Robert and Anna L. Tansill. He was born in Washington, D. C., on the 25th of February 1860. Much of his boyhood was spent in Manassas where he attended the Ruffner Academy. He enlisted in the Signal Corps and in March 1878 was ordered to Fredericksburg, Texas.

In 1880 he was married to Grace M. Callan, a Fredericksburg girl. Shortly after his marriage, he was ordered to the Rio Grande, to take charge of the Telegraph Office at Fort Ringgold. He was seriously injured while overlooking a line repair job, and received his discharge. Later he returned to Fredericksburg, where he regained his health. About the time of his wife's death, which occurred in January 1882, he became a teacher in the Fredericksburg College. Finally he became Principal and Superintendent of Education in Gillespie County.

Shortly after his arrival in Fredericksburg Mr. Tansill joined the Gillespie Mounted Rifles, a Military Company affiliated with the Texas Rangers. He was commissioned a Lieutenant and later became a Captain of one of the Companies.

He left Texas in 1897 and accepted a position in the U. S. Pension Office. When he was Chief of the Record Division he installed the Filing System of seven million cards, the largest in the world. He was employed there for thirty-seven years, and retired about ten years ago. For more than forty years he lived in Brookland, one of Washington's most attractive suburbs. He served as Vice President of the Citizens Association, and President of the Brookland Brotherhood, a non-sectarian society organized by H. W. Millington. Mr. Tansill was the President and organizer of the First Rose Society, and also the Dahlia-and-Flower-Show.

A keen student of international affairs, he wrote frequent articles for various publications. His collection of writings on the World War, particularly those from foreign sources, are considered among the best.

Last but not least, charity and kindness were his chief characteristics. He was indeed a good man. He died on the 10th of December, 1939, and was buried beside his mother in beautiful Oak Hill cemetery in Georgetown, D. C.

He is survived by his widow, Mary Callan Tansill, a sister of his first wife, whom he married in 1886.

A daughter, Mrs. Arthur Carpenter, Publisher of the Ledger, Montrose, California, and three sons: Frederick G., Auditor for the Secret Service, U. S. Treasury Department, Xavier Bender, Assistant Treasurer of the Howe Sound Company and New York C. P. A., Charles Callan, Ph.D. now of Fordham University, New York.

Also by ten grandchildren and one great-grandson. Two sons of Col. Robert Tansill are still living, Henry Briscoe, of Portland, Maine, and Frederick, of New York formerly a resident of Manassas.

Charles Callan Tansill was born in Fredericksburg, Texas, December 9, 1890. He is now Professor of American Diplomatic History, Fordham University, Graduate School. Formerly adviser to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and former Lecturer at Johns Hopkins University. He is the author of the following well known books: "America Goes to War"; "U. S. and Santo Domingo"; "Purchase of the Danish West Indies"; and "Life of Thomas F. Bayard, Cleveland's Secretary of State" and numerous other writings. He is also a lecturer of note.

Most of these facts concerning the Tansill family have been given me by Mrs. M. C. Tansill, widow of Mr. Charles Fiske Tansill, where home is now in New York. There is no doubt that they do credit to our old County, and that Col. Robert Tansill was one of the most distinguished military men. It is a pleasure to give honor to so much ability and merit.

A. M. Ewell, May 1940.

NEW BULLETIN ON INSECT POISONS

Recognizing the need for more information concerning satisfactory insecticides and fungicides, the Virginia Agricultural Extension Division has just issued a new bulletin designed to give farmers, home gardeners, and dealers the latest and best available information on what to use and how to use it for various insect pests and diseases. The author is S. B. Fenné, plant pathologist.

What one must know in order to determine the cause of damage is briefly outlined early in the bulletin. There follows a classification of materials used as poisons or fungicides. Since diseases are especially hard to control, eight important rules are given under this heading.

Four charts give in convenient form the most effective materials available, how they are applied, what they are good for, and advantages and disadvantages. This information will enable farmers and gardeners to know what they need and how to use it; and it will furnish dealers with reliable information so that they can carry only the most satisfactory materials and equipment and can pass on reliable information to their customers.

The bulletin is entitled "Information on Insecticides and Fungicides". It is No. 150 in the Extension Division's series. A copy may be had by writing to the Virginia Agricultural Extension Division, Blacksburg, Va.

SCHEDULE SET FOR WATER MUSIC

Dates For Summer Symphonies Of National Capital

Plans were completed this week for the National Symphony Orchestra's fourth and most ambitious series of "Sunset Symphonies" which will open an eight week's season at the Potomac Water Gate on Sunday, July 7, with the orchestra under the direction of permanent conductor Hans Kindler.

Most important announcement was the fact that Jessica Dragonette, favorite radio soprano, had been engaged as soloist for the second concert on Wednesday evening, July 10, when Dr. Kindler will again conduct the orchestra. This will be Miss Dragonette's first appearance with the National Symphony.

Of only slightly less importance was the statement of Fortune Gallo, under whose direction the opera "Faust" will be presented on Wednesday evening, July 17, that he had engaged Hilda Burke, Metropolitan Opera Company soprano, for the leading feminine role of Marguerite. Miss Burke made an extremely favorable impression on Water Gate audiences last summer when she sang the title role in "Madame Butterfly"—the first opera ever to be presented during the National Symphony's summer seasons.

All four operas to be given during this summer's "Sunset Symphonies" series—"Faust", two Gilbert and Sullivan operas, and another grand opera yet to be announced—will be presented with full symphonic accompaniment by the entire personnel of the National Symphony Orchestra.

The complete schedule for the orchestra's coming season follows: July 7, Gala Opening, Hans Kindler, conductor; July 10, Hans Kindler, conductor, Jessica Dragonette, soloist; July 14, Hans Kindler, conductor; July 17, Opera, Gounod's "Faust", under the artistic direction of Fortune Gallo of the San Carlo Opera Co., with Hilda Burke and other Metropolitan Opera stars; July 21 and 24, Frank Black, conductor; July 28, Rudolph Ganz, conductor; July 31, Kirsten Flagstad, soloist, Edwin McArthur, conductor; August 4, Opera, Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" by the New England Opera Co., Joseph S. Daltrey, musical director; August 7, Opera, Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore" by the New England Opera Co.; August 11, Charles O'Connell, conductor; August 14, Antonia Brico, conductor; August 18, Kurt Hetzel, conductor; August 21, Grand Opera (to be announced); August 25, Alexander Bloch, conductor; August 28, final concert, which will feature a group of dancers yet to be announced.

All sixteen musical events will be given at the Potomac Water Gate on Sunday and Wednesday evenings beginning promptly at eight o'clock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 7.

The Golden Text will be "Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen." (Rev. 7:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure" (Phil. 2:12, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Understanding little about the divine Principle which saves and heals, mortals get rid of sin, sickness, and death only in belief. These errors are not thus really destroyed, and must therefore cling to mortals until, here or hereafter, they gain the true understanding of God in the Science which destroys human delusions about Him and reveals the grand realities of His aliveness" (p. 328).
