RECEIVES JUDICIAL APPOINTMENT

J. Jenkin Davies

Yesterday afternoon, J. Jenkin Davies, who has been serving for the past year as principal attorney with the Special Committee to investigate the National Labor Relations Board, took the oath of office as a member of the staff of the Judge Advocate General of the War Department.

This division is the legal department for the Secretary of War. Most of the attorneys now holding appointments are regular army officers but as in Mr. Davies' case, there are a few civilians being given appointments.

During his work with the special congressional committee, Mr. Davies was repeatedly the principal questioner of important witnesses before the full committee. On other occasions, he was sent on special investigation work at the St. Louis and Cincinnati offices of the Labor Board.

The Journal reviews with pride, the rapid rise of "Jum" in the legal profession. Born of good old Prince William stock, a genuine product of the force and brilliancy of his Southern ancestry, when placed with lawyers of ability and standing from all over the United States, he has shown his mettle and won his spurs.

BURNED AT TRANSFORMER

William James, of Nokesville, this morning climbed into the transformer station and appears to have brushed against or stumbled into the transformer, carrying 6,900 volts.

The fire department rescue squad gave first aid, and he was rushed to a Washington hospital where his burns are still undetermined, although known to be serious.

SMITH—LLOYD

Trinity Episcopal Church of Manassas was the scene of an attractively arranged wedding Saturday afternoon when Miss Helen Ruth Lloyd, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. William Loper Lloyd, became the bride of Mr. Maurice Biedler Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith.

The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, before an altar banked with ferns, white hydrangeas lace vine and baskets of golden glow. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Lewis Carper played the organ, and Mr. Lewis Carper played several beautiful selections on the violin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding dress was of white embroidered marquisette over white satin with fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline, and long train. Her veil which fell the length of the train was of net and lace, with a closely-fitted cap of net with bandeau of lace and pearls.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Virginia Lloyd, who wore a dress of the same material and style as the bride in yellow. She wore a bandeau of delphinium blue ribbon, with a head dress of mixed flowers to match her arm bouquet.

Little Miss Elaine Joy Smith, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl, her long dress was of delphinium blue marquisette. She carried a basket of garden flowers decorated with yellow ribbons.

The best man was Mr. Claude Harrison Smith, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mr. William Emmons Lloyd, of Petersburg, Va.; brother of the bride; Mr. Earl W. Hurst, Mr. Francis Rosezell, Mr. Harvey Luck, all of Manassas.

A reception for the families out of town guests and close friends of the young couple followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Grant Avenue. The young couple were assisted by their respective parents in receiving. Mrs. Lloyd wearing a blue lace gown with a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Smith gowned in powder blue and also wearing gardenias.

A charming out of town guest was Mrs. James Smith, of Culpeper, grandmother, of the groom; who was becomingly gowned in lavender.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a traveling suit of pink with brown and white accessories. On their return they will make their home with the groom's parents on Battle Street.

CELEBRATES 90th BIRTHDAY

An occasion, very rare in our community, was a surprise birthday party, given last Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Mary Morris, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Virginia Cockerille, for her ninetieth birthday.

Mrs. Cockerille had spent the day opening gifts and reading the hundreds of cards of congratulations showed upon her by relatives and friends. She was thus pleasantly occupied when the guests arrived, laden with more gifts. Opening these and displaying others, filled the evening, and it was soon time for the cutting for the birthday cakes instead of cake. In the dining room the table beautifully decorated, displayed the huge cakes and the ninety candles, which she was able to blow out with the help of her grandson. The cakes were cut and other delicious refreshments were served. The guests wishing her a year of health and happiness and promising to be on hand to celebrate her next birthday, slowly took their leave.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cockerille, and sons, Mrs. W. I. Marsteller, Mr. D. H. Cockerille, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. The meeting was well attended and full of interest throughout. The historical period was devoted to local history. An article relative to the early history of Sudley Church was read by Mrs. Ashford. Mrs. Newman read interestingly from a letter written by a Southern soldier describing the burning of Haymarket and Mrs. Byrd read an interesting account of the Chinn house on Hazel Plain which served as a hospital during the battles which occurred in its vicinity. The historical program for the September meeting will be in celebration of Founder's Day.

Mrs. Marie Larkin, chairman of ways and means committee, announced that a lawn party would be held this month, notice of which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

It was unanimously agreed and a committee was appointed to pay a special tribute to Mr. Bob Cushing in the near future. Mr. Cushing is the only surviving Confederate veteran in Prince William County. HUNDREDS ATTEND SCHOOL PICNIC

Hon. Jacob Garber Has Special Message For Young People

A successful attempt at co-operative church fellowship was realized last Thursday, August 8th., when over 400 attended the Prince William County Sunday School picnic held at the Battlefield. Realizing that this was something new, the picnic committee worked hard during the months before to stimulate enthusiasm by visiting Sunday Schools, interviewing individuals, and working with subcommittees on music, entertainment, etc.

At the last minute it was found that the Marine Band could not be present, but improvised music was obtained with some effort by the music committee.

Before lunch there was time for fellowship, as groups congregated for conversation; others were interested in horseshoes and badminton; others sought the shaded area close to the music.

After a pleasant lunch hour, Rev. John M. DeChant, president of the county council of religious education, presided at the afternoon program. Mr. Troy Counts was publicly commended for his tireless efforts as chairman of the picnic committee; Miss Hazel Saunders, teacher of Week Day Religious Education in Prince William County was presented. Hon. E. R. Conner introduced the speaker Senator Garber, of Harrisonburg. Senator Garber proved to be a very interesting speaker as he presented a message of real value. His speech was centered around the subject, Guiding Young Americans in building a Nation on Christian principles.

The speaking over, the crowd began to disperse; but in one corner of the wooded area a group of Sunday School Superintendents lingered to talk over ways of working together more effectively in the months to come.

TO THE PUBLIC

The revival services at Canon Branch Church of the Brethren, which began Sunday night, are increasing in attendance and interest.

The sermons by Rev. Hugh Garner are deeply spiritual and inspire to greater zeal and consecrated Christian living.

OCCOQUAN AND VICINITY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Slack, of Occoquan, spent the past week visiting relatives and friends at Vienna, Va. They report having the most enjoyable week of their lives. We are glad they had a nice time.

Our Occoquan BIG MOVIE MAGNATE, Harold Wilcher and PARTY have returned from a vacation in Atlantic City and other points of interest in New York and New Jersey. We hope he has carried back with him some good points from those little movie places where he visited. We are glad all of the party had a most pleasant time.

At a meeting of the Town Council, of Occoquan, on August 12, 1940, our Commonwealth Attorney, W. Hill Brown, of Manassas, appeared before the council and gave information about recording tax, delinquent town property. At this meeting there were only THREE pieces of property on which the 1939 taxes had not been paid. We are still hoping we will have 100 per cent payments by the end of another week, at which time the council voted to have them recorded as delinquent. (For those who may be interested: If your taxes are recorded as delinquent, you not only will have to pay them in due time, but you will have to pay the cost of recording, and the 6 per cent interest until they are paid). Also on application to the judge of the court, your property may be sold for town taxes; all costs of advertisement and sale to be also charged against the property. We believe it is well that you know this.

We are glad to note that we have in the State of Virginia at least ONE Superintendent of schools who is a real Patriot. Supt. Jesse H. Binford, of the Norfolk City Schools, has announced that each room in the Richmond Public School System will be decorated with an American flag, and daily exercises will include a SALUTE to the FLAG. Other school superintendents of schools in other districts of out Great State of Virginia should take notice, and act accordingly. Thank GOD there will be no Communism, Facism or Nazism taught in the schools of the great city of Richmond during the coming school season.

Rev. and Mrs. John C. Runkle, of Pohick Church, have moved into the rectory about one half mile south of the church.

HAYMARKET

Mrs. Charles Gilliss has recently returned from a trip to Clifton Forge.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Norman and their four children, of Purcellville, have recently come to "Maple Spring" farm to make their home. Mrs. Norman was formerly Miss Lillian Lightner and her many friends here welcome her return to the neighborhood.

Mrs. Jeanette Chew Claggett and her son, Mr. Sam Claggett, of Baltimore, are spending some time at the old home, "Cleveland", farm.

Mrs. Alfred Tawresy with her daughters, Miss Marie Hall Tawresy and Miss Agnes Tawresy are visiting her mother, Mrs. Carval Hall at "Shirley" where they were joined on Sunday by Commander Tawresy. The family have recently returned from California.

Mrs. A. R. G. Bass is spending several days with friends in Washington this week.

The usual Sunday morning Service at St. Paul's Church, will be omitted on Sunday, as it is "Home Coming", Sunday at Grace Chapel, Hickory Grove. Rev. D. N. Wagner, of Warrenton, N. C., will arrive on Saturday to visit Rev. W. F. Carpenter, and will be the preacher at Grace Chapel at both services on Sunday.

The woman's club of Haymarket, had a well attended meeting on Tuesday of last week. Plans for the September meeting were discussed and it is hoped to have a man from the University, Charlottesville, address the meeting.

Prayer is the utilization of the love wherewith He loves us.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

SUN SET SYMPHONIES

The Current series of "Sunset Symphonies" by the National Symphony Orchestra at the Potomac Water Gate has been the most successful yet given since Conductor Hans Kindler inaugurated the summer concerts in 1935.

Ten concerts have so far been given this summer; six remain to be presented. Six of the concerts already given have been complete sell-outs, and the attendance figures for the other four have been impressive.

The schedule of the remaining concerts is equally ambitious. On Sunday, August 11, Charles O'Connell, the brilliant young American conductor who created an extremely favorable impression in his Water Gate debut last summer, returns as guest conductor of the National Symphony. With him will appear as soloist the soprano discovery of this year, the young American singer, Helen Traubel.

On Wednesday, August 14, Antonio Brico, world's foremost woman conductor, returns to the Water Gate for her second engagement. Those who have seen Miss Brico's command of an orchestra do not need to be told that she is in the front rank of conductors of whatever sex.

For the next concert, on Sunday, August 18, Kurtz Hetzel has been engaged as guest conductor. An orchestral leader of international reputation, Mr. Hetzel is at present conductor of the Washington Civic Orchestra.

As the final opera of the 1940 Water Gate, the Sunset Symphonies will sponsor a production of the most colorful music drama ever written, Bizet's "Carmen". Under the artistic direction of Fortune Gallo of the San Carlo Opera Co., who produced "Faust" with great success earlier this season, it will be presented with a brilliant cast including Coe Glade, one of the finest Carmens of this generation, Sydney Rayner, and Harold Kravitt.

The final Sunday concert of the summer will be given on August 25, with Alexander Block, conductor of the Symphony Orchestra of Central Florida, in his Washington debut as guest conductor of the National Symphony.

The final concert of the season will take place on Wednesday, August 28. Hans Kindler, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, will direct, and the soloists will be the young American dancer, Miriam Winslow and Foster Fitz-Simons.

BIG POPULAR ACHIEVEMENT IN "PINOCCHIO"

"Pinocchio", produced as Walt Disney's second full-length spectacular screen feature, strikes a responsive chord in young and old. Librarian statistics show that practically every child, by the time he has finished the sixth grade, has become friends with the little wooden puppet who comes to life. This folk tale is known and beloved in practically every country in the world.

Translations of "Pinocchio" have been made into about two hundred languages and dialects. Written in the late nineteenth century by Carlo Lorenzini, under the nom-de-plume of Carlo Collodi, from the little village where he had spent his happy boyhood, it is by far Collodi's most popular work, although he wrote a number of children's stories.

RKO Radio release, and 450,000 drawings and paintings are used in the production. These do not include the thousands of preliminary drawings, story sketches, atmosphere sketches, layouts, character models and stage settings.

The 1200 workers concerned with the picture included story men, directors and assistants, musicians and composers, camera crews, technicians, engineers, paint laboratory technicians and chemists.

The animators—the men who make the Disney actors act—were selected with the same care that is given the selection of players in a live action production. The animators do the key drawings while their assistants fill in the required action between the key drawings. Under the supervision of the assistant animators others do the majority of the clean-ups, the process of condensing the free lines of the drawings into definite lines which can be easily traced onto the celluloids. Hundreds of girls traced and painted the animators' drawings onto the celluloids.

The functions of set designing and staging were handled by the "layout men", artists who know what can and what can not be done with the drawings in relation to the camera, and are responsible for the staging of the action.

Great improvements will be noticed in the "effects" in "Pinocchio"—the touches that give glitter and sparkle to stars—the curling smoke from a cigar—the reflection of the light source on the characters and scenes—shadows—the glow around a candle flame—really wet water, from the ocean in all its moods to the transparency of the water in a fishbowl. The character model department designed the characters in "Pinocchio" which had their natural beginning in the story department. Model sheets showing the character in four or five characteristic poses were used as guides in maintaining uniformity of the characters.

The range in the size of the characters in "Pinocchio" failed to daunt the animators. There is Jiminy Cricket, who isn't as large as the space to write his name—to Monstro the Whale—the leviathan-like creature whose size is comparable to that of a three-story building. Just to help matters, there are several scenes in which Jiminy and Monstro appear together—with Jiminy balancing on Monstro's eyelash.

Three sculptors made plasticine models of all the characters in the production, and these plaster figures, colored, were a guide and inspirational aid to the working crews. In addition, a wooden puppet was made complete with his little white blouse and red velvet pants. It was of invaluable aid to the animators working on the early sequences in which Pinocchio is a puppet manipulated by strings.

Meanwhile, the musician-composers were hard at work on the background score. In addition, they have written six songs which are heard in the production: "When You Wish Upon a Star", "Little Woodenhead", "Give a Little Whistle", "Hi-diddle-dee-dee, an Actor's Life for Me", "Get No Strings" and "Turn on the Old Music Box".

Hand in hand with the music go the sound effects. Ingenuity was taxed to produce the sound of Pinocchio's nose growing; to the tremendous volume of sound accompanying Monstro the Whale.

When an animator finishes the drawings for a scene, it is photographed one frame at a time. In this test film is run, so that he can check his work. Two new multiplane camera cranes have been constructed within the Disney studio since "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", a total of three. This is the camera with various levels which provides the illusion of depth to the scene.

The characters in the story have proved to be natural for the Walt Disney medium. They are: Pinocchio, the little wooden puppet who comes to life; Geppetto, the kindly old wood-carver who lives in a world of dreams; Figaro and Cleo, the pet kitten and goldfish, respectively, of Geppetto, who do not speak but fully comprehend and respond to all conversation directed to them; the Blue Fairy who endows Pinocchio with life; Jimmy Cricket, a gay vagabond cricket whom the Blue Fairy appoints as Pinocchio's Conscience, Lord High Keeper of the Knowledge of Right & Wrong; the Fox (J. Worthington Foulfellow), and the Cat (Giddy) small fry, comic villains; Stromboli, the unscrupulous puppet master who imprisons Pinocchio in a bird cage; the Coachman, jovial and apple-cheeked but with a black heart, who buys stupid little boys to take to Pleasure Island where they eventually turn into donkeys; Lampwick, toughest of the tough little boys on Pleasure Island, who discovers he's not so tough when he turns into a donkey; Monstro the Whale, a great leviathan-like creature who guards the Terrible Straits, entrance to Pleasure Island, and swallows whole ships in one gulp.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

CATHARPIN

Fairview Church, of Sudley Charge was the scene of a most enjoyable occasion last Sunday when "Home Coming Day" was observed.

The morning service was in charge of Rev. Jesse M. Bell, of Manassas, who delivered an excellent sermon, choosing for his text Isaiah 53-1, "Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?" His message contained many beautiful facts of the Bible.

The noon hour brought together many of the former residents of the community with their interesting families to meet with old friends and neighbors around the tables filled with most delicious food which the ladies of the church had prepared.

The afternoon program began with a song service, and the excellent singing of the large congregation with voices blending in perfect harmony, was something which will long be remembered. Mr. Henry K. Maddox, charge lay leader, expressed his great pleasure in seeing so many old friends present at this reunion.

Mr. Dewey S. Allison gave a of the splendid financial standing of the church, and plans were discussed for painting the roof of the church building, the funds for which have already been raised.

NEW FILM UNLEASHES HIGH-VOLTAGE DRAMA

"Dr. Cyclops", the picture Paramount made behind locked doors from a mysterious secret script, fulfills its advance buildup as one of the screen sensations of the time!

The Technicolor thrill fantasy, which had its local opens next Thursday and Friday, August 22 and 23 at the Pitt's Theatre, gives moviegoers the triple treat of a story guaranteed to raise the hair on end, color effects and camera tricks never before seen on the screen, and dynamic performances by a cast chosen solely for its ability to play unique and exacting roles.

Now that the secret is out, "Dr. Cyclops" is the spine-tingling story of one of the most infamous men ever to walk across a film—a power-mad doctor who discovers a machine that will reduce human beings to bantam creatures one-fifth their normal size. From the terrible effects of his invention on five human "guinea pigs" comes the powerful drama of the picture.

The unlucky fivesome is made up of a beautiful young woman researcher, a brave elderly doctor, two adventurers and a Peruvian guide, who dare to penetrate "Dr. Cyclops'" fantastic hide-away in the Andes Mountains and pay for their curiosity with experiences that would be beyond description were it not for Director Ernest Schoedsack's magic camera.

The four men and the woman offer the half-crazed scientist just the opportunity he has been waiting for. Innocently lured into his laboratory, they lose consciousness under a mighty blast from the machine, and wake up in horror to find themselves humanettes fourteen inches tall, clothed in the doctor's pocket handkerchiefs!

The victims' subsequent adventures had better be left to the picture to unfold. Suffice it to say, the tiny humans fight their hated master with cleverness and spirit that would do credit to people of normal size and bring about a climax that neither the doctor nor the audience expects!

The production problems: the photographic of the humanettes alongside the normal-sized doctor and various animals; the construction of familiar objects on a giant scale; the filming of the spectacular Andes background: must have been tremendous. And yet, all have been solved with amazing success by Director Schoedsack, the man who made "King Kong". Even the difficulty of doing all this in Technicolor seems to have meant nothing to Schoedsack.

As for the cast, Paramount's experiment of passing by all familiar Hollywood names and choosing players tailor-made for their unique roles Dekker, as the mad, malign scientist; has been a complete success! Albert Janice Logan, as the startled but courageous girl victim; and Thomas Coley, as her devil-may-care, heroic sweetheart, play the top roles and play them to perfection.

"Dr. Cyclops" is much moer than a great motion picture; it is a startling experience that will be enjoyed to the utmost while being seen and retained long in the memory afterward.

SCREEN STAR TO BE QUEEN OF TOBACCO FESTIVAL

Miss Martha Scott, star of stage and screen, will reign as queen of the sixth annual National Tobacco Festival, succeeding Mary Pickford, who reigned over the celebration in 1939. Six months ago, Martha Scott was just another stage actress from New York City. Today, she is one of the nation's leading actresses, having played the feminine lead in "Our Town", and is co-starred with Cary Grant in the new Frank Lloyd production, "The Howards of Virginia", one of the very few million dollar productions made since the inception of the motion picture.

Miss Scott was born at Gee's Creek, Missouri, a town of some fifty souls and all fifty of these inhabitants are certainly swelling with pride at this time. They are marveling that this little girl still a kid to her hometowners, could have risen to such heights. Their pride doubled when Cary Grant requested that she play the leading role with him in "The Howards of Virginia", and they nearly went wild when the incomparable Grant stated that Miss Scott in his opinion, was the finest actress we have on the screen. This statement was made when Grant saw her in "Our Town". His opinion of her was raised still higher after making "The Howards of Virginia".

Gee's Creek residents are now overflowing with pride. Miss Scott has been chosen by the National Tobacco Festival, annually held at South Boston, Virginia, to reign as queen of the sixth annual event on September 5 and 6. Miss Scott has accepted the invitations tendered by Virginia's governor, James H. Price, and festival officials. Arrangements have been made whereby she will stop over in Richmond to attend the premiere of her picture, "The Howards of Virginia", which will be held in the capital city on September 4.

FENWICK FOR CHAIRMAN

A movement has gained considerable momentum in favor of Hon. Charles R. Fenwick to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late J. Murray Hooker, who occupied the office of State Chairman of the Democratic Party in Virginia for so many years.

The selection would be very gratifying. This section of Virginia deserves this recognition, and Mr. Fenwick, by his distinguished services to his Party and to the Commonwealth, in the General Assembly, has justly earned the distinction.

Mr. Fenwick has been a faithful member of the State Democratic committee for the past five years and would bring to the office a personality and fine capability commensurate with the responsibilities of the position.

THE CONSCRIPTION BILL

The military draft is coming, and it is expected that in about two months one able-bodied American out of every 28, in the age group of 21 to 31, will be started for a military camp. They will be chosen by lot, so there will be no favoritism. After that, enough more will go, from time to time, as training facilities are provided, until the emergency ends.

It is unnecessary for any one to jump to the conclusion that young men are going to be sent to Europe. As far as anyone can see now, their job will be purely defensive and domestic. It is also unnecessary to assume that all the eligible young and middle-aged men are going to be fed into this defensive war machine. It is pointed out that in modern warfare, manufacture comes ahead of fighting, and there must be about 25 American men, young and middle-aged, behind the lines for every man in the fighting service.

COUNTY AGENTS
COLUMNFARMERS URGED TO TRY TO EARN MAXIMUM AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM PAYMENTS BY AUGUST 31.

Farmers who have not carried out sufficient practices to earn their maximum farm payments are urged to take further advantage of the benefits offered by the program to improve their farms before August 31, the closing date of the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program year.

The check of performance on individual farms shows that there are many who can still purchase a considerable tonnage of lime and receive approximately two-thirds of the cost in return in their AAA checks, provided the lime is obtained and applied to the land by the end of this month. Immediate delivery can be obtained on ground limestone and other forms of agricultural lime from various plants and agencies and there is still time to obtain and apply it by August 31.

This is also a very good time to apply Superphosphate to pastures, hayland and to fields on which orchard grass seed will be harvested next year and it is hoped that many will take advantage of the liberal allowance for the use of Superphosphate before August 31 to increase the carrying capacity of 1941 pastures, hay yields, and seed yields, where they have not yet done enough to earn their maximum farm payments.

TREAT SMALL GRAIN SEED

Smut and other seed-borne diseases have taken a heavy toll of small grains this year and control by careful selection and treating of seed this fall is especially important. These diseases can be cleaned up by systematic treatment of seed.

The organic mercury compound "New Improved Ceresan" is best for seed treatment and is available at all farm supply stores. Directions for improving Ceresan may be found on the containers. Some seed companies sell treated seed.

PASTURE—THE "TOPSY"

Pasture has in the past been the "Topsy" of agriculture. It has "just grown" while such crops as corn and wheat have received the bulk of attention of both farmers and experimental stations. Pasture improvement is 25 years behind but is now beginning to get the attention that it deserves.

FOLK DANCES AND MUSIC TO FEATURE MOUNTAIN FESTIVAL

Featuring the traditional music, dances and customs of the early mountaineers whose descendants inhabit the great Appalachian highlands, the Ninth White Top Folk Festival to be held on August 15th, 16th, and 17th on White Top Mountain, near Abingdon, Va., again will attract thousands of visitors, including eminent musicians, folklorists, artists, writers and music lovers.

For three days and nights music and dancing will take possession of the great mountain. R. W. Ward, of Beech Creek, N. C., will be there to tell a few of the famous Jack Tales, which are a part of the folk literature of our people and are very highly entertainingly.

The Candler Dance Team, of Candler, N. C., advised that they will be on the mountain for the Saturday program. This team performed at three National Festivals at St. Louis, Mo., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Washington, D. C. Also at the Tobacco Festival at Winston-Salem, N. C., at the Cherokee Indian Fair, Cherokee, N. C., at Canton North Carolina Labor Day Festival and at the Chamber of Commerce Festival at Asheville, N. C.

John Powell has announced that Percy Grainger, famous composer who worked with Cecil Sharp in England in the very beginning of the collecting of folk material, will be among the distinguished guests at the Festival. Mr. Grainger's orchestral arrangement of the folk tune "Country Gardens" is widely known, and his notable work in composition based on English folk material, is most valuable. Dr. Reed Smith, of the University of South Carolina, Dr. Tom Cross, Department of English, University of Chicago, Storm Bull, composer, who is a nephew of Ole Bull, a famous violinist, and Mrs. S. H. Dykstra, Novelist, of Arlington, Va., will also attend the Festival.

The Davis Band, Roaring River, N. C.; Walter B. Henderson, Fiddler, Rugby, Va.; J. C. Powers, known as "Fiddling Powers" of Castlewood, Va.; Emory Stroop and Sylvester Stroop, fiddlers, of Harrisonburg, Va., and Walter Gray Bryan, a 11 year old singer, of Marion, Va., have advised that they will take part on the Festival program. Walter Gray Bryan is a great grandson of S. F. Russell, the 85 year old singer and dulcimer player of Marion, and his grandfather, Joe Russell, and his great grandfather, S. F. Russell will also take part on the program. Young Bryan will sing "One Morning in the Spring".

REPUBLICANS HAVE FOUR CANDIDATES IN STATE RACE

At least four Virginia candidates for Congress will face Republican opponents at the polls next November, following GOP District nominations last week. In the Sixth District, Fred Mc. Wane, of Lynchburg, will oppose Clifton A. Woodrum, veteran of 18 years in the National House. In the Seventh, Jacob Garber, of Harrisonburg, will face Representative A. Willis Robertson, and in the Eighth District, Colonel Henry B. Goodloe, of Charlottesville, will run against Representative Howard W. Smith. State Senator Fred C. Parks, of Abingdon, opposes the Ninth District's Representative John W. Flannagan, Jr. George L. White, of Richmond, named by the Republicans to run against Representative Dave E. Satterfield, Jr., has let it be known that he will decline the nomination.

Lack of opposition within the Democratic Party, which eliminated the necessity for a primary, saved taxpayers at least $60,000, it has been estimated. District committees will declare the present incumbents the Democratic Congressional nominees, and the State committee will do the same for Virginia's Senators.

WOODLAND OPENINGS SEEN AS BENEFICIAL TO WILD TURKEYS

A recently completed study of the food habits of Virginia's wild turkeys may lead to a change in the generally accepted belief that the turkey is a wilderness species preferring large areas of unbroken forest land, according to a report issued today by the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

This project, carried out as a part of the Commission's study of the factors influencing the distribution and abundance of the wild turkey in Virginia, revealed that while wild turkeys take nearly 700 different items of food during the year, only five items are eaten in sufficiently large amounts to be considered important from the standpoint of quantity consumed.

Acorns, grasses, dogwood, grapes, and beech nuts are the only foods which were found to form over 3 per cent of the turkey's diet. D. G. Rivers, who conducted this part of the turkey investigation, points out that it is significant that 4 of these 5 foods are definitely associated with open woodlands and edges of clearings rather than with unbroken forest stands.

From the results of this food habit study it appears that the turkey may be essentially an "edge" species rather than a bird of the unbroken woodland, and, according to Mr. Rivers, the best turkey habitat may after all be a series of small but connected woodlands interspersed with fields and old clearings.

In addition to this food habit study, which is the first of its kind ever made on the wild turkey, the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries has made other important contributions in the management of this game bird. Notable among its achievements was the development of a method of producing captivity-reared wild turkeys that will actually "go wild" when released. Virginia has naturally been the first state to receive the benefits of this newly-developed technique, and the Commission is now raising and releasing large numbers of wild turkeys each year.

Virginia's wild turkey studies are being continued as a Federal Aid project with the aid of funds made available to the state by the Pittman-Robertson Act.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 18.

The Golden Text will be "Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul" (Ps. 66:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed; and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the man sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And he arose, and departed to his house. But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men" (Matt. 9:2, 7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation" (p. 210).

CATHOLIC GUILD WILL CONTINUE MONDAY EVENING SERVICES

The Washington Catholic Evidence Guild as previously announced in the Journal will continue its meetings on the Court House Lawn next Monday evening, August 19th. Harry J. Kirk, president of the Guild, will act as chairman and will conduct a question and answer period.

Mr. Kirk will also give a talk on "The Catholic Attitude on Birth Control". There will be a plain statement of the position of the Catholic Church on this subject and the reasons therefore.

A. J. Gaffigan will give an address on "Faith and Reason". He will explain the limitations of man's reason and how there can be no conflict between right reason and true faith.

Edith Jarboe's subject is "The Sign of the Cross". She will show how the sign of the cross has been used and why it has been used by Christians from apostolic times to the present day.

"How to Keep on the Road to Truth" will be discussed by Francis A. Thornton. He will point out the importance of knowing the Truth and show the means Jesus Christ instituted in order that the Truth may be safeguarded.

As usual pamphlets on religious subjects will be given to those interested. No collection will be taken up. All listeners will be urged to ask questions. Either vocally or written. These open air programs on Mondays will continue through August and September, the weather permitting. In the event of rain the meeting will be held in All Saints Church.

ALFRED NEWMAN PAYNE

A. N. Payne, whose death took place on June 24th was a life long resident of Prince William County, having been born here November 1, 1861, the son of Newman A. and Sallie Evans Payne. He was a farmer all of his life until he retired some eight years ago, due to heart complications which ultimately caused his death.

In 1885, he married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Crouch, of Buckhall, who died some years ago. In church circles he had been a member of the United Brethren Church for some fifty years and was a liberal contributor to its work. He was a good citizen, an excellent neighbor and a good husband and father.

A number of sons and daughters and others survive him. The daughters are Mrs. C. D. McIntosh, of Hickory Grove; Mrs. O. C. Abel, Mrs. Roxie Randall and Mrs. Hilda Cornwell, all of Buckhall. The sons are Louis, of Rockville, Md.; J. E. Payne, of Alexandria, Va.; R. S. Payne, of Hickory Grove and E. A. Payne, of Buckhall. There are also a brother and sister, Miss Lucy Payne and Mr. Luther Payne, both of Manassas. There are fifty two grandchildren and twenty great grand children.

The funeral was preached at the Buckhall U. B. Church on June 27th by the Rev. Newman, and interment was in the community cemetery.

The pallbearers were all grandsons; Herbert, James and Eno McIntosh; Alfred, Luther and Ralph Payne.

JACKSON STATUE UNVEILED AUG. 31

Gov. Price, Conservation Commissioner N. Clarence Smith, Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, and other prominent Virginians will participate in the unveiling exercises to be held on the Manassas Battlefield on Saturday, August 31, when the statue of Stonewall Jackson will be dedicated.

More than 1,000 special invitations have been issued, and the general public is also cordially invited.

The statue which cost $25,000 has been the subject of much discussion of its merits, many Confederate veterans having expressed displeasure over the sculptor's interpretation of the great warrior. The dedication will occur on the anniversary of the third day's fighting in second Manassas.
