FORESTER MAKES FIRE REPORT

Berlin Eye Summarizes Forest Fire Situation

During the calendar year 1940 a total number of 18 forest fires burned in Prince William County and, as a result, a total loss of 838 acres of burned area according to the annual report of Berlin Eye, District Forester with the State Forest Service, with headquarters at Charlottesville, Va.

The total cost of suppression of the 18 fires amounted to $189.35, of which amount $82.40 was expended by the State for warden services and transportation and $106.95 was expended by the County in the employment of fire fighters services and transportation and subsistence for fire fighters, in assistance to the warden organization in fire suppression work. These figures represent the actual cost of suppression work. These figures represent the actual cost of suppression in the County during the calendar year and do not include fire prevention costs and other activities relating to fire control which have been carried on in the County at State expense during the calendar year.

The fires ranged in size from one-fourth acre to 200 acres. The average size of the fire during the year was 46 1/2 acres. The first fire of the year occurred on March 10 and the last on May 11. No fires occurred in the County during the latter part of the calendar year and more than 60 per cent of all of the fires occurred during the month of March. The causes of the fires in the County as reported by the forest wardens were as follows: 1 railroad fire, 2 as the result of careless smokers, 7 were caused by brush burning, 1 was of incendiary origin, and 7 from causes indeterminate. According to the latest statistics available, the total area in privately owned timberlands in Prince William County is 125,021 acres. Of this area protected more than six-tenths of 1 per cent was burned over in 1940. Compared to this, less than third-fourth of 1 per cent of the protected areas was burned over during the calendar year 1939, in which year there was a total of 22 fires that burned over an area of 351 acres. However, a much severe fire season was encountered during the spring of 1940 than during the spring season of 1939. Relatively high winds, low humidity and a deficiency of rainfall was a combination of factors during 1940 that made fire suppression extremely difficult during the months of March, April, and May.

For administrative purposes in fire control work the State is divided into five administrative districts. Prince William County, along with 19 other organized counties constitute District No. 3, or the Northern District of the State, which district has its headquarters at Charlottesville in the head office for the State Forest Service.

The fire control organization in the County is headed by Chief Warden James M. Russell, Route 2, Manassas, Va. Mr. Russell is assisted in fire control work by Lookout Watchman W. H. Ellicott of Nokesville, in charge of the Lookout Tower at Independent Hill. Mr. Russell is also assisted in fire suppression work by the following local wardens: Arthur D. Arrington, David; Edwin E. Cornwell, R. 2, Manassas; E. C. DeWitt, R. 4, Manassas; Cornelius P. Ennis, Nokesville; George A. Hedges, Hoadly, Van R. Herndon, Nokesville; W. H. Her-ring, R. 1, Nokesville; William Francis Keys, Joplin; A. McMillan, R. 1, Manassas (representing the Manassas Volunteer Department); John A. Musselman, Occoquan (representing the Occoquan Volunteer Fire Department); Elmer A. Payne, R. 2, Manassas; D. W. Posey, Hoadly; J. T. L. Rollins, Wellington; James C. Watson, Haymarket; and Frank W. W. E. LLOYD WINS CHAMBER AWARD

Presentation Made for Contribution to Civic Betterment

(From Petersburg Progress Index)

William E. Lloyd, member of The Petersburg Progress Index, this week held the award of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce as the young man of Petersburg making the most outstanding contribution to the welfare and civic betterment to his community during 1940. He was presented the distinguished Service Key at the Founders Day banquet of the Junior Chamber in Ruckner-Rasinstock Tea Room last night, which was addressed by Glenn Thistlethwaite, coach and director of athletics at the University of Richmond.

The award offered annually by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, was presented this year for the first time in Petersburg. The presentation was made by Judge R. T. Wilson, chairman of the committee of leading citizens asked to make the selection.

In presenting the community service award to Lloyd, Judge Wilson read a citation prepared by the committee for submission to the United States Chamber of Commerce in securing their approval of the selection. The paper outlined the work done by the recipient in organizing and developing the West End Boy's Club, an organization of youngsters in Petersburg's West End designed to build character and citizenship through athletics.

A graduate of the University of Virginia, Lloyd, who is 30 years old, came to Petersburg in the fall of 1937 to enter newspaper work after spending four years teaching and coaching in Virginia high schools.

In addition to his Boys' Club and participation in the Junior Chamber of Commerce work, he is active in promoting other sports and civic activities in the city.

ENOUGH TO SCARE ANY GROUNDHOG

PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY BALL SUCCESS DESPITE WEATHER

The President's Birthday Ball here unfortunately collided with some mighty poor weather on Friday evening but the loyal crowd that always supports affairs of this sort was in evidence. Needless to say that all hands had a mighty good time.

The orchestra was one of the most obliging ever to come here and greatly increased their popularity. The decorations were neatly placed and their patriotic atmosphere, together with large pictures of President Roosevelt, completed a very attractive setting.

During intermission most of the guests present journeyed to the hospitable home of "Senator" Ed Conner, on North Main street, where they feasted and chatted to their hearts' content. Miss Elvire Conner and her sisters, Mrs. Jack Ratcliffe and Miss Walser Conner assisted their father in entertaining their guests.

Chairman P. A. Lewis and his aides went to a great deal of pains to give the public a nice dance and those in attendance were very appreciative of his efforts.

MARSTELLER AGAIN CHOSEN TO REPRESENT DAIRYMEN

Dr. E. H. Marsteller was unanimously chosen at a director's meeting of the Md. and Va. Milk Producers' Association to represent the milk producers of Prince William County at the annual meeting at the County Court House last Friday.

Frank S. Walker, president of the association, discussed the present milk marketing conditions on the Washington market and reported a large demand from D. C. and nearby consumers. R. G. Connelly, V. P. I. extension dairyman, briefly explained the artificial dairy breeding plan being contemplated by Prince William, Fauquier and Culpeper dairymen.

The following officers of the local group were elected for the coming year:

Wilmer M. Kline, chairman; Lester W. Huff, vice chairman and Frank D. Cox, secretary.

KIWANIS SPEAKER DISCUSSES SMALL LOANS

John A. K. Donovan, city attorney for the Town of Falls Church, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club at its regular meeting on Friday evening. He was introduced by Rev. J. J. Widmer. He gave an interesting discourse on current finance, especially with relation to small loan laws. He stated that legislation would probably be passed at the next session of the Virginia Assembly limiting the generally high rates of interest now prevailing.

Parson Dick, the club secretary, pinch hitting for Ray Ratcliffe, club ticket chairman for the President's Birthday Ball, solicited in the interest of the National Fund.

President Frank lead the club in reciting the pledge of dedication (this being the twenty sixth anniversary week of Kiwanis International), as follows:

In this solemn moment of meditation, I rededicate myself to the purposes, principles and program of Kiwanis, to form enduring friendships, render altruistic service, better my community, and promote by precept and example that patriotic citizenship, upon which rests the future of my country.

DRAFT DIRECTOR GROUPS CLASSES

Explains Difficulties Arising Through Misunderstanding

With some registrants still puzzled as to their status in Selective Service, Lieutenant Colonel Mills F. Neal, state director of the Selective Service System this week explained again the four classifications under which registrants are being grouped by their local boards.

The general classes are:
Class I: Those persons available for training and service in the land or naval forces;

Class II: Those deferred because the public interest is best served by their staying at their usual work;

Class III: Those deferred because others are dependent upon them for support;

Class IV: Those deferred either by the law itself, or for physical disability, or other reasons.

Two of these classes—I and IV—now are divided into sub-classes as follows:

Class I:
I-A: Available; fit for general military service;
I-B: Available; fit only for limited military service;
I-C: Member of land or naval forces of United States;
I-D: Student fit for general military service, available not later than July 1, 1941;

I-E: Student fit for limited military service, available not later than July 1, 1941.

IV-A: Man who has completed service;

IV-B: Official deferred by law;

IV-C: Non declarant alien, that is, a foreigner who has not declared an intention of becoming a citizen of the United States;

IV-D: Minister of religion or divinity student;

IV-E: Conscientious objector available only for civilian work of national importance;

IV-F: A person physically, mentally or morally unfit.

GARDEN CLUB HEARS ORIGIN OF FLOWER NAMES

Mrs. A. A. Hooff was hostess on Tuesday to the Manassas Garden Club, the President, Mrs. T. E. Didlake presiding. A letter was read from Mrs. S. B. Watkins, visiting chairman of Piedmont District, asking for a list of the club gardens that would be opened to visitors this summer.

A committee was appointed to take charge of this with Mrs. Hooff, chairman.

A communication was read from Mrs. R. E. L. Blanton, chairman of Piedmont District regarding the preservation of wild bird life.

The club went on record as opposed to the use of any wild bird plumage for millinery purposes whether coming from within or without the United States.

Mrs. Hooff, program chairman, presented Miss Emily Johnson, who spoke on interesting legends, myths, and names, reverting to the names given them by the Indians, of many of our wild flowers, and showed lovely pictures, of the same.

The February meeting will be with Mrs. E. H. Marsteller, Mr. Raleigh Taylor, guest speaker.

OLD GROCERY COMPANY TO USE NEW TRADE NAME

It was announced this week by M. L. Langford, president of the Sanitary Grocery Company, that effective Monday, January 27th, all Sanitary retail outlets will take the family name of Safeway.

"While we have done business for many years under the name of 'Sanitary,'" said Mr. Langford, "we have long been part of the famous family of Safeway Stores. Now we are going to take the name of 'Safeway' because the use of the family name will simplify our business records".

"There will be no other change. We will continue with the same ownership, the same management and the same personnel".

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 2.
The Golden Text will be "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee" (Jer. 31: 3).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy: I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones" (Isa. 57: 15).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "From Love and from the light and harmony which are the abode of Spirit, only reflections of good can come" (p. 280).

We Sanitary store folks are changing our name

WE'VE lived here and done business and made friends under the Sanitary name since away back when. For years and years our Sanitary Stores have been part of this community.

And now we are to have a new name — SAFEWAY.

Nothing else about us is changing at all. Same ownership. We'll still be the same people, operating in the same locations. We'll still offer you the same fine foods, farm-fresh produce and guaranteed meats.

And we'll still be offering you money-savings every day because our stores will continue to be chain stores, distributing foods directly.

Our new name — SAFEWAY — is the name of the parent organization to which Sanitary Stores have long belonged. It will simplify our business records to be known as SAFEWAY Stores.

Our new name is going up on the front of our stores. And our regular food advertisements in the newspapers this week-end will carry the SAFEWAY name. It will look like this:

SAFEWAY

We're publishing this message just so you won't be inconvenienced when we change our name. SAFEWAY is a name that's sort of friendly-like and easy to get used to, don't you think?

Your SANITARY Grocer...who from now on is your SAFEWAY Grocer

FRANCES FARMER IS CENTER OF TRIANGLE IN FLOWING GOLD

Did you ever hear the one about the Farmers' daughter, Frances? She's the girl who was accused of slinging mud at Hollywood, and on her return had to sprawl flat in the muddy streets of a movie town in her first picture, "Flowing Gold", opening at Pitt's Theatre on Wednesday, February 5, in which she plays in the center of a romantic triangle which is completed by John Garfield and Pat O'Brien. Moreover, this was only one of the many rough-and-tumble scenes she had to play in the justly saga of the Texas oil fields.

She took it good naturedly because her conscience was clear. To a reporter, Frances Farmer said, "The screen is naturally a more important medium than the stage for the simple reason it reaches more people. The legitimate theatre is my hobby and sometimes it is very easy to become more enthusiastic about hobbies than work".

Miss Farmer hails from the state of Washington which is noted not only for its delicious apples but also its beautiful girls. She entered the University of Washington and worked her way through as a movie usherette, tutor, radio artist, and dramatic coach. She graduated with honors and soon after won a popularity contest conducted by a local newspaper. The prize was an extensive trip through Europe.

When she returned to New York City, she was tested by Paramount studios and signed to a contract. Many movie roles followed. In 1937 Clifford Odets was casting his play, "Golden Boy", and when he saw Miss Farmer on the screen, he immediately started negotiations to obtain her for the leading feminine role. The play was a hit for two seasons. But she's

HAWAII POPULAR WITH MARINES

Famous in song and story, the Hawaiian Islands are decidedly popular with the U. S. Marines and blue-jackets, according to hundreds of them who at various times have been stationed at Pearl Harbor, about eight miles from the city of Honolulu.

There are definite reasons for their popularity. Not only has the charm of the islands intrigued many tourists as well as the marines, but the climate is said to be the most equable in the world. Since the days of Captain Cook the archipelago has been a focal point of romantic interest.

Members of branches of the service are stationed on the island of Oahu and there is some lively competition among them in boxing, baseball and other sports.

About one hundred years ago, in 1840, Pearl Harbor was surveyed by Commodore Charles Wilkes of the U. S. Navy, who recommended the site as a naval base. A few years later Lieut. J. W. Curtis, of the Marine Corps also recommended the harbor as a proper site for the defense of Honolulu.

Naturally neither officer could foresee that Pearl Harbor eventually would become an important naval base, even though its possibilities as such were recognized.

"If the water upon the bar could be deepened, which I doubt not can be affected", wrote Commodore Wilkes, "would afford the best and most capacious harbor in the Pacific". Wilkes also wrote that the location was so named because it was the only spot where "pearl oysters" could be found in the islands.

Units of the Marine Corps have been stationed at Pearl Harbor since 1904. Nearly all of them seem well pleased with their tour of duty in the "Paradise of the Pacific".

WOODBIDGE

We are having quite a lot of bad weather, rain and snow.

Mrs. William Leffingwell went to Lynchburg to see her daughter, Mrs. Hartless.

There is a lot of sickness around. Mr. Carlton Hedges' house caught fire while his wife was away and burnt up every thing in the house. The house was owned by Wade E. Ellis of Rippion Lodge. The Owl fire came but could save only the out buildings.

Mr. William Sullivan and family went to Alexandria on business.

Mr. L. E. Strother has been sick but is able to get about again.

Mrs. Dave Macaughay is better.

SOUTHERN STATES TO PUT ON EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM
"Factors Affecting the Successful Operation of a Grading Station" will be discussed by J. C. Woodford, manager of Southern States Manassas Co-operative, when he addresses a public meeting of poultrymen at the Town hall in Manassas, Monday evening, February 3, at 7:30.

This meeting is being held to help poultrymen of this section work out plans for producing and marketing better eggs. Most eggs are of high quality when the hen lays them, but time, heat, and dirt reduce materially the quality of many eggs before they reach the market. High quality eggs bring a premium; consequently it is to the poultryman's advantage to study carefully ways of preserving the high quality of his product.

The meeting will be presided over by W. M. Kline, a member of the board of directors of Southern States Manassas Co-operative.

Contests with prizes will be features of the entertainment program.

FARMERS URGED NOT TO BURN

Field biologists of the commission of game and inland Fisheries are urging farmers not to burn off their fields, woodlands, and pastures this spring. Fires destroy many thousands of dollars worth of soil fertility each year, the biologists say, and at the same time they deprive quail, rabbits, and other game of food and cover which is usually already scarce at the time the burning is done.

A great many farmers are in the habit of burning broom sedge and other vegetation during the late winter and early spring. This is an old and established custom, but modern scientific study has shown that it is harmful rather than beneficial.

The burning is done, it is said, for a number of reasons, such as to get rid of broom sedge, improve pastures, kill snakes and insects, and improve the soil. Biologists and agronomists are now agreed, however, that none of these results are accomplished by fire. On the contrary, they say, fire makes land more suitable for the growth of broom sedge, and causes serious loss of fertility. In addition, game and valuable insect-destroying wildlife and deprived of food and cover.

WILDLIFE CONFERENCE

Many of Virginia's leading wildlife conservationists will travel to Memphis, Tennessee, next month to attend the first annual North American Wildlife Conference to be held in the South. The Conference will be held at the Hotel Peabody in Memphis, February 17, 18, and 19.

Among those who will represent Virginia at this important gathering will be Carl H. Nolting, chairman of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries. The other members of the Commission are also planning to attend the meetings.

Staff members of the Co-operative Wildlife Research Unit at V. P. I. and graduate students in game management will be in Memphis for the conference.

Justus H. Cline of Stuarts Draft, retired geologist and nationally known conservation leader, is to present a paper at one of the meetings. Another highlight of the conference will be a report by Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, outlining a plan for future conservation of wildlife in the United States.

PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY FOR- EST FIRE RECORD IN 1940

Each of the warden members of the organization have a registered fire crew upon whom they call for assistance in suppressing fires. The services and transportation of the warden organization are paid by the State and the men and means employed by the warden organization in the suppression of fires is paid for by the County Board of Supervisors out of County funds.

The State legislature at its regular session in February, 1940 passed an amendment to Section 545 providing among other things, for a closed brush burning season between March 1st and May 1st and May 15th of each year with the provision, however, that brush burning may be done during this season between the hours of 4 and 12 midnight. This exception, however, does not relieve the brush burning operator or parties responsible for the origin of the fire from responsibility under the law in case such fire escape during this excepted period. The amendment furthermore is conditioned that it only becomes operative in any county after having been adopted by the majority of the members of the Board of Supervisors present and voting on the adoption of this measure. The Prince William County Board of Supervisors has adopted this measure and it is therefore, operative in this County at the present time. To date, of the 79 counties organized for fire control in Virginia, 59 counties have adopted this amendment.

There can be no doubt that the adoption of this measure is wise and expedient since it has as its object the reduction and control of one of the most fertile and damaging causes of fires in the State. It is not the object of the amendment to outlaw brush burning since brush burning is considered a legitimate agricultural enterprise. Its sole object is to influence those having brush to burn to do so at a time when they can burn safely and without hazard to the welfare of the timber stands and reproduction adjacent to brush burning operations, to say nothing of the protection afforded by the measure to game animals and game birds.

CLEVER YOUNGSTERS STAGE TRAVESTY IN MELODRAMA

When clever youngsters get together everybody has a great time. They all do, including the audience, when Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland and other talented juveniles, many of whom appeared in "Babes in Arms", flash on the screen in "Strike Up the Band", showing at the Pitt's Theatre, next Monday and Tuesday, February 3 and 4. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has provided the hilarious musical of youngsters, who organize a high school band and win a radio broadcast contest, with lavish comedy adjuncts amid which run moments of sincere heart interest.

The youngsters stage a travesty on an old-time melodrama, with buzz saw, heroine tied to the railroad tracks, and other "thrills", embellished by such ancient ditties as "She's More to Be Pitied Than Censured" and "Father, Dear Father", that sets a new high in hilarity. Mickey is specially comical in his amazing drum solo, and Judy appealing with "Our Love Affair", "Nobody", and other song diversions. June Preisser, clever little dancer, also imitates Anna Held singing "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave". The big climax in the radio station, with George Gershwin's "Strike Up the Band" the foundation for musical specialties is musically thrilling.

Put an end to furnace troubles... make sure the coal you buy is from the rich, bituminous fields along Chesapeake and Ohio. You'll get uniform quality, low ash content, and the highest heat producing range of any type of coal.

Did you know that William E. Cody (Buffalo Bill) played an important part in the saga of early American railroading? As a matter of fact, he got his picturesque nickname as a result of his work supplying buffalo meat to the construction forces building the Union Pacific Railroad.

Railway taxes averaged $1,107,000 daily in 1940, or $768.75 per minute.

In normal years, approximately 23% of the total bituminous coal produced in the United States is purchased by railroads.

LINDBERGH STARS AGAIN

We hold it the right of every citizen to question the policies of his government freely, but when a long line of action uniformly aligns a propagandist consistently championing the viewpoint of the avowed enemies of Democracy, he must himself become recognized as dangerous to the accomplishment of our Defense Program.

Lindbergh's activities, from the days of the Munich Conference, when studied in their entirety, present one of the ugliest pictures of surly treachery that has passed before us in many a decade.

An admiring public has been slow to recognize the "Lone Eagle" as the outstanding Fifth Columnist of America, but gradually he has propelled himself into this unenviable position, and there is little question that as our National Defense program proceeds he will be made to feel the weight of the wide-spread condemnation which is sweeping the country, and should war occur, there is considerable probability that sterner measures will have to be taken to protect us from the machinations of "little Fuehrers" in America.

FRIENDS

By Algia A. Martin

If to the bond of friendship
You will hold tight,
You will most always find
That he will treat you right.
If you are a friend.

Always be fair and just
And show your a friend true,
And you will be repaid
By the faith, they have in you.
If you are a friend.

And I think a handclasp
Is a little stronger,
And I think a friend's smile
Lasts a little longer.

When I feel, I'm a friend.

NEGRO LEADERS IN STATE AID T. B. DRIVE

Recognizing that the Negro population constitutes the chief reservoir of tuberculosis, not only in Virginia but throughout the United States, leaders of that race are assuming more and more responsibility in the constant drive to control and wipe out that scourge, according to information released today by Virginia Tuberculosis Association.

"It is among our race that preventive and curative efforts must be extended if we hope to reduce mortality from tuberculosis," declared Dr. Everett C. White, chairman of the Negro Auxiliary of the Richmond Tuberculosis Association. Dr. White pointed out that in 1938, the most recent year for which figures are available, the death rate from tuberculosis among the Negro population in this country was 135 per 100,000 in contrast with a national rate of 39 for whites, a ratio of three and one-half to one.

In Virginia, Dr. White emphasized, the death rate among Negroes, is even higher, the figure having been set at 146.1 in 1938. The State's death rate among whites for the same 12-month period was 48.1, according to statistics now available (new census figures for white and colored, on which rates are based, have not been released).

Several years ago local organizations affiliated with the Virginia Tuberculosis Association recognized the necessity of enlisting the active support of Negroes in the war against the white plague and formed Negro auxiliaries from which grew the State Auxiliary of which Professor William H. Barnes of Manassas is now president.

J. Vaughan Gary, president of the State Association declared that the interest of Virginia Negroes in the welfare of their race has been reflected by their increasing response to the annual sale of Christmas Seals visible through the efforts of the auxiliaries.

MARIANA

By Sally Salminen

This is a story of a little Swedish girl whose name was Mariana.

She had four sisters and two brothers. Her father had left the family and gone to America. Her mother preferred to stay in her own country and look after the home.

The story takes place in 1914 during the outbreak of the World War. It tells of the hardship and the limit on foods that they had.

Mariana, knowing how much they needed money, goes to work in a shop helping an old man named Enkvist. He later dies and she is left there to take care of the shop. Because of her health she has to give up the job.

At a dance she meets a schoolmate named Sten, whom she later marries. Because of overwork, fatigue, and jealousy of love existing between Sten and his parents, she loses interest in life. Hardship and trouble are the causes of a separation. However, Sten finally persuades her not to secure the divorce; and she decides to return to him. After Sten plans to buy a home in the city, and get away from the work at his home, she decides it is better for them to go back to his home. She was welcomed back by both her in-laws.

Starting her work again, she saw that a change had been made; maybe it was that she needed to have a rest from the strenuous work. Everything had been changed while she was away. There had been new buildings put up, and this made her better satisfied.

The next day after her return, she entered into her tasks about the home. She joined again the Woman's Club which was more active than before.

Her life became that of a happy woman, interested in her home and her family.

This book was published by Farrar & Rinehart Inc., printed in the United States of America by the Ferris Printing Co., New York, 1940. It may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie library.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING
ASSOCIATION CONSIDERED

Steps toward organization of an Artificial Dairy Breeding Association were taken at a meeting of interested Prince William, Fauquier and Culpeper dairymen at a meeting at the Warrenton Court House on Thursday, January 23. Intense interest in the plan was shown by many of the men in attendance and there were strong indications that this method might be adopted and an association set up to serve herds of member dairymen in these three counties.

A committee was chosen to draw up contracts to present to prospective members. This committee, which includes Wilmer M. Kline, Orville R. Hersch, and Elmer P. Hurst, all of Prince William County; Lee Fleming, The Plains; Harry Wilson, Catlett; and A. D. Stone, Remington, will make a thorough study of the practicability of the plan for this section and meet again at Warrenton to prepare contracts in February.

The Warrenton meeting was called by extension representatives at the request of a number of dairymen from the three counties. 866 cows were represented by those in attendance indicating a desire to set up an Artificial Insemination Association. 1,000 cows is considered as the minimum number necessary for efficient operation and it appeared likely that this number would be exceeded by the interest shown at the preliminary meeting.

"VIRGINIA" TO BE FILMED AT EARLE THEATRE, WASHINGTON

The world premiere of "Virginia," the Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll Technicolor production which was almost entirely filmed in and around Charlottesville, will be celebrated when it opens Thursday, January 30, at the Earle Theatre, Washington, D. C. "Melody and Madness" a gay and picturesque revue, will be the stage fare.

"Virginia" portrays the story of Madeleine Carroll, a young actress, who returns to Virginia to sell her plantation in order to raise money. Arriving in Old Dominion she meets Fred MacMurray, a land-poor aristocrat, who refuses to sell his heritage for money. He tries to convince her that it is her duty to stay in Virginia and take care of her land. Matters become complicated when Madeleine Carroll falls in love with him and they cannot marry. The climax in the Technicolor production presents one of the most surprising incidents in the story according to critics who have previewed it.

Supporting the two stars are Carolyn Lee, child actress who made her first appearance with the same team in "Honeymoon in Bali," Stirling Hayden, young blonde newcomer, Marie Wilson, Helen Broderick and Louise Beavers.

"Melody and Madness" will present the following entertainers: Fred Sanborn, Wally and Verdyn Stapleton and the Washington favorites, the sixteen Earle Roxettes—the latter in two new routines the "English Johnny Number" and "Blackout."

ALEXANDRIA TO BE FEAT-
TURED IN STATE BROADCAST

How George Washington, as a surveyor's assistant, helped to lay off the streets of Alexandria in 1749, and various oddities of Arlington history are to be dwelt upon in the sixth our of "The Virginia Traveler" series to be heard over Station WRVA, Richmond, next Wednesday night, February 5, at 10:15.

The series is presented every Wednesday in co-operation with the Virginia Conservation Commission and is conducted by Eudora Ramsay Richardson, state supervisor of the Virginia Writers' Project of the Work Projects Administration. M. E. Greene, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest speaker.

The programs, based on material in Virginia, A Guide to the Old Dominion, a major work of the Virginia Writers', deal with prominent personalities, points of interest, history, and traditions. This time "The Virginia Traveler" will tour Northern Virginia from Alexandria to Winchester over U. S. 50, the Lee-Jackson Highway, and State Highway 7.

During each of these programs a question is asked about some phase of Virginia life or history. For the best answer of 100 words or less a copy of Virginia, A Guide to the Old Dominion, a 700-page volume, is awarded by the publishers, the Oxford University Press.

NEW WELL SAVES
STEPS, HEALTH

The J. H. Lloyd family of Hanover County carried water from their neighbor's well, (inset upper right) before digging this new well. Mr. Lloyd (at pump) is farming under the Farm Security Administration's long-range farm improvement program and the new well is typical of improvements being made to improve the water supply for farm homes. State and County health authorities work in close co-operation with FSA in promoting sanitary conveniences which include sanitary privies and screens for doors and windows. This well is protected from surface pollution by tile and concrete.

Asked how many steps a day the new well will save, Mr. Lloyd replied, "a million", but I'd say we save at least a thousand". The neighbor's well is some 300 yards away.

In Prince William County the FSA sanitation program in charge of W. H. Goodall, jr., R. R. supervisor is underway and a number of sanitary toilets wells and screens have been installed. Mr. Goodall says, "he hopes that in the very near future all farm homes will have these improvements and aids to health."

COMIC ELECTED MAYOR OF REPUBLIC'S "STUDIO CITY"

Being unanimously voted Mayor of Studio City is the latest of the many and varied accomplishments of Smiley Burnette, jocular comedian who is featured with Gene Autry in Republic's musical western, "Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride", coming Saturday, February 1, to the Pitt's Theatre.

Politics is a new interest for Smiley, whose wide assortment of interests ranges from song writing to bow-and-arrow game hunting. Born in Summum, Illinois, the son of a minister of the gospel, he was educated at the Astoria, Illinois High School. Casting about for something to do he took a try at work in a canning factory. In rapid succession, following this, he was motorcycle delivery man for a department store, hot-dog vendor, taxi driver, truck driver and snow shoveler.

It was in Tuscola, Illinois, that luck took an upward look, and Smiley became a one-man radio station operator. Janitor, technician, chief and only announcer, all jobs were rolled into one. And that one was Smiley. He opened, closed, and was all but married to the station. But while he was there he learned the words and music to more than 2000 songs, memorizing them from the phonograph records which were the station's only musical programs.

There, too, Smiley taught himself to play more than 52 different musical instruments. The one thing he didn't learn was to read music and to this day, he can't read a note!

Gene Autry, at that time singing on Station WLS in Chicago, offered Smiley a job on the National Barn Dance program, on which he was master of ceremonies. Two years later, when Autry signed a contract to come to Hollywood, he brought Smiley along with him and the two appeared in a serial called "The Phantom Empire". When this was finished, Smiley—who regarded his picture career a "flash in the pan"—left for Louisville, Kentucky to appear on a radio program there, but he was quickly recalled to Hollywood and offered a term contract at Republic.

Here he has remained ever since, making nearly forty pictures with Gene and building up a fan audience that rates them "tops" in thrills, laughs, action and music. Smiley portrays the role of "Frog Millhouse", the comedy lead, in all of Autry's starring productions, the one being a perfect foil for the other.

Ask Smiley what he does outside of pictures, and he will tell you eagerly about his current enthusiasm, the Smiley Burnette Fan Club, for which he publishes a monthly magazine comparable in format and content to the best young people's magazine in the mails.

Married to the former Dallas McDonald, newspaper columnist, Smiley and his wife are among the happiest married couples in the film colony. They recently adopted a small girl, Linda Dalls, to round out their family.

For his favorite sport Smiley will name swimming. For hobbies, his number one is song writing.

William Russell Martin

AWARDED NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL MEDAL

At ceremonies attended by officials of Orange and Gordonsville, Va., William Russell Martin, a lineman of the Virginia Public Service Company, was presented with the National Safety Council Medal at the James Madison Hotel on January 15, for having saved the life of a fellow employe by applying the Schaefer Prone Pressure Method of Artificial Respiration.

The presentation was made by W. B. Wright, Director of Safety for the Company and in the presence of Company representatives and guests, who included Mrs. Martin. A happy and proud witness to the ceremonies was John Bunch, the man whose life Martin had saved.

G. E. Gidd, division manager of the company, awarded to Mr. Martin the "President's Medal" which is presented to the Virginia Public Service Company employe who saves the life of any fellow-worker through any means whatever. In addition, Mr. Kidd presented to Mr. Martin a parchment scroll embodying a resolution passed by the company's board of directors commending Martin for his heroic deed.

When the accident occurred, Mr. Bunch was repairing storm damage to 2300 volt lines in Gordonsville and the shock threw Bunch to the ground. Mr. Martin rushed to the aid of his fellow employe, applying artificial respiration. After five minutes of continuous application of the prone pressure method by William Martin,

John Bunch responded and began breathing. He was then removed to a Charlottesville, Va., hospital for further treatment.

The National Safety Council's medal is given in cases of electric shock, gas asphyxiation, drowning and other accidental causes of suspended respiration. Any person over 10 years of age is eligible to receive the award. There are records of successful resuscitations by Boy Scouts.

A number of these awards have been made to women. Safety medals have been awarded for successful resuscitation of victims from two to 90 years of age. Although under ordinary conditions successful resuscitation takes approximately five minutes, in some cases continuous application of resuscitation has been carried on for as long as eight hours before the victim began breathing. "Never give up hope" is, therefore, a good slogan for anyone conducting this work.

The National Safety Council began awarding the President's medal in May, 1928. Since 1928, a total of 1,072 medals have been awarded, most of them being for carbon dioxide and other gas fume cases. Through the Council's nation-wide service, reports of successful artificial respiration come into the executive offices where they are carefully checked. Full information must be backed up by proper affidavits before the executive committee of the council gives final consideration and approval of the award.

Efforts are being made in all parts of the United States to teach more and more company employes the Schaefer prone pressure system. The Virginia Public Service Company carries on a continuous educational program among all of its employes on all types of safety measures. Mr. Martin's knowledge and monthly practice of safety methods, including the

COUNTY AGENTS COLUMN

Because the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program closes June 30 1941, instead of August 31, as was the case for the 1940 program year, it will be necessary for co-operating farmers to carry out soil improving practices two months' earlier this year in order to earn their maximum payments.

The remaining winter months offer excellent opportunities for co-operators to top-dress meadows and pastures with ground limestone and superphosphate and to have liming materials on hand on the farm for use with corn in the spring. Ground limestone is available through the program for use on any land and 20 per cent superphosphate fertilizer may be obtained for use on meadows, pastures or straight grass and legume seedings, Frank Cox, county agricultural agent, advises. Although approximately 4,500 tons of ground limestone have been ordered through the 1941 program for late fall and winter use, it will be necessary that many more farmers order their ground limestone for winter delivery if the full county allotment is made use of under the shortened 1941 program. All farmers who can use their ground limestone this winter or have a dry place to store it for spring use can co-operate in bringing about a greater use of ground limestone in Prince William County by placing their orders now for early delivery. One car of farm program 20 per cent superphosphate has already been received at Manassas, another is expected at Manassas about February 1, and orders are about completed for three additional cars to come to Gainesville, Nokesville and Manassas. The farm program ground limestone is delivered directly to the farms by truck while the 20 per cent superphosphate fertilizer comes by railroad.

BERTHA SIMMONS HILDEBRAND,
Defendant.

The object of the above styled suit is to obtain from the defendant, Bertha Simmons Hildebrand, a divorce from the bonds of matrimony, upon the ground of cruelty and desertion. And, it appearing by affidavit filed according to law that Bertha Simmons Hildebrand, the above-named defendant, is not a resident of this State, it is therefore ordered that the said Bertha Simmons Hildebrand do appear within ten days after due publication of this order in the Clerk's Office of our said Circuit Court and do what is necessary to protect her interests. And it is further ordered that this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Manassas Journal, a newspaper printed in the County of Prince William, Virginia. And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be posted at the front door of the Court House of Prince William County on or before the next succeeding rule day, and that another copy of this order be mailed to the defendant to the Post Office address given in the affidavit.

Given under my hand this 29th day of January, 1941.

Mr. Eugene Beavers spent the past week with his sister, Mrs. Ralph Cornwell of Manassas.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller of Manassas were the Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Posey.
