Lady, Be Careful!

Virginia women are going to have to get along on three pairs of shoes a year. That's an ample supply if they take care of them ... Suede or other napped leather shoes need a thorough brushing after each wearing to remove the dust. If dust is allowed look dingy but the leather will break to accumulate, not only do the sho down sooner ... Putting shoe trees in shoes when they're taken off helps keep their shape. If trees are not keep their shape. If trees are not available, they can be stuffed with newspapers. Wet shoes must have a special treatment; but the best rule is not to let them get wet. Dry them away from direc heat. As soon them away from direc heat. As soon as they are dry, clean them thoroughly, and polish.

Get Your Coal Supply

Because certain kinds of coal are ning to convert to coal should make arrangements to secure their supply before starting actual conversion. Coal consumers in the State are urged to place orders for their entire next cept the coal as it can be delivered, and to place it in protective storage during Summer months when production and transportation are more readily available.

Increase Canned Vegetables for Civilians

Civilian supplies of canned vegepack will be increased by approxibe in canned tomatoes and snap beans Harris, Manassas, Va.; Howard with no significant change in fruits Clayton Payne, Manassas, Va. and juices.

They're Cooking with Glass

Virginia housewives will be cooking more and more with glass dishes. Metal shortages have reduced the former kinds of cast iron kitchen utensils from 200 to 12 and the amount of iron permitted for their porduction has been halved. Among the glass articles now on the market for the first time are ring molds for use in oven or refrigerator, roasters, measuring cups with clearly visible, measuring cups with clearly visible, asy-to-read red markings, platters, casy-to-read red markings, platters, Corator Dodson, Manassas, Va.; Euto replace prohibited metal varieties and all-glass percolators. Glass mixing bowls, another new item, are proving a boon to women for they can mix, bake and serve foods all in baking dishes require up to one-third market, Va.; Wray Theodore Cleless fuel to do the work of shiny metal pots and pans.

Gas to Drive to Work

Virginia car owners who drive to work and do not get enough mileage from their B Ration Book may now get additional allowances___If they show they cannot get to their jobs any other way. Applications must be made to local rationing boards and must fulfill the following conditions in addition to needing more gas:

1. That driving is between home and a fixed place of work in connection with their principal occupation. 2. That either a ride-sharing arrangement has been made or that the vehicle carries a full load. 3. That alternative transportation is inadequate.

Sugar Stamp 12 Worth 5 Lbs. Sugar ration stamp number 12, which becomes valid March 16, is worth five pounds, but it must last through the end of May, a period of elevn weeks. Stamp 11, good for three pounds, is valid from February 1 to March 15.

It has stood for at least fifteen years on top of the Henry Hill, where it has been a familiar object to nearly everyone living in this vicinity, and has detracted from the legitimate purposes of the park by often drawing more attention from visitors than other objects properly connected with the history of the locality. It is matter of satisfaction that several tons of metal from the Manassas battlefields have thus become available for combatting the Nazi and the Jap.

Following the German invasion of Russia, Red Cross officials met with leaders of the Red Crescent Societies of the U.S.S.R. When the needs were determined, 11/2 million dollars worth of drugs, medical, surgical and hospital supplies were sent. In addition, clothing produced in Red Cross chapters totalling more than 670,634 warm garments, valued at $1,935,572, and substantial quantities of shoes for both adults and children have also been shipped. This includes over 29,000 layettes (complete outfits for babies). The total value of clothing including manufactured garments sent to Russia exceeds $2,500,000. Ten million surgical dressings also were sent. The National Children's Fund of the American Junior Red Cross contributed $10,000 for shoes for Russian children. Red Cross ship ments to Russia by November 30 1942 totaled $6,077,881. Additional purchases of supplies have been

During the past summer 2,000 children were sent to camps and given special rations, and a program of chocolate distributions was inaugurated in the schools. Since the complete occupation of France, distribution of supplies has continued under the control of local French Committees. Relief supplies sent to France by and through the American Red Cross have a total value of $5,186,950. The American Red Cross staff joined the diplomatic group and are being held at Baden, Germany, awaiting repatriation since the occupation.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE OFFICIALS BELIEVE ENEMY WILL MAKE A SERIOUS EFFORT TO BOMB OUR AREA

From the State Office of Civilian Defense has come a warning of possible danger of Axis air raids.

It is the general opinion among high officials of this country's airraid defenses that the enemy is likely to make a serious effort at retaliation for the blasting of German targets by United States forces, John J. Howard, State director of air-raid precautions, said. And, as the Nazis' plight becomes more desperate, the more they are apt to unover here, either by "suicide" rons of long-range bombers, or planes from aircraft carriers

"American planes handled by American boys are now bombing German factories and German military objectives," Mr. Howard said. The enemy is not apt to take this without some serious effort to retaliate.

"We hope the people of Virginia serious spirit-not as an inconvenience, but as a real protective necessity. We want to be prepared to avoid panic if and when the enemy tries to strike back."

Mr. Howard also called attention to the reasons behind the new regulations, promulgated by the Eastern Defense Command which requires passengers on streetcars and buses to take shelter at the sound of the "red" air-raid signal.

This rule is designed to protect the passengers of these vehicles in event of a real raid, he pointed out. Should people remain on streetcars and buses under actual attack, they would be exposed to two grave dangers: (1) Machine-gun bullets from low-flying, strafing planes, and (2) flying chunks of sharp, jagged glass from the many windows in these vehicles. The concussion of high explosive bombs would shatter the windows violently, and experience in England has been that more than half the casualties of raids are people wounded by shattered window glass.

Arrangements are being made to place signs in the public carriers quoting the law on this point.

The schedule of signals for the State-wide air-raid test tonight, as announced from Richmond are: blue at 8:50 P. M.; red at 9:20 P. M., and return to blue at 9:20 P. M. The allclear, which comes over the radio, and is not sounded by sirens, comes

The Civilian Defense Training Class will renew its sessions at the Town Hall next week on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, beginning at 7:30 P. M.

GUEST SPEAKER

Last Sunday evening, the Young People of Grace Methodist Church were very delighted in having Mr. Hipolito Monseratti speak to them on his native Puerto Rico. A large group of interested friends also were present, and it is a pleasure to announce that the speaker for this Sunday evening, March 7, will be Rev. William Coffin who is now supplying the pulpit of Grace Church.

Mr. Coffin will talk of his stay of many months in Southern France at the close of the First World War. and of his studies there.

All friends are cordially invited to hear these most interesting lectures. The time of the meeting is 6:45 p. m. in the church.

RE-APPOINTED ON FAIRFAX COUNTY DEFENSE COUNCIL

Mr. W. H. Lamb, one of the editors of this newspaper has just been advised of his re-appointment on the Defense Counil of Fairfax County, where his home is located.

Mr. Lamb is also identified with the Civilian Defense Organization of Prince William County, serving on occasions as lecturer on bombs and gases and as a member of the auxiliary Police Force.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" is the subject of the Leson-Sermon which will be read in churches and societies of Christi Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 7. The Golden Text is "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." (Rom. 8:14). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the fol-lowing from the Bible: "And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ:" (Eph. 4:11-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The individuality of man is no less tangible because it is spiritual and because his life is not at the mercy of matter. The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death." (p. 317).

In memory of my dear sister Mrs. Kate Watson, who departed this life six years ago today, February 23, 1937. Gone but not forgotten .__ Again the month of February is here To me the saddest of the year Because it took my darling sister away.

Six long years ago today. A loving voice from us has gone A voice we loved is stilled A place is meant in our home That never can be filled. . It is not so far away In that cold and silent grave Lies my precious darling sister When we loved but could not save. Through all these years I've missed you, Sister, But God knows what is best, So he took you home to be with him In the home of eternal rest. No one knows how much I miss you Only those who have lost can tell Of the grief that is borne in sorrew For the one that I loved so well. Sister so gentle so kind and so true I miss you more every day But God is watching over you As I trod the narrow way. I have suffered greatly, Because I've had a heavy loss But for the sake of Jesus I'll try to bear the cross.

By her sister, Gertrude Martin, Quantico, Virginia

IN MEMORIAM

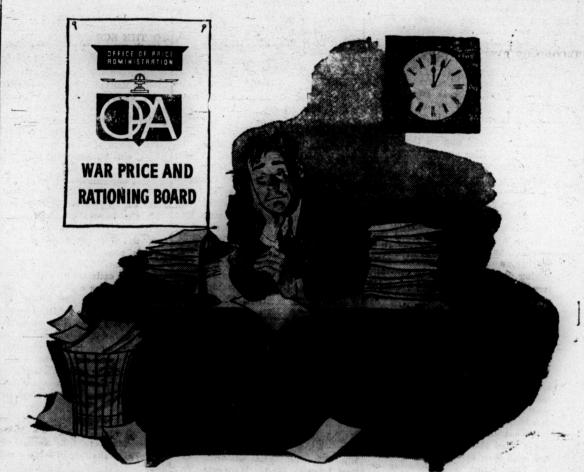

In loving remembrance of our beloved husband and father, Edgar Cornwell, who departed this life two years aro, March 5, 1941; also our son and brother, who departed this life October 7, 1941, Henry Cornwell.

'We do not forget them, We love them too dearly; For their memory to fade from our lives like a dream. Our lips need not speak when hearts mourn sincerely For grief often dwells where it is seldom is seen."

ARE YOU HELPING THE MAN with the toughest job in town?

He doesn't get much applause—that hard-working neighbor of yours on the War Price and Rationing Board. Most of the time he's listening to kicks and squawks from every side.

He listens patiently to every story, then makes decisions that aren't easy to make. No one likes to say "no" to friends and neighbors.

He works long hours at his job-just about the most important war job in your community. He doesn't get paid for it. It's all voluntary—all "above and beyond the line of duty." Long after the office of the War Price and Rationing Board is closed, he's still there—sorting forms, checking applications, studying ways in which to solve the problems of the people of his community. It's a hard, grueling—and all too often—a thankless task.

But he has one consolation—the knowledge that he's helping to make democracy work. The "Committee of Neighbors," of which he is a member, exists today, as a vivid example of the American system in action—a system that looks to the people themselves in working out of problems affecting their well-being and their destiny.

Point Ration Shopping Hints

Our Government, newspapers, radio stations and your Safeway Store are all doing everything they can to make sure you know how to shop under point rationing. You can do your part to make the new ration plan work smoothly by keeping in mind the simple rules listed below before you shop for the first time under point rationing

KNOW that:

(1) Point values have nothing to do with dollars-and-cents prices. You have to give the money price and the point stemp price for every purchase in a rationed group.

rationed group.

(2) You have freedom of choice in using your points to buy any rationed item, provided it is available.

(3) If you buy foods with a low point value you will be able to buy more of the articles in the same rationed group.

(4) Point values of all rationed foods the storekeeper or by the manufacturer. (5) You are not permitted to buy point rationed items, at any store, without giving point stamps . . . even on a charge account.

(6) High point stamps should be used when buying a number of rationed items at one time. Conserve your low point stamps as storekeepers cannot give you ration stamps in change.

(7) Loose stamps are not valid. Stamps must be torn out of your ration book at the time of purchase and in the presence

Now When You Go Shopping ... REMEMBER to:

(1) Allow plenty of time for your shopping under point rationing . . . it takes longer. Best time to shop is early in the week and early in the day.

(2) Be sure and take your War Ration Book No. 2 with you. No stamps . . . no rationed items.

You'll enjoy shopping at your Safe-way Store because you can take all the time you want without embarrassment or a sense of feeling hurried. Since you are waiting on yourself, no one cares how many times you change your mind or exchange one can for another before you reach the check-out stand.

DEATH OF GENERAL OPIE

It is with regret that we record the death on Feb. 26, at the age of 62, of General Hierome L. Opie, of Staunton, Virginia, distinguished news-paper publisher, military authority and sportsman.

General Opie had an enviable record of military service on the Mexican border, and in France during the First the mispronunciation of the name has World War where he received many decorations.

He was one of the pioneers bears in the movement to establish family. Shenandoah National Forest, and his contributions to an understanding of the wild-life problems of Virginia have endeared him to the sportsmen of the Common

We have noticed all through the years that all foreign born people and those from adjacent states invariably cormocalth. wealth.

One of his greatest civic services was his minority report made a few years ago as a member of the so called "Bustard Commission" which investigated the wild-life situation in Virginia. Voicing deep indignation at the man-Voicing ner in which State Departments were apparently allowed to conduct the investi-gations of themselves which der the Governorship of Harry Byrd and continued in subsequent regimes, whereby, because insufficient funds were provided for these investigative commissions, the Departments being investigated supplied the secretarial and technical assistance, invariably resulting in complete defeat of the objects sought by the investigation. General Opie's disclosure of this "technique" was a great public service.

Many additional and outstanding contributions to the welfare of Virginia could be cited, such as his labors for the National Guard, his devotion to rifle marksmanship.

Soldier, sportsman, gentle-man, he leaves a host of friends to mourn his passing.

Dear Editor:

Relative to the article appearing in last week's Journal, we believe we can assure the Richmond News-Leader that the "Cat-hopping" story concerning the name of our post office, road, and creek is nothing but a myth, though we must confess that become such a provincialism that any D. C. one might suspect that its origin bears some relation to the feline

From our earliest childhood, we were taught that the correct pronunciation of the world is "Ca-thar'-pin." BRIEF LOCAL NEWS rectly pronounce it, "Ca-thar'-pin."

The oldest residents tell us that their ancestors said the name was first applied by the Indians to the stream of water which has its source in Princt William County in the Bull Run Mountains near Waterfall. It flows only in Prince William and where the three Counties, Loudoun Fairfax and Prince William, intersect Tiller. very near Sudley Church. The village described by the described by the about midway between the courses of the two streams. The post office of the two streams of the two streams of the two streams of the two streams. expenses involved in operating a car in connection with duties as a civilian defense worker do constitute an exemption, although automobile depreciation in such work cannot be deducted.

Rice, Bicycles

Rice is not rationed, the State OPA has reassured consumers. Another anouncement by OPA stated that prices for used bicycles will be substantially reduced in the near future

More Rubber for Recapping

Owners of tires smaller than 7:50X 20 will soon be able to get their casings recapped with reclaimed rubber "camelback" without applying to their rationing boards for certificates. This does not relay the need for continued observance of rubber conservation measures. The change was made, the State OPA says, to reduce the demand for replacement tires by encouraging recapping, which takes less than half as much reclaimed rubber as a new war tire.

Farmers Get Gas for Six Months Farmers may obtain gasoline for their tractors, engines, and other nonhighway equipment for a period of six months instead of three months under a change in rationing regulations announced by the State OPA. The change is being made because of the variability of farming operations which frequently make it difficult for ments for only a three-month period. It will also save the farmers' time,

Soybean Seed Available

Processors of soybeans and the Commodity Credit Corporation are cooperating to make additional supplies of soybean seed available for planting the 1943 crop. Supplemental supplies will be available to farmers from Government stocks at not more than $2:50 per bushel. These stocks are stored in bins and country warehouses in areas where there was no frost damage last fall.

Changes in Tire Quotas

Virginia's quota of Grade 1 pas senger car tires for March has been practically doubled. The increase will take care of accumulated applications, but will not be continued in succeed-ing months. The quota for truck tires for March was reduced as compared with February but the Truck Tire recapping quota was increased.
Shoes Won't Be Drab

Although two-color shoes are almost entirely eliminated, Virginia women will find that two-texture shoes are not. Leathers of two different kinds, but the same shade may be used together. Leathers and fabrics of same approved colors may be combined in a shoe. There'll still be calf pumps with patent and suede pumps with faille. The exotic reptile, shark and kangeroo leathers are not prohibited. Patent and suede will continue to be feminine perennials,

O. C. D. TO PUSH VICTORY GARDENS

The State Office of Civilian Defense has announced that full strength of the Virginia defense organization will be thrown into the Victory Garden campaign in Virginia.

In incorporated towns and cities many local Defense Councils have already appointed Victory Garden Committees to promote the Campaign. In the rural areas the program will be under the immediate direction of the County Agents, with local Defense Councils cooperating to the fullest extent.

Many communities have active speakers' bureaus, whose facilities will be used to emphasize the extreme need for an extensive Victory Garden program this year.

With the civilian supply of canned food products expected to be limited to approximately three cans per person per month due to the needs of our armed forces and allies, transportation difficulties impeding the trucking of fruits and vegetables for any distance, and the shortage of farm labor, Victory Gardens will be the best assurance families will have of an adequate supply of fresh vegetables during the growing season, plus a surplus to can for winter use.

Stress will be laid on the value of Victory Gardens in saving the priceless blue stamps in War Ration Book II, since gardeners will not be penalized for the vegetables they may can for next winter's use from the surplus of their gardens.

"THE MALE ANIMAL," GAY COMEDY WITH FINE CAST COMING TO PITTS

One of the most charming comedies of the season, Warner Bros. "The Male Animal," to be shown at Pitts' Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, is a sparkling film that brings together three grand performers-Henry Fonda, Olivia de Havilland and Joan Leslie. It has a delightful story that will take you out of the realm of worry and trouble, with comedy that is both riotous and plausible.

The setting for "The Male Aniwas published by Houghton Mifflin mal" is Midwestern University, a Company in 1918. The plot starts college as typical as its name, with when Jim Burden, having lost both its usual enthusiastic scholars and dening." '2 P. M., Woman's Club his mother and his father, was sent equally enthusiastic alumni, who use to Nebraska by his Virginia relatives every anniversary as an excuse to reminisce about "the days when On the same train that Jim they attended the university." sors, is one Tommy Turner, played When they reached Nebraska the by Henry Fonda, whose sense of de Havilland, is sympathetic with him, and realizes the importance of his work, but she likes to have her

> The fun is provided when an old classmate (and ex-football hero) portrayed by Jack Carson, comes back for the big game. He and Olivia become a bit more friendly than old acquaintanceship warrants (at least from Fonda's point of view) and another trouble is piled upon the professor's back. But that enit the end of his u instructor in the midst of it.

The situations become more breezy, and humorously involved as By this time she was married and had the picture progresses, building up quite a few children. She was very to a climax that is sure to have happy to see Jim, and when he saw you howling with laughter. Julius her again, he realized how much he J. and Philip G. JOHN HARDNER stopped at the door of Kane and Lord's offices and bade the night watchman a calm goodnight, which had been his unvarying routine for the past twenty-four years.

Then he stepped over the threshold of the doorway for the last time. Kane and Lord were losing a trusted

And they were also losing seventy thousand dollars in cold

In the small room he had rented only that morning he started to transform his appearance with deft, sure movements. In a half hour he stepped back from the mirror and viewed himself with satisfaction. His iron-gray hair was now a dark brown, parted on the side instead of the center. The Van Dyke beard he had cultivated so carefully for the past five years was gone and he was clean shaven. Altogether he was clean shaven. Altogeth he looked fifteen years younger.

In the small restaurant in the warehouse district he deliberately ate a large meal. When he finished it was quite dark.

Paying for his meal, he picked up the suitcase he had brought with him and walked out slowly. Then he started to hurry through dimly lighted streets and alleys until he came to the spot he had selected a long while before. It was in the shadow of a huge warehouse at the

Then he gathered together his discarded clothing. The pants, shoes and shirt he tied together in one bundle, weighted it down with small pieces of lead and dropped it over the pier into the dark gurgling waters of the river.

The coat and hat he laid on the pier. In the pocket of the coat he placed a note. It read:

"I cannot stand the disgrace of being convicted for embezzlement. The next morning he casually pe-rused his paper as he ate breakfast. The screaming headlines amused

TRUSTED CASHIER SUICIDE!

Carefully he read the account. The police were dragging the river but did not expect to find the body because of the swift currents and treacherous tides.

What to do with the money was problem. After long deliberation he decided to place it in a safe deposit box. He selected one in a quiet suburban bank and stored all of it away except a few hundred dollars for immediate use. John Hardner's wants were few

He lived comfortably but avoided the bright lights. His one vice was playing the horses. In the latter part of the summer he took a long trip up into the North woods. He did not especially enjoy himself but he felt that it was a gesture his position demanded. At the end of six weeks John Hardner came back to civilization feeling more physically fit than he had for years.

His first thought was of his stored wealth. He climbed into a cab and ordered his driver to take him to the bank. When the driver drew up in front of it John Hardner stared at the building curiously. At one side of the bank a group of workmen were busy bricking up a hole in the wall. His heart commenced to throb alarmingly.

"What happened there?" he asked the driver. "An accident?"

The driver stared. "Ain't you heard? That's where that gang broke into the safe deposit boxes about five weeks ago. They got everything—" Suddenly the driver realized that he was talking to empty

John Hardner rushed into the bank president's office. "My money," he gasped hoarsely. "I want my money!"

"Here-take a seat, my man." the president advised kindly. He mo-tioned him to a chair. "I suppose you mean the safe deposit boxes?" John Hardner nodded, still fighting for control of himself.

"Now-you needs't worry. We're paying all claims. All you have to do is to advance your claim and sign the necessary papers." He pushed a button. To the secretary who appeared he spoke a few words. Then, to John Hardner, "I'm afraid I didn't get your name."

"Roget. Edward Roget," John Hardner said colorlessly.

"Roget." The president paused.

"Ah, yes—Roget." He scratched a few words on a piece of paper and handed it to the secretary.

An hour later at police headquarters a young detective leaned over the desk sergeant's shoulder. "I see that they caught that Hardner fellow—the one who was supposed to com-mit suicide. How'd they do it?"

The desk sergeant looked up in-terestedly. "Funny about that. They took fingerprints on all those safe deposit boxes trying to find out the gang who did it. They found Hardner's prints on the box he'd rented. He plumb forgot that Lord and Kane make all their employees be fingerprinted when they first go to work for them. He'd been there venty-four years but finger

Those old-time cabbies, who no drive passengers from Grand Central to a mid-town department store, remind me of the days when I was a very cubby reporter in Kenton, Ohio. We had two cab lines, each of which represented one of the town's two leading hotels. Comret on was keen to say the least. The actual soliciting was done by the swarming all over arrivals, they were forced to tee a line painted on the station platform. There were ro restrictions on shouting, however, so the calls, "Hotel Weaver" and St. Nicholas" arese loudly as soon as a train began to stop. The hack drivers, though they had their minds on business, took no part in the shouting. They merciy maintained a dignified silence. Nor did they help with the baggage. But on the way up town, the drivers drove by their respective livery stables so the owners could count the load.

Most of those who came to our wn were traveling salesmen. The gulars had their favorite hotels and automatically stepped up to the right porter. That, however, did not prevent solicitation. Such enstad hittante and if recollection serves, there were a number of battles as a re-Nevertheless, it persisted. Hackmen didn't do much business at the Big Four station since the St. Nicholas, which burned a little while ago, was right alongside the tracks and the Weaver only two short blocks distant, thus a chance for traveling salesmen-we called them drummers-to work a little on the expense account. Townsfolk were met by members of their families or friends with horses and buggies. So the pickings were Business was better at the Ohio Central station, down by the Scioto, but the Erie was the best stand of all, that station being a fu'l mile from the square, so no drum-mers did any walking. All that being true, the Eric was the scene of fiercest competition with a lot of hard looks and not infrequently. name calling.

The hack fare, even from the Erie, was only 25 cents per passenger to any point in town. The night rates were the same so that when town boys and girls dressed up N. go to a formal party, they called ks to come to the door them at their destination. righteous citizens, taken by hard liquor late at night and therefore unable to trust their legs, merely called a hack and were not only delivered at their homes but often were helped inside for a two bit piece. There were no tips. It is my belief that had anyone offered Johnny Ellis a tip it would have been refused with great scorn.

As a Daily News-Republican reporter, I had the privilege of riding free to and from trains. So did Charley Kelley of the Daily Democrat. The rivalry extended even to dead heads, so one day we rode in a Powell hack and the next day in a Southard. The porter rode up on the box with the driver, hence was al-ways sure of a seat. When cush customers filled both hacks, Charley and I had to seek other transportation. The baggage wagon was our refuge. The baggage wagon didn't leave until all the trunks had been loaded so often there was delay. But we had only one edition which went to press when all the news was in type, so we didn't worry.

The hackmen with their horses and ancient vehicles at the Grand Central terminal in these days of rationed gasoline and no rubber, are all old-timers whose memories go back to days when there were no taxis. Among them is Frank Mc-Cann who 40 years ago used to hack at that same stand who in all, has been a hackman for half a century.

"IM THE KIND OF A GUY THAT NEEDS A KICK IN THE PANTS"

I never could save money. The more I made, the more I spent. Always some good excuse for not saving.

Then, along came that Jap sneak play at Pearl Harber. That made me mad... and plenty willing to sock back at them the best way I could. Which, it so happened, was by working in a war plant and buying War Ronds.

Next thing, our Shop announced they were putting in the Pay-Roll Savings Francis war bonds, and i started buying Bonds on a regular month-tomonth plan instead of on a hit-or-miss basis.

And now, doggone if it hasn't turned out that between the Japs and the Pay-Roll Plan, I've had just the kick in the pants I needed to start me saving real dough for the first time in my life.

It's a wonderful feeling (aside and apart from knowing I'm helping pay for a war we've got to win, or else). You see, I'm putting in $37.50 every month. And that means, 10 years from now, I'm going to have me a nifty little income of $50 a month coming in. Four dollars back for every three I'm putting in today!

And, believe me, brother, nothing's going to keep me from getting that full four bucks back for every three. All I have to do is just keep tucking those bonds away, month in, month out . . . letting them earn interest on what I'm lending Uncle Sam today.

I said it's a wonderful feeling to know that at last I'm saving up money . . . adding to it regularly every month. But it's going to be even more wonderful when those bonds come due 10 years from now. 'Cause then a certain dream of mine is coming true.

My particular dream happens to be a little cabin on a lake upstate. Good fishing up there, and a swell place for week ends and vacations. Well, I'm going to own that cabin, and have the time to use it!

Maybe your idea of what you'll do with your War Bond money is different. Maybe you'll use it to help send the kids through college . . . to help build a home of your own . . . or just to take a long, carefree trip somewhere with the Missus.

But whatever it is, remember this: The War Bonds you're buying today ean make it come true. Just do what I'm doing. Buy your Bonds on a regular month-to-month basis and
