CIVILIAN DEFENSE RALLY AT BRENTSVILLE, WED., JUNE 23, 8 P. M.

Many Patriotic and Defense Organizations will Participate
ATTENDANCE PERMITTED UNDER GAS RATIONING

On Wednesday evening, June 23, at 8 o'clock, there will be an important Civilian Defense Rally in the old Courthouse in Brentsville. It is sponsored by the local Civilian Defense authorities, the American Legion and other patriotic organizations. Members of the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, the Minute Men, the Red Cross and the Victory Corps will take part in the program. Mr. Tiffany is to act as Master of Ceremonies, and it is announced that attendance comes under essential use of gasoline.

The program will begin with the Massing of the Colors and salute to the flag. There will be a brief and interesting talks by representatives of the different branches of Civilian Defense—Air Raid, Wardens, Airplane Spotters, etc. The chief speaker of the evening will be Senator Hellar, of Bedford and Richmond, and a representative from the Army Interceptor Command, who will tell of this important work from the official and military viewpoint.

An interesting film will be shown and the lighter side of the program will give a pleasing surprise from Mrs. Vincent Davis in her own inimitable style and a group of songs from the well loved "Girls of Yesterday", formerly the "Gay Nineties". The newly organized Girl Scout Troop of Brentsville will make their first official appearance and undertake their first contribution to their War Service by taking full charge of refreshments.

As stated, using gas for transportation to this rally is not considered pleasure riding, and everyone is urged to take advantage of this dispensation. All members of Civilian Defense organizations and all volunteer workers are urged to come and wear their insignia.

FRESH AIR FUND COMMITTEE

The Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund has organized a committee for Manassas and the surrounding community to assist in giving some of the unfortunate children from New York City a summer outing.

The children from 6 to 14 are from the tenements of the city. Older boys and girls may be invited to help with home or farm work.

The last two weeks of July have been selected for the outing. If you are interested in giving one or more of these children an given opportunity to enjoy country life for two weeks, please contact any member of the committee for further particulars. The members of the committee are:

Mrs. Walter Sadd, Chairman, Mrs. Lewis Carper, Mrs. A. O. Beane, Mrs. Nell Grim, Mrs. Hunton Tiffany, Mrs. J. P. Royer, and Mr. Frank Cox.

LOCAL FARM LABOR SITUATION

The local farm labor situation and the possibility of developing new sources of farm help was discussed at a meeting of the Prince William County Farm Labor Committee Friday. It was decided to contact farmers by letter and through the columns of the Manassas Journal in an effort to determine actual labor needs for the remainder of the year. While the committee can not definitely promise assistance at this time, every effort will be made to locate such help as may become available.

It is the desire of the committee to learn how farmers feel toward the idea of setting up a central labor camp, using prisoners of war or migratory workers. The opinion was expressed that the peak need for additional help will come between August 15 and October 15 when silos will be filled, late hay harvested and corn cut and husked.

Satisfaction was reported with the assistance received from high school students of the county as well as that obtained through the Manassas State Vocational School. Because of the fact that State school appropriations are based upon attendance, it is hoped that arrangements can be made so that the local school authorities will not be required to accept a reduction in State assistance by making this needed help available again next fall.

Members of the County Farm Labor Committee include Wm. H. Wheeler, W. M. Johnson, Wm. H. Goodall, J. Carl Kincheloe, R. R.

Mrs. William Harrison Lamb,
The Manassas Journal,
Manassas, Virginia.

My dear Mrs. Lamb:
I was down on my country place "Rippon Lodge" yesterday and saw in your paper of June 3rd the account of the death of your brother, Roger Daniel Wharton.

I was greatly shocked and sincerely grieved for I know no man in Virginia who was a better or dearer friend. Mr. Wharton's death is a real loss to Prince William County and to the State, for he was not only an able editor, and a distinguished but a splendid gentleman.

With sincere sympathy to you and all your family, I am
Cordially and sincerely yours,
Wade H. Ellis

RESOLUTION

This Chamber contemplates with greatest sorrow and the deepest sense of loss and regret the untimely passing of our beloved friend and member, Roger D. Wharton. He was always well informed on items of interest to the Chamber and of benefit to the community, and was ever able to make a telling contribution both with his energetic cooperation and his apt observations and discussion.

Therefore be it resolved by the Chamber of Commerce of Prince William County, Virginia, that this message of sympathy and condolence be placed with the family of the late Roger D. Wharton, a copy filed with the minutes of this Chamber and a further copy sent to The Manassas Journal for such use as it may deem fitting and appropriate.

Most Respectfully,
C. CARL KINCHELOE

SECOND OFFICER JENSEN TO PARTICIPATE IN NATION-WIDE DRIVE FOR 90,000 WAACS

Second Officer Jessie Neale Jensen of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, has just returned to her home state of Virginia to participate in the nation-wide recruiting drive now under way for 90,000 WAACS.

Lieutenant Jensen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland D. Neale, of Bealeton, Virginia. She is a graduate of the University of Richmond, and was elected there to the Mortar Board, senior women's honor society. She was connected with the Henrico County Schools before entering the WAACS as a member of the first officer candidate class at Fort Des Moines. She has two brothers now serving with the armed forces: Lieutenant A. D. Neale, on overseas duty, and Corporal H. P. Neale, with the Army Air Corps.

The Lieutenant has been with the WAAC recruiting station at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, and acted as executive officer of training center companies at Daytona Beach, Florida. After that she was promoted to Commanding Officer of a basic company there.

At present she will follow a tentative itinerary on her recruiting tour which will include Bealeton, Warrenton, Culpeper, Morrisville, Calverton, Catlett, Manassas, Remington, Nokesville, and Midland. Lieutenant Jensen will be in Manassas June 24, 25 and 26.

JULIA ANNE BEANE WINS PETTY OFFICERS RATING

A petty officer rating in the WAVES has been won by Julia Anne Beane, from 114 Prescott Avenue, Manassas, Virginia, who was promoted to a yeoman, third class, upon graduation from the Naval Training School for members of the women's reserve of the Navy at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa, recently. Included in a class of 336 WAVES, all of whom were made petty officers, she now will be assigned to a shore station where she will relieve an enlisted man for sea duty.

The Bluejacket has completed two periods of schooling since enlisting in the Navy, the first stressing an indoctrination into Navy customs and procedures, called "boot camp," and yeoman school. As a yeoman she learned how to prepare and file Naval correspondence.

Fishpaw, R. C. Haydon, Dr. George B. Cocke, Miss Nell Grim and Frank Cox.

WE ASK FOR PROOF

Mr. Frank P. Moncure
Stafford, Virginia

Dear Sir:
I have your statement of June 7 "To the People of Prince William County" which you desire published as a paid advertisement.

A newspaper has a definite responsibility to the public under the general category of "truthful advertising", and we are never willing, even in our advertising columns to publish any statement about which we have misgivings as to its accuracy.

If you can give us any reasonable proof that there exists a "gentleman's agreement" by which you are entitled to come into the office of Delegate to the General Assembly from Prince William and Stafford, and the present incumbent should go out, I will be willing to reconsider the matter of publishing your statement.

Very truly yours,
W. H. LAMB

In reply, Mr. Moncure requests return of his advertisement, intimating censorship.

We never censor, except as requested by the Government in matters of war information, but we do reject for publication any advertisement which we believe to be untruthful and we carry no further material from that source until the matter questioned as to truthfulness is proven to be acceptable for publication.

In the public interest we call upon Mr. Moncure for proof that he is entitled to the office of Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia under a "gentleman's agreement" providing for rotation of the office at fixed intervals between the counties of Prince William and Stafford.

We understand that the Democratic Committees of the two counties have not gone on record as favoring any such agreement so far as their authority over Primary elections is concerned, and certainly no individuals have the right to make any such "deal" with respect to an elective office belonging to the people.

We therefore publicly call upon Mr. Moncure for proof of truthfulness of the statement that any such "gentleman's agreement" is in existence, and we assure him that if he can supply that proof, we will give the fact due and immediate publication.

BLOOD DONORS NEEDED JULY 6 AT PARISH HALL

The state of war demands that human blood be collected and prepared NOW if the lives of our soldiers and sailors are to be saved by transfusions in battle. To meet this urgent need, the American Red Cross has been requested by the Surgeon General of the Army and Navy to procure several million voluntary blood donations from our civilian population within the next few months. The Red Cross has responded by organizing the Blood Donor Service.

On Tuesday, July 6, the Mobile Unit to collect blood for Blood Plasma will make its fourth visit to Manassas.

The clinic will be held in the Parish Hall of the Episcopal Church in Manassas between the hours of 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. The clinic is being sponsored by the Prince William County Chapter of the American Red Cross. 135 donors will be needed to insure 120 pints of blood.

Anyone between the ages of 21 and 60 years may volunteer, provided they are in good condition and have not had any serious illness in the last month.

Certainly there is no other way for an American to participate in the war so personally, short of actual fighting.

Call now and make an appointment to do your part. Phone Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, or Mrs. E. H. Marsteller

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI PLANTING REPORT

(This report was to have been given by Miss E. H. Osburn at the Alumni Banquet which had to be deferred this year on account of the gas shortage.)

To the President and Members of the High School Alumni:
You will all remember that at the Alumni Banquet last year an appeal was made to the association to raise a fund for the completion of the planting of the school grounds, a project which had been under way for some time, as you know.

The proposal was favorably received by the association and the president appointed a committee with Mrs. R. C. Haydon as chairman to raise the necessary amount. Later, a statement, setting forth the plans and suggesting that, in some cases memorial plantings might be made, was sent out by the committee and a number of members and friends responded favorably. Mr. Allison Hooff, in particular, contributed $100 to be used as a memorial for his little son, Bolling. At first it was intended to use Mr. Hooff's gift in the general planting of the grounds, but it was finally decided to make his contribution a unit in itself by planting the gymnasium grounds. This would commemorate Bolling's love for athletics, and at the same time, make a much needed improvement of the grounds facing the public highway.

A number of difficulties were encountered in carrying forward this work. First, a suitable plan had to be obtained and provision made, if possible, for securing adequate help. A satisfactory plan was finally obtained through the landscape designer of the Waynesboro Nurseries, but no outside help could be found for the planting. So, eventually, the whole planting was done by the boys of the Agriculture Classes under the supervision of Mr. Raymond Fishpaw.

When the gymnasium planting was undertaken, several large trees were already growing west of the building: a sycamore, some maples and an ancient cedar, which had seen Jackson's army pass under its

TOWN AND FARM IN WARTIME

Too Many Pleasure Drivers

Since the leisure driving ban went into effect on May 20, the OPA assisted by State and local police have tagged thousands of motorists as pleasure drivers. In the Richmond OPA district alone, over 1,000 drivers have been tagged, and while many of these presented satisfactory excuses to the hearing boards, the OPA enforcement division says there is no question but that too many Virginians are deliberately wasting precious gasoline because they persist in a mistaken belief that "there is plenty of gas." Far from there being plenty of gas, OPA says, tremendously increased military requirements, inadequate transportation facilities, and the damage caused to pipelines by the recent floods in the East mean that the State is facing a real gasoline "famine," and that not one drop should be used except for absolutely essential driving.

Aid for the Farmer

In an order designed to speed the process by which Virginia farmers may obtain maintenance, repair and operating supplies, the War Production Board has ruled that farmers no longer will obtain such supplies under CMP Regulation 5, but instead will obtain them under Priorities Regulation 19. According to John Springer Gray, WPB priorities manager in Richmond, this means that farmers no longer need to obtain from dealers the certification statement required under CMP 5, which gave them an AA-5 rating, but instead need only to write out a simple statement of need to obtain any of 140-odd essential items. Under the old plan, some of the items now obtainable by the certification were not even obtainable with an AA-5 rating.

Coffee by Mail

Virginia coffee drinkers who order their blends by mail may now "pay" for the purchase by enclosing detached ration stamps with the order rather than the entire ration book, OPA has announced. Formerly, consumers were required to forward

Remember folks, this is the Saturday for the Street Fair which will be held near the Theatre, sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary, for the sale of bonds and Please look around, don't you have an album which is partly filled? Do try to finish filling it and get your bond as soon as possible. There are so many million albums out and not being turned in. Please let us finish what we have started. Those albums --and this war!

The Legions general chairman Mr. M. S. Burchard, says that things are going along fine and the plans are being completed for the Bond Show, the Gala Review, to be given in the Theatre on June 25, for the folks who have been given tickets at the Banks with their purchases of Bonds this month. And, please, folks, don't take any more tickets than your family can use, either, for some of the others have to buy all their bonds at work (out of town) and to buy here means more sacrifice on their part.

Some of the artists who were here for the other bond show will return, and they will be augmented by others who have moved near the capitol. Please, Americans, remember to keep up the good work!

WHAT TO WRITE TO SERVICEMEN

The Office of War Information offers these pointers for homefolks writing to soldiers, sailors, and marines—based on suggestions gathered in a survey among servicemen at home and overseas, in cooperation with the Special Service Division of the Army Service Forces:

TELL HIM:

1. How the family is doing everything possible to help in the war.
 2. How anxious the family is for the boy's return.
 3. How well and busy the family is. Give details.
 4. How the family is getting along financially.
 5. What's doing in the community; news about girls (single) he knows, doings of friends, who's marrying whom, exploits of the home team and other sports events, social doings, effects of the war on the home town. Reminisce a little about past events and places the boy used to visit. Enclose clippings from the home-town paper.
- DON'T TELL HIM:
1. Your troubles. He has troubles of his own.
 2. Your complaints. He can't do anything about them.
 3. About things you are deprived of. He can't supply them.
 4. Doleful predictions about the future. He's fighting for that future—now.
 5. Unnecessary details about financial troubles. If there are things he should know about family finances, and he is in a position to do something about the situation, tell him. But don't string it out.

America Salutes Food Producers

He Also Serves

THIS IS DAIRY MONTH!
 NO inspiring bands and no glamour of uniforms and decorations cheer these unsung heroes of World War II. With patriotic determination dairymen toil long hours under serious handicaps of labor and material shortages to produce food so vital to the winning of the war.
 Dairy foods are of front-rank importance in keeping fighters and workers fit, says the National Dairy Council. Food production is the nation's most critical problem. Fighters on the farm are as essential to the war effort as those in munition plants or on the firing line.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

Around the table with a pound of meat

It's quite a trick to make a pound of meat go all around the table and satisfy all the appetites. The secret is to use the meat in tiny pieces, so that the flavor is distributed. Nutritionally, it's sound practice and one we can well afford to adopt these days.

CHOP SUEY—Cut meat into tiny pieces, brown in hot fat, add sliced celery, onions, shredded cabbage (in lieu of bean sprouts), and seasonings to taste. Add a little water, cover pan and simmer for 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Thicken the broth slightly with flour or cornstarch. Serve over steaming, fluffy rice.

RUSSIAN MEAT BALLS—Mix together a pound of ground meat, 4 or 5 boiled, chopped potatoes, 1 grated onion, and salt and pepper. Form into small balls and brown in hot fat. Add a little milk or water, cover pan and simmer gently for 15 minutes. Thicken pan liquor with flour and serve over meat balls.

NOODLE DELIGHT—Saute small pieces of meat and mix with cooked noodles cooked green beans or okra, and wedges of fresh tomato. Pour in greased casserole and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 15 minutes or until heated through and flavors are blended.

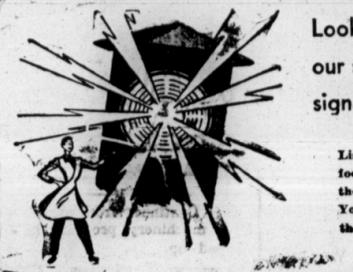

MEAT PIE—Dice a pound of meat and prepare as for stew, using several vegetables cut in uniform pieces. Thicken gravy slightly and pour stew into greased casserole. Cover top with pastry or with mashed potato or corn-meal crust. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes or until well browned.

GASOLINE SCANDALS

Relatively small in effect on the total war effort, but much larger in effect upon morale, are the recent scandals which have come to light in Maryland and in Virginia in illicit use of gasoline.

In Maryland a high State official has confessed to driving to Georgia in a state-owned automobile to attend the wedding of a son. Worst of all his local Rationing Board seems to have white-washed the affair, and but for the clever publicity of a local editor the case probably would have been ended. The editor disclosed the facts in such a unique way, it seems, that he got himself arrested for libel. Then the lid blew off. The public demanded and got an official investigation.

In Fairfax County, Virginia, it is stated that a volunteer member of the Rationing Board is accused of mailing gasoline rationing coupons in the amount of 7,044 gallons to a nephew in Providence, Rhode Island. It is charged that there were 273 full sheets of "C" coupons.

If such criminal misuse of gasoline is wide-spread, it would explain why O. P. A. is having so much trouble stretching our supplies to meet essential needs and why all pleasure driving has had to be restricted. Let us hope, however, that these are exceptional and isolated cases, and that their immediate investigation and prompt punishment will follow—and we do hope that no more newspaper editors will be arrested, as in Maryland, for telling the facts to the public.

ESSENTIAL DRIVING: Next week we will publish a detailed statement from the Prince William Rationing Board on essential driving and advising the public on what is not permitted under the present gasoline restrictions. It will be an important statement.

branches on their way to the Battle of Manassas. To these the Hooff memorial added a number of fine trees: Five white pines, several white ash trees and flowering crab apples and an American linden. A barberry hedge was also planted along the street and highway sides of the building; and evergreens-yews and Russian Olives—together with a considerable number of flowering shrubs: forsythia, spirea, bush honeysuckle, wigella, Japanese quince and winter-jasmine were planted around the building and along the highway.

In addition to the gymnasium planting, several fine evergreens were also planted near the High and Bennett School buildings. Two of these were balsam firs, one given by the class of 1936, and another by Miss Hattie Mae Partlow as a memorial to her sister, also a white pine was contributed by Mrs. Erskine Williamson and Miss Kathryn Boorman in memory of their father, Mr. Joseph Boorman.

Now, however, since the gymnasium planting is well underway, the committee wishes to return to its original project of planting the trees and groups of shrubbery still needed to complete the general plan of the grounds around the High and Bennett Schools—the committee did not continue to work up its original plan last year as it felt that the Hooff memorial planting was about all that it could undertake at one time. But now it hopes that the Alumni members will continue to help in raising another $100 to carry out the general project this year. As was pointed out in our discussion at the Banquet last June, Manassas has every incentive, with magnificent Washington on one hand and the lovely Blue Ridge Park and Skyline Drive on the other, to make its own surroundings as beautiful as it can, and there is no organization that so ties itself up with the life of the community—past, present and future—as the High School and its Alumni, so there is none better fitted to take part in all such attempts to enrich and make better the community life. When the committee therefore sends out to the Alumni members its request for help in carrying forward this work, we hope that all will feel that they can respond.

In conclusion the committee desires that full tribute should be paid not only to Mr. Hooff and the other generous contributors of last year, but also to Mr. Fishpaw and the boys of his agriculture class for their cooperation and very valuable help.

Mrs. Raymond McIntosh left last week for North Carolina to join her husband.

TOWN AND FARM IN WAR TIME

farm machinery program has been stepped up.

Inspection Requirements Changed
Tire inspections for Virginia commercial motor vehicles now may be made every 5,000 miles or every six months, whichever occurs first, ODT says. Previously, commercial vehicles had to have tire inspection every 5,000 miles or every 60 days, whichever occurred first.

Data on Prisoners
American soldiers officially reported as prisoners of war in enemy countries to date total 17,083, the War Department has announced. Of these, 11,307 are held by Japan; 3,312 by Germany and 2,464 by Italy. However, these reports are incomplete. Information in the hands of the War Department indicates that the basic diet of an American soldier in German prison camps is largely potatoes, cabbage, fish, and an indefinite amount of meat.

To Substitute Tires
Farmers in the State needing farm implements or front wheel tractor tires will be permitted to purchase suitable substitutes when they are unable to find a dealer with tires designed expressly for their purpose, the OPA has announced. Dealers may also sell passenger car owners tires and tubes of a slightly different size than is called for by the rationing certificate.

Leather for Civilians
Manufacturers of many civilian leather products, which was prohibited after June 1, can be continued through 1943 out of manufacturers inventories, under a recent WPB amendment. Among products affected are dress gloves and mittens, brief cases, new upholstery, radio cases, pocketbooks, handbags, cigar and cigarette cases, key cases, tobacco pouches, watch straps and dog furnishings.

Gas Coupons Changed
A new "TT" gasoline coupon, which replaces the present "T" coupon, will become valid for use on July 1. The old type of "T" coupon will be invalid after July 25. OPA expects the change in design to help take up "slack" mileage and remove potential sources of black market gasoline.

Materials for Underwear
Materials for knit underwear for Virginia men, women, and children will be made available by an action of WPB. Manufacturers have been assured of supplies of cotton yarn, thread, fabrics and other materials to meet essential civilian requirements.

"B" Mileage Out
Maximum mileage of "B" gasoline ration books has been reduced to 300 miles per month in Virginia—and no additional mileage will be allowed under any circumstances unless the applicant is in a preferred occupation as, for example, a doctor, ambulance driver, firefighter, or policeman.

Country Shipper Reports
"Country Shippers" of dry beans, peas, and lentils must report their purchases, sales, and transfers for the month of May to the Washington office of the OPA before June 20. A "Country Shipper" is the first person who acquires dry beans, peas, or lentils from a grower, or who imports them for the purpose of selling them to the wholesale trade.

APPEAL MADE FOR LESS TRAIN TRAVEL

For the first time in its history, the Southern Railway System is asking people not to ride on the railway's trains unless it is absolutely necessary. This unusual appeal is contained in a statement to the public by Ernest E. Norris, President of the Southern.

"Please don't ride on a Southern Railway train this summer—unless you conscientiously believe that your trip is necessary." These are the precedent-shattering words of Mr. Norris, who added that he never thought the time would come when he would ask the public not to ride on the Southern's trains. "But that time has come," he explains, "an inescapable by-product of our nation's fight for Victory."

"The South is serving the Nation as the location of many important war industries going at top speed and more than half of all the larger training camps and military establishments in the country," Mr. Norris continued. "This means simply that our passenger facilities this summer will undoubtedly be strained to the limit. Many of our passenger cars and locomotives will be assigned to troop movements. Our regular trains and our stations are bound to be literally jammed with men and women in uniform, traveling under orders and on furlough, and civilians traveling in connection with war work."

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. D. R. Lewis, Wednesday, June 23, at 2:30 P. M.

Mrs. Eva M. Prescott, of Eustis Florida, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. R. Lewis.

Mrs. George O. Botts, and little son, of Arlington, are spending some time with her mother, Mrs. C. J. Meetze.

Miss Hazel Weaver and Miss Vivian Whetzel have returned from Greensboro, N. C., where they visited Miss Weaver's brother, Pvt. Willard C. Weaver, a local youth; and a friend, Pvt. Harold R. Jones, from Louisville, Ky. The young men are receiving additional training in North Carolina for the Army Air corps, and are getting along fine.

THOMASSON-HUFFMAN

Miss Agnes Thomasson and Mr. David Clarke Huffman were quietly married June 11 at the home of Rev. E. E. Blough in the presence of a few friends.

The bride was attired in navy chiffon with white accessories.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM AND STAFFORD COUNTIES:

I announce my candidacy for re-election to the House of Delegates of the General Assembly of Virginia for the Counties of Prince William and Stafford, subject to the Democratic Primary Election, August 3, 1943.

Having served the good people of these two counties for the past two terms, and having been placed on two major committees—Roads and Finance—I feel that I can be of even greater service in the future.

There is no knowledge of the agreement, referred to by my opponent, by which a representative from each county should serve only two terms. I feel certain that the gentleman from Stafford never stood aside for me when first I became a candidate, and I see no reason why I am not entitled to run again.

I appreciate the support which I have had from the people of Stafford and Prince William Counties and if elected, I will endeavor to serve to the best interest of both counties.

Sincerely,
E. R. CONNER,
Manassas, Virginia

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-nomination as Justice of The Peace for Gainesville District. I will appreciate your support.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM, FAIRFAX AND THE CITY OF ALEXANDRIA:

At the request of many of my friends in this Senatorial District, I have announced my candidacy for nomination to the office of State Senator, subject to the Democratic Primary, August 3, 1943.

The district, composed of Alexandria City, Fairfax and Prince William Counties has a complex situation that needs the services of the most experienced man whom the voters can secure. My service in the General Assembly which extends over three sessions has fitted me to represent the best interest of all the peoples in this District.

As a life long farmer, I am fully acquainted with many rural problems which face the farmers of this District. Having served as a member of the Board of Supervisors of Stafford county and as clerk of the court of that county, I am in a position to assist in problems of county government which may arise.

Owing to war restrictions it will not be possible for me to see many of the voters of the District. I am taking this means to solicit your support and consideration of my candidacy, with the pledge that if elected I shall certainly devote my whole hearted efforts in the interest of all of you.

Power of Suggestion

By BEE BENEDICT

Associated Newspapers.
WNU Service.

BILL SAUNDERS grinned mockingly. "Don't tell me you believe that tripe!"

"It isn't tripe!" Kate Jackson glared. "If you were broadminded you'd let Madame Rosseau read your horoscope."

"Ha! My horoscope! I can just imagine myself getting that weak minded—"

"Weak minded, indeed!" Kate's eyes blazed.

"But, darling, be reasonable! This horoscope business is a lot of nonsense and—"

"It isn't nonsense! It's good advice and common sense!"

Bill stared into the eyes of his fiancée. He couldn't believe that a girl of Kate's intelligence would permit her actions to be ruled by any such silly bunk as the location of a star. Her attitude in the matter foreshadowed a good deal of unpleasantness following the wedding.

"And just because the stars proclaimed that you should avoid contact with people whom you—care about today, you refuse to go out with me tonight?"

"The stars have always been right. I'd be afraid to disobey them."

"Well, of all the idiotic—do you realize what a sweet time I'll have explaining to the Hunters?"

"I'll call the Hunters and explain myself."

"Explain about the stars? They'll think you're daft."

Tears appeared in Kate's eyes. Bill bit his lip. "All right! Have it your way!" And Bill went home.

Kate worked in the circulation department of the Morning Tribune. Bill worked on the floor above in the editorial department. Usually he came down at lunch time. Today he didn't. And that night she rode home on the bus in solitude.

The next day and the next were the same. Kate, at first confident that Bill would get over his grouchy, began to feel uneasy. She began racking her brain for a question to ask someone in the editorial department, finally hit upon one and with thumping heart went to the floor above. She tried to appear casual, but Dyer, city editor, regarded her curiously.

"No," he said, "Bill isn't here just now."

Kate flushed. Dyer grinned, and Kate turned and fled.

Another week passed and Kate was utterly miserable. She tried to tell herself that she didn't care, but that was like defying the stars. Darn the stars anyhow! Why had she ever permitted Grace Hadley to arouse her interest in them? Or why couldn't her horoscopes have been wrong? But they hadn't. They had proclaimed her destiny for a month, day by day, correctly. And you couldn't ignore a thing like that.

In desperation Kate went to old man Wheeler for advice. Old man Wheeler had been with the Tribune for forty years. He was a kindly person, and Kate told him about her horoscope. The old man shook his sagacious head. "Might be something in it," he admitted. "Might be. However, I'm content to trust in God and read my Bible and let it go at that."

"But it proclaimed my destiny accurately, day by day, for a whole month!"

He looked thoughtfully at the sober-faced girl. "If I were you, I'd try getting on for a month without benefit of a horoscope. Some say it's merely the power of suggestion. A person tells you that something's going to happen and if you believe yourself that it is—well, you're apt to help it to happen. I'm not decrying the idea, you understand, but—try it without for a month. See what happens."

Three days later Kate, feeling blue and despondent, was standing on a street corner waiting for a bus, when a coupe pulled up. Bill Saunders opened the door, grasped her hand and jerked her inside.

"Hello, honey. How about calling everything off and starting from scratch?"

She looked up at him, wishing he'd kiss her. "Oh, Bill, let's. What—what made you change your mind?"

"I didn't about loving you. But I thought you'd given me the air for good. I went to old man Wheeler for advice, and—"

"Oh! Did he tell you I asked his advice, too?"

"You bet he did. He's wise, that old guy. He put two and two together and suggested that I—"

"Oh! He suggested, did he? So you believe in the power of suggestion, too?"

Bill stared at her a moment, then laughed. "Honey, let's call it a day. Let's do our own suggesting from now on—to each other. I'm sorry I was so rude and abrupt that day."

"And I'm sorry I was, too, Bill." Bill's arm went around her shoulder. She sighed deeply, contentedly. After a moment Bill said: "And we'll forget about the horoscope business, eh?"

Kate nodded. "All right, darling. I'll only listen to you from now on, but—"

"But what?"

"But my horoscope did say that something dreadfully nice was going to happen to me today."

And Bill leaned over and kissed her.

Not So Clever
By CARLTON JAMES
Associated Newspapers,
WNU Service.

"EASTERNERS," said Sheriff Victor Clark, "who patronize our dude ranches and indulge in the well-known pastime of going native, sometimes succeed in making a pretty convincing job of it, until an emergency occurs. Then they resort to their civilized instincts."

"I recall the day Simon Merrifield was murdered out at Wesley Holmes' Triangle Bar. Wesley called me on the phone and I hot-footed it out there. 'Looks like suicide,' Wes told me. 'Leastwise I hope so. But, try and keep it as quiet as possible. Bad for business to have these things noised around.' 'We went down to the cabin which had been assigned to the Merrifields. Simon was lying on the bed, a peaceful look on his face, dead. Beside him on a table was a half-consumed glass of liquor. Wes picked up the glass and handed it to me. 'Poison,' he said.

"It was poison all right. I looked around the cabin. 'Does Mrs. Merrifield know about this?' 'No one knows. Mrs. Merrifield is out riding with a party of friends. I suppose,' he added gloomily, 'it's my job to break the news.' 'Tell me all you know about it, Wes,' I said.

"Not much to tell. About 1:30 this afternoon Merrifield called up the cook and ordered a glass of Scotch and soda delivered to his cabin. The cook brought it down. Merrifield met him at the door, mentioning that he intended to read awhile, and then take a nap. He wasn't, he said, feeling very well. At 3:30 Tony Metcalf got back from town with the mail. There were some pieces for Merrifield and he brought them down to the cabin. No one responded to Tony's knock, so he stepped inside. He saw Simon lying on the bed. At first he thought the man was sick, so he called me. That's about all."

"Well, we hunted around the interior of the cabin, but didn't find much of interest. It certainly looked as though Simon had committed suicide. It occurred to me that when we began digging up the dirt we'd probably find that Merrifield had either been having financial troubles, or his wife had been two-timing him, or he was in love with some woman who was married to someone else and wouldn't have him. I had investigated dude suicides before, and most always one of those reasons fit the case. Dudes are like that."

"We went up to Wes' office and were just sitting down, when four riders came into the ranch yard, two men and two women. One of them was Mrs. Merrifield, and Wes went to the door and called her inside. She was a trim little thing, pretty as a picture with wide blue eyes. Wes introduced her to me and then cleared his throat noisily and found some things on his desk to occupy his attention. She looked from one to the other of us and I could see it was up to me."

"The fact is, Mrs. Merrifield," I said, "something pretty serious has happened." Then I saw there was no use beating around the bush with this young lady, so I blurted: "Your husband's dead. He committed suicide this afternoon."

"I'm a pretty good judge of human nature, but I sure missed the boat as far as this little woman was concerned. She stared at me a minute, then her eyes rolled up into her head and she collapsed like a coat dropped from a hook. Wes swore and opened a door into the living room and bellowed for his wife.

"You shouldn't have given it to her so brutally," he told me angrily.

"Guess not," I agreed. "I had an idea she had more stuff in her. Still, it must be pretty tough to have your husband go out by way of poison at that."

"Then Mrs. Holmes arrived and we carried Simon Merrifield's wife into the living-room and hung around awkwardly while Mrs. Holmes got damp cloths and things and tried to bring her to. After awhile the little woman's eyelids fluttered. She moaned, opened her eyes and tried to sit up.

"Just lie still," Mrs. Holmes soothed, "till you get your strength back."

"Sorry I was so brutally frank," I apologized gruffly. "I thought it would be best to get it over with at once."

"A shudder passed through her frame. 'But what a horrible way to die. Poison! Oh, why didn't he tell me if he was in trouble?'"

"I glanced at Wes, but Wes' face was stony. 'We'd better get outside,' he remarked uncomfortably, and headed for the door.

"Wait a minute," I said. "Hold on here. Little lady, that's about the swellest bit of acting I've ever witnessed. You dangled near got away with it. It's a shame I've got to hold you for the murder of your husband."

"Later in Wes' office, with him still looking startled and dumb, I explained.

"Why, shucks, Wes, don't you remember? When she came to she allowed that being poisoned was a horrible way to die. Now how did she know he was poisoned? She was supposed to be in a dead faint when we mentioned the manner of death."

Soviet Battle Is Clarified

Bitter Russian Fight Depicted, Using United States as Conflict Scene.

NEW YORK.—If the Battle of Russia, which to many Americans' ears may be registering only as a distant rumble of unpronounceable names of unfamiliar cities and rivers, were occurring on the same scale in America instead of the Soviet Union the vastness of the Russian-Nazi battleground would strike home more thoroughly.

Then Chicago would be in the place of Moscow, St. Louis substituted for Stalingrad, and the Ozarks seen as the Caucasus, according to the Russian War Relief, Inc., this city, the organization designated by the President's War Relief Control board to send medical supplies, drugs, concentrated food, clothing and other aid to our Russian allies.

How Dispatch Would Read.

Such a simplified dispatch would read:
CHICAGO.—The battle for St. Louis went into its sixth week today with renewed German attacks on a huge scale. New divisions of Germans were reported to be assailing the American lines over thousands of their own dead. No estimate of United States casualties was released, but defenders of the city were holding out with a heroism and sacrifice beyond description.

On the St. Louis battle hinges control of the Mississippi, America's last North-South transportation route. Some idea of the significance of this route may be obtained from the fact that two-thirds of America's oil has been carried on Mississippi barges since the loss of most of the territory east of the river.

If St. Louis falls, this artery will be severed. German strategy then probably will be to skirt the foothills of the Ozarks and drive ahead to the rich Oklahoma oil fields, major source of America's fuel supply. America would then be dependent on oil shipments from far-off Britain and Russia, with all the attendant shipping difficulties.

Medical Supplies Arriving.

The only bright spot for Americans in today's press were a report of arrival at San Francisco of a consignment of medical supplies and emergency food requirements, sent by American War Relief of Moscow, and news that U. S. troops have pushed back the Germans for several miles around Chicago, which has been besieged for nine months, somewhat relieving the city's position. American forces today stand in this desperate situation:

The United States has lost most of the Eastern states, with their great industrial plants—including three-fifths of the iron ore supply and half the pig iron production capacity, a large portion of the coal mining industry and many of the nation's largest tank, truck, plane and arms factories.

The Germans occupy one-third of the country's agricultural lands, containing 50,000,000 of the richest cultivated acres.

About 40 million people, caught in the swift German advance of last summer, are rebellious slaves of the invaders.

Forty Million Evacuated Westward. Another 40 million were evacuated westward, along with industrial equipment, machinery, farm tools, and supplies—even including one whole blast furnace.

As a result of the migration, it is believed agricultural production this year will be sufficient to keep Americans fed through the coming winter, though on a lower level than formerly.

Despite such hardships, there is no sign that Americans have lost any of their determination to fight to victory. Two-thirds of the women in unoccupied America are working for the war effort as much as 12 and 13 hours a day—20 million of them in agriculture, 19 million in industry, and 11 million in the auxiliary army services.

Restoring Wounded to Action.

One of the amazing things about this war has been the record set by the American Army Medical services. Seventy per cent of the wounded have been restored to action, and the surgeon general expects this figure to rise above 80 per cent, only 1.5 per cent of the wounded have died.

The surgeon general warns, however, that this record can be kept up only if there is a steady stream of medical and surgical supplies from the outside world, for the vast number of casualties has drained reserves of these vital goods.

Cripple Can't Go to War So He Gives Army His Dog

PELHAM, N. Y.—Crippled by an infected hip as the result of a football injury two years ago, 21-year-old Robert Milfan can't go to war, much as he wants to.

So he is doing the next best thing—sending a representative. He has given his dog, Brian Boru, a handsome three-year-old setter named for the warrior king of Ireland, to Dogs for Defense, Inc., to be trained for army duty.

EVERY DRIVER CAN HELP

KEEP 'EM ROLLING

WAR, 1943 style, is war on wheels. Men, weapons and materials vital to victory must be moved swiftly, safely and without delay.

But each day accidents at grade crossings in America injure or kill 19 motorists and delay 38 trains a total of 22 hours—a drain on manpower and time that a nation at war simply cannot afford.

Will you, as a patriotic driver, enlist in the nationwide campaign now under way to stop these accidents? Here's how you can help:

1. Be extra careful—wartime careful—in all your driving.
2. Be especially alert when approaching a grade crossing.
3. Be sure the way is clear before you cross the tracks.

TO: The American People FROM: The Secretary of the Treasury

A report on the most tremendous financing task in history - - - the Second War Loan

DURING the three weeks between April 12 and May 1, the American people tackled the biggest job of financing in the history of the world.

In these three weeks it was proposed to raise the sum of 13 billion dollars, or more than half as much as was raised by five drives in the first world war.

It was obvious that the task was hopeless unless the people of the nation were desperately in earnest about the war. And it was equally obvious that here was, so to speak, a thermometer by which the fervor of the people could be measured with reasonable accuracy.

This is why we believe you, as an American citizen, can take pride in this report. For it was written solely by you, the people.

The result, in dollars

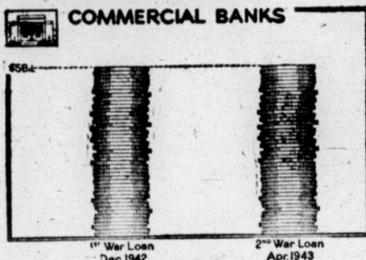

Our goal was 13 billion dollars. Actually, the American people subscribed 18 billion, 500 million dollars.

This was 90% as much as was raised in all five drives of the first world war combined.

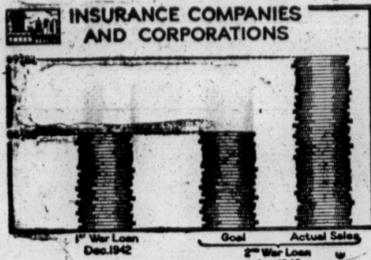

It was, I think, as much a victory for America and the free American democracy as any military triumph.

Where did the money come from? You will be interested in where this 18½ billion dollars came from—for every dollar invested in War Bonds is more than a purchase; it is a demonstration of faith.

The chart below shows the portion of the 18½ billion that came from commercial banks. They were eager to buy more, but were limited to set amounts:

Insurance Companies and other Corporations know that there is no sounder investment than a U. S. Bond. The chart (top of next column) shows their purchases:

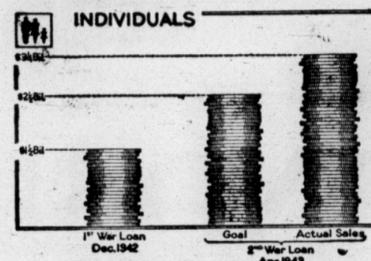

Naturally, it was your money that bought the bonds in the two groups above—for you are the people who put your money in banks and invest in insurance.

But how about what might be called your "personal" money.

That is a very important question, for it is vital that Americans, as individuals, buy War Bonds with all they can spare.

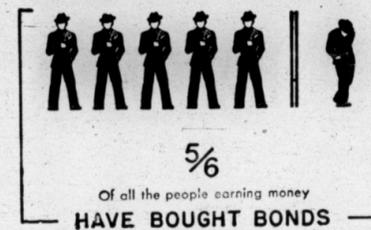

Our goal, here, was 2½ billion dollars. The chart below tells the story:

50 million bondholders

To review your record to date, almost half our entire population own at least one bond—including infants, children, the lame, the halt and the blind.

Or, to look at it in terms of those best able to buy bonds, see the chart below:

Of all the people earning money
HAVE BOUGHT BONDS

Who gets the credit?

The credit for the 2nd War Loan goes to the people.

It goes to the children who put dimes and quarters into war stamps. To everyone who bought a bond. To thousands of patriotic banking people. To advertising people who donated their creative talents. To patriotic merchants and companies who paid the bill for war bond messages. To radio stations, newspapers, movies, outdoor advertising companies, and publications.

But chiefly, perhaps, to those who turned voluntary bond salesmen—a loyal legion of patriots.

10 out of every 1,000 men and women in the US were

What lies ahead?

Yes, America's record is good. But we cannot become complacent—for our biggest financing job lies ahead.

In the first 4 months of this year, we raised 25 billion dollars. During the balance of this year we must raise 45 billion dollars more.

The war is costing us 100 billion dollars this year. Part of this will come from taxes, and the balance must come from War Loans.

You, as an American, can take pride in what you have done. You have shown the Axis that Americans on the home front, like Americans on the battle front, will do all that is required of them—and more.

But our need is great. Dig as deeply as you possibly can and invest it in War Bonds now—either through the Payroll Savings Plan or through special purchases. Don't wait for "drives."

We must win this war with bayonets—and with dollars. We who stay home in safety must provide the dollars—all that are needed. It is the very least we can do.

WOMEN TO BE TRAINED AS BUS DRIVERS BY ARNOLD

An additional opportunity to participate in the war effort is being offered the women of Arlington and Fairfax Counties by the Washington, Virginia & Maryland Coach Company.

Because of the manpower shortage in the Washington vicinity, the Arnold Operated Lines have employed Mrs. V. J. Burdette, a specialist in the mobilization of women in essential industries, as Employment Officer. Mr. T. T. Rudacille, formerly in charge of employment for the company, will in the future devote his full time to the training of new male and female employees brought into the company under its new program.

"We do not want anyone to feel that this new move on the part of the Arnold Operated Lines will in any way affect our employment of men wherever they are available," Mrs. Burdette stated today. "We still need male bus drivers, mechanics, etc., but when they cannot be obtained we shall give these opportunities for service in an essential industry to women. We will employ women in those jobs where men can be released for heavier duty. Our studies of tasks in the company are now complete, and we are accepting applications to fill these positions. Both full-time and part-time jobs are available. The work will be pleasant, and those who are selected for our new program will be paid while learning their jobs."

"To the husband who is hesitant to accept the necessity of his wife's doing her part in a position previously held by a man, we want to say that your wife will be placed in the kind of work that will not endanger her health. She will have the kind of surroundings you would approve of if you were employing your wife yourself."

FILM DEALS WITH ROMANTIC KILLER

A romantic murderer, living with distant relatives who are unaware of his crimes, provides the dramatic motivation for Alfred Hitchcock's "Shadow of a Doubt" coming to the Pitts Theatre. Declared to be more suspenseful than any of the previous Hitchcock pictures, the new Universal film co-stars Teresa Wright and Joseph Cotten.

Miss Wright appeared recently in "Mrs. Miniver" and "Pride of the Yankees." Cotten scored in "Citizen Kane," "The Magnificent Ambersons" and "Journey Into Fear." Others in the large cast are Macdonald Carey, Patricia Collinge, Henry Travers and Wallace Ford.

"Shadow of a Doubt" is presented by Jack H. Skirball Productions.

Harvesters Gather In Bear and Snake

ENTERPRISE, ORE.—Three members of a harvest crew jumped off their combine and ducked into an apple orchard. They met a bear coming out. Pursued by the bear, they raced back to the combine, climbed on and found the fourth crewman beating off a rattlesnake that was trying to crawl aboard. They wanted apples.

Census Bureau Reports 18,907 Suicides in 1940

WASHINGTON.—Suicides totaled 18,907 in 1940, a rate of 14.4 for each 100,000 of population, the census bureau reported. This compared with a rate of 10.2 in 1900 and the peak of 17.4 in 1932.

The bureau offered these statistics about self-destruction: More than three-fourths of suicides are males.

The Chinese ratio is highest of all—45.2 for each 100,000—while the Indian rate is 8.4 (refers to Chinese and Indians in America).

April has the highest suicide level, January the lowest.

Nevada has the highest rate—40.8 for each 100,000 of population, while South Carolina and Arkansas tie at the bottom with a rate of 6.3.

Save Coal by Cleaning, Fixing Furnaces Now, Public Urged

HERE'S a job householders (even housewives) can do now to help stretch the nation's vital coal supply, and at the same time cut the family coal bill next winter by at least 10 per cent, according to Anthracite Industries, Inc., consumer educational organization of the anthracite industry.

First, clean fly ash, or dust from all heating surfaces (as shown in the cross-section furnace drawing upper left). This will save as much as 10 per cent of your annual coal bill. Ash acts like insulation and wastes heat. The surfaces are reached through the clean-out door and a long-handled fly-cleaning brush, or a vacuum cleaner brush and hose attachment can be used. Brush the surfaces well.

Second, cement all air leaks with furnace cement. Use a candle flame to locate leaks when you start your fire next fall by passing the flame around seams and joints at places indicated in diagram at right. When the flame is drawn toward the furnace you have found a leak. When leaks are fixed your furnace will draw better, and you'll get more heat from your coal.

This work used to be done by dealers, but the wartime manpower shortage, and the fact that it is impossible for many to do it today. They will be kept busy doing repairs householders can't make.
