DIDLAKE REVIEWS KIWANIS HISTORY

TED DIDLAKE PRESENTS CLUB
HISTORY AT DINNER HELD AT PRINCE WILLIAM HOTEL

The history of the Manassas Kiwanis Club from the time of its organization nineteen years ago was presented by Ted Didlake at last Friday's meeting at the Prince William Hotel.

As a result of efforts led by Raymond Ratcliffe, the local club was organized at the Parish Hall on October 17, 1924, with a large delegation from the Alexandria club in attendance. With Mr. Ratcliffe as president and Jim Bradford as secretary, the club started off on that date with the following 37 charter members: David Arrington, Winfield Athey, Hill Brown, Arthur Boatwright, Jim Bradford, Terry Curtis, George Cocke, Ed Conner, Ted Didlake, Harry Davis, Stuart Gibson, Dick Hynson, L. F. Hough, Fred Hynson, Robert Hutchison, Al Hooff, C. R. C. Johnson, Charlie Lynn, Percival Lewis, Jack Leachman, Tom Lion, Bill Lloyd, James Larkin, Bill Leachman, Charles McDonald, Luther Moser, Elmer Metz, Dr. Emlin Marsteller, E. C. Nash, Lynn Robertson, Raymond Ratcliffe, Eli Swavely, Harry Saunders, Ernest Trusler, O. D. Waters, W. N. Wenrich and Bruce Whitmore. Ten of the men in the original group are still active members, nine are deceased and six have moved from the county. The club has never had a larger active membership than 30 or less than 30.

There have been eighteen presidents in the order named: Raymond Ratcliffe, 1924, 1925 and 1926; Eli Swavely, 1927; Fred Hynson, 1928; Ted Didlake, 1929; Robert Hutchison, 1930; Dr. C. R. C. Johnson, 1931; Al Hooff, 1932; Dick Hynson, 1933; O. D. Waters, 1934; Hunton Tiffany, 1935; Dick Hynson, 1936; Jim Bradford, 1937; Bill Lloyd, 1938; Ed Conner, 1939; David Arrington, 1940; Frank Sigman, 1941; Ernest Trusler, 1942, and Worth Peters, 1943.

The club has had six secretaries during its existence. Jim Bradford served from its organization until January 1, 1927, and was followed by Dick Haydon who served two years. Haydon was succeeded by Frank Sigman who served two years until January 1, 1931. Jim Bradford then served five more years until January 1, 1936, and was followed by Frank Sigman in 1937, 1938 and 1939. Bucky Harris served in 1941 and was succeeded by Dick Graham. Jack Royer, the present secretary, followed Graham who entered the army as a chaplain in 1943.

The time given to Mr. Didlake did not permit his reviewing the enterprises and undertakings to which the club has given its support. Assistance to underprivileged children has been one of its outstanding services. Kiwanis is one of the organizations of Prince William County that has stood together and maintained its activities for nearly twenty years.

TO SPEAK ON ALLIED YOUTH TO SPEAK AT NOKESVILLE

W. Roy Breg, executive secretary of Allied Youth, is scheduled to speak in the assembly at Nokesville High School October 25, at 11:30 A. M.

Mr. Breg is scheduled to speak at the morning worship services of the Valley and Nokesville Churches of the Brethren at ten and eleven o'clock respectively Sunday morning, October 24. He will speak at the Bealeton High School at 4:45, 7:00 and 8:00 p. m. to those attending the Eastern Virginia Youth Round Table Conference of the Church of the Brethren. It is also hoped that arrangements can be made for Mr. Breg to speak to the students of the Calverton, Manassas and Fairfax High Schools on Monday, October 25.

Allied Youth, with headquarters in the National Education Association Building in Washington, D. C., is a national organization interested in alcohol education and alcohol-free recreation for young people. Recognizing that alcohol is a serious problem for young people today, Allied Youth helps them meet the problem through local school units, known as Allied Youth Posts, which are engaged in new and interesting forms of alcohol education and alcohol-free recreation.

In the last several years Mr. Breg has reached 950 high schools and has spoken to hundreds of thousands of high school young people. The response young people make to the program indicates that Allied Youth is meeting a real need in an effective way.

MILK, BUTTER AND BUTTERFAT PRODUCERS ADVISED TO KEEP SALES RECORDS AND RECEIPTS

On October 13, the War Food Administration, announced the direct subsidy rates to be paid dairy farmers for their October, November and December production.

Dairymen in this area will receive 40 cents per hundredweight for milk delivered for sale. Where producers deliver butterfat, the rate in this area is five cents per butterfat pound. Producers who sell butter to consumers, local stores, etc., will be paid 80 per cent of the rate on butterfat since there are approximately four pounds of butterfat in five pounds of butter.

Producers who sell butter will need receipts from buyers to give evidence of the sale. Producer-handlers who retail milk will submit lists of customers and other evidence of sales. Monthly settlement statements from the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association will be ample evidence of sales for Association shippers.

PRE-INDUCTION COURSES IN AUTO DRIVING

State Pre-Induction High School Driver Education

A typical high school classroom session of the Pre-Induction Driver Education Course recommended by the Army and urged by State authorities in pre-induction training of military motor vehicle operators. High schools throughout the State are now setting up these courses, which will save the Army vitally needed time and hasten victory.

NAVY CRUISER COMING

The people of Manassas and the surrounding counties will have the opportunity Monday, October 25 of learning more about their new Navy when the super mobile Recruiting Cruiser arrives in Manassas. This new recruiting cruiser of the Navy is scheduled to arrive at 9:00 a. m. and will remain until 1 p. m. on Tuesday. The cruiser, costing the Navy Department approximately $10,000, and weighing around 8,500 pounds was built in order that the interested applicants for naval service might find out more about Navy life from the people who are now serving with Uncle Sam's men in blue.

Lieutenant (j.g.) Baker W. Armstrong, Officer in Charge of the Cruiser will direct the activities of the personnel stationed aboard. Each night while the Cruiser is on its long journey, that will cover a large portion of the state, movies will be shown to the thousands of people who attend the meetings sponsored by the Navy.

Free booklets and information bulletins will be distributed in Manassas by the Cruiser personnel, and someone will always be on board to answer questions regarding enlistment in the Naval Service. With the present need for skilled construction men in the SEABEES, and 17 years olds for general service, a great deal of time will be devoted to these two branches of the Navy by all hands attached to the Cruiser. Young ladies between the ages of 20 and 36 years who wish to aid their country in its present struggle may receive complete information regarding their enlistment in the WAVES from personnel aboard the Cruiser.

CHIEF FRIX SAYS

In the opinion of Chief Specialist Alton Frix The Navy Recruiter, a boy 17 years old is very wise to volunteer for the Navy while he still has a chance to choose.

It is easier now than ever to qualify for one of the many trade schools, and Chief Frix says thousands of the finest boys in the country are continuing their education at the Navy's expense.

He is in Manassas every Thursday and will be happy to interview any 17 year old boy or their parents.

SAVE ALL FATS

Hunton Tiffany, Co-ordinator of Prince William County Civilian Defense Council, requests that the citizens of this County back our boys at the front by saving all waste fats and delivering it to their meat dealers, for which they will be allowed three cents per pound. It is not necessary to wait until you have a large supply on hand. Take in one or two pounds. The Co-ordinator states that Prince William County has been assigned a monthly quota of 1,350 pounds. In order to fill this quota it is necessary that each housewife see that no waste fats are allowed to go into the drain pipe or garbage can.

Waste fats contain an essential war material—glycerine. Our pre-war source of supply of glycerine from the Pacific areas has been largely cut off, and our need for glycerine is greater than ever. Our supply has not given out yet but it is running low and the stock must be replenished. We are told by the authorities in Washington that if every household saved just one tablespoonful of waste fat every day, all our needs for glycerine would be met. It is urged that each household co-operate in attaining our quota of 1,350 pounds monthly.

MR. GORDON NOW
STATIONED IN RICHMOND

Howard H. Gordon, who for the past four years has been Regional Director of the Farm Security Administration in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina, with headquarters at Raleigh, N. C., has arrived in Richmond to take up his duties on the administrative staff of Southern States Cooperative as Director of Personnel and Public Relations. He is a native of Guilford County, North Carolina.

Mr. Gordon comes to the cooperative with 24 years of experience in agricultural work. After graduating from North Carolina State College in 1919, Mr. Gordon moved to Amelia County where he farmed for five years before going to the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service for a two-year period. Subsequently he joined the staff of the V. P. I. Extension Service as Agricultural Engineer. Since 1934 Mr. Gordon has been connected with the Resettlement Administration which became the Farm Security Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture. For a year of this time he served as Assistant Director of Rural Rehabilitation in the Washington office.

"Mr. Gordon was regarded as one of the top flight officials in the Farm Security Administration," W. G. Wysor, Richmond, Va., general manager of Southern States Cooperative, said in announcing Mr. Gordon's affiliation with Southern States, "and his name was frequently mentioned as the probable successor to C. B. Baldwin who resigned recently as National Farm Security Administrator to accept President Roosevelt's appointment as Area Director of Economic Operations for Italy. Mr. Gordon is widely known in Virginia both for his work in the Farm Security Administration and in the Extension Service of V. P. I. He will make his headquarters in Richmond."

POT LUCK SUPPER A SUCCESS

STATE SPONSORS PRE-INDUCTION COURSES IN DRIVING

Announcement of pre-induction driver education courses in the high schools throughout the State, to be sponsored by the State Departments of Education and Police and the Division of Motor Vehicles, is made October 11 by the heads of the three departments, Dr. Imbrey S. Lancaster, Major Charles W. Woodson, Jr., and Commissioner Crawley F. Joyner, Jr. Courses will be begun within the next ten days in all high schools where they are desired.

In a joint statement announcing the proposed courses, Dr. Lancaster explained that Army officials have suggested that if basic preparatory training could be given in high schools a major contribution to the war effort would be made, since plans call for every fourth American soldier to be a military transport operator. In an army of ten million men this means that two and one-half million soldiers will be trained in the various types of motor transport duties. The proposed courses for high school students will include both the civilian and military aspects of motor vehicle operation. The military to be taught from an instruction manual developed by the Quartermaster General of the United States Army and furnished to teachers upon request. It covers the military role of the motor vehicle, driver qualifications, motor vehicle construction, elementary driving, map reading, motor marches and special driving techniques. The civilian aspects will be taught from the manual "Man and Motor Car", originally used by the Army for driver training before their own material was assembled.

All high school students who successfully complete the proposed courses and pass the prescribed written examinations will be awarded certificates provided by the Division of Motor Vehicles and issued in duplicate by the schools. One certificate will exempt the student from the written examination required for an operator's driving permit and the other may be presented by the student at any Army induction center when questioned about his special qualifications.

Specialists from the Department of State Police, many of whom have received special Army driver training, will explain the nature and scope of the course to all superintendents and principals of high schools who desire it. Major Woodson expressed his pleasure in cooperating in a program to prepare students for a more useful military role now, and for safer driving in post-war years. Commissioner Joyner said he "had long been of the opinion that pre-driver education in our high schools is the most certain remedy for highway accidents. A material service will be done our boys and girls if, through these courses we now aid the war effort and set a post-war pattern of training."

FINE ARTS TO MEET

The Fine Arts Section of the Woman's Club will meet Tuesday night, October 26, at 8:00 o'clock at the home of the Chairman, Mrs. T. J. Broadbuss. She will be assisted as co-hostess by Miss Margaret Lynch.

The members of the Section have been looking forward to hearing this program as it promises to be a very interesting one, and it is hoped that all members of the Section will be present, and also all Club members are invited to attend.

On Top of the World!

YES, she's on top of the world... her fairyland world of fun and play and rides on Daddy's shoulder.

It's a world of glorious new adventures by day... of song and love and laughter... of peace and pleasant dreams at night... a world that knows no hate or hunger, no fear of sudden death, no terror of families torn apart.

It's the kind of a world that the 42,000 men and women of the Southern Railway System are fighting for... repairing cars and locomotives in record-breaking time... finding new and better ways to "railroad"... always managing, somehow, to do "the impossible."

For they know... these men and women of the Southern Railway... that, by doing these things, they are helping to win the war.

They know, too, that they are learning how better to serve the Greater South that will emerge with Victory... the Southland in which the little children will truly be "on top of the world"... laughing and playing without fear... and growing up in a veritable fairyland of exciting new opportunities for all.

"SLIGHTLY DANGEROUS" STARS TURNER, YOUNG IN COMEDY

"Slightly Dangerous," now showing at Pitts Theatre, brings Lana Turner and Robert Young together "for laughing purposes only," although they also figure in a romantic love story. It provides the maddest, merriest farce either has ever been seen in.

Miss Turner plays a soda clerk in a store of which Young is manager. He reprimands her for mixing sodas blindfolded so she leaves town and goes to New York—poses as an amnesia victim, and convinces a millionaire there that she is his long lost daughter. Walter Brennan plays the millionaire. Young is blamed for her "suicide," and must produce her to save his job. Therefore he sets out to expose her amnesia ruse, and amid turbulent and laughable episodes they discover that they're in love.

As for Lana's situation with long-lost daddy Brennan, a compromise works out a happy solution for all.

Turner as a comedienne, shows a rare gift, and is very beautiful in a gorgeous Irene-designed wardrobe. Young is perfect as the harassed store manager. Brennan plays a "doting sugar daddy" effectively and comically. Eugene Pallette, Howard Freeman, Dame May Whitty, Millard Mitchell, Ward Bond, Pamela Blake, Ray Collins, Florence Bates and Alan Mowbray efficiently aid and abet the laugh-making.

Wesley Ruggles directed with his usual deft skill at comedy, and Harold Rosson photographed Miss Turner beautifully. Bronislau Kaper contributed a biting musical score.

Produced for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer by Pandro S. Berman from a screen play is an original by Charles Lederer and George Oppenheimer.

Julia says—Let the Children Cook

LAST MONTH, in one of these columns, I talked about the way youngsters like to put up their own school lunches. And, to tell the truth, I was amazed at the number of readers—both young and old—who wrote me afterward. Almost everyone was quick to point out that the younger generation not only likes to pack lunches, but also gets real satisfaction from various kinds of practical cooking.

More than one reader added this very timely thought: nowadays, when so many mothers are busy with war work, it's a real family help when the children take an active part in making the kitchen run smoothly. It gives them the feeling of "doing something" important, too.

I've found through my own experience that youngsters make creditable cooks provided they're not hurried and provided they start out on things they really like.

And these are a "natural" for girls to start out on:

BONNIE DEE COOKIES
2 cups enriched flour
1/2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups quick oats
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup coarsely chopped nutmeats
3/4 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk

Sift flour, measure and sift with dry ingredients; add oats, raisins and nutmeats. Cream shortening with sugar; add well-beaten eggs and milk; combine with flour mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 min. Makes 6 dozen.

One of the best things for boys to try their kitchen skill on is waffles and pancakes—but warn them not to "peek" while baking waffles, and not to turn pancakes until they are fairly full of bubble holes on top.

THE HOLY BIBLE

We have just celebrated Bible Week

Never before have the Scriptures meant more to mankind than they do today, and we may well pause reverently to consider the nature of the Book of Books and its importance in the world.

Bearing in mind that religion does not come from the Bible, but the Bible from religion, we should view the Book as the sacred history of God's Church, which may be said to date from the righteous Abel. Before the Flood worship of the True God seems to have been confined chiefly to the family of Seth, from whom Noah descended. After the Flood the Church was largely the inheritance of the family of Shem, down to Abraham and his descendants for some sixteen hundred years to the time of the Prophet Nehemiah, about four hundred years before the birth of Christ.

The New Testament, as the Old, was written by Hebrew people, for the earliest Christians were Jews, and the earthly inheritance of Christ Himself was of the royal line of David.

To the Hebrew people, therefore, we are indebted for our fundamental religious concepts. To the Church of Rome we are deeply indebted for the preservation of the early Christian writings through the Dark Ages, and all Protestant Denominations are indebted to the Episcopal Church for the transmission of the Bible to them in their conversational language.

The power and goodness of God was first written in the microscopic structure of the rocks of the earth, and in the tissues of all living things; but man has yet to acquire sufficient wisdom and understanding to read this eternal message. So, in the meantime,

LETTER FROM THE FRONT

Extract from letter from Lieut. R. D. Whitley (MC) U. S. N., Naval Operating Base, Adak, Alaska.
To Mrs. J. S. Lunsford, Sr.
Manassas, Va.

September 30, 1943

Dear Mother Lunsford:

Sorry I am so long in answering your letter. It went to Attu first and was delayed in getting back here.

Not long afterward I went on inspection tour of the Aleutians and was gone for three weeks—busy travelling and inspecting all the time. I had a very interesting trip. Spent about a week on Attu and went over recent battlefields there and collected quite a few souvenirs of the recent Jap occupation. Quite a bit of the trip was by plane and the islands I didn't get to visit I viewed from the air.

I have now seen all the islands west of Dutch Harbor.

Being flight surgeon to the station I get in quite a bit of flying.

The weather is such however it isn't much fun up here—very risky.

My work here is very interesting and they usually keep me going from morning 'till night. However, it helps the time to pass more quickly.

They say the weather up here is the worst in the world and I certainly believe it. It is a rare sight when you see the sun—fog, rain and more fog.

It is cool most of the time and I guess the sleet and snow is not far away.

All in all it is a very desolate place, not a tree to be seen on any of the islands.

The hills and mountains are covered with deep, thick moss in which you sink up to your knees.

Give Floyd and Early my best regards when you write and remember me to the rest of the family.

Love,
RALPH

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT BY MANASSAS CHAPTER U.D.C. FOR MISS JUDITH CONSTANCE HENRY

Whereas:

It becomes our sad duty, through the mysterious workings of a Divine Providence, to chronicle the death of a young and esteemed member of our Organization: Judith Constance Henry—

Therefore be it resolved:

That we extend our sincere sympathy to her devoted family and friends.

That she was of a gentle, lovable nature; educated and refined in manner.

Literary in her taste and spent much time in reading.

Early in life she united with the Episcopal Church and was a faithful follower of its tenets.

That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Chapter; and a copy tendered her bereaved mother.

Committee:

Mrs. A. O. Weedon
Mrs. Marshall Douglas
Mrs. Keen Wells

MAUDE LARKIN ASHFORD

On the morning of Friday, October 1, death came after a lingering illness to a very sweet and gentle lady, Mrs. Maude Larkin Ashford.

She was born in the city of Lynchburg, February 2, 1865 and was therefore in the 79th year of her life, being the daughter of the late Lucien and Sally Norvell Larkin.

When she was a girl her family moved to Larkington, an estate near Manassas and here she grew up into a valued member of the community. She was very active in her church work, being a member of Trinity Episcopal Church, and had been a president of the local chapter of The Daughters of the Confederacy. In April, 1900, she married Mr. Thos. Jackson Ashford who survives her.

Mrs. Ashford was descended from a long line of notable Virginians and she was very proud of her ancestry, and had every right to be as she was a direct descendant of the famous Norvell family.

Her funeral was held at Trinity Church, and the Rev. Mr. Faulkner officiated. Her body was escorted to her last resting place by the local chapter of The Daughters of the Confederacy who were her honorary pallbearers.

Mrs. Ashford was a lady in every sense of the word—birth, breeding and gentleness. The community has suffered a loss that can not be remedied.

DO WHAT YOU CAN FOR GREEK WAR RELIEF

While we are helping the various war relief projects, this newspaper especially invites attention to the needs of Greek sufferers.

All civilized people know of the tragic fate of Greece and of the desperate plight of the heroic people of that unfortunate country.

Their countrymen here are only modestly asking for donations of clothing, and we urge our friends to help.

The local Greek War Relief Committee is making the following appeal:

"The Greek War Relief Association is asking for donations of clothing of all kinds, particularly coats, shoes, and underwear, for suffering Greek population.

"The storeroom at No. 515 C. St., in the rear of the Quantico Railroad Station will be open from 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. Please leave donations there, as the local Committee has no means of calling for your gifts.

42 V.P.S. EMPLOYEES AWARDED TREASURY CITATIONS FOR WAR BOND AND STAMP SALES

Retail sales of more than $25,000 worth of War Bonds and Stamps were made through local offices of Virginia Public Service Company during the Third War Loan Drive.

Approximately fifty of the company's cashiers and bookkeepers participated in the "Retailers War Program" sponsored by the U. S. Treasury, and forty-two employees, who sold at least $200.00 worth of Bonds and Stamps each, were awarded "Citation Cards".

Miss Jeanette Page of Buena Vista, Virginia, was the leading saleslady, with $3,963.85 worth of Bonds and Stamps sold during the campaign.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

When the American Expeditionary Force landed in Ireland recently newspapers reported the citizenry remarked at the similarity of the steel helmets worn by our boys with those worn by German troops. These steel hats are protection from shrapnel fragments and other light missiles. We need thousands of them for they are a regular issue to every American soldier.

A smart strap fastens under the chin and they are padded for comfort. One steel helmet costs $5 so every time you fill a $5 stamp book you are buying protection for an American soldier. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. Help your community reach its War Bond Quota.

LAW IN REFERENCE TO PASSING SCHOOL BUSES WHEN LOADING AND UNLOADING

At the 1942 General Assembly the law relating to meeting or passing a school bus while was amended, and may be found in section 61 (b) 5 of the Motor Vehicle's Code as follows:

Any person who fails to stop at a school bus while taking on or discharging school children, whether going in the same direction or the opposite direction and to remain stopped until all school children are clear of the highway is guilty of reckless driving."

WON'T YOU HELP US ENFORCE HIS LAW FOR THE SAFETY OF YOUR CHILDREN?

Are you entitled to wear a "target" lapel button? You are if you are investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. It's your badge of patriotism.

CONCERNING PULLMAN RESERVATIONS

As a wartime measure to provide better service for military and essential business travelers, the Southern Railway System, in concert with the Eastern Railroads, has adopted a new plan for handling advance reservations for space in Pullmans and reserved seats in coaches. Effective at once, no reservations or requests for reservations will be accepted more than 30 days in advance.

With half the Pullmans and a third of the coaches assigned exclusively to troop movements, and with business travel at an all-time peak, there has been a shortage of train space throughout the country. This has been especially true during week ends and holidays, with thousands of men and women in uniform traveling on furlough, and with business men seeking to make necessary trips without the loss of a business day.

Faced with the greatest transportation task in history, the railroads are tapping every resource of ingenuity and efficiency. Reservation bureaus are being expanded. Schools have been set up for training personnel. Available Pullmans and coaches are being serviced and turned around so speedily that cars now handle nearly four times their peacetime passenger volume.

The new 30-day reservation plan is the latest of these wartime efficiency steps. Added to the measures already taken, it should help to provide better service for all essential travel.

GAINESVILLE

Miss Virginia Dunn of Washington spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dunn. She was accompanied back to the city by her sister, Mrs. Osie Byrd.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hunsberger and Joan of Clifton spent the week end with her parents at Sonoma Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham of Washington spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Piercy.

Lt. William Amos Wood of Texas and Sgt. Raymond (John) Roger Wood of Idaho both recently spent their furloughs with their mother, Mrs. Myrtle P. Wood.

Cpl. Andrew F. Smith of Stout Field, Indiana was an over night guest of his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Baker and family spent a few days last week with Mr. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Baker of Haymarket. Timothy had the misfortune to have an infected finger and couldn't work. Master Charles Robinson has returned home from Doctor's Hospital and is doing fine.

One of our every two families have at least two workers. Figure it out yourself how much beyond 10 percent of your family income you can put into War Bonds every payday.

Wreath Honors Virginia Chaplain

ICELAND—The grave of Chaplain (Major) Robert H. Humphrey is decorated by the Rev. Dr. William B. Pugh in the course of his visit here to take up the mission of the late Bishop Adna Wright Leonard to overseas chaplains. Bishop Leonard, Chaplain Humphrey and Chaplain (Colonel) Frank T. Miller, a Presbyterian, lost their lives in a plane crash last May in which Lt. Gen. Frank M. Andrews and ten other officers and soldiers were killed. All were buried here in Foss-vour Cemetery.

Chaplain Humphrey was a member of the Virginia Conference of The Methodist Church. He had been in service in England, but upon Bishop Leonard's arrival, as a denominational courtesy, had been assigned as aide to the Methodist bishop. He was from Lynchburg.

Dr. Pugh, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., was chosen chairman both of the General Commission on Army and Navy Chaplains and the Service Men's Christian League to succeed Bishop Leonard. His mission as the representative of the Protestant churches of the United States to their men abroad will continue another month.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Hyman Epstein knew that after wounding a man the Japs around Sanananda were withholding their fire, using the injured soldier for bait until unarmed medical aides like himself came into range. Yet again and again he crept out under sniper fire to rescue wounded comrades until at last the Japs got him. "That kid was the best," his commander said of determined little Hyman Epstein. One Job Well Done Begets Another

THERE'S no satisfaction in all the world like the feeling of having done a job well—of being able to see the results of your work. This is one thing that all producers of useful things have in common.

And those of us whose job is production—whether of goods on farms and in factories, or of services in stores and banks and utilities—can best see the results of our work in the high standard of living which we have helped to create in America. For this standard is built on our ability to produce more per person than any other nation on earth. And the people of every country, who are looking hopefully to us for food and weapons, can count on America because it has this great productive might.

After the war is over? Many people are talking about a richer life for all of us then. And they're right! For that richer life will be brought about, not by promises, but by hard work on the part of America's producers. And they—those who grow and make, and do things—can do this post-war job better if they work together and understand each other. General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Slow Bake Saves Food From Pests

It is better to put dried foods in the oven at the first suspicion of insect attack than to put it in the garbage pail after insects have multiplied in it, say entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Instead of endangering such valuable wartime foods as cereal, flour, dried beans, dried fruit, put these foods in the oven for a heat treatment that will not harm the food but will prevent waste from insects. Packaged food may be put in the oven in its original container, sealed or open. Beans, whole grains, dried peppers or nut meats may be spread out in a shallow pan for heating. Twenty minutes in a slow oven at 150 degrees F. will save food from meal moths, brown beetles, bean weevils, dried fruit mites, and most other pantry pests. To prevent scorching the food, prop the oven door open a few inches.

Dried food kept in tight containers like screw-top pails, tightly covered tins, or moisture-proof sealed paper cartons is safe from insects. If not in these safe containers food may need a slow heat treatment once a month to save it from pests. Open packages of cereal and dried fruit should be used up before opening more.

A few neglected crumbs in a crack or bits of fruit or flour may keep pests alive in the kitchen or pantry. Keep cracks and corners clean. Each month scrub all shelves where food is stored using a stiff brush and soap and water.

A new folder called "Why Feed the Insects" gives simple directions with pictures for protecting dried foods in the home. The folder is free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Green Tomato Pickles

6 quarts green tomatoes, washed and sliced thick, ½ cup salt, 6 small onions sliced, 1 pound white sugar, cider vinegar to cover, 2 tablespoons whole cloves, 2 tablespoons whole allspice, and 2 hot red peppers chopped. Or use 2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice. Sprinkle salt over mally only about 15 or 20 million are used. War has increased the demand for feathers and also indirectly cut down the supply because of the shift in marketing poultry from large packing plants, equipped to salvage feathers, to smaller dressing establishments. Department of Agriculture scientists have been working on an inexpensive preservative for feathers which small plants can use to keep feathers from spoiling. Such plants can then hold feathers until they have a supply large enough for wholesale shipment to feather processors.

sliced tomatoes and let stand overnight. Drain off juice. Put tomatoes in a kettle with other ingredients, having spices tied in cheesecloth bag. Cover with cider vinegar. Bring just to scalding and simmer until the tomatoes are just tender. Remove bag of spices. Pack hot in hot sterilized jars.

Tree Nuts This Fall

The average American before the war ate a pound and a third of tree nuts a year. This year he will eat only about a pound because nut supplies are smaller, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates. Such nuts as cashews from India and Brazil from South America, formerly imported by the thousands of tons, are now coming in very small quantities or not at all. Almonds and walnuts that used to be shipped in from Asia and Europe have also been cut off by the war.

Nut trees in this country, however, are producing several large crops this year. Walnuts, pecans and filberts will all be more plentiful this fall than last. Over 63 thousand tons on English walnuts will be coming from California and Oregon—19 per cent more than average. Pecans from southern states will total close to 50 thousand tons. Filberts, cultivated only in Washington and Oregon, will have a record crop of over 6 thousand tons. The almond crop this year is not as large as the record crop last year, but will be above average at 17 thousand tons.

Though nut harvesting begins in September, few nuts will be selling in retail markets until about Halloween. Prices probably will be somewhat higher than last year but not as high as present prices. About four-fifths of the walnut crop sells at retail, most of it in the shell, and the other fifth to bakers, confectioners, ice cream makers or other food manufacturers. On the other hand, over half the pecan crop is shelled commercially and most of these pecan meats go to food manufacturers. A large part of the almond crop is also shelled and the nuts used in nut bars and other candies and for salting.

Feathers on Two Fronts

Feathers are being called to new duties both on the battle front and the home front these days according to H. L. Shrader, poultry specialist on the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The armed forces are using feathers for camouflage equipment, sleeping bags, aviator's jackets, and pillows for hospitals, barracks, and ships, and soon may be using them in surgery. For the past two years all new goose and duck feathers have been frozen by the Government for military use, but civilians are allowed the second-hand stock and chicken and turkey feathers. Down, the fine underfeathers of ducks and geese, is one of the softest, lightest, warmest materials on earth, so makes ideal filling for sleeping bags for soldiers in the Arctic and for jackets for aviators flying in the cold of high altitudes. The larger goose and duck feathers are going into hospital pillows because they hold their spring and do not pack down and become lumpy with hard wear.

Recently chicken feathers have also been detailed for special military duty. Because they are light in weight, weather-resistant by nature, and indefinite in outline, feathers are especially suited for camouflage work.

Even in surgery, feathers may take an important place. Chemists at the Western Regional Laboratory, Albany, California, have developed a method for dissolving feathers and making a protein plastic. Threads of this plastic can be used as sutures for sewing up wounds because they are strong and are absorbed by the body.

The war has also created new civilian uses for chicken and turkey feathers. Today's wartime bride buys pillows and even comforts filled with curled chicken feathers, wears feather "flowers" in her hair, may shortly be wearing a going-away costume of fabric containing feather fibers. Her husband may use a feather brush for shaving and feather cleaners for his pipe. Feathers are now taking the place of the bristles formerly imported from China for shaving brushes. Long thin feathers are being sold as pipe cleaners to replace the wire cleaners no longer being made. Recently turkey feathers have come into great favor as hair and hat decorations. Some of the so-called "full-down" turkey feathers that grow under the wings are fetching as fancy a price as three dollars a pound just for feminine frills and decorations. As yet feathers have not been used in woven fabrics but textile scientists are working on the problem of combining them with rayon and other fibers.

Even with all these new wartime uses quantities of feathers still go to waste. The Nation's poultry flocks produce more than 100 million pounds of feathers a year but nor-

The subsidy program will be handled by the State and County AAA Committees. Payments will only be on sales of milk, butter and butterfat made after October 1. Producers selling butterfat and butter are advised to keep itemized records and receipts for all sales. Producer-retailers of milk should also keep complete records and receipts of sales to facilitate the handling of their payments.

Information other than the above has not been received by the County AAA Committee. Producers are advised to hold receipts for the above sales until further advised through the Manassas Journal where and when they should be presented.

The Trunk of the Tree

FIRST there was just wilderness. Then some men came and cleared away the trees and the underbrush. Pretty soon they started to build a factory—way out to nowhere and gone.

The reason was simple—the land was cheap. Also, they knew they could depend on the railroad's laying a spur line over which they could bring in people and raw materials and ship out to market their finished product.

It wasn't long before a little cluster of houses sprang up for the workers. Roads appeared. An enterprising merchant arrived and opened a general store.

Soon a doctor came and a dentist. A garage went up. Then a drug store, a barber shop, a movie house.

And so the town grew. Nobody planned it that way. American initiative made it that way.

The town grew as opportunity grew. It grew like a tree—slowly, steadily, surely. And the trunk of the tree—the trunk through which the lifeline flowed—was the railroad.

Every man who made his living in that town made it from goods that came in by the railroad, or that went out over its bright rails to markets beyond.

The men who built that town in the wilderness believe with all their hearts in free enterprise. But some of them may not appreciate the extent to which their continued economic freedom depends on freedom of the railroads.

The sirens of regimentation may lull us with the theory that it is all very well for private businesses to remain free, but that public carriers should be owned by the government.

But what would this mean in practical terms to every business man in the community we have described? It would mean that his dealings with the railroads would now be on a political instead of a business basis.

And would railroad service be improved? With bureaucrats in charge, and no more competition between lines? You can read the answer in any country in the world where railroads are government-controlled.

Before you listen to those who would "regiment" our railroads, consider whether our business structure could long remain half slave and half free.

And whether, if the axe is laid at the trunk, the whole tree would not suffer.
