Vocational School to Reopen

Interesting Sketches of Work Done in the School

The retention of the Vocational School in Manassas is an outstanding achievement of our school officials and has won the unstinted praise of Prince William citizens. A visit to the school will be very worthwhile and instructive. Following are a few of the many interesting features which were brought to our attention.

The radio shop is one of the most interesting, students assembling and constructing radios. Carl Fife, a student is working on a $300 Mobile Link Radio Frequency Transmitter. The receiving set is finished and the transmitter set is nearly completed. The work on the frequency transmitters will eliminate static and after the war our news radios will be without static. Another student, Jimmie Caskey is doing fine work on a radio that receives codes. The shop has constructed a short wave transmitter so strong that it could disturb Washington. Two of the tubes cost about $18.00 each. It contains five tubes and is operated with 1000 volts. The shop does not have a F. C. C. license to operate the transmitter. During the war short wave sets are not allowed to operate. This work has been accomplished since June 15th when the summer school term was started. There is a test panel to test the tubes and other parts of the radio. The panel also has a scillograph to test sound—the scillograph is the same as reader in receiving sound waves. Mr. Allen Barnwell and Mr. Richard B. Maggard are in charge of the Radio Shop. They have 47 students enrolled.

Mr. Chas. E. Baxter is the instructor of Welding. His shop contains 27 booths, 24 art welding machines and they work on metal 3/4" and 1/2" in thickness in horizontal, vertical, flat and overhead and each position is done in groove, lap, butt and fillet. Enrolled in each class are—first class has 14 pupils, the second class has 13 pupils and the third class has 12 pupils and each class is for two hours. The masterpiece is a lovely piece of work by Mr. Baxter, done with torch, hammer and chisel. This shop is the pride of the instructor and his pupils as well it might be.

In the Drafting Department the pupils are taught drawing, tracing, blue prints, black line prints, Van Dyke, brown prints and the instruments are drawing set, drawing board, T-square, 45 triangle, 30"x60" triangle, scale (architect), French curve, protractor and visual aids. This is housed in the Administration Building, one work room for boys and one work room for the girls, one classroom and the fourth room is used to develop the prints. Mr. Eugene F. Yager is the instructor.

The Woodwork Shop tempts boys and girls to learn the art of woodcraft. They are building a miniature house, containing 5 rooms, bath and two porches, a lawn table and 3 chairs and several cabinet tables. The guide, Miss Sally King showed her masterpiece—a lovely cabinet table, that she will use in her bedroom. The shop contains 2 belt sanders, 1 desk sander, 2 DeWalt saws, 2 joiners, 2 Dado machines, 3 drill presses, 2 rip saws, a planer that will dress lumber from 1/2 inch to 8 inches, 1 large band saw and a lathe for turning pieces of wood, such as legs on furniture. Mr. Reams Bennett is the instructor in Woodwork. Mr. Bennett is the Industrial Art Instructor in the high school.

The Machine Shop is over-powering with all of its magnificent machinery and Mr. Taylor said that the lathe is the king of machines. Mr. O. C. Taylor, the instructor stated that they could start a job and continue step by step until the metal work is completed. This is of vital interest and help to the student, as it helps them to understand how the completed job has been accomplished.

Miss Sloop is in charge of the English Class of 22 pupils, who are taking English make-up work, either because of absence or failure, the students are earning their credit and preparing for the fall term of school. She also acts as Coordinator in the school.

The Metal Shop has many fine tools and large machines to assist the instructor in teaching and the student acquiring sufficient knowledge to become a proficient metal worker. The Sheet Metal Shop teaches theory and practical sheet metal work. It covers marine and aircraft metal work. Ventilation and air condition. They have the tools, equipment and machines for any type of metal work. The shop has made the pipes for the exhaust system for the Welding Shop and built parts to the bodies of the County School buses.

The Electric Shop is instructing in the basic principals of electricity. Training its 18 students to repair, construct and install electrical equipment.

This shop demands more study of theory than any of the other shops. Mr. J. N. Edmonson, the instructor, has simulated much interest and many of his present students plan to return to the class on the reopening of the school on Sept. 18th.

The hospital would please any doctor or nurse in the country. No one would mind being sick in such a nice place. They have two large wards and equipment to take care of forty-five patients. One of the wards is being occupied by nine of the boys, who are students of the school, during the week. Each ward has a bathroom with a shower. The kitchen is fully equipped to attend to the patients. The room that was equipped for two nurses is being occupied by two of the instructors of the school at present. It has a well stocked linen closet that would please any housekeeper or nurse. There are a laboratory and drug room that are very well equipped.

The two isolation rooms are in use as one bed with private bathroom, with the second made into a lovely little reception room. There is a clinic room with a doctor's examining room and they have all equipment and ray sets with all needed drugs. They also have an emergency room. Miss Gue is the nurse in charge of the hospital and Dr. Marsteller the physician.

The Recreation Hall contains 31 tables with games, three tennis tables and one pool table. The student body eat their lunches here. They also have a radio.

Miss Marion Bröndus was operated on for appendicitis last Thursday at the Doctors' Hospital. We are glad to hear she is improving.

Miss Dolly Burchard and her brother, Bobby, spent several days visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Swanson at Callands, Virginia.

Mr. P. A. Lewis and Mr. C. W. Lewis went to Canada the past week-end bringing the 2 carloads of cows back them.

Mrs. Earl Woverton has been in the hospital for several days. Her little daughter is also in the hospital with appendicitis. Both are said to be improving.

Legion and Auxiliary Hold Picnic

Prince William Post No. 158 and Auxiliary at the Manassas Battlefield Park picnic area last Monday night with many families in attendance.

The ladies of the Auxiliary had prepared the food and Jack Stauff proved himself a real chef as he took care of the hamburgers over that very hot fire.

Commander Burchard announced the delegates for the Legion Convention in Roanoke from August 20-23 as follows: Messrs. Parrish, Davis, Mauck and Burchard. He thanked the ladies for the wonderful meal and the applause showed that everyone present agreed with him.

Mrs. Hanson, President of the Unit, announced her delegates Mrs. Ben Jacobson, incoming President and Mrs. Burchard with Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Eagle as alternates.

The committee who arranged the picnic was Mrs. Eagle, Mrs. Coverston, Mrs. Haydon and Mrs. Parrish. It is hoped that such affairs will be repeated in the future.

Notes on Boys in the Service

Pvt. Douglas C. Dodson, formerly one of our young Post Office Clerks, has arrived safely overseas and is now stationed somewhere in New Guinea.

Pfc. Owen F. Florence has returned to Camp A. A. F. Walls, Walls, Washington, after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Florence.

2/c Bill Corder who has been stationed at Camp Peary, is home on furlough. His home is at Haymarket and he was a Manassas High School graduate of the class of '44.

Bobby Caton who is serving in the U. S. Navy and is stationed in Boston, Mass., is home on furlough.

Pvt. Paul W. Florence, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Florence has been overseas for over 7 months, he is now somewhere in Italy.

Cpl. Murray Wells of the U. S. Army, stationed somewhere in Texas is home on furlough.

Prince William Pharmacy Receives a Fountain

One of the meeting places of Manassas has had the good fortune to get a Beverage Fountain. This will add to the convenience of the attendants and to our pleasure, while sipping our cool drinks, we may talk politics, gossip or read our papers. We congratulate Dr. Cocke.

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons held their annual picnic in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Cooksey. The picnic supper was quite a success, and the popular game of "Bingo" was enjoyed afterwards.

Miss Carolyn Cooksey won the bond for selling more bonds in the Fifth War Loan, in the town than any other individual. Carolyn sold $6,500 worth of government bonds, and she is to be congratulated upon her success.

Notes From School Board Meeting

August 9, 1944

The members of the Board present were N. N. Free, Chairman, W. Alvey, A. T. Barnes, F. M. Lynn, Floy H. McInteer, and R. C. Haydon, Clerk.

The Board discussed at some length the meeting of the Virginia Education Commission to be held at the Manassas High School on August 17th, and went on record as favoring the following:

(1)—That teachers' salaries be increased to the point that they are commensurate with the requirements of training and experience, and in line with other professions requiring similar training and experience.

(2)—That the State, in considering the further consolidation of schools, consider also a proportionate increase in the State appropriation for school transportation.

(3)—That the Board strongly advocates vocational education to be offered on the regional basis, rather than attempting to offer too many individual points on a small scale. Mr. R. Jackson Ratcliffe, Agent, was awarded the liability insurance for school buses for session 1944-45.

The Board made an adjustment in the Haymarket High School bus route, routing that bus by way of the Lee Highway and Route 234 to Manassas, routing the Stone House bus, which formerly traveled that road, from Groveton to Wellington and into Manassas by Thomas' corner.

A report by R. R. Fishpaw of the operation of the County Cannery at Nokesville indicated that it is being widely used and that it had canned approximately 3,000 quarts in the first nine days of operation.

The Board decided to continue the operation of the Manassas State Vocational School under the War Training Program for the winter session, this school to be opened for regular work on Monday, September 18th. Since Mr. R. Worth Peters, Principal of the Manassas Public Schools, will be largely responsible for the operation of this school, the Board decided to elect Miss Carrie Lanford as Administrative Assistant of the Osborn High School, to teach mathematics and to assist with the administrative work in that school, and Mrs. Ossie Tipton, former principal of Bennett School, as assistant in charge of the Bennett Elementary School.

In order to more nearly coordinate the terms of the State Vocational School and the regular County school program, the Board decided to delay opening the public schools of the County to Monday, September 11th. A complete calendar of the public school program for the year will be found published elsewhere in this issue.

Chamber of Commerce

The Chamber spent most of its time on a discussion of the Sales Tax that will come up at the meeting of the Educational Commission on Thursday, August 17th. Mr. Worth Peters favored the Sales Tax, having understood the tax would be used for the new Educational Program that is to be proposed in the survey of the school system of Virginia. Mr. Harry Davis thinks the tax should be Federal Tax and distributed by the Federal Government. He said that it would be impossible to guarantee its use as a school tax or that the merchants could keep the tax straight.

Mr. Worth Peters finally proposed an amendment to Mr. Alpaugh's motion. Mr. Alpaugh had asked the Chamber to endorse the proposed Sales Tax and the amendment being favorably accepted by Mr. Alpaugh was added to the motion and passed by the Chamber. The amendment was to block the throwing out of the proposed Sales Tax if the Educational Committee found the Sales Tax advantageous to the Educational Program.

Mr. Worth Peters stated that the Chamber had voted to sponsor the Regional High School in answer to Prof. Barnes' appeal to the Chamber of Commerce and had appointed the Educational Committee, with Mr. Worth Peters as chairman of the committee, to work with Prof. Barnes in promoting help in enlarging his school and the plant. Mr. Peters read a letter the committee and Prof. Barnes had written to Mr. Morland.

Dr. Cooke gave a letter to Mr. C. C. Cloe to read which stated that the road from Manassas to the Stone House will be rebuilt and that $15,000 is set aside for this purpose. Mr. C. C. Cloe said that Mr. Mount had told him that we were to have this road rebuilt.

Mr. Heim, reporting for the Health Commission, stated that the resolution of the Chamber about the handling of Food in the county had been accepted.

CANTALOUPE CONTRIBUTION

Consider the cantaloupe, unheralded and unsung for its vitamin C, yet as rich a source as oranges and grapefruit, and even richer than tomatoes.

The man who sits down to a half cantaloupe for breakfast on a summer morning probably never thinks of its nutritive value, yet may get from it enough vitamin C for his full day's needs. Tests at the Arizona Station show that a half of a cantaloupe of average size (4 1/2 to 5 inches in diameter) is equal in C to a tumbler of orange or grapefruit juice; a whole grapefruit of average size; two small oranges; 4 medium sized tomatoes; or two tumblers of canned tomato juice.

Cantaloupe is markedly superior in C to most of the other common fruits—apples, apricots, peaches, pears, grapes or plums. Strawberries, the exception to the rule, are richer.

In choosing fruits for family meals the housewife is wise to consider their

C value. Because fruits are acid and often eaten raw, they hold their C better and lose less in cooking than vegetables. Many vegetables are naturally rich in this vitamin, but before they are served at meals, have lost much in keeping and cooking.

FLOATING FRUIT

When home-canned fruit rises to the top of the jar leaving a space of clear liquid underneath, canning specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture says the cause may be: Overripe or crushed fruit; packing fruit in jars raw or not pre-heated enough to drive out the air; too heavy a sirup which draws juice from the fruit and makes it lighter than the sirup; too loose a pack so that the jar contains too much liquid in proportion to fruit.

When canned tomatoes separate so that the red pulp rises to the top of the jar leaving light-colored juice in the bottom, the cause may be overripe tomatoes which do not hold their shape; pre-heating too long before putting in jars; processing too long. Tomatoes packed raw are more likely to separate than those packed hot.

NOW POINT-FREE! UTILITY (Grade O) BEEF

In order to move into consumption the heavy supplies of Utility Beef, points have been removed from all cuts of this grade beef. This means that consumers will now be allowed to buy as much as they need of utility beef without points.

Your Safeway is cooperating with the government's efforts to move this beef into consumption.

What is Utility Beef?

To produce the top grades of beef, cattle have to be fed large amounts of grain. Since so much of this country's grain has been going into the war effort, there has not been enough to provide adequate feed for all cattle. The result is that a large percentage of the cattle sent to market has been graded Utility, thus creating increased supplies of this grade of beef. Utility beef contains all the nutritive food value of the top grades of beef, and, properly prepared, it is good eating.

THE ILLUSION OF VICTORY

Suffolk News-Herald

Germany won World War I. When the armistice comes, she will have won this one.

Even unconditional surrender is only a phrase, without real meaning. Not peace treaties, but the ability to capitalize the fruits of battle, distinguishes the winner of a war from the loser.

In Europe before 1939, Germany had the largest cohesive population; she had the largest industrial plant; she possessed at least half of Europe's total "worth" in people and plant.

Since 1939, she has increased that proportion. From the point of view of population, she has been killed; she has transported hundreds of thousands more; and she has undoubtedly won among the conquered peoples many converts. By using to the break-down point the industries of conquered countries, by transporting to Germany or by destroying what she could not use, by making the conquered countries tributary feeders to Germany's industrial needs, her industrial predominance in Europe is greater now than it was before 1939.

Only an honest recognition of this fact can make possible the framing of a peace which will deprive her of victory.

On the day of her surrender, Germany will be the victor in this war.

GOOD NEWS

FOR BUSINESS MEN

The post-war world will see a tremendous growth of small business in America. One of the major problems will be credit. The American Bankers Association, of which we are a member, has just established a new Post-War Small Business Credit Commission to mobilize the credit facilities of banks for this purpose. Business men can be sure that American banking will serve them as well in peace as in war.

The Farmer and War Bonds

by Mr. A. S. Goss

Master of the National Grange

WE FREQUENTLY hear farmers raise the question as to whether or not they should buy War Bonds as long as they are in debt. The answer to this question should depend in large measure upon the nature of the debt and whether or not it is current. If part of it is past due, and the borrower expects to experience difficulty in meeting past due payments, he probably should bring his debt into current position before investing in Bonds. If, however, his payments are current, there seems to be no reason why farmers should not buy as many Bonds as they are able. Most individual investors in government Bonds are carrying debt in one form or another, at rates higher than the Bonds will yield. This is as it should be if the purchaser is in an earning position which permits the accumulation of some surplus, for we all owe it to our government to do our utmost in the financing of the war, even though the transaction may result in our paying some extra interest on outstanding debts.

When a farmer owes money, he is always concerned as to whether his crops will sell at prices which will enable him to repay his debt. When prices are high it is good business and conservative finance to reduce the debt as rapidly as possible because when prices are low, it takes more crops and more efforts to make the payments.

We should not forget, however, that a government Bond will pay off an equal amount of dollars of debt, no matter whether prices are high or whether prices are low. It is, therefore, a sound and conservative practice to buy government Bonds and lay them aside to make payments on existing debts when they fall due. In fact, quite aside from the patriotic appeal, it is good business to buy Bonds rather than make pre-payments on debt, because the time may come when the ready cash is needed and the money tied up in pre-payments cannot be returned. If this money is invested in Bonds, it can be converted into cash to meet any needs which may arise.

If everyone followed the policy of buying no War Bonds until their debts were paid, few Bonds would be sold to the public. We have an obligation to help finance this war which is vastly more important than the income we may receive on the investment of money in War Bonds.

Farmers are finding it impossible to maintain their machinery and buildings in a satisfactory state of repair. They are finding that they cannot replace worn-out equipment except at excessively high cost.

It would seem to be sound and conservative business practice to lay aside money to make the repairs and replace worn-out equipment when material and machines are again available. No safer place can be found to lay aside money for such purposes than in government Bonds.

Every time we buy a Bond we are not only assisting in financing the war, but we are also doing our bit to prevent that most dreaded economic disaster called inflation. If each one of us would invest as much as we could in government Bonds, the danger of inflation would be greatly reduced.

Ability and Responsibility

WHEN a particularly tough and important job comes along, it usually lands in the lap of someone who is already doing a lot of other jobs well.

People like this—who are used to getting results—are not too plentiful. They need to have both ability and a sense of responsibility. One alone won't do—for ability can sometimes be misdirected, and a sense of responsibility without ability can lead to troublesome meddling.

It's men with this combination of talents who have been carrying a heavy load on the home front these past few years. On the farm and in industry they've been meeting—and solving—the difficult wartime problems of production.

After the war is won, somebody must shoulder the equally big job of getting this nation back into peacetime production, of laying the groundwork for the better and more prosperous America we all want. This is a challenge, and an opportunity, for the producers of America—for the men and women who have a sense of responsibility and have shown their ability to get things done. Corporal In South Seas Wins National Style Competition

New York City—Fashion authorities awarded Cpl. John H. Peck, now in action in New Guinea, first prize for his informal wartime bride's costume. Cpl. Peck is a New Englander and a former student of the Trafton School of Fashion, New York City.

He designed the dress in response to a questionnaire sent out by his alma mater on "What Service Men Would Like To See Women On The Home Front Wear For The Duration." Men in the armed forces, separated by thousands of miles, answered the call to the alumni.

John captured the award with his informal wedding gown of romance blue crepe with shoulder bow of peach velvet. Mary Hock, a Southern belle, at present a student of the Trafton School, wore the gown at a Fashion Show in Town Hall when the award was made. The dress complies with all the present-day conservation demands and is extremely practical since it can be worn on many other occasions.

Peck was born in New Milford, Conn., and before going into the service he worked as designer of women's dresses for a well-known manufacturer in the Southern states.

SAVE FAT IN THE GARDEN

Mrs. Roy F. Hendrickson, wife of the deputy director of UNKFA, and her daughters Karen, aged 8, and Ann, aged 11, save used fat conscientiously whether they cook in the kitchen or outdoors in their garden. Their out of door barbecue is built to accommodate the broiler from the kitchen stove so that fat from bacon, chops, and hamburgers can be saved instead of dripping down into the fire and being wasted. Every drop of fat that is not eaten should be turned in to the meat dealer so that it can be put to work in factories and war plants so that food fats will not have to be diverted to industrial use.

Why Farmers Should Buy
and Keep War Bonds

by R. R. Renne
President

Montana State College

BUILDING financial reserves, paying off debts, helping to fight dangerous inflation, and patriotism, are all good reasons why farmers should buy and hold War Bonds.

A good financial reserve is an important part of sound farm management. War Bonds are safe investments and are almost as liquid as cash. Thus, they comprise an excellent financial reserve for unexpected needs and emergencies. After the last war prices fell rapidly, as they have after every major war, and thousands of American farmers lost their farms because they could not weather the economic storm. No other factor is more essential for continued satisfactory farm operations, through good years and bad, than adequate financial reserves.

In addition to unexpected needs for emergencies, farmers need adequate reserves to finance repairs, replacements and improvements around the farm. Difficulties in obtaining needed materials and labor for these expenditures cause farm buildings and equipment to wear out faster during the war period than in peacetime. If farmers can wait until sometime after the war ends to make these repairs and improvements, their dollars should go farther than they will immediately following the war, and better quality materials will probably be available. Moreover, too rapid or forced cashing of War Bonds immediately after the war could create a serious situation and contribute to post-war inflation. Also, holding Bonds to maturity makes it possible for the farmer to increase his investment by one-fourth through accumulated interest. Still another reason for having a good reserve in the form of War Bonds is that funds will be available for the boys when they return, to assist them in getting established in peacetime pursuits.

Many farmers still have long-term mortgage debt outstanding against their property. Investment in War Bonds now makes it possible for the farmer to help finance the war and at the same time accumulate the funds which will enable him to liquidate his debt in a lump sum after the war. Systematic purchase of War Bonds furnishes a very orderly and sure way of accumulating the necessary funds for liquidation of debt that requires large lump sums for settlement.

The extremely heavy expenditures required to carry on modern total war creates high purchasing power, which combined with shortages of materials and labor, cause serious inflationary threats. Most farmers can remember the very high prices which occurred during the last war and the very low prices and depression which followed. With the present scale of operations much greater than during the first war, it is imperative that widespread inflation in general prices and in land be prevented. Using surplus funds to purchase War Bonds helps reduce inflationary pressure in commodity markets and, at the same time, helps finance the war.

Building financial reserves, paying off debts and fighting inflation, comprise adequate reasons for buying War Bonds. However, there is still another major reason why farmers should invest in War Bonds until it hurts and this is the patriotic reason. We are engaged in a very serious struggle to preserve democracy and our way of life. The sooner we can win this war the fewer lives of our sons and daughters will be lost. Our youth are making great sacrifices on the battlefronts all over the world, and it is up to each one of us on the homefront to give all we have. Large sums of money are needed for winning the war and if we will all buy War Bonds to the limit of our resources voluntarily, we can help finish the war at an early date.

War Bonds as Investment for Farmers

by Warren W. Hawley, Jr., President
New York State Farm Bureau Federation

IN CHECKING figures of the Farm Credit Administration, I find that farmers are paying off mortgages faster than at any other period in the history of the Federal Land Bank.

At the same time, farmers are building up cash reserves, but the wise investment of this money is an extremely hard job for farmers to undertake. The temptation is to try and obtain as high an interest rate as possible.

Many of us see no reason why we should not get as much interest on our money now as we had to pay the bank when we were forced to borrow during the depression.

The answer is that today money is cheap—"expanded", as the bankers express it. Therefore interest rates are low except in very speculative securities. Naturally no farmer wants to risk losing his hard earned cash.

We farmers know our own business and we can invest money in it safely because we understand it. However, when we branch off into other fields, especially the highly technical field of investments, most of us encounter sad experiences.

In these days it is virtually impossible for farmers to put their surplus cash back into the farm. War-time conditions prevent us from repairing buildings, and buying new machinery, automobiles, trucks and other equipment we must eventually have if we are going to stay in business.

So the smart thing for farmers to do is to invest their surplus money in War Bonds where it is as safe as a dollar bill. These bonds increase in value the longer they are held; they can be cashed after sixty days in case of need, and they will provide a reserve for investment after the war in the business the farmers know best—the business of farming.

I confidently predict that if farmers will do this, the dawn of peace will signalize a new day for agriculture.

SAFE CANNING RULE: It's a patriotic duty to can everything you are able to. But be sure to use a pressure cooker for canning all vegetables except tomatoes. The hotter than boiling heat provided by the pressure cooker is the only safe way to avoid rare but deadly botulinus poisoning, according to Good Housekeeping Magazine. Botulinus germs may be on any non-acid vegetables. They are harmless until they get into air-tight jars of canned food. If the botulinus bacteria are not killed in the canning process, they gradually create a poison that usually is difficult to detect.

Pick Cornish Pasties for a Picnic Menu

A WELL-BALANCED but simple menu is the order of the picnic day—for picnics should be fun for mother as well as for other members of the family. Whether eaten out in the wide open spaces or in your own back yard, everyone knows the food is the most important part of a picnic.

For a pinch of variety to spice the menu, Cornish Pasties are different and satisfying. Flaky pastry surrounding meat, potatoes, carrots and onion with just the right dash of seasoning, make a meal-in-one. A large bowl of fresh tomatoes, fruit, cake, and a beverage complete the pick of the food to eat.

The pasties can be served either hot or cold. But so there will be no last-minute rush, prepare them early in the day. The recipe calls for the new blended shortening—easy to use direct from the refrigerator or cupboard shelf and with high shortening power for a crisp, flaky crust.

Cornish Meat Pasties
(Yield: 6 pasties)

Pastry
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt

1 cup blended shortening
8-10 tablespoons cold water

Filling
1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup cubed potatoes
1 cup diced carrots
1 medium onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

For the pastry, sift flour and salt. Cut the blended shortening into the flour until it is like coarse cornmeal, leaving some pieces of blended shortening about the size of dried peas.

Add water gradually, using a knife or fork to blend the mixture into a stiff dough. Chill dough while preparing the filling.

Melt the fat in a skillet. Add the meat and brown well. Add the potatoes, carrots, finely sliced onion and salt. Let cook over low heat while rolling pasties.

Roll pastry into six 6-inch circles. Arrange meat and vegetables on one-half of each circle. Moisten edges with water, fold pastry over and seal with a fork.

Place on a baking sheet and bake at 450° F. for 15 minutes, reduce heat and finish baking at 350° F. for about 30 minutes.

"GIVE TO YOUR RED CROSS"

The Farmer and War Bond Purchases

by Charles W. Holman, Secretary

The National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation

AMERICAN farmers have a great deal more at stake in purchasing War Bonds than simply a patriotic urge to assist in financing the war so that it may be prosecuted to an early and victorious conclusion. Modern war demands governmental expenditures far in excess of those which may be met by current revenue receipts. This means Government borrowing. If a large part of this borrowing is through commercial banks additional inflationary spending power is created through the expansion of credit. On the other hand, if the borrowing is largely from individuals much of their excess funds are drained off. Hence, the pressure on prices resulting from unusually large funds bidding for limited amounts of goods and services is relieved, and thus inflation retarded.

A tremendously increased agricultural production and some increase in average prices received above those paid by farmers have raised the net income of all United States farmers from the 1935-39 average of $4.7 billion to $6.3 billion in 1941, $9.4 billion in 1942, and an estimated $12.5 billion in 1943. With available supplies of farm machinery replacements and building materials limited, Agriculture has funds available for either debt retirement, savings readily liquidated for future purchases of machinery, buildings, etc., or for present investment in land.

A marked decrease in farm mortgages in recent years indicates that much of this fund has been properly applied to debt retirement. However, activity in land sales and a very marked increase in land values demonstrate that farmers are probably diverting a large part of this fund into land purchases. From March 1, 1943, to March 1, 1944, average land values per acre rose 15 per cent, with the larger part of the rise taking place in the last four months of the period. The increase during this four-month period was the highest on record, being 20 per cent greater than the average monthly rate of increase for the 1919-20 boom year. Average values per acre have increased more than one-third in the past 3 years. In the 1919-20 period the rise was about the same.

It appears that an overcapitalization of probably temporarily high farm commodity prices is in process just as in World War I. Large mortgage debts incurred now, at high levels of income, will prove disastrous when both total agricultural production and prices fall. Land values are based on the net return to land. With the end of the war in sight and with the prospect that farm labor and other costs will require a relatively larger return leaving the return to land less, the logical course for land values at present would appear to be downward rather than upward.

Therefore, it appears that farmers would do well to invest every available dollar, beyond that needed for debt retirement, in Government Bonds. These can be held against the day when necessary farm replacements will be available and when farm land values will have become more stable. In this way the individual farmer may assist in hastening the day of return of his son, and also have capital available to help finance him in ventures of his own choice.

Shadow on Rising Sun

Symbolic of things to come is the shadow cast on the huge Jap flag by Marine First Lieutenant Nathan R. Smith of White Haven, Pa. Seventeen feet long and eleven feet wide, the Jap banner is claimed to be the largest in captivity. Lieutenant Smith is one of three officers who uncovered the flag in an abandoned Jap garrison building.

his raises a Question.

A picture like this raises a question... for you to answer.

At this moment, hundreds of thousands of America's finest young men are fighting in the greatest military effort of this war. For them, there are no half-way measures.

Ask yourself—are you doing anything to match their supreme sacrifice?

If you can say "yes" to that question—and no one can, who isn't actually under fire—that's fine.

If not... go out now and buy those extra War Bonds. The Bonds you didn't think you could quite afford.

SUMMER SALVAGE

THE good old summertime invites rest and relaxation, but the war goes on in spite of the mercury, and the home activities that support our fighters must do the same.

The farmer must produce the hogs and cattle and tend the crops that will feed us this winter, regardless of torrid days.

War plants and factories that manufacture the hundreds of products upon which the armed forces and civilians daily depend must keep on producing at full speed in August as they did in December.

To keep industry's wheels turning, the saving of used fat must also go on, because factories need all we can supply and more.

When you save kitchen fat, and turn it in for extra ration points you are doing more than saving fat, you are saving manpower, because you extend the labors of the farmer when you use his fats first for food, then return them to the economy for industry's use.

If we are to reach our quota of 230,000,000 pounds of used fat from kitchens this year, we can't take time off. We must save every day. In spite of the temperature, and in spite of the very human inclination to avoid effort and take it easy.

So stay in the production line. Every pound of used fat saved and turned in puts us that much nearer to Victory.

"THANKS FOR THE LIFT, AMERICA!"

All Over the World, Our Fighting Men
Salute the home-front for "Backing the Attack" in the 5th War Loan Drive.
The 5th War Loan has gone over the top!

You've attained every one of the 5th War Loan objectives—and then some! The overall goal, corporate and individual, was $16 billion; $20,639,000,000 was realized. The individual goal was $6 billion; $6,330,000,000 (preliminary) was realized. The "E" or "People's" Bond goal—the most important element in the individual quota, and the hardest one to make—was $3 billion; $3,036,000,000 was realized.

The American public has scored not only a resounding victory on the home front, but the greatest one to date!

For this inspiring demonstration of "Democracy—in action," our fighting men on all the far-flung battle fronts of the world give thanks for the lift. The spirit you have shown gives reassurance of support to those on the long and bloody road to Berlin... and Tokyo.

Every man, woman and child in America may well thrill with pride at the success of this unprecedented drive—the greatest war-financing operation the world has ever known. This includes the millions who "dug deep" to buy extra Bonds and the untiring volunteers who helped sell them—the whole cavalcade of America galvanized into action on a spontaneous voluntary basis.

But just as the battle continues with ever mounting fury, so we on the home-front must continue to "Back the Attack." As General Eisenhower has said:

"Satisfactory as is the progress of this battle to date, its magnitude is a mere beginning to the tremendous struggle that must follow before final victory is achieved."

"To this end we need every man, every weapon, and all the courage and fortitude of our respective people. The Allied soldier will do his duty."

Yes—and we on the home-front will do our duty, also. Let no man think that in such heart-stirring times as these, when our boys are facing their most crucial weeks and months ahead, that the part we play in buying Bonds is trivial compared to their earth-shaking deeds and heroic challenge of death.

Far from trivial, our home-front tasks are today more important than ever.

Encouraged by the example of what a united people can do when a cause is just, let us continue to "back the attack—buy more than before" until the day of final victory. And let us resolve not only to buy Bonds to the fullest extent of our powers, but to hold them until maturity—for a better, safer, happier world for all.

Keep "Backing 'Em Up" with WAR BONDS
