Mrs. R. L. Byrd Entertains U. D. C.

The September meeting of Manassas Chapter, U. D. C. was held at the home of the President, Mrs. R. L. Byrd. A fine attendance marked this last session of 1943-44, and the time for the official election for the new year, delegates to the state and general conventions this fall, and celebration of the Golden Jubilee of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

After the usual opening with the Lord's Prayer and pledge to the National Flag and salute to the Confederate Flag, an informative history of the "Daughters" was given by the Historian and Recording Secretary, "Peggy" from the Chapter Record "bound with the rose of memory," held in place by precious "bookmarks," were recently presented. Among the treasures were the Charters, first certificates and Constitution, picture of Ewell Camp, C. V., organized at Brecksville, 1890, badge of the first junior organization, the Judith Henry Juniors, and other gavel made from the historic Jackson tree on Manassas Battlefield.

A prized exhibit was an exquisite and priceless quilt made long ago. It was the Chapter's bridal gift to the daughter of one of its members. Officers elected were: President: Mrs. R. L. Byrd 1st V. ## PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS SALE CAMPAIGN

The Prince William County Tuberculosis Association will make plans for the thirty-eighth annual Christmas Seal Sale campaign at a meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday evening, Oct. 3rd in the County Health Office. Miss Eleanor Gayle Curran, field supervisor for the State Tuberculosis Association will be present to assist with the program. The Rev. Stanley Knupp, local chairman, will preside, and members of the association are urged to attend. Supplies for the campaign to be conducted in the county's six districts will be distributed and instructions given for handling the drive on a larger scale than ever before.

The Christmas Seal Sale Campaign is the sole source from which the local association obtains funds to carry on the expanding work of preventing and controlling tuberculosis in Prince William so that the disease may eventually be eradicated. The success of the annual appeal for funds to carry on this important job is dependent upon the services of volunteer workers and the support of Prince William County's citizens. The Association trusts that every resident of the county will join in making this year's Seal Sale an outstanding success.

Mediterranean is Dry. So says Buck.

Word has been received from "Seaman E. G. Wigglesworth" who is sailing the Mediterranean Sea that he has sailed the African Coast for five days, anchored at Sicily for three days without shore leave, and has not put a foot ashore or had a drink since he left Baltimore. (Believe it or not!) He wishes to be remembered to his many friends and hopes to see them before the hunting season closes.

Mrs. Johnson Entertains Kiwanis

At the directors meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Manassas most of the time was spent in planning for the election of officers and directors for the coming meeting. Mr. G. R. Ratcliffe spoke for the nominating committee. He had prepared blank ballots for the nomination; besides the usual officers, seven directors are to be nominated. The most prized office is the vice-presidency, for it is the inviolable custom to make of the vice-president the president for the following year.

Tribute to Mr. Ratcliffe

In view of what happened to Mr. Ratcliffe later the same night, the occasion now seems almost tragic. He was at great pains to make the plan of election clear to the directors and later to the club. Mr. Ratcliffe was a notable Kiwanian. He may be called the founder of the local club and was its first president. He has always been elected to the board of directors; he was on the music committee and was a song leader. He was really the historian of the club and kept a record of its membership from the beginning and had a file of all the notable papers of the club. The club will never be the same without him. While he was connected with various civic and business organizations, his greatest affection was in the Kiwanis Club.

Poetry for Kiwanis

The entertainment for the evening was in the hands of Words-Peters. In his introductory speech of Mrs. R. C. Johnson, he said he proposed to show that the impossible could be proved, that is, that Kiwanians could be interested in poetry. Mrs. Johnson came very near to doing what Mr. Peters claimed by her excellent rendition of selected poems. There were four groups aimed to please various ones of her audience. Among the authors were Kipling, Poe, J. Whitcomb Riley and Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Her sonnet on "How Do I Love Thee?" was perhaps the best of them all.

Ocoquan P. T. A. Holds Meeting

The Ocoquan Parent Teachers Association held its first meeting for the present school year on Sept. 18. Plans were formulated for the year and duties of the various committees were discussed.

All friends and patrons of the school are urged to attend and help make it a successful year.

The new officers and chairmen of the various committees are: Mr. H. B. Bennett, Pres. Mr. Austin Barber, Vice Pres. Mrs. G. Manderfield, Treas. Mrs. K. Fling, Secretary Mrs. M. Joyce, Ways & Means Mrs. W. Ramers, Entertainment Mrs. R. Clark, Home Room Mothers Mrs. John Powell, Rental Textbooks Mr. H. Mooney, Bldg. & Grounds Mrs. H. B. Bennett, Child Welfare Mrs. H. H. ## George Raymond Ratcliffe

The passing of Raymond Ratcliffe is a loss to the community that will not soon be forgotten. To those of us who knew him best his death is a great grief—almost a tragedy.

His genial disposition endeared him to everyone. He radiated good will and good humor wherever he went and in every gathering of his friends he was the "life of the party".

He was civic minded and there was no worthy enterprise that did not receive his support. Among the organizations with which he was identified was the Kiwanis Club which he organized. It was his child and he loved it. He fostered it and nurtured it from the beginning until his untimely death. His vacant seat will be mourned by all the Kiwanians.

We shall miss his familiar figure on our streets and elsewhere.

It is those of us who knew him best who will mourn him most.

So we must say, Good bye dear old "Rat".

We will not forget you. We cannot. You wound yourself too firmly around our heart strings for that.

So again we say, Good bye and may we meet again.

Capt. Johnson Flies 50 Combat Missions

Capt. Wendell M. Johnson, 23 son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Johnson of Manassas, has flown 50 combat missions over enemy territory in Nazi Europe. He is navigator on a B-24 Liberator and has participated in bombing missions against targets in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Germany, Italy, and France.

For his part in a highly successful attack on the rail yards at Simeria, Rumania, in June, Capt. Johnson was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. It was, however, attacks on the aircraft plants at Steyr, Austria, and Regensburg, Germany, recalls as being his most memorable missions. "These industrial centers," said he, "were most vital to Hitler's war effort and consequently heavily defended by both fighters and anti-aircraft guns. One could expect to have everything thrown at them there. On four missions to those targets, I was never disappointed."

He is a member of a heavy bombardment group that has flown over 300 combat missions and has been twice cited by the President for extraordinary achievement. The first citation was for the low-level attack on the oil center of Ploesti, in August, 1943. The second was for performance in support of the 8th Army in the Middle East.

A graduate of Washington and Lee University, Capt. Johnson was employed as a newspaperman before entering the Army in 1942. He received his wings at Selman Field, La., in August, 1943.

ALLIED NATIONS PLAN FUTURE OF GERMANY

A broad plan to govern the economic life of Germany for an indefinite period thru Allied control has been formulated.

Settlement of this issue is understood to be predicated upon the creation of tri-power commission.

This group would supervise post-war industry in Germany until a later time when the victors can decide on how to prevent Germany starting another war with her industrial tools.

It is understood that a method has been generally agreed upon to ally British, American and Russian basic principles for occupation, and that each country will administer three respective zones of occupation.

The plan would be employed as a stop gap measure until a definite economic plan for Germany could be worked out.

Supporters of the plan claimed that such a plan would enable German industry to be thrown into high gear at once to aid in the rebuilding of shattered Europe.

All Saints Catholic Parish Begins Drive For Clothing

With the rapid advance of the Allied Armies opening constantly broadening liberated areas, the people of the United States are faced with the huge task of giving that relief and sustenance which must surely follow the process of liberation. This gigantic task will be undertaken not only by the United States, but also by the other United Nations thru the international agency organized to carry on this work—the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

With the approach of winter, the need for clothing for war stricken civilians of Europe presents an acute problem. The goal of this Emergency Clothing Campaign is 15,000,000 lbs. of clothing ready for shipment by October 7th, to a network of warehouses designated by the UNRRA.

The Catholic Woman's Club of Manassas are cooperating with the Rev. Chameal, Pastor of All Saints Catholic Church in this drive for clothing for free distribution to needy men, women and children in liberated areas.

All types of useful wearable garments are needed (not dry cleaned). Undergarments and all types of cotton garments should be washed. Shoes are not being collected. In addition to practical clothing, blankets, sheets, pillow cases, quilts, etc., are needed.

All clothing is to be brought to the Parish Rectory. There it will be sorted and packed by members of the Catholic Woman's Club. At least one garment from every parishoner is the goal of the Parish.

UNITED BRETHREN PASTOR RETURNS

The 145th Annual Session of the Virginia Conference of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ convened in the Donovan Memorial Church of Singers Glen, Virginia, September 18 to 21.

Bishop G. D. Batdorf, D. D., Ph. D., L. L. D., of Harrisburg, Pa., presided over the conference. The Rev. J. Paul Gruver, D. D., Conference Superintendent, of Martinsburg, W. Va., gave the annual report of the past year's work.

By action of this conference upon the request of the people of the charge, the Rev. Stanley A. Knapp, pastor of the Manassas Charge, returns to this work for the fifth consecutive year. Attending the conference from the local charge were: Rev. and Mrs. Knapp, Mr. S. G. Whetzel as delegate and Mr. Ira Runion.

The universe is too vast for the girde of thought; it sweeps away immeasurably, and fades out of imagination in the splendor of uncounted suns. But there will be safe paths thru it for men of reverence and humility.

There is a real grace of character in forgetting the things that disturb the harmony of life. On the threshold of the future life one must pass thru a great wave of forgetfulness; it were better for us all if heaven were nearer to us by reason of the swift oblivion to which we consign the wrongs we suffer in this brief burning of the candle of life. The same sacrificial spirit that millions are manifesting in this war must be carried over into the peace. Some of us must give ourselves and our children. Some must give our dollars, and all of us must pour into the cause that mighty, magnetic force of prayer, which multiplies every dollar and every man's effort a thousand fold.—Dr. Frank Laubach.

Pearl Harbor Politics?

Congress is recessing without The Army and Navy are conducting lifting the lid on Pearl Harbor. their own investigations, but the Secretaries of War and Navy had urged the President not to sign the bill ordering these inquiries and there is no evidence that there will be any early results from them. A House Naval Affairs subcommittee recommended a Congressional investigation, on the ground that the services' inquiries may not be unbiased; but this move was too tardy to get action from lawmakers bent on recessing.

The atmosphere for an impartial airing of the question of responsibility for the great base's unprepared state on Dec. 7, 1941, may be somewhat clearer after the election. But meanwhile it becomes more and more clouded by a miasma of politics—and in the ugly form of rumors. Repeatedly in recent weeks Congress has been a sounding board for charges that the President was personally responsible for keeping the fleet in Pearl Harbor and for placing Admiral Kimmel in command; that Washington officials received warning from Australia of a Japanese attack but failed to alert the Pearl Harbor commanders. These charges have been flatly denied by the Australian Minister, Sir Owen Dixon.

The argument is that the courts-martial of Admiral Kimmel and Gen. Short have been postponed for political reasons—to save the President's reputation as Commander in Chief. That there may be politics in the charges themselves is indicated by the fact that they come from Republican Congressmen and Gov. Bricker. Yet they have gained enough of a hearing so that it might be to President Roosevelt's political advantage to have them cleared up—assuming that they can be cleared.

So far, the open objections to holding the courts-martial have come from the Army and Navy. Early in the war the possibility of information coming out that would be of aid to the enemy and the difficulty of bringing officers to testify were more than convincing reasons for delay than they are today. Indeed, a time is fast approaching when public confidence in the services will be better maintained by a thorough airing of the Pearl Harbor case than by continued sitting on the lid.—Christian Science Monitor.

Johnson's Herd Leads

The Clover Hill Farm purebred Jersey herd owned by Wheatley M. Johnson, Manassas, led the Prince William Dairy Herd Improvement Association in production in September, Nelson Page French, local D. H. I. A. Supervisor, reported this week. The Clover Hill herd showed an average production of 40.5 pounds butterfat and 803 pounds milk per cow. Second was the herd of T. Gales Hutcheson, Hickory Grove, with an average production of 34 pounds butterfat and 950 pounds milk per cow. The Paradise Farm herd owned by C. C. Lynn, Manassas, was third with 33.1 pounds butterfat and 850 pounds milk per cow. Fourth was the J. C. Kacheloe herd at Nokesville with an average production of 33 pounds butterfat and 904 pounds milk. The Broadview Farm Herd owned by T. R. and E. P. Hurst ranked fifth with 30.4 pounds butterfat and 728 pounds milk per cow. The herds of C. W. Lewis, R. S. Hynson, L. R. Cowne, B. H. Lewis, Mrs. Eugenia Latham, P. A. Lewis, E. W. Thompson, Dr. J. H. Iden, Birmingham Dairy, F. M. Lewis, Mrs.

Edith Latham and W. M. Kline, all showed excellent production of both milk and butterfat in September according to Mr. French's report this week.

CULLING SUGGESTED FOR DAIRY CATTLE

Careful culling of dairy cattle is what Extension Dairyman Connelly of VPI, recommends for Virginia dairymen faced with decreasing feed supplies.

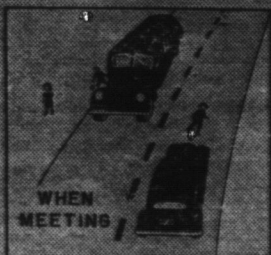

He admits that milk production per cow is falling off—out the state, but believes we can keep it from falling more if we follow a rigid and scientific program of culling.

Citing the increased production relief, the dairyman sees it unlikely payment now effective for drought that many farmers will benefit greatly from them. The increase of milk production right now rests on the dairymen's ability to get feed—and there's little enough of that.

Drought early in the summer cut eastern Virginia, while dry spells in August and early September reduced feed crops in northern and southwestern sections. Heavy rains in September were disastrous, sending the James River over its banks to wipe out many a cornfield.

The increased rates call for dairymen to receive 80c per hundred pounds of milk and 6c per pound for butterfat as of Sept. 1. The rates are increases of 10c for milk and 1c of butterfat.

Check Chimney Flue
In Fire Prevention

With National Fire Prevention Week just around the corner (Oct. 8-14), here's what to check to keep fires away from your home and farm.

See that the chimney rests on its own foundation and not on a wooden bracket built into the frame of the house. The chimney should have a flue liner, but lined or not, it should be inspected from top to bottom to be sure there are no cracks, loose mortar, and the like.

It's a good idea to attach a heavy chain to a rope and work it up and down in the chimney, to be sure there are no obstructions.

What about the stovepipes? Are they in good shape and well supported? Are they fitted with fireproof chimneys where they pass through partitions and ceilings? Are they at least 18 inches from unprotected wood?

Is the floor under your stove protected by a metal shield? Is the woodbox at a safe distance and kept clear of trash? Are ashes handled in metal containers? Are screens used before open fireplaces, asks Wilber O'Byrne, forester for the Virginia Agricultural Extension Service.

O'Byrne also suggests checking on matches and oily rags. Matches should be kept in a metal box and out of the reach of children. Oily rags should be in tightly closed metal containers. Be sure gasoline and kerosene cans are plainly marked and stored away from the main buildings.

Do your kerosene lamps have

GET WINTER ONIONS
IN GROUND EARLY

It's a good idea to get winter onions in the ground before cold weather, suggests the garden specialists at V. P. I.

Two varieties are worthy of consideration—the potato onion and the Egyptian or tree onion. The potato onion is one of the multipliers. Both small and large sets should be planted.

The small sets will produce large bulbs and the large bulbs will produce the small bulbs or sets. If you plant both large and small sets each year, you'll be assured of a continuous supply.

The Egyptian onion is a salad onion. It doesn't produce a large bulb but is used green in the Spring. Sets are produced in the top of the stalks rather than from seed as is fall to the ground and take root the case with most onions. The sets or they may be harvested and transplanted.

A short row or a small bed in the corner of the garden will supply plenty of spring onions for family use and can be maintained from year to year.

a broad heavy base and are they beyond the reach of blowing curtains and small children? Are lanterns always hung on safe hooks? Is trash cleaned from around buildings?

You can help cut down fires by making these checks. Eliminating fire hazards when it's too late is like closing the barn door after the horse has made its way elsewhere.

BRIGHTER WORLD FOR U.S. DOGS, TOO, PLANNED FOR END OF WAR

View of Ridgefield, Conn., research kennels of the Gaines Dog Research Center. Left: Closeup of exercise courts used in experimental work in the care of dogs.

A brighter post-war world for America's 15,000,000 dogs appeared today as the result of plans announced by the Gaines Dog Research Center.

The Center is a research and educational institution devoted to furthering the welfare of the dog, with its principal office at 250 Park Avenue, New York City, and extensive research kennels at Ridgefield, Conn.

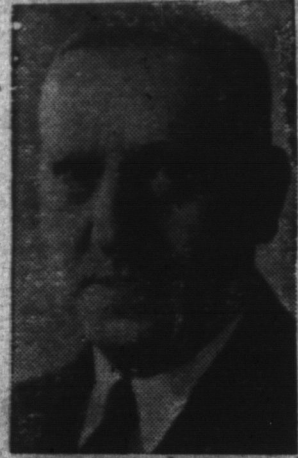

W. E. Armstrong

ed to be helpful to both dog and owner carried on by its own staff, the Center cooperates in dog research work carried on by various private and public educational institutions and experimental stations throughout the country.

Chief among the projects planned for after the war is an educational exhibit dealing with the origin and function of the various breeds of dogs. For this purpose the central building of the Research Kennels at Ridgefield will probably be used, while the surrounding grounds may be developed into a dog zoological garden in which it is hoped to make available to public view prize specimens of all 167 known dog breeds in the world.

Other contemplated research projects include the creation of standards of perfection for each breed of dog and development of a medium-size, all-weather, super-intelligent farm dog who would be herd-dog, guard-dog and companion-dog in one. The need for such an animal has long been felt in rural areas.

Managing Director of the Gaines Dog Research Center is W. E. Armstrong, well known figure in dog circles throughout the nation, while the Executive Secretary is Harry Miller, dog publicist who was formerly editor of the national magazine "Dogs." For the past two years Mr. Miller has also served as secretary of National Dog Week.

George William Edwards, economist, financier, chairman of the Department of Economics at New York City College, has entered the ministry of the Episcopal Church. He has been working as a lay reader in charge of St. Andrew's Chapel, Hartsdale, N. Y., attending General Theological Seminary, New York City, and carrying on his work as well.

Plenty Smart Native Knows Trick or Two
HONOLULU.—Seabees formerly in the South Pacific paid natives only one shilling to climb trees to get them coconuts. But a machinist's mate second class, paid two shillings. The boy he hired said: "Me plenty smart. Go 'long mission school. One shilling for trip up, one shilling for trip down."

Lizard Good to Eat.
If you see a big lizard, don't shun him; grab him. He is as good to eat as chicken. There are no poisonous lizards in the tropics. The only known poisonous lizards, the gila monster and its next of kin, the bearded lizard, are natives of our own southwest and adjacent parts of Mexico.

Carnivorous animals need not be feared. There are tigers in Asia, leopards and lions in Africa, but there are not many of them and the few you are likely to run into will run away in one direction faster than you run in the other. The one exception is a female with cubs: females seem to be quite unreasonable in such matters.

Even the dreaded tropical leeches can be kept off with proper clothing. Or if they attach, they can be induced to loosen their grip with a little salt or alcohol, or the touch of the hot end of a cigarette.

The real perils of the jungle are the tiny things: insects and germs. Protect yourself against mosquitoes, see to it that your drinking water is either boiled or chemically sterilized, use an antiseptic on cuts, scratches and insect bites, and you will ward off the real perils of the jungle.

NOTIONS ABOUT YOUR DOG THAT AREN'T SO

The country dog does not live longer than the city dog

A dog that bolts his food is not undernourished

You cannot tell a purebred dog by his black-roofed mouth

GAINES DOG RESEARCH CENTER

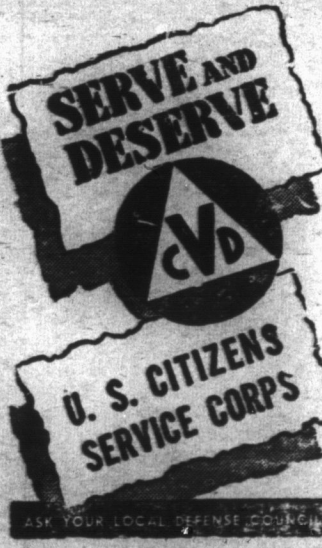

Three popular misconceptions about canines are here debunked by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

The country dog does not live longer than the city dog. As a matter of fact, the exact reverse is true: the lifespan of the average city dog is two to three years longer than that of his country cousin. Chief reason for this is the better care city dogs receive, particularly in the matter of feeding. City dogs, of course, are not exposed to the natural hazards encountered by country dogs.

A dog that bolts his food is not undernourished. It is natural for a dog to wolf or gulp his meals. The trait is believed a carry-over from primitive days when dogs ran in packs and each had to eat fast to get his share of captured food. Another fact: The structure of the dog's mouth and throat is unlike that of most domesticated animals.

You cannot tell a purebred dog by his black-roofed mouth. The mouths of many cross-breeds are black as midnight. The black tongue is peculiar to the Chow Chow, and some authorities hold that a black or partially black tongue is an indication of Chow blood somewhere along the line even though a given animal may have no other hint of Chow resemblance or characteristics.

The weapon was needed for Dieppe raid sequences in the picture but after wide search the property department informed the director they still hadn't been able to find one.

Then Walter Pidgeon heard about it and told the director he had the real thing at home.

The "Staghound" Ready For Action

A formidable weapon used in spearheading recent advances in the European war theater, and a closely guarded secret since early in 1941 is a speedy armored car, called the "Staghound."

Designed by Chevrolet engineers from general specifications drawn up by the Ordnance Department, it has already proved itself in combat. It weighs 14 tons and carries a five man crew at an exceptionally high speed for an armored combat unit.

This armored car was designed for specific missions requiring speed and fire power. It has proved to be a menace to the enemy's supply lines, machine gun nests, and light gun emplacements. Moving into a town before troops take over, the car can locate and blast out nests of snipers, and then patrol the area as a mobile fortress.

Protected by heavy armor the vehicle mounts in the turret a cannon in combination with the machine gun. The latter weapon, firing tracer bullets, is used to find the exact range for the cannon.

Another machine gun is mounted in the bow. Other weapons carried are a sub-machine gun and grenades. A smoke mortar for laying of screens is included.

With a top speed comparable to that of a passenger car and a cruising range of hundreds of miles, the armored cars are powered with standard Chevrolet-built engines.

They are 4-wheel drive, have tires nearly four feet high, and are unusually shell and bullet resistant.

Chickens, Fires, Peach Tree Borers, and Superphosphate

Among immigrants to the United States who have made good must be numbered the chicken. Foreign in origin, it was thought little of in Colonial days. Later it became a source of pin money. Today, eggs and meat from chickens represent a three billion dollar annual business in this country. Blood lines capable of an annual production of upwards of 200 eggs per hen have been developed. The dreaded Pullorum disease or Bacillary White Diarrhea is being gradually wiped out thru blood testing and certification. Strict sanitation in poultry production as well as in milk production has come to be realized as necessary. The poundage of meat produced by chickens equals a third of that produced by our beef cattle and more than a quarter of our annual pork production. It is four times that of our mutton and lamb production. The rise of the chicken over a comparatively short time is partly due to its biological efficiency, partly to American initiative and partly to research.

Fire Prevention Week

More than 40,000 barns and other farm buildings were damaged or destroyed by fire last year. Careless use of matches, smoking, defective stoves and heating plants and flammable wood shingles were among the major causes of farm fires which cost about 3,500 lives and $100,000,000 in farm property damage last year. Most farm fires are preventable and are due to the old familiar hazards. Eight hazards which cause 90% of farm property loss are:

1. Dirty and defective heating systems and chimneys.
2. Flammable, wood shingle roofs.
3. Defective electrical equipment.
4. Unsafe use of matches and cigarettes.
5. Unsafe uses and storage of gasoline and kerosene.
6. Rubbish.
7. Spontaneous combustion of hay and straw.
8. Lightning.

October 8 to 14 has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week by National Proclamation.

Superphosphate Helps Manure

Superphosphate fertilizer added to manure not only builds up its phosphate content but helps it to retain its nitrogen. One ton of manure is equal to 200 pounds of fertilizer analyzing 5-2-5. Fifty pounds of 20% superphosphate added to the ton of manure will build it up in value to 200 pounds of 5-7-5 fertilizer.

Peach Tree Borer Control

The dry weather of the past summer has been favorable to the peach tree borer and this year a heavy infestation can be expected. In using the Paradichlorobenzene treatment, remove all weeds and grass for an 18 inch space around the trunk of the trees. Spread the P. D. B. crystals in a shallow band one to one and one-half inches from the trunk. Cover the crystals with packed dirt to form a cone-shaped mound around the tree. From one-quarter ounce or P. D. B. for one and two year old trees to one ounce for six year old trees is used. The temperature when the chemical is used should be over 60° F. Remove the mounds in about six weeks.

RICHMOND TO ENTERTAIN VIRGINIA WAVES

The city of Richmond will be host to 90 Virginia women who have enlisted as members of the new WAVE unit, the Virginia Victory Volunteers, at a dinner in their honor, October 4th, at the Hotel John Marshall.

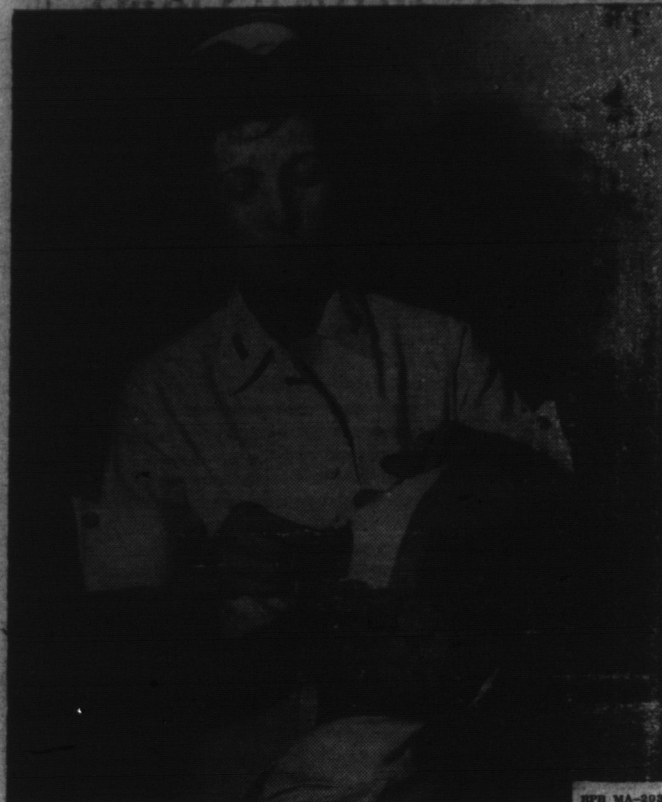

Mayor Herbert will lead a list of city officials who will attend the dinner, one of the highlights in a program planned for the new Waves during the day.

A breakfast served at the Navy League Club, will open the program followed by a parade to the Capitol, where the women will be sworn in to the Navy at a 12:30 p. m. ceremony which will be broadcast coast to coast. The public has been invited to attend.

This will be followed by a luncheon given by the Richmond Women's Council of the Navy League. A review of the V-12 unit at the University of Richmond and a garden party at Virginia House will be followed by a dinner, with Mrs. William H. Cocke in charge.

At the dinner the Waves will be presented with VVV certificates and will then leave together for training at Hunter College, N. Y. Lillian Hooe of Manassas will be a guest on this occasion.

FIRST THREE LESSONS IN DOG TRAINING

Whether your dog is a joy or a nuisance to you and your friends depends largely on one thing—his training. The Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City. The better trained he is, the more valuable and useful he will be. A well-trained dog is more than worth all the effort and patience put into his training.

Actually, a dog is infinitely easier to train than a child. You will succeed best if you keep certain things constantly in mind. A dog is not a human and must never be judged as such. Words to him are not words but simply sounds which, after much repetition, he comes to associate with certain actions desired of him. If the words are associated with a characteristic gesture, all the better. Words spoken to him loudly or in anger only serve to confuse him. A dog should never be punished unless he is made to understand what he is being punished for, and punishment should follow immediately after his misdeed. A dog's training should be handled by only one person, and if he has been properly trained, he will go through the motions for anyone who gives the commands properly.

Below are the first three lessons in obedience every dog must learn if he is to live in civilized society. He must come to you whenever you call him, no matter what else he may want to do at that particular time. He must learn to "heel," that is, walk or trot quietly at your side whenever you are out with him—not run ahead or behind you, trip you up, or get into a fight with another dog. And he must learn to sit or lie down when you stop in the street to greet a friend or pay a visit to a neighbor. The principles in these lessons are applicable to almost anything else you might like to teach your dog. For a list of recommended literature on dog training write to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York.

"COME!" Fasten a long string to his collar and let him run at will.

See Better Dogs In Artificial Breeding

Substantial improvement in the quality of America's— and the world's—dogs in the post-war period as the result of advances in the science of artificial breeding, is predicted by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

Fewer but better dogs will service large numbers of females at great distances and poorly accessible places. A trained individual, most likely a veterinarian, will effect the transfer of the life-element of the desired great sire from its airmail tube to the selected female without risk of injury or death to either animal in shipment.

The Center is planning as soon after the war as possible an exchange of the sperm of the most desirable studs in the United States with those of Great Britain, Russia and perhaps other countries.

The war interrupted a number of artificial breeding experiments in progress both here and abroad but these are expected to be resumed with the cessation of hostilities.

some of the wear. A mothproofed hairpad is best, but several layers of newspapers will do. Door mats help keep dirt off rugs and carpets indoors.

Textile experts recommend a quick brush-up every day. Daily sweeping with a soft brush or hand sweeper picks up loose dirt, lint and thread. If left longer, dirt works down to the roots of the pile where more severe cleaning is necessary to remove it. Dining room rugs regularly exposed to crumbs and grease need a daily brushing to which off grease before it can sink in.

Every week at least, give rugs or carpets in steady use a thorough cleaning with vacuum cleaner or broom. Long gentle strokes do as good a job as short digging jabs with the broom—and they stir up less dust and are easier on the rug. Easy, slow strokes give the vacuum time to do its best work, too. Clean scatter rugs like large ones. If you sweep, lay them flat on a big rug, or outdoors on clean dry grass. Avoid shaking and beating as this pulls out fibers and breaks yarns, besides cracking the yarn and loosening the sizing.

Shift (by lifting rather than dragging) all 'leg' furniture slightly to keep pile from crushing and to uproot any moths. Check for holes or torn places and mend immediately. Snip the sprouts—loose ends that occasionally appear even on the best carpets. Pulling them out leaves bald spots.

Occasionally move furniture about to distribute wear more evenly, or turn the rug end for end at least once a year. When sweeping with the vacuum cleaner or broom no longer leaves the rug looking clean, it is time to send it to a reliable cleaner for a thorough washing or dry cleaning.

DOG'S EXERCISE

Regular Walks Will Keep Him And Owner In Shape

Coordinate your own exercise with that of your dog and you'll both be the better off for it, advises the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

The dog's health requires sunshine and fresh air as much as yours does. Swimming or jumping is wonderful for him if he enjoys it, but regular walking will keep him in good condition. Regularity in exercising is most important. It is far better to take him half a dozen blocks each day than half a dozen miles on Sunday. Extended walks should not be undertaken immediately after meals, and he should always be taken out on his leash. If he tends to put on weight, reduce his food intake or step up his exercise. If it is impossible for you to give him daily walking exercise, a device like that shown in the illustration will provide it for him in complete safety.

Not only your dog's size, but his temperament and the food he consumes have a bearing on the amount of exercise he should have. In several days the dog was forced take a tremendous amount of exercise merely in finding his food. Today's domesticated animals cannot possibly digest the quantity of food that wild animals would in his wild state. More authorities are coming to believe that today's dogs are not a suitable diet for the better for him are the better balanced high quality dog in all essential food elements found on the shelves of grocery stores. A dog that receives complete nourishment requires nothing else.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Mr. Cleveland Fisher gave another of a series of his programs of recorded music Monday evening, September 25, in the Parish Hall. The famous "Unfinished Symphony" was the chief musical composition presented. This symphony, long a favorite of many people, became known to almost every one when the musical play "Blossom Time" popularized it thru its theme song, "You are my Song of Love," which was based on the "Unfinished Symphony." Other compositions that were greatly enjoyed were two beautiful waltzes and Litz's famous Symphonic Poem.

County Home Demonstration NEWS
Only The Home Can Found A State

By Nell Grim

Altho the oyster season traditionally opens in September, oysters will not come on the market in quantity until October and will not reach the peak of their supply until holiday time, according to fish food experts.

This year short supplies of oysters are expected because of labor shortages in the producing areas. Large oysters especially will be limited in quantity. High prices paid for oysters last season caused many oyster planters to market their stocks of both large-sized and under-sized oysters.

No canned oysters are purchased for military or lend-lease use, but considerable quantities of fresh oysters have been used by military forces in this country. Because of ready markets for fresh oysters last season, few were canned, and it is expected that few will be canned this year. In prewar years oysters were canned in quantity in the South Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Northwest areas and marketed particularly in the midwest where oysters were not readily obtainable.

Rug Saving

Rugs and carpets are opening their winter season now. Some had a summer vacation, others worked right thru the hot weather this year, but they all deserve continued good care to save them from the rug-cutting ravages of gritty dirt, malicious moths and sharp furniture legs.

With the present shortage of carpet wools jute and cargo space for civilian goods, and with the nation's carpet mills still turning out military essentials, textile experts emphasize regular care to keep rugs and carpets on floor duty for the duration.

Caster cups under furniture legs keep them from cutting into rugs. These cups may be of glass, plastic or wood. Pads under floor coverings take

Our 23 years breeding experience enables us to offer you better chicks this year—hardy, rugged, robust. Broiler raisers and egg producers find Grassy Knoll chicks have the abilities to grow into plump broilers, persistent layers.

To The People of Prince William County End of War Won't Stop WAR FUND DRIVE

An early Victory on the European front will not change the need for generous support to the Virginia War fund. The end of the war will have no effect upon the needs of our wounded veterans in hospitals at home and abroad. In fact, needs are being greatly increased by the rising tempo of the march to victory and services are being widely expanded. The need for relief in allied lands becomes more apparent as our armies enter occupied countries. Suffering and privation does not terminate with the end of actual fighting. In the months of readjustment our aid and comforts must continue.

There should be no curtailment of effort in placing the united appeal for generous support before the people. Our help in China, France, Poland, Greece and others cannot be discontinued the moment an armistice is signed, or on the day when the enemy shall collapse.

Prince William County War Fund*
