National Newspaper Week

National Newspaper Week will be observed for the tenth time this year, between October 1st and October 8th. The plan for the week was developed in 1940, with the original object of answering attacks and criticisms aimed at weakening the prestige and influence of newspapers.

Year after year, the place of a free press in a free society has been emphasized. It is just as well because people very easily take for granted the existence of a free press and the benefits of independence that the journalists of America enjoy.

It is not expected that everybody will recognize the contribution that great newspapers make of areas in which they circulate. Nor is it even certain that newspaper men themselves will agree upon the virtues of any particular newspaper. Nevertheless, the over-all usefulness of newspaper-making has rebounded greatly to the development of intelligent citizens and to the promotion of their just ambitions.

One of the features of Newspaper Week, observed every year, is a special day set aside as National Newspaper Boy Day. This year, it occurs on October 8th. Subscribers to newspapers who are served by carrier boys are urged to appreciate the earnest efforts of thousands of carrier boys who serve the readers of thousands of daily newspapers throughout the land. Many of the great citizens of this nation look back upon the years of service of carrier boys. The business experience, the training and the contact with human beings proved valuable to them in later life. This observation should remind those who deal with the carrier boys that the youngsters are adept judges of human nature and readily respond to the consideration that one should naturally pay to a youngster.

Time To Trade Goods

Now that devaluation has come to Great Britain and other countries of Europe, the experts are speculating about its effect upon the United States.

About the best way to find out is to wait and see what happens. Certainly, until other nations manage to cut down their huge surplus of exports over imports, there is no serious menace to the United States.

As our readers know, the United States has, for the past two years, shipped millions of dollars worth of products to other countries without receiving anything in return. Could it be disastrous if these nations, in exchange for our goods, managed to get some of their products into the United States where the American people could use them?

There has been much talk about one world and the desirability of reducing barriers to international commerce. However, whenever one nation attempts to take some forward step, the beneficiaries of the barriers arise to denounce the government and to lament the ruin of the national industry.

The cry is raised, of course, that the manufacturers of the United States cannot compete with the "cheap labor" of other areas. This might be a telling argument if it were not for the fact that, in the United States, the cheapest labor is found in the South and this section is the most backward to industrial development.

Certainly, the forty-eight American states enjoy free trade. If all industry followed cheap labor, one would expect to find most of the American industries in the Southern States. The fact that they are not, and that huge industries multiply in other regions, is positive proof that the "cheap labor" argument should be discounted.

The reader should not overlook the fact that economic conditions create discontent among the peoples of the world. While we are not in favor of giving money to other peoples, in order that they may loaf and enjoy themselves at our expense, we think it is wise to open up the avenues of opportunity. This will permit people to work, to earn their competence and to enjoy life.

Nor can we find anything immoral with the idea that if the people of one country can make a certain product cheaply, they are entitled to sell it on the world market to the best advantage. This would mean the implementation of competition on an international scale. Inasmuch as the protagonists of the American way of life loudly sing the praises of competition, there should be general support of the idea in this country.

VIEWS AND REVIEWS

What They Say, Whether Right or Wrong!

Harry S. Truman:

"A sound and expanding world economy is essential to world peace."

Tom Connally, U. S. Senator from Texas:

"I do not favor pouring more money into a rat hole at the bottom of which will be found Chiang Kai-shek."

Eugene D. Mullikian, U. S. Senator from Colorado:

"I wonder if it is not about time to retire for a much-needed and overdue rest the phrase 'calculated risk'."

Dmitri Z. Manuisky, Ukrainian Foreign Minister:

"No state can permit the church to become a state within a state."

Brock Chisholm, Director - General, World Health Organization:

"Only a few more years of present behavior patterns will destroy the human race."

Donald K. Davis, Dean, Harvard Business School:

"Morals of businessmen are better today than they have ever been, and they are vastly better than in most other segments of the community."

Carl C. Paulsen, hydraulic engineer for geological survey:

"There is no such thing as a nation-depletion of ground water."

Louise E. Denfeld, U. S. Admiral, Chief of Naval Operations:

"A spot-welder doing farm work is not as valuable as one who is kept employed at his trade."

Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer:

"To have a strong democracy, we must have a political understanding between the free democratic nations."

Walter F. Gorge, U. S. Senator from Georgia:

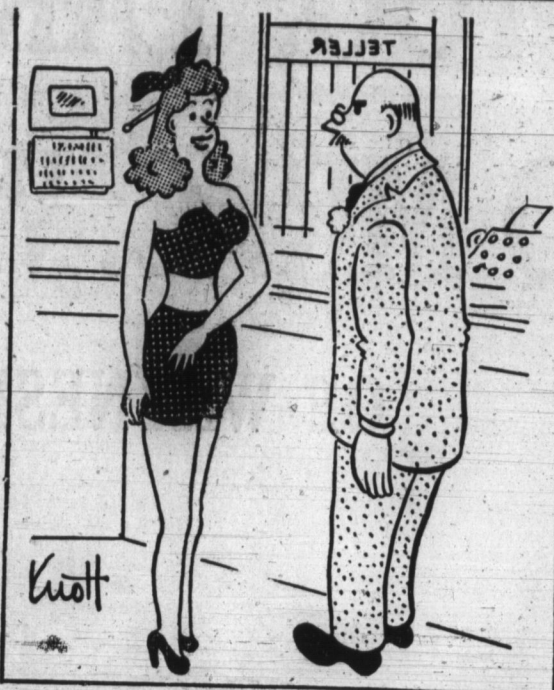

"I do not expect to see complete convertibility of currency in the world in the next decade."

William N. Thomas, chief of chaplains, U. S. Navy:

"We need desperately a brotherhood of men in the arms of life built on justice and truth."

Colin Clark, Australian government economist:

"Recent figures indicate that productivity (in Russia) is only at about the 1900 level."

"BUT, MR. HAWKINS! I'M GOING TO THE BEACH RIGHT AFTER WORK."

GREENWICH

Tom Foley, a Middel at Union Seminary is the new student minister at the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Foley and his wife spent the weekend with Rev. and Mrs. Albert Winn, and he conducted the Sunday Services.

The Pioneers went on a hayride on Friday evening, returning to the Sunday School building for ping-pong and refreshments.

The Women of the Church went to Litchfield on Thursday to attend the Bealeton District meeting. Members of the Presbyterian Church are reminded of the Parish Council Supper at Catlett on Saturday evening. This will be another chance to see the work going on within the Council, and to get better acquainted with members of the churches in the Parish.

Mr. Dewey Wood visited Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Wood on Sunday.

Mrs. Selma Corder has been sick in bed for the past several days, but is on the road to recovery now.

Mrs. J. M. Spittle, John and Joe visited Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Loving in Alexandria on Sunday.

Mrs. Paye Champbell and daughter Jean, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Squires over the weekend.

It was a celebration of birthdays at Mrs. Mary Foster's home on Sunday, with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kenny's, Mrs. Grace House's and Miss Martha's Foster's birthdays all coming between the third and eleventh of October, they celebrate them each year together—the whole family was present.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hoffman visited her folks at New Baltimore on Sunday.

Sgt. and Mrs. Don Martin left to visit folks in Illinois on Tuesday. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

The Rev. Albert Winn will conduct Communion Services at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

To The Homemaker

By Virginia Post, Home Economist
Virginia Electric & Power Co.

Apples and sweet potatoes are two of the most plentiful buys on the market this month and can be cooked in so many different ways that they can be served often without monotony.

The apples on October markets will include varieties recommended for desserts, general purpose, and cooking and baking. Delicious, Grimes Golden and Jonathan varieties are good dessert apples. Northwestern Greenings, Duchess and Yorks are suggested for cooking and baking, and King David and Wealthy varieties are good for general purpose use. Winter Banana and McIntosh are multiple use apples, equally satisfactory for dessert or for cooking and general purpose use.

Sweet potatoes are high in food energy, furnishing one-third more than white potatoes. They are rich in vitamins A and C and are a source of valuable minerals. Avoid buying bruised sweet potatoes and don't buy more than you will use in a few days, for they do not keep as well as white potatoes.

Here is a quick easy recipe for sweet potato cookery.

MAPLE SWEET POTATOES
6 medium size cooked sweet potatoes

4 tbl. butter
1 c. maple sirup
Cut potatoes in half lengthwise, and place in greased baking dish. Dot with butter and pour sirup over them. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 30 minutes basting occasionally. Serves 6.
Nothing can beat a good apple pie, especially served with cheese: Here is our favorite recipe.

VIRGINIA'S APPLE PIE
9-inch pie dish
Preheated or cold oven 425-450 deg.
Baking time—45 minutes.
¾ c. fresh apples
4 tbl. flour
1 1-4 c. sugar
1 tbl. butter
Cinnamon

Peel apples, core, then cut in eighths. Apples should not be sliced too thin. Combine flour and sugar. Spread about half this mixture over the bottom crust. Add apples, then put remaining mixture over them. Sprinkle with a little cinnamon, if you like. Add butter in small bits. Moisten edge of bottom crust with butter—then place top crust over. Trim off pastry—1 inch from edge of pan. Tuck top pastry under bottom pastry, press edges together and then flute rim.

$2,000-A-COPY ATLAS

Pasadena, Cal.—Photographs of the heavens visible from the Northern Hemisphere to a distance of some 3,000,000,000 light years are to be made into an atlas by the Palomar Mountain Observatory. They will sell for $2,000 a copy, or about $1 a page, and will be available to universities and other observatories.

Every All-Crop harvester is built to give years of service to harvest thousands of acres. But winter damage from rust and neglect can take more out of the life of your machine than actual use. Avoiding this loss is simple:

1. Keep your harvester in a good shed when its not in use — clean out all dirt and trash after each job.

2. At the close of each season, let us make a Free 24 Point Inspection. We'll come out to your farm, or you can bring your All-Crop in.

Our inspection and winter tune-up program includes tightening all loose bolts or other parts, listing all needed repairs, complete lubrication, protection of all bright surfaces against rust, and removal of belts and canvas for safe storage.

Your fall tune-up doesn't cost, it pays — in longer machine life and delay-free harvests.

Pine Tree Seedlings Are Available to Farmers

CHARLOTTESVILLE.—The Virginia Forest Service grows forest tree seedlings at its nurseries to be sold to the landowners of Virginia at less than the cost of growing the seedlings. The shortleaf and loblolly pine species grown for reforestation are available to landowners at a cost of three dollars per thousand seedlings.

A thousand seedlings will plant one acre, using a spacing figure of 6 and 1-2 feet by 6 and 1-2 feet. In many cases it is advisable to plant the seedlings at a wider spacing than this; therefore the number of seedlings required is reduced considerably to plant an acre. Under average planting conditions an acre may be planted at a cost of from five to eight dollars per acre. This also includes the cost of seedlings.

An interest rate will be realized on this original cost by planting of from 50 to 100 per cent each year, at the time the trees are merchantable for pulpwood or saw timber.

An example is given of the interest that is possible to receive on a typical plantation in Albemarle County, near Charlottesville. Recent exact measurements were taken on the plantation that was planted in the Spring of 1929. This plantation is on average soil and this year there is approximately 35 merchantable cords of pulpwood on a per acre basis. Considering pulpwood stumpage of this type to be valued at approximately three dollars per cord, an increase in value from the plantation would be approximately five dollars each and every year for the last 20 years. Figuring the cost of planting at eight dollars per acre, this gives an annual interest on the plantation of better than 60 per cent. Where else can money be invested at a higher rate of interest?

Information Available.
Here are some of the tree seedlings by species that will be available for the Spring planting season, 1950: shortleaf pine, loblolly pine, white pine yellow poplar, black walnut and black locust.

The planting season for this section of Virginia is usually from the middle of February to the 15th of April. Any time within these dates that the ground is suitable for working is a satisfactory time to plant tree seedlings. If any landowner is interested, the Virginia Forest Service will send a forester upon request to inspect planting sites and to recommend the proper tree seedlings to be planted on different soil under varied conditions. The forester will be able to give the interested owner other valuable information in relation to planting trees and managing other forest lands that he now owns.

The Virginia Forest Service also has available, for use by landowners, mechanical tree planters that dig that can be planted per man per day and also will decrease the cost of planting on a per acre basis. This planter may be obtained upon request for use in this county if the owner intends to plant as many as eight or more acres.

For information on reforestation or other forestry problems, write to the Virginia Forest Service, Charlottesville, Va., or contact your county agent, Soil Conservation Service or your chief forest warden.

FAMILY BIRTHDAY
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Six children of Mrs. Mary Carey all celebrate September 11th as their birthday. A seventh child, a boy, was also born on September 11, but died in infancy. Mrs. Carey, now 75, and her husband, David, who died in 1936, were parents of 12 children, ten of whom are living.

Coming Fair Season Is Health Hazard

Fair season in Virginia—and farmers are advised by Frank Cox, county agent, to be sure animals do not bring disease hazards home with their blue ribbons.

No matter what stringent sanitary measures have been taken at fairs, any animal shown where there are large groups of other animals should be handled as it has been exposed to infection, the agent warns.

A minimum quarantine period of 30 days is recommended for all animals after fair exhibitions, before letting them join the home herds. The agent pointed out that while an animal may appear perfectly healthy, it can be harboring deadly disease germs contracted from an equally healthy-looking animal at a fair, show or livestock sale.

Also recommended is a check-up by a veterinarian of all livestock returning from fairs.

A&P, TOO, TAKES OFF ITS HAT TO MR. C. WHIT BLOUNT OF WAYNESBORO, GEORGIA

An Advertisement From The
Waynesboro True Citizen

A Word For Our Competitor The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

There has been a move by the anti-trust department of the Federal Government to destroy our leading competitor, the A&P Food Store.

It may seem odd, but we are opposed to this move.

The A&P Co., is definitely our strongest competitor - they keep us hopping. But, we are still in business - And Expanding. We do it by selling quality merchandise, buying at a close margin and selling at CLOSER margin.

The so called "trust-busters" charge that the A&P Co. control some of the production and processing ends of the food business. As a result, they hold the cost price down on foods.

WELL, WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS??

If A&P holds the costs down, it makes our suppliers hold their costs down to the same competitive level. They can sell cheaper, AND SO CAN WE.

We intend to continue to try to sell better merchandise than A&P; We also will continue to have competitive prices.

BUT, We don't believe the government, or any individual should try to break up a firm that is doing a good, clean, efficient job of serving the people of this country.

Competitor Denounces Suit Against A&P

THE BOLD three-column advertisement in the current issue of the Waynesboro True Citizen catches the reader's eye. We quote it in full.

To our notion that advertisement by C. Whit Blount states the economic and governmental aspects of the case against A&P with a clarity and forcefulness that most of the editorial comment has lacked.

Also it strikes us as a fine example of sportsmanship in business.

Incidentally, it is about as effective an advertisement as could have been written for Mr. Blount's "Groceteria".

Makes you sort of wish you were in Waynesboro to trade with him, doesn't it?

Sunday School Lesson

THE MORAL BASIS OF TRUE WORSHIP
International Sunday School Lesson for October 9, 1949

MEMORY SELECTION: "Cease to do evil; learn to do well."—Isaiah 1:16-17.

Lesson Text: Isaiah 1:11-18; Jeremiah 7:3-7.

Isaiah, as illustrated by the words of the lesson text, condemned hypocritical worship, just as his predecessors had done. Amos said: "I hate, I despise your past, and I will take no delight in your solemn assemblies. . . . But let justice roll down as waters and righteousness as a mighty stream." Hosea said: "I desire goodness, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings." Micah said: "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth Jehovah require of thee but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Our lesson text repeats the same refrain. Speaking through Isaiah Jehovah says, "I have had enough of the burnt offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts; your new moons and your appointed feasts my soul hateth. . . . When ye make many prayers, I will not hear: Your hands are full of blood. Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well; seek justice; relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow. 'If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall be devious with the sword.'"

"Isaiah was clearly called to be the prophet of holiness," says Prof. Alexander R. Gordon. "His task was to make the vision of God's holiness as real and effective in the national life as it had proved in his own." "Isaiah is the moral regent of the prophets," says Prof. John Edgar McFadden. "His words and thoughts are those of a man whose eyes had seen the King (6:5). The times in which he lived were big with political problems, which he met as a statesman, who saw the large meaning of events, and as a prophet who saw a divine purpose in history."

"In the use of his pen, Isaiah seems to possess a versatile genius. No special style marks his entire work," says Rev. George L. Petrie. "In it many styles combine. It is prose and poetry. Sometimes so simple is his language that the false prophets of his day jeered him for the plainness and simplicity of his speech, and bade him speak to babes and not to men. Sometimes his thoughts are expressed in words, so sublime and so great, that he attains the loftiest pinnacle of literary excellence, where he calmly reigns with scarcely a peer with whom to share his glories."

"There is very little apparent art in his writings, far less than many other inspired authors; far less than in Micah, his contemporary. The difference between the two is the difference in the garden, where there is much beauty and much order, and the primeval forest planted by God's almighty hand; where there are no straight walks, no bounded beds, no shaded avenues, but there is unmeasured beauty beneath and unrestricted grandeur overhead."

"The prophets never tried to tone sin down," says Rev. Charles E. Jerroson. "They never applied to it soft and extenuating words. They never called it 'ignorance,' or 'error,' or 'mistake.' It is all that, but it is more. They never called it 'defect,' or 'flaw,' or 'immaturity.' They knew it was worse than that."

They never called it 'ignorance,' or 'goodness in the making.' They were too sensible for that. Because they saw the malignancy and deadliness of sin, they saw the inevitableness of retribution. They said plainly that God punishes sin. He punishes every sin, and he punishes sin awfully."

"We have all noticed the vast difference between religious ceremony and moral life," says Frederick B. Fisher. "It may be said with truth that as the moral life of a people declines, the religious ceremony seems to increase. The history of religious reform is the story of rebellion against excessive ritual and corresponding laxity in morals. And, strangely the older an organized religion becomes, the more ritualistic it is."

"It was this fact which aroused Isaiah. He was a prophet of ethics. He could not bear to hear the name of God mentioned at a sacred altar by wicked priests; nor could he understand how wicked laymen could enter the temple, take part in the sacred ceremonies of worship, and come forth seemingly satisfied, when their lives were openly immoral. It was an intellectual appeal that he made."

Construction Projects Are Increasing

Alexandria.—Activity on construction projects, slowed by labor disputes in June in the Alexandria-Arlington area, picked up the latter part of July when labor differences were resolved.

At the present time, construction work is going on at a brisk pace and is at a higher level than last year at this time. Proof of this is evidenced by a comparison of dollar valuation of building permits issued.

During June and July of this year, the value of permits amounted to $27,719,539 as compared with $14,945,798 for the same months a year ago.

Forest Service Needs Cones For Seedlings

CHARLOTTESVILLE.—An urgent appeal for pine cones was issued September 14th by State Forester George W. Dean. The cones are needed to provide seed for growing six million pine seedlings in the Virginia Forest Service Nurseries during the next year.

Forester Dean states that the Virginia Forest Service critically needs seed-filled cones of white pine, loblolly pine and shortleaf pine. The Forest Service will pay $3.00 per bushel for white pine and loblolly pine cones and $5.00 per bushel for shortleaf cones, at the collector's home, and will furnish burlap bags. The cones must be "ripe" (just beginning to turn brown), well-filled, and must not have opened. White pine cones are "ripe" at the present time, and those of loblolly and shortleaf pines should be ready for picking by October 1. Loblolly and shortleaf pine cones will be too far opened for picking by November 1.

COPS SAVE HER $20,000

New York.—Mrs. Mary Balada, 47-year-old cleaning woman, lost her purse, containing $20,000 when a youth stepped from a doorway, hit her on the head and grabbed her pocketbook. Police took up the chase and captured Virgil Adkins, 19, of Melvindale, Mich., booking him on a charge of assault and robbery. There was $20,000 in securities and bank deposits in the purse, which Mrs. Balada said she carried with her always.

LOSES $12,500 ON SUBWAY

NEW YORK.—Going to a bank Mrs. Mary Sangerling, 52, drew out her life's savings, $12,500 to buy a new house and car. She put the cash in a paper bag and got on a subway train to return to her home in the Bronx. Becoming absorbed in reading a comic book, Mrs. Sangerling did not think about the money. Upon leaving the train she noticed that the bag, and all of her money, had disappeared.

plainants,
vs.
IN CHANCERY—ORDER
OF PUBLICATION

John R. Monroe, Catherine Gray,
John W. Gray, Mary A. Bettis,
James L. Bettis, Martha Swartz
George Bleight, S. R. Bleight, Jr., et al., Defendants.

A. A. Marsteller, Asa Ford, and other persons who have, may have or claim an interest in the subject matter who are made defendants
under the general term, "Parties Unknown," Defendants.

The object of the above-styled suit is to quiet, in the aforesaid complainants, title to three parcels of land lying in Gainesville Magisterial District of Prince William County, Virginia, and more particularly described as follows:

First Parcel: Beginning at 1, a stone, corner to Crewe west side of County Road; thence along said road S. 35 deg. 33' W., 298 feet to 2, a post, corner to Clarkson; thence with Clarkson, N. 72 deg. W. 768 ft.
to 3, a stone; thence with Clarkson,
N. 35 deg. E. 893 feet to 4, a stone;
thence with Clarkson and W. Crewe, S. 28 deg. 7' E., 817 feet to 5, the beginning, containing 10 acres, more or less.

Second Parcel—Two acres, from tract known as Mountain Land. The said two (2) acres to be bounded by the road on the east, by Blight's
land on the south, on the north allowing a lawful roading between said two acres and Swartz land, and on west by land of the party of the first part.

Third Parcel—Lying and being situate in Gainesville Magisterial District, aforesaid county and state, and lying on Catlett's Branch, adjoining the land sold George Davis,
beginning at a stone pile on Cat-lett Branch, corner to Davis' lot in Blight's line, then with Davis' lot and Edwards, N. 76 deg. E. 25 poles to a bunch of maple sprouts, corner to Edwards, then with Edwards N. 5 W. 26 poles to a pine corner to same, then S. 76 W. 35 poles to pile of stones on branch, then down branch S. 11 W. 12 poles S.
45 E. 16 poles to the beginning, containing five (5) acres, more or less.

And it appearing by affidavit filed according to law that the above-named defendants, excepting George Bleight and S. R. Bleight, Jr., are, as far as can be determined,
non-residents of this state and their addresses are unknown; and that there may be heirs, devisees, creditors, assigns and others who are or may be interested in the subject land involved in this suit who are "parties unknown," it is therefore ordered that John R.
Monroe, Catharine Gray, John W.
Gray, Mary A. Bettis, James L. Bet-tis, Martha Swartz, et al., wife of
A. A. Marsteller, Asa Ford and other persons who may have or claim an interest in the subject
matter who are made defendants
under the general term of "Parties Unknown," do appear within ten
(10) days after due publication of this order, in the Clerk's office of our said Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia,
and do what is necessary to protect their interests. And it is further ordered that this order be published once a week for four consecutive weeks in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulated in Prince William County, Virginia; and it is further ordered that a copy of this order be posted at the front door of the court house of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia, on or before the next succeeding Rule
Day, and that another copy of this order be mailed to the defendants to the post office addresses given in the affidavit.

ULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AS AMENDED
BY THE ACTS OF MARCH 3,
1933, AND JULY 2, 1946.

Of The Manassas Journal published
weekly at Manassas, Va. for Oct.
1, 1949.
State of Virginia.

County of Prince William, ss.
Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared A. W. Kilpatrick, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the editor of The Manassas Journal and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily, weekly, semi-weekly or weekly newspaper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the acts of March 3, 1933, and July 2, 1946 (section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations), printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:
Publisher, Prince William Publishing Co., Manassas, Va.; Editor, A.
W. Kilpatrick, Manassas, Va.; Managing editor, A. W. Kilpatrick, Manassas, Va.; Business manager, A.
W. Kilpatrick, Manassas, Va.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one percent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.)
John Galleher, Leesburg, Va.; W.
Hill Brown, Jr., Manassas, Va.; W.
H. Lipscomb, Washington, D. C.;
A. S. Hudgins, Blackstone, Va.;
Pitts Enterprises, Fredericksburg,
Va.; Prince William Publishing Co.,
Inc., Manassas, Va.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 percent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:
(If there are none, so state.) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholders or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation
for whom such trustee is acting;
is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and that affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed, through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the twelve months preceding the date shown above is 1995 (This information is required from daily, weekly, semi-

V. P. I. Bee Expert
Will Make Return

Because of the county-wide interest shown in beekeeping since the County Beekeeper's meeting held at County Agent Frank Cox's office in April, arrangements have been made for V. P. I. Bee Specialist George H. Rea to come to Prince William County for another meeting and for visits to beekeepers on Wednesday, October 5.

Said Mr. Rea at the April meeting, "Beekeeping for honey production is older than written history. For centuries, man depended on honeybees for his sweet food."
"Only in recent years," he added,
"has the role of honeybees in the pollination of many of our important orchard, field and garden crops been recognized. The national honey crop exceeds two hundred millions of pounds and is an important cash crop. It can be truthfully said that the value of honeybees in pollination, in addition, exceeds manyfold the cash value of the honey crop."

The second County Bee Meeting, to which all interested are invited, is scheduled for 1:30 p. m., October 5th at the County Agent's office in the Manassas Post Office building.

INS

On the SCREEN

"Anna Lucasta"

Based on the play by Philip Yordan, which was originally produced by an all-Negro cast, this film deals with the daughter of a Polish family in Pennsylvania, who, after a life of sin and dissipation, tries to settle down to married respectability. The film has a raw and rather gamey flavor, one that is only rarely encountered in Hollywood. There is amusingly-vulgar clowning in the impoverished home of the Lucasta clan and there are more excuses for laughter offered than you might expect from the serious nature of the theme.

Paulette Goddard is explicit in her interpretation of the title role. Oscar Homolka alternately plods and staggers through the part of the father. Broderick Crawford's impersonation of the dim-witted scheming son-in-law, and Mary Wickes' portrayal of his wife, who is blessed with a sense of dry wit, are excellent. Others in the cast include Will Geer, Dennis Moore, Grace Hampton, Lisa Golm, William Bishop, John Ireland and James Brown.

NEWS from HOLLYWOOD

Jane Cowl is currently appearing before the cameras with Barbara Stanwyck and John Lund in "The Lie." During the winter, she plans to go to London to produce and direct "Smilin' Thru," one of her greatest successes, which she also wrote in collaboration with Jane Murn.

"I'M AFRAID THAT YOU HAVE THE WRONG OFFICE, SIR."

Tired of the deeper stuff, Rosalind Russell has put her foot down—no more dramas—for the time being, at least. She wants lighter roles.

Robert Walker fans are delighted to see the comeback he has made since his recent illness. While working on the set of "Please Believe Me," Walter disclosed the fact that he is thinking of going into the directing end of the business.

Everything's rosy in Hollywood, now. Movie companies are shooting 47 pictures, six of which are being made in Europe. This compares with a low of 22 last February when things were not looking so good hereabouts.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I am married to a fine woman, who is very much interested in civic affairs. That is all fine but the only trouble is that she neglects her home to work for the town.

She leaves our two little girls with a maid most of the day while she goes from one thing to another and even then she is not satisfied. Night after night I sit at home with the children while she rehearses with the choir or takes up some kind of course.

I am getting fed up because I think that her job as a wife and mother should come first. What do you think about this situation?

Disgusted Husband.

ANSWER:

I think you are exactly right. As long as a woman has growing children and a husband, her first duty is to them. It certainly is bad policy to work for the good of others and let your own children lack a mother's guidance and influence. She should not do it at the expense of her own family.

Little children need plenty of personal care and attention and the time of a parent's influence is too short to throw away the opportunity.

She should be glad too that she has a husband who loves his home. But she certainly is taking a chance of losing him by running out every night with some other group and leaving him home to brood over her neglect.

After the children grow up, it is a fine thing to be interested enough in public affairs to work for the good of the community, in fact it is good, anytime, just so that one doesn't let it come before one's family.

Have a talk with your wife and try to make her understand that she will have plenty of time for outside work after the children grow up. Just put your foot down and let her know that you do not intend to stay at home by yourself every night and she will probably come to her senses.

ship, steer clear of the man who drinks.

Address your letters to LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am engaged to a boy who has only one fault. He is as nice as anybody in the world unless he is drinking, and he just will drink occasionally.

Do you think he will stop after we are married? He has promised me that he would.

"Undecided."

My advice is to give him an ultimatum. Either he stops drinking and proves it by staying sober a year before you are married or call the whole thing off. The drunks who have reformed after they were married are as scarce as hen's teeth and if they don't stop before-hand, you can write it down that they have no intention of doing so later on.
