

Br'er Kerlin He Lay Low; 'No Comment'

Sheriff John P. Kerlin, as Uncle Remus used to say about Br'er Rabbit, "he lay low" this week when it came to talking for publication about the recent upheaval in the Prince William County sheriff's office.

Reached by The Journal this week, Sheriff Kerlin's first reaction was to make "no comment" on several queries. Later, he told this newspaper he would answer all questions in writing, to which proposition The Journal agreed, offering to put its questions on paper for the sheriff to study before answering.

Came Tuesday, The Journal's questions were ready, but the sheriff told a reporter that he had already decided to make a statement "that will cover everything," so he did not need the questions. He agreed to stop by The Journal office with a copy of the statement on Tuesday afternoon.

On Wednesday morning, with still no statement forthcoming, The Journal visited the sheriff's office. The sheriff was in court. A few minutes after The Journal representative entered the courtroom, the sheriff left. When the reporter left the courtroom and looked into the sheriff's office again, Mr. Kerlin was reported to be back in the courtroom.

At the time of going to press, The Journal had not yet received the statement which would, according to the sheriff, tell all. Thus, The Journal had no way of knowing whether its three questions would be answered by the statement. The questions were:

1. Why was Deputy Turner Wheeler dismissed without public explanation of cause and at the same time given a commendatory letter of recommendation?

2. Have you decided on a replacement for Wheeler, if he is to be replaced?

3. Taking notice of the fact that the wife of Deputy Sheriff A. J. Humphrey at Quantico is seeking ABC permission to open the Coney Island Grill on Potomac Avenue, Quantico, what is your policy with respect to the families of your deputies engaging in the alcoholic beverage trade?

Press Break Delays
Printing of Journal

Owing to a press break, delivery of your Manassas Journal has been delayed.

As soon as the break occurred, arrangements were made with the publishers of The Fauquier Democrat, at Warrenton, to print this issue of the Journal. The large page-forms of type were trucked to Warrenton by Ralph Cornwell, Manassas trucker, and the printed papers were trucked back to Manassas for entry at the post office as required by postal regulations.

The necessary steps are being taken to insure regular Thursday publication of The Manassas Journal. We hope you have not been unduly inconvenienced by the non-delivery of your paper on Friday morning.

Personality of The Week

Horse Doc, No Psychologist, Could Risk a Hoof in The Head

The veterinary profession is one in which, if you don't use psychology on your patients you are in danger of getting your head kicked off. Of course, that is more so if the patient is a 2,000-lb. percheron than if it is a two-pound hamster (unless you have a really small head), but any who thinks being a vet is just a semi-skilled way of earning a living has another thing to think about.

Dr. M. C. Robbins, at Quantico, who is what might be called a general practitioner among the big cities animal doctors, usually specializes in pets, while country vets go all-out for sheep, cattle, hogs and other animals that might be called non-personality.

Dr. Robbins is young for folks, but older than most of his patients—you hear these believe-it-or-not things, he explains, about 40-year-old horses, but not in Prince William County. The one-ton horse and the two-ounce hamster are among his former patients, as are many sick, lame and lazy dogs and not a few ailing cats.

Robbins is proud—and justly so—of the VMD that follows his name. At some schools they award DVM—for Doctor of Veterinary Medicine—but at Pennsylvania, where he got his parchment in 1942, so Robbins is a Veterinariae Medicinae Doctor—though he won't be mad if you just call him "Doc."

The Army's widely acclaimed classification system did its work shortly after Doc's graduation from (See HORSE DOC, Page 12)

School Board Re-elects All Principals

All teachers presently serving as principals in Prince William County schools were re-elected Wednesday for the 1950-51 school year.

C. J. Gibson, principal at Brentsville District High School, is expected to accept a post as supervisor of instruction in Loudoun county, and probably will not be available for the Brentsville post next year.

Nevertheless, Superintendent R. Worth Peters said, he was re-elected so that he could continue to serve at Brentsville "if anything happened that he should not take the position in Leesburg."

Others reelected were Daniel M. Kelso, principal, and Miss Carrie B. Lanford, assistant at Osbourn; Mrs. Ossie L. Tipton, assistant at Bennett; Vernon Schultz, Technical school; Herbert J. Saunders, Occoquan school; Mrs. Martha Craft, Dumfries school; Mrs. Marvel Hanscome, Woodbine school; C. N. Bennett, Regional High school; Mrs. Margaret Roy, Brown Elementary school.

Miss Sue Ayres was re-named elementary supervisor for the white schools of the county, and Miss Naomi Wright as elementary supervisor for colored schools.

Other action taken by the school board included:

Elected Mrs. Florence One to the new post of county school nurse.

Elected Mrs. Rosamond Hanson and W. Y. Elliott as school census takers for the five-yearly Virginia state enumeration.

Granted a civic request for the use of the Osbourn High School gymnasium, one night a week as a National Guard armory, and gave permission for the construction of auxiliary buildings.

Tentatively adopted the Technical school budget of $101,230, subject to approval of the state board of education.

Visited the Woodbine school.

Census Nears; Enter Contest

The census taker will begin his rounds in about three weeks, and final plans are being made for the biggest population count in history.

Urban dwellers will see the census taker during the first two weeks in April, while farm families will be questioned at various times throughout the entire month.

It is not too late to enter The Manassas Journal's Dollar-a-Thousand census contest. An entry blank and simple rules are published elsewhere in this paper. It costs but a penny post-card to enter, and if your estimate of the county's population comes closest to census figures, you will be paid $1 for each 1,000 or major fraction of the official count.

The contest will close at midnight, April 30, closing day of the federal census.

School Heads In Crackdown On Truancy

A Gainesville woman was found guilty Wednesday of allowing her 15-year-old son to absent himself from school, her husband was summoned to court on a bench warrant, and Monday was set for hearing of another truancy case in a crackdown against laxity of school attendance.

Mrs. Aubrey Manuel was adjudged guilty by Trial Justice C. Lacey Compton, who deferred sentencing until Monday. At the same time, Compton directed police to insure the attendance of her husband who, Compton said, "is just as responsible in the eyes of the law" as the mother.

Also set for Monday hearing is the case of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson, near neighbors in Gainesville of the Manuels, whose 15-year-old daughter allegedly has attended school only irregularly this year.

Mrs. Manuel's son, Carroll Lee, an eighth-grade student at Warrenton, formerly attended school in Manassas. Attendance records shown by Attendance Officer W. Y. Elliott indicate the boy was absent numerous times in September and October, and on most school days in November and until he transferred to Warrenton Dec. 12.

The Fauquier county school records, Elliott said, show the boy has been absent every day but one since the first of this year.

The Wilson child, Barbara, also an eighth-grade student, has not attended school this year except for two days in January, according to records.

Elliott, complaining witness in both cases, stated that the prosecutions are in the nature of a crackdown, aimed not only at punishing the parents immediately concerned, but at pointing up to other parents the necessity for insuring regular attendance at school.

Tests for Census Takers Set for Next Week Here

Applicants for positions in taking the 1950 Census in Prince William County will be given a general comprehension test at the Manassas Town Hall at 10 a. m. next Wednesday and Thursday.

The applicants will be divided into two groups for the examination with those whose last names begin with letters through the letters "A" to "L" being asked to report on Wednesday morning, and those with last names beginning with the letters "M" through "Z" being asked to report on Thursday morning.

Each applicant who has already submitted his or her name to the Alexandria District Office of the Bureau of the Census will be notified by card to report for the test. The examination will be in writing and will require an hour to complete.

To Conduct Meeting For Recreation Workers

MILDRED SCANLON
Miss Scanlon recreation specialist, will come to Manassas April 11, 12, 13, and 14 to conduct a leadership training meeting for recreation workers.

Her visit to Manassas is sponsored by the Recreation Committee of the Home Demonstration Clubs. All schools, churches, and organizations are invited to send representatives to hear her.

3 School Board Meetings Set

The next regular meeting of the school board will be held April 5, at 9:30 a. m., at the Dumfries school, when teacher elections will be held. Two special sessions have been called prior to the regular meeting. These will be:

Tuesday, March 14 at 2 p. m., to discuss and take action on the county school budget for 1950-51.

Thursday, March 23, at 10 a. m., to select an architect for the Osbourn High School building to succeed James J. Baldwin of Washington.

Mr. Baldwin, originally selected as architect, became ill and reported that he could not continue.

Off Again, On Again.
Off Again, Period

The so-called "Festival of the Goldfish"—dedication of the Manassas sewage disposal plant—is off again, but definitely and permanently this time.

Town Manager James Ritter notified the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday that the twice-postponed dedication would not take place. Originally it had been planned to invite Gov. Battle to participate in dedicatory exercises, but when the governor notified the town he would not be available on the suggested date, the dedication was postponed.

The name "Festival of the Goldfish" was coined by wags in reference to the fact that one of the pools in the disposal plant would contain live—and supposedly healthy—goldfish.

Plow Contest Date Is Reset

The third time may be a charm for the FFA plowing contest on the V. W. Zirkle property near Nokesville.

Originally scheduled for March 1, the contest was postponed due to extremely cold weather until Wednesday, March 8. But rain got in the way on Wednesday, and a second postponement was announced.

Weather permitting, the contest will be held Wednesday, March 15, beginning at 1 p. m.

Sponsors of the contest, who are providing tractors for the FFA members to operate, are R. J. Wayland, McMichael Service Center, Herring Farm Supplies, Manassas Hardware, Lewis Supply, Kerns, and the Wilson Motor Company of Catlett.

Flu Rampant Here;
128 Cases Reported

Incidence of influenza in Prince William County is the fifth highest in the entire state, according to a morbidity report just released by the state health department.

What is more, Dr. L. J. Roper, state health commissioner, says, Virginia and Texas led the states of the union in showing the largest increase in reported incidence of flu. On February 25, there had been 2,377 reported cases in the state during the previous week, 128 of which were in Prince William County.

Dr. Walter R. Johnson, county health officer, said "many other" cases of influenza occurred in the county during the period, but were not given medical attention and hence were not reported.

Influenza hot spots in the state, with number of cases exceeding that of Prince William, were: Giles County, 249; Wise County, 189; Alexandria City, 180; and Smyth County, 174.

Quantico Will Get
3 New Street Lights

Street lights, authorized in January by the Quantico Town Council, will be in operation within a month. The Virginia Electric Power Company has notified the town that installation of the lights should start shortly after the middle of March.

One light will be placed in the middle of the block on the upper part of Fourth avenue, and two will be installed on Third avenue.

C. of C. Studies Plea To Fight Road Bill

The Prince William Chamber of Commerce's roads committee is studying an appeal by the United States Chamber of Commerce for aid in opposition to a congressional bill regarding federal support of state highway systems.

On motion of Stanley A. Owens, the local chamber, at its Tuesday meeting, agreed to turn the matter over to the roads committee with authorization for that group to "act as it thinks best."

Old Files Show Times Change
But Some Things Stay the Same

The old files of a newspaper show many interesting things, and generally speaking the older the newspaper the more intriguing the reading.

The other day The Journal staff discovered a yellowed copy of The Manassas Journal dated August 13, 1909. That was back in the days when there was still some doubt about whether autos were here to stay, and Probe's Carriage Co. in Washington was betting on the horse and offering a special buggy for $50; when S. T. Weir was offering "nice bright Potomac Herring" at 10 cents a dozen; when percales were selling at Hynson's at 10 cents a yard and when the week's social high point was a Friday evening german at Nicol's Hall.

Much had changed in the four decades that had intervened between the day the paper was printed

Special to The Manassas Journal
RICHMOND, Mar. 9.—Arthur W. Sinclair, 36-year-old Manassas lawyer, will be the first incumbent of the Associate Judgeship of the Prince William-Fairfax-Alexandria judicial circuit. Sinclair, the candidate of the Prince William County bar, was nominated by a Democratic caucus of the Virginia legislature at Richmond last night. Though his nomination requires the formality of a vote in both houses of the legislature, his election is assured.

Sinclair's appointment marks the first time in 45 years that a Prince William County man has occupied the bench in this circuit. Judge Thornton, whose tenure ended in 1905, was the last Prince William countian to be circuit judge.

Sinclair will serve as associate judge to Judge Paul E. Brown of Fairfax.

The sponsorship of Sinclair at the caucus was spearheaded by Delegate Frank Moncure of Stafford, this county's representative in the house. Sinclair was opposed by Harry Carrio, of Fairfax, who had not only the recommendation of the Fairfax and Alexandria bars, but the sponsorship of Senator Andrew Clarke, Delegate Ed Lynch of Fairfax and Delegate Armistead Booth of Alexandria.

Politics-wise observers believed at first that Carrio's nomination was assured through the workings of senatorial courtesy when Clarke threw his support behind the Fairfax man. The vote for Sinclair was 59-44.

Clarke reputedly had promised to support Sinclair but he led the fight for the opposition. Clarke accused W. Hill Brown, of Manassas, with being responsible for Carrio's defeat and Brown replied that there would have been no contest if Clarke had kept his word to support Sinclair. Brown said he fought for a member of the Prince William County bar and would continue to do so.

A crowd gathered as the two argued. Clarke's hangers on began to crowd in as the words became heated. Some of them said to Brown, "You can't speak to the senator that way."

Brown, according to reports, laughed off the idea that Clarke's henchmen believed that the legislator was above being reproved for not keeping prior promises to support Sinclair. Brown's only comment was, "well, we won, and we'll beat them again."

Sinclair was born in Manassas October 13, 1914, and was educated at the public schools here and at Augusta Military Academy, Ft. Defiance, before going to Washington and Lee University. He graduated from Georgetown Law school in 1938 and was admitted to the practice of law in February 1939.

Except for war service as an officer in the Army Judge Advocate General's Department from June 1943 to February 1946, Sinclair has been engaged in the private practice of law in Manassas since 1939.

The son of County Treasurer C. A. Sinclair, the judge-designate is married and has one child, Catherine, age 4.

Several services of worship have been announced for during Easter week. Pre-Easter services will be held at the Nokesville Church of the Brethren on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evening preceding Easter Sunday. A sunrise service is being planned to begin on Sunday morning at 6:00 at the L. J. Bowman home. It is being especially planned for all the young people of Brentsville district with all the churches being asked to take part in the service. However, anyone else who wishes to attend will be welcomed. Breakfast will be served by the Bowman-Shepherd-Whetzel families and will be planned so that everyone will be home in time to get ready for church.

Our local Fire Department has been quite busy the past week. Earlier last week they answered an alarm to go to the Hines farm above Nokesville. On Thursday evening a very large fire got away from Mr. M. A. Bell when he was cleaning off the corner where the old Hazerwood church stood many years ago. It jumped across the road into a corn field belonging to Joe Horn, then into the woods. Quite a lot of damage was done.

Do You Want To Cut Your Federal Taxes?

Your Wasted Taxes

No reasonable man questions the need for taxes to pay the cost of governmental services. Everyone should be willing to pay a fair share of his income for that purpose. But nobody wants to underwrite extravagance—in the home, in business or in government.

The bi-partisan Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, created by Congress with the approval of President Truman and headed by former President Hoover, has provided a chart for the elimination of governmental extravagance and waste.

This past year, because of duplication and overlapping in the Armed Services we wasted about one billion dollars out of the fifteen billion spent for National Security.

In 1948 two agencies planned to build the same dam in nearly the same place at Hell's Canyon, Idaho. Each set of plans cost about $250,000. The plans differed by approximately 75 million dollars in estimated cost of erection.

It now costs the Post Office Department two and a half cents to print and deliver a penny post card. The Veterans Administration, at the time of the Commission's survey, had 6,500 empty beds in its hospitals, yet VA and other government agencies have planned or are building additional hospitals at a cost of over a billion dollars, when 54% of the available beds are not now occupied. This is Alice in Wonderland.

It takes more than $10 worth of paper work to complete a governmental purchase order. For example, by the time the necessary paper work is completed, a 50¢ typewriter ribbon costs the taxpayer about $10. Turnover of labor is recognized by all industry as expensive. Yet in the Federal Government labor turnover runs about 25 per cent, a rate much higher than any private business could stand. This means that every year approximately 500,000 either leave or enter a government job. The personnel system is clogged with red tape. The best men leave because of the low pay scale, and the inefficient cannot easily be discharged.

If enacted into law, the Commission recommendation to remedy these and other defects in conducting our Federal business would save the taxpayer three to four billion dollars a year.

The best new methods, practices and ideas are needed, for we are out to accomplish a tremendous job in rural electrification."

ABOUT PSYCHIATRISTS AND TAXES

Some time ago, a friend of ours in Washington had occasion to do what so many of our friends in Washington have done—visit a psychiatrist. The goateed brain-doctor ran our friend through a series of personality tests, including a number of rather silly questions.

Toward the end of the session, the psychiatrist asked our friend, "Why do we pay taxes?"

Without a moment's hesitation, the patient said, "Because we are compelled to by law."

The psychiatrist looked stunned. After a moment he regained his composure sufficiently to stammer, "But that isn't the right answer." Our friend asked what, then, was the correct answer.

"Why," said the psychiatrist, "we pay taxes to help support our government."

Any psychiatrist who actually believes such arrant balderdash should go off somewhere and have his head examined. There are few Americans who are going through the present soul-searing experience of making out an income-tax return for the sheer patriotic joy of filling out Standard form 1040.

If Congress had ever believed that citizens pay taxes because they want to support a Big Government, the legislators would never have written such sharp teeth into the law. If Big Government had ever believed there was the slightest patriotic motive behind the average man's payment of taxes, Internal Revenue bureaucrats would not be forever crawling out of the woodwork at the Ides of March. If the public itself paid taxes because it wanted to, or because there was patriotic compulsion behind the payment of taxes, Congress would never have had to pass the withholding tax law, under which nearly every wage-earner in the country pays his debt to the government before he contracts that debt.

No, we think our goofy friend was more correct than the goofy psychiatrist. Consider this: if we really paid taxes "to help support our government," the Treasury Department could conduct, each year, the same kind of fund-raising drive the Red Cross is currently carrying on.

Unfortunately, we are afraid, this would not work. The man who gives to the polio or cancer or heart or Red Cross campaigns does so because he has good reason to believe most of his money will be used in a worthy cause. The government's reputation for wasting money is too notorious—no Internal Revenue man could ever wheedle a dollar out of a taxpayer; he needs a club—and a good, thick one at that—to collect what the psychiatrist thinks we pay "to help support our government."

Easter Seal Sale Begins

By G. Wallace Hook

The 1950 Easter Seal sale for crippled children begins today. As President of the Prince William County Chapter of the Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults, I appeal to all residents of the county to give their full support to this campaign.

Our drive will continue through Easter Sunday as part of a nationwide program to provide services to all types of crippled children and physically handicapped adults.

Last year, 2317 unfortunate people were helped by the Virginia society. Services included hospital, surgical and convalescent care; the furnishing of corrective shoes, braces, crutches, wheel chairs and other prosthetics; homebound teaching and continuous treatment clinics.

In the coming year the society will work to expand existing facilities in the state for children suffering from cerebral palsy. There are almost 4,000 such children in Virginia, of whom only a few are receiving treatment.

Lions Break Even On Symphony Here

The Manassas Lion's Club, meeting Tuesday, heard Keith Lyons, chairman of the music committee, report that the recent appearance here of the National Symphony Orchestra was "very successful." Over $900 has been received from the sale of tickets, with more to come. It is doubtful, Lyons said, that the Club will realize any profit from the concert when all expenses are paid, since expenses total more than the receipts.

The Club also heard plans for a Music Scholarship to be given by the Lions Clubs of Virginia to an outstanding student next year. A student from this area will be sought to enter the tryouts.

'Sharing Hour' Features Presbyterian Service

The Presbyterian church in Manassas will participate Sunday in a nation-wide program known as "One Great Hour of Sharing," conducted to raise funds for all types of overseas relief.

A special collection will be taken during the regular 11 o'clock service, at which the Rev. L. J. Testa will preach.

Sunday school services will be held as usual at 10 a. m., and two evening meetings are scheduled. At 5 p. m., the second in a series of training meetings for visitation evangelism will be conducted, and at 7 p. m. the young people's organization will have the second meeting on the subject of "Dating."

More Brevities

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Nokesville Fire Department will hold a bake and food sale at Fitzwater's Garage on Saturday, March 18. Donations of any kind of food will be appreciated.

The area around the administration building at the battlefield will be more beautiful than before during this coming spring. Dogwood, redbud, red oak and boxwood plants have been placed near the building.

Melvin W. Chandler of Route 1, Manassas, is making like a fish in the warm waters of the Caribbean these days. Chandler, a fireman in the Navy is aboard the submarine Outclass, which is taking part in the Portex maneuvers.

To add to the military flavor of

Infants' Shop To Open Here

The Martha Shop, the first store in Manassas devoted entirely to clothing and supplies for infants and young children, will open about March 18 in the building now occupied by the REA. Mrs. Martha I. Lilly and Mrs. Cornelia I. Presnikoff, partners in the enterprise, announced this week that they will start moving into the building during the coming week.

Mrs. Lilly, wife of Roy C. Lilly, English teacher at Osbourne High School, holds a master's degree in child psychology. Both she and Mrs. Presnikoff are parents.

According to the proprietors, the store will carry a complete line of infants' and children's clothing and baby needs, and will later obtain dealerships for nationally-known lines of educational toys.

"Our policy," Mrs. Lilly said, "will be to carry lines of goods that will offer excellent quality at reasonable price."

The store, which will be decorated in cream with designs in typical baby colors of blue and pink, will be the only one of its kind between here and the metropolitan area, Mrs. Presnikoff said. A play pen, for the convenience of customers of the store, will be a feature.

"Brevities" this week, three Manassasians have joined the service, The Recruiting Station announces. They are Charles Thomas and David P. Walters, who enlisted in the Army, and Dorsey J. Scott, who joined the Air Force.

Parking Limits Set On Quantico Streets

A two-hour parking limit has been put into effect on Virginia avenue, Quantico, and another street has been restricted as a parking area due to crowded conditions in the town.

An ordinance adopted at the last meeting of the town council eliminated parking on one side of Third avenue due to the fact that with cars parked on both sides fire trucks could not pass down the street.

Numerous parking violations have been noted in the newly restricted areas, it is reported.

The Manassas Journal SHOPPERS' GUIDE

Covering Quantico, Triangle, Occoquan, Dumfries and Woodbridge Areas

By MR. AND MRS. LEE ROY PETERS

To our readers of the Shoppers and Buyers Guide we would like to express our sincerest thanks for your appreciation of this column. It is our hope that you will have satisfaction out of reading the column and that you will be able to make a savings on your buying at your local merchant. Talk about savings that is exactly what we are going to give you this week as well as some extra added advice. So much for all of this talk. Now to the attention of our advertisers. We will start off first with the ad next to this column which is the Quantico Pharmacy operated by Tony and Julius Ferlazzo. This week we would like to mention that they have a full line of books. Everything, one especially is Bartenders guide, there are about 500 different concoctions alone in this book. They have numerous volumes on their shelves including Drama, History and Humor.

Since we are in the Lenten season it is very appropriate that the next one on our list is W. S. Borne, neighborhood proprietor of the Nation-Wide Grocery Store. This week we would like to call to your attention that "Sticks" is featuring a full line of Lenten items. One of these in particular is frozen shrimp, ready breaded for the frying pan. Other items include fresh fish, oysters, fresh eggs and cheeses of all kinds.

Next is The Dixie Grill, where you will find the best of cooked food. Willie Williams was formerly a butcher and he knows good meat and is well qualified to prepare good cooked food. If you have tried his Bar-B-Que—if you haven't tried one you owe it to yourself to do so. All the baked goods served at the Dixie Grill are home made, surely top off for dessert after one of their good meals.

Now let's go to Victor's Music and Appliance store, here we find a modern music store with everything from equipment for making your own records to playing them. They have the finest selections of records found anywhere. This week they have a projector set that shows a 300 inch screen and, it is really something to see as this one is as large as they come. Another one of their items is RCA Radios, Televisions, and Phonographs. Vick is also proud of the service that he is able to give you on your radios and appliances. Remember Vick for Victor. Let's go over to the Stevens' Store where you can find any small item in the drug store line. This week Louis or Luigi, as some of the folks call him, is featuring St. Patrick's day cards. While browsing through the store I ran upon some very interesting cards. Any kind of a greeting card, birthday or anniversary card can be found here. Also at the store you will find the famous lines of Whitman and Norris candies.

Now we come to that popular man of the Occoquan and Woodbridge district; none other than Frank Hornbaker. Frank has been in the television business for a number of years. They tell me that he really knows his stuff. While I was at Frank's on Saturday Frank came up with a limited offer and it sounds very good to me. Because of the coal strike, he will give free of cost 100 gallons of kerosene with the purchase of a Coleman space heater. Of course you all know the name of this place. It is the Auto Home Supply in Occoquan.

Another popular place of business is Fred's Electric Shop in Quantico. Fred has the General Electric line of radios and televisions. He is also ready to help the home builder in many ways with his popular line of kitchen sinks, stoves (ranges and heaters) in the electrical type. He also has many other items of importance to the builder of a home. You can also find many small washing machine parts at Fred's as well as the washers and ironers themselves. Another of Fred's lines is that of fixing of small electric appliances and especially that of electric trains. Fred Kitchener is always ready to serve you.

Next on our tour of advertisers was the Stephens Drug Store, this is a druggist-owned Drug Store. Frank Stephens is the owner. Frank has been filling prescriptions for the people of the area since he graduated from the University of North Carolina where he received his Bachelor of Pharmacy Degree in 1946. Frank also has in his store a very nice soda fountain offering you the best of light lunches.

When we get in the automobile line one of the advertisers on this page you will find is Paris Auto Service which was established back in 1919. If you notice the ad you will find a 1937 Studebaker for $50, yes that's right, so if that boy of yours wants something to fool around with it had ought to do the trick. Paris Auto Service also operates a complete automotive repair and parts service. They operate the only inside wash rack in the Quantico area. Mr. Nick Kateralls, the manager, and Mr. Chris Clear are always ready to serve you in the purchase of a new Studebaker or Pontiac.

When that old washing machine refuses to go any more don't fret and worry about how you will get that washing done, just bring your duds in and wash them in Percy's suds. Of course the Percy we refer to is P. A. Brown and his partner is Bill Pearce. They have ten machines there and you will find that it may pay you to have your laundry done at this low price of 9 lbs. for 30c, this price not only includes the washing but drying also.

Entering into the entertainment field we come to The Lyric Theater. You will find no better place to spend that night out with the missus than enjoying the movies, but that is something that you forget the little lady still likes. They have movies for everyone's taste, romance, serious and humorous. Anna Lucasta: starring Paulette Goddard is a movie that had quite a run in New York. On Saturday there is no more worry about the kids, as you can send them to the 2 o'clock matinee and Harold Wilcher, the manager, will give your children his personal attention.

If you are one of those people who like to look around and see what is new in the line of gadgets you will find that The Triangle Hardware has quite a few new ones. Mr. Ennis, the owner, has a complete line of televisions and you can buy one with no down payment. All you have to pay is the installation and service charge on the set of your choice. Also at the store you can find a full line of Stanley tools. In power tools it's the Shop Master.

The most complete body shop in Prince William County is that of Martin Chevrolet. Mr. Martin has recently made the purchase of a Bear frame aligner. Mr. Cecil Hunter is the body shop manager and knows the complete operation of this machine. Whether your collision be large or small let Martin make that estimate for you without any obligation. In connection with the body shop they also have 24-hour wrecking service. With inspection not in the so distant future it might not be a bad idea to have those faulty windows taken care of now at Martin Chevrolet.

Last but not least we come to the Gnad Sanitation Company. This firm is a locally owned and operated business. They are in the business not only to serve you but to serve our community as well. If you want good service on the hauling of your trash and refuse of any type give them a try; their pick-ups are made thrice weekly to your door and their drivers are considerate of your property.

Well, readers of our column that is 30 for this week as they say in the newspaper business.

Thanks,
Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Peters

Coles Firemen Have Busy Day

How to mix business and civic leadership was demonstrated last Saturday by Andrew Samsky of Independent Hill, an official of the newly-formed, Independent Hill Volunteer Fire Department.

Samsky made an early morning call on the family of Berkeley Davis, and as he and his hosts sat around the kitchen having a cozy coffee klatch, Samsky heard a noise inside the wall that sounded like mice. Closer investigation proved the chimney was on fire.

The tall smoke-eater draped a piece of heavy cloth over the top of the chimney, to cut down the blaze and then ran to his nearby store for ten ponds of salt, which he dropped down the chimney to extinguish the fire.

The flames safely out, Samsky made his farewells, returned to his store, and added an entry of 10 pounds of salt to the Davis family's charge account.

Score two for the as-yet unequipped fire department came Saturday when a brush fire at the home of Charles Chrepeko was extinguished without damage.

Brentsville High Notes

By Gilday Wright and Doris Carrico

Our F.F. A. boys play Marshall High today for the Blue Ridge Federation Championship.

The seniors seemed to have enjoyed the party that the rest of the high school gave in their benefit. The gym was decorated in red and white crepe paper with colored balloons. Guest of honor were Lee Yankey and Rachel McWhirt, the class couple. Fried chicken and cherry pie topped with ice cream were on the menu list along with all the other trimmings.

The F.H.A. girls gave a program to the S.C.A. on what the club stands for and what it means to them. The program was very attractive as well as effective with all who participated dressed in red and white which are the colors of the club.

The seniors have picked their class night play which is to be given on the night of June 5th.

The Juniors had their first play practice Thursday night. The play is entitled "The Skeleton Walks."

The Juniors hope it will be a success and are looking for a big crowd. The play director is Mrs. Marian Reed the home room teacher.

The varsity has played its last game but the J. V.'s still are playing. They have a game with Manassas this Thursday.

The Home Economics girls prepared a dinner for the Junior Women's Club. George Washington was the theme of the dinner.

The Library Committee dressed as different characters from the books in the library served hot Russian Tea and cookies prepared by the Home Economics girls, to the P.-T. A. last Thursday night. The library bulletin board was decorated with different book reviews written by the students. In the center was a picture of the head of George Washington. Written below the head were the words "He could not tell a lie. Neither can we."

The B. D. Buzzers staff is planning on getting another issue out this week.

Let's make him count in America's Future!

Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief—what's your guess about this young fellow's future?

Of course, a lot will depend on the kind of world he grows up in. And that will depend, to a great extent, on the answers you give when the Census-Taker calls.

Census facts and figures are used by leaders in industry, business, labor and civic groups to plan such things as new schools, parks and playgrounds; new housing and hospitals; new roads and safety regulations; a better distribution of services like telephones, electricity, gas and water.

Even your voice in the Government—the number of Congressmen your state is entitled to—is determined by the Census.

All personal information you give the Census-Taker is confidential—under law—so answer his questions quickly and accurately. It's one way you can make sure your children count in America's future.

Horse Doc

Fear. He became a private in the Infantry, and it wasn't until several months later that it occurred to someone that the place for a man with a vet's degree was in a horse hospital. They had one at Fort Bliss, so Robbins joined the outfit as a first lieutenant in the Veterinary Corps.

Do they have goldbricks in G. I. horse-hospitals as they do in G. I. people-hospitals? Sure, an occasional foul-ball horse gets into uniform and duffies his way into the hospital. The difference between Army animals and soldiers is that when a four-footed goldbrick is revealed in his true colors, they shoot him.

Many a fine fillet of horse was consumed by Doc and his colleagues in the Pacific islands during the war. Quite delicate—compared to G. I. hash.

"Animals are strange characters, as if you didn't already know. They are heir to most of the ills that humans experience, with a major exception: they don't worry themselves into a case of gastric ulcers. The more sophisticated beasts, though, like dogs, often develop neuroses and anxieties—but they usually snap out of it in time.

If there is a single topic Doc Robbins is hepped on, it is the mission of the veterinarian in the field of public health. More now than ever

—he emphasizes—the line of demarcation between animal health and human health is tenuous; it is a continuous fight to keep down animal diseases. "If some of our worse diseases, like foot-and-mouth, were to run wild," he Cassandra, "it could mean the economic collapse of our country."

We are lucky, says Robbins, that we have never had in the United States three dread epizootics: rinderpest, surra and mal de caderas. Almost every other country in the world has these ailments to contend with, but on-the-ball inspection here has kept the diseases out. But lest the U. S. be too complacent and self-righteous, Robbins points out that there hasn't been a case of rabies for years in England, Norway or Sweden, while so-called hydrophobia will keep on prevailing here until we stop letting strays run around.

"It's downright cruel to let a stray run," says Robbins. "They are better out of the way."

You will seldom hear him talk of killing an animal. He talks instead, of "putting them to sleep," or "putting them out of the way." It isn't simply mealy-mouthed of unpleasant thoughts, either; killing and slaughter are usually cruel—euthanasia for animals is merciful.

Diesels for Dixie!

Diesel locomotives...like dollars...don't grow on trees. Those 603 powerful Diesel units the Southern Railway System now has in service and on order cost about $80 million!

That's a lot of money. But it bought a lot of modern horsepower...to give a modern fast-growing Dixie land the best in transportation service.

These "Diesels for Dixie" are just one indication of our determination to keep pace with the increasing transportation needs of the South.

To do that takes a lot of money. And it takes FAITH. Faith in the bright future of Dixie. Faith that some day soon our country will insist, in the public interest, that all forms of commercial inter-city transportation must stand independently on their own financial feet...without support from the taxpayer...as only the railroads now do.

THE STORY OF TEN LITTLE FREE WORKERS

THESE ARE THE WORKERS

* REDDY DOCTOR RAILROADER MINER STEELWORKER FARMER LAWYER GROCER SALESCLERK REPORTER

Ten little free workers in this country fine and fair.
But if you cherish your freedom—worker have a care!
Ten little free workers—Reddy was doing fine
Until the socialists got him—then there were nine.

Nine little free workers laughed at Reddy's fate
Along came federal medicine—then there were eight.

Eight little free workers thought this country heaven
But the government took over the railroads, then there were seven.

Seven little free workers—till the miners got in a fix.
Uncle said coal's essential and took over leaving six

Six little free workers 'till the day did arrive
The steel mills too were federalized—then there were five.

Five little free workers—but the farmers are free no more
The farms have been collectivized—that leaves only four.

Four little free workers till the government did decree
All must have free legal advice—then there were three.

Three little free workers—the number is getting few.
But with government groceries selling food—then there were two.

Two little free workers—our story's almost done,
With clerks at work in federal stores—that leaves only one.

One little free worker—the reporter son-of-a-gun
Mustn't criticize government—so now there are none.

Ten little workers—but they are no longer free
They work when and where ordered, and at a fixed rate you see,
And it all could have been prevented if they'd only seen fit to agree
And work together instead of saying "it never can happen to me!"
