Bang! Bang! Did The Dog Have Rabies?

A dog with a hole in its head went to Arlington Friday, courtesy of Sheriff John P. Kerlin and his dead-eye, gun-totin' deputy, Rex Hoskins, and although the dog has not returned—and is not expected to—the possibility of an outbreak of rabies in Occoquan district is still clouded in mystery.

The Case of the Brainless Canine started last Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. H. T. Lohr of Woodbridge called Kerlin for assistance in coping with an apparently mad dog in her back yard. The dog, a large and apparently docile stray that had been eating and sleeping around the neighborhood for the best part of a month, went berserk about 11:45 that morning and attacked a smaller dog in Mrs. Lohr's yard.

The fight must have been one to take its place along with the battle of Abdul the Bulbul Ameer and Ivan Skavitzky Skivar, with the little pooch giving surprisingly good account of itself. For almost three hours, Mrs. Lohr said, the big dog shook, tossed and generally dogged the little one, and gave the coup de grace shortly before 3 p. m., when the large animal bit the small one through the chest, apparently piercing its heart and killing it.

Then, said Mrs. Lohr, the big dog, frothing at the mouth, went into her back yard and lay down. It gave indications of being rabid, she said. Mrs. Lohr's 17-year-old daughter, Joan Barbara, who was home from school, ill, that day, went onto the back porch and threw rocks at the dog to get it to leave. The dog advanced on the girl, who retreated into the house.

Mrs. Lohr then called a neighbor, Winter Powers, to ask what to do. He suggested that Mrs. Lohr call Game Warden Walter Flory, whose business it is to impound for observation any dogs suspected of rabies.

After several unsuccessful attempts to get Flory by telephone, Mrs. Lohr called Sheriff Kerlin and asked him to come down and dispose of the dog. "The sheriff was pretty prompt," Mrs. Lohr commented.

About 3:30, Kerlin got to Mrs. Lohr's home and asked what to do. She referred him to the home of George Deane, who had been discussing the possibility of "adopting" the big stray. Deane's mother-in-law advised the sheriff to get rid of the dog, since it seemed "to have something wrong with it."

Kerlin and Deputy Hoskins then drove into the back yard of Mrs. Lohr's home. The sheriff recalled this week that the dog was "acting mighty funny," but last week told health officials here that "the dog didn't look mad to him."

Anyway, Kerlin told Hoskins to shoot the dog and the deputy upped with his gun and fired, drilling as neat a hole between the dog's eyes as has been seen hereabouts since Dumfries was a big river port. The sheriff and his deputy then got out of their car and wrapped the dog in an old blanket, took it to Manassas and locked the carcass in a garage overnight. The following afternoon they conferred with health authorities and took the carcass to Arlington for a rabies test. The results of the test came back this week: "Unsatisfactory; brain destroyed."

Kerlin professed this week not to have known that a rabies test is made by laboratory examination of the brain. An official state health department pamphlet entitled "Rabies," warns that "When a dog is suspected of having rabies, do not kill it. . . . If circumstances are such that the dog cannot be shut up, then kill the dog, taking care not to injure the brain."

Welcome

C. L. WHEAT of Waynesboro, Pa. and Warren, Va., who has purchased the Chevrolet Agency of Hynson and Bradford, and took charge as of May 1. However, Mr. Wheat will not assume active management until June. He is remaining in Waynesboro until that time because his 9-year-old son is in school there.

The sale of Hynson and Bradford marks the departure of J. E. Bradford, Sr. from the automobile business after 27 years in Manassas. He will become associated with Hynson Electric and Supply Company in which he long has had an interest.

Pending the arrival of Mr. Wheat to take active charge Mr. Bradford and his son, James Jr. will remain with the new company which will be known as Wheat Chevrolet. Mr. Wheat has operated a Chevrolet agency in Waynesboro for the past five years. He has sold his business there and intends to devote full time to his new business in Manassas. He is no stranger in this section of Virginia, since for several years he was District Manager for Chevrolet Motor Division and made his home in nearby Warrenton. Mr. Wheat's wife is the former Loretta Pearson of Casanova. They have one child.

Mr. Wheat states that he hopes in the near future to erect a new garage building, thereby expanding facilities which will enable his organization to render better service to the community.

Must Doggett Pay Business License Here?

Does Councilman Roy Doggett operate a business in the Town of Manassas for which he should pay a license tax the same as other merchants?

The question was posed to the Town Council at its meeting Monday night by Harry Parrish, of the Manassas Ice and Fuel Company, and the matter was referred to Town Attorney W. Hill Brown, Jr. for advice.

The subject arose when Parrish asked the council to state the penalty imposed for failure to pay the merchant's license tax. It was his assumption that there was no penalty as search of a carbon copy of the license ordinance failed to disclose any penalty stated. However, on reference to the minutes of the council on the date the ordinance was adopted it was found that the penalty is a fine not exceeding $100, or incarceration in jail for 90 days or both.

The controversy over Doggett not obtaining a license is the outgrowth of Doggett being a hauler of coal. He contends he is a common carrier and hauls coal from Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields in his trucks on specific order and does not sell at retail from his yard where, upon occasion, he dumps the coal and holds it until more convenient time for him to deliver it to the customer.

Parrish contends that this action makes Doggett's yard a place of business and as such Doggett is subject to payment of the license upon that business.

Doggett on the other hand says he is subject only to a two-fifths of a cent of mile tax for moving his trucks over the streets maintained by the Town of Manassas and nothing for use of streets maintained by the state. Doggett says he is willing to pay the two-fifths of a cent mileage tax if the town wants to take the trouble of finding out how many miles he travels over town maintained streets.

Discussion at the meeting led to presentation of additional complaints that some outside firms send their trucks into town and sell goods at retail and do not pay a tax. Both Harry Parrish and Parrish, of the Frozen Food plant, argued that this should be stopped as the practice was injurious to local merchants. It was also pointed out that salesmen or hucksters Continued on Page 9

Outlook Bright For Continued Good Business, Merchants Say

Ben Franklin Store to Come To Manassas; in Butler Chain

A Ben Franklin Store, handling variety merchandise, and operated in conjunction with the nation-wide Butler Brothers, wholesale firm of Chicago, with a regional headquarters in Baltimore, is coming to Manassas. It will occupy the store on the southeast corner of Main and Center streets, formerly occupied by the Safeway Stores and known as the Saunders Building.

These facts were confirmed over the long distance telephone to The Journal on Tuesday by Mr. Briggs, general manager of the Butler Stores regional office in Baltimore. J. J. Rinkus, division superintendent of Butler Brothers, was in Manassas on Monday making arrangements with Robert Saunders for rebuilding the front of the former Safeway Store to fit the new type of merchandising. Ira E. Cannon, Manassas contractor, will have charge of the rebuilding.

According to General Manager Briggs the Butler Stores have not yet determined upon who will operate the Ben Franklin store. There are several people interested in taking over the operations, according to Mr. Briggs, but a final selection will not be made for some time, he says. Other sources say the new owner has already been selected. The Ben Franklin stores are independently owned but are supplied by Butler Brothers as the distributor, and operate under a merchandising formula laid out by Butler Brothers. The system is similar to that of the Western Auto Stores, which are home owned, and the Firestone merchandising system.

Recession Reported In Other Parts of U. S. Not Noticeable Here

Business in Prince William County in the first four months of 1950 was measurably better than in the same period of 1949, a survey made by The Journal among leading dealers in consumer goods and services showed this week.

In some fields, business advanced one-third to one-half over last year's volume and the prospects for the remainder of the year are generally considered to be "continued good." The business recession and resultant unemployment, notable in other sections of the country, apparently have not struck this area. If there is less scrambling for goods, and less inflationary desire to hoard money around, the survey indicates that these facts are due more to an equalization of supply and demand than to a tightening of the economic situation.

Postal receipts, a sure index to business health, show Manassas conditions generally to be about 20 percent better than last year. Stamp sales for the first four months of 1950 totaled $3,972.66, as compared with $1,935.51 for this year's first four months—an increase of $2,042.85. Some of the postal upturn was undoubtedly due to the charge from box to city delivery a few months ago, but this increase from one to three cents in local postage rates is not believed to be of great importance.

By months, as reported by Postmistress Davies, the postal receipts of 1950 compared with 1949 were:

	1949	1950
January	2,452.08	2,943.07
February	2,128.52	2,836.05
March	2,150.07	2,419.65
April	2,261.99	2,836.74

Additional substantial evidence of increased business and growth in the county is reported by the utility operators. The Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation reports an additional 50 consumers on its lines or a ten percent increase in the first four months of 1950 over 1949.

The Central Mutual Telephone Company increased the number of subscribers by 51 or 2.36 percent. The Manassas Town electric service was given to 20 additional homes in the first four months of 1950 over 1949 which was an increase of 10 percent.

Alvin B. Compton, of Hynson Electric and Supply Company and Hesco Gas Service reports that the first four months of 1950 have been the best first four months in the history of the business. The bottled gas business is growing, according to Compton, not only through gaining more consumers but also by additional use by present users as the economy of water and house heating with gas is recognized. Another indication of prosperity is seen in Compton's statement that Continued on Page 4

WHEREAS a substantial number of the citizens of the Town of Manassas and surrounding community are employed in areas where Daylight Saving Time is now observed, and

WHEREAS a large additional number of our citizens have business and other contacts in areas observing Daylight Saving Time, and

WHEREAS the proximity of Manassas to Daylight Saving Time areas makes the continuance of an Eastern Standard Time schedule in the Town of Manassas a source of confusion and inconvenience to many, and

WHEREAS the Council of the Town of Manassas has gone on record favoring Daylight Saving Time, and

WHEREAS a large majority of the citizens of the Town of Manassas and surrounding community have expressed their desire that the Town of Manassas put into effect Daylight Saving Time, now THEREFORE, I, Harry P. Davis, Mayor of Manassas, do hereby request all citizens, places of business and offices in the Town of Manassas to advance their hours in such manner as to start each day one hour earlier and end each day one hour earlier, beginning at Two o'clock A. M., Thursday, May 4th, 1950 and continuing as long as Daylight Saving Time shall be in force in the District of Columbia.

It is suggested, as a matter of convenience that time pieces be advanced one hour on the above mentioned date.

—Don't forget to have your car inspected early. Authorized inspection stations are advertising in the Journal. Inspection will continue until June 15.

—The Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to continue meeting at noon by the sun regardless of whether the Town goes on daylight time. Next week will be at 1 p. m. DST if the Town is then on daylight time, and at 12 noon EST if the Town is not on daylight time. Town Council previously approved daylight time for Manassas contingent upon adoption of legislation now before Congress to bring daylight time to the District of Columbia.

—The Town Council has authorized Town Manager Ritter to obtain bids and demonstrations for a new tractor-mower to cut weeds along roads and other places required by the town.

—Bids will be opened May 18 by the State Highway Commission for grading and hard surfacing 3 miles of secondary routes 652 and 653, east and west of Nokesville.

—At noon Wednesday the Journal had to refuse further advertising. This was 24 hours before press time. Advertisers desiring space in the Journal are urged to reserve it early in the week, and if possible the previous week. We dislike disappointing our advertisers but efficient and economic production requires early space reservation. This has been long recognized by national advertising agencies which generally furnish copy a week in advance. Four columns of liquor advertising sent to the Journal despite its policy against John Barleycorn were refused in this issue although twice the advertising rate paid by local advertisers was offered.

—The Rev. and Mrs. Henry T. Egger and daughter, Beth, of Rochester, N. Y., will be guests this week of Mrs. Thomas T. Trapnell, Winevan Farm at Buckhall. Mrs. Egger, formerly Miss Rae Patti-shall, often visited here when her parents lived at Winevan Farm. Mr. Egger, an Episcopal rector, is taking a new church at Timberville, South Carolina.

—Authority has been granted to Town Manager Ritter to permit Alcoholics Anonymous to meet in the Council chamber. The suggestion came from Councilwoman Saunders and Mayor Davis expressed hearty approval.

—A resolution has been passed by the Town Council making it unlawful, under penalty of a fine of not less than $5 or more than $50 per day for any firm engaged in the business of car washing to permit waste water to flow into the gutters. It was pointed out that there are three firms in Manassas where this practice is followed. It was the contention of the council that the practice was injurious to the streets, and dangerous to persons walking who might slip on the grease accumulated from such waste.

—Steel for the construction of the beams to rebuild the Pitts Theater has arrived and will shortly be erected.

—The Town Council proposes to hire an annexation expert, preferably under the name of an extension of limits expert, to study how much money will be received from taxation in an area around Manassas which it is proposed to add to the existing corporate limits. Town Manager Ritter and Town Attorney Brown, after a visit to Falls Church, advocated the employment of the expert because they said they found many complicated problems involved in annexation. It is hoped to take in a wide enough area so that when the town reaches 5000 population there will be no difficulty experienced with county officials over taking the area away from county taxation.

—May 17 has been designated as Virginia Day at the Pimlico Race Track. Virginia horsemen will attend in large numbers.

—The Manassas Red Sox are all set again for their second "opening" game of the season. Last Sunday's opener with the Ballston Indians was rained out. Pitcher Bucky Kincheloe is expected to start against the strong Virginia White Sox at Swavely Field, Sunday at 2:30 p. m. The postponed game will be played at a later date, club officials declared, probably making the form of a double-header the next time the two teams meet.

—Visitors in Manassas on Tuesday included Louis Ballou, architect for the new Osborn High School, and C. I. Arnold of the First Mortgage Corporation of Richmond.

—The Garden Club of Manassas, of which Mrs. Elizabeth Cox is president, is mustering the forces of many organizations in a drive to stop the practice of dumping rubbish and cans along the roadways of Prince William County. Joining with the Garden Club are the Manassas Woman's Club, the Kensington Society of Nokesville and the Isaac Walton League. We are advised that Supervisor J. Carl Kincheloe has added his support to the movement. Mr. Kincheloe has not as yet made any announcement about the Board of Supervisors making provision for a dumping area in each of the magisterial districts of the county which would be the first step toward stopping roadside dumping.

—Plans for annexation call for the employment of an expert to advise the Town Council on property values in the area to be annexed. One name suggested is Thomas H.

Reed, of Weatherford, Conn. The editor of the Journal recalls Mr. Reed as Professor Thomas H. Reed, of the University of California, who had his first job as city manager of the editor's native city, San Jose, California. Professor Reed is asking a fee of $125 a day for his advice.

—The 1950 season at Longview Speedway will open Sunday afternoon. After two rainouts the NARA Big Car will present one of the finest fields ever to race here. Longview Speedway is on Route 234, one mile south of Manassas.

—The Southern Railway System has placed orders for sixteen 1600-h.p. diesel-electric road-switching locomotives and twenty-four 1500-h.p. diesel-electric freight and passenger locomotive units. The forty units will cost approximately $6½ million and the orders were divided among Electro-Motive Division of General Motors Corporation, American Locomotive Company, and Fairbanks, Morse & Co. It is anticipated that deliveries will begin in September this year.

—Mrs. Robert A. Hutchison will serve again as Chairman of the Children's Home Society of Virginia's annual drive for funds in Prince William County, starting on May 1. Mrs. Frank D. Cox, Manassas, has been reappointed chairman. The Society, which recently celebrated its 50th anniversary as an adoption agency, cared for 257 babies last year. Sixty-five of this number were legally adopted during the year and 73 more placed in adoptive homes.

—If you plan on freezing vegetables and fruits from your garden this year, it makes a difference what varieties you plant. The 1950 list of "Recommended Virginia Varieties for Freezing" is now available if you write the Agricultural Extension Service at V. P. I., Blacksburg, for a free copy.

—Another housing development is proposed for Dumfries to care for the employees of the Virginia Electric and Power plant at Potomac Point.

—A bake sale will be held May 6, by the Woodbridge Methodist Church, in Woodbridge for the benefit of the building fund. The hours will be from 2 to 4 p. m.

—Betty Louise Harpine of Nokesville, has been initiated in Phi Sigma Iota, a national romance language honor society, at Mary Washington College, University of Virginia. She is majoring in French.

—There will be no price support on the 1950 production of chickens, commercial broilers and turkeys. The egg purchase program, however, will be continued through June at the current level of 25c per dozen, farm price. This will mean that 1950 chicken and turkey prices will be determined largely by the supply situation. The demand side of the picture is expected to continue good in terms of consumer purchasing power.

—Health authorities expect the year's first case of Rocky Mountain spotted fever to be reported in a few days. The first tick this Spring was seen April 27, according to Dr. Walter R. Johnson, who explained that the fever needs a 10-day incubation period before being noticed. Assuming that the ticks are now crawling around in the fields and forests, Dr. Johnson urges that precautions be taken, including vaccinations which are available from your family doctor.

—The Woman's Auxiliary of the Trinity Episcopal Church will hold their Spring rummage sale Saturday, May 6, at the Parish Hall.

Beer License For Caton Hit By Nokesville

Nokesville this week awaited action by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board on the application of Harry Lee Caton for an on-and-off beer and wine license, which, if granted, will be the only one of its kind in the Nokesville area.

Caton, who seeks to open an establishment to be known as the Wagon Wheel, 1½ miles from Nokesville on Route 28, appeared before the ABC Board at the town hall, Manassas, on Monday. Also in attendance were about 30 residents of the Nokesville District, most of whom had gone to the meeting as evidence of community opposition to the granting of a license to Caton.

The Rev. Dewey Fleishman, pastor of the Nokesville Church of the Brethren and a leader of the anti-beer faction, acted as spokesman for the group. Presenting a petition signed by about 200 Brentsville District residents, Mr. Fleishman said the "majority of the people in the area oppose the opening of a beer place, and the majority should rule."

Giving moral grounds as his group's chief reason for opposing Caton's application, Mr. Fleishman told the ABC Board that the sale of beer "tends to destroy character" and that the existence of such a place in the Nokesville area would "lead to accidents."

Among the Brentsville residents attending were J. A. Hooker, Mrs. C. E. Owen, G. W. Beahm, Frank Foster, Rev. Albert Winn, Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. Mary Flory, Dave Kerlin, Mrs. L. A. Bowman, Miss Frances Owen, A. A. Bell and Wallace Wood. The Rev. Fred Edge of Manassas, also was present. The preamble to the petition filed opposing the beer license read as follows:

"We the undersigned do hereby register our protest to the granting of a license permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages in Brentsville District. We believe that the majority of our citizens are opposed to such an establishment and that the will of the majority should prevail in the final decision."

The petition carried 200 names. The ABC examiner took Caton's application under advisement. There was no immediate indication of when a decision will be handed down.

Business

his greatest difficulty is getting salesmen. "That's the problem and shows little unemployment in that line," he said.

J. A. Vetter, general superintendent of the Central Mutual Telephone Company, predicts that business condition will continue on the upward trend in Prince William County.

S. A. McMichael, Kaiser-Praser dealer of Nokesville, as well as the International Harvester Farm Supply representative there, says business is particularly heavy and much greater than 1946, especially in the farm supply line.

Some part—no one can state how great—of Prince William's continued good (in fact, increasingly good) business situation is attributable to a comparatively large number of government workers living in this county. It has been stated on many occasions that the Marine Base and its large civilian payroll are a perpetual shot in the arm to the Triangle-Quantico area. Only recently, Town Manager James Ritter of Manassas estimated that about 150 family heads in the town earn their livings in Washington. Figuring the population of Manassas at slightly over 2000 and using the traditional figure of four persons to a family, this would indicate that somewhere between 25 and 30 per cent of Manassas families get their bread and butter either from federal jobs or from private industry in the district.

Another sure index of increased business is the number of insurance policies being written. Mrs. Viola D. Proffitt, the leading insurance agent in the Manassas area, reports a marked increase in the number of insurance policies being written on new automobiles this year over those written in 1946 in the same period—the first four months.

C. C. Cloe, Jr., the Mercury and Lincoln dealer in Triangle, says business is much better than 1946 and because of the Postum Point construction and the employment that it gives as well as the housing development at Quantico he looks for an even better 1950 than was enjoyed in 1949. "There is more work going on, there is more buying and I can't see a thing ahead that is going to give even the slightest cause for worry about business conditions."

Banks, of course, must be in a healthy condition or business cannot function with any degree of prosperity. R. C. Powell, of Peoples National Bank of Manassas, reports deposits up markedly and business in all banking lines much better than in 1949. Certainly some—though how much is difficult to say—veterans' money poured into banks as a result of the GI-insurance windfall. There is little to indicate that insurance-dividend-rich veterans went on the sort of "drunken sailor" spending spree that was predicted. Those who did not bank their dividends for the most part wiped out old indebtedness, made home-building repairs or channeled their funds along other healthy lines.

The drawn-out Chrysler strike has made itself seriously felt as far as R. J. Wayland's automotive business is concerned, but the Harvester dealer notes business improvement over '49 in the truck and farm implement lines. In analyzing the business picture, Wayland gets on

American Milking Shorthorn Society's New Home

National headquarters of the American Milking Shorthorn Society is being moved, after many years in Chicago, to Springfield, Missouri, where the Society will occupy its own new building now nearing completion.

The change in location is being made, according to W. J. Hardy, secretary, to facilitate the services of the Society to its member-breeders. Since Milking Shorthorns are rapidly gaining in popularity and are owned in every state, says Mr. Hardy, "Springfield, in the Missouri Ozarks, will have the advantage of placing our headquarters activities more nearly in the center of things, and will permit us to carry on the business of the Society and the promotion of the breed to greater advantage. Our new building has been designed for efficiency and is modern in every respect. It is a great step ahead for the American Milking Shorthorn Society."

Plans are being made for the dedication ceremony and a "Dedication Sale" on April 24 and 25. A nationwide selection including some of the best milking Shorthorns in the country will be offered. The sale will take place at the Springfield Fairgrounds and is expected to attract breeders from every state.

New address of the American Milking Shorthorn Society after April 1, will be 313 South Glenstone Avenue, Springfield 4, Missouri.

the inevitable merry-go-round of supply and demand. "In the first quarter of '49," he says, "supply was very limited due to the then recent steel strikes. Now we are able to get most models, and if demand does not appear to be as great this year as last, that may be due to the comparison between last year's limited and this year's plentiful supply."

Confirming merchants' observation is a recent report of labor market trends from the Virginia State Employment Service, which shows that unemployment has declined slightly in the last few months and that prospects for high employment—especially in the building trades—are good.

Arthur Carter, co-owner and manager of Hibbles Inc., estimates his business in 1950 has been uniformly up 33 per cent over the same period of 1949. There are more people working this year than last, and more merchandise available in his lines, Carter notes. Both factors contribute to his business up-turn, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harris, of Manassas, announce the engagement of their daughter, June Marie, to Mr. Elwood David Sly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sly, of Shenandoah, Virginia.

Miss Harris is a senior at Osmonds Manassas Technical School. No date has been set for the wedding.

FREAK ACCIDENT

Mrs. Maimie L. Jamison reports a freak accident at her home on Main Street during the recent electrical storm in Manassas. At the height of the storm a bolt of lightning smashed into an oak tree, standing a few feet from her house, and threw bark through a closed window, scattering glass and debris across the living room. Window curtains were scorched by the "ball of fire" that entered with the bark. Asked if she were sitting near the window at the time, Mrs. Jamison replied, "Heavens no! I'd be six feet under now if I had been." Insurance covered the damage to the house, she reports, but the agent told her no payment could be made for trees unless they are knocked to the ground. The Jamison tree is badly skinned and fractured, but still standing.

So You've Got Trouble Listen to Col. Allen

Col. B. E. Allen of Gainesville has a problem.

It seems a skunk found way into the brickwork of a tenant house on Col. Allen's farm and, having no entry, could not find its way out. The woods-pussy eventually gave up the ghost, according to Col. Allen, and the life of the skunk in the memory lingers on.

Allen and his tenants tried to figure out ways means of getting rid of ever is left of the skunk up to now they haven't done anything short of demolishing the house—which seems rather rash measure even so critical a situation.

The Air Force officers have been advised that only thing that will take the skunk is T-T-X, but is unwilling to wait. The reader a suggestion to colonel out of his hands and the odor out of his house? Col. Allen will give advice, mailed direct him at Gainesville, or in of The Journal in Manassas.

GAME AT OCCOQUAN

Tuesday they will entertain the Nokesville under the lights at Spring game postponed from last week. On Thursday they visit with Hume, an old Sunday league game is scheduled with Triangle. No need for day practice this week!

The starter solution should be in liquid form he says. Home-made starter solution can be made by mixing one cupful (1-2 pint) of good garden fertilizer in 12 quarters of water. Stir the mixture well and let it set for a few hours, and then it is ready to use. After you dig the hole for the plant, pour in one cupful of the starter solution. Then set the plant, fill in the soil, and firm gently.

CLUBS

NATURE LIBRARY FOR THE GARDEN CLUBS

A recent interesting piece of work by the Manassas Garden Club has been the establishment of a collection of lending books for garden and nature lovers. The collection was begun by a gift of books on gardening by Mr. Clarence Wagener to the Ruffner-Carnegie Library for use by the garden clubs and nature lovers in general. The books, in a handsome case, given by Mrs. Victor Haydon, have been placed in the assembly room of the Manassas Post Office as a central location for all; and will be in charge of Miss Kline, the county home demonstration agent. Garden lovers will find them valuable material in their work, especially rose growers.

Mr. Wagener, a native of Manassas, will be remembered by many friends made in his recent stay here, and also as a one-time editor of the Manassas Journal. He was for a number of years on the staff of the Baltimore Sun-papers, and is now with the Jacksonville Journal, Jacksonville, Fla.

YORKSHIRE GARDEN CLUB

The first meeting of the Yorkshire Garden Club was held on Wednesday, April 26, 1950 at the home of Mrs. F. P. Witt. The object of this club is to interest home owners in our community in the study of plants, shrubs and trees, and the application of this knowledge toward beautifying the community. Membership is open to anyone interested in dirt gardening, the study of plants, and meetings are to be held the third Monday of each month at 8:00 p. m.

The following officers were elected Wednesday evening: president, Mrs. W. O. Jones; vice president, Mrs. F. P. Witt; secretary, Mrs. J. S. Morse; treasurer, Mrs. E. Beacher.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, May 15th at 8:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. S. Morse, 126 Yorkshire Lane. At this meeting "Planning of Gardens" and "Preparation of the Soil" will be discussed.

We should like to extend our thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Cooksey of the Manassas Garden Club for her great assistance in helping our group organize.

"Is it too Late, Doctor?"

SOONER OR LATER, 1 out of every 5 living Americans may ask this question about cancer.

THE answer may be: "Yes... I'm afraid so..." But, today, the doctor can say to increasing numbers of cancer victims, "No, it is by no means too late... There is much that we can do... In fact, your chances for recovery are good."

This heartening reply of medical science gives us good reason to believe that, as the years go by, the ancient dream of conquering this disease will be realized.

Cancer research supported by the American Cancer Society has already yielded new surgical techniques and improved methods of using x-ray and radium. More recently, research with radio-active isotopes has revealed new facts about cell processes, hormones and certain anti-cancer drugs — thus making possible more effective control of some types of cancer.

Part of the money you donate will support research that may save millions of lives. Give generously — so that sometime in the future doctors may never have to say: "I'm afraid it's too late?"

V.F.W. Starts Drive For Post Headquarters

Two thousand letters will be in the mail next week to residents of the Manassas area in a concerted effort to help in the reconstruction of an old Manassas home into a Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

Francis Cannon Post 7589, V.F.W., allowed to use the headquarters for its staging the campaign, which will be climaxed later this month by a house-to-house "follow-up" canvass designed to reach all persons interested in the project. An estimated $6,500 will be required to complete all work necessary to the project, VFW officials state.

The post headquarters, located at Main Street and Portner Avenue, is being done with labor contributed by post members. The sum will have meeting rooms and a fully equipped kitchen. Other civic property and for building materials groups, the V.F.W. says, will be needed in its renovation.

Francis Cannon Post, V.F.W., was named for a Manassas man who was killed in action on Saipan with the 27th Division. The post was founded in his honor in the summer of 1946 and, like all other VFW posts, is made up entirely of overseas veterans.

longer able to know everyone in the communities as they did a few years ago. New people are coming into the section with such rapidity that the only way for them to get their message across is to use the various means of disseminating information, mainly the county seat newspaper.

There was a time when most everyone down here knew everyone else. Folks in those days came to the stores as meeting places. But that day passed with the reconstruction of the lives of people after the war and we can almost date the tremendous growth of this section from that time. I find myself not as well acquainted as I used to be and I have lived here a number of years. I telephone people for news and they seem to know me even if I am not acquainted with them except in a business capacity of gathering information for The Journal. They say, "Hello, Pete," in a most friendly manner and I find out that they have read my name in the paper week in and week out and they feel as if they know me. I like that, but it does show me that more and more people are reading the Journal in this section than ever before.

They say to me, "I read what you said about the Dixie Grill, or they tell me they have been to see Tony and Julius. Sometimes I find one of my readers standing behind me at the Paris Auto where I am employed. I have had them mention Tucker and Orrock of the Triangle Plumbing, Heating and Appliance or they comment about the fine collection of records they have heard at Victor's. They mention Frank Stevens, and Mr. Merchant of the Firestone store and Mr. Ennis of the Triangle Hardware on Route 1 to me in such a manner to make me know that what I have written about these men and their businesses have come to the attention of a lot of new people down here. I have had a lot of people tell me that the first information they received about Fred Kitchener starting a new store in Manassas was in my column.

Now I say this to impress upon you how much the whole area from Quantico, Triangle and Dumfries clear up to Woodbridge and Occoquan is growing. I wouldn't make an estimate of how many new residents there are but I am looking forward with a great deal of anticipation to the figures which the census bureau will soon release which will show how much we really have grown.

The important part of any business development is when the business men recognize that the growth of a community has got beyond their old methods of doing business and found that to get their messages across with profit that they must advertise with some degree of regularity. That is what they are doing and I am sure my advice to you could not be better than to tell you to continue to watch for what they have to offer and go in and visit them. I know they are a fine bunch of men and when they tell me what they want to advertise I myself have looked it over so that I can tell you.

THAT PARTICULAR TIME OF THE YEAR

THIS is the time of year that makes it almost impossible for a man to sit in an office pounding out editorials and news stories, and we suppose the same difficulty is encountered by men and women in no matter what line of endeavor. As the announcer on the radio says, "Springtime is vitamin time," and you can't get the vitamins your soul needs by sitting around in an office or standing behind a counter or pumping gas into someone's tank or whatever you do for a living.

When the dogwood starts to bloom and the red bud peeks through the new greenery of shady glades and bosky dells, it is time to call a halt to serious business and, in the words of Walt Whitman, "loafe and invite my soul."

It has long been our contention that the practice of taking summer vacations ranks high among our national foibles. Consider what a summer vacation entails: you pack your luggage, your wife, your kids and your bathing suit in your automobile; you drive like made through heat and summer thunderstorms to reach your favorite resort; for two or three days you rest up from the strenuous trip and regain your faculties just in time to notice that you have been badly bitten by mosquitoes and seriously blistered by sun; by the time the bites have stopped itching and the blisters have stopped peeling, it is time to reverse the procedure of packing and traveling. A few days later you are back home again and on the following Monday you retire to the comparative peace and restfulness of your place of business.

How much more sensible it would be to knock off when the leaves start greening and the blossoms start popping out, and how much more sensible to take your two weeks off at home and appreciate the blessings—minus mosquitoes and scorching sun—that await you in your own front yard.

And when the urge to travel strikes you, how much more sensible to load the family—minus luggage—into the flivver and strike out through some of the back roads of Prince William County. There's beauty waiting for you in some of the most surprising places, and now is the time of year to look for it and enjoy it.

—The borrowing from Peter to pay Paul system of financing followed by the Town Council has a new twist. This time the council will borrow $10,000 at 3 percent interest from either the Manassas National Bank or the People's National Bank, or part from each, to straighten out its withdrawals from the Perpetual Care Cemetery Fund. When this is done and the amount due the fund is paid back the council will then revert to robbing Peter to pay Paul by withdrawing $8,000 to pay the settlement price due E. L. Daniels for disposal plant construction. The money thus borrowed this time from the cemetery fund will bear interest at the rate of 2.4 percent.

—Brown as a nut with tan put on George B. Cocke has arrived home under the Florida sunshine Dr. wearing his usual broad smile. He reports that in the nearly a month he was away from Manassas he had a wonderful time.

Highlights Of a Sermon

Rev. Dewey D. Fleishman, pastor of the Nokesville Church of the Brethren, speaking to his congregation on the "Religious Education of the Child" in observance of Week-Day Religious Education Week, pointed out in the classes of the Week-Day School of Religion the Bible and not (denominationalism) is taught.

Said Rev. Fleishman: "We are teaching the Bible to encourage boys and girls to live Christian lives and to become better citizens. There is no preaching of denominationalism."

"In 1775, 100 percent of the educational instruction in the nation was based on morals and religion. A recent survey reveals that present day instruction is less than one percent in this category.

"The cost of Week-Day Religious Education is very small. At the present time Brentsville District is spending a little more than four dollars per person, enrolled in the Week-Day Bible Class. Four dollars a head is a very small amount in comparison with what is spent for the child's food, clothes, and pleasure. But those of us who believe in the Program of Religious training know that the same amount invested in anything other than religion could not bring as much permanent good to boys and girls."

"We must do more to encourage young life to study and use the Bible. We must give a greater accent to spiritual things. A child can be taught to believe that 'a pocket Testament is more valuable to him than a pocket knife."

"A Program of Religious Education will do more to solve the juvenile delinquent problem than any other one thing. The age of criminals now is lower as compared with some years ago. This is the case because those who are called upon to reckon with the law have not had the proper training in morals and proper living. The child's teaching is the main thing in his life. I deny the statement that today's children are by nature worse than the children of the past. Adults often make the statement, 'well, I never did that when I was a boy, or 'I never acted that way when I was a girl.' When I hear such a remark, I feel like asking, 'What do you suppose would have done had you been tempted to do this or the other?' The fact is not that we were better by nature than our children, but our religious training made us different. The influences which led to the breakdown of morals and loyalty to right were not so powerful twenty years ago."

"The question is, will the program of Bible teaching be continued in the county? Should it be continued? The answers to these questions should be an unequivocal 'Yes.' It depends, of course, upon the future legal requirement laid down by the Attorney General of Virginia. More depends upon the attitude and action of parents and interested people in this program. 'We believe so strongly in the Week-Day Religious Education that we would make a desperate effort to keep it going in Brentsville District, even if other sections of the county would not support the program."

"The benefits of this program cannot be valued in dollars and cents, but in the character building of the boys and the girls. Where the Bible is taught in the day school, discipline problems are less and the whole atmosphere becomes more wholesome for the child's education and his whole outlook upon life conforms to higher levels."

"Who benefits from this program? The children benefit, the county benefits, the nation benefits. We are building better citizens. This in itself is a vast contribution to our society apart from the religious side in which we all believe."

"My plea today is that we unite wholeheartedly in this great program of Religious Training. For it will provide a generation capable of governing its affairs by democratic principles."

"The future of this country lies with the young people of today. If the youth grow up without religious training there will be none to build up the Church and to promote the cause of Christian living, nor to keep alive the democratic principles in the years that lie ahead. We must take care of our boys and girls. We must take care of the youth of our county."

Poetry

The following poems have been sent to The Journal by Mrs. Ewing McMichael.

"THESE I'VE LOVED"

These I've loved since I was grown
Thoughts of God upon His throne,
Sunshine on a daffodil
Shadows by some mountain rill;
God's own rainbow in the sky,
Children's laughter passing by,
Darting swallows on the wing,
Songs my mother used to sing,
Iris bloom, all wet with dew,
A summer sky, so heavenly blue,
Roses climbing up a wall,
Curls upon a baby's small;
Stained glass windows in a church,
The rainbow colors of a perch,
God's Aurora, flashing bright,
Stars upon an Autumn night.

"MY GARDEN"

My garden gate leads in for me
To golden hours of ease.
I sit amidst the perfume sweet
And drink the Heavenly breeze.
The bee wings on from flower to flower
He, too, tastes rapture rare,
I sit and dream and in my soul
I know that God walks there.

Pastor's Study

By The Rev. E. Guthrie Brown, Rector, Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas, Virginia

Man has often debated and discussed as to what is the greatest work that he has to do in this world. Is it to write a poem or a book, to compose a piece of music, to paint a picture, to build a better mousetrap, to become a great athlete, to deliver an oration, to be known as a good fellow, to make an invention or a discovery, to evolve a code of ethics, to be a social butterfly, to be a power in the business or professional world, to become a politician or to conquer the world? Not any of these things, great as some of them may be, is the greatest work that man has to do in this world. The greatest thing in man is his immortal soul. Thus man's greatest work must be the development and enrichment of his soul.

God put part of Himself into man for man was created in the image of God. The soul of man is the one thing that makes him different from the other orders and forms of creation. For poverty cannot degrade the soul, heat cannot consume it, water cannot drown it, cold cannot crack it, slander cannot defame it, tanks or guns or fire or sword cannot hurt it, the undertaker cannot encase it, the clergyman cannot commit it, the grave digger cannot bury it, and death itself cannot destroy it. So very important and vital is it to man that Jesus of Nazareth, the Christ, the chosen one of God, God's only Begotten Son, gave His life on the cross on Calvary to redeem the soul of man, so that if man believes in Him and earnestly seeks to walk in His way, He shall be saved.

The Lord Jesus Christ said that the worst kind of a bargain or a trade that man could ever make would be to exchange his soul for the whole world, and lose his own soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

Another Berlin Letter From The Halls

The following letter dated April 21, has been received from Catharine and Larry Hall, former residents of Manassas, who are now in Germany. Hall is a Master Sergeant, attached to the 6th Detachment of the 2nd Signal Service Battalion:

Dear Editor:

We are up to date now on all the papers, and were quite thrilled to see our names in print and especially on the front page.

I have another "customer" for your paper, and one who might be remembered by their friends in Manassas. We pass the Journal along to them now as well as the Tombes'. In fact we are all so starved for American newspapers, having only the Stars and Stripes which is a wonderful little paper, that quite a few others read your paper too.

Leuenast Charles Rosell, his wife and small boy, recently arrived here. He was a manager of the town football team in Manassas for a couple of seasons. I believe. His nickname was "Chuck" Rosell, and he and his family lived in the Gothwaite Apartments. This might be a news item, if you could find space to print it.

We both really believe that the Journal has improved a great deal under your sponsorship, as we read the paper for some time while not being a subscriber.

Will close for now, and remain,

Put Honor Roll Up Again Says Carl Kincheloe

Supervisor J. Karl Kincheloe does not intend to permit the World War II Honor Roll which has been lying face down on the courthouse lawn to remain in that condition he told the Journal Tuesday night. He announced that at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Thursday he would seek to have an order issued directing Sheriff Kerlin to re-erect the Honor Roll.

The condition of the Honor Roll, first disclosed by the Journal to have been blown down in a strong wind and left to remain on the ground by Sheriff Kerlin, the Courthouse custodian, has been the source of much comment among World War II Veterans of Prince William County. Many have expressed themselves that the attitude of county officials now regarding the Honor Roll is in striking contrast to that shown when the boys went singly and in groups to a War from which some never returned.

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Manassas have voiced their intention to re-erect the Honor Roll. If the Supervisors allow another session to pass without taking steps to repair it.

"How can recruiting for a National Guard unit or getting men to come to the defense of their country be expected if the official attitude in Prince William County is to forget the men who served just as quick as the fighting stops," said one World War II veteran. Supervisor Kincheloe said he regards the condition of the Honor Roll as disgraceful and a sad commentary on the appreciation that the county should have for young men who served their country.

$502,734 Ok'd For Fiscal '51 County Budget

With a budget in excess of $500,000 now approved for Prince William County in the fiscal year 1951, the Board of Supervisors this week turned their attention to the county road situation.

State highway officials were scheduled to meet this morning with the supervisors, and at the time of going to press The Journal had no information on the accomplishments of the meeting.

Indications were that a budget slightly in excess of $190,000 for secondary roads would be approved. A report will also be received from a board of views which on Tuesday inspected two roads in the Dumfries area, two in the Occoquan area and one in Coles District for inclusion in the secondary system.

The board last week passed without change the already tentatively approved county budget, totaling $502,734.95. Addition of newly assessed properties, including the Possum Point Plant installation near Dumfries, made possible a substantial decrease in the tax rate with a simultaneous increase in.

As predicted, the board cut the combined county and district levy from $2.50 to $2.30 for five of the county's six magisterial districts, and to $2.25 for Coles District, which has no district tax.

Wheatley M. Johnson, former supervisor and foe of the tax cut, appeared to demand retention of the $2.50 rate. In a letter to the Editor of The Journal published April 20, Johnson stated that "The proposed levy of $2.30, based on the Board's own figures, is less than the operating expenses for the next fiscal year."

At the Thursday meeting, Johnson was quoted as telling the supervisors that the tax reduction would result in a loss to the county of $150,000 in revenue. A county official, commenting on the Johnson estimate, produced these figures:

Total assessed valuation, $17,000,000; lost revenue through a reduction of 20 cents per $100 in the tax rate, $34,000.

Taking into consideration a reduction of merchants' capital levy from $2.40 to $1.25, which was also approved at the meeting, an additional $11,500 will be lost to the county, based on an estimate of $1,000,000 merchants' capital, the official added. These two together, he said, total $45,500, "a matter of nearly $105,000 less than Mr. Johnson's estimate of the loss."

Also approved at the meeting was a school budget of $568,372.36. This was unchanged from the tentative figure approved at an earlier meeting.

New Powers For Grade Separations

Of special interest to Manassas is the announcement of the Highway Department that a bill has been passed by the legislature which clarifies the position of the Highway Department in relation to requirements of railroads to pay a share of the construction when it is deemed necessary to eliminate grade crossings.

With plans rapidly progressing for a school building on land south of the Southern Railroad tracks and the Chamber of Commerce having a special committee at work considering the necessity for an overpass or an underpass it is expected that city and county officials will take steps to ascertain from the highway department what changes in the authority of the department will be beneficial to Manassas.

Two suggestions have already been made for the separation of grades inside the town of Manassas would be impossible because of the proximity of Center street to the railroad tracks.

The drive to separate the grade in order to protect the lives of children who will be required to go to schools on the south side of the tracks is being given impetus by parents as the plans for the next school building advance. Action probably will have to take the form of the parents circulating a petition asking the school authorities and the supervisors to take a definite stand and appeal to the Highway Department to start the move in motion. Such a petition may be started by leaders of the Parent and Teachers Association.

At its meeting on March 14, the Chamber of Commerce named E. G. Parrish, E. D. Gothwaite and J. Carl Kinchloe, as a committee to work in cooperation with the Chamber's standing Committee on roads to make a preliminary survey of the engineering requirements and to bring officials of the railroad, the state highway department and the county supervisors together for definite consideration of plans. It now appears that the highway department has complete data as to its authority on grade separation

Homemaker

If you want to give the youngsters a dessert thrill, put orange sections in lemon gelatine with animal crackers parading around the dish. The fresh oranges will add Vitamin C to the diet, as well as other valuable nutrients. This salad-dessert is as attractive that you'll use it as a part of the centerpiece. Make it with 1 tbl. of plain gelatine softened with 1-4 cup of fresh lemon juice. Add 1-4 cup sugar and 1 1-2 cups boiling water. Pour into serving bowl and let stand until partially set. Place pairs of orange sections from easy to peel, seedless oranges almost together at regular intervals in the gelatine. Let set again and stand an animal cracker between each pair of orange sections. Decorate the center with orange slices and more animal crackers. Serve plain or with a soft orange custard. Makes 8 to 6 servings.

Here is a recipe for Fresh Citrus Custard. You can serve this alone or pour it over the gelatine dessert I just described.

FRESH CITRUS CUSTARD
1-2 cup sugar
2 tbs. flour
1 cup scalded milk
1-4 tsp. salt
2 eggs
1-4 cup fresh orange juice
2 tsp. fresh lemon juice
1 1-2 tsp. grated orange peel
Combine flour, sugar, salt, and add to scalded milk in a double boiler. Beat eggs and gradually add to mixture. Cook until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from stove and add orange and lemon juice and grated peel. Chill thoroughly. Serve with plenty of sliced oranges around the edges or on top for added flavor and nutrition.
