DOGGETT GETS INTO WATER BUSINESS; FINDS HE'S A PUBLIC UTILITY MAGNATE FIRST PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY BOY IS WOUNDED IN KOREA

Tom Gravely Is Reported As Casualty

The Korean War has struck Prince William County with one of her sons wounded in the fighting with the Red invaders. He is Corporal Thomas James Gravely, aged 19, of Triangle, the son of Mrs. Gertrude Henley, also of Triangle.

Young Gravely was fighting with the 19th Infantry Regiment. The first word that he had been shot down came from young Gravely in a letter to his mother which she received July 27th. It had come via San Francisco and this is what it said: "I am here in Korea and I hurt my back. You can guess the rest. I am in a Red Cross Emergency Hospital. I guess you have read the Korean news in the papers. I probably will be sent back to Japan."

The next message which Mrs. Henley received about her son came from the Department of the Army in the form of a telegram which she received last Sunday from Major General F. Whitely, Adjutant General of the Army. It read as follows: "The Secretary of the Army has asked me to express his deep regret that your son Thomas Gravely has been missing in action in Korea since 18 July, 1950."

The letter from her son and the more serious information which came to her from the Department of the Army is indicative of the confusion existing during the fighting in Korea. On the one hand the mother has a letter from her son stating he is in a Red Cross Hospital and expected to be shipped back to Japan and on the other hand the Department of the Army sends the mother an official statement that her son is missing in action. Both messages could not be correct and Mrs. Henley is inclined to believe that the one she received from her son is correct.

"If I had heard from the Army first they would have had to bury me," Mrs. Henley said.

The fast moving action between the American Forces and the enemy in Korea indicates that communications have been disrupted and commanders have been unable to keep track of their troops.

The fact that Gravely wrote his mother that he was in an Emergency Red Cross Hospital expecting to be moved back to Japan would indicate that the area behind the line is so small that there is no place available to set up a base hospital to which wounded could be sent. The fighting has been too intense and apparently emergency hospital facilities make up the only way the Army has to care for the wounded.

Corporal Gravely has been in the Army since January 1949, in Korea for only two months when the fighting broke out. He is one of the many untrained American troops that the Defense Department had available to meet the onslaught of the Reds when they broke across the 38th parallel.

Gravely at one time attended the Manassas Vocational School but after his induction into the Army he was sent to Fort Benning, Georgia for basic training and shipped off to the Orient as soon as he had completed the allotted service time.

Architect's Drawing of Proposed Gar-Field High School at Woodbridge

Shown above is the architect's drawing of the proposed Gar-Field High School to be built at the intersection of U. S. Route 1 and Route 610 at Woodbridge. Construction will begin as soon as funds are available from the State Literary Fund. In the left wing there will be an industrial arts shop, cafeteria, and gymnasium. An auditorium will occupy the right wing and administrative offices, library, and classrooms will be located in the center as well as on the second floor. The school will accommodate 400 students from the Triangle-Woodbridge-Ocoquan-Quantico-Dumfries area, now served by the Ocoquan district high school. The present Ocoquan school will be converted to an elementary school. Gar-Field High School is to be named after two Woodbridge citizens, Grover Manderfield and Gilmer Garber, who donated a 20-acre tract of land for the site. John M. Walton and Associates are the architects of the above plans. The plans were drawn from ideas of Superintendent of Schools R. Worth Peters.

Man With Little Black Bag Has Councilmen Disturbed

Watch for the man with the little black bag. He may be in Manassas soon and he may come to your place.

But don't expect him to tell you what is in the little black bag because he won't. The fact that he will not has the Town Council pretty much disturbed. What that little black bag contains is the means of livelihood for F. M. Booker and he doesn't propose to let everyone in on the secret.

The story about the little black bag originates over the problem of finding a site for a new well to supplement the present dwindling town water supply. What is in the little black bag is supposed to determine where there is water. There's that rub. The Town Council would like to have a sure shot but Mr. Booker doesn't play that way. All he will do is to go around Manassas with the little black bag and test the water strata and indicate where a well should be started. For that he wants $400 and expenses when the hole is down 500 feet and another $400 when the hole is completed—wet or dry.

The reason the Council is considering the little black bag is because one resident offered to sell for $500 a lot where a well could be drilled. Estimates put the total cost of the well at $8,036, according to the figures of even the lowest bidding well driller. Mayor Davis and the councilmen thought $500 for a lot and possibly a dry hole would be a little difficult to stand. That is why they want Mr. Booker to give them some assistance as to where water could be found and in quantities of gallons a minute.

While recognizing the need for haste to augment the water supply, the upshot of the whole discussion was that there should be further investigation as to whether a 6-inch well or an 8-inch well should be drilled. Councilman Doggett thought a little money could be saved with a 6-inch well but the other councilmen felt that as long as the State Health Department requires an 8-inch well it would be desirable to go along with the Health Department.

It was finally resolved to investigate further, particularly what the little black bag might contain and how certain it will disclose where and how much water there is under the surface. There will be a report at the next council meeting.

Ford Agency Sold by Sadd To Tom Frost

Prince William Motors was sold on Wednesday and will hereafter be known as Frost Ford.

The purchasers are Tom Frost and Stewart E. Eustace, of Warrenton, widely known automobile dealers, and they acquired the business from Walter D. Sadd. The real estate remains with Sadd.

Frost is the owner of Frost Ford-Mercury Company of Warrenton and Eustace has been associated with him for more than 15 years. Eustace is moving to Manassas and will become the active head of the Frost Ford Company, and Mr. Frost will continue to operate the Warrenton business.

Eustace is a native Virginian. He was born and reared at Calverton and attended VPI. He has been in the automobile business since 1934. He is married and has a daughter 7 years old.

The taking of the inventory preparatory to the final transfer between the two firms should be completed by Monday, according to Mr. Eustace. Shortly after the formal transfer has been made, Mr. Eustace said a grand opening is planned to which the patrons of the firm and the public will be invited.

Mr. Sadd said he had no immediate plans for himself but added that he will remain in Manassas. Sadd recently sold the lease of the Stonewall Jackson Hotel.

There will be an all day singing and preaching Aug. 6th at the Welcome Home Church. All quartets and singers are invited. Singing will be from Stamps Baxter books. Everyone is urged to bring a basket of dinner and spend the day. The church is located 2½ miles out of Manassas on the Wellington road.

Bond Issue For Schools Is Discussed

The Nokesville Ruritan Club took a forceful stand on the school building program at a meeting Wednesday night when a resolution was adopted urging early construction of better school facilities in Prince William County, including the addition of an agricultural building to the Brentsville District High School.

At the meeting at which S. A. McMichael presided, a committee was appointed to call upon the Board of Supervisors and express the sentiment of the Ruritan Club and the residents of Nokesville. This committee consists of W. F. Hale, Lester Huff, P. D. Reading, Lester Parsons, Harry Swan and Paul Irvin. The sentiment in the Nokesville area is for a bond issue.

Prince William County Chamber of Commerce took steps Tuesday to pour oil on troubled waters and to assure the people of Ocoquan and Dumfries Districts that a bond issue for public schools is preferable to obtaining the cost of new schools from the State Literary Fund. Thus high schools for white children might be built in both ends of the county and with no preference to Manassas which is a fear expressed by residents of the lower end of the county.

The subject will be brought up again at the meeting next week when more members are expected to be present.

Even with the small number meeting Tuesday to discuss the school problem the sentiment was in favor of assuring the people of Ocoquan and Dumfries that Manassas does not seek to have a school at the expense of those districts.

It was brought out by Superintendent of Schools Worth Peters that bond interest rates will be lower than the rate charged by the state, which is two percent. Banks and bond houses have been taking bonds with interest rates as low as one and one third percent and up to

They will face each other in the November election. Judge Smith got 10,181 votes in the Democratic primary and Krum got 1,972 in the Republican primary.

Arthur F. Souther of Arlington who opposed Judge Smith got only 1,726 votes. Krum's opponent, Hal Hughes, received 544 votes.

Krum opposed Judge Smith two years ago but was defeated. For several years Krum has been advertising himself as an advisor to veterans but the newspaper which carried his column of advice and the radio station which broadcast it no longer advertise him.

Buy's Spink's Out for $100 And Tries To Resell for $900

Councilman Roy Doggett is in the public utility business and trying to get out of it before the State Corporation Commission catches up with him and makes him file reports, rate schedules and the thousand and one other types of forms and reports that are required of companies which serve the public with water.

Also Mr. Doggett may have violated a provision of the law which prohibits an official from dealing with the municipality he represents. Whether Doggett has become so involved and faces the possibility of having to quit his councilmanic job remains for the legal minds to decide. It is likely to become an issue.

Doggett got into the public utility business by trying to make a quick penny—or should it be said a quick several hundred dollars. He hasn't made the money he expected to make and the complications that followed his advent into the business of serving water to nine residents of southeast Manassas have developed almost hourly since he took the plunge.

This is the way the story goes. For several years' Buckhall road have got the supply of water for their homes from the town of Manassas. They live outside the corporate limits but several years ago the town permitted James Dorrell to make a connection with the town water system at Wood's grocery Store on the corner of Fairview Avenue and Buckhall Road. The city installed a meter and Dorrell installed a pipe line to serve the residents outside the city, running the line across property owned by Walter Sadd. Each individual took water from Dorrell but the city charged Dorrell for the entire amount consumed.

Later the water service passed into the hands of Chas. Kincheol but he held it for a very short time and turned it over to George Spinks, who paid the water bill to the city and then re-billed the individual users. All went fine until recently when the Town Council decided to increase the water rates by 20 percent. They presented the bill to Spinks and he tried to pass it on to the consumers but they declined to pay the increase. Spinks thought that was sufficient reason to get rid of the water system. He didn't see any profit in paying increased rates if he could not pass the additional charge on to the user. So he sought out Roy Doggett and Doggett paid him $100 for the entire system. That was about the middle of July.

Once in charge of the Doggett Water Company the councilman paid a visit to his consumers and suggested that each of them pay him $100 for their part of the water system. Nine consumers at $100 each would make a tidy profit. But the consumers, it appears, couldn't see it that way. They refused to pay the $100 asked by Doggett.

A few days later Doggett saw his consumers again. This time he offered to sell each of them an interest in the water company for $75. No soap, said the consumers. Then Doggett reduced the price to $60 each and there it stands. These figures are admitted by Doggett himself.

So Doggett finds the consumers refusing to pay the increased rates demanded by the city and they refuse to buy his water company.

When the question of raising water rates was up before the Town Council Doggett was one of the principal advocates of increasing the rates to consumers outside the corporate limits, particularly the Birmingham Dairy. At a recent meeting the town decided to readjust the rates for the Birmingham Dairy so the cost would be so great and then Doggett wanted to know why the rates for Birmingham should be lowered and not the rates for Spinks, who took more than 100,000 gallons through his meter. Whether Doggett was actually the owner of the water company when he made this inquiry or whether Spinks still was in possession could not be determined but it was close enough to the change of ownership to raise some question as to whose interest was involved.

Justice C. Lacey Compton July levied $17,713.45 in fines made up from violations of truck weight laws, for which he has been issued at the rate of about 100 every 24 hours recently when the violations decreased to between 400 per week. Due to the backlog of cases, the total is about 1,400. Judge Compton anticipates that the August will exceed those of July.

Breeden proposes to turn Porter Mansion into apartments or an apartment hotel for owners in the neighborhood who they had no objection to the plan. Before taking authority to rezone the property, the Board of Zoning Appeals referred the matter to the Board of Zoning Appeals that body acts the Town will make its decision.

Application of James Colton resigned as a town police effective July 31, the Town voted to reimburse him for the per cent retirement deduction from his salary.

Manager Ritter has been elected by the Town Council to fill the town's utility and public utilities their policy the payment of interest on bonds made to guarantee as long as deposits are in the town. The reason was that by one large depositor the town pay him interest on the town holds.

Town Council has authorized over construction of sidewalk on Battle Street. John S. Hutton, a cement contractor, must do the work satisfaction of Town Manager. He will use town equipment and pay a rental fee for the use of the equipment. It is estimated that the work will be approximately the same as if the work were done by employees.

He has paid taxes on the bills sent to him by the Manassas, Jack Breeden, who asked the Council and him approximately $200. Council explained that the tax is made up from information furnished to Town Treasurer by Commissioner of Revenue and when the tax bills went out all the lots were county records as belonging to Breeden.

Police department will be equipped with facilities for removal of prints from evidence at the scene of a crime and tear gas bombs to subdue but for the time being they are to be given a camera. The Council voted $27.50 for the print equipment and $14.00 for the camera. These are the more expensive items $11.00 each. A little more information is required about the everyone will be glad to "have an evening off" from cooking and eating at home. Remember, August 23. The Worship Service under the very capable direction of Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Nolley for the young people of the Nokesville Church of the Brethren just could not have been any more impressive when all the young folks were guests of the Bowmans, Shepherds and Whetzel on the lovely Bowman lawn on Sunday evening. Following the service, everyone enjoyed a supper featuring "G-Pa" Bowman's tasty hotdogs roasted just right over the fire at the fireplace. Planned recreation followed until the young folks were ready to go to their homes.

One hundred and thirty-five folks, including members of the Junior and Senior Women's H. D. Clubs of Nokesville and their families and friends thoroughly enjoyed an evening on the Bowman home on Monday evening when they had their annual picnic. During the evening prizes were awarded for various ages of persons present. Rev. C. W. Mark won the prize for the oldest person present. Mr. Mark is 92. Close behind him were "Grandpa" J. J. True who is 89 and "Grandpa" J. A. Hooker who is 83. The youngest present was little Adrian Van Manen who is seven months old. The Wallace Woods and Fred Shepherds tied for the largest number of members of a family present. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Shepherd were the couple who have been married the longest—40 years in June. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barlow (she's the former, Miss Kline the H. D. Agent) won the prize for the most recently married couple. Mr. Russell Britton is going at this beetle situation a little bit different than most folks and we think we should share with you his results. In two weeks' time he caught in his beetle trap nine gallons of "pure" beetles. He now has three traps and in one day he caught four gallons. We understand the State of Maryland provides for all of its residents these traps at a very small fee. However, the traps can be bought at a store in Washington. But what we'd like to know is "Why can't" our own State do something for this very costly pest. After very closely observing the past week we see that spraying is causing the beetles to "just move over to the neighbors corn or trees, etc." Our humble opinion is that Spray should be provided for everyone, then they can't "move on."

The Fine Art of the Apothecary has not been lost

● The old apothecary of other years was a mysterious and romantic figure. Under his magic influence roots, herbs, and minerals were turned into pills, extracts, and plasters. The doctor's prescriptions were filled, the patient's health and comfort restored. Although much of the mystery with which he was surrounded has vanished, the fine art of the apothecary has not been lost. A visit to our prescription department will convince the most skeptical that his function is an important adjunct to modern medical practice. When you find it necessary to consult a physician, bring your prescriptions to us to be filled. Your doctor's orders will be followed to the letter.

Flood Control Problem Calls For State Help

The problem of how to dispose of the surface water that floods many parts of Manassas during heavy storms remains unsettled but help is to be sought from Richard Worthington, the new resident engineer of the State Highway Department.

The subject occupied the serious attention of the Town Council Monday night as well as that of many residents whose property has been flooded from time to time and who see greater danger if an open ditch is constructed through property of the Recreation Association which has given the town authority to construct it.

The memory of the oldest inhabitants will be called upon to convince the state highway department that its elevation of the Centerville roadway at the entrance to Manassas near the Birmingham Dairy and the Manassas Lumber Company is really the cause of the trouble. It appears that before the highway was improved by the state, surface water in that section of the town flowed out Centerville Road and into a ditch which ran through the Kinchloe property. Now is flows in the opposite direction and into two ponds on the Porter Estate but is unable during flood times to pass from them into an 18 inch pipe with the result that the water backs up and floods the yards and sometimes the homes of residents to the east.

It was argued by Councilman Hook and Councilwoman Saunders that putting an open ditch through the Recreation Association property would not relieve the situation unless an outlet could be found for the water clear through to Grant Avenue. They wanted the improvement to be started at Grant Avenue and work east so as to make the outlet larger before the intake was enlarged. Councilman Doggett thought it would be advisable to construct the ditch because it could be done now for $200 whereas if the Recreation Association changed its mind about giving permission for the ditch the cost would be approximately $2000 later for a pipe.

Residents of Grant Avenue stated that the storm of a week ago Sunday night caused such high water in that area that to put more water through without making aggravate the condition.

To Hear Appeals

Richard Worthington, new resident highway engineer, who will be asked to come to Manassas to hear the oldest inhabitants tell how the state changed Centerville Road grade and caused storm flood damage throughout town.

The Grant Avenue situation brought out the chance of working upon the State Highway Department because Grant Avenue is part of Route 234, and it was stated that some help in the way of sharing costs might be expected from the Highway Department.

When the argument for the open ditch as a temporary relief was at the hottest Robert Newman told the Town Council that if it took any action that would damage further his property he would bring suit for damages against the town. The Council took the position that consultation with the Highway Department was more desirable than any precipitous action now.

It was Mayor Davis who suggested that when a meeting is arranged with the highway officials the older inhabitants who remember how the water once drained along Centerville Road be called to recount a little history.

Manassas Firemen want to install a flashing red light in front of the fire house to signal traffic when the fire engine is about to pull out in response to an alarm. They have asked the Town Council to install such a light but before that can be done, permission must be obtained from the State Highway Department. This was requested Monday night in the form of a resolution.

Greenwich

By Reba Hopkins

The Greenwich Presbyterians were hosts to the Brentsville District Sunday School Convention on Sunday. Mr. George Jones, president of the Convention, presided at the meeting. Mrs. A. C. Winn was organist for the morning session, and Mrs. J. W. Ellis for the afternoon session. The meeting opened with a hymn by the congregation, after which Rev. Winn welcomed the Convention to his Church, giving a brief, but interesting resume of the history of the Greenwich church. Mr. Robert Beahm read the scripture and Mr. Eugene Nolley read in prayer. A men's quartet, consisting of Mr. Robert Beahm, Mr. Eugene Nolley, Mr. Dillon Wood, Jr. and Mr. Lowen Marshall sang for the devotion. This was followed by special music by the Presbyterian Young People. Rev. W. L. Foley, visiting pastor at the Presbyterian Church gave a challenging address, very fitting for such an occasion. Accompanied by Mrs. Foley at the organ, Mr. Tom Foley sang a solo and after another song by the congregation and the benediction, the meeting was dismissed for lunch. During the lunch hour, the school band played appropriate music on the church lawn.

The afternoon session began with a hymn by the congregation, after which Mr. William Hale read the scripture and had prayer. This was followed by the Sunday School reports of the various Sunday Schools in the District. Each superintendent made a short talk on how the church can better serve the community.

In the business meeting which followed, the following were elected officers of the convention for the coming year: Pres., Mr. Robert Beahm; Vice Pres., Mr. John Ellis; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. Wade Wheelzel.

The Nokesville Methodists extended the invitation for the Convention to meet at their church next year.

After the closing hymn, the meeting was adjourned with the benediction.

The local morning and afternoon offering was $44.26. This will go to support week-day religious education in County schools. The Earnest Workers Sunday School Class of the Presbyterian Church met on the third Wednesday evening in June at the Sunday School Building. Programs outlined for the year were read by the Program Committee chairman, Mrs. Ruth McMichael. It was decided by the group to have Bible Study led by Mr. Winn every other month, and a program of speaker for the meetings when there was no Bible Study. Mrs. Blake Fleming and Mrs. Ewing McMichael acted as hostesses for the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Gibson came from Leesburg for this meeting.

Mrs. Val Peck is very ill in Walter Reid Hospital following an acute attack of asthma.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Reeves of Brentwood Md., are visiting Mrs. Maggie Crawford this week.

Revival Services have been announced at both the Oakdale Baptist and Greenwich Presbyterian churches the past week.

Mr. Billy Boss was at home over the week-end.

Mr. Donn Cross recently spent two weeks at Cherry Point, N. C. for Marine Reserve training.

It appears that when he stopped the autoist and claimed to be a policeman he had to call upon one of the guests of the autoist who is a Manassas resident to vouch for him. He will be told not to do that again.

est's Doggett was trying to protect. Asked about the water deal on Wednesday night Doggett said:

"I bought the water line from Spinks and offered it to the consumers. If they don't want to buy it I am going to shut down the line and stop taking water at the meter. I don't want to have all the trouble that comes with running a utility. I have been informed that if more than three homes are served the Public Utilities Commission demands a report and there is a lot of red tape involved. I don't want all that trouble."

A trip along the water system and talks with the consumers by a Journal reporter disclosed some very intense feeling about the Doggett water venture. A number of the consumers have approached Walter Sudd asking him for another right of way through his land to permit them to construct a competing line with that owned by

A Semi-Annual Report to Our Subscribers and Advertisers

Six months ago—February 6, 1950—the present management assumed charge of the Manassas Journal and established a firm policy to which it rigidly will adhere. That policy is to give the people of Prince William County the best newspaper published in the County and to cooperate with its readers and its advertisers in developing the county as a better place in which to live and do business.

This policy has proved to be acceptable. The Manassas Journal subscription list has grown and the slogan published above the masthead of the newspaper each week,—"The Manassas Journal is read in More Prince William County Homes than any other Newspaper"—is thoroughly true. There is not the slightest chance that it will have to be changed.

Not only is the Manassas Journal read in more homes but every week more advertisers use the Journal to tell the people of Manassas and Prince William County what they have to sell. The Journal has really become the market place of the Merchants, another slogan that goes unchallenged.

The Journal has more large and consistent users of space among the business firms of Manassas than any other newspaper.

The Journal carries more National Advertising than any other newspaper. National Advertising is one of the soundest measurements of newspaper value known in America because National Advertisers buy space only on the basis of results. They have means for testing results and they apply them. The newspaper that brings results is the one in which the greatest amount of national advertising appears.

Another great test of a newspaper's value is the amount of food advertising it prints. Women follow the food ads and the newspaper having the most food advertising assuredly is the newspaper which most women read.

In all these fields The Manassas Journal is dominant.

Our pledge for the next six months is to increase our efforts to improve the Journal. We hope we never become static. With each issue we try to better the previous one. The manner in which both subscriber and advertiser has responded is proof that The Manassas Journal has the greater acceptability.

Yes, "The Manassas Journal is read in More Prince William County Homes than any other newspaper."

Thank you.

The Manassas Journal

It costs less to advertise in the Journal because, for the dollar spent, the Journal carries your message to more individuals.

So this is
HOUSEKEEPING

For some unknown reason, brides are generally looked upon by the rest of the sisterhood as being a trifle on the stupid side. The fact of the matter is that a bride has to be smartly alert for all kinds of facts for future reference in eventually running a successful home.

Take the other evening when my favorite spouse and I were invited to dinner at the home of friends. I was anxious to see how Marie managed a home, a husband, and a three months old baby.

Digging in after dinner to help with the dishes, the first thing I spied was several Everflo nursing bottles. Acting very professional, I rinsed the bottles, then asked for a bottle brush to scrub off the milk film. Then I learned some facts on time, money, and drug-savings.

It seems Marie had been having too many sessions with broken nursing bottles and finally took her woes to a clerk at a baby counter. When the clerk discovered she had been using a bottle brush he explained that the brush was responsible for much of the trouble. Apparently among hardware men an established trick for breaking glass smoothly is to first score or scratch the surface with a hard instrument. When force is applied the glass breaks cleanly along the score mark. The same principle, the clerk pointed out, applies in using a wire-handled brush when cleaning baby nursing bottles. The metal end of the brush weakens the glass with tiny, almost unnoticeable scratches which are sufficient to break the bottle when it is subjected to a slight jar or to quick heating or cooling.

The clerk gave my friend some Everflo brushless baby bottle cleanser which solved the whole problem. A tablespoonful in warm water quickly dissolves and removes the milk film in baby bottles and leaves them sparkling clean. Now there's a bit of information that might come in handy some day!

camera, the Town Council thought, and this will be along the lines of the ability of the police to use a camera and whether, if it is given to them, the pictures they take can be introduced in court as evidence. The cost of the films and the cost of developing pictures appeared also to be a subject that delayed action on the purchase of the camera.

• The proposal advanced some weeks ago by E. D. Gothaite before the Chamber of Commerce that FHA loans be put under the Washington area office instead of Richmond has been approved by the Federal Housing Administration. However, a similar move has been refused by the Veteran's Administration office in Roanoke.

• Joan Marie Estes, 17, of Falls Church, drowned in Occoquan Creek Saturday afternoon in a tragic climax to the Cherrydale Methodist Church picnic. Her body was recovered by members of the Occoquan fire department and shipped to near Boston, Mass. for burial.

• The order of Town Manager Ritter that the police cannot go outside the town limits while on duty was rescinded by the Town Council Monday night. Ritter said there had been so much criticism about his order that he wanted the council to advise him as a matter of policy. It was the opinion of the council that policemen should be permitted to go outside the town limits when they deemed it necessary in performance of their duty, but not to "run a good thing in the ground."

Pitts Reopens
As Crowds Are Delighted

The lights are flickering again on Main Street. The Pitts Theatre is back.

Opening night last Tuesday was a grand affair for the people of Manassas and vicinity who have waited patiently since last March, when the theatre was destroyed by fire, for the return of motion pictures. The crowds began arriving early, in fact the youngsters were in front of the theatre all afternoon, awaiting the opening showing of pictures.

There were ohs and ahs and other expressions of pleasure and delight when the crowd went into the theatre and viewed the elaborately decorated interior. And the seats—they pleased every one. District Manager T. I. Martin was highly pleased with the opening night—and so was the crowd. Yes, the lights are flickering again on Main Street.

Schools

one and three quarters per cent. It was generally agreed that any delay in the school building program would result in higher costs of materials and therefore every effort should be made to get a bond issue under way as quickly as possible.

At a meeting at the Occoquan High School Monday night citizens of the lower end of the county expressed their fears that of funds were to be supplied by the state Manassas would get the first allocation and that would leave little or nothing for Dumfries and Occoquan. Arthur Kirby, of Quantico, led the effort to seek a commitment from the Board of Supervisors and the School Board that no construction money would be obtained from the state unless the amount was sufficient to cover schools for Dumfries-Occoquan as well as Manassas. A resolution to that effect was adopted unanimously. Present at the Occoquan meeting were J. Murray Taylor, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, R. S. Hall, and Jack Pick, Fred Lynn, Col. Mussler, Mrs. Louis Ferlazzo, Mrs. Claud Ennis, Mrs. Ralph Carden, Mrs. McIntee and Mrs. Hook-
