Send In Your Entry Blanks
For Veterans' County Fair
To Be Held Aug 31 to Sept 2

Prince William County's first farm fair since 1922—and the Veterans' Farm Club hopes it won't be the last—gets under way August 31 at Longview Park Speedway and continues through September 2.

Members of the club renewed their appeal today for entries, which may be submitted through noon of August 31.

"We don't want to sound pessimistic," said one of the veterans, "but we'd like to make this fair a success before a lot of us have to go back into service."

Chairmen of the various departments of the show may be contacted regarding qualifications for entries. In addition, an entry blank is reproduced below in The Journal.

All entries, whether induced by department chairmen or clipped from the paper, should be mailed to Joseph B. Johnson, RFD 1, Manassas.

Time is fast running out for entries, members of the club pointed out, just as time may be running out for a continuation of civilian activities by club members—veterans of World War II.

The grim reality of the war situation today is felt by every member of the organization. But they've promised not to let this menace detract from the elaborate and extensive preparations for the county's first farm fair in 28 years.

The biggest need at present is for entries in all classes, according to Johnson, who is general chairman for the event.

Meanwhile, Johnson said that plans are progressing for entertainment features to augment the exhibition. Poles will be available for the children to ride, he said, and there are plans to have other rides for the amusement of all.

The fair chairman emphasized, however, that there will be absolutely no midway—in the normal sense of the word—and no gambling games or other premium winning attractions outside of the exhibits.

Displays of the wide variety of livestock, poultry and other farm products—for which entries are being sought and for which prizes will be awarded—will make up the bulk of the eagerly-awaited event. Competition will be for all farmers and for 4-H and FFA members.

There also will be exhibits and displays of the latest farm equipment and machinery by dealers in this area.

Here is a brief summary of the classes of exhibits which will be accepted and in which prizes will be awarded:

Dairy cattle—Kemp Clemens, chairman—Fifteen divisions to include heifers, milking cows, bull calves, and grand champions in both the junior and open divisions. There will be separate judging for senior and junior classifications.

Beef cattle—Kite Roseberry, chairman—Eleven divisions to include heifer calves, heifers, cows, steers, bull calves and bulls, with grand champion awards. There will be separate judging for senior and junior classifications.

Poultry—William Young, chairman—Thirteen divisions to include different breeds of chickens, broilers, turkeys, ducks and rabbits. There will be separate judging for senior and junior classifications.

Farm produce—Lou Foster, chairman—Twenty divisions to include wheat, rye, barley, orchard grass, and other crops. There will be separate judging for senior and junior classifications.

Home-made products—Mrs. Helen Champion, chairman—Eighty divisions to include senior and junior home-made products in separate competition, with a hobby show as an added attraction. General divisions will include all types of canned goods, baked goods, clothing, flowers, home garden produce, eggs and sewing.

Hogs—Eleven divisions which are open only to 4-H Club and FFA members. In addition to numerous divisions, there will be grand and reserve champion awards for boars and sows.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs and the Manassas Recreation Association.

Herman Lee and his Osborn High School band will furnish music preceding the game and throughout the evening.

The Manassas Lions and Kiwanis clubs will meet in a softball game at Swavely Field on Friday, Sept. 1, at 8 p.m. Proceeds of the game will be used to further work of the Manassas Recreation Association.

Only members of the two organizations will participate and Lion James E. Bradford, Jr. and Kiwanian James B. Myers are chairmen of the event. Reuben Hicks will captain the Lions and Carl Kinchloe will head the Kiwanis team.

The new parsonage is to be built on a lot at the corner of Main Street and Portner Avenue, two blocks from the church. The plans call for a 2-story brick building. The building plans are being worked out in cooperation with the Methodist District Board on Building and Location, with Dr. J. Callaway Robertson, District Superintendent, chairman of that board.

Dr. E. D. Gouthwaite informed the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday that a representative of the Federal Housing Administration from Washington would attend the meeting next week to explain the policies of the bureau now that Manassas is under its jurisdiction. down by 10 deaths and U. S. 11 down by 3. Route 211 was down by nine and Route 234 had no traffic deaths last year. For towns under 10,000 population, Manassas is listed with only one traffic death in 1949.

The state police find that 69.2 percent of all reported accidents indicate that some violation of the law had occurred. In towns most accident causes were due to the driver not having the right of way. Speed violations were second and following too closely behind the preceding car was third. In the rural areas the violations did not occur in the same sequence, and speed violations led with driving left of the center line next and following too closely was third.

Of the number of persons killed, the greatest percentage was in the age group, 15 to 64. This does not indicate a great deal because the spread in years the other age groups is much narrower. There were 21 children up to age 4 killed; and 62 between the ages of 5 and 14.

Copies of the booklet may be obtained from the Department of Virginia police.

Investment
Attorneys
At Work On Resolution

A few minutes before press time, Superintendent of Schools Peters stopped at The Journal to advise that the school building architects had revised cost figures and that the bond issue for schools would now require $2,400,000. This does not include $250,000 which Mr. Peters wants to hold in reserve for unforeseen contingencies. The costs on the Occoquan school have jumped from $140,000 to more than $550,000 and those for the Osborn High School to more than $700,000.

Mr. Peters will present the figures to the school board at its next meeting and the board will take action to bring the matter before the Board of Supervisors at the August 23rd meeting. This advances the previous date which did not anticipate action possibly until September 7.

Mr. Peters left Thursday for Annapolis to see his son who is having treatment on his eyes preparatory to entering Annapolis Naval Academy.

The school bond plan is expected to crystallize not later than September 7 on which date the Board of Supervisors will certainly have before it the report of the investment house legal experts relating to the wording of a bond resolution which must be adopted before there is further action on the proposal to build new schools by bond issue instead of under State Literary Fund plan.

This was announced Tuesday by Superintendent of Schools Worth Peters with qualification that the action might possibly be taken earlier if the legal experts and the architects both complete their studies. The architects are making a reappraisal of school costs in the light of present building conditions and rising prices.

Mr. Peters said definitely that the original proposals relating to costs surely can be thrown out the window but how much more the new buildings would cost the taxpayers he was not able to state at this time. He left the impression that it would be substantial but not out of line with the rising costs brought about by the Korean situation.

Mr. Peters said there was some hope that the school board would have the resolution of the bond house attorneys give utmost scrutiny and Mr. Peters was of the opinion that there would be no rushing just to conform to set dates of official county meetings.

In a garden setting of white gladioli, white roses, palms, and cathedral candles and candelabras in Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, Miss Patricia Branson Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brook Kelley of Mt. Jackson, Va., was married Sunday, August 13th, at 4 p.m. to John Henry Stauff, Jr., son of Mr. John Henry Stauff and the late Mr. Stauff of Manassas.

Rev. W. R. Hartzell, assisted by Rev. Leon Tesia, performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception in the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin made with a basque bodice, with long sleeves terminating in a point over the hands. The marquisette yoke was outlined with imported lace, as was the full skirt which ended in a long train. A finger tip veil of tulle was attached to a halo of forget-me-nots.

The bride's only adornment was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a nosegay of white roses with long streamers ending in lovers knots.

Miss Gwendolyn McKenzie of Mt. Pleasant, Penna. was maid of honor and she wore a gown of light blue organdie with matching picture hat and mits. She carried a nosegay of tallman roses and chrysanthemums. Miss Mildred Gibson of Elkton, Va. and Miss Helen Hepper, school mates of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of yellow organdie with matching picture hats and mits and carried nosegays of chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore a gown of dusty rose crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bride's grandmother wore a gown of black crepe and a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. George Baker, grandmother of the groom, was attended in a gown of black crepe with accessories to match and wore a corsage of white gardenias.

Bobby Roof of Manassas was best man. The ushers were James Gregory and Bobby Lymburner of Manassas.

MARINE NON-COM QUALIFIES IN F.B.I.

Marine T/Sgt. James C. Venable, formerly of Frisco, Texas, recently was graduated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy on the Marine Corps base at Quantico, Virginia. Although a veteran of hard Marine campaigns in World War II and a survivor of the defense of Wake Island and 44 months in Japanese prison camps, Venable was much impressed by the amount of small arms practice given at the FBI academy.

"We fired 250 rounds the first day," he said, "and thereafter received extensive practice with the .38 caliber revolver. This instruction and practice in small arms I think were especially worth while."

The over-all objective of the FBI course is to provide training to selected groups of peace officers in the latest trends in crime detection and investigative procedure so that they may return to their respective agencies as instructors and administrators.

Venable, who is 29 years old, joined the Marines in 1933. After World War II he served 14 months on the police force of Dallas, Texas, and received a merit reward as a traffic patrolman. He returned to the Marine Corps in 1947. He is married and has two children, his wife being the former Mary L. Walker of Sulphur Springs, Texas.

U. S. MARINES HAUNT OLD TRAILS IN KOREA—When the First Marine Division entered combat near Pusan it marked the fifth time in 80 years that the Leathernecks have landed on Korea for the protection of American interests.

Their first landing was on May 21, 1871. The American minister to China had opened negotiations to permit United States sailors shipwrecked on Korean shores to receive sanctuary and help from the Koreans. During the negotiation a survey party under direction of Admiral John Rodgers U. S. N., then commanding the Asiatic squadron, was attacked by the native garrison of the Saioe river forts and citadel (Seoul).

Admiral Rodgers demanded an explanation and gave the Koreans 10 days in which to reply. Receiving no answer, he put a force of Marines and sailors ashore on June 10 and captured the citadel. The Marines killed 250 Koreans. One Marine was killed and one was wounded.

This early amphibious landing by the Marines is graphically depicted in a painting by John Clymer, a New York artist. The canvas hangs in the headquarters of General Gifford N. Cates, commandant of the Marine Corps. Clymer's work which so faithfully depicts the uniforms and armament of the Marines of 80 years ago is reproduced above. Superimposed is a photograph of present-day Marine fighters. Note the camouflaged helmet.

Marines were landed to protect the American legation in Korea in 1888 and again in 1894.

Schools

The shift away from the original plan to build new schools from State Literary Fund money has been brought about by the lack of availability of a sufficient sum to take care of the needs of the entire county in face of the demands that equal school facilities be provided. The bond plan will assure new structures to Brentsville, Occoquan, and Manassas, which will have both the new Osborn High School and a Regional High School.

Mr. Peters said that Fauquier and Fairfax counties are planning to withdraw from the Regional High School with the exception of attendance of pupils for vocational training.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, Dr. George Cockt asked Mr. Peters how much the increase would be in taxes as a result of the new school program and Mr. Peters replied that there would probably be a 25 to 30 cent increase on each $100 assessed valuation. This, he said, would include operating expenses and maintenance costs which are also going up. He anticipated that the increase in the assessment rolls would provide a considerable part of the money.

Manassas Volunteer Firemen captured two awards at the convention of the Virginia State Firemen's Association held in Norfolk last week. In competition with over 2000 state firemen, they placed first in the one-man hose contest, second in the four-man hose contest. The Manassas delegation was composed of Fred Dowell, Turner Wheeling, "Jud" Holmes, Charles Mathias, Jimmy Rice, Leslie Bourne, James Robinson and Stuart Vetter.

Dr. Wallace Hook and family are vacationing this week in Richmond, Staunton, and Ocean View.

The fourth Quarterly Conference for Grace Methodist Church, in Manassas, will be held at the church on Sunday night, August 20 at 8:00 p.m. (DST). At this meeting, when the District Superintendent, Dr. J. Callaway Robertson, presides, the congregation will hear annual reports from the various organizations within the church, and will also elect various officers for the coming year. This is the last meeting of the Quarterly Conference prior to the meeting of the Annual Conference in Richmond October 19 to 23.

September 5 has been set as the date for opening County Schools. Beginning August 30 and continuing until September 1 there will be Teachers' meetings throughout the county.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Manassas EUB Church will sponsor an ice cream social Saturday, August 19, at 8:30 o'clock on the parsonage lawn at the corner of West and Church Street. In event of rain the social will be in the church basement.

A meeting of the Yorkshire Garden Club will be held next Monday night at the home of Mrs. Ray Slusher on Yorkshire Lane. The guest speaker will be Mr. Klyn of Annandale, a native of Holland, and he will display a color film of tulip gardens. He has told the Yorkshire Club the film is available for showing to any group. The meeting will be held promptly at 8 o'clock, daylight time.

Construction will begin next week on 370 feet of concrete sidewalk on North Battle Street. Cost of the work is estimated at $7 per square yard. A concrete curbing was recently completed along the span.

S. Wood Is New Chief For Breeding Ass'n

S. Wood, of Hampton, N. C., has accepted the position of breeding technician with the Southeastern Artificial Breeding Association of Asheville, North Carolina, to provide the Prince William County dairymen with artificial insemination service.

Wood was in the Armed Services during World War II, in which he was overseas, receiving his artificial insemination training at North Carolina College, he served as assistant technician in Yadkin County, North Carolina.

The Southeastern Artificial Breeding Association of Asheville is proud of its High Index Proved Sires and trained, efficient technicians. Association and the Indiana State Breeding Association of Indianapolis, both American Breeders' organizations furnish semen from proved sires, exclusively to cooperatives and breeding associations in Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, Virginia, Indiana, Maryland, and the Bahamas at a price that every farmer can afford.

Wood attended the First Annual Dairymen's Conference at the Langren Hotel in Asheville on August 11th and 12th.

Technicians from the majority of the 33 breeding cooperatives and state breeding services in Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida were in attendance. A panel discussion on "Importance of Feeding and Management Along With A Well-Bred Program of Dairy Cattle Improvement," by Professors J. A. P. W. Pritch, University of Georgia; and C. W. Reeves of Florida University; Dr. E. L. Willcutt of the American Foundation for the Study of Genetics, discussed "Super-ovulation and Semen Dilution"; Dr. Irvin Elliott of the Experiment Station of the University of Connecticut explained "Insemination Techniques."

At a banquet on Friday evening in the Langren Hotel, Vernon Braxton of Snow Camp, North Carolina, President of the American Breeders' Cooperative, spoke on the subject, "Artificial Insemination from the Dairymen's Standpoint." J. R. Prentice of the Southeastern Association talked on the "Financial Side of Bull Stud Operation."

Saturday's schedule consisted of a visit to the stud and inspection of the High Index Proved Sires. M. N. Dietrick, Stud Manager, explained the "Problem of Supplying Semen to Technicians." John Brown of North Carolina State College described the "Role of Technicians in the A. B. Program." Dr. Dyer C. Wood, of Greensburg, Indiana pointed out the "Need for Cleanliness and How to Obtain It." P. I. Higley, Managing Director of the Southeastern Association adjourned the Conference after a description of the bulls.

The Pastor's Study

By Rev. Albert C. Winn

Pastor Potomac Rural Parish

It may surprise some of us to think that one of the spiritual satisfactions of rural life is being able to understand the Bible better. But many city-dwellers are robbed of much of the beauty and meaning of God's Word because they cannot understand its background. The Bible, as E. K. Zeigler points out, is a rural book. It was written for, and mainly by, herdsmen and farmers. And herdsmen and farmers today understand it.

I was amused by a Sunday School paper my little girl brought home some time ago. It was the story of Rebekah and Abraham's servant at well. The paper went into a long explanation of what a well is, obviously intended to answer the puzzled questions of children who only know that water comes when you turn on the tap. The children in our Sunday School did not need anyone to tell them what a well is.

It is that way all the way through the Bible. Adam was a gardener, Abraham was a big cattle man, David kept sheep. How can you understand the 23rd Psalm if you've never seen a sheep? Even the Law books breathe the good country air, especially Deuteronomy with its great concern for the land, "the land which the Lord thy God careth for: for the eyes of the Lord thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year." As for the prophets, how the language of the field is their language! Think of Amos and the summer fruit, Hosea and the dew, Jeremiah and the basket of figs, and all the others!

And in the fulness of time came Jesus, the man from rural Galilee. Where did he get the stuff of his parables? From rural life: the birds of the air, the lily of the field, the shepherd who lost his sheep, the prodigal son who left the country and went to town, the owner of the vineyard and the wicked husbandmen, the vine and the branches, the seed and the soil, the mustard seed, the enemy who sowed tares—these stories speak with beauty and power to men who live on the soil.

If I were a farmer, I would feel a special claim on the Bible. It would be the book of books to me, because I would have the inside track on understanding it.

Angus Grow In Popularity

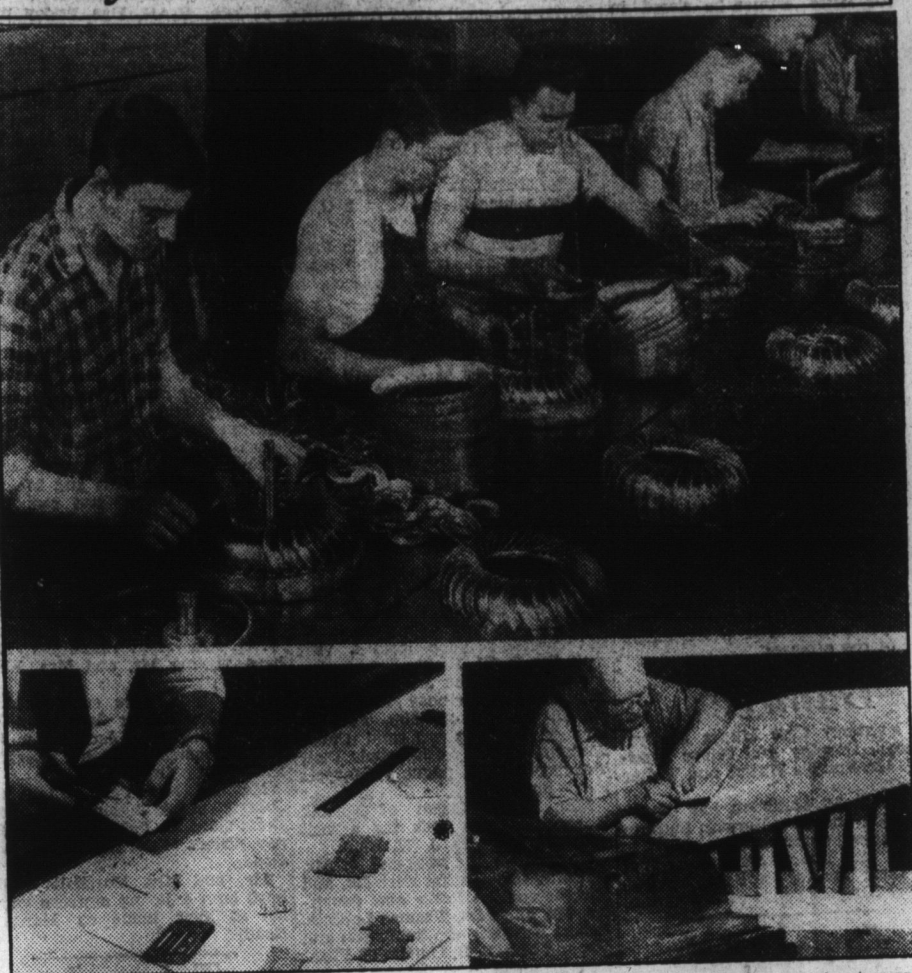

By Dave Canning

Secretary Aberdeen-Angus Ass'n

The cow and calf business is often the safest division of beef cattle production. Of course, this means that the farm keeps a bull and a breeding herd of cows, then sells the calves at weaning time, or grows them out to market weights. Aberdeen-Angus are becoming increasingly popular throughout the entire country, and particularly so here in the east. The fact that Angus are bred to have neat, small heads and smoothly laid hips, enable them to have their calves with ease, requiring much less attention than some of the other breeds. Their hardiness and ability to stay out of doors in all kinds of weather is another factor important to farmers—expensive barns are not necessary for this hardy breed that originated in Scotland. Other things that have contributed to the popularity of Angus are the ease with which they are handled, their complete lack of horns and high resistance to pink eye, often very much of a nuisance to other breeds.

Many men wishing to get in the

Many Jobs Still Call for Skilled Hands

Skilled hands continue in demand in the manufacture of automobiles, despite the rise of machines. Here's evidence in pictures taken at the Chevrolet plant: (Top)—A crew positions 50 vane of the Powerglide automatic transmission before the assembly is spot welded. (Lower left)—To plan factory layouts draftsman cut out cross-sections of the floor area of machines at scales of precisely one-quarter inch to one foot. Angus business have trouble in locating a source of foundation stock, therefore, local and state associations sponsor sales of breedable stock in various sections. Several breeders in the eastern panhandle section of West Virginia and the northern counties of Virginia, decided there was a need for a sale in that area of good, pure bred, sound, clean Angus stock that farmers could buy at reasonable prices. For this reason the first Eastern Panhandle Angus Sale will be held Friday, September 1st, starting at 1:00 p.m., EST, in the Victor Farms Sale Barn, Hanson, W. Va., which is near Charles Town. In the morning at 11:00 o'clock, a type demonstration will be given and a weight guessing contest held. Lunch will be served at 12:00 noon, EST.

The offering of 88 head is made up of 20 cows with calves at side, 42 bred and open heifers and six young herd bulls. These cattle have been carefully selected from some of the very best herds in Virginia and West Virginia, however, none of them are fitted. Most of them will have been brought right up out of the pastures to sell, providing a wonderful opportunity for farmers to start herds, or breeders to add to their present herds, cattle that are tops in pedigree and quality at very reasonable prices.

Commissioner of the Revenue
Dear Taxpayer of Prince William County:

Hundreds of individuals throughout Prince William County have not yet filed with the commissioner of the revenue their State income tax returns for the tax assessment year 1950, (income year 1949), although they could and should have filed them by May 1, 1950, and avoided the penalty for late filing. Some of these individuals are merely negligent others are more than merely negligent—they are hoping to evade the taxes. Ignorance of the law is not accepted in any case as an excuse, because Virginia has had a State income tax law on the statute books for more than one hundred years, and there is no person now living in Virginia who was born before the first income tax law was enacted in this State.

The great majority of our citizens (estimated by me at about 90% of the total number liable) cooperate with the tax authorities and file their returns on time every year. They do this voluntarily, although not always cheerfully, because they are good citizens and realize that the filing of such returns on time is one of the primary duties of citizenship. A minority (estimated by me at about 10% of the total number liable) are non-cooperators and must be treated as such. This minority, although estimated at only 10% of the total number liable, includes about 600 individuals in this county, and when we view the problem as involving about 600 non-cooperators, we find ourselves somewhat appalled. But we know of a surety that the great majority who are voluntarily complying with the law are looking to us to compel the minority also to comply with the law, and that in our task of dealing with the minority, who are non-cooperators, we have the full and hearty support of the great majority, who are cooperators.

We have now sent out a simple form to each current delinquent, calling on him to file his return. This form was sent by first class mail with the name and address of the commissioner of the revenue on the envelope so that it will be returned if not delivered. Many will file on receipt of this letter; others will not. Those who do not respond to the first letter within a reasonable time of a surety that the time specified therein, are sent a second and final letter. Some who did not respond to the first letter will respond to the second. Every delinquent who fails to respond to the second letter will be assessed after fifteen days by the commissioner of the revenue on the basis of the form 500-B (or Federal withholding receipt) covering his case, allowing such personal exemption in each case as the information slip on its face indicates, but not allowing any deductions of any kind. On each such memorandum returned the following is written or stamped as a part of the record:

Taxpayer failed or refused to make return for 15 days after Commissioner of the Revenue called upon him to do so.

The regular statutory penalty is extended in making every such assessment.

The above procedure has been authorized ever since commissioners of the revenue were given the powers and duties of the abolished office of the examiner of records, connection with Tax Code, Sec. (Tax Code, Sec. 47, when read in 310-1, Code of Virginia of 1950, Sec. 58-116).

In making such assessments against non-cooperators, no deductions will be given because the taxpayer has not claimed any within the time and in the manner prescribed by law; no allowance for dependents will be made because not claimed within the time and in the manner prescribed by law.

After a non-cooperator has been assessed on the books, that assessment cannot be thereafter reduced lean and insuperable task which a residency composed of the Counties of Fauquier, Rappahannock and Prince William, but which task this Board feels was discharged by Mr. Johnson as creditably as it was in the capacity of one man to discharge and;

4. That it congratulates, first Mr. Johnson on his accession to an opportunity for greater and more efficient service to his residual residency, and secondly and foremostly the Virginia Department of Highways for having on its staff an individual of Mr. Johnson's sterling calibre, high competency and proved diplomacy.

Be it further resolved that attested copies of this resolution be supplied Mr. Johnson, both local newspapers and the Virginia Department of Highways.

on a plea by the taxpayer that he was assessed for more than he would have been assessed for if he had been a cooperator instead of a non-cooperator.

This letter cannot be closed in a more encouraging way than by saying that the General Assembly of 1950, on a bill introduced by Senator E. O. McCue, Jr., enacted a much needed statute with respect to the criminal liability of persons who willfully fail or refuse to file State income tax returns, or who make false statements in returns with intent to defraud the State. This statute takes the form by adding a new section to the Code of Virginia of 1950, (Acts 1950, p. 895).

Below I quote the new section: Sec. 59-115.1. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Title and in addition to any other penalties provided by law, any person required under this article or under the next succeeding article to make a return of income, who willfully fails or refuses to make such returns, at the times required by law, and any person who, with intent to defraud the State, makes any false statement in any such return, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be confined in jail not exceeding one year, or fined not exceeding one thousand dollars, or both. A prosecution under this section shall be commenced within five years next after the commission of the offense.

Business Leader With Great War Record Tells How Hadacol Rebuilt Him Physically

Was run-down, weak, after service in South Pacific due to deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin

Mr. Donald Hedburg, who resides at 1812 Parker in the fashionable Riverside District of Wichita, Kansas, has been an up-and-coming executive member of the staff of the great Wichita Eagle newspaper for over four years.

Mr. Hedburg has an enviable record of combat with the U. S. Army in the South Pacific in World War II. He is very active in civic affairs. And just as he was anxious to pitch in and do a job during the war—he now wants to help his fellow citizens who (like he was once) are physically run-down and weak due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in their systems.

Here is Donald W. Hedburg's witnessed statement: "When I returned from service, I faced the problem of rebuilding myself physically. I was in a general run-down condition. 'In my present capacity for advertising salesman for Kansas' greatest newspaper, The Wichita Eagle, it's absolutely necessary that I have plenty of vitality—get up and go. I had real cause to worry. Nothing seemed to rebuild me constitutionally. Then a friend of mine on the national staff told me about HADACOL—he asked me to try at least five bottles. I'm on my fourth bottle and already I feel like my old self. I look forward to a day's work and go home—play with the children—work in the yard—fish until midnight! Thanks again to HADACOL, energy and vitality once again course through every fiber of my body. You bet, I too, am now a missionary for this great new HADACOL."

Get That Wonderful HADACOL Feeling Everyone is Talking About! HADACOL gives such wonderful results because it not only supplies deficient, weak run-down systems with more than their daily needs of important Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin—

but also helpful amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness. If you are a victim of neuritis, pains, certain stomach and nervous disturbances, constipation, insomnia or a weak, run-down condition due to such deficiencies, HADACOL will start you on the road to feeling better often within a few days. Thousands upon thousands of records of grateful men, women and children proved this to be so.

Many Doctors Recommend It
HADACOL is recommended by many doctors not only to their patients but to members of their own families who have such deficiencies. IN MEMORIAM

Harvey L. Cornwell
In loving memory of my darling son who passed away 18 years ago today, August 15.

The month of August is here again. The fifteenth day fills my heart with pain.

For eighteen sad years ago today God's loving hands took you, my darling boy, away.

To live with Him in Heaven above Where all is peace and joy and love. Precious memories! How they linger!

How they ever flood my soul. In the stillness of the midnight. Precious, sacred scenes unfold. 17-1-c
