CAP Air Rescue Demonstration To Be Staged Here Sunday

An all-day air show and demonstration of air search and rescue methods will be presented this Sunday at Manassas Airport by the Civil Air Patrol.

Communications equipment, men and aircraft will be brought to Manassas to make the program possible, CAP authorities announced this week. The demonstration is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. The public is invited.

Demonstrations like the one to be presented here are part of CAP's regular training program through which members are qualified to work in conjunction with the Air Force in rescue and search work. The CAP hopes to establish a permanent network in the Northern Virginia area, according to officials.

Two CAP air units, the Virginia Wing and the National Capital Wing, are now operating in this area at airports in Fredericksburg, Hybla Valley, and Leesburg.

Manassas volunteer firemen, in cooperation with the CAP, will supply and man a crash truck in case of an accident at Sunday's demonstration.

Formed one week before the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the Civil Air Patrol was a part of the civil

$15,000 Grant Will Finance Runway At Local Airport

Prospects of Manassas getting an adequate airport were considerably brightened Monday following Town Manager Ritter's announcement that a $15,000 State and Federal grant for construction of a runway had been approved.

During the recent furor over possibilities of Manassas being selected as the site for a large Federal airport, the existence of the small airport here had been all but forgotten.

But Ritter, evidently going on the assumption that it's best to do with what you've got, has been working for more than a year to obtain the grant. Construction is now authorized for a 2,600 foot turf runway and construction will probably begin within a month, Ritter said.

Activity at the airport is also assured, for Town Council agreed to rent the airport to D. D. Watts, a flying instructor from Washington. Watts told Council he plans to operate a maintenance and servicing hanger. Later, if business picks up, Watts will operate a flying school.

Rental to Watts will be $20 per month. Council thought that the rental value would increase after the runway is constructed and other improvements are made and specified that the rent then would be raised. Watts will be given a first refusal at the subsequent higher rent.

SCC Grants Dismissal of Telephone Rate Case

There'll be no immediate attempt by the Central Mutual Telephone Co. to establish a toll charge between here and Triangle, since the phone company's application was dismissed Monday by the State Corporation Commission in Richmond.

Motion for the dismissal, which was granted "without prejudice" was made by counsel for Central Mutual, who are believed to regard the present as a period of transition which makes difficult any revenue estimates. Since the application was dismissed without prejudice, Central Mutual may again petition the SCC for permission to establish the toll charge.

Judge W. Marshall King, of SCC, told the Journal yesterday that Commission auditors had found that Central Mutual was making a profit return of 7 per cent on its investment. This, King said, is within the range regarded by the Commission as a "fair return." Larger companies are not granted rate increases when return is as high as 7 per cent. Judge King said he held in a recent case that 5.99 per cent was a fair return for the big Chesapeake and Potomac Co.

Central Mutual's application to establish the toll charge came last August when phone officials announced plans to replace a worn line between here and Triangle.

It is known that a recent attempt by Communications Workers of America to unionize Central Mutual employees may have been a cause of phone officials' canceling the rate application. The National Labor Relations Board will conduct a hearing between union and phone representatives here next Wednesday.

Credit Curb Ruling Won't Be Removed

Chances are slight for rescinding "regulation W," the Federal Reserve Board's enactment to control installment buying, the Journal learned this week after talking with Senator Willis Robertson.

The regulation which requires a one-third down payment and financing over no more than 15 months, has been loudly protested by automobile dealers who claim that it restricts their business. Not many people can pay for a new automobile in 15 months, the dealers say, and the regulation imposes an undue hardship on automobile buyers, most of whom need cars for essential purposes. Practically every automobile dealer in Prince William County reports the loss of sales because prospective customers did not wish to assume large monthly payments.

Senator Robertson, who is a member of the Banking and Currency Committee which was due to consider the regulation this week, said that despite the regulation, automobile sales in October were 10 per cent to 15 per cent higher than October 1949.

The present regulation was enforced on October 16, but was predicted on September 18 by an earlier Federal Reserve Board ruling which set the one-third down payment requirement and prohibited financing over a period longer than 18 months.

November automobile sales probably have dropped from the October level, Robertson said, but this can be attributed to a seasonal slack caused by consumers awaiting new models.

Automobile manufacture in 1950 passed the nine million mark in

'51 Chevrolet To Be Shown December 9

First showing of the new 1951 Chevrolet will take place on Saturday, December 9, at the showroom of Wheat Chevrolet, Inc., it was announced today by C. L. Wheat.

The new model comes just about two months before Wheat expects to move to his new building on Centerville road, just outside the town limits.

A large crowd is expected to visit the showrooms at the present building on Center Street and see the new Chevrolet, Wheat said.

"It's traditional that when a new Chevrolet comes out, our premier showing of a new model is a community event," Wheat added.

"That's as it should be. We like to feel that you take a great interest in Chevrolet as we take in our town. Both are leaders," he said.

School Board Will Hear Peters' Proposal Dec. 6

Superintendent of Schools R. Worth Peters will present his recommendations for a school building program next Wednesday at a regular meeting of the school board.

It is thought that Peters may recommend another bond issue proposal, based partially on the one that was defeated in the November 7 referendum. Modifications in plans to reduce the estimated cost would have to be made before voters could be expected to support the second bond proposal.

This week Peters told the Journal that he has his recommendations prepared; but will wait until the School Board meeting before discussing them publicly.

W. E. Detwiler New President Of REA Board

W. Edward Detwiler of Clifton was elected president of the Prince William Electric Cooperative board of directors at the annual meeting of Co-op members held Monday evening at Osborn High School.

Other officers elected were C. A. Middleton, of The Plains, vice-president, and Vernon C. Moore, of Manassas, secretary-treasurer. Elected to fill the fourth and fifth positions on the board were W. H. Wheeler of Manassas and Manley Garber of Woodbridge.

Three of the directors, Detwiler, Middleton, and Wheeler, were re-elected, while Moore and Garber filled vacancies created through expired terms of Francis S. Van Doren, retiring president, and Charles Cornwell.

Over 550 Co-op members and their families and friends attended the meeting in Osborn gym.

Van Doren, master of ceremonies for the evening, reported that Prince William Electric Cooperative has had a 20 per cent increase in subscribers during the past year. Reuben C. Hicks reported on the Co-op's operations and plans for the coming year and Clyde T. Ellis, executive manager of the National Rural Cooperative Association, spoke to the members on the rural electrification program.

The Osborn High School band under the direction of W. H. Lee, gave a 30-minute program.

Among winners of many valuable door prizes given away to lucky ticket-holders were: Leo Wood, of Hoady, washing machine; Herbert E. Crouch, of Manassas, a refrigerator; Walter Disbrow, of Manassas, a vacuum cleaner; Mrs. Maggie Crawford, of Nokesville, an automatic coffee maker.

Doctor Warns Of Diphtheria

"Diphtheria, though an all-year disease attacks more Virginians during the fall than at any other time," Dr. Walter R. Johnson, County Health Officer said last week as he reviewed the general aspects of the disease and warned Prince William residents to be on the alert for symptoms of diphtheria.

"We haven't lacked this disease yet, not by a long shot. Last year, out of a total of 220 cases reported to the State Health Department, 12 people in this state died because of diphtheria. When compared to deaths through traffic accidents, or some other diseases, 12 diphtheria deaths are not much, but on the other hand, 12 Virginians would be alive today if the necessary precautions had been taken," Dr. Johnson said.

"Taking last year's figures for the State and breaking them down into monthly totals we find September produced 14 cases, October with 32, November with 38 and December had 44 cases. As a rule these are the hardest hit months, 12 diphtheria deaths are not much, but on the other hand, 12 Virginians would be alive today if the necessary precautions had been taken," Dr. Johnson said.

Diphtheria is usually considered a childhood disease. Last year's figures bear this out. One hundred and thirty-six victims, or over half the 1949 total, were children below the age of nine. However, the disease is not confined to youngsters. Last year there were 31 diphtheria cases ranging in age from 20 to 60.

Generally, diphtheria is transmitted by direct transfer of germs from person to person. This is done by close physical contact between the sick and the well. Coughing, sneezing, spitting, or even talking are usual methods of transmission.

However, diphtheria can be caught without being near a diphtheria patient or carrier and without being where one has recently been. It can be acquired indirectly by drinking of that has been infected by a carrier.

Unfortunately, symptoms often lag behind the onset of diphtheria by several days. This makes the disease doubly treacherous. Many a person has had diphtheria long enough to give it to a number of others before he has any reason to think there was anything wrong. It is important, therefore, to be on the lookout for these early symptoms and act quickly whenever they appear.

A sore throat may be first indication that something is wrong. At this time the patient will probably have a low grade temperature. This, as has been pointed out, is the early symptom. Later another symptom appears. It consists of grayish-white patches in the throat. When the patient or his parents see it, a doctor should be called.

Ferris Gue Named Town Councilman

Ferris Gue, Manassas plumber and heating contractor, Monday was unanimously appointed to Town Council to fill the unexpired term of J. E. Rice who resigned a month ago.

Gue automatically becomes chairman of the utilities committee and will serve until September, 1951.

Motion for Gue's appointment was made by Councilman Roy Doggett and was seconded by Mrs. Francis Sanders, G. Wallace Hook cast the third vote.

The terms of Hook and Rice expire in September and candidates for the offices will be voted on at the general election next June.

Bloodmobile Coming Dec. 15; 120 Pints Is Manassas Quota

Blood donors are being sought to give 120 pints of blood when the American Red Cross Bloodmobile visits Manassas on December 15.

Mrs. R. Worth Peters is directing the drive to enlist donors and those interested in giving a pint of blood are asked to phone Red Cross headquarters at Manassas 144.

The bloodmobile will be stationed at Parrish Hall, Trinity Church.

Sales Tax For Schools Proposed By Col. James Kerr of Quantico

Fuller Heights
Quantico, Virginia
25 November, 1950

Editor,
Dear Sir:

Your excellent editorial in favor of the county school bond issue which appeared in the "Journal" just prior to the recent vote on the question, coupled with my attendance at the open forum held by the P.T.A. about the same time, persuaded me to vote for the bonds although my children are now in college and I had no selfish interest in doing so. Since the defeat of the school bonds, I have attended an open meeting of the school board and in addition have discussed with my neighbors the pros and cons of what should be done to meet the school situation. My thoughts on the subject have at last been more or less jelled, and I hope, as a subscriber, you will permit me to express my views through your columns; not that they are designed primarily to convince others to share them, but in the hope that they may give some of your readers food for thought.

It now appears to me that procuring funds for our schools, either by loan from the State Literary Fund, by bonds floated by the county as a whole or individually by districts, or even by a combination of these means, is not and cannot be the final solution to our school problem. The Superintendent of Schools has stated openly at the meetings mentioned above, and I feel quite rightly, that even with a 2.4 million dollar bond issue no assurance could be given that as short a period as 6 to 8 years from now additional funds would not be needed. Thus it appears that there is a possibility, perhaps even a probability, that when we had just begun to make headway toward the paying off of this particular bond issue, with its 2 1/2 per cent increase in tax rate for that purpose, we may again be faced with more bonds to float and more tax increases to bear before the liquidation of the first issue. This indeed presents a gloomy picture to the taxpayer of this county, but facts are facts and they should be faced. A 2.4 million dollar bond issue therefore appears to me to be a stop-gap which only temporarily solves the school fiscal problem. It is but a piece meal attack, when an all-out effort is indicated. It is akin to the little Dutch boy plugging up the dike; he did a good job for the moment, but stronger, more lasting ways had to follow or the dikes would have given way.

I am now convinced in my own mind that the only permanent solution to our school problem, the only way in which the "dikes" can be plugged permanently, permitting us to have more and better schools for our children, is through means of a state sales tax.

Why the words "sales tax" and "sin" seem to be synonymous to the voters of this area is rather perplexing. The overwhelming majority of the states in the union have a sales tax of one kind or another. Our sister states of Maryland, West Virginia and North Carolina have adopted this form of taxation. Maryland garnered 32 million dollars from her sales tax last year and just recently was able to eliminate now additional funds would

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

The Journal invites all you children to write your letters to Santa, care of us at Box 370, Manassas.

English Mayor Is Guest Of Mr and Mrs Hynson

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Hynson entertained at an impromptu reception in honor of their guest, His Worship, Mayor A. V. Baker of Falmouth, England, Tuesday evening at their home on Warrenton Road. Their guests included Manassas business men and their families.

His Worship, Mayor Baker has been on a good will tour of American cities named Falmouth. After visiting Falmouth, Va., he stopped for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Hynson. The Hynson's son, Warren Hynson, was stationed in Falmouth, England, during World War II. While Mr. Hynson was in Falmouth, a warm friendship developed between the Bakers and the Hynsons resulting in the Mayor's visit here.

Mrs. Warren Hynson presided at the punch bowl at a beautifully appointed table in the drawing room. His Worship, Mayor Baker returns to England this month.

"Are you sure that you watered the plants in the drawing room, Josephine?"

"Yes, ma'am. If you listen closely you can hear the water dripping on the carpet."

Barter Theater Players To Present Shakespeare Comedy January 19

Robert Porterfield's Barter Theater will present a revival of Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" at Osborn January 19, it was learned this week.

Manassas Woman's Club and the Junior Woman's Club have successfully sponsored the Barter Theater three times previously and feel that they have made a happy choice in selecting "Comedy of Errors," a member of the Senior Club said this week.

The Barter Theater was founded during the Depression when Broadway actor Robert Porterfield and a group of fellow actors, unable to earn a living on the New York stage, decided to go to Abingdon, Va., Porterfield's home town, and form a repertory company. Instead of paying money to see the group, their audiences were requested to bring food, which enabled the actors to eat, and the citizenry of Abingdon to enjoy plays. Since its origin the Barter Theater has gained national fame, and sends road companies to neighboring states. It is now State subsidized, and is commonly known as the State Theater of Virginia.

Nokesville

By Mrs. Fred Shepherd

Our PTA meeting was on Tuesday night with Mrs. Ralph Spears, the president, presiding over the business meeting. About $54.00 was turned over to the treasurer as a result of the serving of supper to the Isaac Walton League at their last meeting. Home Room Mothers were announced as chosen by the teachers. They are as follows: For Miss Ware's first grade, Mrs. Eston Garrio; Mrs. Wilma Lee House; Mrs. Kline's first grade, Mrs. Fred Shepherd and Mrs. R. P. Powell; Mrs. Whetzel's second grade, Mrs. Ruth Gray and Mrs. Grace Fleishman; Mrs. D'Agata's room, Mrs. Lounford and Mrs. Lester Kearnes; Mrs. Bryants room, Mrs. Warren Hale and Mrs. Newman Hopkins; Miss Wright's fourth grade, Mrs. James Earhart and Mrs. George Gray; Miss Breeden's fifth grade, Mrs. Ella Hooe and Mrs. Wallace Wood; Mrs. Marshall's sixth grade, Mrs. Ted Shepherd and Mrs. Broadwood; and for Mrs. Link's room, Mrs. Floyd Davis and Mrs. Alden Newland. Mrs. Marshall's sixth graders won the banner for having the largest attendance at the meeting. The next meeting will be on Wednesday night, December 20 when the program will be on "Character" with Miss Dawn Arey and Mrs. Marang in charge of the program. The program for the evening was given by the Elementary SOA with Miss Ella Breeden in charge. The playlets centered around themes for this month, Book Week, and Thanksgiving and were very humorous as well as profitable entertainment.

The first Community Thanksgiving Service was sponsored by the District Committee for Religious Entertainment was held at the school on Wednesday night, Thanksgiving eve. The effort put forth by the committee was well rewarded for the auditorium was full. Miss Elizabeth Fitzwater and Mr. Lowen Marshall rendered vocal selections of Thanksgiving music. A quartet including Mrs. Cleveland Flory, Mrs. Bobby Caton, Messrs. Robert Beahm and Dillon Wood also sang. Miss Edna Armstrong presided at the piano. Rev. D. D. Fleishman, Rev. Albert Winn and Rev. James, a student minister assisted in the service with Rev. L. W. Griggs delivering the message. Everyone present appreciated the beauty of the large worship center which displayed a large assortment of Fall vegetables, canned foods, etc., in front of which were the words, "Let Us Give Thanks." The offering for the evening was $41.81.

Have you bought your tickets yet for the WSCS of the Methodist Church's supper for Saturday night, December 2. You don't have to have a ticket, though, to get your supper. Just go to the Nokesville gym anytime that evening. For adults the supper is $1.25, for children, 75c. Beginning at 10:00 there will be a bazaar which will include just about everything imaginable for sale. You'd better come!

Mrs. L. J. Bowman, Mrs. Walter Flory and Mrs. Blake Fleming were appointed by the District Religious Committee to plan for a Community New Years Eve service to be held in the school auditorium on Sunday evening, Dec. 31. You will hear more about this as time draws near.

Mr. Cleveland Flory has been appointed the Rural Mail Carrier for Route No. 2 out of the Nokesville, on the West side of the tracks.

Mr. Robert Beahm has been serving the route temporarily since August, 1949 when the permanent carrier, Mr. Charles Beahm resigned to move to his wife's home near Roanoke. Cleveland's appointment came into effect on November 27. Happy miles, many, many of them to Cleveland in the years to come!

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Souder and Mrs. Martha Fitzwater of Bergton spent Sunday before last with the Clifford Bear, Jr.'s. They went to New York City to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harris and were unable to come home as they had planned on account of the weather. Also "marooned" in the homes where they had gone to spend the week-end were the Marangs, the D'Agatas, Bryants and Miss Watts, all of whom had to have substitutes to take care of their children at school on Monday.

Lt. Col. Otis Snyder who has been stationed at Fitzsimons General Hospital near Denver, Colorado, arrived on Sunday evening in Washington, D. C. where he will spend this week at Walter Reed Hospital, for interviews, etc. preparatory to being sent into active duty in the Medical Division of the Army. Otis is planning to visit Nokesville relatives this week-end. Mrs. David Yankov went to Warrenton Hospital on Tuesday morning for an operation.

Mr. Earl Seese of Falls Church came up to Nokesville on Saturday to get a lot of articles out of the M. J. Shepherd house which they took along with them when they left on Sunday morning to spend the next two weeks with the Shepherds in Sebring, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Talford Sherman entertained in their home on Sunday nearly all of Mrs. Sherman's family in honor of her father's 61st birthday. Those present for a very delicious dinner and a nice visit were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnson, all of Manassas, Mr. and Mrs. Garret Parks, Miss Isabel Dwyer, Miss Garnet Parks, Miss Ethel Dwyer, all of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Dwyer (Mrs. Sherman's father and mother) of Bealton; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dwyer, of Culpeper; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dwyer, of LeCade, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mason of Nokesville. Also present were 10 grandchildren. Talford's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Sherman and James Mandley of Catlett, and Mrs. Thelma Carroll of Alexandria were also present.

Miss Alma Watts went to her home near Covington on Monday Thanksgiving from a recent appendectomy. Mrs. Ralph Spears is substituting for her in the seventh grade.

We Shepherds entertained most of the Shepherd family at a surprise dinner on Sunday in honor of "Daddy Fred's" birthday. Present for the get-together were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Herring and little Stevie, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Seese of Falls Church, Mr. and Mrs. Max Shepherd of Manassas, the A. W. Newlands and the Ted Shepherds. Messrs. Howard Payne, Warren Hale, Fred Shepherd, A. D. Sines, Wade Whetzel, S. S. Stultz, W. R. Free are among those enjoying the hunting season by spending some time this week at their favorite "hunting grounds."

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wells, baby Tommy, Ronnie and Effie Jean, all of Manassas, and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Britton of Maryland spent Sunday with the David Somers. It was the first trip to "Grandma and Grandpa's" for little Tommy. Mrs. Robert Beahm and Mrs.

Brown entertained on Thursday evening at a nicely-planned stork shower for Mrs. Raleigh Nelson in the basement of the Nokesville Church of the Brethren.

The ladies of the Valley Church Ladies Aid will hold their annual bake and fancy work sale at Wayland's store in Manassas on December 9, beginning at 9:30. This has been a tradition with the ladies of the Church for many years, and they have always had successful sales. They are asking your support again this year.

We could not say too much about the wonderful performance of David Weimer's very talented Motette from Washington, who gave their second concert to the Nokesville folks on Sunday night. In the group, which Weimer has organized for the purpose of giving young people a chance to study choral art and to share the result with others, are four Nokesville young folks, Miss Dawn Arey and Messrs. Leon, Lynn and George Herring. The young folks sing with such enthusiasm and give to all who listen great inspiration, which is needed so badly today.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Gibson of Leesburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reid of near Stafford came to see the senior play on Friday night. The play was well-supported by the community.

Mrs. Wade Whetzel, the Rev. D. D. Fleishman, Mrs. Willard Wilkins, Mrs. A. D. Sines, Misses Vera and Eloise Sonafank, Mrs. Clifford Dove and Mrs. Fred Shepherd were those from here who attended the Children Worker meeting for the District at the Cannon Branch church on Saturday planned by the director, Mrs. B. O. Wake-man.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilkins and Peggy, and Mr. and Mrs. James Earhart and the children spent Sunday with Nina's relatives near Broadway.

WCS are planning to go to Gainesville Monday night to a WCS birthday party.

Mrs. Gladys Musick was called to Ohio on Thursday because of the death of her aunt. She will return Sunday.

Miss Patsy Shelton celebrated her eighth birthday Wednesday. Mrs. Shelton took the birthday cake to the school house, and treated all of Patsy's little classmates.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

I Have A
"Close Squeak!"

Spent last Saturday morning wandering all over the house. Wherever I went—upstairs or down—I kept hearing a "squeak." Couldn't find out where it was coming from until noon-time when the mouse came home from her weekly shopping.

"Listen," I says to her, "hear that squeak?" I started walking real quiet-like across the kitchen and there it went again! "Joe Marsh," she laughs, "that is nothing but your suspender clips rubbing back and forth when you walk!" And darned if it wasn't! From where I sit, I'd been letting a little thing become a serious problem. Like some little difference of opinion or taste will start off a great big argument. I may prefer a tomato soup or beef with my dinner, while the maids like tea—but we figure that as two people have exactly the same likes and dislikes. So, why get all "hup" about it?

The moral is, check your suspender clips—and check your temper when it comes to little things.

Obituaries

DR. ERNEST M. COLVIN
Dr. Ernest M. Colvin, 79, a practicing dentist in Washington for more than 40 years, died Saturday, November 18th, 1950 at his farm, Teneriffe, at Catlett, Va.

Born in Catlett, Dr. Colvin taught school in that area of Virginia before enrolling in George Washington University Dental School. He graduated in 1900, and began a Washington practice that lasted until his retirement in 1943. A resident of Southwest Washington, his office was at Seventh and E Streets, SW.

Dr. Colvin was a member of Lebanon Lodge, Order of Masons, a life member of the District of Columbia Dental Society and the American Dental Association, and a director of the Jefferson Federal Building Association.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Addie Lynn Colvin, one daughter, Mrs. E. C. Lasser, and three sons, Dr. H. Lynn Colvin, a physician, and Dr. E. M. Colvin, Jr., and Dr. M. H. Colvin, both dentists. All are Washington residents.

Soap Opera Not Yet Descending On Hapless Television Viewers

By Everett Jones
Providentially, one of the plagues of radio that has not conspicuously descended upon the television audience is the soap opera heroine. Everyone knows this implausible old bore of radio, and must rejoice that she can be heard only and not seen.

For years radio queens of the soap operas have been enduring torture, for want of a better word. Conspired against by everything from philandering husbands to the elements, she rarely has time to catch her breath between catastrophes. Almost daily her life or her virtue is menaced, but invariably a woman of irreproachable character, she is able to escape unscathed.

Occasionally soap opera script writers, possibly as a concession to credibility, threaten the heroine with a session in a wheelchair or the loss of her eyesight, but usually she manages to survive ordeals that would finish most of us, and emerges uninjured and ennobled.

On one of these programs a woman named Trent has been able for years "to find romance at thirty-five, and even beyond." By anyone's count she should now be a little old lady in lavender instead of a beautiful man-trap, but she seems, like Little Orphan Annie, to have a curious immunity to the passing of time.

To elaborate on the absurd escapades of the soap opera heroine would be criminal boredom. The soap operas offend credibility chiefly in that too much misfortune is forced too fast and too often on their heroines. An honest woman from the country possibly can outwit a rake from the city but it's not all likely that the same woman can be widowed, dispossessed, and unjustly accused of homicide within a period of a few weeks. The television sponsors do well to avoid this lady; she is even more trying than "Gorgeous" George, if that can be imagined.

Each Tuesday night on TV at 9:30 p.m. a full-length movie, ten years old at least, is shown. The presentation several weeks of Eugene O'Neill's "The Long Voyage Home," was over one of the best. In it O'Neill was exploring one of his favorite themes, the effects of the sea on the lives of the men who follow it. Thomas Mitchell, Barry Fitzgerald, and John Wayne were excellent as the seafarers. There were no ladies in the cast, unless you want to count a number of the type commonly referred to as "lost." This program is not, however, consistently good, and you had better consult your television program to find out what you're in for.

Milton Berle, one of the first of the television comics, still holds forth on Tuesday night, and is probably due a little of the reverence customarily accorded pioneers, but when watching him one is reminded of what fellow comic Henny Youngman is alleged to have called him - "The Thief of Badbags."

A regular show on Sunday night at 10 p.m., and one that is always pleasant entertainment, is Celebrity Time, with Conrad Nagel as master of ceremonies. Guest celebrities, i.e., Anita Loos, Claire Booth Luce, and Raymond Massey, join two of the show's regulars, Kyle McDonald, a lovely songstress, and Herman Hickman, the rolyand Yale football coach and possessor of the blandest face in television, in a type of quiz show that seems to require only that the participants be charming. They always are.

Even though you may be one who has never been particularly cheered by the singing commercials on radio, you'll probably find the singing and dancing cigarettes on TV diverting. A penguin who suggests, in person, that we smoke his brand of cigarettes has the advantage over a high-pitched voice on the radio that screams something about "a happy little washday song." Something to look forward to now is the Philip Morris midget may break into a buck-and-wing some night on television. Might brighten a winter's evening.

-CLUBS-

The Elizabeth McIntosh Hamill Chapter, D.A.R., met at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel November 24. Mrs. Walter Wedd and Mrs. Benjamin Bradley acted as hostesses, and Mrs. C. C. Lynn, the regent, presided at the business meeting.

The chapter unanimously approved the motion to place a memorial in the new addition to Constitution Hall in Washington in memory of Mrs. William Burns, charter member of the Chapter who died a year ago. A contribution of $25 was made to the new dormitory to be built at the Blue Ridge School near Charlottesville. A contribution was made for the restoration and preservation of records in the Court Houses throughout the state. In the past five years two of the Prince William County record books have been restored by the Daughters of the Revolution.

Mrs. R. L. Byrd gave a report on the state board meeting held in Richmond on October 10; Mrs. Margaret Finch accompanied her. New materials for a box to be sent to the Marine Hospital, Ellis Island, were collected to be sent by the chairman of that committee, Mrs. E. Arnold Service, Jr.

A card was signed by the members present to send to Mrs. Margaret Finch, Recording Secretary, who is convalescing in the Washington Sanatorium, Takoma Park, Maryland, where she will remain for about a month.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Members and guests of the woman's Club of Manassas, meeting on Monday evening at the Parish Hall, were privileged to hear one of Virginia's most outstanding women, Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, of Richmond, past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Buck gave a most interesting and comprehensive report on her trip to the Orient in 1948; she represented the Federation of Women's Clubs as a member of a group sponsored by "Town Meeting of The Air." On her trip, Mrs. Buck visited the Aleutian Islands, Japan, Korea, and China, and in each country she met and conferred with high-ranking officials, as well as large groups of women.

The women's groups which have organized and have now become members of the Federation number in the millions, and their rapid growth and Club activities show unusual progress, the speaker said. Mrs. Buck stressed the importance of better understanding through world friendship, urging women to expand their efforts toward effecting this through correspondence and by becoming well-informed on the backgrounds, philosophies, and ideologies of the different peoples of the world. She also stressed the need of sending sewing materials to the German Youth sewing classes now being conducted in occupied Germany by American servicemen and their wives, in which 300,000 German girls are enrolled. Each package of the sewing equipment will include a few yards of material, and a needle and thread; they will be sent to Germany by special plane from Fort Myer, Va., on December 10. Mrs. John Cox, chairman of the International Committee, urged each member to contribute one package. The packages may be mailed at the Red Cross Office, National Bank Building. This is a movement for promoting peace and understanding among nations, and I urge the women of Manassas to help put it over," she said. Your card with name and address may be enclosed in the package.

Miss Carolyn Busi delighted the group by singing a group of solos in her usual charming manner. These were well received.

Plans for the presentation of the Barter Theater Players by the Woman's Club in January were discussed and approved. Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" will be given on January 19 in the Osbourne High School, Manassas.

A pleasant and delightful social hour followed the program, during which refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed table by the hostess for the evening.

One new member was added to the roster, Mrs. John Harrell.

Dr. and Mrs. Blair Buck were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Worth Peters preceding the meeting.

Young Diver Proves Dramatic Ability In New Western

Six-year-old Duncan Richardson dived his way into pictures! He can currently be seen in a featured role in Republic's thrill-packed western, "Gunmen of Abilene," now playing at the Pkts Theater, with Allan "Rocky" Lane in the starring role.

Duncan was a tiny baby living with his parents in Florida when he first showed a keen interest in the swimming pool. Unable to keep him out of the water, Mrs. Richardson enrolled him in a swimming class with a young girl who was teaching small babies to swim.

In three weeks' time, little two-year-old Duncan amazed his teacher by calmly toddling up to the 12 foot diving board and diving off head first!

A year later, in California, he was making beautiful dives off the 20 foot tower at the Ambassador Hotel pool.

The amazing aquatic feats of the youngster were written up and illustrated in Life, Saturday Evening Post, Coronet and American magazines, as well featured by "Believe It Or Not," Robert Ripley.

Motion picture companies sought him out for swimming roles but soon discovered little Duncan was a talented actor with appeal and personality.

With the election over and the football season approaching an end we suppose we will have to talk about the weather.

With the world's greatest production machinery the U. S. continues to protect "infant industries" from competition.

A WARNING AND PROTEST

To All Property - Owners Of Prince William County

(EXCEPT PROPERTY OWNERS IN THE TOWNS OF MANASSAS, HAYMARKET, OCCOQUAN AND QUANTICO, WHICH ARE INCORPORATED)

How closely have you studied the provisions of the proposed Zoning and Subdivision Control Ordinance for Prince William County? How familiar are you with how it will affect you personally? A public hearing is to be held at the Court House Thursday, December 7, 1950. You owe it to yourself, your family, your neighbors to read the facts set forth below, so that you may be fully aware of some of the things you may do, or may not do, with your property. The penalty, for violations is heavy. It amounts almost to a lien or restrictive cloud on the title of your property.

In considering this ordinance for Prince William County, we are sure that the Board of Supervisors will have the best interest of the community at heart. We believe that the members of the Board, as the people's elected representatives, would like to carry out the wishes of the majority, if those wishes are clearly and unmistakably made known.

A Cure Worse Than The Disease?

We as property-owners want very much to preserve the charm of Prince William County and to keep our country-side free from despoilation.

The minimum set-back proposed by the ordinance is altogether too drastic for a rural community.

A sensible building code would be very desirable and would not be hard to attain.

If the proposed ordinance concerned itself only with such simple and obvious objectives and stopped there, that would be fine. But it does not. It goes much farther. In fact, it goes so far that we feel the proposed cure may well be worse than the disease.

Putting County In A Straitjacket

In a city or town where the building pattern is somewhat established and the direction of future growth is known, it makes sense to restrict some areas for residential use and others for business or commercial purposes. But in a county like Prince William, which is almost entirely agricultural, it makes little sense. To classify every single foot of land as either agricultural, residential, business or commercial, is putting the county in a straitjacket.

This freezing of Prince William County "as is" opposes the normal needs and development of the area. It stifles initiative and enterprise, especially of young people. It virtually guarantees that young men and women will leave home instead of trying to start a business on the land where they were raised. They do not want a czar to rule over the development or use of their property.

Once an ordinance becomes the law of the land, exceptions come hard. They involve time, money and red tape.

A property owner's committee should have the privilege to study the necessity of these two ordinances and make recommendations. Imperatively so, since they will carry the burden and pay the bills by taxation and otherwise. In some counties the cost of administration of such an ordinance is from $12,000 to more than $30,000 per year. It could also happen here.

Permit To Drive A Nail, Almost

Any building code or zoning ordinance is only as good as its enforcement. We prefer a simple code rigidly enforced, to one so complicated that it falls to the ground of its own weight.

For instance, under the proposed ordinance, you can scarcely use a hammer or saw around your home without a permit. If you live in an agricultural district, you can build or alter a barn or other far outbuilding without hindrance—provided such building is at least 100 feet from the road. But for anything else, including house or garage, the ordinance says that a zoning permit shall be secured—"prior to construction, erection, or alteration of any building or part of building . . . having a cost valuation of $500.00 or more. Under that definition you probably couldn't legally add a bedroom or bathroom without a permit, because the bedroom or bathroom would likely cost over $500.00.

Most of the proposed codes are stereotyped professional patterns initiated by foreign organizations and foisted on the uniformed and long-suffering public with a Communistic flavor that is not discernable except through careful study. These codes are subtle, but once enacted into law, they become next to impossible to alter or amend, and are nearly always arrogantly enforced. Property owners, wake up and insist on more time to protect your hard-earned heritage.

Credit Curb

 September and many dealers, thinking the Korean war would force curtailment of production, stocked up on 1950 models. Then when the cars were "announced" they found themselves caught with 1950 models they couldn't dispose of, Robertson said.

The regulation is an attempt to curb installment buying and control time purchasing. Consumer credit in the nation now stands at $21 billion and mortgage credit has reached $40 billion, Robertson said. Bank credit now totals $9 billion and a great drain on savings has been noticed this fall, he said.

Sales Tax

 imitate such taxes on purchases of all restaurant meals, all items costing 50 cents or less, soap, powder, cleaning fluids, etc., thus reducing by 5 million dollars the annual intake for the coming year. The West Virginians are sold on the sales tax which they have had since the 1930's, and the property tax in that state has been reduced to a mere token tax.

Besides our neighboring states enumerated above, Washington, D. C. has a sales tax, and though the merchants of that city bitterly opposed it, their fears that business would suffer as a result of such tax have not been borne out; but, on the contrary, sales taxes have continued to increase. Even closer home is Alexandria, where a sales tax of 2 cents on a package of cigarettes has netted that city 75 thousand dollars since June last, and it is predicted that the first 12 month period will show an intake of more than 150 thousand dollars.

There are 22,384 persons in Prince William County who can claim residence. There are many more living in the county who are not "residents." The burden of our schools fall mainly on the shoulders of about 6 thousand property owners. Of these 6 thousand many are man and wife owning property individually. Also many of these 6 thousand pay tax on very minor property. The point is that considerably less than 6 thousand home owners and property owners in this county constitute the main source of our revenue for schools. Just how long can this comparatively small group continue to carry an ever increasing number of transients and non residents or other persons who cannot be reached by real estate and personal property taxes?

More revenue is needed for our schools now and will continue to be required in the not too distant future. Ten years ago even 50 years ago, the property owner could and did carry the tax burden alone. However, now with the ever increasing flow into the county of non tax paying transients and "non-residents," who send their children to our schools, it is fast becoming impossible. The tax base must be broadened if we are to gather in more revenue, and this can only be done by a sales tax.

In the above paragraph I did not mention that is perhaps a more important reason for the necessity of a sales tax and that is the tremendous increase in the cost of schools due to certain recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court.

requiring equal facilities in all respects for colored children. That does and will continue to impose a terrific tax upon the taxpayer, and makes it imperative that more revenue be found. As I have said above, the only answer is a sales tax which will reach everyone in order that all may contribute to the tax load.

It is argued that our farmers are particularly opposed to such a tax. If so, I can't understand why. The farmer, it seems to me, should be the first one to welcome such a tax in this state. For a sales tax is generally found on food and most of the revenue comes from that item; and a good farmer, as I have always understood, raises his own. Real estate taxes are reduced when a sales tax is imposed, and most farmers own their homes and farms. Personally I believe if the sales tax is not misrepresents him, he will be for it wholeheartedly and delighted with the chance to rid himself of those persons who pay no taxes and are riding on his back while eating high on the hog at the same time.

In conclusion I would like to say that I will vote for a reasonable bond issue that will tide us over the next few years, for we have to do something now. But after that, I will vote on all future bond issues. For I am convinced that the business home and property owner cannot continue to carry the tax load alone in this county, while a good part of the population pays no taxes at all.

Social Security

By RUTH G. DUFFY, Manager
 Alexandria Social Security Office

Do you employ a cook, a laundress, or a maid for general household work? If so, you will soon be an employer under social security. The amended Social Security Act brings household workers under the old-age and survivors insurance system. Beginning in January, they will have the retirement and death benefit protection that millions of Americans in other occupations already have.

Perhaps your husband is now in a job that comes under social security. You have heard him say that so much was withheld from his pay check or envelope for his social security tax, or maybe he has his own business and is sending taxes and reports to the internal revenue collector on this matter. As a housewife, however, you have not come in direct contact with social security.

Well, beginning in January, many housewives, maybe you, and many workers in private homes, maybe your cook, will be directly concerned with social security. Her work for you may bring her under the old-age and survivors insurance system. If so, you, as her employer, will begin keeping a record of her work days and wages, and you will deduct her share of the social security tax from her pay. To this you will add your share of the tax.

Does all this sound complicated? Well, it really isn't. The Treasury Department and the Social Security Administration, working jointly, have just issued a brief, attractive booklet telling the few simple steps for you and your household worker to take. It includes a postal card for getting instructions about the easy-to-fill-out report form. The title of this leaflet is "Do You Have a Maid?" Perhaps you have one. If not, drop a postcard to Social Security Administration, 615 King Street, Alexandria, Virginia, and I'll see that you get one right away. Just ask for a copy of "Do You Have a Maid?"

Girl Scouts

Between the ages of seven and 13 is eligible for membership. There are four troops with an average of 15 girls in each, and two Brownie Troops and two Intermediate Troops. The seven and eight year old Brownie Troop has as its leader, Miss Libby Brainerd, with Mrs. Harold Weston and Mrs. Dorothy Acord as assistant leaders. The nine year old Brownie Troop is led by Mrs. Jack Haggard, with Mrs. Majorie Davis as assistant. Mrs. Alton Mountjoy is the leader of the 10 and 11 year old Intermediate Troop, with Mrs. Robert Varner and Mrs. Henry Wagard as assistants. The 12 and 13 year old Intermediate Troop is led by Mrs. Henry Amidon. Mrs. Charlot Gnad and Mrs. Virgil are assisting her.

The Executive Committee includes Mrs. Henry Frank, Chairman; Mrs. Archie Keys, Treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Garden, Public Relations; Mrs. William Marshall, Secretary; and Mrs. Leon Ingram, Registrar and Equipment.

The Dumfries PTA is sponsoring the troops and has donated funds for the Basic Leadership Course which approximately 20 women completed. The sponsors and committee for each troop will be announced at a future date. It is hoped that each troop will be individually sponsored by local civic organizations and businesses.

The name "Caesar," claimed by many Roman emperors, grew so closely associated with the idea of the emperor that it became a kind of title, says the World Book Encyclopedia. In the Russian language the title became "czar," and in the German was changed to "kaiser."

Calf Killed By Bullets That Never Hit It

The case of the bullets that killed a calf without ever hitting it is reported by Maine veterinarians—not as a contribution of mystery fiction, but as a warning to cattle owners.

The Maine Veterinary Medical Association says a calf died of lead poisoning after licking a target-practice board peppered with 22 bullets.

Davis Calls For Revision Of Draft Rules

"Inequities" in present regulations regarding the induction of national guardsmen and reservists were pointed out this week by James V. Davis Jr., commander, Francis Cannon Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In a statement to the Journal, Davis said that the present system of calling National guardsmen and Reservists, without regard to family ties, former disabilities or other causes for which draftees are deferred, is not compatible to the V.F.W.

He called for revision of these regulations so that a more balanced and justifiable program could be arranged in building up the Armed Forces personnel.

"Men who have served their country," Davis declared, "have never hesitated to answer the call again; but we do feel that there should be an equalization between those who have never worn a uniform and those men who have previously jeopardized their safety in the nation's interest."

British Vets Find New Cause of Scours

British veterinarians say that they have found a link between scouring in calves and the type of pasture grazed by cows.

Calves developed severe diarrhea and did not grow normally while getting milk from cows on a new, clover-rich pasture. The trouble began after old pastures were ploughed up and reseeded with commercial rye-grass, timothy, and clovers.

Investigators offered no theory as to what constituent of the grass might have been responsible.

County Agent's Notebook

By CHARLES L. HALL, Jr.
Assistant County Agent

It's time to top-dress permanent pastures. Orchard grass-ladino clover pastures need more fertilizer than other types since they produce more grazing. During the dormant season, November through February, orchard grass-ladino pastures should get an annual top dressing of 600 to 1,000 pounds per acre of 0-10-20 or 0-14-7 fertilizer. Pastures with low fertility or which have been grazed very heavily the past year should probably have the 1,000 pounds maximum.

For blue-grass-white Dutch clover pastures 0-14-7 or 0-12-6 fertilizer should be applied as top-dressing at the rate of 1,000 to 1,200 pounds per acre every three or four years. If annual application is preferred, apply at the rate of 250 to 300 pounds per acre.

As for choice between fertilizer mixtures, 0-14-7 is suggested where there are enough legumes to supply nitrogen. Where the grass is poor, a complete fertilizer such as 3-12-6 is recommended.

Re-seeding and fertilizing next spring are recommended rather than top-dressing for pastures containing less than 50 per cent desirable grasses and having predominate weeds.

Re-seeding and fertilizing next spring are recommended rather than top-dressing for pastures containing less than 50 per cent desirable grasses and having predominate weeds.

Such pastures can be revived by fertilizer alone, but it will require several years. A quicker return on fertilizer investment can be had by re-seeding.

Treat cattle for lice before putting them in winter quarters. Lice are often the cause of declines in milk and beef production. They should be destroyed any time they are found on animals, but it is especially important to control them at this time of year, since they reproduce and spread rapidly in warm, congested quarters.

A single treatment with a 1½ per cent DDT spray, or 10 per cent DDT dust should eradicate lice completely on cattle not in the milking herd or being finished for slaughter.

One application of lindane spray can be used on dairy animals and beef animals alike. Apply lindane at the rate of 1½ pounds of a 25 per cent gamma wettable powder to 100 gallons of water. Lindane will control both lice and mange mites. It is dangerous, however, to use lindane sprays on calves under three months of age.

Several inquiries have been made during the past week concerning the raking of leaves from lawns. There seemed to be doubt in some people's minds as to whether leaves should be raked or not since it was thought that they might be left on the lawn to provide protection to the lawn as well as a certain amount of plant food in the form of a mulch. In most instances, it is recommended that these leaves be raked since they often kill or severely injure the lawn grasses if they are left on the lawn even for only a short time. Leaves that are scattered thin enough to do no damage to the lawn will give very little protection to the lawn and the amount of mulch or plant food will be negligible.

Leaves should not be burned but placed on a compost pile which will be very valuable in enriching the garden soil next spring after this material has had time to decompose. A light covering of manure or fertilizer high in nitrogen will hasten decomposition.

Several people have inquired as to how much longer they should mow their lawns. If your lawn is over three inches long, it should be mowed.

Now is a good time to plant those trees and that shrubbery that you have been planning to plant all summer. If the ground is not frozen, bulbs can also be planted for spring blooming. Shrubs and trees, especially those moved from the woods are sometimes hard to establish. Some hints which may be helpful in transplanting shrubbery are:

1. Select small plants to transplant, since these will survive more easily than the larger plants.
2. Take up as many of the roots as possible with the plant and be careful not to allow the roots to become dry before planting them. With deciduous plants be sure to take them up with a ball of earth when transplanting them.
3. Be careful to plant the shrub at the same depth as it was growing before it was moved.

4. Dig a hole into which the plant will be placed sufficiently large so that the roots will not have to be forced into the hole in an unnatural manner, and so that the hole can be filled in with top soil. The dirt should be pressed firmly about the roots.

5. Trees planted from the woods should have much of the tops cut back. This may make them unattractive for a couple of years, but will give them a much better chance of survival.

6. Shrubs and trees that have been newly planted may need water during the early winter. This is especially true of evergreens.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

By RUTH G. DUFFY, Manager
Alexandria Social Security Office
The additional types of monthly benefits were included in the new social security law. These new benefits are called Husband's benefits and Widow's benefits.

Prior to September 1, benefits were payable to the 65 year old insured worker; to his wife at age of 18. In addition, upon the death of the worker, regardless of his age, survivors' benefits were payable to children under 18; to the 65 year old widow; to a widow under age 65 having a child in her care entitled to benefits; and to dependent parents under certain circumstances.

All of the benefits mentioned above are still payable. The wife or widow has been able to receive benefits based on her husband's wage on the assumption that she was dependent upon him for support. However, no provision was made in the old law for paying a husband or widow who, because of some affliction or bad health, had to rely on his wife for support.

Under the provisions of the new law, which became effective in September, a dependent husband or widow may qualify for benefits. There are certain requirements which must be met before benefits can be paid. In case of a husband, he cannot receive benefits unless his wife is 65 years of age and drawing benefits. He must, of course, have the status of husband under the State law. In addition he must be receiving at least one-half of his support from his wife who had been fairly regularly employed in recent years. They must also be living together.

Similar requirements must be set for the widow. That is, his wife must have been furnishing at least half the support of her husband at the time of her death. Widow's benefits are not payable where the wife died before September 1, 1950. Even if he meets all other requirements, the widow cannot start receiving payments until he reaches age 65.

The Alexandria office is located at 815 King Street. Office hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday.

Cows infected with brucellosis produce 22 percent less milk.

Pigs can become infected with the virus that causes human influenza.

Calves born after a long, hard winter may average 10 to 12 lbs. less than those born in a normal year, according to the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

HOMEMAKERS ITEMS

Soon you'll be buying Christmas toys.

The National Council of Safety offers this advice to gift-lovers who are buying toys for the baby or toddler:

Avoid stuffed animals with glass or button eyes. Examine toys to see that there are no removable parts which could be swallowed. Buy sturdy rattles, blocks with rounded corners, soft balls and dolls, and push-and-pull toys with rounded handles.

The two to four-year-old is interested in building blocks, peg toys, large crayons, dolls, and non-tipping kiddie cars.

The four to six-year-old likes construction sets, puzzles, games, cut-out sets with blunt scissors, and doll houses.

The six to eight-year-old is interested in hobby materials, musical instruments, sports equipment, books, construction sets, and table top games.

The Council also adds this final word of advice to parents: Don't endanger your child with shooting or target toys, sharp scissors or poorly built wagons or carts. Don't buy toys that are too heavy or complicated for the child to handle. Avoid sharp-edge tools and non-approved electric trains.

Haymarket

Mrs. A. R. G. Bass had the misfortune of falling down a step in her home and fracturing her hip on Thanksgiving Day. She was taken to Physicians Hospital, Washington, and the latest report is, she is improving nicely.

Mrs. J. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. A. Scabrin and children Jerry and Judy, and little Miss Lorraine Hughes, all of Buffalo, N. Y., were Thanksgiving week-end guests at the home of Mrs. Hughes' daughter and son-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. J. C. Accompaugh. They left Sunday to return to their home in Buffalo.

and had the misfortune to have an accident near Harrisburg, Pa. Fortunately none of the occupants of the car were hurt. However due to weather conditions all traffic was unable to continue to its destination. Mrs. Hughes and party returned to her 6-figures home by train for several more days.

WSCS

The WSCS of the Woodlawn Methodist Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Ina Gough for their regular November meeting to mark the 10th anniversary of the Society. Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Trenis, visiting ladies from the Catlett WSCS, presented the Society with the anniversary cake. Mrs. Susie Dennis was in charge of a short program, after which the lighting of candles took place. Officers reported that since the Woodlawn WSCS was organized nine months ago, a great deal of good work has been accomplished. After refreshments were served, the Chapter held its regular meeting. A committee was appointed to purchase bed linens and curtains for the church parsonage. The December meeting of the WSCS will be held early on account of Christmas activities.

FAREWELL TO EUROPE!

Helga Schmitz - Nancy
 I said good-bye to Germany in early September of last year. My parents and I stayed in Switzerland for several days in Lurich, and in Flims (a little place in the mountains). From there we traveled over the Simplon Pass to Italy. It was a big difference when we came from the cold north to the warm south on the Riviera in Northern Italy.

In the mountains it was snowing and in Papallo (Italy) it was so warm that we went swimming nearly every day.

We said farewell to beautiful and "noisy" Genova in the first days of October.

Our first stop was Livorno, where we stayed one day and therefore had time to ride in a "Carosca" (a bus, in which you would not enjoy riding) to visit Pisa. There we admired the world famous Leaning Tower of Pisa.

During the next days we passed many beautiful Italian cities and our ship "Maria C" stopped at one of them, Wapols. We went driving through the town in a horse and buggy. This was the last town we saw in Europe.

The next stop we made was in Algiers, North Africa, at a small harbor called Beni-Saff. For several hundred years the fashions there have not changed much and probably never will. The women wear gowns from the tops of their heads down to their ankles. They leave only one eye uncovered. The men wear bearmasses and turbans, but at least show their faces. We stayed two or three days in Beni-Saff and had the pleasure to learn, after we had been swimming, that there were sharks near by and that sometimes they come into the harbor.

We had to wish the final farewell to the European Continent when we saw the 1st part of Spain, after sailing through the Strait of Gibraltar.

After a couple of days, we passed the lovely island of Maderia (Spain) and did not see land again until we reached America.

It got cold on the ocean but at first we had good weather and much fun watching the flying fish, the jumping dolphins, and some sharks that followed the ship.

We once saw a whale in front of a ship we met on the Atlantic. We were sailing on the Columbus route and turned north near Bermuda. We arrived in Philadelphia on a rainy and foggy day, but were deeply impressed by the beautiful city with its white buildings and colorful parks. A hearty welcome from our future homeland.

SENIOR NEWS

By Norman Chastain

These were comments heard in the halls of B.D.H.S. concerning the latest Senior activity, the Senior Play.

Teacher—I thought it was one of the best plays given here at B.D.H.S.

Principal—I think it was well cast and adapted to high school level. The cast knew their parts and the play as a whole was well received by the audience.

Pupil—I think the play was very good, even the children enjoyed it. It was also a success financially. The auditorium was filled and the class realized the sum of $113.70.

The Senior Class would like to express its appreciation to the school board and Mr. Nelson for making it possible for them to have such an attractive stage for the play.

Now that the play has become history, the annual claims the limelight and sixteen pages must be in the hands of the publishers by December 2.

The Seniors have received their pictures and there is much discussion over which is the best photograph.

The female population of our class has increased with the addition of Julia and Clarene Beverly, who came to us last Tuesday from Belmont.

This brings the total of 12 boys and 9 girls. Julia has been chosen as the Senior Class entry in the popularity contest.

POPULARITY CONTEST

By Mary Stephens

The Junior Class is sponsoring a "Miss B.D.H.S." popularity contest. Each club and class in the high school will sponsor a girl, and several merchants in Brentsville District are also sponsoring contestants.

The voting will start the 1st of December and will come to a close the 19th. On the 19th, Mr. Link, Bill White, Miss Partlow and one merchant will count the votes. "Miss B.D.H.S." will be crowned at the December social on the 22nd.

There will be a first, second and third prize. The entries and their sponsors are: Lois Flory, Literary Club; Wayne Beavers, FFA; Gladys Wright, FFA; Dolores Wright, Buzzer; Julia Beverly, Senior Class; Elsie Ridgely, Junior Class; Barbara Carrico, Freshman Class; Joan Payne, Eighth Grade; Jewell Dickenson, S. A. McMichael; Helga Schmitz-Mancy, Sam Whetzel; Joyce Brady, Stephen's Grocery; Shirley Bradshaw, Brentsville Grocery; Mary Stephens, Fitzwater's Store; Edith Melvin, Free's Store; Francis Fitzgerald, Lester Farm.

FRESHMAN NEWS

By Wayne Vance

The freshmen will present a play entitled "Thanksgiving A La Carte" for the S.C.A. on Wednesday, the 22nd. Characters are as follows:

Stella, Nancy Sonafank; Tony, Walter Carter; Mr. Rubino, Clifton Croushorn; Truck driver, Carl Skillman; Football players, Bill, Charles Taylor; Jim Wayne, Vance; Nick, Freddie Terry; Dave, Gordon Hoffman; Coach, Sherwood Vance; Cheerleaders, June Myers and Anita Bayne; Dr. Evans, Elwood White. John Spear attended the Duke Wake Forest game in Durham, N. C. on the 11th.

JUNIOR NEWS

By Joyce Brady

The Junior Class had a meeting November 16, to discuss the selection of plays and other business matters.

The class colors are green and gold, the flower, yellow rose and the motto, "Live and let live."

It was decided to have first, second and third prizes for the popularity contest. Mary Stephens, Jewell Dickenson, Shirley Bradshaw, Joyce Brady, Lester Parsons, and Jimmy Ridgely were chosen to pick the prizes.

FLAG DONATED

By Shirley Bradshaw

The graduating class of 49-50 presented the high school with a Virginia state flag on Friday night, Nov. 17.

We as the students of Brentsville District High School, would like to express our thanks and appreciation to the class of 49-50 for this gift.

KATE AT THE KEYHOLE

Nancy Burriss seems to have the heart of one of those Washington boys. Does anyone know how she met him?

Who's the lucky guy Gladys Wright is stepping out with? Or is he lucky?

Since Joyce had her hair cut short again, Junior said he didn't have as much pull when he gets mad at her.

Did Shirley Bradshaw enjoy herself Friday night? She seemed to have had a good time.

Norman has his ring back. Wouldn't Mary Stephens keep it, Norman?

Who was with Barbara Carrico Friday night? She loves to drive jeeps even though they sometimes back into the ditch by mistake.

Freddie Terry says he and Dorothy Marshall are going places from now on.

Seems as if Lester is giving Francis the "run-around." Was the river cold Friday night, Lester?

What's the matter boys? Are you going to let Charles Canon get every new girl in school? His hat still doesn't fit his head since he went to the movies Sunday night, and heard someone comment, "My it must feel good to be good-looking."

Shirley Bradshaw, I'm warning you, if you want to hang on to Clarence Tomkins you'd better perk up in French and take notice of a certain junior girl.

Lloyd, I'd advise you not to listen in on too many telephone conversations.

I hear Willard has named his car "Ole" in loving memory of last year's play. Do you feel honored, Jewell?

Mary Thomason has a new heartbreak. Ask Freddie who it is.

Jack Green says he's married! Does anyone know her?

County 4-H Clubs

Observe Annual

Achievement Day

Over 400 4-H boys and girls, representing clubs from the entire County, met on November 18 in Osborn High School gymnasium for annual 4-H Achievement Day Program.

Main speaker on the program was the Rev. Albert Winn of Greenwich Church of the Brethren. Charles Hall, Jr., assistant county agent, was master of ceremonies. Members of the various clubs represented gave reports on the activities and achievements of their clubs during the preceding year.

A highlight of the program was the award of medals to 4-H members who had excelled in project work. Awards were made to the following members: Rebecca Shupler, Yorkshire, clothing achievement; Ursula Von Loesch, Backhall, home grounds beautification; Sue Espenshade, Manassas, home improvement; Barbara Fletcher, Haymarket, style dress review.

Jean Bauckman, Dumfries, food preservation; Charles Young, Field Grove, Charles Deane, Occoquan, poultry; Delbert O'Meara, meat animal; Thomas Stephenson, Germantown, dairy production; Edgar Wolfrey, Nokesville, leadership; and Bobby Aubrey, Nokesville, tractor maintenance.

The latter half of the program was devoted to competitive recreation between clubs, and refreshments were served.
