Huge Crowd Is On Hand For Wheat Party

The biggest crowd to visit Manassas in a long time showed up for the grand opening of the new home of Wheat Chevrolet on the Centerville road Saturday night. Estimates of the attendance run from 5,000 to 7,000 people, which jam-packed the building and the large parking area outside.

So large was the crowd that a great number had to be content to listen to the entertainment from the outside. State police, members of the sheriff's department and Manassas police were kept busy handling the traffic which was constant and heavy throughout the evening.

Souvenirs and favors were exhausted early in the evening. Drawing for the ten $50 savings bonds was conducted by the Rev. E. Guthrie Brown, and resulted in the following winners: Sidney Byrne, James Dodd, Manassas; Barbara Turpin, Centerville; Miss Ann Weneke, Rombert M. Hall, Manassas; Bruce Smith, Silver Springs, Md.; Mrs. Janie M. Leach, Nokesville; John Cebula, Mrs. Ruth Sutphin, Manassas. One bond was unclaimed, and unless the owner of the ticket can be located by the end of the week, it will be given to a local church organization.

Exchange At Lorton To Be Discontinued

The telephone exchange at Lorton, serving about 69 subscribers, is being discontinued this week, according to J. A. Vetter, general superintendent of the Central Mutual Telephone Co.

The Lorton phones will be cut into the switchboard at Occoquan this Thursday and Friday, and Mr. Vetter anticipates that some confusion in making calls to Lorton might result during the change-over.

Phone crews have been busy this week doing preliminary work in connection with project, which, Mr. Vetter states, will result in improved service for the Lorton subscribers. Lack of 50 feet of cable, which had been ordered, has delayed the work.

Mr. Vetter is citing the heavy demands on telephone service, stated that the number of subscribers served by Central Mutual had increased from 2,200 to 3,200 in the past years.

Senate Votes Further Study On Dispersal

That the Senate is in no mood to spend $107,000,000 or any other amount of money for the dispersal or decentralization of Federal Agencies outside of Washington, was indicated on Monday when the Senate, by a vote of 45 to 39, re-committed the measure to the Senate Public Works Committee for "further study." The program, supported by the administration, atomic experts and civil defense authorities, provided for the dispersal of some 20,000 Federal employees into nearby Virginia and Maryland, the demolition of temporary buildings constructed around World War II, and moving at least 25,000 employees to other sections of the country.

Senator Byrd (D., Va.) led the opposition, and was joined by 35 Republicans and 9 other Democrats, including Senators O'Connor (D., Md.) Butler (R., Md.) and Robertson (D., Va.). The opposition contended that the amount called for in the bill would be only a beginning, and that dispersal would be of dubious value, considering the vast number of key Federal employees who would be left in Washington.

Senator Holland (D., Fla.) and Senator Case (R., S. Dak.) led the supporters of the measure, including 34 Democrats and 5 Republicans. It was their contention that the program is necessary to assure the continuity of operation of the Federal government, in case of atomic attack, by moving key personnel to 4 or more different target areas, instead of allowing them to remain concentrated in one target area of about 1 1/2 square miles in downtown Washington.

Dr. George B. Cocke writes from Clearwater, Fla., that he is really enjoying his rest in the sunny climate. He calls it the ideal place for tired men.

Credit Bureau For Manassas Is Discussed

John Althaus, representative of the Washington Credit Bureau, addressed a group of local business men at the Hotel Stinson-Jackson, Tuesday night, relative to the formation of a credit bureau here.

Mr. Althaus outlined plans of setting up a bureau in the community and how such an organization would operate for the benefit of merchants who do a credit business.

Caton Merchant, who was instrumental in bringing Mr. Althaus to Manassas, introduced the speaker. Interest manifested by local merchants in attendance indicated that there was a definite need for a credit bureau here and many are hopeful that the support required for starting the undertaking can be obtained.

The club will be represented at a joint meeting of other local organizations this Friday night to make definite plans for a community farewell to the National Guard unit.

A dance with the Kiwanis Club will be held some time in June. President Ned Bradford reported that the new city directory, sponsored by the club, which has been held up by the printers, would be in the press soon and ready for distribution.

Historic "Waverley" Will Be Open To Public May 6th

"Waverley" the beautiful old home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart, at Haymarket, will be open to the public Sunday, May 6, from 4 to 6 p. m. with an organ recital by Marvin Fewell and supper served for the benefit of St. Paul's Church, Haymarket.

Mr. Fewell, a graduate of Peabody Conservatory, is organist for Woodward and Lothrop, Washington.

Built in 1762

Waverley, built in 1762 will be open for the first time. Its thirty-five rooms are filled with priceless antiques and the garden is typically Southern with the hundreds of boxwood.

Waverley is located one and one-half miles north of Haymarket, on Federal Highway 16.

Below are a few interesting facts about Waverley from the history written by Mr. Hardy Crosby, author and historian.

"The residence was built by Admiral Foote and work was started in 1762 and completed in 1763. Bricks were brought from England to Alexandria as ballast and by boat and slaves from Alexandria to Waverley. The bricks were heated and doped many times in wattle

* The county budget, which calls for an increase in tax levy due to school and jail capital outlays, for the coming year, will come up for public hearing before the Board of Supervisors here next Monday. As members of the Board have heretofore stated, the budget in its entirety will be adopted only if the citizens of the county express approval for these increased expenditures.

Schools Overcrowded

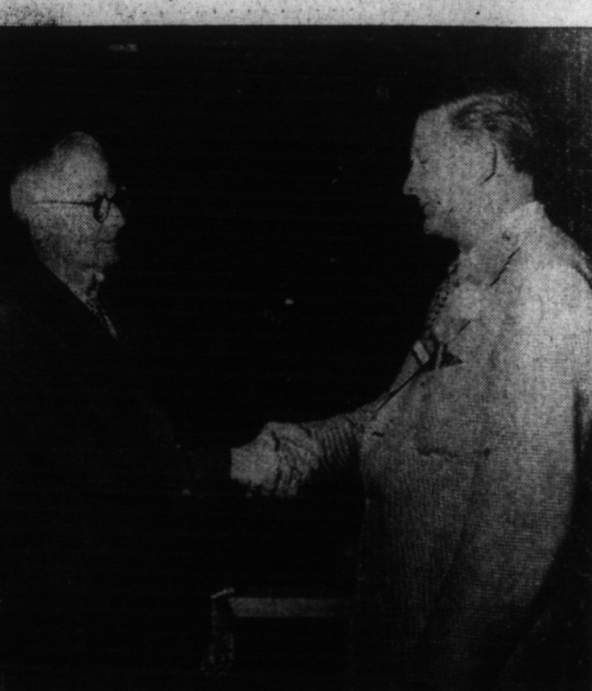

Commenting on the school board's request for $97,000 out of current county revenue next year, Superintendent of Schools R. Worth Peters points out that the money is necessary to provide 15 additional classrooms, due to already overcrowded conditions, which will be seriously aggravated by the 250 to 300 additional children who expect to enter school next fall.

According to Mr. Peters, the increase in school operating budget in the amount of $50,205.00 is, in the main, made necessary by normal increases in the salaries of present teachers and the employment of eight to ten additional teachers to care for the increased enrollment. "More children mean more classrooms, more teachers, more buses and drivers, more gas and oil, more equipment, and more lights, water and fuel," said the Superintendent.

Defends Pay Increase

Mr. Peters also stated that Prince William will suffer the largest loss home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Witt. Continued on Page 2

Everybody -- Almost Everybody -- Turned Out for Wheat Opening Saturday

By far the biggest turn-out to be seen in Manassas yet! At least 5,000 people visited the formal opening of the new home of Wheat Chevrolet last Saturday night. At left, Mayer Harry P. The Lions came to the party in 1915 Chevrolet. Above, Barbara Turpin wins one of the $50 savings bonds given away. She is shown with Mr. Wheat and Rev. E. Guthrie Brown who awarded the prizes.

Farmers of County Urged To Join Better Pasture Program

Farmers who would like to take part in the 1951 Prince William County Pasture Improvement Program this week were asked to fill in the blank appearing below and mail it to the county pasture committee.

There is one outstanding difference between the Prince William pasture program and similar ones in other counties. The program is in the form of a contest, but the score card for judging results of pasture improvement has been so arranged that the farmer with extremely poor pastures will have an equal chance against the dairy and beef farmers who already have creditable pastures.

The score card is divided into three parts—pasture improvement with 30 points; management with 40 points and total production with 30 points. This method will enable a farmer to start from scratch and with improvements and good management practices, equal the score of farmers who already have pastures in the advanced stages.

Farmers will have their pastures judged by a local committee. Two winners will be selected in each magisterial district and the three county winners will then be selected from these district winners by a group of outside judges.

The coupon below is to be mailed to: Post Office Box 111, Manassas, Va.

Local People, Farm Scenes In Movie to Be Shown on April 27

Many Prince William citizens and county farm scenes feature the movie, "Deeper Acres," which will have its premiere at the Brentsville District high school gym on Friday, April 27th.

The movie made by the National Fertilizer Association for educational purposes has Prince William County for its locale. It is a sound film, in color.

The story deals with a retired "front porch" farmer by the name of Burgoynes, who witnesses the vast improvements which have taken in agriculture since he was a boy.

His son, Jim, on returning from college, "upsets the apple-cart" when he urges the development of deeper acres rather than purchase of more land. Jim is played by Billy Hale, Nokesville, and the grandson by Lester Parsons, of the same community.

Other local people who get in the act were R. C. Powell, Manassas banker, Pat Rogers and many others. Burgoynes, the retired farmer, is played by a Hollywood actor.

Besides local farm scenes, there are scenes taken in the Manassas downtown district.

Sponsoring the premiere showing is the Veterans Farm Club of the county.

Teachers next year that he has known in the 20 years he has been here. The proposed increase in teacher pay would amount to an average net increase of $200 for teachers with 10 or more years experience, and a $10 monthly increase for other personnel not under salary schedule. For the benefit of anyone who might think that even with the increase we are cutting or overpaying our teachers, Mr. Peters presented the following comparative table of teacher salaries in this region; for collegiate professional with bachelor's degree—

—Prince William, begin $2100, annual increase $60 to maximum $2500; Fairfax County, begin $2500, annual increase $100 to maximum $3700; Falls Church—begin $2700, annual increase $100 to maximum $4200. For collegiate professional with master's degree—Prince William, begin $2400, annual increase $60 to $3000 maximum; Falls Church—begin $2900, annual increase to $4700 maximum.

Superintendent Peters emphasized the fact that the market for qualified teachers is a highly competitive one at best, because of the tragically insufficient number of teachers available to serve our ever-growing school population. Fairfax County, alone, is said to be adding 100 additional teachers next fall. Even if Prince William County were paying comparable salaries, we still could not compete effectively with such localities as Fairfax, Arlington and Alexandria, because of our woefully outworn, outgrown and outmoded buildings and equipment.

"In view of the disparity between salaries here and those in adjoining counties, is it any wonder that Prince William is considered the 'training ground' for teachers for Fairfax, Arlington and Alexandria?" said he.

Religious Leaders Endorse 1951 Heart Fund

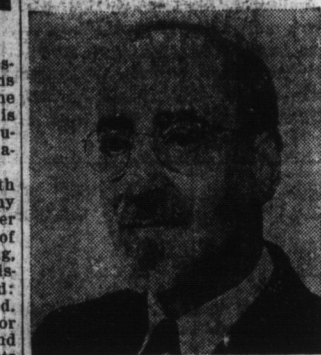

Dr. Poling

Prominent leaders of the Protestant, Jewish and Catholic faiths have given their endorsement to the 1951 Heart Fund campaign which is being conducted throughout February by the American Heart Association and its affiliates.

Pointing out that American death casualties in a single year of any war in our history have never equaled the yearly death-toll of heart disease, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, President and Editor of the Christian Herald Association, declared: "Heart disease must be controlled. Our money can buy new hope for hearts. Support of the Heart Fund enables our doctors and scientists to fight heart disease with research, education and community heart services."

In his appeal for contributions, Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, said, "As true patriots it is our duty to protect America against the ravages of enemy number one to the health of our nation—heart disease—the enemy which is the cause of ten out of every twenty-three deaths in the United States. Therefore, do we gladly cooperate with the American Heart Association in its efforts to support and extend research into the causes and cure of this dread scourge."

Rabbi Pool

Rabbi David de Sola Pool, of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, New York City, addressed this plea to the American people: "In our intense living of today we may well heed the wise words of the Book of Proverbs, 'Above all, guard thy heart; for out of it are the well springs of life.' It is a religious behest to keep the heart safe from hurt. Therefore, we ask you to give generously to the Heart Fund. By giving you may help yourself and your family and surely your fellow men."

These three leaders have joined in asking men and women of good will to "Back up the fight against heart disease. Send your contribution to HEART, care of your post office."

State Income Tax Returns Must Be Filed By May 1

A great many taxpayers, according to County Commissioner of Revenue Charlton Gnadt, have not yet filed their State and local tax returns for the current tax assessment year, although they have already had three and one-half months within which to perform this duty. It is respectfully requested that every effort be made to file these returns on or before May 1, 1951.

Every individual, married or unmarried, adult or minor, who had for the taxable year a gross income of $1,000 or more must file a Virginia State income tax return. If your gross income was less than $1,000 mark your return "NOT SUFFICIENT" sign and return.

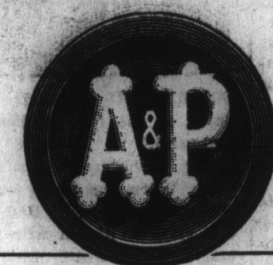

On your personal property return you are required to list that personal property such as automobiles, trucks, livestock, farming implements, household and kitchen furniture, deep freeze units, televisions, etc., that you own in Prince William County as of January 1, 1951. If you do not own any personal property, please state "NONE," sign and return.

Mr. Gnadt stated that his office is striving to make a fair and proportionate equalization of assessed values in line with all taxpayers' belongings and he invites citizens at all times to confer with him or any member of his staff relative to their tax problems. Equalization is the essence of good taxation and the best results can only be obtained by your assistance and wholehearted cooperation, he said.

Among the frozen fish stocks, haddock and cod filets and halibut steaks are particularly plentiful.

Fresh apple stocks in cold storage have been running much larger than a year ago, and processed apple products also are plentiful.

Add dry ingredients alternately with coffee to creamed mixture. Wrap dough in waxed paper; chill several hours. Roll out on floured board at least 1/4 inch thick. Cut in small circles with cookie cutter. Put one chocolate rum wafer between two cookies. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 8 minutes. Cool; frost, if desired, with pink-tinted confectioners' sugar frosting. Yield: about 2 dozen.

Eugenia Hilleary Osbourn

Her Life, Work and Influence

By CLARENCE WAGENER

Miss Eugenia resigned the principalship of the Manassas High School at the close of the 1934-35 session. The graduating class that year had the unusual honor of tendering the farewell banquet to their retiring principal. It was at this banquet that Dr. William R. Smythe, of the University of Virginia, in paying tribute to Miss Eugenia's work, suggested that the name of the school be changed to Osbourn High School. Soon thereafter the County School Board authorized the change.

For seven years, from 1935 to 1942, Miss Eugenia was librarian of the Manassas Ruffner-Carnegie Library. From the time of her retirement as librarian until her death, she served as the book buyer for the public division of the library.

In order to become thoroughly acquainted with the latest methods of high school and public library management, Miss Eugenia took library study courses during the summer sessions of 1935 and 1937-40 at George Washington University, University of Virginia and Catholic University. In addition, she took correspondence courses with the University of Chicago.

During the summer of 1934 or 1935, Miss Eugenia took a second trip to Europe. This, as was the case with the 1914 trip to Europe, was made possible by a gift of the alumni of the Manassas Institute, the Manassas High School and friends. Quite unaccountably, my notes carry no mention of this trip but, if memory serves, she visited both France and England, certainly the latter. It was while on this visit to England that Miss Eugenia met Miss Eda Wills. A few years ago, Miss Wills, upon Miss Eugenia's invitation, came to America. Miss Wills, from that time until Miss Eugenia died, was her companion. Also, during Miss Eugenia's period of semi-invalidism, a Baltimore cousin, Miss Mary Maynard, paid Miss Eugenia frequent visits, which greatly cheered her last years.

So cosmopolitan were Miss Eugenia's interests, so catholic her tastes, so wide-ranging and thorough her knowledge, so lovable and tolerant her attitude toward fellow mortals, that none could hope to estimate fully how much the world was the gainer by her having lived and how much it has lost in her death.

My first clear-cut recollection of Miss Eugenia is of her teaching history, grammar and mathematics at the Manassas Institute. In my mind's eye, she sits gracefully upon a stool before the class. The pupils are paying close attention, except for an occasional chap who thinks school is "stuff." To everyone it is apparent that Miss Eugenia not only knows her subjects but is also living it. If it happens to be history, you are back there in ancient Greece or Rome or Tudor England, rubbing shoulders with the peoples of the time. If it is grammar that she is teaching, you somehow begin to get the hang of that hitherto baffling subject. And if it is mathematics, Eureka! Why it can be fun to work those geometry problems.

Attendance upon Miss Eugenia's classes afforded the pupils a certain amount of both humor and pathos. She had an exceptionally well-developed sense of humor. Anything funny that occurred in the classroom—if it was really funny—got as much laughter from her as from the pupils. This great gift of being ready to laugh at the utterance of a joke or at the sight of something ludicrous stayed with Miss Eugenia until the last. As late as last autumn, I heard her chuckle again at the remark, made a year or so ago, with reference to Secretary of State Dean Acheson's being "just too elegant." The cartoons of the greatest cartoonist of our time, the Englishman Low, delighted her no end.

The pathos experienced by Miss Eugenia's students was due to an impediment of speech which made it difficult for her to utter certain words. At times it was but little short of agony to witness her struggles to get on with her talk or lecture.

A few years ago I asked Miss Eugenia to name the subjects which she had most enjoyed teaching. She said, "History, botany and mathematics." My analysis: History, because she was always a citizen of the world. Botany, because of her great love of plant life, especially trees and flowers (her garden was all the retreat she needed). Mathematics, because of her delight in order, precision and thoroughness.

Queried as to when her slowly-increasing deafness first interfered with her work, Miss Eugenia replied, "In the 1920's." Upon her return from the second trip to Europe, she found me wearing a hearing aid. She tried it. From that time on Miss Eugenia used a hearing aid, and while she ever proclaimed it as a great blessing, she was never able to get as much benefit from the instrument as some of us who are hard of hearing do. It may have been, in part, due to a certain type of deafness that plagued her. Or her inability to master completely the mechanics of the instrument could have been partly responsible. At any rate, she was generally able to get a good deal out of a two-person conversation. But she did, during her latter years, miss much that life showers so bountifully upon persons with good hearing. Miss Eugenia bore the affliction nobly, though she once said that surely the bearing of this cross would be made up to her in the Afterlife.

The industry shown by Miss Eugenia throughout her teaching career is well-nigh incredible. Granted a master mind and a never-die determination, where did she find the energy to put in all those summers studying, studying, studying after nine months of gruelling teaching or acting as principal? Somehow she found the energy, but the burden was too much for the body. She had a breakdown or two. Then she was compelled to take things easier, but her mental vigor suffered no impairment. Fortunately, too, she did not experience pain.

More Corn Needed; Farmers Urged To Increase Acreage

The 1951 corn crop is getting off to an uncertain start. At least that's the fact according to a report from the Production and Marketing Administration which indicates that growers intend to plant only 95 per cent of the corn acreage guide.

National and State acreage guides were established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture earlier this year to assure sufficient feed grains for livestock production. Except for corn most of Virginia's grain acreage was already seeded at that time.

The production guide for corn in Virginia is 1,180,000 acres, and the PMA report shows that farmers intend to plant 1,128,000 acres, or 95 per cent of the guide.

R. B. Bridgforth, State Production and Marketing Administration chairman, in his capacity as head of the State Agricultural Mobilization Committee asks Virginia farmers not only to reach, but to exceed the State acreage. He also asks for increased yields.

GRACE METHODIST CHURCH

F. L. Baker, pastor
"For These Days" will be the subject of the sermon at the eleven o'clock service. At 7:30, the quarterly union service will be held at Grace Church and the subject will be "Branches."

In most sections of the State, there is a certain amount of idle cropland suitable for corn without disturbing pasture or other crops, Bridgforth said. As for increasing yields, he quoted the recommendation of the Extension Service at VPI who list these five steps:

1. Use a hybrid adapted to your county.
2. Prepare a good seedbed and plant corn about an inch deep.
3. Be sure the soil has enough nitrogen, phosphate and potash, the exact amount depending on soil fertility, whether manured, and whether a legume was turned. For average soils, the use of 600 to 900 pounds of a complete fertilizer, as recommended by your County Agent, and 60 to 80 pounds of nitrogen should produce 75 to 100 bushels of corn.

4. Plant corn for a final stand of 12,000 to 16,000 stalks per acre.

5. Cultivate shallow.

Bridgforth pointed out that despite a large corn crop last year, a record in Virginia, there is nevertheless need for still more this year. He explained that livestock numbers are increasing rapidly due to the high demand for meat brought about partly by the national emergency. This demand has forced the Nation to draw heavily on our reserve corn supply. It is estimated that reserve corn stocks on October 1, 1951, the beginning of the marketing year, will be one-third less than a year ago.

For this reason, Bridgforth said that a 1951 crop national acreage guide of 90,000,000 acres has been set. That is 6,000,000 more than was planted in 1950.

Virginia was also asked to produce more soybeans for beans. According to March planting intentions, State farmers will probably plant 148,000 acres of soybeans. That would be 9 per cent more than the 1951 guide of 135,000 and well above the 133,000 acres planted last year.

Scientists Prove Successful In Producing "Incubator Calf"

Clifton S. Wood, local technician of Manassas, has just received word of what is believed to be the first birth of a calf through the transfer of a fertilized "egg" from one cow to another, the "incubator cow." The information came from the American Breeders Service of Chicago, whose artificial breeding bulls suds furnish semen to Wood.

The work was done cooperatively by The American Foundation for the Study of Genetics, the University of Wisconsin, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Dairy Industry.

The American Foundation for the Study of Genetics is a not-for-profit organization supported by private and public grants, gifts and endowments. Its research laboratory and farm, where the calf was born, is located near Madison. The president is J. Rockefeller Prentice who also operates American Breeders Service, of Chicago, the largest artificial breeding organization in the country.

The "egg transfer" birth involves the transplantation of the calf from one animal to another while it is still microscopic in size. Such transfers were made successfully with rabbits sixty years ago, and have since been done with mice, rats, and sheep. This is the first time that success has been reported with cattle.

The transfer of the egg, or ovum, was done in this way: The cow that was the natural mother was injected with a hormone, an extract of the sheep pituitary gland. (This is not an essential part of the process, but was done to make her release from her ovary a large number of eggs instead of the usual one.) Then the cow was artificially bred to one of the American Breeders bulls at Madison.

Five days later the cow was slaughtered and a single fertilized ovum was carefully removed. At that stage in its development it was almost invisible to the naked eye. It was transplanted surgically to the "substitute mother," and in about thirty-five days an examination of her indicated that the calf was developing.

The egg transfer was made in March, 1950, and the heifer calf was born 278 days later on December 19. It weighed 84 pounds at birth. The cow to which the egg was transferred was kept isolated both before and during her "pregnancy." Color markings and analysis of the calf's blood gave further evidence that the calf developed from the transplanted ovum. The calf's blood contained factors not present in that of the sire or the substitute mother.

The egg transfer technique, like other scientific research developments, opens new possibilities for scientific study. Not all these possibilities can be predicted immediately, but egg transfer birth promises to be a valuable tool in the study of fertility in animals, the research men report. Some livestock research workers have suggested that egg transfer methods may some day be of direct usefulness to the dairy farmer in herd improvement. However, the present work does not seem to offer practical techniques along this line.

acquaintances. Others came from Warrenton, Culpeper, Washington and as far away as Silver Springs, Md.

Mr. Wheat, visibly pleased by the large turnout and many expressions of goodwill, stated "the opening exceeded by far the expectations. I am more than grateful to everyone who made the affair such a big success. I want to especially thank the state, county and town police for their fine assistance."

The members of the Lions Club attended the affair in a body, and presented Mr. Wheat with a dollar bill autographed by all the members. They came in a 1915 Chevrolet, owned by Edgar Rohr.

Beautiful flowers displayed throughout the showroom and entrance building attested to the congratulations and good wishes extended by a host of friends and business associates.

Music by the Blue Mt. Boys was enjoyed during the evening but square dances as planned were few and far between because of the vast crowd.

HOW ARE PRESCRIPTION PRICES DETERMINED?

The cost of medical care has increased along with that of other necessities of life. Moreover, sickness seems to strike most frequently at a time when it is the most difficult to pay. In recognition of this situation, we are pleased to publicize our prescription pricing policy. We do not offer bargains, nor do we claim to undersell. Prescription prices are determined by the cost of ingredients and operating expense. Our prices are as low as efficient service and quality drugs will permit. Above all, they are fair.

You've Got To Hand It To Sandy

Sandy Johnson's wife "Tiny" suddenly asks him at breakfast the other morning "Why don't you build me some bluebird houses?"

"What for?" asks Sandy. "Why for bluebirds, of course" says Tiny. "We always had 'em at home when I was a girl. May sound silly—but I sorta miss 'em."

Well, I know how busy Sandy's been lately and the thought of taking time out to build birdhouses could have made a lot of men blow their top. But not Sandy. He says, "No, Tiny. It doesn't sound silly. I think it's a wonderful idea—we're going to have bluebirds—and I'm starting on some birdhouses tonight."

From where I sit, we could do with more understanding people like Sandy—and Tiny, too. He respects her likings, and she respects his. He likes a temperate glass of beer now and then—and although Tiny sticks to coffee, whatever Sandy likes is O.K. with her. They live and let live—and that's why they live so happily.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC

So many of the younger folks of our community are "enjoying" the measles these days. So many of them have been so very ill but we know after they are up again they will be so glad to know they won't have to go through with that again. Among those who have them now are Kenny Shepherd, Jimmy Campbell, Betty Corbin, James Wood.

The Cowarts keep the office at the Shepherd Trailer Park so have met a lot of our Nokesville folks while they visited in Sebring. They brought up a load of lovely and very delicious citrus fruit. It is their first trip north and their first sight of apple trees, our delightful "garlic", mountains, etc., and all the other things that are typically Virginian.

WOMEN'S WORK

The meeting of the Women's Work of the Nokesville Church of the Brethren was well attended on Wednesday afternoon when forty-nine were present including the Brethren folks. Scout Troop To Be Formed In Community

Nokesville is to have a Boy Scout Troop. Not in the dim future, but in the near future. Everyone interested in the welfare of boys in Nokesville has been convinced that a Scout Troop will prove a good thing for the whole farming community. Above all it means fun for the boys this summer when they have finished chores.

There will be a first meeting of all boys who wish to become Scouts on Tuesday, May 1, at the house, Nokesville, Edward A. Bell, field scout executive. Boy Scouts of America, will be the same time a Scoutmaster will be chosen. The meeting will last for one hour. Mr. Powell will be the Volunteer Fire Department representative.

It is probable that the Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor the troop. The organization work is at present being done by Percy Noel, counselor. The scoutmaster has not yet been named.

Already enough boys have registered for scouts to form a troop, and it is expected that next week there will be more. Jeffery Noel has been being the first scout in Nokesville. He applied for registration months ago, recently fulfilling the requirements and was accepted.

It makes your dollars talk great good sense!

When you look at the times we live in... and then take a look at this new Chrysler Windsor... you might almost think we'd had advance information and special-built this car just to fit these times!

Certainly it treats your hard-earned and tight-stretched dollars with a respect that's hard to find in a good many things you buy. To begin with, the Windsor line is the least-priced of the three lines of cars we build at Chrysler. To buy one gets you all the basic goodness Chrysler engineering means, at the very lowest cost. That's good sense in itself.

In powerplant, your Windsor brings you Chrysler Spitfire... one of the truly great engines in the whole bright history of America's motor cars. Time-proved and owner-beloved, it would be hard to put your money on a sounder friend than this to live and travel with you through the months ahead!

As to comfort, Windsor brings you the amazing travel bonus all Chrysler owners get this year... the revolutionary new Oriflow shock absorber. With more than twice the shock-absorbing power of any other in the world, this amazing new device keeps wheels steady on the road, and riders steady in their seats.

As you can see, it is no idle claim that this car makes very special sense in these unusual times. But why not get the whole good story at first hand? Why not go see your Chrysler Dealer, very soon?

Beautiful to look at...
Beautiful to drive!

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA
State Corporation Commission
AT RICHMOND, APRIL 9, 1951
CASE NO. 8893
COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA
At the Relation of
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION
VS.

VIRGINIA GAS DISTRIBUTION CORPORATION

THIS DAY came again the Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation, by Counsel, and filed herein its petition, requesting that this proceeding be reopened and reset upon the Commission's docket, and represented unto the Commission that an emergency, likely to affect the health, safety and welfare of the people of the State, exists which necessitates the adoption by the applicant of rules and regulations enabling it to limit and restrict natural gas for space heating in new construction, and that by reason thereof, an amendment to the rules and regulations heretofore filed by applicant and approved by the Commission, is necessary and advisable, and presented a proposed amendment in the following words and figures, to-wit:

"RULE 2. The Company shall not be required to supply natural gas service to any consumer, present or prospective, in the state of Virginia for new or additional equipment designed to provide gas space heating in any building, unless and until, in the judgment of the Company, it has sufficient gas therefor, or unless proof is furnished to the Company that:

"(a) Gas-fired heating equipment was registered with the Company and the approval for the installation of such equipment was given by the Company prior to the effective date of this order; or

"(b) In the case of new construction which is a designed for gas space heating appliances, the same was commenced prior to March 1, 1951, or a binding contract for such construction has been entered into prior to date last aforesaid. Copies of such contracts must be furnished to and registered with the Company on or before ten (10) days after the effective date hereof and accompanied by an affidavit of the parties to such contract that same was in good faith, entered into prior to March 1, 1951. If, in the latter event, the structure for which such service is desired is not substantially started (such as foundation completed or other evidence of bona fide intention to complete as rapidly as construction will permit) by June 1, 1951, Company shall not be required to furnish gas service for such equipment.

"Provided, further, that when, in the judgment of the Company, the anticipated supply of gas is sufficient to meet the requirements of such deferred new customers, gas service for such new or additional gas-designed space heating equipment shall be supplied in the order in which applications for such service are registered with the Company, if the volumes involved and the appliances and equipment are first approved by the Company which may, in its discretion, without regard to the order of applications give preference to:

"(a) Medical hardship cases where such hardship cases are supported by evidence satisfactory to the Company that the hardship claimed is actual; or

"(b) Newly constructed premises with heating equipment designed exclusively for gas."

IT IS ORDERED:

(1) That this proceeding be, and it is hereby, reopened and placed upon the docket of the Commission and set for hearing in the Courtroom of the Commission, in the State Office Building, Richmond, Virginia, at 10:00 A. M., May 2, 1951;

(2) That the proposed amendment to the rules and regulations, heretofore filed by applicant and approved by the Commission, be, and the same is hereby, filed, and that applicant be, and it is hereby authorized and empowered to place said amendment to its rules and regulations into effect until the further order of the Commission, pending said hearing;

(3) That applicant give notice of such hearing by publishing once a week for two successive weeks a copy of this order in one or more newspapers having general circulation in all of the counties, cities, and towns in which it operates, directing any and all persons interested herein to appear at the time and place mentioned in this order, to show cause, if any they can, why the Commission should not, as requested by the applicant, authorize and direct it to promulgate and observe said amendment to its rules and regulations; and

(4) That attested copies hereof be sent to Counsel for the applicant and to the Chief Engineer of the Commission.

Many Expressions of Praise For Week-Day Religious Education

By Frances Owens

Brentsville District has responded well to the program of Week-Day Religious Education in the schools this year. Her quota was set at $900. To date the sum of $780 has been sent in to the county treasurer. The year ends in July. The people are very much interested in this work.

Clay Wood

Clay Wood, a dairy farmer and superintendent of the Nokesville Methodist Sunday School writes: "Our Week-day Religious Educational Association is rendering an invaluable service to children everywhere, more especially to the children in the rural areas. Many children who live in the more distant parts of our county have no means of transportation to and from Sunday Schools; therefore, they would be deprived of the privilege of receiving any religious training if it were not for the present program of Week-Day Religious Education which is so ably being conducted in our public schools. Thanks to our county organization, to our local committee, and to our most efficient instructor, Miss Hazel Saunders."

Mrs. George Jones

Mrs. George Jones, teacher in the Aden United Brethren Sunday School, writes: "As one looks around at the boys and girls of today, you realize they are the leaders of tomorrow. These leaders will need a stalwart faith and all the knowledge of God they can get from the Holy Word. I believe the Week-Day Religious Education is one of the quickest and most thorough ways of teaching all boys and girls the fundamentals of their Bibles."

Mrs. Hallie Fleming

Mrs. Hallie Fleming, teacher in the Greenwich Presbyterian Church, writes: "Having had the pleasure of sitting in on Miss Saunders' classes I feel that she is doing a wonderful work, and that Week-Day Religious Education is one of the most worth-while investments. She has so many in her classes that are not reached by any Sunday School. I'm sure that those that do go to Sunday School feel that they gain a lot from her classes too."

Mrs. L. J. Bowman

Mrs. L. J. Bowman, who has worked in the County Religious Education work since 1931 writes:

"Recently I came across some old records of the County S. S. Association dating back to December of 1934 and thought it would be interesting to recall some of the advancements that have been made in the field of Religious Education since that time. As has the total populations of our County increased, so has the work of Religious Education in the schools. In 1931, 2,517 people were enrolled in Sunday School.

"In 1935, Miss Emma Perkins, of Wooster, Ohio, was the first teacher to be hired to teach religion in our schools. She worked for nine months and her salary was $900, plus $163.71 for expenses.

"In 1937, Miss Hazel Saunders, a county resident, was hired as part-time worker at a salary of $900. During the years of 1936-1939, the average attendance in her classes was 698. The enrollment this year is 828 which represents 90 percent of the children to which the class is made available. Miss Saunders' salary now is $2600.00 a year. Many children have gone through the classes Miss Saunders has taught. Many children, as they 'grow out' of the Religious Education class have been sorry they cannot keep attending. We believe much that is being taught by Miss Saunders will be long remembered by her pupils. One eleven-year old boy goes home each week and shares with his family the Tuesday's lesson as taught by Miss Saunders. We are sure this happens in many homes throughout the County.

"Many of those who helped to found the work of Religious Education in the schools have been active in seeing it progress for nearly 20 years, and as we continue to be interested in its growth, we feel that all the time and effort spent has been well worth while.

Expresses Thanks

I wish to thank the people, church and civic organizations, and business establishments of Manassas District for their generous support of the Weekday Religious Education appeal for funds. We now lack only two or three hundred dollars to complete our quota. A total of eight churches, four business establishments, four clubs and

Much Interest Is Shown In Cub Scouting

Many parents, who are interested in having their sons in Cub Scouting, met at Grace Methodist Church, Tuesday night, to learn what is involved in this work.

Gene D. Carstater, representing the Fairfax District Committee in the Scouting movement, was present as instructor. He used charts and movies to reveal the manner in which Cub Scouting is being carried on. Two more training conferences will be held on Tuesday nights, May 1 and May 8. All interested parents with sons 8, 9, or 10 years of age are invited to be present. The boys may come but this training period is planned for the parent.

It has been emphasized that, while the Men's Bible Class of Grace Church is sponsoring the Cub Pack, the work will be carried on in a nondenominational manner as a community project. W. M. Johnson is serving as temporary president of the group.

seven individuals have contributed to this worthy cause.

One former teacher in the Manassas schools wrote to me as follows: "Religious education as taught by Miss Saunders meant much to my students and me when I taught in Manassas. I miss it so much here in my present position of teaching." I believe if more people could see the results of this program they would gladly contribute.

E. E. Rohr, Treasurer

George Sonofrank writes: "Religious Education in the schools is desirable because it gives each child an opportunity to receive instruction in the way of right living as given to all in the Bible. In this changing world of unrest and war and threatened wars and destruction, economic changes and moral corruption of men in high positions of leadership, we need something to anchor to: something on which to place our trust, and faith, and hope, for a better life and peace and good-will among men. Jesus Christ has shown us the way. Let us give each child an opportunity to know and love this Jesus who has promised those who serve Him faithfully Eternal Life without sorrow or tears and whose way of life will make all of us better citizens of our country."
