FARMER INSTITUTE TRAIN THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MR. DAISH AT OLD HOME REACHES CENTURY MARK BENEVOLENT CONSPIRACY THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Exhibit of Agricultural Products Excites Admiration of Numerous Spectators.

Commissioner Geo. W. Koiner, of the Virginia Department of Agriculture, with his assistants, Messrs. A. R. Billwood, of South Richmond; A. W. Drinkard, of the Experiment Station at Blacksburg; C. T. Rice, expert dairyman, of Bedford county; W. E. Gross, agent of the Land and Industrial Department of the Southern Railway Company, and Dr. R. K. Flanagan, of the State Health Department, in charge of the Farmers' Institute Train, arrived here Sunday, ahead of schedule time, and on Monday morning at 10 o'clock began the exhibit of farm products produced under scientific methods, which was followed shortly thereafter by a lecture in Conner's Opera House, on dairying, fruit growing and farm sanitation.

In Commissioner Koiner's car was displayed a chart under the caption "Watch Virginia Grow," which showed that the acreage in cultivation in 1900, was 4,040,000, and in 1912, 3,500,000; value of the corn crop in 1900, $14,000,000; average yield per acre, 35 bushels, and in 1912, $34,500,000; average yield per acre, 25 bushels. It will be noted that though there were 540,000 more acres in corn cultivation in 1900, than in 1912, the value of the crop was increased $20,500,000, and the yield per acre was increased nine bushels, the great difference being accounted for by the present scientific methods of farming. The chart further showed that the value of the wheat crop in 1900, was $6,700,000, and in 1912, $10,000,000, an increase of $3,300,000. It showed that the value of the hay crop for 1900, was $7,800,000, and in 1912, $13,000,000, an increase of $5,200,000; that the value of the tobacco crop in 1900, was $7,200,000, and in 1912, $13,400,000, an increase of $6,200,000; that the value of the trucks and peanut crops in 1900, were $3,000,000, and in 1912, $18,000,000; that the value of live stock and products in 1900, was $44,000,000, and in 1912, $90,000,000; that the value of orchard fruits in 1900, was $1,600,000, and in 1912, $4,000,000, an increase of $2,400,000; miscellaneous crops in 1900, were valued at $1,900,000, and in 1912, $4,600,000, an increase of $2,700,000, and lumber and minerals increased from $33,000,000 in 1900, to $60,000,000 in 1912. The grand total was $125,000,000 for 1900, and $245,000,000 for 1912, or a total increase during the ten years in which Commissioner Koiner has been in charge of the State Department of Agriculture, of $121,900,000.

In the front section of the second car was displayed a small gasoline engine with various apparatus showing its possibilities in adding to the conveniences of the farm, in the way of pumping, butter-making and wood-sawing, at a cost of $50, and a model of a modern silo, so essential to the farmer in point of economy.

In the main section of this car was displayed farm products of all kinds, which were grown on the Bellwood farm, in Chesterfield county, seven miles from Richmond, and without an ounce of commercial fertilizers. There were five separate samples of alfalfa, taken from the farm last season, with roots taken therefrom at the age of two years, measuring six and a half feet in length, and which Mr. Bellwood states is one of the most import-

Meeting Saturday, Likely to Result in Much Good in the Locality Homes and Schools.

The ladies listened to Mr. Miller at the Courthouse in the a. m., and enjoyed a fine dinner served by the M. E. Church ladies, after which they were addressed by Dr. Quarles on "Co-operation" in general. Since that was the keynote of the whole session it was further discussed in detail and along special lines by Miss Osbourne, Mrs. Larkia, Mr. Tyler and Mr. Round while many questions were put by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

On the whole it was a meeting that may produce much future good in the locality homes and schools. Many said it was the best meeting the ladies have ever held—thanks to local speakers every one of which were first-class. The ladies were very sensible in the core and showed great enthusiasm for a pull-together spirit in order that co-operation may work out the best possible in the home and school.

Election did not go off so well. Time flew, the session being all too short to get then the topics so freely discussed and so much on the minds and hearts of Superintendent Tyler, teachers and patrons and friends of the school. The vice presidents will be elected next session. Only three offices were filled by re-election of President, Secretary and Treasurer and while being grateful for the honor yet the trio feel it a bad mistake not to introduce new blood into the organization and pass the honor and the labor around. The officers elected will do their best to make next year better by far than the last two but they will need the co-operation of every one of the forty-five members to do it.

Mrs. Barkin has given the cause a great boost, and relieved the crowded condition in Ruffner and the much extra work necessarily caused pupils and teachers to feed and seat the Institute, by extending to the Auxiliary a hearty invitation to meet for next month's program in the Manassas Agricultural High School Building.

Miss Osbourne, as member of the Program Committee and as Principal of the High School forming an alliance with the Civic League and Auxiliary, has plans whereby every other month she brings to Manassas splendid speakers and programs pertaining to the welfare of the school and home.

The State aids much in this and its hoped every patron of Manassas schools will make it a point to come out and give Miss Osbourne and the entire force of teachers their hearty co-operation to improve school conditions.

Mr. Round and Superintendent Tyler have so often proven themselves "friends in need" and this was no exception to the rule. Both proved themselves, along with Dr. Quarles, very helpful and we extend to the trio an invitation to come again.

These little hints dropped on a train by two Clifton ladies—Mrs.

It was stated that has added to better than ever dreamed of. Watch future announcements for Mrs. Heath, of New York City, appearing in Manassas. This will be a rare treat to hear a woman whose name is a household word in American towns and cities and who is at the head of the movement that has done so much for the American home.

Several Washington ladies have asked to be informed of her appearance on Manassas program

In Company With Daughter of Former Partner, O. P. Chappell, Visits Familiar Scenes.

Mr. S. S. Daish, of Washington, in company with his niece, Mrs. Susie Virginia Page, and her daughter, Miss Genevieve, of Syracuse, N. Y., were in Manassas Wednesday, visiting familiar scenes. Their visits included the O. P. Chappell place, the former home of Mrs. Page, near Spriggs' Ford, now owned by Brown & Hooff.

At the close of the war among the states, Mr. Chappell and Mr. Daish, his brother-in-law, came to Manassas and engaged in the lumber and contract business, Mr. Chappell furnishing the lumber from his saw mill and building the hotel kept by Harvey Varnes and situated at the corner of Main street and Railroad avenue—the same building owned and occupied by Mr. Geo. W. Payne at the time it was destroyed by fire.

While here Mr. Daish called on the editor of THE JOURNAL, one of the very few persons now living whom he knew when living in Manassas, and to keep in touch with what is going on in the community in which he spent several years, he added his name to the subscription list of THE JOURNAL.

CAPTAIN FRANK WELLS

Man Who Successfully Waged War Against Army Canteen Will Lecture Sunday Night.

Captain Frank Wells, who was President McKinley's Chaplain in the U. S. Army in the Philippines, and who was the man who waged warfare against the army canteen and succeeded in having it abolished from army circles, will deliver an address in the Manassas Baptist church next Sunday, March 2, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Capt. Wells is highly commended by the clergy and press and is noted as one of the most thoroughly traveled Baptist preachers in the world, his itinerary including a three month's stay in Jerusalem. He enjoys the reputation of having traced the steps of Jesus from the manger to the Mount of Ascension. This noted Divine should be greeted by a large congregation which doubtless would be highly entertained by his interesting address. The admission will be free but a silver offering will be taken.

So that a delegation may plan to come up from the city thus bringing other big women into our midst and women consumers. Why not plan thus to make the meeting practical and bring the producer and consumer together to the profit of both? We had anticipated Mrs. Heath putting the ladies in touch with good trade and sale for country stuff and by Washington women—consumers—attending extra good markets may be found in our own nearby city for country produce. The ladies are interested in buying and selling. Anyone reading this should be sure to attend the of January 1913 will see the work in outline. Read it ere the Program Committee arranges a date with Mrs. Heath.

A box of pig tobacco of over a century old, bearing the date of 1812, well preserved in appearance but somewhat tasteless, was what was found in tearing down an old barn on the Bowen estate in Albemarle county this week.

Mrs. Margaretha Dorsey Newton Celebrates Century Birthday Sunday.

Mrs. Margaretha Dorsey Newton, whose daughter, Mrs. Henry C. Cushing, was, for a number of years a resident of Prince William county and who now owns a farm near Sudley church from which she donated two acres for Sudley church cemetery, celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of her birth at her home in Westminster, Md., Sunday.

Mrs. Newton was born in Georgia on February 23, 1813. She is a daughter of Francis and Sarah Dorsey. Her mother died when she was a child and her father, who was a native of Washington county, Maryland, went back with his two motherless children, Mrs. Newton and her sister, Eliza, to his old home in Maryland, where they grew to womanhood. Eliza married Will Kemp, of Baltimore, and they removed to Mississippi, where her descendants are still living. Their father married again and his daughter, Margaretha, spent some years with her uncle, Dr. Frederick Dorsey, a physician of Hagerstown. She married Joseph Morrison Newton, a native of Berkeley county, then in old Virginia, September 19, 1835.

They had 15 children, of whom only 4 are living: Arthur Newton, of Philadelphia; H. Dorsey Newton, of New York city; Mrs. Henry C. Cushing, of Westminster, and Mrs. Ella Saunders, of Bristol, Va.-Tenn.

The venerable lady has ten grand-children, fifteen great-grand-children and five great-great-grand-children.

The husband of Mrs. Newton was a teacher. With his family he went to Westminster in 1866 and became an instructor, with the late Rev. Thomas J. Ward in the school from which developed Western Maryland College. In 1868 Professor Newton was elected examiner and superintendent of the public schools of Carroll county, Md., and was annually re-elected for 12 or 15 years. He died in 1884, at the age of 77 years. Since then Mrs. Newton has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Clara Cushing, widow of Rev. Dr. H. C. Cushing, formerly pastor of the Methodist Protestant church of Newmarket, Md., where Mrs. R. W. Merchant and Miss Ida M. Liddle, of this place, attended in their youth, has resided in different localities until the last 10 or 12 years, which have been spent in Westminster. While physically feeble, Mrs. Newton retains her mental faculties to a remarkable extent.

Mrs. Newton's son, H. Dorsey, is head of the publishing house of Newton & Co., of New York. He was educated at Western Maryland College and was for a short time engaged in mercantile business in Baltimore. He then went to New York city, where he founded the publishing house. He attended his mother's centennial anniversary, which was celebrated in a quiet way at the home of her daughter.

Mrs. Newton's sister, Mrs. Kemp, died about 50 years ago and she has outlived many of her relatives who were her juniors in years. The late Mrs. George S. Foulke, of Westminster, was her half-sister, and the late Edward Dorsey, of Williamsport, Md., her half-brother.

The venerable lady received many congratulations, gifts of flowers and other appropriate remembrances.

It may not be generally known in Prince William county that while George Washington was born on the 22nd day of February, three excellent natives of this county claim the same illustrious date as their own natal day.

Among the many virtues assigned by history to the "Father of his country" "benevolent conspiracy" does not appear. It was reserved for Mrs. Mary V. Hulfish, Mrs. Garnet and Mr. Wm. Shirley, the above mentioned natives of Prince William, to exemplify this virtue. What an arch-conspiracy it was appears in what follows.

The undersigned, who has pastoral oversight of Antioch and Haymarket Baptist churches, received a pressing invitation to attend the annual combination birthday celebration at the hospitable home of Mrs. Hulfish, in Haymarket, on Saturday last. Being a modest man, he could not persuade himself that his presence could contribute to the enjoyment of the occasion, seeing that birthday parties naturally emphasize family relationship. It was a gracious experience, however, to be remembered and desired at such a time, and so with grateful spirit and in an altogether unsuspecting frame of mind, he set out for Haymarket.

The meeting and the greeting to say nothing of the eating (equal to any State dinner ever served) were all attended by the grace of simplicity.

After dinner the company gathered for a season of song and no sign of paralyzing surprise was anywhere in evidence. Suddenly the doorway was darkened by a tall form clad in colonial garb, and a striking reproduction of George Washington stood among us bowing and smiling.

Throughout the afternoon, friends came trooping in, carrying in their hands what appeared to be birthday offerings who were received at the door with a chivalrous courtesy that could not have been surpassed by the immortal George himself. The psychological moment having arrived, George Washington, with stately dignity, proceeded to address the pastor and to inform him that the community had suffered enough from his ministrations, and had determined to relieve its feelings by administering a pounding he would not soon forget. It was a benevolent conspiracy from first to last, generously contrived, skillfully managed, graciously executed.

To the dear celebrators of many birthdays, to George Washington, to Martha Washington, to Nellie Custis and their assistants and to the esteemed representatives of all the churches in Haymarket, I herewith make most sincere and thankful acknowledgment.

To the captious and cynical inquiry "can women keep a secret?" I reply—go to Haymarket.

How Americans Spend Their Money.

It is estimated that Americans spend each year: For millinery, $30,000,000; patent medicines, $30,000,000; temperance drinks, $120,000,000; Tobacco, $1,200,000,000; jewelry, $800,000,000; automobiles, $500,000,000; confectionery, $200,000,000; chewing gum, $3,000,000; foreign missions, $12,000,000; home church work, $250,000,000 and intoxicating liquors, $2,000,000,000.

February Meeting Brings Large Attendance—Officers for Ensuing Year Elected.

BY PROF. H. F. BUTTON
(Director Manassas Agricultural School)

The February meeting of the Farmers' Institute brought out a large attendance of farmers to elect officers and discuss lime and fertilizers with Mr. H. A. Miller, the expert from the office of Farm Management of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The following officers were elected: President, Capt. J. B. Beverly, The Plains; secretary and treasurer, Prof. H. F. Button, Manassas, and vice-presidents—Messrs. Westwood Hutchison, Manassas district; A. D. Bauserman, Clifton district; Frank Jones, Fairfax district; Corbin Thompson, Occoquan district; R. A. Rust, Gainesville district; Cecil Smith, Brentsville district, and L. F. Merrill, Cotes district. The executive committee consists of Capt. J. B. Beverly, Prof. H. F. Button and Messrs. S. C. Harley, W. I. Steere and Howard Myers.

A vote of thanks was extended to the outgoing president, Mr. Westwood Hutchison, by Mr. W. B. Dook, and seconded by Professor Button, who spoke of the many sacrifices which Mr. Hutchison had made to attend the meetings and preside over their deliberations. To Mr. Hutchison more than to any other one factor is due the great success of the institute during the past two years.

Mr. Miller then spoke of the immense loss of soil fertility by the washing away of soil which he said could be prevented by leaving the ground covered with some green plant. Corn, especially in its preparation and cultivation, unlocks much plant food which is easily leached and washed away by the winter rains. If land is poor, rye is the best winter cover, but as it is improved in fertility crimson clover may be grown which not only prevents washing and adds organic matter, but actually adds a considerable amount of nitrogen. As an example of the cumulative power of clover Mr. Miller cited a case of a Virginia farmer who was able to raise but 12 bushels of corn per acre by plowing down weeds and applying 200 pounds of acid phosphate per acre. As the soil was too poor to raise crimson clover, rye was sown and plowed under in the spring. The results year by year are thus shown:

Weeds and 200 pounds acid phosphate 12 bushels first year.
Crimson clover and 200 pounds acid phosphate 23 bushels second year.
Crimson clover and 200 pounds acid phosphate 36 bushels third year.
Crimson clover and 200 pounds acid phosphate 58 bushels fourth year.
Crimson clover and 200 pounds acid phosphate 45 bushels fifth year.
Crimson clover and 200 pounds acid phosphate 50 bushels sixth year.

Thus, in five years with an expense of only the seed of the clover, the owner was able to increase his yield by more than four fold.

Much of our fertilizer is wasted because there is not enough organic matter in the soil to allow the plant to use it. The fertilizing elements most needed in the soils of this region are phosphoric acid and nitrogen. The farmer should aim to produce his own nitrogen by legumes. It is doubtful whether the potash in mixed fertilizers is worth what it costs. Mr. Miller advised the use of acid phosphate to reinforce stable manure, using about a pound per day for each animal of a thousand pounds weight.

The afternoon session was almost entirely taken up by a discussion of lime which Mr. Miller presented with great clearness. Lime is the oldest of fertilizers, marl having been used since before the Christian Era. Its use has always been irregular and seems to be popular with alternate generations. It affects the land in a number of ways—first, by supplying lime for plant food; second, by stimulating the bacteria which gather nitrogen and set free nitrates, and third, by improving the structure of the soil and breaking down clods.

One hundred pounds of raw lime, as taken from the ground, becomes 56 pounds of quicklime. This takes up 18 pounds of water and forms 74 pounds of slaked or hydrated lime. The most exhaustive experiment with lime, ever undertaken in this country, has been going on for 15 years in Pennsylvania. Certain plots received burned lime, others unburned lime, others manure and others lime and manure. The value of the crops per acre was as follows:

No treatment, $63; burnt lime, $58; raw lime, $68; lime and manure, $91; and manure, $81. This shows that the burned lime alone was an injury while the best results came from lime and manure. At other places where the experiments have been tried, the results have favored the use of raw lime instead of burned or caustic lime.

BANKERS ANNUAL MEET

Group Three, Virginia Bankers' Association Hold Annual Meeting in Harrisonburg.

According to announcement made in the last week's issue of THE JOURNAL, Group Three, of the Virginia Bankers' Association, composed of the banks of the Valley and those east of the Blue Ridge mountains, met in the Harrisonburg Daily News building last Saturday morning, February 22nd.

In the absence of the chairman, Mr. Geo. E. Warfield, cashier of the First National Bank of Alexandria, the vice-chairman, Mr. C. H. Chandler, cashier of the First National Bank of Harrisonburg, presided. The roll call showed seventy-five delegates present, the Manassas National Bank being represented by its cashier, Mr. Westwood Hutchison, and one of its directors, Mr. C. E. Nash, to whom THE JOURNAL is indebted for this report.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Geo. F. Cook, pastor of the Baptist church of Harrisonburg. The address of welcome was made by Dr. B. F. Wilson, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Harrisonburg, and the response by Mr. Carroll Pierce, vice-president of the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria.

The committee, appointed at the last meeting of the association to formulate and report some plan which would prove acceptable to all banks of the group as to the interest on savings deposits, consisting of Messrs. Westwood Hutchison, chairman, Taylor Burke, of Burke & Herbert, bankers of Alexandria, and W. J. Dingleline, cashier of the Rockingham National of Harrisonburg, made its report and the discussion of this subject which followed showed such diversity of methods practiced by the banks in the group that on motion, the report was referred back to the committee for report at the next meeting.

The subject of taxation was discussed in an able manner by Messrs. Walter Scott, secretary of the association; Dr. Wilson and Mr. Hutchison and the matter was referred to the association's committee on legislation. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Messrs. C. H. Chandler, chairman; Westwood Hutchison, vice-chairman, and F. S. Maphis, cashier of the Peoples Bank of Strasburg, secretary-treasurer. Messrs. W. M. Hillery, cashier of the Farmers & Merchants National Bank of Staunton, and Arthur Herbert, of Burke & Herbert, of Alexandria, were added to the advisory committee.

At the conclusion of the meeting the association adjourned to the Masonic Temple hall where a delightful and bountiful banquet was in waiting and which was gracefully and courteously served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Harrisonburg Hospital Relief Fund. By request of the chairman of the association, Mr. Hutchison served as toastmaster. Among those who responded to toasts were Messrs. Walter Scott, George E. Sipe, local attorney of Harrisonburg; Carroll Pierce, W. P. Shelton, cashier of the First National Bank of Richmond, and Dr. Wilson.

Owing to the illness of his little son, Mr. G. Raymond Rattliff, of Manassas and who was named as one of those invited to speak at the meeting of the association, was unable to attend. The following resolutions, urged in a vigorous speech by Mr. Dingleline, were adopted: That we, the members of this group, will discontinue granting overdrafts on our respective banks as far as possible. That members of this group recommend a change in the present tax laws of Virginia, so that individual deposits in bank be exempt from taxation and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the tax legislation committee of the Virginia Bankers' Association and that the banks in Group Three take up the matter with the State Senators and members of the House of Delegates and urge the necessity of such relief.

The time and place for the next annual meeting was left to the advisory committee.

Senior League of Occoquan Celebrates Washington's Birthday.

The Senior School League, of Occoquan, held its monthly meeting on Friday night, February 21st, to celebrate the anniversary of George Washington—a day earlier than the proper date in accordance with circumstances. Owing to the absence of the president and vice-president, Mr. L. Ledman, the school superintendent, presided.

After the meeting was called to order, the invocation was offered by Capt. Thos. Seelman. The program, consisting of recitations and songs, was greatly enjoyed. The three best compositions were selected from the Occoquan Graded School, of which Mr. R. C. Haydon and Miss Foster are teachers, and were read by Misses Rebecca Janney, Margarette Hammill and Irene Ledman, respectively.

A reading on the life and ancestors of Washington and his thanksgiving proclamation, an interesting paper, was read by Mrs. J. Hood Weedon. A paper, descriptive of Mt. Vernon, home of Washington and incidents connected therewith, and which was read by Mrs. C. Lee Starkweather, excited much interest. The rendering of the national anthems—"America" and "Star Spangled Banner," by the school, with Miss Hattie Seelman at the organ, elicited much applause.

At the conclusion of the literary and musical part of the program, the refreshment committee took a hand and a delightful buffet luncheon was served, after which the attendants departed for their respective homes, having had a most enjoyable occasion.

The next meeting of the League will take place March 28th, and the committee of arrangements consists of Messdames Tyson Janney, A. B. Rogers and C. Lee Starkweather. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

QUIVIVE.

"Rat Simpson of the V. M. I."

There is a story of unusual interest to residents of Manassas in the March issue of The Argo magazine, now on sale at all news-dealers. The story, "Rat Simpson of the V. M. I.," is written by Mr. Little McClung, a native Virginian, whose view point and sympathies are eminently Southern. The story deals with the famous charge of the mule boys of the Virginia Military Institute at New Market, and tells in a vividly realistic manner of the unexpected midnight call to arms, the forced march to Staunton, and the great heroism of the boys as they hurled themselves into the fray.

Readers will find this story a gem of its particular kind—one that will be remembered for a long time. Mr. Sheppard suffers Loss by Fire.

Mr. E. H. Sheppard, traveling salesman for the Cary Shoe Company, of Richmond, and who has a home at Dewey's store, near Occoquan, met with a fire in one of his business premises, which has puzzled him as to its origin. The fire was discovered in an expensive dresser which, together with the other contents of the room, was destroyed. The only tenable theory, according to Mr. Sheppard, is that of spontaneous combustion. The loss was estimated at $206, which amount was paid in full by the Royal Insurance Company, represented locally by Mr. W. N. Lipscomb.

Amount of the forage crops, and when well taken care of is an excellent money-producer. Fine samples of crimson and sapling clover, timothy and cow-pea straw were shown and their uses to the best possible advantage explained. The legumes, other than alfalfa, explained Mr. Bellwood, are: Crimson clover, white-blooming crimson clover, sapling clover, alsike, cow peas, soja beans and vetch, of this latter the cultivation is principally for soil improvement. Samples of oats, wheat, barley, corn and rice, twenty-five bushels of the latter being raised on one acre. It is claimed that the Bellwood farm is the only one in the State upon which rice is grown. The lack of space prohibits an adequate description of the splendid exhibit of farm products contained in the Institute Train and of the explanation of same which goes to show that under proper farming methods there can be made to "grow two blades of grass where one is now grown."

Mr. C. T. Rice's lecture on dairying was full of good reasoning and was listened to with much interest, as was also that of Mr. Drinkard, who gave valuable information on spraying and fruit growing. Dr. R. K. Flanagan closed the series of lectures by a vigorous attack upon the unsanitary condition of the majority of farms and mapped out proper methods of sanitation and the prevention of the dread diseases that take such heavy life toll annually.

The Bellwood farm is owned by the father, Mr. Jas. Bellwood, and his three sons, Messrs. A. R., E. C. and F. J. Bellwood, and is one of, if not the most, productive of any in the State, although when they took charge of it a few years since, the soil was almost impoverished. The yield from this farm, in 1912, was approximately $14,000 and the net profit $9,200.

The Institute Train officials complained that some editors of the country newspapers were criticizing and condemning the Institute Train method of disseminating information to farmers and characterized the proceeding as a fraud and a useless expenditure of the State's finances. It is not, perhaps, known to these editors, said Mr. Billwood, that the State does not pay one dime towards the itinerary of the Institute Train and that the entire expense is borne by the Southern Railway Company for a two-fold purpose—to benefit the farmers, enabling them to greatly increase their farm products at greatly reduced cost, and to increase thereby the Company's revenue through transportation of such greatly increased farm and dairy products.

THE TAX REPORT AT RICHMOND.

The recent report of the grand jury of the Hustings Court of the city of Richmond is being commended by the press throughout the state.

While the diligent enquiry of the jury added nearly $8,000,000 to the taxable values of Richmond the jury declares that the tax-evaders, to a very great extent, are those who misunderstood the ambiguous tax laws, and that the system rather than the individuals is to be blamed for their dereliction.

It is correctly stated in the report that the tax on bonds and mortgages and other evidences of debt is often double taxation, pure and simple, and should be abolished, because it is unjust and leads to deception.

The jury makes out a strong case against our present laws relating to the taxation of "capital in business" as applied to manufacturers, joint stock companies and merchants.

RELIGION OF THE PRESIDENTS.

Perhaps it is not generally known that there has not yet been a Baptist president of the United States. The apportionment among the respective religious denominations is as follows:

Eight Episcopalians: Washington, Madison, Monroe, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Pierce and Arthur. Six Presbyterians: Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Lincoln, Cleveland, Harrison, and to these Woodrow Wilson will soon be added.

RESULT OF A DASTARDLY PLOT.

Despite the emphatic statement by the Huerta-Diaz government that ex-President Madero and ex-Vice President Jose Suarez met their death, at the hands of an unauthorized mob, while being transferred from their prison house to the penitentiary, the popular conception is that they were the victims of a dastardly plot to get them beyond any possible future interference with the present government's plans.

The Huerta-Diaz government must sooner or later pay the penalty for the dastardly crime committed upon their helpless and submissive prisoners, and this penalty will mean their overthrow or an intervention by the United States government.

SENATOR THOMAS S. MARTIN.

There appears to be a determined effort upon the part of certain Senators to oust Senator Thomas S. Martin as Chairman of the upper branch of Congress and to install Senator Kern, of Indiana, in his place.

THE PREDICTED CABINET. An astute politician has at last wormed himself into the confidence of the Wilson advisory board, according to his way of thinking, and names Mr. Wilson's Cabinet, with a show of confidence, as follows:

It is not the "fair weather" friends, who put you on the back while the sunshine of peace and prosperity is shining, with all its divine effulgence, upon you, but those who stand by you, with unwavering fidelity and encouragement, as the tempest and the storm sweep over you, that should be the most highly esteemed and appreciated.

BRIEF LOCAL ITEMS

Mr. R. S. Hynson has been confined to his home for several days by a severe case of grippe. The Board of County Supervisors will meet in its room in the Courthouse tomorrow (Saturday) morning, at 10 o'clock. Our subscribers are reminded that THE JOURNAL's charges for ordinary notices and memoriams is twenty-five cents per inch. Paul, the little six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Herndon, who has been quite ill of grippe, has about recovered from his illness. Among the eight new post-office buildings authorized in an appropriation by the National Government, for Virginia, is one for Leesburg to cost $55,000. The Catharpin School Improvement League will hold an oyster and ice cream supper at Catharpin school house on Friday, March 14, beginning at 5 p. m. The many warm friends of Mr. W. H. W. Moran, former efficient editor of THE JOURNAL, will regret to learn of his extreme illness in his home near Manassas. We are in receipt this week of two beautifully illustrated and descriptive seed catalogues; one from T. W. Wood & Sons of Richmond, and J. Bologna & Son, of Baltimore. Mr. Silas Beerbower, who has resided near Brentsville, this county, for about two years, will leave here about March 10, for Uniontown, Pa., his former home, where he will locate. "Silver Locks," the race-horse owned by Howard Simpson, of Stafford county, and well known on the Virginia horse show circuit, was sold this week for $1,000 by John W. Waller, who purchased the horse from Mr. Simpson for $800. A hen house on the Fred Snooks place, near Chappell Spring, together with twenty five fowls of select breed, was totally destroyed by fire Friday night of last week. It is supposed that the fire originated from hot ashes placed close to the building. Mr. Maurice Goff, of Independent Hill, who sustained a broken leg when his horse took fright at an automobile, near Bradley, several weeks ago, was in town last Friday on crutches. His limb is rapidly regaining its strength, the young man says. The burning out of a fire in the colored settlement last night, so it is said, brought out the fire department but before the engine had gotten as far as Battle street the report reached Fire Chief Randall, that the danger of damage to property had passed. The condition of Mrs. Jas. L. Hooff, who has been extremely ill of pneumonia, in her home in Charleston, W. Va., is reported slightly improved. Her daughter, Mrs. W. Hill Brown, of Manassas, who was summoned to her bedside last week, is still with her. Miss Kate Judy, of Stafford county, has been elected president of the Student Government League, at Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, for the year 1913-14. This is the highest honor that can come to a Western girl.

Rev. Kensey Johns Hammond, rector of Immanuel Episcopal Church of Wilmington, Delaware, has resigned the rectory of that Church and has accepted a call to that of St. Stephen's Church in Culpeper, and will enter upon his duties with that Church April 1. Prof. A. B. Chandler, Jr., of the Fredericksburg Normal School, and who delivered the principal address at the Manassas High School Commencement last summer, was bitten by a dog last Sunday. The dog was suspected of rabies and its head was sent on for examination. A flock of wild geese passed over Manassas Tuesday night, headed in a northeasterly direction, and flying at such great altitude as to make their "honk honk" scarcely audible. Whether their migration to a colder climate indicates that winter is broken is a question. Mr. Silas Beerbower, who purchased Robert Molair a farm—a part of the Moregreen tract—near Brentsville, and who has resided upon the same for about two years, has sold it to Jas. Bean, of Luray, for $4,000, the purchaser to take possession on or about March 12. The ladies of the Manassas Chapter of the U. D. C. will give an entertainment in its chapter room in the M. I. C. building tonight (Friday) at which time an interesting history of Major Joseph Latimer, known in Confederate military circles as "The Boy Major," will be read. Mrs. Mae Pauline Sparks, of Bridgeport, N. J., national lecturer for the W. C. T. U., and a first cousin of Mrs. C. E. Nash, of Manassas, and considered one of the brightest speakers on the American platform, will deliver a lecture in the First Baptist Church at Alexandria Sunday afternoon. A movement is well under way to place a memorial window in old Aquia church, Stafford county, where George Washington frequently worshipped, in memory of Rev. Alexander Scott, the first rector of the parish, and the Rev. John Moncure, who was the rector when the church was built in 1751. The Alexandria High School quint was outclassed by the local team in Nicol hall Friday night, to a far greater extent than were the female quint of the student body of the same school, a few weeks ago on the same floor. The game was fast but clean and resulted in a score of 19 to 15 in favor of the home team. We are requested to state that our reporter was in error in stating, in the last issue of THE JOURNAL, that the negative, in the debate of students of the last year class of the Manassas graded school, was supported by Misses Leay-Haydon and Little Sutton, and that it was Miss Haydon and Miss Norma Young who supported the negative. The funeral of Mrs. John R. Hall, one of the most widely known and beloved women of lower Fairfax county, took place from Pohick church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Eversard Mendenhall, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. S. A. Wallace, D. D., of the Theological Seminary, officiating, and interment was made in the Pohick church cemetery. The Normal Training Class of the Manassas High School, under the supervision of Miss Myers, Grace Metz, Thelma Nash and Pearl Snow, in charge of its teacher, Miss Ella Heatwole, has, for the past two weeks been visiting the Normal and High Schools of Washington, going down in the morning and returning in the afternoon, for the purpose of observation of methods pursued in Normal training in the District of Columbia educational institutions.

There will be an entertainment in Athletic hall tonight, Feb. 28, for the benefit of the Manassas Fire Department fund. The entertainment will include fire-fighting motion picture films and an illustrated lecture in connection therewith. An admission price of 25 cents will be charged. The funds will be used in providing necessary equipment for the Fire Department and there should be a liberal patronage of this meritorious object. Washington's birthday was celebrated on February 21, by the Cherry Hill School in an interesting program consisting of recitations, readings and songs by the children, with a liberal attendance of patrons. The school is now practicing for a play entitled "The District School," which will be given in the near future for the benefit of the High School fund. There should be a liberal turnout to aid in the worthy object, and there doubtless will be. The High School basketball team left here today on No. 10, for Fredericksburg, where they will meet Fredericksburg High School tonight. Fredericksburg managed to nose out a two-point victory in the game on our floor but the M. H. S. team is hoping to show them a different tale down there. The following players took the trip: Capt. Adamson, and Moon, Hayden, Rice, Williams, Lewis, Long and Green. It will be gratifying to the teachers and public school officials of Prince William county to know that Prof. E. H. Russell, president of the Fredericksburg State Normal School, has been appointed by the State Board of Education, as conductor of the summer institute to be held in Fredericksburg during the coming July, as Prof. Russell is quite popular in this section of the state as well as in other sections. At the regular "shoot" of the Manassas Rod and Gun Club held on February 22, the following scores were made: R. Weir Waters, 17, D. B. Muddiman, 17, W. N. Warwick, 15, D. M. Pitts, 13, R. B. Cockrell, 12, H. C. Ryckman, 9, Richard Hettinger, 8, C. A. Sinclair, 7, G. W. Merchant, 4 and Ralph Gregory, 3. Waters and Muddiman were close contestants throughout the shoot as were also Ryckman and Hettinger, closing in a tie in both cases. Mr. W. N. Lipscomb, appearing on the ground too late to take part in the "shoot" of the Manassas Rod and Gun Club last week, the members present, thinking they would have a little fun, at the expense of the tardy member, gave him a chance, with his No. 20 gauge gun, at ten clay pigeons. Great was their surprise when Mr. Lipscomb broke nine of the inanimate targets accorded him and the laugh took a different turn from that expected. A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Manassas Industrial School for Colored Youth, of which Oscar Garrison Villard, of the New York Evening Post, is president, will take place tomorrow (Saturday) morning, beginning at 10 o'clock. At this meeting a final decision will be reached as to the proposed plan of reorganization and also as to such revision of the charter, constitution and by-laws as may be deemed advisable. Every board and association member has been specially requested to attend this

Aid to Washington Highway. Governor William Hodges Mann, last Friday, directed the payment of $10,000 to the Richmond-Washington Highway Commission, which amount was apportioned to Virginia by the National Government for good roads. The disposition of the funds was entirely in the hands of the governor, and he thought the best application of the same would be towards aiding the Highway Commission in building a road which would connect the State Capitol with that of the National government. ### NOTES FROM CLIFTON.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall attended our high school entertainment as well as Miss Rebecca Garrett.

Mrs. Coleman is visiting near Harpers Ferry, while Mr. Coleman is in the city on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards spent several days in our midst.

Mr. Steere, of Manassas, spent a pleasant day with Mr. Shaw. A queer thing exists in the friendship. Mr. Steere pioneered near Aberdeen, S. D., and farmed near James river, where, years later, Mr. Shaw lived and now owns a farm. However, 16 years ago the Steere family moved to Petersburg, to be followed, in 1907, by the Shaws, the Steeres having then moved to Manassas, where the Shaws tagged and where its hoped both families will now reside permanently. The families had never met but have mutual friends wherever their gypsy feet have trod.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, and Messrs. Hall, Boserman and Doak attended the Farmers' Institute Friday.

Mr. Vene Cook was laid to rest February 19th, after living 89 years in New York, South Dakota and Virginia. Its not given to many to live so long. Mrs. Cook has the sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. Bauserman has just returned from his boyhood home, where he buried an aged father.

Mrs. Jimmie Kincheol is visiting her girlhood home.

The entertainment, given by the Clifton schools, for the benefit of the Civic and Improvement League, was fine throughout. Not a break nor a blunder. Rendered in a way a college audience could be proud of and that in extremely cramped quarters. Clifton is proud of her present force of teachers and not only appreciates this entertainment but more so the daily work done. Everyone rendered the part taken so well, both in the play "Mr. Bob" and in "The Family Album," as well as the singing. It was moral, it was funny and how the hall did ring with appreciative laughter. It was a clean, high-class, full of fun program that would please a crowd and instruct and cultivate a school in appearing on the stage. We need more such things in our schools throughout the country, either in such form or in the old fashioned spelling school, to prepare the youth for public usefulness. Its part of one's schooling. Mrs. Hodge has promised us a future treat in music and expression. We hope by all means, to be able to attend with Hodge with us more than one day weekly next year. She has proven herself a jewel in our midst and she is giving to our school one of the things we lacked. Then a train talk of Mrs. Merwin and Mrs. Doak as a starter, the Womens' Auxiliary have the promise of the much talked of Mrs. Heath, of New York City, appearing on a future program at Manassas. Read the January, 1913. Woman's Home Companion one that time and get the drift of the great work she heads and go and hear her and take your neighbor and make use of her as a medium through which you and your locality may be served in the future.

Mr. Shaw continues his trips to the city, having his painful eyes treated.

Mr. Gander's new barn looks fine as does his whole place. Splendid addition to our borg.

Mr. Clark, on the afternoon of George Washington's birthday, at the hospital home of Mrs. James P. Hulfish. The house was attractively decorated with flags and festoons of red, white and blue ribbons. The guests were received by Mr. Clark and Mrs. Hulfish, assisted by Miss Irene Demory, Miss Addie Cross and Miss Ella Rector who wore pretty colonial costumes. MODES OF MIDWINTER

BARGAINS FOR WOMAN WHO KNOWS GOOD CLOTHES.

Inexpensive Freshening Will Make Shop-Worn Garments Look Like New—Pretty Design for a Velvet Frock.

The best that the season has to offer is being shown and being worn now, and one really does get admirable bargains now in the shops if one knows how to buy and can freshen up handsome models—trifle shop-worn from handling. Many women who know good clothes, but can never afford to buy early in the season the imported frocks which they covet, make a point of waiting until the bargain sales for these purchases.

They usually make a point, too, of buying such things as may be made to do duty all the year around, and that is an easy matter in this day when sheer fabrics are used for winter as for summer.

Naturally frocks of the kind are not so reduced in price as are the regulation winter garments whose tenure is limited, and whose lines may be out of fashion before another winter; but one can pick up pretty afternoon frocks and evening gowns and coats at great reductions, and though these may be a trifle shopworn, a very little inexpensive freshening will make them look as well as any frock would after a single wearing. And one does get the modishness, and, above all, the line, the cut, which the frock or coat cheap from the start does not have.

The velvet costumes and frocks are among the best of the season's bargains. This winter's lines are so individual, and in many cases, so extreme, that holding winter models over to another season would be hazardous business for the merchant. Yet women hesitate to buy exclusive winter models for the same reason she was not shocked at all—only deeply interested.

"It was at Atlantic City. I won't tell you her name. We were almost the only guests at the hotel at the end of the season. We fell in love with each other; we loved each other madly. We were engaged. Then she went back to town, and I, like a fool, lived in a fool's paradise, anticipating the time when I should meet her again, to ask her to fulfill her promise.

"Well, the upshot was that she had imagined me to be a cousin of mine, Garfield Howard, the wealthy manufacturer. When I called at her home she was quite frank about it. She said she had loved me and would have fulfilled her promise, but she had resolved never to marry a poor man.

"The horrid owl!" exclaimed Mildred indignantly, slipping her hand into his.

"That broke the spell, Mildred. I realized then that I had never loved her. I learned to laugh at my infatuation for I saw her as she was, and my love was dead. So don't you be afraid, in case we ever meet, for I have seen her two or three times since then, and there is nothing left in my heart but aversion."

"Darling!" said Mildred, putting up her face for a kiss.

"And I am forgiven, dearest?" whispered George.

"Absolutely. Now listen, for the guests will be here in a few moments. I'm going to announce it and tell them your name. It's all a profound secret, just as I promised you. I want you to meet my friend."

But she did not finish the sentence, for the maid opened the door and announced Miss Upton and Mr. Edward Brooks. Mildred stepped forward and embraced Fanny and shook hands with her fiancé.

"I want to present my fiancé," she announced triumphantly. "Mr. George Howard, Miss Upton—Mr. Howard, Mr. Brooks—Now you have got to like each other as hard as you can, Fanny!"

The last remark was almost an interjection, for Fanny Upton had put forth her hand as gingerly as though it were of porcelain, and George was stretching out his finger tips as though he was afraid of never getting them back again.

"Mr. Howard and I have met before," said Fanny feignly.

"You have? You never told me where?"

"I think it was at Atlantic City, or thereabouts," said Miss Upton casually.

LIGHT ON HIS PAST

Girl's Fiance Makes a Confession That Surprises More Than One Friend.

By FRANK FILSON.

"Fanny, you've been lording it over me for the past month, ever since your engagement to Edward Brooks. But you can't do it any more," said her friend Mildred Thomas, holding out her left hand with a bluish tinge. Fanny Upton seized it and dragged her friend into the light. On Mildred's third finger sparkled a diamond in a platinum ring.

"Mildred!" exclaimed Fanny, kissing her.

"Who's it?"

"I mustn't tell you," answered Mildred. "Now don't be angry, dear, because you shall be the very first person to know. It's a sacred promise for certain reasons."

"Oh, I'm sure I don't want to know," Mildred, said Fanny coldly, releasing the hand she held.

"Oh yes you do, Fanny. Now don't be cross. Listen! We're going to have an engagement party on Saturday night, and it will be announced then. And you are to come and be told first. See?"

Fanny was mollified a little. "Well, if you think it's worth making a secret of to please your fiancé, all right," she said. "But you know very well he has secrets he hasn't shared with you."

"Fanny!" cried Mildred Thomas indignantly.

"Of course he has secrets. Don't you suppose he has been in love dozens of times rapturously in love, and never told you a word of it?"

"Fanny!" said her friend indignantly, "he told me that he has never been in love in his life before. He has never kissed any girl but me."

"Booh!" said Fanny mockingly. "Now Edward knew I was too sensible to fall for that sort of yarn and he confessed. But he didn't tell me all. No, sir, and I'm going to find out a whole lot more before I marry him."

Mildred remained kindly silent.

"Oh, Mildred, here's a joke," said her versatile friend. "Now are you

NOT HARD TO TELL FORTUNES

Little Need for Soothsayer to Be Fitted With Much More Than Ordinary Intelligence.

The way to tell people's fortunes is to have one list of characteristics, and use it for every one without the slightest variation. It is almost to succeed. For instance, suppose Falstaff and Hamlet had their fortunes told by the same soothsayer. I imagine he would have told Hamlet's character as follows:

"You are not as fortunate as you seem. You have a great deal of sense, but more sense than knowledge. You can give admirable advice to other people. Your judgment is excellent as regards others, but bad as regards yourself. You never value your own good advice. You are fond of your friends. You prefer to talk in action. You suffer from indigestion. You are fond of the stage. You are susceptible to female beauty. You are witty, amiable and well educated, but you like coarse jokes. You are superstitious and believe in ghosts. You can make people laugh. You often pretend to be more foolish than you are. At other times you will surprise people by your power of apt repartee. Your tongue will be your best friend to that which will hamper you in fighting. You are unsuccessful as a soldier, but unrivaled as a companion and philosopher. You will not in high society have friends at court. You will come off badly in personal encounters and your final enemy will be a king.

Now imagine him saying exactly the same thing to Falstaff. Doesn't it fit him just as well? Can't you imagine Falstaff saying: "He has hit me off to a T," and Hamlet murmuring: "My prophetic soul!" In fact, I believe fortune telling after that of medicine, to be the finest profession in the world, and the easiest.—Metropolitan.

He was reminded of his dereliction just as he was leaving the convention.

GOOD BARN FOR SMALL FARM

Building Shown Has Accommodation for Four Horses and Five Cows—Ample Grain Room.

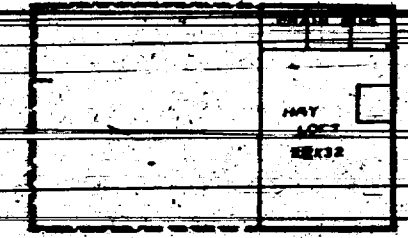

The dimensions of barn well adapted to a small farm are 22 by 32 feet. It contains stalls for four horses and five cows, and has a driveway 12 feet wide. It has two hay-lofts, one 12 by 32 feet, and another 12 by 32 feet. Ample provision is made for the grain bins, the size of which may be regulated to meet the requirements of any farm by reducing or enlarging the hay-loft. This barn will take care of the stock, hay and grain, of a 200-acre farm very nicely, and costs only about $1,600, the price varying according to the cost of material in different sections. The barn is floored throughout with a good quality of pine, and the roof is of galvanized iron. The entire barn is painted with two coats of paint. It is best help is employed in the heavy work and only a single carpenter employed, the cost of the barn may be materially reduced. The estimate of $1,600 is given to include the services of a carpenter and all other necessary help at any wages.

Amount of Stages for Horses. Horses are very fond of silage, but according to Kansas Farmer there is considerable danger to their getting too much of it. Forty pounds a day is supposed to be about the maximum amount that can be fed to cattle, but here are very few cattle that will average this much, and it should be remembered that the horse has a very much smaller stomach than the cow. A little silage given as a horse ration will be thoroughly relished, and the animal will show his appreciation of it by his improved condition and glossy coat, but be careful not to give him too much.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

A fattening ration will raise a new lot of breeders.

Separate the young breeding sows from the fattening stock.

One and two sows together make a great forage crop for sheep.

Overfeeding and over-crowding will ruin the best of brood sows.

Flockmasters should never sell a cull sheep, excepting to the butcher.

Better have the love and the friendship of a good horse than that of many bad ones.

The fewer sows we keep the better the chances of raising a large number of pigs per sow.

The winter feed of the pig should contain the essential food nutrients in their proper proportion.

If hogs are crowded in cold weather or in a cold pen they will pile up and smother the weaker ones.

Give the sows plenty of feed with a steady growth and finish.

It is a mistake to confine the breeding stock too closely. They should have exercise in order to develop right.

The hog that is messy, nervous and is constantly fighting with the others is usually an unprofitable feeder.

Never feed pigs more than they will clean up. When the feed is left in the trough or on the floor it soon becomes a loss.

Avoid crowding the hogs in the winter feeding quarters. They need a lot of room on account of their natural habit of crowding.

ATTRACTIVE NESTS FOR HENS

Discarded Grocery Boxes, Such as Used for Soap or Condensed Milk, May Be Used.

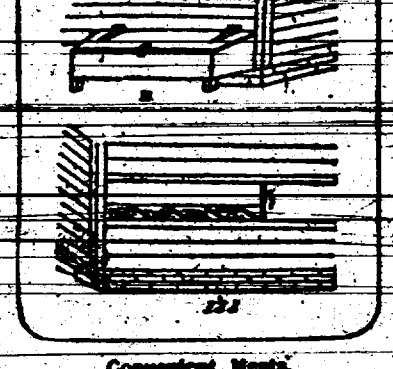

Nests that are attractive to hens because of their privacy, sanitary as to character and convenient for the gathering of eggs are the claim of every one who keeps fowls either in a limited number or on a large scale. Says a writer in the New York Tribune Farmer: Various are the nest arrangements employed by the different poultrymen, and varied in character must they continue to be to suit the requirements of the fowls and the plan of the poultry house. But no style of nest that is at all practical can fail to be suggestive to any poultryman who has not yet solved the nest problem to his liking. The nests herewith described are intended to suggest rather than to furnish exact imitations.

A convenient style of nest is shown in Illustration No. 1. The nests are arranged along the wall, with the open sides inward, space enough being allowed at the ends to admit the fowls. A hinged cover at the top makes egg gathering a simple matter. These nests may be improvised from wooden boxes nailed together, one side being removed and the hinged cover hung over them. Support is furnished by four uprights which raise the nests about one foot above ground. The nest boxes should be as smooth as possible, and painted inside and out.

Another convenient arrangement is the row of nests accessible to the fowls from the inside of the building, but projecting beyond its wall, and Convenient Nests.

Having a hinged cover which may be lifted from the outside to permit the gathering of eggs, if necessary a padlock may be used to secure this cover. Style No. 2 is preferable in style No. 2 in cold climates. The nests are along the inside wall, supported above the ground and open at the top. A slide in the wall allows the gathering of eggs from outside. Grocery boxes, such as soap or condensed milk boxes, may serve for the nests, being so divided that two nests are formed from each box. They should be movable so that they may be readily cleaned.

FRESH-AIR HOUSES FOR EGGS

Excellent Results Secured by Laying Straw Door Open—Wheat Straw Used for Litter.

Some years ago while trying to raise poultry on a small scale, I tried the open-air house, by making a screen door at one end and leaving this open day and night. I secured twelve sets of eggs as in my other houses not so provided, says a writer in an exchange. Now that I am keeping fowls on a lower scale I always use some kind of fresh air house with good results. Wheat straw to spread in the chicken house to the depth of six inches. In this the feed is scattered, oats, wheat, barley, sorghum seed, etc., for morning and noon feeds. The evening meal consists of a mash of yellow potatoes, thickened with bran, beef meal, a little ground oats and cornmeal slightly salted. After the fowls have eaten all they want I feed one cup of a mash of beef scrap, charcoal, grit and oyster shell and constantly before them. The straw is cleaned out every day and replaced with fresh the next morning. If the weather is bad and the fowls have to stay in doors, I replace twice a day.

White Eggs

For the fancy white egg trade the requirements are freshness—indicated by almost perfect fullness of the shell and strong body—uniformly clean and chalk white color. The most common defects are shrinkage and, in summer, weak body and lack of size; many shippers let cream-tinted eggs go in with the whites and this injures the sale except in competition with general supplies.

SOME COMPANY DISHES.

The following is a wedding cake which makes two loaves, each weighing five pounds: A pound each of butter, sugar and flour, twelve eggs, two and a half pounds of currants, the same of raisins, three-fourths of a pound of citron, a teaspoonful of soda, half a teaspoon of cloves, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of mace, a fourth of a pound of candied lemon peel, chopped fine, a fourth of a pound of blanched almonds, chopped fine, one nutmeg grated. Bake in two loaves two and a half hours.

Nut Cakes.—A Cup of sugar, a cup of shortening, four tablespoonfuls of sour milk, two level teaspoonfuls of soda dissolved in the milk, two eggs, spice to taste. Cinnamon and cloves are good. A cup each of nuts and raisins chopped, and flour to make a mixture to drop. Drop on buttered tins and bake in a moderate oven.

Chili Con Carne.—Boil a pound of small red chili beans until tender, just before the beans are soft enough, add one onion and a clove of garlic chopped fine; there should be about three pints of water in the beans. Add a can of chili powder or a few stewed red peppers, chopped, and a teaspoonful of salt.

Chop a pound of suet, let it cook until all the fat is extracted, pick out the scraps and add a pound and a half of uncooked hamburger steak. Stir constantly for a few minutes then add the beans, and cook slowly in an earthen dish several hours.

Cabbage Salad.—A very simple, and yet very popular salad is prepared by shredding a solid head of cabbage very fine. Let stand in cold water until crisp, then drain and mix with thick sweet cream, a little sugar, salt and vinegar.

There is aainty dish which may be prepared from chestnuts which is both nourishing and tasty. Shell, blanch and cook until tender a cupful of chestnuts; add them to a rich white sauce, serve on toast or in timbale cases.

Apples, dates and nuts, with a boiled dressing, is a good salad combination.

MEETING TOWN COUNCIL

Provide 500 Feet Hose For Fire Department—Enforce Attendance of Members.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held in the council chamber Monday night, with Mayor Chapman presiding and Councilmen Newman, Speiden, Wheeler, Conner and Burke, answering to the roll call.

A wait of over an hour was indulged in on account of the lack of a quorum, and becoming weary of the tedious delay the Mayor, for the first time within the history of "City Fathers," invoked the aid of Section 7 of the Town Code to compel the attendance of absent members of the Council, and accordingly issued his warrant to have the absentees brought in.

The application of E. W. Weir and others for a concrete sidewalk on the west side of West street, between Centre street and Lee avenue, was referred to the street committee with instructions to report at the next meeting of the council.

Upon application of the fire department it was ordered that 500 feet of 400-lb. pressure hose for use of the department be purchased from The Fabrick Company of New York, according to a sample submitted by the company's representative, Thomas Reynolds.

What One Potato Will Do.

A lad in the outskirts of Albany, N. Y., and only 12 years of age, has made a world record. The State Fair Board offered a prize for the largest yield from one seed potato. Each contestant was furnished one potato of a special and unusual variety in his part of the state.

Eugene Durand raised and exhibited 686 pounds of potatoes, 12 bushels, of contest quality and size, and left at home, unweighed, about two bushels of non-exhibitable size. So far as known, this is fully twice the yield ever before known from one potato.

The potato had 14 eyes. Each of these was planted in a hotbed. When the sprout was about three inches high he cut it off and placed it in sand, where it took root. Durand then set it out in soil adapted to potatoes. The sprouts kept on growing and he kept on rooting them and then transplanting them, and great was the harvest thereof.

MRS. LUCRETIA WILT DEAD

After Lingering Illness She Dies in Home of Son, Ernest, in Clarendon Sunday.

Mrs. Lucretia F. Wilt, of Clifton, Fairfax county, died in the home of her son, Ernest Wilt, in Clarendon, Alexandria county, after an illness of several months of heart failure. The body arrived here Tuesday noon and the interment was made in the Moses Hixson burying ground near Buckhall, Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. T. D. D. Clarke of the Baptist church conducting the funeral services.

The deceased was the widow of John Wilt who preceded her to the grave about twenty years ago. She is survived by two sons and two daughters, Ernest Wilt, of Clarendon, and Woody Wilt, and Mrs. Rush Buckley and Mrs. Tilden Marthers, of Clifton. She was also an aunt of Messrs. Thos. and William Brawner, of Buckhall, and of J. Ed. Hixson and Mrs. J. R. Evans of Manassas.

Mrs. Wilt like her sister, Mrs. Mollie Hixson, of Manassas, was of that gentle and motherly character—sacrificing her own comfort and pleasure for that of those she loved—which endeared her to the hearts of all who knew her. The family has the sympathy of a host of friends.

INJURED BY HIS BROTHER

Charles Volmer Suffers Injury to Foot by Brother's Careless Handling of Axe.

While Charles and Maxcy, the little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Volmer, who reside near Lucasville, on the Manassas and Brentsville road, were playing in their parents' back yard with an axe and a cake of ice from the bath tub, last week, Maxcy, in an effort to sever the ice with his small axe, the instrument glanced and severed two of his brother Charles' toes and fractured the bones of two others. Dr. J. Marge Lewis was summoned and gave the injured lad the necessary surgical attention. It is thought that the mashed toes will recover from the injury, and at last account the little victim, who has displayed wonderful nerve for one of his years, is doing nicely.

Lines to "Uncle Joe"

Joe, a Democrat sounds very well, And shows there is truth in that "saw," "don't you know," That sometimes you "never can tell" How often a fellow may mean; what he says, Or when he will say what he means, Or if he will follow the populace ways, Or ride on the "home" machines. But I think it only is fair, "Uncle Joe," To remark—I believe I was wrong For smiling at thought of my seeing you go, And of hearing you warble that "song."

But that printed sheet just gave us a pain, With that horrid cigar in your mouth, For it looked as mean as a winter-day rain, When the smoke blows away to the South, But it wasn't so much that print and cigar, As your autocrat ways in the "chair," That gave Uncle Joseph the title of "Joe." And some people called him a "bear," "O well," you may say what the "duce" do I care, What Progressives or others may say, But I tell you we need a prairie-lark, Of the public's regard anyway, As we journey along in this rugged world, Some little bouquets I would beg, But instead, the public too often has hurled An over-ripe cabbage of egg, So when your time comes for the final "swan song," We'll witness the end of the play, But won't hurl an egg as we think that is wrong; We'll throw you a lily bouquet, Haymarket, Va. J. M. ROSEBERRY HONORED

President-elect Woodrow Wilson Appoints Him Circuit Judge For Warren County, N. J.

Joseph M. Roseberry, of Belvidere, N. J., was appointed by President-elect Woodrow Wilson, Judge of the Circuit Court of Warren county, on February 19. Mr. Roseberry, who was a former resident of Prince William county, is a cousin of John Y. Roseberry, of near Brentsville. He is also a cousin of the late A. Dupue Hazen, who was Third Assistant Postmaster General for several years, and also of the late Dr. D. H. Hazen and of Drs. W. C. P. and Henry H. Hazen and Mrs. Annie Roseberry Young, of Washington.

That Civil Service "Strangle."

In a city news-dispenser, There are recent indications, That the democrats will censor Those C. S. examinations. Yet the Civil S. Commissions, Dealing fairly I suppose, Set these are some rank conditions, That the d—l surely knows, For a fair and honest dealing, And a modern mental test, Is enough to keep us squealing Like a—well you know the rest. Now, that has one so attended, Was at Norfolk-by-the-sea, And wherein I then offended, Is as yet unknown to me, For my age I gave correct, And my color truly white, But they've told me indirectly, That I couldn't even write, And I gave my occupation As a farmer growing fruit, But I guess that my vocation, Or my color didn't suit, I received their explanation, Like all other honest boys, When they take examinations, Namely—"Don't you make a noise." But examiners are cunning, They are "foxy" little chaps, And can operate the rummy, With the "strangle" on, perhaps, Now, that "strangle" combination Was all new and strange to me, In that last examination, Down at Norfolk-by-the-sea, For that loud dictation strangle, And typewriter's noisy clack, Was a Civil Service "strangle," That would make a heathen sick And before the time expired, When not more than half way through, We were pale and "awful tired" And had found our "Waterloo." But I think I'll try it over, Yes, I think I'll venture back, But I may become a rover And appeal to Mr. Black, And I'll crave in my petitions For at least another chance, With none of those rank conditions, Once again to "break a lance," For, as true as I'm a sinner, Very well, I know I can Prove that I can be a winner, If they'll bar that "strangle" plan." THE BAZAAR A SUCCESS.

The bazaar, held by the ladies of Grace M. E. Church in the M. I. C. building, and the dinner and supper given in connection therewith, was a success financially, and also in the way of enjoyment to the liberal patrons. The decorations, including many that were in keeping with the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, were greatly admired, especially the famous cherry tree, in one of the front windows of the room in which the bazaar was held, which was designed and executed by Mrs. J. L. Harrell, and the trunk of a cherry tree in a mound of moss, with a replica of the traditional hatchet sticking therein, which was designed and executed by Mrs. W. G. Covington, and which occupied a place upon one of the dining tables. The patrons expressed themselves as well pleased with the dinner and supper served them in much gratitude for the patronage bestowed upon their efforts in behalf of the church. The net proceeds from the affair will approximate $115. DR. J. WALTER BERNHARD, SURGEON DENTIST, At Manassas every Tuesday and Thursday, Washington address: 2550 14th street, N. W.
