WEDDED IN WASHINGTON TIES WASHINGTON TEAM

Miss Esther Dogan Becomes Bride of Mr. Frank Terrill, of Orange County.

A pretty wedding took place in Washington Wednesday, when Miss Mary Esther Dogan became the bride of Mr. Frank F. Terrill, of Lahore, Orange county. Rev. E. V. Regester, of Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony.

Among those present from this community were Mrs. Mary E. Dogan, mother of the bride, Miss Henry Dogan, her aunt, and her cousin, Miss Mary Neville Dogan, of "Paradise," who is attending the Harrisonburg Normal.

The bride is a lovely type of Virginia girl with the usual sweetness of manner and winning smile. She is both attractive and accomplished and has a wide coterie of friends in the county who will greatly regret her departure from Groveton.

Mr. Terrill is a prosperous young farmer of Orange county who has the confidence and esteem of all with whom he is thrown in social and business contact.

May Mrs. Terrill be received with pleasure in Orange in degree with Prince William's regret.

CORN SHOW AT MANASSAS

America's Greatest Crop Reigned in State in M. I. C. Building.

List of Awards.

The Manassas Corn Show, which was held at Manassas, on Friday, Oct. 21, under the auspices of the Eighth Congressional District Farmers' Institute, was a great success in every particular, there being more entries at this show than at any other ever held in this district. Splendid specimens of "America's greatest crop" were to be seen, and it was no easy matter for the judges to decide upon the lucky contestants. The display exhibit shown by Mr. J. S. Sponseller, of Fairfax, deserves special mention.

The following is a list of the premiums awarded:

For the best ten ears of white corn: 1st, W. L. Heuser, Haymarket; 2d, J. S. Sponseller, Fairfax; 3d, Logan Gibson, Delaplane.

For the best ten ears of yellow corn: 1st, Dr. W. R. Tulloss, Haymarket; 2d, Dr. W. R. Tulloss, Haymarket; 3d, B. A. Rucker, Delaplane; 4d, Dr. W. R. Tulloss, Haymarket.

Rucker, of Delaplane, were splendid specimens and included the varieties: Albemarle Pippin, Stayman, Wine Sap, York Imperial, Paradise Sweet and Grimes' Golden.

In summing up the show it was conceded by all who attended to be a great success and the greatest show of its kind ever held in Manassas.

Manassas Eleven Holds Stewart's Business College to a 0-0 Score.

In the most interesting game of the season, played here on Thanksgiving Day, Manassas High School held Stewart's Business College to a 0-0 score. Both teams fought hard from the first whistle to the final, but neither was able to score.

Both elevens used exceptionally fine teamwork, and with the exception of Adamson, J. Gregory and Round there was no individual starring.

The feature of the game was the splendid defensive work of the Manassas line when it held the Washington team for downs on Manassas' five-yard line, although outweighed 20 pounds to the man. The secondary defense and tackling of the M. H. S. backfield was also of a high order.

Noyes, at quarter for S. B. C., played a heady, consistent game, and easily put up the best game for his team. Roads, at left end for Manassas, played a good, steady game, as did Carey and Bonar at end and Burns at left halfback for S. B. C.

This game closes the season for M. H. S., and they have certainly made a wonderful showing as every man on the team was green with the exception of Janney at left tackle. In five games the team has scored 189 points to their opponents 18, and has not yet tasted the bitter dregs of defeat.

Much of the credit for the showing made by the local team is due Mr. John L. Hynson for his coaching and the great interest he has taken in the team.

The Line-up:

S. B. C.	Position	M. H. S.
Bonar	L. E.	Roads
Albaugh	L. T.	J. Gregory
Hardie	L. G.	Rexrode (Capt.)
Young	C.	Lion

Leisler	R. T.	J. Gregory

Hayden	F. B.	Lynch
Compton	R. H.	Williams

Reference—Mr. Garrison, Manassas.

Umpire—Mr. Hardie, Stewart's Business College.

Linesman—Mr. Haydon, Manassas.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Gleason Entertain Friends and Relatives on Silver Wedding Day.

On Thursday evening, November 13th, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Gleason of 811 Massachusetts Avenue, Capital Hill, Washington, D. C., entertained a host of friends and relatives gathered to honor their silver wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Hazel W. Reeder rendered "O Promise Me," which was followed with fitting remarks by Dr. Charles P. Sontag who officiated at the original ceremony.

Receiving with Mrs. Gleason were their daughter, Miss Margaret Gleason, Mrs. Gleason's sister, Miss Margaret I. DePue, and a house guest, Miss Mamie Lynch, of Manassas.

The color combination of the home was of white and green. Palms were massed effectively and variegated foliage and white chrysanthemums were banked on the mantels. Trotters mandolin and violin trio rendered an interesting musical program, while later, in the diningroom, a buffet supper was served. The decorations here were of chrysanthemums massed among the silver ornaments.

Mrs. Gleason wore a cream silk crepe meteor draped in Spanish silk lace that was on her wedding gown. She also wore her pearls and carried a huge bouquet of La France roses.

The gifts were numerous and handsome.

FIRST AUXILIARY MEETING A LITTLE CHILD AT REST

Resignation of Mrs. Ella Shaw, Secretary, Accepted With Much Regret.

BY MRS. W. L. SANDERS (Secretary W. A.)

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Farmers' Institute held its first regular meeting of the year Friday, Nov. 20.

Quite a number of ladies were present and took an active part in the questions of vital interest that were brought up before the meeting.

It was with regret that the resignation of Mrs. Ella Shaw, of Clifton, was read and accepted. She has been the life of the auxiliary, and in her position of secretary has been untiring in her efforts for the cause. It is the earnest hope of all the members that she may soon be able to take up the work again.

It is a pleasure to see so many ladies attending these meetings, and it is desired that every part of the county be represented.

WILLIAM WILSON FINLEY CORN SHOW IN JANUARY

Head of Southern Railway Dies of Apoplexy at His Washington Home.

William Wilson Finley, president of the Southern railway and an important factor in the development of the South, died Tuesday in Washington as a result of a stroke of apoplexy received a few hours before.

Mr. Finley was born on Sept. 2, 1852, in Pass Christian, on the Gulf coast of Mississippi, where he was educated in private schools and grew to early manhood.

He was a self-made railroad president, having entered at the age of 20 the railway service as a stenographer and filling by the year 1889 nearly every minor position in the clerical departments of various railway systems. Following this, Mr. Finley for a period up to six years ago served several railroads in important executive capacities.

At the time of his death he was president not only of the Southern railway, but also of the Southern railway in Mississippi, the Mobile and Ohio railroad, various other railway systems, and public and private enterprises.

"Of President Finley," declared Col. Andrews, who now becomes ranking officer of the road, "it may be truly said that he worked himself to death. He was untiring in his efforts for the interests in which he was absorbed."

For some time a family residence was maintained at Warrenton, and the people of Fanquier have also sustained a serious loss.

Keaworth Brandt, Youthful Son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Brandt, Passes Away.

Early on Wednesday morning, the angel of death entered "Bonnie View," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Brandt, and bore to the heavenly rest the youthful spirit of little Keaworth, their only son, who had known but eight summers of this life.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in Asbury Methodist church, and the little body will be laid to rest in the cemetery near town. The pastor, Rev. J. E. Slick, will conduct the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandt are tendered the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. Though a newcomer the little boy had won a place in the hearts of his young companions. May the little sister's grief be assuaged by the affectionate interest of her friends.

Held in Connection With Lynchburg Meeting of Va. Corn Growers' Ass'n.

The big Corn Show in connection with the Virginia Corn Growers' Association, meeting which is to be held in Lynchburg on January 5th and 7th, promises to be an unusually attractive event. Being conducted under the auspices of the State and National Departments of Agriculture, the character of this Corn Show is guaranteed.

Corn Growers all over the State are manifesting a keen interest, and several hundred exhibitors will participate in the contest making by far the largest display of exhibition corn ever accumulated in the State at one time.

The premiums offered amount to several hundred dollars, part of which is in cash, as well as two very handsome silver cups. The program shows that several speakers of note will add very materially to the interest and profit of the meeting.

The best that can be produced will be offered at this show, and the exhibits which win prizes will be entered in competition at the National Corn Show which follows later in the year.

The object in getting the different corn growers together in a contest of this character is to encourage of better yields at lower cost with a minimum amount of labor—in other words, it means thousands of dollars added to the income of the producer through greater efficiency.

CRIGLER-WATERS WEDDING DR. JOHN HOOE IDEN WEDS

Every Good Wish of the Community is Extended to Couple Wedded in Baltimore.

A quiet wedding took place at the church of St. Michael and All Angels in Baltimore at half after eleven o'clock last Saturday morning when the pastor, Rev. Dr. Fisk, united in marriage Mr. Albert Moffett Crigler, of this city, and Miss Stella Elizabeth Waters, of Manassas.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a traveling suit of Navy blue with all accessories, and wore a purple beaver hat with an exquisite shade plume. Her sister, Miss Theodora Waters, of Washington, was the only relative in attendance upon the ceremony.

Mrs. Crigler is one of the most charming members of local society. She is the third daughter of Mr. Robert M. Waters and the late Mrs. Anna Weir Waters, a member of one of the oldest families in this section. As a teacher, she has gained a wide reputation in the State of Virginia which has profited by the result of her labors. When she left the Manassas schools a year ago to form a connection with the schools of Alexandria, much regret was felt and expressed in local circles, and she will be always remembered by the little folk to whom she has devoted every effort known to her profession.

Mr. Crigler is a successful business man with a wide acquaintance in Virginia, especially in Rappahannock, his native Calpeper, and in his adopted Prince William. He is still president of the Crigler-Camper Company, of Manassas, though now a resident of Baltimore where he is connected with the Daniel Miller Company, a well-known wholesale house of that city.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Crigler left Baltimore for New York and other points. On returning from a brief wedding tour they will make their home in Baltimore.

"SHOWER" AT "PARADISE"

Mrs. Dogan and Mrs. Lewis Entertain for Miss Esther Dogan, Bride of Wednesday.

"Paradise," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dogan, was the scene of one of the most delightful affairs it has been the good fortune of the writer to attend. The occasion was the "shower" and birthday party given by Mrs. Dogan and Mrs. Charles Lewis to Miss Esther Dogan.

The perfect weather, the gathering of about seventy guests from all parts of the county and the pleasure of the fair bride-elect in the beautiful gifts showered upon her by friends, made the day one long to be remembered.

Not the least important part of the program was the bounteous feast spread in the dining-room. The table looked very attractive with its color scheme of red and white, this note being carried out in the centerpiece of carnations. A beautiful bride's cake, containing the customary dime, and a beautiful and thoughtful gift, occupied a prominent position. The menu included turkey, lamb, salads, and all the good things for which "Paradise" and "Rosemount" are famous, was done full justice to by every one. Miss Dogan's gifts, ranging from cutglass and silver to articles too varied to mention, were such as to inspire any young housekeeper with an enthusiasm for home making, which they always bring back to her tender thoughts of the many friends she has in Virginia. She takes with her to her new home the heartiest wishes of every one for a life full of sunshine and joy.

Although the immediate cause of Mr. Lickle's death was stated, the prime cause of his dissolution was, no doubt, due to a severe burn which he received about a month ago. After undergoing a tiresome day's work at the store, Mr. Lickle seated himself in his Morris chair, after his evening meal, to enjoy a smoke. While still with the lighted cigar in his mouth he fell asleep to be awakened with one of his shirt sleeves in flames, which caused a severe burn of his arm. He was taken to Stetson hospital where, in spite of medical skill and careful nursing, serious complications, as the result of his injuries, set in causing his death.

Mr. Lickle was a gentleman of kind, sympathetic nature, making many friends of all with whom he came in social or business contact. His last visit to Manassas was in July last when he appeared to be in his usual health and spirits. His many friends, both here and elsewhere, will be pained to learn of his tragic death.

Miss Brazill, of Newport, Becomes Bride of Prominent Naval Surgeon.

An impressive marriage ceremony was performed in Newport, R. I., last Saturday evening, when Rev. Father M. de Barrows united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Marjanna D. Brazill, of Newport, and Surgeon John Hooe Iden, U. S. N., elder son of Dr. and Mrs. B. T. Iden, of this place.

The bride wore a lovely gown of soft white satin. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her young sister, Miss Catherine Brazill, as maid of honor was gowned in yellow charmeuse and carried an exquisite cluster of American beauties.

Mr. James E. Nelson, of Manassas, attended the groom. Mrs. Iden is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brazill, of Newport. Her rare beauty and accomplishments have attracted much attention in the circle in which she moves.

Dr. Iden needs no introduction in Manassas, the place of his birth. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia, and since entering the Navy has served in various responsible and important capacities at the naval hospitals and at sea. He is now stationed at the naval hospital at Annapolis to which city he will take his bride on their return from an extended Northern tour.

DEATH OF MR. G. A. LICKLE

Brother of Mrs. R. W. Merchant, of Richmond, and Miss Lickle, of This Place.

Mr. G. Albert Lickle, 67 years old, died in Stetson hospital, Philadelphia, at an early hour on Friday morning of last week of uraemic poisoning.

The funeral took place from his late residence, 2010 N. Eleventh street, and interment was made in Fernwood Cemetery, beside his wife who preceded him to the tomb about three years ago.

The pallbearers were chosen from his most intimate colleagues in the department store of Gimble Brothers, in which establishment he has had charge of the hosiery and underwear department for a number of years.

The deceased was the second son of Francis and Sarah Lickle, of Newmarket, Frederick county, Md., where he was born and spent the years of his minority. He is survived by three sisters: Miss Ida M. Lickle of Manassas; Mrs. W. W. Windsor, of Ellicott City, Md.; Mrs. R. W. Merchant, of Richmond, and by an invalid brother, E. Dorsey Lickle, of Baltimore.

Although the immediate cause of Mr. Lickle's death was stated, the prime cause of his dissolution was, no doubt, due to a severe burn which he received about a month ago. After undergoing a tiresome day's work at the store, Mr. Lickle seated himself in his Morris chair, after his evening meal, to enjoy a smoke. ENDORSES MANY SECTIONS

Committee on Legislation Proves Centre of Interest at Farmers' Institute.

The November meeting of the Farmers' Institute was called to order by Vice-President Westwood Hutchison in the courthouse last Friday, Nov. 21, at 11 a. m. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

A very forceful paper, bearing upon the curriculum and needs of the high schools and particularly the agricultural high schools was read by Hon. George C. Round, who urges a state appropriation of $25,000 to each of these and asks the farmers' concerted aid in securing a successful movement toward this end.

On motion of Mr. Doak, the institute decided to refer Mr. Round's proposition to the committee on legislation.

Mr. W. I. Steere, chairman of the committee on legislation, resumed the reading of the resolutions adopted at Groveton, taking this matter up by sections. The section relating to the levying of school taxes by school trustees, instead of by county supervisors, was endorsed by the institute.

After a very spirited discussion engaged in by Messrs. Heuser, Steere, Doak and Dr. J. W. Ross it was decided to carry over to the next meeting the section relating to good roads.

The institute also endorsed the section providing that the fee system be abolished and officers under that system be paid salaries.

After much discussion the section relating to the election of all county officers, instead of appointment, was also carried over to the next meeting.

A resolution, asking the Virginia delegation in Congress to use their influence to pass the law requiring commission merchants who engage in interstate business to be bonded, was amended, and it was further decided to go another step and ask the Virginia legislature to require the same of commission merchants in this state. Both the resolution and amendment were endorsed by the institute.

The section relating to the "dog law" was also among the many carried over to the December meeting which will take place the Friday before Christmas.

A resolution was offered by Mr. W. B. Doak, urging Congress to pass the currency reform bill, including a rural bank credit bill. This resolution was endorsed by the institute, and Hon. C. C. Carlin, our representative from the Eighth Congressional District, and Senator Claude A. Swanson, were wired accordingly by the secretary, Mr. C. H. Yarborough, Jr.

The meeting adjourned at 12:45 a. m. and the farmers and guests were served a delicious luncheon at Manassas High School by the young ladies of the domestic science class.

Due to the fact that Prof. Lynn Carrier, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the speaker of the occasion, missed train connections in Washington, no lecture relating to agriculture was given at this meeting. It had been hoped that the lecture would be delivered at the afternoon session, but on account of the snow show such a procedure was impossible.

The next meeting of the Farmers' Institute will be held on Friday, Dec. 19, at the courthouse in Manassas, at which time it is hoped it will be possible to finish the discussion of the resolutions passed at Groveton. The entire session will be devoted to this business, and it is especially urged that the farmers throughout the entire congressional district will endeavor to be present.

Mr. Swanson's reply relative to currency reform follows:

Mr. C. H. YARBOROUGH, Jr., Secretary Northern Virginia Farmers' Institute, Manassas, Va.

MY DEAR MR. YARBOROUGH: I am just in receipt of your telegram stating to me that the Northern Virginia Farmers' Institute urges the passage of the bill for currency reform, including the rural bank feature.

In reply will say that I am in full accord with the farmers in their desires, and will certainly do everything I can to acquire such legislation. I think there is no more important legislation needed than currency reform, and especially the creation of a system of rural banks, which will enable the farmers to get money at a low rate of interest and for a reasonable time, in order to enable them to improve their farms and property raise and market crops. This matter shall have my earnest efforts and attention.

With kind regards and best wishes, I am, your friend,

CLAUDE A. SWANSON,

DON'T DOPE A PUNY CHILD

Parents—don't give that puny, ailing, under-weight child any of those so-called "tonics" containing alcohol or dangerous drugs; such stuff won't give relief and health to grown people, let alone children. Its purpose is to stimulate for a short time after each dose, just as whiskey or morphine does, thus making you believe it is doing real good.

Give that child something that will really build it up—replenish the wasted tissues—feed the stunted, dwarfed, puny muscles—make it lively, strong, well-full of the animal spirits children are meant by nature to have. Give it Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is wholesome, nourishing, free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. It's the ideal nerve, blood and body builder. It does the work it is planned to do better than any other medicine we know of, and our faith in it is so great that we not only urge you to use it and give it to your children, but we guarantee that it will do all we say it will, or cost you nothing.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion should be given to children who catch cold easily. Begin right now, and use it to build up the child's system to such strong health that it can resist colds, croup, grippe, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and other cold weather diseases. You who are weak and run-down and you who are well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated, the convalescing, growing children, aged people, it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion—

king of the celebrated Rexall Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of you and your family. You'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its pleasant taste, its strengthening, invigorating, building-up, disease-preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.—Dowell's Pharmacy, Manassas, Va.

BRING TOURISTS TO AMERICA.

That is a good plan offered by Secretary Lane, of the Department of the Interior, to get foreign tourists to come to America. He proposes that the State Department cooperate to inform European travelers of the wonders and beauties of the United States by distributing literature and arousing interest in what we can show. In short, the Department of the Interior will tell the State Department what we have, and how it can be seen, and the latter will invite foreigners to see it.

It must be merely lack of knowledge that keeps many travelers from seeing America. We have some of the most beautiful natural scenery in the world. In Virginia, for example, is the Natural Bridge, and a Tidewater where enchanting bays and rivers form a region almost as charming as the famous Riviera. The long list of splendors, from Niagara Falls to the Grand Canyon, need not be repeated. We know the opportunities, even if we sometimes neglect them for European travel.

It is true we have no large romantic background of history, poetry and art. We lack the glamour of aristocracy. Yet we offer the exuberance of youth and the inspiration of democracy. Our cities are marvels quite as important as ancient towns in eddies of the European current. The Woolworth Building is as wonderful as the Notre Dame of Paris. If it has no old traditions woven around its slender grace, we hope that it is making new traditions. We cannot lead the tourist to Charlemagne's tomb, but we can take him to visit Mr. Edison—and leave it to the visitor's imagination to judge which changed the world most. We have no ruins like those of Pompeii, but we have in our Indians survivors of a very ancient race; and in the mounds and cliff-dwellings souvenirs as interesting as the barrows of the Continent.

We think it would be a good thing for the European to come to see us. It would be good for us, too. We do not mean a financial "good thing," though we imagine New York could sting the tourist with as much grace and vigor as one finds in Paris and London. The invasion would be a good thing for our ideals of culture and social intercourse. We carry the Tango and rag-time to Europe. It is time we got back a little of their frankness and love of art. The passing of strangers through our homes would help us to a broader vision and a more cosmopolitan outlook. With benefits to be gained by both visitors and visited, we trust the invitation to see America will be heartily accepted by the nations whence we came.—Times-Dispatch.

A BUILDER OF THE SOUTH

W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway, who died in Washington yesterday, was student and philosopher as well as railroad man. His work for the South paralleled in purpose that which Jas. J. Hill has been doing so long, and in a more spectacular way for the Northwest. Trained in the department of railroad operation, he saw that the principal need was to create traffic, and he undertook the task with all the resources he could command.

When he was made the executive head of the Southern, it had become welded as one of the great units of the transportation world. Before that it had been developed by the mastery skill of Samuel Spencer, with the backing of the Morgan millions, from a tangle of divergent lines and a net-work of receiverships.

Mr. Finley's task was to build and strengthen what had been shaped by others and to fix permanently the policies that could be followed to the most advantage. He never lost sight of the fact that the prosperity of the road and the economic progress of the people in the territory it served were synonymous, and that the origin of traffic was on the farm and in the factory. His mission and his message were to the people first. In season and out of season he tried to show them how they could increase their own productive capacity along the most fruitful lines.

The whole country will miss such a man and the South may well mourn the loss of a dynamic force which contributed so much to her prosperity.—Baltimore News.

A SCHOOL TELEPHONE.

In Clarendon, Alexandria county, a patrons' league has set a worthy example to the sister leagues the country over. At a recent meeting these progressive citizens voted to shoulder the expense of installing and maintaining a telephone in the public school. This is an example worthy of emulation in our community which is ever quick to grasp and make its own that which has found favor or proved its value in other sections.

In many ways, a school telephone may be a serious nuisance. Another view suggests the question of attention to the calls.

In the schoolroom the 'phone would never do. It is not a difficult matter to conjure the vision of a score of willing pupils, rising with one accord to the ding-a-ling-ling.

It is hardly within our limits to make a suggestion toward solving this problem, but it appears that the concerted efforts of a patrons' organization will find it an easy matter to overcome obstacles of such trivial nature.

Beyond a doubt the value of a speaking connection with town and country homes of the many pupils in attendance upon a school of its size, will entirely overbalance any inconvenience which may arise against successful operation.

Many of our school children ride by road or rail a distance of five miles, more or less, five days in every week. Some come a great deal further. Is it not natural to suppose that in a school of four hundred children—which is in the neighborhood of the average enrollment here, we understand—that important and even urgent messages are continually necessary?

Our school buildings are not located in a thickly settled section of the town. As a matter of fact, they are rather isolated, a condition produced by the necessity of having good building room, ample playgrounds, manual training house, laboratories and athletic field and gardens. Communication between parents and children is well-nigh impossible, there being but one 'phone at all convenient to the school. Just imagine the situation should all the children face the necessity or the desire of making use of this one 'phone.

To four hundred children there are nearly as many families, taking three children as the accepted family average and one or two for the average school family. In three hundred families there are many factors which call for prompt communication. Some of these are accident, illness, death and often less important messages, but necessary nevertheless.

And so may we hope that our newly organized Patrons' Association may speedily focus its attention upon the importance of this phase of the school question. The telephone is a wonder of modern invention. It is to be wondered how the world of long ago prospered and grew in absolute ignorance of so many of the necessities of to-day.

THE WHITE HOUSE WEDDING

A marvel of democracy, and yet a demonstration of simple elegance, was the wedding of Tuesday in the East Room of the executive mansion at Washington.

Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the American princess, held her own in comparison with any princess of the royal blood in any country on the face of the earth. Her attendants did not represent moneyed interests, nor did they represent the families so popular in the daily press—except at the time. But they did represent her girlish friendships, her college chums and her best friends of to-day. Sisters and closest friends—what more could she wish?

The groomsmen were friends tried and true, comrades in college life and comrades in the South, north where a friend is a friend indeed.

The interests of the happy pair are centered in absolute harmony—life for the best in life and happiness for the whole wide world. Her father, the President of the United States, radiant in his honest pride in a daughter who well may claim the homage as her due, and her mother, the first lady of the land, happy in her daughter's happiness, present a wonderful picture in contrast to the old-world marriages of convenience and parental selection. All happiness to the American princess, Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre!

An old-timer suggests the inauguration of a chair of smoking in all schools and colleges, and that the course be made compulsory.

NOTE—Smoking weakens the lungs of a college boy.

The decorative mounting is rich, but it is subordinated to the main purpose to produce a calendar that is useful.

THE BAZAAR

The Bazaar and Thanksgiving dinner served yesterday in the M. I. C. building by the ladies of the Manassas Baptist church was a complete success, the receipts from the dinners, fancy, doll and candy tables being something over $150.00. Further receipts are yet to be turned in and expenses deducted.

The several booths in the Bazaar drew a crowd of buyers and many compliments were passed upon the handiwork of the donors of the articles on sale. The dinner menu was delicious, and was most delightfully served by the ladies of the church. The handsome "sign of the turkey," painted by Mr. O. E. Newman also attracted much attention.

The ladies wish to announce that the proceeds will be applied to the payment of the church furnace, an object in which the town as a whole is interested. They also wish to express their appreciation of the liberal patronage and the many helping hands that made the benefit a success.

FOOTBALL.
Manager Douglas Janney, of the M. H. S. football team, is negotiating with Stuart Business College, of Washington, and the Warrenton High School for a game Thanksgiving, on Round Athletic Field.

The game of Friday was a walk-over for our home team, the Culpeper coach having declared that our boys had gained seventy-five per cent in efficiency within two weeks' time.

It is to be hoped that the public will rally to the support of home athletics, bearing the endorsement of thorough sporting ability.

NOTES.
"Longfellow Evening," in which the first year boys and girls will shine as particular stars, has been postponed to the Friday after the holidays. The program promises to be varied and excellent.

A debate will soon be arranged between the normal students and the fourth year class, the subject to be announced later. The bulletin board is attracting students daily, a live interest in current affairs being the result.

The following teachers will spend the holidays in Lynchburg in attendance at the State Teachers' Convention:
From Ruffner—Misses Osbourn, Metz and Johnson with Professor Yarborough.
From Bennett Grammar School—Mrs. C. M. Larkin and Miss Hattie Willcoxon.

The enrollment of Prince William county branch of the State Teachers' Association is 61, almost a hundred per cent of our teaching force.

Messrs. Douglas and Harvey Janney will spend most of the holidays at home in Occoquan, returning for the football game Thursday.

Miss Mildred Lawler will spend Thanksgiving with relatives and friends at The Plains, Fauquier county.

Bennett Grammar School.
Miss Grace Moran, with her usual timeliness, entertained the primaries by a New England Thanksgiving on Tuesday afternoon.

The little folks were gowned as Puritans in the pioneer days, the costumes being provided by Miss Moran.

Refreshments were served and each child departed, bearing the precious souvenir, the book of cutting, drawing and water-colors, illustrating the Thanksgiving idea.

Over in the kindergarten, Mrs. Breazate provided a feast for the little ones which recalled the famous horn of plenty.

Before each tot at the table were placed a mushroom turkey, a pumpkin pie and a dish of cranberries, paper napkins covered with gobblers and Puritans, carrying out further the Thanksgiving idea.

The sand-tables of both the primary and kindergarten departments, were veritable trimmings of the teachers' ingenuity. Foliage, paligade, Indians and frontiersman all adding a realistic note to the scene.

JUNIORS MEET.
The Juniors Improvement League, of which Miss Elizabeth Buck is president, gave a most entertaining program on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Larkin expressing herself as very proud of her young folks.

The following numbers were well rendered:
Piano duet—"The Sleighride"—Misses Aileen Conner and Ella Garrison.
Reading of the "Time-killer"—The Editor.
"Thanksgiving"—a reading—Miss Mattie Athey.
Duet—"Take Me to Virginny"—Misses Elizabeth Hiner and Dorothy Brandt.
Trio—Messrs. Mason Adams, Burchell Leachman and Floyd Bryant.
Piano Solo—"Terpsichore"—Miss Edna Davis.

FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADE.
The F and G Courier members met on the twenty-fifth of November to observe Thanksgiving Day. The program was as follows:
Song—"In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree"—Six Girls.
Reading (original composition)—"The First Thanksgiving"—Blanche Arnold.
Piano Solo—"Over the River, Charlie"—Lilla Ashby.
Piano Solo—"The Gypsy"—Kathleen Spies.
Song—"Take Me to Virginny"—Six Girls.
Composition—"The First Thanksgiving"—Sadie Hixon.
Piano Solo—"The Brook"—Jessie Weir.

NOT A VAIN BOAST

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

"Go tall that to the marines—foot soldiers won't stand it!"

The little spare man with soft, dreamy eyes and the face of a post-bowed in a deprecatory manner and left the noisy mess-room of the Kimberly diamond mines.

One man among the group arose and followed him. He was bronzed, poorly dressed, a generally down-and-out expression in his general appearance, but behind it all was the restless ambitious soul.

"Wait a moment," he spoke, laying a gentle detaining hand on the man who had preceded him.

"What is it you want?" inquired the latter, lifting his stooped shoulders somewhat and turning his face up to the other.

"I heard your story in yonder."

"Well?"

"And I believe it. You want some one to share your venture. I am your man, if you will accept me."

A great calm and soft content overspread the features of the man addressed. He simply put out his hand to clasp that of the other.

"They laughed at me in yonder," he said; "I, who located the big Rhodes claim and have spent ten years in the district. I am still John Brazelton, expert—I still know when I see a bit of glittering spar and a real diamond, even a mile away. There is one at Dykeman's Gulch. I have seen it and it is mine. You heard my story and believe it, you say. Then we become partners."

"To the extent of my limited means—a bare $200, all—all I have in the world."

"It is more than sufficient. All we need is a wagon, a team of mules, some tackle and provisions."

"And then?"

"Patience and—riches!"

Bruce Beresford led his new partner to his room. As they entered it a mild-faced, blue-eyed man arose from polishing a rifle and some pistols at a little table.

"This is my friend and to be trusted. He is Vaclav Polski," introduced

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

Beresford. "Now, then, Mr. Brazelton, tell your story over again."

It was a strange, extravagant narrative, but it was told on that strange South African realm of Croesus, where stranger stories had been told. In few words the gem prospector related his story. In a lonely mountain gulch 200 miles away, while camping at night he had awakened to have his eye fixed hundreds of feet up the perpendicular cliff side upon a great lustrous mass of prismatic light.

Just at that phase of the moon, just at that hour the lunar rays rested for perhaps fifteen minutes across a surface, small but distinct, studded with sparkles of prismatic brilliancy.

"Diamonds!" pronounced the old expert positively. "Imbedded in the petrified clay, thrown there by some upheaval of nature they shone down—a promised fortune. Then the glow passed with the shifting moon rays."

"You could not fix the spot?" questioned the interested Beresford.

"How could I? Why, I dared not move to lose the focus I gazed not later regain. I waited a month. Again the same celestial and terrestrial conjunction, the glow. Even if I could succeed in settling upon the exact spot, I could not climb to it up that sheer-perpendicular wall of rock. By a descent from overhead with the assistance of others only could I hope to succeed. I have come to the dig-gings I have found my man—you."

"And Vaclav," added Beresford, with a fond glance at his room-mate, who gazed back at him a look full of reverence, dog-like devotion and love.

The plans for proceeding to Dykeman's Gulch were talked over and Beresford pledged himself to the enterprise. He sat meditating over this, his latest move, for a long time. He had spoken truly when he had said that it would take his last dollar and now a brief cloud crossed his face as he reflected how much that meant to him.

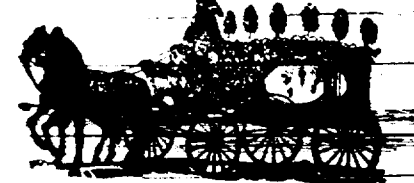

Two years previous he had left home and pretty Ethel Rayner to seek his fortune. The dull old village was too slow for him. With $2,000 left him as a legacy by a favorite aunt he had bade his fiancée good-

...with high glowing hopes...
...with a competence.
Beresford had invested in the Black Hills and lost, then in California Alaska tempted him to endure its hardships to no profit. He had gone next to Australia. He had landed at Cape Town, penniless. Through hard work in the diamond mines he had accumulated enough to carry him back home. It would be a dreary return. He had just got out. He was an unsuccessful man. And Ethel!

Just after his arrival he had come across a poor fever-stricken wretch, homeless, friendless. This was his present companion, or rather his pensioner, Vaclav Polski. The young man had been a crack target performer with a crew that had become stranded. He had been abandoned to misery and poverty.

Polski was just recovering from his illness. His gratitude, his fidelity towards Beresford was touching. Earnings now he earned little coin collections exhibiting his remarkable marksmanship to idle groups about the mines. He insisted on bringing his earnings to Beresford. All he asked was to be allowed to remain with the only friend he had ever known.

Two weeks to a day after leaving the mines the little party of three arrived at Dykeman's Gulch. They camped in the valley.

"We have arrived at just the right time," declared Brazetson hopefully. When the moon has risen two hours we shall see."

The man did not boast in vain. It was shortly after eight o'clock when the moon, clearing a lofty ledge, cast a full refulgence upon the face of the great steep bluff.

"It is there—see! Look! I have not deceived you!" shouted the exultant sport, as way up the cliff there shot out a thousand rainbow-tinted threads of light.

"If we could only mark the spot," murmured Beresford. "But I can at least make a geometrical computation," and he prepared to adjust an engineering instrument with which he had provided himself.

"Bang!

Beresford turned, started—bang! bang! bang! bang!—and so a dozen times. He viewed Polski standing with his repeating rifle directed forward.

"It is done!" cried the skilled marksman. "I have marked a circle exactly about the focus of light."

"But the marks will not show in the daytime!"

"Plainly," declared the ingenious fellow. "I shot chalk bullets."

And with the dawn the adventurers went way up there aloft an unmistakable series of plain white marks, denoting the center of the diamond mine.

It was the intrepid Polski who insisted on being lowered over the cliff. It was he who brought aloft a dozen brilliant gems by a freak of nature wanted far out of ordinary human lot.

A fortune for each of the three adventurers lay in the precious jewels.

"See," cried Brazetson, as he held up the largest of them in his fingers, "a king's ransom. Oh, it is the most beautiful thing in the world!"

"Except Ethel!" breathed Bruce Beresford fervently, "and Ethel means home, friends, happiness and life!"

And Vaclav Polski kissed the hand of his almoner and friend, tears of joy in his faithful eyes, and asked to go back to civilization and to live with him.

FE IS AN UPWARD EFFORT

...making General Direction of its Current It Always Shows Ascent and Growth.

Edouard Le Roy, in his book, "The New Philosophy of Henri Bergeson": "the depths of ourselves we find liberty; in the depths of universal being find a demand for creation. Since evolution is creative, each of its moments works for the production of an irreducible and transcendent future. Its future must not be regarded as a simple development of the present, a simple expression of germs already there. Consequently we have no authority for saying that there is foreverly one order of life, only one plane of action, only one rhythm of duration, only one perspective of existence. And disconnections and abrupt leaps are possible in the economy of the past—no matter to life, from the animal to the man—we have no authority for claiming that we cannot observe today something analogous to the very essence of human life, that the point of view of the flesh and the point of view of the spirit, the point of view of reason, and the point of view of character, are a homogeneous tension of it. And apart from that, living life in its first tendency and in its general direction of its current, its ascent, growth, upward effort, and work of spiritualizing and emancipating creation, by that we might be said to go to a path rather than a way."

On the Grill.

"Say, you've been talking over that telephone for half an hour. Are you being somebody the story of your life?"

"No. Only the story of that part of my life I expect to live in the next five or four hours. I'm explaining to my wife why I won't be home to dinner."

The New Birth

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Member Bible Institute, Chicago

Nicodemus was a good man, and an earnest seeker after truth. It was for this reason doubtless that he came to Jesus by night, in order that he might have an uninterrupted interview. He acknowledges the divinity of Jesus, and though an official teacher of the Bible himself, he humbly takes the place of a disciple. If I mistake not, this was his attitude: "Teacher, I have many rules and precepts by which I govern my life, but when I hear you speak, I feel as if I knew nothing. O, teacher, tell me your rule for holy living! Tell me all you know!"

And the master replied, "Nicodemus, you are trying to save your soul by good works; by fasts, and gifts, and sacrifices. This is not the way. What you need is not new rules, but a new heart; not learning, but life; and life always begins with birth. Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

What the New Birth Is Not.
It is not an improvement of the old nature. The bible represents human nature as hopelessly bad, incurably sinful.

It is blind. "And when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him" (Is. 52:2.)

It is wicked. "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked." (Jer. 17:9.)

It is at enmity with God: "The carnal mind is enmity against God." (Rom. 8:7.)

It is dead: "And you hath he quickened who were dead in trespasses and sins." (Eph. 2:1.)

This is human nature as God describes it. It is not capable of improvement, and God does not attempt it. "Not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be." (Rom. 8:7.)

When a bell has been cracked it gives out a hoarse guttural sound which is very annoying. You may bind it with hoops and bands, but nothing will restore the clear sweet tone. The only remedy is to send it back to the factory, melt it over, and recast the bell.

What is the New Birth?
It is the imparting of a new nature which is Jesus Christ: "A new heart will I give you; a new spirit will I put within you."

I have a friend who has six acres of greenhouses. A large part of his business is the culture of roses. He imports the wild stock from Ireland because it is peculiarly hardy. He does not put the wild rose-bushes into the greenhouse just as they are, and cultivate them. If he did, he would obtain only wild Irish roses which are not worth ten cents a thousand. The first thing he does with the wild stock is to graft it with buds from the choice roses which he wishes to produce. Then he places it in the greenhouse, and uses all the appliances known to modern flower culture, and the result is those elegant General Jacque and American Beauty roses which sell for several dollars a hundred.

Man is like the wild rose. He cannot produce the fruit of the spirit because there is no holy spirit in him, until Christ has been accepted. Neither can he forgive his sin, nor resist its power. God's way is to impart unto him a new divine nature which is able to overcome sin, and produce the fruit of righteousness.

By believing God's word. Man was lost by doubting God's word, he is saved by believing it. "Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever." (1 Pet. 1:23.) "Wherewith are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises, that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature." (2 Pet. 1:4.)

The Results of the New Birth.
I. An immediate deliverance from the guilt of sin. "There is now no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus." (Rom. 8:1.)

II. A consciousness of divine sonship. "Because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the spirit of his son into your hearts, crying, Abba, father." (Gal. 4:6.)

III. A love for other Christians, "We know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren" (1 John 3:14.)

When an egg is laid in the midst of the white fluid floats a little germ of life, which though invisible yet contains the chick which is to be. Day by day during the process of incubation the germ of life grows and the white fluid disappears until at length the chick steps forth from the shell and the white fluid is all gone.

So when one is born of God the carnal nature enters and coexists with

GOOD ROADS

WHAT IMPROVED ROADS MEAN

Spells Prosperity and Happiness to Every Community Which Has Forethought to See Blessings.

(By R. H. GARD.)
Good roads are conducive to better schools, live rural churches, pleasant rides, good markets, social advancement, a closer bond of sympathy and co-operation between the farmer and his city cousin who works at the forge, the mine or the spindle. It spells prosperity and happiness to every community which has the means and business foresight to see the manifold blessings which a scientific system of good roads secures for its people. Mud roads spell an enormous mud tax beside which our tariff is like a pygmy to an elephant.

Again, good roads annihilate distances and rob farming of the dread and drudgery of rural isolation, this fact being notably apparent where a farmer is the wise and happy owner of a high-quality, dependable and economical motor car. Mud roads bring social life on the farm to low ebb, empty the rural churches, make many little red school houses but a memory and populate the country with floating tenants who care very little for the growth and perpetuation of the institutions which are the bulwark of our national greatness.

Then good roads save time, save horses and wagons, automobiles and gasoline. They enable the farmer to market, at minimum cost, in rain or shine, his perishable produce such as fruits, vegetables, milk, butter, eggs and meat. Mud roads compel the farmer to leave such produce either to waste or deterioration or what is near to either, deter him from producing any of these profit-bearing commodities because he has no dependable and convenient avenue for marketing them.

In cases of acute illness good roads enable the physician to bring speedy relief to the sick annually and save the lives of hundreds of our men, women and children, a fact which more than treble compensates any amount of money which we may spend as a nation, state, county, city or town. Good roads spell humanity, relief, mercy, life, growth and prosperity, whereas mud roads too often spell poverty, weakness, decay, sickness, suffering and death.

As road improvement is of nationwide interest it should be supported by our national, state and county governments. This is notably true with interstate highways, for it is manifestly unjust to tax all the improvement to the abutting land, to the county or even to the state. Why should not our national government promote interstate commerce through good country roads as well as through river and harbor improvements?

Good and patriotic men seem to be at variance as to what is the best system of building roads. Some advocate three or more cross-continent trunk highways to be built and maintained equally by the federal government and by the various states through which the trunk highways go. Others favor the improvement of these roads first which run to the county seat, provided it is a good railroad market town, and if not to the most accessible large railroad town in the county. They believe that these roads should be properly ditched, graded, rolled and dragged. Culverts should be built where the water is inclined to flow across the road during heavy rains. Grades should be raised in low places, hills materially dug down and good bridges built over creeks and streams of all kinds.

The citizens of a given county could by this plan easily determine on the first ten miles of good roads to be built and maintained. Then the next five or ten and so on further away from the principal towns or towns in the county until every foot of dirt road in the county is put in first-class condition.

The good heaven is working in the minds, hearts and consciences of the American people. Good roads, to them, now means more than ever before, the avenue which leads to national strength, prosperity and happiness to which every good citizen should be glad to give his due measure of enthusiastic support.

Kernel of Problem.
Water will change the best of earth roads into a streak of mud in a very short time and right here is the kernel of our road problem. How shall we keep the water from soaking into the traveled part of our roads? There are many who seem to be willing to tell us how but very few are able to "show us." Tilling and dragging are the only good things that have been "traced the goods" to date.

Kansas Rock Road.
The first mile of rock road in Kansas, running west of Garnett, was completed, cost $1,410, and much of the work on it was done by the farmers themselves. The county contributed $200, a city club $100, and the residents of the town $60.

Small Farms Best.
Some men think it a fine thing to own big farms, and so it is, provided one knows how to manage them to advantage, but a little farm kept well in hand fattens the bank account more than a big one neglected.

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

PURPOSE OF CIVIL LAW.

"You can't legislate morality into people." How often we hear this said! Those who advance it as an argument against the prohibition of the liquor traffic should remember that civil laws are not enacted primarily for the purpose of making men moral or righteous, but for the protection of society. The restrictive idea is secondary, merely incidental, to the main idea of securing to all citizens their inalienable rights to life, liberty and happiness.

We believe there is a better way to govern even the beast than by the rod and the lash, but no one will say that in the taming and the training of an animal restraint of some sort is not necessary. Likewise, the employer who is so inhuman, so brutish in his instincts, as to sacrifice the happiness and even the lives of his employees to his own insatiable greed must be restrained. The man who preys upon his fellows by ensnaring them in the meshes of the drink demon and who for personal gain would drain the life-blood of a nation, must be denied the opportunity to thus wreck the happiness of homes and impede the prosperity of the people. The power to destroy must be taken away, not as a punishment to the destroyer, but as a protection to society.

To put it out of the power of one man to injure another is as much an act of kindness to the one as to the other. It is said that no thinking man can run a saloon and be happy. Certainly no thinking man can vote to license the saloon and have an easy mind. Therefore, prohibition of the traffic is good for the would-be liquor seller, and good for the would-be license voter, good for the taxpayer, good for all legitimate business, good for everything, and everybody. It is a "thou shalt not" which works for the common weal; it is a law in harmony with the great sub-standing law of the cosmos—with the great fundamental forces which "without hate and without rest," are working for righteousness. Properly speaking, we don't make laws. Law eternally is. We merely discover law and endeavor by legislation to translate it into terms of every day life.

GREAT COMMERCIAL FRAUD.
The liquor traffic confesses itself a commercial fraud when it comes to a city with gold in its hand to buy the privilege of carrying on trade. It is here in violation of the well-known law of supply and demand. It is not among us because there is a demand for it, but because the supply excites the demand. There is a demand, it is true, but that demand is artificial. It has been created by the supply, and were better denied than supplied.

There are scores of boys in any reform school who would have sworn up on entering that they could not live without cigarettes. There was a demand for cigarettes. But it was made by the supply and is better denied than satisfied. The great power fighting the church and the school and the home is not so much the power of drink as it is the organized power of the supply—the distillers, the saloon-keepers and their political associates.

—Dr. C. A. Crane.

CRY OF THE CHILDREN.

There is no more important phase of the temperance question than that which concerns itself with drink and the child. It goes back and deals with the ante-natal blight which is inflicted by alcoholic parentage. It traces the infantile mortality for which our drink system is responsible and follows that up with a black catalogue of evils in the way of accidents, starvation, nakedness, disease, ignorance, mental weakness, criminality, and cruelty that is appalling. As we follow up this line of investigation we hear beating in upon us from all sides the exceeding bitter cry of the children: "There is no other single factor in our modern world which makes such havoc of the nation's wealth of child life as this thrice accursed drink system.—Everybody's Monthly.

NOTHING TO AFFECT.

Not long ago I was sitting, says Sir Thomas Clouston, between two artists at dinner, one a Royal Academician, the other a budding and rising artist. The former said: "I do not know why it is, but I have never been able to touch one single drop of alcohol; it gets into my head at once." I said: "That is just because your brain is so finely constituted; in fact, you are a genius." He was perfectly satisfied with the answer. The rising artist on my left said: "I can take any amount of alcohol and my test is 'For a very good reason.' I said: "There is absolutely nothing in it." He did not seem so satisfied with the answer.

DANGEROUS DRINKER.

An eminent Scottish divine has said that the moderate drinker is the most dangerous drinker in the community, and the moderate drinker in the church is worse than the moderate drinker out of the church.

SWORD OF DAMOCLES.

Over every liquor dealer in this country, be he brewer, distiller, wholesaler or retailer, there hangs a veritable sword of Damocles. It is called—and it is supported by a single hair.—Brewery Review.

TOUCHING SCENES ENACTED IN GEORGIA'S CAPITAL CITY

Throngs of Health-Seekers Resemble Walking Hospital and Stories Are Told That Would Wring Tears From Hearts of Steel.

Atlanta, Ga.—Stories of strange and remarkable results that have been circulated in this city by scores of persons who have used the new Root Juice treatment for rheumatism, stomach trouble, kidney disorders and similar complaints, reached even the humblest hovels of the poor and destitute and throngs of cripples and infirm poured into the drug store where the demonstration was held to beg or buy the strange medicine that is said to exert its powerful influence over certain diseases in a manner that seems almost miraculous.

Pale faced, weak and sickly widowed mothers, with ill-nourished infants clutching at their skirts have told stories of suffering, sickness, privation and despair that have caused strong men to turn away and hide their tears. Once healthy and able men now crippled by the ravages of metrorrhagia, rheumatism, with face lined and drawn by pain and suffering, have hobbled in on cane and crutch, telling of families dependent upon them of neglected little ones and sickly wives, begging just one bottle of the great new liquid that may possess the power to change their condition, strengthen their weak and stiffened muscles and enable them to care for the loved ones at home.

Such persons have been given cards to be signed by any preacher or clergyman as a recommendation and which when returned properly filled out have been exchanged for full sized one-dollar bottles. The cards are supplied by the main laboratories at Fort Wayne, Ind., and can be obtained by any worthy and deserving person who needs medicine and has no money to pay for it.

Not only have the poor people become interested in the strange liquid but persons in all walks of life, merchants, business men, every one is talking about Root Juice and its wonderful cures.

So quickly and marvelously have some severe cases been reported cured that stories have been circulated to the effect that the medicine possesses miraculous power, but this of course is ridiculous and untrue.

Many of those who have used it, however, say that the good effect is felt so quickly that it does seem almost like a miracle. Persons who for years have suffered from loss of appetite, indigestion, gas on the stomach, pains, belching, bad breath, shortness of breath, and other such symptoms of severe and chronic stomach trouble say that the first few doses produce noticeable benefit.

Mr. P. C. Harrison, a well-known plumber of Atlanta, who has used the new treatment for rheumatism, met a friend on the street who remarked: "How well you are looking! The doctor is bringing you around in fine shape." "Doctor, nothing," Mr. Harrison replied, "I have not seen the doctor for three weeks. I have been using the new Root Juice treatment that everyone is talking about and am feeling fine." After telling of the above incident, Mr. Harrison said, "I have been suffering from rheumatism and constipation for five years and in wet or changeable weather my joints would swell up and pain so terribly that I would have to have them lanced. The pain was terrific and sweat would stand out on my forehead in large drops. At times I had no appetite, could not eat and could not sleep or work. I am a plumber by trade and am now at work again. I have no more rheumatism or swollen joints, my bowels are regular and I feel like my old self again, thanks to this great medicine."

Other well-known persons who have suffered from rheumatism, indigestion, backaches, headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, dizzy spells, weak kidneys and bladder, too frequent, scanty or burning urine, tired, worn out and rundown feelings, report equally good results and many say that the first few doses made them feel better.

The Root Juice medicine is being sold in immense quantities and druggists everywhere say they have never known a medicine for which the demand was so great.

OUTCLASSES CULPEPER

Manassas High School Eleven Wins Football Game by Score of 82 to 0.

In the football game played on Round Athletic Field last Friday afternoon, Manassas easily outclassed Culpeper High School in every department of the game. The score was M. H. S., 82; C. H. S., 0. Special features were the long runs by Round of the local eleven.

From the first minute of play to the final whistle, Manassas rolled up touchdowns after touchdowns. Culpeper seemed to be unable to break up Manassas' plays.

Round circled Culpeper's ends in the first quarter for three touchdowns, later scoring four more. Manassas' backs ran fine interferences and all carried the ball well.

Manassas pulled off two forward passes. Adamson at right end received both, carrying one for sixty yards to Culpeper's five-yard line. Adamson also gave a fine exhibition of broken field running, carrying the ball for forty yards when he recovered a high pass from center.

Every man on the Manassas squad was in the game, about sixteen men in all being used. The surprise of the game was Lion who kicked ten out of twelve goals.

Manassas' line worked fine, breaking up Culpeper plays and kicks before they got started. Rice at quarter used fine judgment in fanning his team, also pulling some fine gains. Two of his runs netted M. H. S. touchdowns.
