CLUBS ON POULTRY CLUBS
 Mr. Talcott, who spent the greater part of last week in visiting various schools in Prince William in the interest of poultry club work, gave a short talk on the importance of this work for the farmer and for the boys and girls. He told of the ease with which the work could be started and how successful it is in helping the country districts to higher standards in egg production, etc. Mr. Talcott has had several years of practical experience in running poultry farms and therefore knows what he is talking about. His address had to be brief on account of the limited time.

$25 CLEARED FROM DINNER
 After a few words from Miss Eudora Ramsay, of South Carolina, who announced that she would give a talk on "Equal Suffrage" in the afternoon at Eastern College, the body went to Ruffner Building where a sandwich dinner was served for the benefit of the high school playgrounds. The material was furnished by members of the Manassas Patrons' League. About $25 was cleared from the sales at the Ruffner Building and later in the afternoon at the M. I. C. Building.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES

There are twice as many people in the United States as there were in 1880, and three times as many as at the outbreak of the civil war.

The Department of Agriculture says the American hen, whose praises can never be sufficiently sung, lays in a single year 397,000,000 worth of eggs.

The cornerstone of the National McKinley Birthplace Memorial was laid at Niles, O., last Saturday with ceremonies reminiscent of the ex-President's life.

The North Carolina Farmer's Union, representing 40,000 organized farmers, officially went on record last week in opposition to the preparedness programme.

Fully 500,000 persons in the United States are addicted to the use of drugs, according to Dr. T. D. Crothers, president of the New York Medico-Legal Society.

Mrs. Bessie Brown, wife of L. A. Brown, a druggist of Charlottesville, and Booten Herndon, of Barbourville, Orange county, were struck by a Southern Railway fast train late Friday night at Barbourville and instantly killed.

Five million dollars has already been paid into the treasuries of the Methodist churches in this country toward the $15,000,000 fund sought as a means of pensioning ministers who have been retired because of age or disability.

Theodor Leschetzky, the famous teacher of the piano, is dead at the age of eighty-five. He lived for many years at Vienna, but more recently at a village near Dresden. He was the principal master of Paderewski.

President Wilson has informed Senator Fletcher, of Florida, chairman of the United States commission on rural credits, that he intends to do all in his power to get rural credits legislation through Congress at the coming session.

The Southern Society of Washington proposes to have the remnants of the Southern forces that fought against the Union in the civil war hold their annual encampment in Washington in 1917 and to have them mingle with their brethren of the G. A. R. and Spanish war veterans.

Virginia's two Senators and eight, probably nine, of her ten Representatives will support President Wilson's "better preparedness" program in Congress. Representative E. W. Saunders, of Rocky Mount, is the only avowed opponent of the national defense movement. Representative William A. Jones, of the First district, is in favor of a "reasonable amount of preparedness."

According to the annual report of Dr. J. S. DeJarnette, superintendent of the Western State Hospital at Staunton, insanity is on the increase in Virginia. A total of 454 admissions into the hospital institution were made during the year just closed, or 133 more than were admitted during the previous year. The history of insanity in Virginia, DeJarnette says, is that there were 224 cases in 1915, which 224 were dismissed as cures.

A BOY'S COMPOSITION.
 "A school ma'am is a verb because she denotes action when you throw paper wads at the girls. Switch is a conjunction and is used to connect the verb school ma'am to the noun boy. This is a compound sentence, of which boy is the subject and switch is the object. First person, singular number and awful case. A school ma'am is different from a boy, a boy wears pants and a school ma'am wears her hair banged all over her forehead. She puts paint on her face and some big fellows come and take her home. Ma says a school ma'am never gets to be older than eighteen until she gets married. It takes two school ma'ams a day to cook a dinner."—Exchange.

VALUE OF MILK COWS
 The first reason for having good milk cows on the farm comes from the fact that they provide the cheapest, best, and most wholesome food for the family. Their value is hard to estimate when we consider the amount saved on the bills. Their produce is a superior substitute for many food necessarily purchased at high prices. In fact, there is no economic way of doing without plenty of good milk cows on the farm.—U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

It is now believed that Egypt is the birthplace of the original ball game. How it was played history does not record. Recent excavations made near Cairo have brought to light a number of small balls, some of leather and others of wood, dating back to at least 2000 B. C. These are the oldest balls of this sort known.

MANASSAS, VA., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1915.

BEFORE THE TOWN COUNCIL MONDAY

At the meeting of the town council to be held Monday evening two important matters should be given careful consideration. Both of these affect the town so vitally that to neglect taking action or to take the wrong kind of action is to fail to do right by the town and its citizens. 1. The council must take up the question of employing a town sergeant. 2. The council should encourage and lend its assistance and financial support to the local fire company.

The present town sergeant is now a business man of Manassas. Naturally his interest is not solely in the proper policing of the town. He realizes that he cannot satisfactorily fill the office of town sergeant and at the same time conduct a livery business. And moreover he should not be expected to do it. Therefore the town council is confronted with the problem of getting a new sergeant. What action is to be taken we can not even surmise at present but action of some sort must be taken.

In the employment of a new sergeant three factors loom big and clear: First, the successful applicant should be sound physically, mentally and morally. His health and character should both be good. Second, he should live within the corporate limits during the term of his employment. Third, he should not be allowed to have any business interests outside of his sergeantship. To these requirements it would be well to add alertness, interest in the work, a willingness to wear the regulation uniform and to keep exposed the official badge. Several of the above proposed requirements are already embodied in the town's laws and only stand in need of enforcement.

As to the encouragement of the local fire company: Now that the organization has been revived it behooves the town council to give it encouragement in every way possible. The body rather unwittingly placed a handicap upon the local volunteer fire company when it gave the control of the fire apparatus to one of its members at its last meeting. This man was given the power to do with the fire fighting equipment exactly what he may deem fit. What should be in charge of a duly recognized fire company is now in charge of one man.

In the way of specific encouragement our town council will do well to pass a resolution expressing itself as heartily in accord with the endeavors of the local fire company, to give control of the fire apparatus to the fire company and to vote an annual appropriation towards the up-keep of the fire department. Fifty, seventy-five or even a hundred dollars a year spent in this way for the protection of the town will be money most wisely spent. The town stands badly in need of a drilled and uniformed volunteer fire company; will the city fathers lend their aid in bringing this about or will they treat the matter as trivial? The answer will be forthcoming on Monday evening.

TWO ABLE ADDRESSES

Not every day is it that the people of Manassas and Prince William are given the opportunity of hearing two such excellent, though widely divergent addresses as were heard in Manassas last Friday. Each lecture was delivered by an expert and each was for the purpose of gaining converts to the causes under discussion.

The address in the morning on playgrounds was a most able one. The Manassas Patrons' League was indeed fortunate in being able to listen to such an authority and the talk should bear much fruit in the near future. We advocated playgrounds before we heard Dr. Bardick, but now we advocate them all the stronger.

The first public lecture on "Equal Suffrage" ever delivered in Manassas, as far as we can ascertain, was that of Miss Ramsay in the afternoon. Unhesitatingly we can say that this lecture was one of the best delivered here for quite a while. Gifted with a charming manner, a fine voice and a brain stored with facts and figures, Miss Ramsay held the close attention of her audience throughout the whole of the address. Her talk on the street corner in the afternoon was also very fine and highly enjoyed by the audience. We are ready for addresses of this kind almost any day, they are enlightening and at the same time very entertaining.

MORE SECRECY NEEDED

The United States is pushing ahead in nearly every direction. Progress is the watchword of the hour everywhere and stagnation in any line of endeavor is looked upon as being little short of criminal. This is good and as we have seen, but when the forward move takes in a "pitiless publicity" policy, as it is now doing, we hesitate to give this particular phase of the move our encouragement. Pitiless publicity is all well and good in many lines but in others it were better that such a policy had never been adopted.

We for some time have felt that the country is making a grave error when it spreads broadcast the news of every discovery, every promising invention and every big step in advancement, even though some few individuals, because of business interests involved, may feel slighted on account of the lack of publicity. When we have found something good as a nation it is neither necessary nor, in many cases, expedient that the news be shouted from the housetops.

Freedom of speech and freedom of the press are great things but it should be seen that such freedom is for the best interests of the country as a whole. To satisfy our own curiosity and to fill the native bosom with pride because of great achievements does not argue that many facts which are now made public ought not be kept secret. Where it is best that publicity be given a fact let us see that it receives it; where it is best that secrecy be maintained let us see that no publicity be given.

More secrecy in regards to our plans of defense, our latest inventions for use of the army and navy, the success we are finding in using this and that device for dealing with critical situations would give us far greater prestige as a nation in time of peace and far greater effectiveness as an adversary in time of war. If our ideas and successes of a martial nature are to be of the greatest benefit to us we should see that they are not given out to any and every country which may be deeply interested in our progress.

A STREET CORNER MONOPOLY

Of course no one thinks it right to act discourteously and still one may thoughtlessly be acting in a very discourteous manner. And to make it worse this thoughtless discourtesy may be towards the ladies. We refer to a common practice among the men and boys of Manassas who are the chief offenders in the specific matter which we are about to deal with. The occasional country man or boy who happens to be guilty of this thoughtlessness has been led into it by the example of town men and boys, hence we wish to put the cap upon the head which it fits.

Walk the streets of Manassas most any day in the spring, summer or fall and at times during the day, especially in the morning and early evening, you will find groups of men and boys lined up so numerous on several of the street corners that to follow the direction in which you are going, without leaving the sidewalk and passing around in the road, is almost an impossibility. Depending upon the weather and the condition of the streets, it is a question in many cases of being forced through either mud or dust because of the blockade. Most assuredly this is all unintentionally done, but the hardship imposed upon the men, women and children who are deprived of the free use of the sidewalks through no fault of their own is a visible and unnecessary one.

The streets of Manassas, like those of any town or city, are for the use of the public. A monopoly of no street corner is given, though it is frequently taken. We do not wish to appear puritanical in this regard, but we feel that a cessation of this practice in Manassas will help the town in the way of advancement. We see no harm for a man to meet a friend, step to the edge of the sidewalk and converse with him a few minutes, but we do see something wrong with these social gatherings of many of our boys and men on some of the street corners. Social gatherings of the right sort are good but they should be held in proper places, not on public thoroughfares.

The chief sufferers from this thoughtless practice of blocking the sidewalks are the ladies. In their modesty it can hardly be expected of them to force their way through a crowd of men and boys. Little children also feel a timidity in pushing their way through one of these jovial gatherings. And men not interested in the gossiping and joking going on, in order to keep from "busting in," often walk around a group rather than force a passage through it. Since the blocking of sidewalks is an unlawful act as well as a discourteous one, it does seem that it could be broken up through the activity of the town sergeant if in no other manner. One thing certain, the habit should be made a thing of the past in Manassas.

BRAIN WORK ON THE FARM

Profit Commences When You Put Your Brain to Work—Farming Requires Thought.

(The Progressive Farmer)

The world pays for muscular labor never more than enough to supply the physical necessities of life. This is fixed by the great law of supply and demand. Bring the products of your muscle only, and the world pays you only enough to support that muscle, a bare living. Bring the products of your muscular labor plus skill and intelligence, and the world pays you not only a living but some of the comforts and conveniences that intelligence demands—a profit.

This is a principle of political economy as unalterable as were the laws of the Medes and Persians. Let us put it in this form: Muscular labor means a living; muscular plus mental labor means a living plus a profit.

That is the law, and this is the problem: To get the farmer to use his brains as industriously as he uses his muscle.

Let us see how this works in the South. Here about half the people at work on our farms are negroes, ignorant and illiterate, little more than a generation removed from slavery, and with ten times as much confidence in the change of the moon as in experiment stations, and a hundred times as much faith in Old Master's ways of farming as in views of professors of agriculture.

But they have and use physical strength and muscle, and every farmer who uses only muscular labor comes into competition with them, and must get down to their scale of living in order to compete successfully. In other words, of two men trying to make a living by physical labor, the man who can live happily on corn-bread and fat meat has an immense advantage over the man whose scale of living is high enough to include chicken pie. This is a homely illustration of the truth that where competition with mere muscular labor must be faced, there is no profit.

Grant, then, that there is such an economic law as that of which we have been speaking, and what is the logical inference? It is that the intelligent farmers of the South must change their mode of farming—stop trying to make a profit by pitting their own muscle against less intelligent muscle in the cruder forms of labor, and move on into higher forms of farming where skill and intelligence are brought into play, and where both brain and brawn work together to swell the profit.

How One Year of War in Europe Has Affected the American Farmer

During the first year of the war: All crops increased 7 per cent over the year previous.

Exports of agricultural products increased 32 per cent.

Stimulus of increased exports resulted in a 3.4 per cent increase in acreage.

Grain exports particularly high; cotton exports particularly low.

In excess of the amount required at home, America could spare for export:

375,000,000 bushels of wheat.

250,000,000 bushels of corn.

7,000,000 bales of cotton.

200,000,000 bushels of oats.

$330,000,000 worth of meat and dairy products. —Washington Post

Prevalence of "Pes Planus"

Little old Manhattan is flat-footed, wears poor shoes and stands up at its work, according to figures compiled by Captain Frank E. Evans of the New York recruiting office of the United States Marine Corps.

Captain Evans is authority for the statement that approximately 18 per cent of all applicants who applied for enlistment in the Marine Corps at its Twenty-third street office during the past year, were rejected for "pes planus," or flat-foot. He puts the blame on the cheaply constructed, poorly made shoes the average toiler wears at his work for the epidemic of falling arch, and on the fact that the majority of victims claimed they were forced to stand on their feet for long stretches while at their employment.

Motormen, conductors, subway guards, policemen, machinists, waiters and clerks are the principal sufferers from "pes planus," Captain Evans says. —United States Marine Corps.

The Starr Piano Co.

are the only manufacturers of strictly high grade pianos who maintain exclusive factory ware-rooms in this state.

Starr-made pianos are sold at cost of manufacturing plus our reasonable profit only, instead of 100 per cent. profit usually made by dealers.

They are the largest manufacturers of only High Grade Pianos in the world. Within forty-three (43) years they have made and sold more than 120,000 instruments. They are used in more educational institutions in the United States than any other one make.

Buy the celebrated Magnesium Lime from Leesburg Lime Co., the lime that has been sold in Loudoun and Fairfax for the past twenty-five years, and out produced them all, and the reason for it is because it contains Magnesium and Oxide of Iron in right proportion to Calcium Carbonate, and the United States Agricultural Department in Year Book 1901, page 161, states that Magnesium is absolutely necessary to plant growth and nothing else will take its place.
