Engineers Suggest Standard Type with Stable Foundation and Weering Surface.

Good Roads Bulletin.

"If there ever was a time when the need and the opportunity for improving Virginia's roads marched together, that time is now." This declaration by the Richmond Times-Dispatch applies as well to other Southern states. It also suggests the way in which the South's road improvement program should be attacked.

Just as cities in the West profited by the mistakes of the older cities in the East, and built broader streets looking to future as well as immediate traffic requirements, so the South should profit by the mistakes of the thickly populated Northern states and adopt a standard type of road. This does not mean wider and more costly roads as in the case of streets, but roads of a single standard type as opposed to the many and unsatisfactory types found throughout the North.

Highway Engineers are unanimously agreed that successful road building must include a stable foundation and a wearing surface suited to all types of traffic and involving low maintenance charges. There are just two types of roads within the resources of prosperous communities which can be so combined as to meet these requirements and at a cost not exceeding that paid for these highways when built as separate or distinct types. They are the asphalt macadam road and the concrete road, which are cheaper, stronger, and more satisfactory when properly combined in the form of a concrete foundation and a natural asphalt macadam wearing surface.

Where a road is of the asphalt macadam type, any defect in the foundation causes trouble. When roads are built of concrete throughout, any neglect or carelessness in workmanship is fatal. Saturation aud subsequent drying of slabs mean expansion and contraction inviting upheaval and disintegration.

But when concrete is used as a foundation, the asphalt macadam wearing surface acts as a watershedding material keeping conditions more constant both as to moisture and temperature changes. The unyielding concrete in turn keeps the asphalt Reasons for the Unparalleled Success of New Preparation Are Unearthed.

At last the reasons for the great and wonderful success of Tanlac, the new medicine that has done so much good in this country, has been discovered. The cause of its success is that it is an aid to nature, not a drug. When the stomach is out of order many sicknesses result such as constipation, rheumatism, nervousness and others. When the organs move in their regular order the person is well again. This is what Tanlac does. One of those who have attested to its wonderful powers is Mr. N. Turney, of 812 Holt Street, Norfolk, Vs., who said, 'I suffered from constipation, in digestion and nervousness. I could not sleep and had a nervous breakdown. But since taking Tanlac I feel like a new man and about twenty years younger. And I have taken less than three bottles. Tanlac has built me up and I recommend it to everyone."

Profit by the discovery. Go today to Dowell's Pharmacy, Manassas, Va., and get a bottle of Tanlac. Delay is dangerous. Adv.

macadam wearing surface from breaking down. Furthermore, the latter imparts to the road the resiliency or elasticity required for both horse and motor traffic.

This type of road has been thoroughly tested on city streets, suburban highways, park drives and country roads. Costs have ranged between $11,500 to $13,500 per mile for roads 16 feet in width. Philadelphia built sections of her great Northeast Boulevard in this way at lower cost than some states have paid for water-bound macadam. The taxpayers of Monroe county, Michigan, are building 40 miles of the type, the concrete foundation including 6-inch concrete curbs between which will be placed a 2inch wearing surface of matural asphalt macadam.

Roads of this type running from city to city and state to state would profit the South far beyond mary hit-or-miss fashion.

RESOLUTIONS RESOLVED, That it is with the most rofound regret that we receive the H. L. Quarles, whereby the relation which has existed between us for five years is severed;

That it is the sense of this church that by such resignation this body loses an earnest, faithful undershepheru whose own high example, consistent life and unremitting zeal in the cause will ever be an inspiration to us;

That the love and prayers of this church follow him in whatever field of Christian activity he may be called. Submitted, R. A. HUTCHISON, ALBERT SPEIDEN.

LOVE OF THE HOME! The man who kindles the fire on the hearthstone of an honest and righteous home burns the best incense to liberty. He does not love mankind less who loves his neighbor most. The germ of the best patriotism is in the love a man has for the home he inhabits, for the soil he tills, for the trees that give hinr shade, and the hills that stand in his pathway.

The love of home, deep-rooted and abiding; that blurs the eyes of the dying soldier with the vision of the old homestead amid green fields and clustering trees; that follows the busy man through the clamoring world, persistent to put cares aside, and at last draws his tired feet from the highway and leads him through shady lanes -this lodged in the heart of the citizen is the saving principle of our government.

WHO WILL VOTE FOR US?

The brilliant editor of Life, Mr. Martin, seriously proposes to vote for Bacon and France. Mr. Bacon is a candidate for the United States Senate from New York, and he is an advocate of unneutrality, as the special friend of France. Mr. Martin loves France. He doesn't supp said that such burdens could not be shouldered, that Mr. Bacon's "political opinions are mine at LIDSCORD S HICE INSUFANCE ACCINCY and in the first months of the war it was not all but I'd like in this election to east one mate and in the first months of the war it was pre- all, but I'd like in this election to cast one vote dicted that the mounting cost would make an for France, and if Bacon runs he shall have it." early peace inevitable. (By the Commander of Ewell Camp.) Alexander H. Compton was born in Prince William County, Va., in the year 1840. In 1861, he enlisted in the Confederate army as a private in the Eighth Virginia Regiment of infantry. His watchword as a soldier was 'duty." He participated in the battles of Bull Run, second Manassas, Ball's Bluff, around Richmond, and was one of the men G. L. ROSENBERGER captured inside of the "stone wall" at Gettysburg in the charge which made Pickett's men immortal.
